

Lord of War Vol 3-361

Chapter 361: .Arkham's team [second more]

After reaching an agreement with this team of adventurers, Sean did not stay in Larne City for too long and urged everyone on the road.

His performance fell in the eyes of the caring people, naturally like a performance of secretly squeezing time. Most people will have this behavior when they have to make some extra money and have to squeeze some time out, so no one would doubt Sean. The reason why Sean has such a strong performance is that, on the one hand, he is really anxious to leave Larne City, on the other hand, he is also to make his performance more real.

He knew that news about the secret meeting between the Pope and Suanceo would soon begin to circulate in the upper circles of the Northern Duchy. As for the impact, Sean didn't care, he only knew that it would definitely cause a shock in the upper circle of the God of War Church.

Calculate the time. At this time, those who had passed by the Pope should have joined Emily. Then at this time this kind of thing arises, as those followers of Bizos, it is very likely that they will find a way to attack Emily's guards, then this will cause the pope and Bizos to contend for the first time. Contest. In this way, the Warlord Knights of Dunmar Town and the private forces of Earl Hecarom can also "enter".

Shaun was silently deducing his plan, of course, he knew that some of the key factors were not so easy to achieve. After all, this action was made entirely by Sean's temporary intention, and Emily and the others were not notified, so we can only see if Emily and the others are smart enough to understand what they mean. However, although Sean did not have much confidence in Emily, he was very confident in the old fox, Earl Hecarrom. As long as the Pope's guard was attacked, Earl Hecarrom would definitely intervene. Things are much easier to deal with.

So, the key element of this plan. He became the Captain of the God of War Knight in Luo Fu City, after he discovered that he and two of them had been killed, and he heard the rumor, would he act impulsively? Because he hadn't been in contact with this person before, Sean couldn't judge his character clearly, so he could only take one step and count one step.

"We. Do you really need to prepare something?" The leader of the adventurer team-Sean already knows it now. This middle-aged man, Arkham, was a side member of the Soth family. After the parade in the Principality, he gained the great gains in the God of War ceremony, so he has the strength that he is now advancing by leaps and bounds.

He is already at the top of the golden pinnacle, and he is only one step away from the sanctuary.

Don't look at what Arkham was a good guy who helped Sean before. He has been in Larne City for half a year, and the mercenaries and adventurers who died in his hands during this half a year are no less than double digits. Of course, it was not that the city defense army had not troubled him. But Arkham obviously read all the laws of Larne City. Therefore, he can always come out of the Ministry of Public Security without incident every time. In addition, his strength is indeed tyrannical. Of course, the city defense army will not come to Arkham for mercenaries and adventurers that they don't know and who have died. trouble.

And his four companions, the brawny man who wields a tower shield and has a battle axe and a halberd as his standing weapon, is so burly that he can compare with the bear, but he has a very feminine name: Joanna. When Arkham introduced his name before, Sean had to endure it for a long time before he laughed. Of course, looking at the way Sean was holding back so hard, this brawny man made Sean laugh so boldly. It's too hard to hold back.

The ranger is a half-elf, and his mother is an elven slave. To put it simply, he had a very dark and miserable childhood. Later, after killing the man he should call his father, he stayed out until he was picked home by Arkham. As a descendant of a slave, he has no name. Akane named him Shiner, which is said to mean peace and tranquility. May his future life no longer be so miserable.

Then, the half-elf ranger sold his life just because of a name.

The knight of the * of war is named Hams, a family knight of the Soth family, and is designated to follow Arkham, just like the relationship between Denny and Emily. It's just that compared to the difference between Danny and Emily, Hams grew up with Arkham, and the relationship between the two is as close as a brother. When Arkham obtained a small piece of hereditary territory after completing the God of War ceremony and decided to sell the territory, Hams began to prepare salutes for Arkham, and then the two began their wandering lives of adventurers from then on.

As for another magician named Ryze, he is a wandering magician with very good luck. He didn't know where to get a complete set of magic books, which gave him the possibility of becoming a holy wizard-in fact, he should be more fortunate that he not only picked up the magic books, but was also able to resonate with the elements reaction. But in any case, Ryze is still a very famous magician in the Northern Principality Federation, but no one knows when he mixed with Arkham.

The so-called legendary powerhouses and town powerhouses of the Northern Principality Federation are actually members of the Church of God of War.

The strongest of the thirty-six duchy are only high-level sanctuary. If you issue a conscription order from the Principality Federation, you can get close to dozens of high-level sanctuary powerhouses—this is also a powerful force that cannot be ignored, but In fact, there are only two places evenly allocated to each Principality. Although the number of the middle sanctuary and the lower sanctuary is a bit larger, if they are equally flat, each duchy will probably only have four or five ranks, or even less.

Therefore, the level of the golden powerhouse is a powerful existence that can really go sideways in the Northern Principality Federation.

In normal times, it's not always easy to meet one person, but this time the adventurer team with Sean is almost all golden realm powerhouses—except for Arkham who is about to enter the Holy Land. Except for the quasi-sanctuary powerhouse of the domain, the other four people are all low-level golden powerhouses. It is precisely because they possess such tyrannical strength that Larne City will be so polite to this group of violent and madmen.

Sean feels very safe, very safe.

"What else do you need to prepare for the strength of your group?" Xiao En said in a puzzled manner, "I tell you the weakness of the Ghost Wing Demon, you only need ten seconds to solve the thing. What else do I need? Deworming medicine?"

"Uh..." Arkham was also a little taken aback when asked by Sean.

He is very strong. He has stayed in this area for nearly half a year, and he actually understands everything he needs to prepare. It was only because Shaun, the Warcraft scholar, was too calm, and he was not even prepared for the simplest forest equipment, which made Arkham ask. But looking at Sean's reaction at this time, he was a little worried that this guy might not be a pure theoretical school, right?

If this is the case, Arkham will have a headache. Because it meant he had to keep Joanna by Sean's side all the time.

"Oh. If you plan to let that big guy stay with me to protect me all the time, it's actually unnecessary." Sean saw through Arkham's thoughts at a glance, "I still have the ability to protect myself, and I also need some. Let's practice in actual combat. If you really want to arrange someone for me, just let Shiner follow me. If necessary, give me a little support and it's no problem."

"Okay." Seeing Sean clearly and calmly said these words, Arkham can only nod in agreement. But he still made a color for Joanna. Ask him to support Sean as soon as necessary, and the latter nodded with understanding, expressing his understanding.

Sean didn't prepare anything, but Arkham and others did a lot. But the main thing is dry food, a huge rucksack packed full of things-almost twice the size of Joanna, this thing is naturally carried by Joanna. When Sean saw these guys appear with such a big backpack, his first reaction was to frown, and his second reaction was to look at Arkham with a strange expression.

"What's wrong?" Arkham asked.

"You don't want to cross the forest, do you?" Sean said softly.

Arkham was surprised. But he replied quickly: "We are going to cross the forest."

"You are not rookies anymore. I think there is a tacit understanding of your aura. Obviously you have been adventurers for a long time." Sean pointed to the huge rucksack behind Joanna, and then He said, "The smell of this thing, even I can smell it, you take this thing to cross the forest, you are telling those beasts that you are food.... Generally speaking, unless you plan to stay for a long time. In the forest, otherwise we would not prepare such a large amount of food, because we are all good at getting local materials. Unless..."

A strange color flashed in Arkham's eyes.

"...Unless it is difficult to find food nearby, but it is very important to you, and you have explored the location many times, and it is very obvious to the surrounding situation." Sean said calmly, "I think, If you don't tell me the truth, I'm afraid we won't be able to continue our cooperation."

Arkham and the others looked at each other, but did not answer Sean's words immediately.

"If you don't tell me, I can guess it." Sean shrugged. "I was always wondering why you are going to trouble the ghost winged monster when you are crossing the forest. This kind of creature has a strong territory. The concept can be circumvented. But if you have to harass it, then there is only one possibility left. This thing is blocking your only way.... Then the scope of the next guess is only Much smaller."

"It's a ruin." Ryze suddenly said, "It builds a nest at the entrance of a ruin, so..."

Xiao En frowned slightly. If it is to explore the ruins, it will have a strong conflict with his actions, because he does not have so much time to explore the ruins: "If it is to explore the ruins, it will be very troublesome..."

"We are willing to increase the price."

"No, no, it's not a question of money." Xiao En thought for a moment, and finally said as if he was determined, "Let's go with you for a while.... What I need is to hone my skills. Before I complete the set goals, I will walk with you and provide you with relevant information. After that, I will decide whether to continue with you or leave depending on the situation. But you can rest assured that I will tell you about Ghost Wing before I leave. As for the related weaknesses of the devil lizard, as for the remuneration you mentioned before, I don't want it.... If you can accept this condition, then let Joanna throw away that huge package, with this stuff, you guys At that time, they will be hunted down by a group of magic wolves as food."

"How can we be sure that you will not leak the news of the ruins?" Before Arkham spoke, Ryze spoke first.

"Because I am not interested in the ruins at all." Sean shrugged, "From your reaction just now, I can see that the ruins are obviously more beneficial to you, the magician, but to Arkham and the others. It can be said to have a certain value.... But what about me? Useless, so you don't have to worry that I will leak the news of the ruins.... If you are still not at ease, then it is yours to solve it. After the Ghost Wing Demon, let someone send me back to a safe place, and we will break up again."

Arkham and Ryze looked at each other. After the latter nodded slightly, Arkham said, "The deal."

Chapter 362: .Akaz Beisen [third more]

The location of Rahn is the hub of the four principalities. The surrounding forest is called the Amiz Forest, which was discovered and named by a magician named Amiz. Today, the road connection of the four principalities was created by Amiz. In the era of chaos, when the Northern Duchy Federation was not established, this was the territory belonging to Amiz. The nine-story mage tower is not a joke, it means The person who built the mage tower was at least a legendary mage.

Generally speaking, the Mage Tower is a residence for traditional magicians to study magic with great concentration. Only the upper-level golden magicians can build the Mage Tower.

And the number of layers of the mage tower is a symbol of the strength and status of a magician-the highest level of the mage tower built by the golden magician can only be six floors, and then enter the lower sanctuary to increase by one layer, the magic of the upper sanctuary Only a teacher can build an eight-story mage tower, and only a legendary or above can build a nine-story mage tower. As for the tenth floor, that is only qualified for super power magicians, which means that they already have the qualifications to sit on an equal footing with the gods.

Amiz didn't know what happened later. His mage tower also lost its shelter power over time, and eventually became the property of the bandits. However, the name of the Amiz Forest was preserved, and because the four commercial roads happened to be cut into a cross shape, the entire forest was divided into four areas: east, west, south, and north.

In the game, the entire Amiz Forest is a large leveling spot in the Duchy of Northern Lance and the surrounding duchy. Basically, from level 30 to level 70, you can receive various tasks here to satisfy all Leveling needs. And different from the general forest area, the monsters of the four forests in the east, west, north and south are similar, and there is not much difference, so it also reduces the problem of player leveling and task difficulty in the original game that easily cause conflicts.

The only difference is that the hidden copies of these four forests are different.

Arkham said that he would cross the forest and go north, so it must be Amiz Beisen.

There are indeed two ruins in this forest. But it's just a Tier VI ruins. It's not that difficult, but it's more troublesome, because these two ruins are 25 copies of people: one named "Amizi's Laboratory" and one named "Amizi" Underground library".

With the strength of the Arkham team. It is not impossible to conquer these two copies. But there is still a little bit of difficulty, after all, there are too few people. A 25-person dungeon team, no matter how strong the team members are, if you want to be a crusher, you need at least ten powerhouses in the lower level of the golden realm. If there are only five people, it is still slightly insufficient. However, if these people are not very greedy and adopt a steady and steady tactic, then there is still a chance to take these two copies.

but. This has nothing to do with Sean.

Because whether it is a laboratory or a library. The things given are all used by the master. If it was before, Sean might still find a way to fight, and then take it back to Cecilia, but since Cecilia entered the lower sanctuary, her dependence on equipment has not been high, after all, she The main manifestations of abilities are derived from the increase in blood, and the dependence and demand for foreign objects is not large.

Furthermore, Tier 6 things are for Tier 9 people. It's not a good thing anymore.

A group of six people quickly entered Amiz Beisen.

As Sean expected. When this group of people entered the forest, they did not encounter any monster attack, and the entire forest seemed extraordinarily quiet, as if there were no monsters here. But in fact, the surrounding beasts felt the tyrannical aura of Arkham and others, so they chose to avoid them early. As long as they were beasts, they would have an instinct to avoid danger.

Basically, even if it is a pack of magic wolves, as long as they are not particularly hungry, they will not come to trouble Arkham and others.

This situation is very advantageous for an adventurer squad, because it can save a lot of fighting time and trouble. But as far as Sean is concerned, he is not very happy, because his original intention is to enter the forest to find actual combat experience and opportunities. Right now, he has just entered the forest. The beasts at the edge of the forest are all Level 2 and Level 3 Beasts. However, as the level of Warcraft increased, Sean did not dare to say that he could handle it easily.

"There is no danger here. Even if there is, you can handle it. I want to go deeper and find some monsters to practice."

What Sean said was not a negotiation, but a very equal dialogue.

In fact, it's not a big deal for him to say that. After all, he negotiated with Arkham before. Sean entered the forest to practice his hands. He is not Arkham's subordinates or followers. The two sides are based on an equal relationship. It's just that on Miracle Continent, respect for the strong is a default implicit rule. People who are weak generally use honorifics when facing strong people, and even surrender their status to show respect for the strong.

This is also the reason why the strong in the sanctuary are generally called His Royal Highness, enjoying the status of Duke and Fair.

If you are a legendary powerhouse, regardless of whether you are on the other side, as long as you are not the same as the legendary powerhouse, then you must call it His Royal Highness to show respect. Generally speaking, the status of the legendary powerhouse is equivalent to the prince and prince and daughter of the royal family of various countries, and even the status of the duke of the empire, even the emperor of the empire must give a certain amount of respect. Unless the emperor is also a legendary powerhouse, or even a stronger legendary powerhouse.

In the entire Marvel Continent, the only thing that can ignore the power gap is the St. Joel's Empire.

Mad believers only need faith.

So, in fact, Sean's attitude towards Arkham can easily arouse people's resentment. At least, Shiner and Hams around Arkham frowned slightly, feeling that Sean was a little bit unruly.

However, Sean was originally a golden powerhouse, and it can even be said that his achievements are higher than Arkham's, and naturally there is no humility in his speaking attitude. Moreover, after saying this, Xiao En turned around and left without looking back, his speed increased significantly, and he soon separated from Arkham and the others.

"Shiner, follow up and protect him." Arkham said.

"My lord." Shiner's face showed some reluctance.

"He is very important." Arkham's face sank when he saw the reluctance on Shiner's face, and then said, "He can recognize thousands of beasts, this is his strength. Maybe you guys. I don't think this is anything. But it's because he is with us. If the strength of the people walking with him is only about the same as him, how do you think others will treat him?"

"But we are..." Shiner was still a little unconvinced.

"For people like this, if we and him didn't just need each other, do you think they would walk with us?" Arkham said in a deep voice. "He just has to speak. Some caravans and mercenaries welcome him to join.... People like this are secret treasures in the caravan, because they can lead a caravan through some dangerous areas. There are more doors and roads involved than you think."

This time, Shiner finally shut up, and swiftly chased after Shaun honestly.

In just such a short time, Sean had already disappeared in front of Arkham and the others. For this reason Shiner also had to give play to his talents of the forest elves. Track the past quickly.

After watching Sean's departure, Ryze, who was silent, said, "Aren't you curious, why do such a Warcraft scholar practice his hands?"

"It has nothing to do with me." Arkham said faintly, but his attitude was a little more guarded and cautious. There was no tacit understanding that Shaun had seen before. "We are just an agreement....Don't you Just forget your promise."

"You have seen the treasure map, and I didn't lie to you." Ryze said softly, his attitude seemed not salty or not. "We only take what we need.... But if there is anything in the future, I hope you don't interfere. Only in this way can we work together happily."

"Huh." Arkham sneered, and after a nasal hum, he stopped speaking and walked forward.

Hams and Joanna also followed suit, and the three of them obviously separated from Ryze. But Ryze didn't care about it. He just hummed a weird tone and continued to move forward. Where no one saw it, his skin had a weird texture gleaming, just like breathing. Flashed off.

.....

When Sean caught up with Sean, he happened to see Sean fighting a monster tiger.

This is a second-level monster that looks a bit like a tiger. It has a fierce temperament and will attack all living creatures even when it is not hungry. Sharp claws, teeth and a steel-like tail are its attack weapons. Its behavior and attack methods are no different from ordinary tigers. However, because of its natural magic pattern, the demon tiger has a strong defensive ability. The combat power is roughly equivalent to that of the lower-ranked bronze, but generally even the upper-ranked bronze is unwilling to provoke this kind of beast.

Shiener saw Sean and the Devil Tigers fighting, he instinctively wanted to attack, but the next scene completely subverted Sean's cognition.

I saw that Xiao En rushed towards the demon spotted tiger without hesitation, and the condescending one jumped up for the first time, preparing to culminate Xiao En completely.

The speed of the magic zebra is extremely fast, and the momentum is also extremely fierce. This late-comer, first-come culling method can definitely kill Sean easily. But what makes people feel unbelievable is that it was Sean who stepped forward to attack, but only after running a few steps, he suddenly knelt down and slid forward. At the same time, he sent the long sword in his hand upwards. It just slid from below the spotted tiger, but the sharp long sword slashed the spotted tiger directly.

Even the internal organs and blood that were thrown away did not get Sean the slightest touch.

Shiner looked at him with a stunned look at Sean's unexpected way to cleanly kill the monster spotted tiger, he realized how heavy the weight of the words Arkham said before.

Looking at Sean again, he got up and patted his pants after killing the Devil Tiger, and then moved on without looking back.

Chapter 363: .In the forest

Akaz Beisen is not dark, and the time changes in the outside world can be clearly seen through the layers of branches and leaves.

However, in terms of the temperature difference between day and night, the entire Akaz Forest will be very different, and no one knows why.

For a whole day, Sean did not return to the team to lead the way, but dashed ahead. Only when the route deviated, Sean would appear in front of Sean and make corrections for Sean. However, as Sean's killing speed progressed faster, Sean, who was in charge of protecting, looked more and more frightened, because of what Sean showed when dealing with low-level monsters, or even slightly higher-level monsters. Killing skills are more skilled than these adventurers.

In Shiner's view, I am afraid it will not be much inferior to those demon hunters or warcraft hunters.

Adventurers kill Warcraft, most of them just take advantage of the trend, and their main scope of work is exploration. Therefore, in terms of combat experience and on-the-spot performance, the adventurer is much stronger-to put it simply, it is miscellaneous but not sophisticated, and knows everything but does not delve deeply into it.

But Sean's killing skills-the killing skills in the face of Warcraft, Shiner believed that he could not find any words to describe it at all.

A bonfire is lit.

Joanna has taken off her battle armor, the tower shield and weapons are also put aside, clearing and leveling the ground, they will spend the first night here. Hams was cleaning the beast meat, which was left after Sean had dealt with the beasts along the way-they did not pay attention to the first beast corpses, but only picked two from the road when it was almost night. Come back for dinner.

The water source was brought back nearby.

Although Ryze is a magician, the elemental water cannot be used for consumption, even for washing. The water element will penetrate into the meat, and human consumption will produce a principle similar to poisoning, but if the water element is placed in clean water and filtered. It becomes edible, which is a bit strange. It's just that unless it is in the case of an urgent shortage of water sources, there is generally no magician who wastes magical power to do such things when they have water sources.

Because the filtration of the water element is differentiated according to a one-to-one situation, the amount of water condensed by the water element can be filtered as much as there is pure water.

Arkham is responsible for the fire of the bonfire, and this kind of fire control is also very particular. Neither can be too big. It will not be too low.

If is too large, it will easily cause forest fires and attract monsters, while if it is too small, it will easily be extinguished.

Ryze is a little farther away from Arkham's trio, and I don't know what they are studying. However, he did not help Arkham and the others to help build the camp. Arkham and the others seemed to have become accustomed to them, and did not pay attention to Ryze. After all, they were actually only bound by another agreement. As long as this exploration mission is successfully completed, everyone will part ways after leaving the ruins.

Arkham always feels. Ryze was a little strange.

Not long. Shiner returned to the camp.

Seeing Sean's return, Arkham was guarding the fire while skewering Hams's prepared meat of warcraft with branches, and then grilling it by the campfire. At the same time, he raised his head and asked, "Where is Sean? He? Haven't you played enough yet?"

"Behind, back." Shiner said, his expression a little hesitant.

"What's the matter?" Arkham keenly noticed Shiner's face and said with a light smile. "Does it feel a bit troublesome to wipe that Sean's ass? Haha, tomorrow I will let Joanna take care of it. You can rest tomorrow."

"No." Shiner shook his head, thought about it, and then said, "I haven't done anything."

"Wait." Arkham's face changed slightly, then he pointed to the monsters that Hams was still dealing with, and said, "He solved these two level four monsters alone? A neat trace, I thought it was..."

"It's not me. I thought he couldn't compete with level 4 monsters, and he was about to take a shot. As a result... he solved it more quickly and neatly than me." Shiner said with a complex expression, "and more than these two, all He does everything from level two to level four by himself. Basically, he doesn't need a second sword for level two and level three monsters, and level four monsters are not good except for some really rough skins and thick flesh. In addition to coping, he can basically solve it with one sword."

"Not injured?" Arkham asked in a deep voice.

"No." Shiner shook his head, "His movements are very clean and neat, and... Indeed, as he said, he is very clear about the weaknesses and key positions of every beast. So in the course of the battle, he Either he didn't release the sword, but just moved and dodged, but once the sword was released, a monster would definitely be solved. Several times when the environment seemed extremely dangerous, I was ready to rescue him, but he was able to reverse the situation in an instant."

"This guy, it really doesn't look easy." When she heard Stern's words, Joanna also interrupted suddenly, "Is it a monster hunter?"

"His technique, I am afraid that only experienced and skilled Warcraft Hunters can have it." Shiner thought for a while. Although he has not seen Warcraft Hunters yet, how could he have heard the mercenaries in the tavern mention Warcraft Hunters, but Those Warcraft hunters didn't seem to have such a simple and neat method as Sean, "I have been observing for a long time today, in dealing with Warcraft...I am not as good as him. He is almost as if he knows what all Warcraft is going to do."

"Do you still think he is just a Warcraft scholar?" Ryze's voice suddenly rang again with a smirk.

Arkham is really not accustomed to Ryze's attitude, turned his head to look at Ryze, and said in a deep voice, "Isn't he a pure WoW scholar, I don't care, and I don't want to know.... I only know that he and We have an agreement first, that's enough. The rest is between you and me. As long as he doesn't plan to enter the ruins together, then there is no need to involve him in more issues."

Ryze gave a cold snort, but did not speak any more.

Because of Ritz's troubles, other people are not discussing Sean, but generally I know one thing from Shiner, that is, Sean cannot be treated as a normal Warcraft scholar, and should be regarded as a Warcraft Hunter. At least Arkham can protect Sean without having to allocate any manpower. If something is particularly critical, they will also have a better ability to deal with it.

You should know that although the two are just two words, the Warcraft Scholar and the Warcraft Hunter are two completely different concepts.

The former is only a theoretical school, while the latter can be a practical school.

The theoretical school does not have an assessment level of rank. But Warcraft Hunter is a real job, with a clear rank, and most importantly, the former does not necessarily have the combat effectiveness of the latter, but the latter must have certain knowledge of the former. However, the lowest rank of Warcraft Hunter is also a Tier 5 occupation, which means that at least a master in the Silver Realm is eligible to be a Warcraft Hunter. Sean is only a high-ranking bronze, and can not be regarded as a real Warcraft Hunter.

So at this time, Arkham can understand why Sean will walk with himself and others, and strongly demand the actual battle with Warcraft: Arkham thinks that Sean is preparing for the job as a Warcraft Hunter.

Soon, Xiao En dragged a huge leopard-shaped monster about one meter in length back.

Seeing Sean coming back, Arkham stood up to greet him, and smiled at the same time: "Haha, we have prepared the food."

Xiao En smiled: "I know you will be ready."

"Then you are..." Arkham was taken aback for a moment, pointing to the monster that was dragging in Sean's hand and asked.

"Seasoning," Xiao En laughed. "The rock leopard, also known as the salt leopard, contains a substance called sodium chloride in its blood, which can be used as edible salt when it is applied directly on the food. However, it will definitely taste. It's a bit fishy, so you need to use Xanthomonas campestris. There will definitely be this kind of plant growing near the rock leopard's nest. They rely on certain microorganisms in the excreta of the mountain rock leopards as a nourishment to survive. And purify the blood."

As Sean was talking, he skillfully bleeds the rock leopard and filled a large pot, and then treated his saber as a kitchen knife to treat the fishy smelly grass, and then threw it into the pot. Put it on the fire and simmer it, as if you were cooking a thick soup.

Mercenaries and adventurers have long been accustomed to survival in the wild, so they will only consider the color and smell of food when it is more appropriate. In most cases, food is just a consumable for them to restore physical fitness. But if you can have delicious food that stimulates your taste buds, surely no one will refuse. Before, Sean told them not to bring dry food and the like, and they would naturally not bring salt, but he didn't expect that Sean would be able to solve this problem.

Soon, under Sean's cooking, the stuff in the iron basin quickly turned into a transparent and clear liquid, and quickly condensed granular fine crystals.

Until then, Sean did not remove the iron basin.

Arkham glanced at it. The amount of bleeding just now had to be close to one liter, but the amount of boiled salt that can be used as edible salt, there is only a little bit at the bottom of the basin, which seems to be only a few grams. Probably only enough for them this time.

"The meat of the rock leopard is sour, astringent and salty, so it's not suitable for eating, but the blood in its body is so much, it's completely enough, but it's more troublesome to cook." Sean picked up the salt and sprinkled it. To those barbecues, "I said, this forest is full of good things, which can completely make us self-sufficient.... These are stinky roots. After a while, throw some out around our camping site, and the magic wolf will not come close. , They don't like this smell. For the night in the Amiz Forest, the most worrying thing is the magic wolf. The other monsters don't care, they make a lot of movement when they move around."

Listening to Sean's explanation, Arkham and others all looked like they were taught.

Especially Arkham, at this time, I deeply feel that choosing to go with Sean is the most shrewd decision he has made so far. Only Ryze stared at Sean with a pair of eyes, but didn't know what he was thinking.

Chapter 364: .call

PS: Watch the exclusive story behind "Lord of War", listen to your more suggestions on the novel, follow the official account of the Internet (add friends on WeChat-add official account-enter qdread), and let me know quietly!

Sean found out that Arkham was a pretty good person.

Although is a nobleman, he is the most orthodox adventurer in his bones. He does not have a lot of problems with nobles. On the contrary, his informality is more like a mercenary. Of course, these all mean that without provoke him, if it becomes a confrontation with Arkham, it will not be fun. This guy's fighting ability is not weak at all, plus the demon. With the aid of chemical weapons, he has a very strong combat level. Without using the black king, even if Sean returns to the strength of the upper gold, he dare not say that he can win in a one-on-one situation. .

But it's okay to stay invincible.

However, if there is a chance to use Requiem and Requiem, Sean feels that all ten Arkhams will die.

A pleasant chat is the best way to increase mutual affection.

In this conversation, it's not just Arkham who has a gain. People like Joanna, Hams, and Stern all have different gains, and they have a deeper understanding of Warcraft. However, it was only confined to the beasts in the Akaz Forest. Even if Shaun wanted to say, they couldn't understand much in the absence of physical pictures.

After listening to Sean's explanation of some of the beasts in the Akaz Forest, Arkham shifted the topic to the Ghost Wing Demon lizard.

Ghost Wing Demon Lizard is actually not as difficult to deal with as expected, as long as you know the weakness, it is better to deal with it.

Generally speaking, warcraft with a keen sense of smell are particularly averse to strong odors, which will make them lose a lot of judgment. Ghost-winged monsters rely on smell and temperature to hunt their prey. They move quickly, have strong offensive power, and have high defensive capabilities. However, they also have the characteristics of many large monster creatures: extremely high consumption. And it's no better than a normal monitor lizard that can lie dormant for a long time after a full meal. Ghostwing demon lizards have to eat almost every day, but often they will hunt a certain amount of food back to the nest to store, and they can get a certain supplement in the case of food shortage.

Moreover, there is another little-known characteristic of the ghost winged monster: its stamina is not strong.

This is also the reason why ghost winged monsters do not like to fight with strong ones, because it is difficult for them to win creatures with the same strength as their own in a short period of time. Especially the human strong. This is also one of the main reasons why the Ghost Wing Devil is listed as a level six monster rather than a level seven monster.

Under Xiao En's explanation, everyone soon had a deeper understanding of the ghost winged monster.

"The weakness of the ghost winged monster is the smell?" After listening to Sean's introduction, Arkham asked again.

"En." Sean nodded, "But it's not a normal smell. If it's just a normal smell, the ghost-winged monster lizard would have been extinct.... In this forest. There is a kind of stinky scavenger flower. Special plants. This kind of plant is carnivorous, they will spit strong smelly seeds to attack the target, this smelly seeds have strong anomalous properties, basically can make any creature into dizziness, nausea, chaos And many other states. Once a creature falls into this state, they will use the blood sucking vine to entangle and attack the target, hang the creature and bury it in the ground to become their nourishment."

"It's a disgusting creature." Shiner frowned. "But we have been exploring this forest for a while. Why didn't we find it."

"It's not that you didn't find it, but you missed it." Sean shrugged. "I've seen your forward map. We will encounter them along the way. They usually grow in a relatively humid environment, and there must be a water source nearby...like here." Xiao En said, pointing to This time, on the way forward, there was a huge jungle near the divergence point of the stream, and then continued: "When you passed here before, you must have seen a purple-red flower bush, only about forty centimeters in height."

Listening to what Sean said, everyone nodded slightly, and Shi Ener, who had been in charge of vigilance, also said: "It is true, but... it doesn't seem to be very dangerous."

"Next time you try within one meter of them." Xiao En let out a weird laugh. "Although they don't have eyes, they have special sensing methods. As long as you fall down, there will be dozens of them immediately. A vine appeared, strangling you alive, and then dragged it into the ground."

"So terrible." Joanna let out a low cry.

"The attack range of the smelly carrion flowers is one meter, but the vines under their ground cover a radius of ten meters." Sean explained, "So we have two skills to deal with this stuff, one is in their Dig pits from the attacking distance, find their vines and poison them. There are many monsters in this forest that have poisonous blood. As long as you hunt a sufficient number of monsters to bleed, these things have no wisdom at all, as long as blood They will all absorb it... but the scene is more disgusting."

Everyone imagined the scene of countless vines tumbling and absorbing blood like worms, and suddenly felt a chill.

"What about the second one?" Arkham asked.

"Stand one meter away and attack." Sean said naturally. "Just stand one meter away and set fire to these things. All plants are afraid of fire. Anyway, all we want is the seeds in their bodies. These seeds In their bodies, burning these things will not destroy the seeds.... But this method is not as fast as the first method. After all, the geographical location is relatively humid, and it is not easy if you want to set fire. In addition, you have to worry about it. The thing is that this special plant is likely to attack indiscriminately when hit by fire."

"Indiscriminate attack?"

"It is to shoot all the smelly seeds in the body indiscriminately. Don't forget, their vines cover a radius of ten meters. Once you are knocked down, these ignorant things will continue to act according to instinct, strangling you and burying you. ."

"There is no other way to solve it?" Arkham frowned slightly.

"Yes, fight with the ghost-winged monster head-on." Shaun continued, "Try to lure the ghost-winged monster to open its mouth, and then throw explosive bombs directly into its mouth.... Simple explosive bombs, The materials can also be found in the forest. It's not troublesome at all. And it's made with materials from the forest. This ghost-winged monster will also be swallowed as food... Their internal organs are much more fragile than their skins, so just swallow them. , Four are enough to kill them."

"This method is much simpler." Arkham thought for a while, his face seemed to be satisfied, "We can hunt the monsters. Then hide explosive bombs inside. Trick the ghost wing demon lizard to eat it, as long as it can detonate. One explosive bomb can have a chain reaction."

"Think easily. The ghost winged monster will not eat the food abandoned outside the nest." Sean directly rejected Arkham's idea. The bullet will explode as soon as it is bitten. It's not that easy if you want to injure it."

"It seems. We can only figure out a way to trick it into opening its mouth."

"If it were me, I would definitely not choose to do this." Sean shrugged.

"Why?" Joanna asked in confusion, "Isn't this method supposed to be easier than killing the stinky flower? I can stand it for a while, and it's not a problem to trick it into opening its mouth, and..."

Sean knocked on Joanna's tower shield, and then said, "It's made of steel?"

Joanna is a little unsure, but she nodded.

"In front of the ghost winged monster, it's just like paper. Do you believe it?" Sean curled his lips. "Don't say it's blocking. As long as it hits, your tower shield will have to be deformed. If it is used Bone wings pierce you, and this thing will be pierced directly.... Ghost Wing Demon Lizard, the most terrifying thing is not its three-line magic attack ability, nor its powerful double defense, let alone its The strength is the bone wings on its back. This thing is really sharp and sharp. If you can hunt down a ghost winged monster and completely remove its bone wings, you can ask someone to make at least two. Golden-grade demonized weapons, if you encounter a real master, it is not impossible to forge a legendary weapon....This is the most valuable part of Ghost Wing Demon Lizard."

Arkham and the others made a sound of inhaling air-conditioning, and Ryze's eyes shimmered slightly.

They did not expect that the bone wings on the back of the Ghost Wing Demon Lizard were so valuable.

"Even if you are powerful, you can block the ghost winged monster's bone wing attack, the material of the explosive bomb is not so easy to find.... Without a month or two, it is impossible to gather these materials. To be honest, I am There is not so much time to accompany you to deal with it slowly. And I believe that you don't have so much patience to deal with these things slowly."

"It seems that I can only choose to find those stinky flowers..."

"Smelly rotted flowers."

"Well, I'm in trouble with the smelly rot flower."

"I prefer the first one." Xiao En continued to provide advice. "It may be troublesome to dig a pit, but the rest is relatively simple, and the beasts with poisonous blood are also easy to find. You can find them near the rotten flowers.... The devil spider wolf, between level 4 and level 5 monsters, is a wolf-shaped monster with six legs and weird patterns on the back. They live in a family form, generally speaking. A family unit can find three to five. We only need about 20 to poison all of those things."

In this regard, Sean is an authority, and other people listen to Sean well. Even if the bloodletting scene was too disgusting, it was naturally impossible to save time. After all, they couldn't order Sean what to do.

After this chat, everyone has a clearer view of each other's positioning.

Of course, apart from Ryze, Sean and the others get along pretty well. I just don't know why, but Sean has a sense of guard against Ryze. Intuition is telling Shawn that Ryze is a very difficult person, and there must be a conspiracy in this trip. Sean knew that his intuition was getting more and more accurate. He didn't know what caused this, but he only knew that as long as he acted with his intuition, there would be nothing wrong.

And subconsciously, Sean suddenly felt that something seemed to be calling him—he wasn't sure if it was an illusion.

The next day, everyone continued on the road.

The way of action is no different from the first day. It is still Sean running rampant in the front, Suner serving as the "firefighter", and the others moving slowly in the rear. However, the beasts on the road began to gradually leave the area of low-level beasts. Although they have not officially penetrated into the forest, the number of fourth-level beasts has also begun to increase. However, Sean was not particularly struggling to deal with it. On the contrary, after the first day of experience, Sean's killing speed and skills became cleaner.

When he returned to the camp the next day, Arkham and others were already shocked.

Because the aura exuding from Sean's body actually reached the level of the lower silver peak.

If you just break through to the lower silver, maybe everyone will only think that it is accumulation. But the previous day was only at the tipping point of a breakthrough. It broke through and reached the peak level on the next day, which is even more terrifying than the level of "rapidly consolidating one's realm as soon as a breakthrough". It's just that Sean pretended to be stupid and said that he didn't know, and other people couldn't ask what they were talking about.

It's just that when he fell asleep that night, Sean felt that Ryze's gaze towards him became even more weird, full of a strangeness.

In the next few days, because of Sean's strength, he got a breakthrough. The speed of everyone's progress has accelerated a lot. Only with the gradual deepening of the forest. There are also more and more level 5 and level 6 monsters. For Sean, who is still in a sealed state, such a journey has begun to appear in some dangerous situations, especially after the appearance of level 6 monsters. Well, there is no way to solve it too simply and neatly.

After all, the level 6 monsters are equivalent to the lower level gold, and the level 6 monsters are more difficult to deal with than the average lower level gold powerhouses, so Shiner gradually began to join the battle frequently. Even on the fifth day, Joanna started to act with Sean-because Arkham noticed it. Shaun was on the verge of breakthrough again, which shocked everyone. But they are still relatively happy. After all, the faster Sean's strength increases, the higher the safety factor of their group in this forest, because now they are now officially entering the living area of advanced monsters.

After two more days of advancing like this, Sean no longer dared to leave the team, but began to maintain a consistent formation with the entire team. Because they can no longer see the fifth-level beasts, basically the sixth-level beasts appear. The sixth-level beasts will not be afraid of the aura of Arkham and others. Even the magic wolves have encountered two batches of them. There were more than a hundred in a batch, and that was an almost fierce battle.

Hams and Joanna were both injured in this battle, but fortunately the injuries were not serious, so they did not affect the combat effectiveness.

And Sean, also in this fierce battle, officially broke through the realm of lower silver and returned to the level of upper silver. It's just that there is still a gap between what he expected to return to the upper silver pinnacle, but even so, but being able to return to the upper silver Sean is still very satisfied, because it means that he can use the black king again, which makes him At the very least, his combat effectiveness has more than doubled. Even if Arkham is against Sean now, Sean is not without the power to fight back.

But Requiem and Requiem are still not unlocked, but they always puzzled Sean.

Logically speaking, even if Requiem did not unblock it because the agility value was not enough, Requiem should also be unblocked, because Sean learned this skill when he was in the lower silver period. Now that they have returned to the upper silver position, why hasn't they been unblocked?

I didn't think about it for a while, and Sean didn't waste time on this.

Because there are other things seriously distracting Sean at this time.

As he goes deeper into the forest, the mysterious call that Sean feels becomes more obvious. Many times he has clearly fallen asleep, but he will be awakened by the boiling of blood in the middle of the night. There was a voice in his mind constantly shouting, screaming, as if he wanted to let Sean pass, but this voice was so vague that Sean couldn't tell exactly what was going on.

However, this question that has troubled Sean for a while, it was finally answered two weeks after entering Akaz Beisen.

On this day, after Sean, Arkham and others quickly dealt with almost 30 devil spider wolves, they bleed the blood directly from the vines covered by the smelly carrion flower, and it took only half a day to remove these plants. All poisoned to death. However, there was a problem when digging for the seeds, because the smell of the seeds wrapped in the stinky carrion flower root sac was really disgusting, and Shiner and Hams vomited on the spot.

In the end, Sean, Ryze, and Joanna dug up these seeds and quickly made more than a dozen stink bombs under the instructions of Sean. But even so, the smell is really unbearable-it feels like a corpse soaked in water swelled and decomposed and then thrown into a cesspit for a few days before being dug out.

Even if everyone was soaking in the stream that they were almost peeling off their skin, they still felt that their bodies seemed to be stuck with this smell. However, considering that the Ghost Wing Demon Lizard can be solved quickly, everyone can only continue to endure no matter how sick they are.

is the night of this day.

Shaun finally heard clearly the call he had heard since he entered the forest.

"My son! Come here soon! I don't have much time!"

This special sound from the resonance of the soul made Sean feel a very unique strangeness. And being immersed in this sound, the only thing Sean could feel was that the blood in his whole body seemed to be boiling, and the crazy heat even made him feel his breath boiling and rising.

Even if it was just an illusion, but Sean knew that the voice was real.

Because he has received the prompt sound from the system.

Chapter 365: .Mysterious mission

PS: Watch the exclusive story behind "Lord of War", listen to your more suggestions on the novel, follow the official account of the Internet (add friends on WeChat-add official account-enter qdread), and let me know quietly!

【You have activated the task. 】

【Task objective: find the calling place. 】

【Task reward: unknown. 】

【Mission failed: unknown. 】

Sean's eyes suddenly opened, and a unique breath suddenly radiated from him. The fluctuation of the momentum is not strong, but it is very awe-inspiring and profound. Almost at this moment, the sleeping Arkham and others opened their eyes one after another, and a unique sense of inexplicable heart palpitations passed through their hearts, so that all Suddenly a subtle panic and fear arose in the human heart.

"This is, what's going on?" Arkham got up for the first time, and then drew out his long sword.

This magic weapon, Sean has checked before.

The quality is at the golden level, but because of the long lack of maintenance and improper use, this sword has been retreated to the level of powerful silver. However, for this level, even if Sean sells it at the cost price, it will cost about one million. This is a successful result, and often a resale auction at this level can sell for three or four million. It is even more valuable in special times.

Arkham is a swordsman.

This is a relatively rare profession, transferred from a swordsman, is a profession that pays more attention to attack power, but it is not particularly weak in terms of speed, endurance, etc. But this is not the point. The point is that the profession of Jianhao possesses relatively strong combat skills. This is a profession that relies heavily on skills. And Arkham's fighting spirit is also a rare ice attribute fighting energy. This fighting energy has a very special effect just like the lightning attribute fighting energy, except that the lightning attribute is mainly paralyzed, while the ice attribute is mainly frozen. In other respects, it is almost the same as the water attribute.

The long sword in his hand is also a magic weapon with a strong ice attribute, which contrasts with his fighting. This also greatly strengthened Arkham's combat effectiveness.

As Arkham stood up and watched. Shiner had quickly climbed to the pole of a tree, and then began to investigate the surrounding environment. And Hams and Joanna are also ready for the battle, but the difference is that Joanna is not wearing heavy armor at this time, just picking up the tower shield and battle axe. Time can't make him slow. Put on the whole set of heavy armor.

Because Sean has collected various materials to disperse monsters along the way, Arkham and others are also used to not being vigil at night every day.

Ritz glanced at Sean thoughtfully. But nothing special was found. So he didn't pay too much attention, on the contrary, he was also guarding against possible attacks.

Only Sean knows, there will be no attack at all.

The peculiar heart palpitations just now were caused by the call from afar and the resonance of his soul. Although the moment he lost control of his aura, Xiao En realized the problem, so he immediately controlled the aura's emission. But he did not expect that Arkham and the others were so keen and decisive that they were immediately ready for battle as soon as they noticed the strange breath.

After waiting for a while, there was still no attack. Arkham said, "Remove the alert."

Other talents relax slightly.

"We are getting deeper and deeper into the forest. This is the first time we have entered such a deep area. We can't be sure about everything we will encounter along the way, so I hope from this moment on, everyone stays vigilant." Cam frowned, and then said, "From now on, each of us will have a vigil, two hours each, and the schedule will be... Sean, you will be the first."

"What's the matter?" Sean was still thinking about the meaning of the calling sound, and suddenly when Arkham called his name, he subconsciously replied.

"I said, we have gone too deep into the forest now, and no one knows what dangers we will encounter, so I decided to arrange a turn to watch the night." Arkham said again, "You will be the first to watch the night. "

"Yes." Sean nodded.

He knew that this was Arkham taking care of himself.

Night watchers, the first and last are the easiest, because the former only needs to survive a short period of time before they can sleep well until dawn, and they don't need to be interrupted unless there is a fight in the middle. The latter is the last person responsible for the night watch, usually the person who has slept the most energetic, so it is also the least mentally burdened, second only to the first person to watch the night.

When Sean agreed, Arkham began to call and arrange the next vigil: "Well, the second vigil is for Hams, the third is Shiner, and the fourth is me. , Joanna is in charge of the last one."

"My lord, let me change with you." After listening to Arkham's arrangement, Shiner spoke.

The work of vigil seems to be just an arrangement on the list, but it actually tests the abilities of a leader very much.

The last vigil is Joanna, because he is the only defender of the entire team and the most important person, so naturally it is necessary to arrange it in a position that is relatively easy and does not require too much energy. Otherwise, if something happens to him in the middle, then the whole team is likely to be destroyed. Generally, in the mercenary group and adventurer team, defenders like Joanna are treated the same as magicians: they do not need to be responsible for the work of the night watch.

But Arkham's team can't work because there are too many people.

Ryze is a magician. He has special powers that don't need a night watch. Others can't.

In the work of the night watch, the hardest thing is undoubtedly the second-to-last on the list.

Imagine that you will be woken up to watch the night when you sleep late at night, and not long after you fall asleep after the shift, the whole team needs to go on the road. Under this vigilance and light sleep state, it is difficult to get sufficient recovery in spirit.

Arkham left this position to himself, obviously this is a good team leader.

"No." Arkham refused directly.

At this moment, he fully demonstrated his strength. After rejecting Sean's proposal, he turned his head and looked at Sean, and then said, "Mr. Sean, do you think we will continue on the road next, or just rest here?"

"Keep on the road!" Sean said directly without even thinking about it.

In his taskbar at this time. There is already more of this task of finding the calling place. And it's still a mandatory login task, unlike those in the past that would ask Sean whether to accept it or there will be other ways to accept it. This situation made Sean feel a very subtle feeling in his heart. Intuition told him that he must go to the place that called him, and there might be some secrets about him hidden there.

But in the same way, his intuition reminded him that there was danger ahead. There was a slight tingling sensation from his skin all over his body, as well as the strange hotness like blood boiling. All made him show a very solemn look.

But others don't know what Sean is thinking. But he thought that Sean's dignified look was because of the palpitations just now. It is very likely that some dangerous beasts are active around them at this time, so everyone dare not say anything at this time. After all, the most authoritative World of Warcraft expert Sean has already said so, they naturally have to follow the instructions, because even Xiao En showed such a solemn expression, that is definitely not a good guy to deal with.

So everyone quickly packed up their things and set off on the road immediately.

The journey this time was very smooth. Perhaps it has entered the hunting circle of the Ghost Wing Demon lizard, and the beasts encountered along the way are much less. But very subtle. In everyone's hearts, there was an illusion of being stared at by something.

Arkham knew that the ghost winged monster had been eyeing them.

When they entered the forest before, they felt this way when they were stared at by the ghost winged monster. But this time, the Ghost Winged Demon Lizard was obviously clever, and did not rush out to find the trouble of Arkham and others, but it was this that made everyone feel more headache, because a frontal attacking monster is not terrible. That kind of beast that hibernates and waits for the time to issue a fatal attack is the most terrifying.

So in the next few days, when the night fell, everyone consciously followed Arkham's arrangement to start the vigil.

This night, because Sean was in charge of the first vigil, when everyone was asleep, he began to patrol around. He could feel that he was getting closer and closer to the calling place. Originally, Sean was a little hesitant, but he can be sure now that the calling place is probably what Arkham and the others said before. Relics.

But in Sean's memory, whether it is Amiz's laboratory or Amiz's library, there shouldn't be any special place. Why is there such a strong sense of calling this time? And what makes Sean even more incomprehensible is that he has never heard such a voice and call before. It was after he entered Amiz Beisen that he had this subtle induction, but this time he will come to Amiz Beisen. It's just a coincidence.

Could it be said that there is really such a thing as fate?

Sean made a round and found no problems before he returned to the camp.

The bonfire did not go out, because everyone knew that they had been spotted by the ghost-winged monster, so naturally there was no need to be secret. Instead, let the bonfire burn, which can make them warmer this night, so that it will not affect the physical fitness and other conditions of the next day.

It's just that when Sean returned to the camp, he found that the magician named Ryze had not fallen asleep, but he was waiting for his return.

Chapter 366: .Ritz

PS: Watch the exclusive story behind "Lord of War", listen to your more suggestions on the novel, follow the official account of the Internet (add friends on WeChat-add official account-enter qdread), and let me know quietly!

"Aren't you going to rest?" Sean glanced at Ryze, and didn't care too much.

Through acting together these days, Sean already knew that Ryze, Arkham and others were not in the same group, and that the two sides only came together for some reason.

Don't even think about Sean. It must be because the two of them have concluded a formal contract in the Adventurer's Guild. Unlike Sean and Arkham, it's just a verbal agreement-it's not that Sean doesn't want to conclude a formal contract, but this kind of formal contract. They are all based on soul fluctuations and need to write their real names.

Because the contract of the Adventurer's Guild is currently the official magical contract commonly used in the Marvel Continent—this type of contract scroll produced by the Magic Guild uses soul fluctuations as the seal of the contract. Those who violate the contract will leave scars on the soul, which will be useful for future growth. The road is extremely unfavorable. And not only that, but those who violate the contract will also be hunted down by all guilds across the continent. Almost all major guilds and chambers of commerce will require both parties to sign this kind of magic contract when conducting more formal affairs.

Knowing the disagreement between Ryze and Arkham himself, Sean was not surprised that Ryze deliberately kept away from Arkham and others.

But other than that, even Sean has to admit that Ryze is indeed a very powerful wandering mage.

The biggest difference between the wandering wizards and the inheritance and academic schools is that they have a very high intuition about combat, and the lack of formal inheritance and systematic guidance also makes the wandering wizards completely ignorant that "the life of a wizard is better than any other. The truth is that biology is higher. A mobile turret who dares to work hard, has great fighting talent and intuition, who is willing to provoke it easily.

In these days of observation, Sean has discovered that although Ryze and Arkham are vigilant to each other, they are in battle. Ryze can cooperate with everyone in the battle tacitly, not like people who are wary of each other, but more like teammates who have cooperated for a long time.

I just don't know, Sean doesn't like Ryze.

If you have to make it clear, it's that Sean doesn't like the look in Ryze's eyes—especially the look in his eyes.

The look in the eyes gave Sean a creepy illusion. Several times, Sean almost couldn't help but wanted to start killing mode on Ryze. Because of this look. Sean has seen some dangerous characters, such as the guild leader in his previous game found any interesting copies, or Cecilia's magic experiment, when William saw recruits, and Bass training herself. When... they would all show such eyes.

That is a look when hunters spot their prey.

Shaun, I really don't like this look—because it's the look that treats him as a prey.

"I'm waiting for you." Ryze doesn't seem to know about Sean's hostility and guard against him. Maybe even if he knows, he doesn't care.

"Wait for me?" Sean frowned, then glanced at the people around him again.

"They are all asleep, and they won't wake up in a short time." Ryze gave a smile that he thought was kind. It's just that no matter how you look at this smile, it makes people feel cold. "I hope our conversation will not be heard by a third person.... Hey."

"Let's talk, wait for me to do what." Xiao En asked in a deep voice, but his attitude was not so friendly.

But Ryze obviously didn't care about it. He shrugged and smiled: "You know where that ruin is, right?"

"I don't know." Sean replied directly without thinking about it.

In fact, as the terrain gradually approaches, Sean can roughly guess where Arkham and others call the ruins.

There are only two ruins in the entire Amiz Beisen.

The library is located closer to the edge-although Shaun doesn't understand why Amiz will secretly build a library. But he only knew that the location of the library was at the edge of Beisen: it was just entering from another direction. What is hidden inside seems to be some of Amiz's research records and valuable special classics, but in the game, players only care about whether it is helpful to their own abilities. Things like this related to game background information are completely uninteresting.

So, judging from the geographical location, Sean can conclude that this ruin must be Amiz's magic laboratory.

But he knows, it doesn't mean he needs to speak out.

Especially sharing information with Ryze.

"You know." Ryze smiled weirdly, "You caused the fluctuation the other night. Moreover, after you woke up, you stared at the direction of the ruins for the first time. Obviously you felt What's there?... Arkham and the others don't understand, but that doesn't mean I'm also a fool. The magician's mentality is far stronger than you think."

"I don't know what you are talking about." A hint of surprise flashed through Sean's heart, but the expression on his face remained unchanged.

Ryze sighed helplessly, as if he had anticipated Sean's reaction: "I knew it would evolve into this kind of result, so...this is the reason why I let them all sleep well... Since you don't Ken took the initiative to tell me, then I have to take a little bit of violence against you."

Shaun's expression changed suddenly.

But it is obvious that Ryze is already prepared for a conflict with Sean.

Because just as his words fell, his left hand suddenly loosened, and the purple-blue cover magic book he held in his hand floated up, but the pages of the magic book in this windless environment It was flipping frantically; and at almost the same time, his right hand was also quickly raised, and then he made a push towards Sean.

I saw Ryze's right hand burst into a blue light, and a magic circle appeared on the ground instantly. Immediately after Xiao En's body, there was a blue brilliance shining, and several thunder lights like iron pillars suddenly came from the edge of the magic circle. Projected.

Sean didn't expect that Ryze had planned to do it on himself a long time ago. Although his reaction was extremely quick, he was also ready to fight the moment he saw Ryze take action. However, he did not expect that he was still a step slower than Ritz, so that as soon as he moved, those iron pillars of thunder had already shot out, and Xiao En felt the hot breath coming over his face. This made him stop immediately, fearing that someone would accidentally collide with the thunder pillar.

In a blink of an eye, the lightning shot from the magic circle was like a cage, directly imprisoning Sean.

"Thunder Light Thorns?" Sean's eyes looked very gloomy.

This magic, Sean knows.

in the game. This skill is the favorite field control skill of many Thunder Masters-this skill is called the strongest single control skill and it is not just a name. Maybe in group battles. This magic is not very good, it only needs a little external force to destroy it easily; but in a singled environment, it is completely impossible to destroy from the inside, which is equivalent to saying that it must abruptly withstand an attack from the opponent's magician.

Usually, after lightning magicians control an opponent with lightning thorns, they have a lot of time for them to prepare for magic.

It is said that at this time, it is enough for them to chant a forbidden spell.

"It seems. You are also very researched on magic." Ryze smiled. It's just that his smile really makes people feel uncomfortable, "If that's the case, then I can't lie to you. So, I still have to prepare my second magic... This will take a little bit of time, but I believe, you see After my magic, you will be happy to have a more friendly conversation with me."

While said this, Ryze suddenly stretched his right hand onto the magic book floating in the palm of his left hand. The purple mist visible to the naked eye was emitting strands of the magic book, and then gathered and condensed in the palm of Ryze's right hand. And spinning. Not long after, there was a purple ball of light the size of a baby's fist condensed on his right hand, and then, more and more purple energy began to be absorbed by the purple ball, and it gradually became like a basketball. size.

Until then, Ryze moved his right hand away from the magic book.

In the range visible to the naked eye, there seemed to be liquid flowing and tumbling inside the purple ball that was placed in the palm of Riztor's palm. Even if Ryze is more than ten meters away, Sean can still feel the fiery heat inside the purple ball, as well as the frantic and unstable elemental power.

It is not an exaggeration to say that Ryze is holding a nuclear bomb in his hand!

But what Shaun really cares about is not the purple ball of light in Ryze's hand, but the situation on Ryze's body at this time.

His skin has completely turned blue, with purple lines all over his body, which makes him look very terrifying. Especially his hair completely fell out in an instant, turning into a bald piece, and a very terrifying and evil atmosphere was exuding all over his body. He stared straight at Sean like this, and the purple ball of light on the palm of his right hand gradually turned dark blue, but it was even more terrifying.

Because that is already plasma!

"You... are a demon...?" Sean's pupils shrank suddenly, but as soon as he said this, he denied it again, "No, your breath is very devilish, but you don't have that violent aura.you....."

Shaun's gaze suddenly moved to the magic book in Ryze's left hand.

"Very keen judgment." Ryze's face showed an expression of appreciation, "The Demon Code, it allows me to possess demon-like abilities, but it does not make me a demon. In other words, I can keep it. My own will, thinking, thoughts, and mentality have only changed in appearance, but this is not important to me.... You know, the magician pursues power and knowledge, and everything else is not important. "

Shaun squeezed the black king in his hand.

Ryze was the first magician to make him feel pressured and tricky, and Sean had always ignored all the magicians he had encountered before. Although Sean can use generality as an excuse, in fact, he did commit a crime of underestimating the enemy, so that he fell into such a passive situation at this time. If it wasn't for the other party's apparent intention to shed some information from Sean's mouth, but the intention to kill Sean from the beginning, I'm afraid that Sean would lose his skin even if he didn't die at this time.

"Even if you have the power of the Thunder Demon, you can't fully display it." Sean looked at Ryze, thinking about the countermeasures in his mind, and said in a deep voice, "The Thunder Demon are high-ranking demons, they The power of is extremely powerful, far from being controllable by humans like you. In your current state, you can only exert less than one percent of the power of Thunder Demon unless you are willing to turn yourself into a demon. "

"One percent is enough for you." Ryze smiled indifferently.

But Sean noticed that the word Ryze used at this time was "you", so he completely understood in an instant: "You don't even plan to let Arkham go."

"They were originally the sacrifices I prepared." Ryze grinned, but the whole person looked more evil and terrifying. "I can really only display one percent of the devil's power... Oh, that's it. I have to thank you, because I don't know what that demon is. It seems that you are not a Warcraft scholar like you said. I have never seen any Warcraft scholar just watch. I can tell the kind of demons I borrowed at a glance."

Sean was silent, but looked at Ryze coldly.

"En, but... it doesn't matter." Ryze shrugged, "Look, your life is completely in my hands, so now, can we talk about what you know about that ruin? It's up?"

Chapter 367: .misfortune

PS: Watch the exclusive story behind "Lord of War", listen to your more suggestions on the novel, follow the official account of the Internet (add friends on WeChat-add official account-enter qdread), and let me know quietly!

Sean glanced at the plasma ball in Ryze's hand, then glanced at the lightning thorns that had imprisoned him, and then he let out a sneer: "Talk? I don't think we have anything to talk about.... But you want to treat Arkham and the others as sacrifices, don't you worry about the contract you signed?"

"Why should you worry?" Ryze smiled, "As long as my sacrifice is successful this time, I can gain the blood of the devil, and my soul will grow. That loss is not worth mentioning to me. Now...As for the brand, I'm honestly looking forward to it, because it means that a steady stream of high-end offerings will be delivered to the door automatically, saving me searching everywhere."

"You are the second person I have ever seen to try to control the blood of the devil." Sean laughed suddenly, with endless mockery, "Only fools will deal with the devil, not with the devil. ...Oh, yes, the first one is no longer human now."

Ritz was slightly taken aback, and then said: "Your joke is really funny."

"Haha." Sean laughed, and then raised the Black King, but his eyes began to lock on the plasma ball in Ryze's hand.

If he is really hit by this thing, Sean can be sure that he can't hold it anymore. And his only way is to break the lightning thorns at the moment Ryze launches the plasma ball attack. Others trapped by the lightning thorns naturally cannot escape, but the Black King in Sean's hands has Demon-breaking attributes, this thunder thorns naturally can't hold Sean.

It's just that Sean doesn't want to expose the power of the Black King so quickly for the time being.

The plasma ball, although it is also a kind of magic, actually has a very strong physical damage effect-Sean can break the magic attack of the plasma ball, but then it causes a strong explosion and plasma jet . That is not something that Sean can block with the body, unless he is now a strong sanctuary. And the other reason Sean didn't choose to break through the thunder thorns immediately was that Sean planned to kill Ryze by surprise: As long as Ryze didn't throw the plasma ball out, Shaun was ready to dormant.

So, at this time, Sean focused all his attention on Ryze's hands. Be prepared for everything.

"Okay. Let's not waste time. You should tell me how much you know about the ruins." Ryze changed the topic to the ruins again. It's totally meaningless to me.... I know that you have a resonance with that ruin. I have been observing you for several days. So don't try to hide it from me."

"Your brain is really big." Sean has been the actor for so long. It's not bragging. At this time, although I was surprised at Ryze's keen observation, his face showed a ridiculous expression, "If I really resonated with that ruin, I would leave you alone and go in. Now, will I go with you?"

"Because of insecurity." Ryze said naturally, "Even me, I have to find such a group of people to travel with... Although I do regard them as sacrifices. But I also have to admit that their strength is indeed true. Very strong.... Well, powerful strength and soul. Nothing is more suitable as a sacrifice."

"You are simply a lunatic." Sean said in a deep voice.

"Thank you for the compliment." Ryze saluted Sean gracefully, but it was not a magician etiquette, but an aristocratic etiquette, which is still very old.

Sean's pupils shrank suddenly, and his voice was a little unbelievable: "You are... an underground resident!?"

This time, even Ryze's face that had been disguised was a bit unnatural. But soon, his expression returned to the exaggerated form of the past. He let out a burst of laughter, and even because the laughter was so intense that he suddenly started coughing, the whole person bends down like this. Panting lightly. But from his violently undulating shoulders and back, it can be seen that his smile is not over.

"It really surprised me, Sir Sean." Suddenly, Ryze's tone changed slightly, and his voice became low and hoarse, with a hint of sharpness. The temperament of the whole person suddenly changed, and Even his pronunciation has also changed, and what he said is no longer the lingua franca of the mainland, "How did you discover that I am not a human?"

But this time, Sean did not answer, but asked, "What is in that ruin? I don't believe it, it's just a place of sacrifice."

In the game, unless it is a special plot activated by someone, NPCs generally cannot find the existence of ruins. In the game, the ruins that adventurer NPCs have been exploring are large public ruins, which means that those ruins are copies that have existed from the beginning, rather than undeveloped dungeon copies. And in this world, Sean has discovered that the opening time of the dungeon is also driven by time, just like the "Wandering Darkness" that he first entered at the beginning, there is no such thing as time.

It is precisely because of this that Sean found that some rules in the game are equally applicable in this world. In other words, many dungeon dungeons must be triggered before they can be opened-for example, the dungeon when he turned Rina into the team, if it weren't for his presence, that dungeon would also be impossible to open. But now, Akaz's magic laboratory was opened without triggering, so it can only explain one thing.

In the original game, before Akaz's magic laboratory was discovered, it had already been visited by Ryze and others once!

"Huh?" Ryze raised an eyebrow, "You don't know what's underneath?"

"I don't know." Sean said in a deep voice.

This time, he really didn't lie.

What he knew was the Akaz Magic Lab after being patronized by Ryze and others, not the Magic Lab at this time.

Ryze stared at Sean tightly. After a long time, he suddenly smiled and said, "Interesting. It's so funny.... So it seems that you are more valuable than I thought. , I really don't know what's underneath that can resonate with the ruins. Hey...you are not a real demon, are you? The devil's remnants living in the world? Ah... Suddenly I want to dissect you. ."

Shaun's face became very ugly.

This is the first time that someone said in front of him that he would be dissected and sectioned for research.

"Don't worry, I won't kill you so easily. You are worth more to me now. But it's bigger than these guys." Ryze smiled. Then suddenly, with a squeeze of his right hand, he squeezed the plasma ball, and saw countless lightning elemental energy madly emanating, becoming abnormally violent.

Sean raised his brows slightly, and his heart was a little shocked. This is a phenomenon that magical instability is about to explode!

Ryze did not release this magic, but forced it to disperse it. But it was obvious that the dispersal failed. And with the power of this plasma ball. Sean believes that once these dissipated energies are detonated, it may be difficult for anything to survive within ten meters of the surrounding area-the explosion of unstable elements is often more terrifying than the magic released, and usually the destructive power is Calculated by ten times.

But at this moment, Ryze suddenly opened the demon code in his left hand again.

In an instant, all the violent elemental energy was inhaled by the demon code, as if a greedy and hungry creature finally found food to feast on. It's almost a few breaths of effort. All the frantic elemental fluctuations in the air were completely absorbed.

This time, Sean finally took a serious look at the demon code.

Thunder Demon. They are the high-ranking demons in the abyss. They are born with the power to manipulate lightning. Coupled with the special attributes unique to the demons, they can ignore all fire attribute damage, and even have very powerful destructive capabilities and various extremes. Amazing ability. Most thunder demons like to rely on their physical superiority to choose close combat, because they can easily manipulate thunder and lightning, so they can not only create various armors and weapons made of thunder elements on the surface of their bodies, but they can also attach them to their attacks. Very powerful electrical damage.

The demon code in Ryze's hand is probably made from the skin of the thunder demon, otherwise it would be impossible to have such a powerful thunder element control ability.

"Don't worry, I said I won't kill you, so I definitely won't kill you." Ryze smiled, but at this time, there was a burst of erratic black energy on his right index finger." We still have half a day's journey to reach the ruins, and then we will fight the * ghost winged demon lizard.... But before that, I want to control you to prevent unnecessary occurrences. The situation, after all, you already know my real situation, don't you?"

Sean looked at Ryze coldly, waiting for Ryze to get close enough.

But what Shaun did not expect was that Ryze was obviously very cautious, even if it seemed that he had completely controlled the situation at the moment, he still chose to keep a three-meter distance with Shaun. Seeing this, Sean was also quite helpless, because it was already outside of his attack range. But in desperation, Sean didn't care too much, because he knew that there was an opportunity next.

Looking at Sean's helpless look, Ryze laughed and looked very happy: "Don't worry, it won't hurt very much, it's all right at once."

"But it's a pity, you made a mistake." Sean looked at Ryze and said softly, "The last thing you shouldn't be is to release such a powerful magic power at such a place so close to the ghost-winged devil lizard's lair. Fluctuations... even if it's only a few seconds..."

Ryze's face suddenly changed.

"Roar!"

A strong roar suddenly sounded in the forest. Judging from the sound, it is not difficult to hear the anger mixed in it.

Ghost Wing Demon Lizard is a powerful monster with dragon bloodline. Although this bloodline has become extremely thin, it is not even a dragon-like family, but it still has many characteristics of a dragon. For example, I like to collect shiny things, and I have a very strong conceptual awareness of my own territory, so naturally, I hate having a powerful explosion of magic power near my lair.

Because of this behavior, it is simply a provocation for the dragon.

It expresses only one meaning: silly X, I'm here to * you!

"Shoo!"

A sharp whistling sound suddenly sounded, and a sturdy tree body as thick as three people hugged it from the forest towards Ryze. Sean, who had been prepared for a long time, naturally squatted down for the first time, and Ryze fell to the ground as soon as he heard the sound, his skill was not as sharp as a magician.

Under such a huge tree body, let alone thunder thorns, even ordinary tower shields may not be able to withstand it. So there is no suspense, the thunder light thorns used to trap Sean are instantly broken-when he heard the cracking sound, Ryze's face suddenly changed again, and then rolled out to the side without hesitation. . Almost when he turned over and rolled out, Sean had already waved the Black King and slashed.

But it is a pity that Ryze's combat experience is so high that Shaun's sword failed to kill Ryze.

Shaun's eyes once again showed a trace of regret.

This Ryze is too cunning.

Chapter 368: .get away

PS: Watch the exclusive story behind "Lord of War", listen to your more suggestions on the novel, follow the official account of the Internet (add friends on WeChat-add official account-enter qdread), and let me know quietly!

After avoiding Sean's attack after several tumbings, Ryze, who had just stood up, immediately put on several protective magics for himself.

The distance between him and Xiao En was almost ten meters, and he looked at Xiao En with cold eyes: "I regret it a bit."

Sean didn't bother to pay attention to Ryze. If he knew this was the result, he would definitely not hesitate to break through the thunder thorns at the first time, and then kill Ryze instead of wasting it with him. After such a long time, the ghost winged monster was finally provoked.

A huge black shadow suddenly jumped out of the forest, and then fell heavily to the ground, sending out an extremely strong vibration.

And when Sean really saw this ghost winged monster, his face couldn't help but change.

This is a ghost-winged monster in its prime of life, far more powerful than the average adult ghost-winged monster.

It looks like a desert monitor lizard on the earth has been magnified several times, its back height is more than three meters, and the tail length is probably about six to seven meters, and every scale on its body looks unusually bright. , Like a spar, this is a symbol of the mighty power of the Ghost Wing Demon Lizard. However, the most noticeable thing is the bone wings on its back. At this time, when fully unfolded, it is five meters long from side to side, and its color is as white as ivory.

"Damn it!" Sean cursed fiercely, "It's the Ghost Wing Demon King!"

Hearing what Shaun said, Ryze's face changed slightly. And then, this guy turned around and fled without hesitation, completely ignoring the criticality of the situation at this time, and even Arkham and the others completely ignored it.

And poor Arkham and others, but because of Ryze's magic. At this time, he was still asleep.

They just frowned slightly under the shock that the Ghost Wing Demon lizard had just jumped out.

At this moment, if he could escape, Sean would also like to escape, but he knew it. He can't do this. Because he is the closest to this ghost-winged monster, as long as he moves, then the ghost-winged monster will definitely choose to attack him without hesitation. The only thing he can do now is to pretend that he is too frightened and completely unable to move-and in fact, Sean does exactly that, he is playing a role that is frightened and stupid. Just standing still shivering.

The ghost winged monster raised his head and glanced at Sean. There was an extremely humane contempt in his eyes.

But it did not attack Sean, but jumped up immediately and chased Ryze.

Unfortunately, as the ghost-winged demon lizard ran, its hammer-like tail also flicked and flicked, but it smashed Suner who was sleeping on the side. This hapless half-elf, after all, could not escape the malice of fate, so he was in a dream. He was killed by the Ghost Wing Demon Lizard without even humming.

Seeing the ghost winged monster moving, Sean also ran towards Arkham for the first time.

While passing by Joanna and Hams. Xiao En threw his hands and each gave out a sword, and the sharp sword aura cut through the skin of the two men, awakening them all at once.

The method used by Ryze is no different from that of ordinary magicians, but uses the hypnotic gas of the water element sooner or later to make people fall into a deeper sleep state.

To put it simply, it is hypnotic magic.

This kind of magic depends on the strength of the magician, and its effect power is also different. However, Ryze can put Hams and others into a deep sleep, which shows that its magic power is definitely not low. It's just that as long as it is hypnotic magic, its cracking method is very violent and simply, as long as it creates a strong enough pain, the person who is falling asleep can be directly awakened-of course, like the state of Shiner, it is to meet directly Reaper.

"What's the matter?" Just when he woke up, he smelled a pungent blood and stench, and Hams was taken aback.

And Joanna, obviously hasn't recovered yet, a little confused.

Shaun didn't care about what to say. He stepped on Arkham's head and shouted: "Let's go!... Ryze wants to sacrifice you to the devil in exchange for strength, but he I miscalculated, and finally attracted the Ghost Winged Demon Lizard. Shiner is dead!"

Hearing what Shaun said, Hams and Joanna were both stunned, and then subconsciously looked at the location of Sean.

Only what they saw was a mass of meat sauce that could no longer be called a corpse.

"Damn it!" Joanna let out a roar, and then she tried to stand up, but she just struggled for a while before she fell down again, his head was still a little fuzzy, and because hypnotism was similar to his physical shield Because of the effect of "strengthening the crowd", Joanna's limbs also looked a little weak, "I'm going to kill that bastard!"

"Whether he can survive or not is a question." Shaun pulled Arkham up.

This guy is better. The resistance to abnormal state is almost zero. Although he wakes up at this time, his state is almost as drunk.

Even though Sean knew that Jianhao's resistance to all abnormal states was almost equal to zero, he did not expect this to have a negative effect on Arkham's body. In Arkham's state, obviously letting him participate in the battle is simply asking him to die. And Joanna's condition is not much better than Arkham. Although he has regained consciousness and has the ability to judge, his weakness in his limbs is also a problem, and I am afraid that there will be no way to recover in a short time.

The only one who can recover quickly is Hams, who is a knight of God of War.

Slightly far away, there was a sudden violent explosion, thunder roaring one after another, and it sounded like a  descending from the earth. Among them, there were also a few painful roars of the ghost winged demon lizard-with the powerful dual resistance properties of the ghost winged demon lizard, Ryze was able to injure this ghost winged demon lizard, and his strength was not simple. However, with the roar of the ghost winged monster, the sound of the battle became more intense, and the range of fluctuations became larger and larger.

The hair of Sean and others even started to react with static electricity.

"Can you still walk?" Sean turned his head and asked Joanna.

"Yes." Joanna gritted her teeth, then insisted on standing up. But he was obviously weak when he wanted to get the tower shield.

At this time, Sean did not dare to hide anything.

With his current strength, it is impossible to contend with that Ghost Wing Demon King. The strength of this thing is equivalent to the pinnacle of the seventh-level beast, and this level of the beast corresponds to the powerhouse of the upper golden peak, plus the increase in the natural strength of the beast. At the very least, the level of the quasi-sanctuary powerhouse is required to be able to deal with this ghost-winged demon lizard king. Even if Sean had a lot of stinky bombs on him. It can interfere and affect the ghost winged monster, reducing its combat effectiveness, but this is still not the level that Sean can single out. It may be possible to win by combining the power of Arkham, Joanna, Hams and others.

Thinking of this, Sean's hatred for Ryze deepens.

He didn't expect that Ryze, a magician, would be so crazy that the bridge hadn't been crossed yet. It has already begun to be demolished. If it weren't for him to be a fool. It can only be said that he is too arrogant, thinking he can control everything.

Walking to Joanna's side, Shaun's hand swept Joanna's tower shield, halberd, and battle axe into the storage ring. At the same time, he quickly helped Joanna to remove the heavy armor from her body to reduce Joanna's weight burden and put away everything.

"Let's go!" After that, Sean walked to Arkham's side, picked Arkham on his back, and ran quickly.

Hams was surprised that Sean had space storage equipment. But he didn't say anything, just supported Joanna and quickly followed.

"Where are we going?" Hams asked.

In the whole team. He is actually the deputy captain, the commander second only to Arkham. Generally, when Arkham temporarily leaves the team, he is in charge of all command rights, and both Shiner and Joanna have become accustomed to this mode of behavior. At this time, Arkham was unconscious, so Hams could only shoulder the so-called captain duties. He must quickly find a place to hide and spend the most difficult time for the entire team.

"I just heard Ryze say that there is only half a day away from the ruins. The ghost winged monster was led out by us. If we move faster, we can enter the ruins now." Without replying, he didn't expect Arkham to be heavier than he imagined. This made him wish he would also put Arkham into the storage ring space, "This is our only hope. The area a few kilometers around here is all the animal's territory. We were united before, and it couldn't find the opportunity to attack, but now our team has been divided, and we have lost two vital forces. Wait for it. After solving Ryze, he will definitely come to us. With the keen sense of ghost winged monster lizard, we have nowhere else to hide except for hiding in the ruins."

Hamms nodded and didn't say anything, because he knew that no one in the audience knew Warcraft better than Sean, so he could only trust his judgment.

The sound of fighting in the rear is getting louder and louder, and it feels like Ryze is almost desperate.

But Shaun knew that with Ryze's previous strength, he was very reluctant to compete against the sixth-level ghost winged monster, and at most he could only escape without death. But facing the seventh-level ghost winged monster, I'm afraid he can't get away even if he wants to run. Before, he made a decisive choice to escape, because Shaun was closer to the Ghost Wing Demon, and there were a lot of food on the ground. As long as the Ghost Wing Demon stared at Sean, he could run completely.

But it's a pity that Sean knows Ryze better than Ryze, so he didn't act according to Ryze's script, so the ghostwing devil naturally solved Ryze first. After all, the powerful magical explosion wave just now was emitted by Ryze. From the perspective of the ghost winged monster, it was Ryze's contempt and provocation against him.

So the result was naturally Ryze and fulfilled the departure of Sean and others.

As the battle became more and more fierce, Ryze had delayed holding the ghost winged monster for more than five minutes, and Joanna's physical strength gradually recovered. He no longer needed Hams' support, so the entire team moved forward at a faster speed. Speeded up a lot. For Ryze, the half-day journey actually refers to the speed at which everyone advances slowly. At this time, everyone can reach it within half an hour with the rapid action state of everyone's full burst.

But at this time, the sound of fighting from the rear suddenly disappeared completely, and the entire forest environment sounded terribly silent.

And Sean's face suddenly changed at this moment: "We can't run away, it's catching up!"

Chapter 369: .Knight's Promise

PS: Watch the exclusive story behind "Lord of War", listen to your more suggestions on the novel, follow the official account of the Internet (add friends on WeChat-add official account-enter qdread), and let me know quietly!

Sean several people stood back to back, maintaining a vigilant lineup.

At this time, it is not easy for Joanna to wear the armor. Not to mention that he can't wear it alone, and even if one person is available to help, it will take several minutes. With the wisdom of the Ghost Wing Demon, he will never give up such a good opportunity to attack, and even if the Ghost Wing Demon is real Allow Joanna to wear the armor, with his current physical level, whether he can continue to fight is unknown.

The more silent the surroundings, the greater the psychological pressure on everyone.

It's just that even if they were on guard, everyone didn't stop because of it, they still continued to move slowly.

The closer to the location of that ruin, the safer they will be.

Everyone understands this truth.

"Roar!"

But it is obvious that the ghost winged monster can't let these people go on like this.

It slowly walked out of the shadows in the forest, but did not completely walk out, only revealing the front half of its figure, but its golden and black vertical pupils were very clearly angry, staring firmly. Sean. It uttered a roar that shook the mountain, and the sound waves that were visible to the naked eye surged out, and for a while, there was a phenomenon of flying sand and rocks on the ground.

"Hey, it seems to be very dissatisfied with you." Because of physical fitness, Joanna can no longer hold the shield in one hand and the halberd in the other. He can only hold the halberd in both hands, but there is no expression on his face. There was a lot of fear, but he was still in the mood to joke Shaun.

"I pretended to be frightened by it and called you to get up. This animal felt that his IQ was insulted." Xiao En said lightly. His face looked very calm, not at all the panic he had experienced when he was in front of this ghost winged monster, "But it seems that its injury should not be light."

"Have a chance?" Hams asked in a deep voice.

"No." Sean broke Hams' illusion without thinking about it, "If Arkham and Joanna can exert their full strength, then there is still a battle. Now... we can only retreat while fighting. But even this is still very dangerous."

"I will stay." Hams said suddenly.

Sean and Joanna suddenly widened their eyes and looked at Hams in disbelief.

Joanna even cursed without even thinking: "You are tired of living! Our current situation is not that brutal opponent at all. If you leave it alone, do you think you can live?"

"Roar!" Joanna's voice was a little louder, so the "beast" was naturally heard clearly, which made the ghost winged monster finally gave up a trace of attention to look at Joanna, in her eyes. The color of anger is obviously stronger. Its front paws scratched the ground a little uneasy. Then he took a few steps forward again. As its body gradually emerged from the darkness, Xiao En and others finally saw its miserable condition at this time.

Ryze may not be able to kill this ghost-winged demon lizard, but it can still be done by letting it suffer. It's just that this Sean is bigger than the situation that Sean and others can imagine.

The whole body of the ghost winged monster can be said to be weapons, and its strongest weapon is naturally the degraded pair of flying wing bones on the back, and the tail that is more than one meter in length and has extremely destructive power. In addition, the Ghost Wing Demon Lizard is not much different from the general Warcraft. It is nothing more than a strong body, excellent endurance, great strength, etc., even the way of fighting depends on instinct to fight.

But at this moment. The pair of bone wings of this ghost-winged monster lizard, the left part is completely broken, leaving only a small section less than 30 centimeters, and the right part has countless cracks, and it must be no longer a weapon. Come to use. Then the only thing that remains threatening is the tail of the ghost winged monster lizard. The impact of this tail is no less than that of the heavy hammer of a siege vehicle, except for the power of the ghost winged monster lizard. .

"This old guy is hurt." Hams grinned suddenly, "Is this still unsure?"

"Not sure." Sean carefully observed the ghost winged demon lizard that had completely walked out of the shadow area. Its injuries were basically concentrated in the front part, and there was no effect at all on the back part, especially on its huge tail. There is a little bit of ground meat, but it is not clear whether it belongs to Shiner or Ryze. "The current situation of this beast is to increase the probability of winning the battle together from 50%. It's only 70%."

"This success rate is not low." Hams was taken aback for a moment, and then smiled.

"Yes, but the premise is that the four of us work together." Xiao En said in a deep voice, "In our current situation, it is nothing more than leaving four corpses.... Ryze did cause some trouble for this guy, but the distance There is still a long way to go to kill it, at least none of the scales on its body are broken, which means that its strong defensive ability still exists."

"It seems that I still have to stay." Hams smiled again, but pulled out the uniquely shaped chopper behind him, and at the same time wore a half-person high square shield.

This is the regular standard equipment of the God of War Knights.

However, these pieces of equipment are shiny and shiny, and obviously Hams has been carefully maintaining them all the time. It's just that no matter how meticulously maintained, these pieces of equipment are only of high quality. This is the best grade among ordinary casting products. Perhaps Hams spent a lot of money on purchasing these pieces of equipment, but he wanted Using these equipment to single-handle the Ghost Wing Demon Lizard King, which can be said to be a boss-level BOSS, is obviously a bit whimsical.

"You will die." Sean said directly without thinking.

"What you said, even if we fight and run, there will still be casualties. Since there are always people dying, then I will stay and create a way for you to survive." Hams said lightly, "I do. A few years older than Lord Arkham, he has always regarded me as his brother, but...my identity is always his family knight. It is my life to protect Lord Arkham and die in front of Lord Arkham. The honor pursued."

Both Sean and Joanna fell into silence.

Honor of the knight.

Nowadays, there are very few things that can be seen on the entire continent except for the Emilia Empire. Although the Saint Joles Empire has the most knights and the strongest knights on the entire continent. But they believe in the  of morning light, they are knights belonging to the gods, not mortal knights, so perhaps they also have the knight honor that belongs to them, but they are not as pure as Hams.

"This ruin is from here. It's less than twenty minutes away." Hams took a deep breath. Then walked a few steps forward, "I will help you fight for the last part of the journey.... Lord Shaun, I know you are not a simple person, I just want to ask you one thing..."

"As long as I am still alive, I can guarantee that Arkham will definitely be able to leave this forest alive." Sean knew what Hams was going to say, and he agreed without hesitation.

Let him stay and die with Hams, Sean didn't have that idea.

His fate is not for himself. That's also for the Void Duchy, for Cecilia. Not for people like Arkham who walked together for a few days. But since Sean dared to agree to Hams's words, he naturally had his own considerations. Intuition tells him that as long as he can enter the ruins, his strength will definitely increase again, and Arkham and Joanna can also get ample rest time, as long as they come out of the ruins again, this The ghost winged monster with its head scarred is naturally unlikely to be an opponent.

"I believe you, Lord Sean." Hams did not look back. He just spoke, but Sean felt it suddenly. Hams was smiling now.

At this moment, Hams has no fear at all.

The fluctuation of his body's breath is very gentle, as if he is ready to go to death generously. For Hams at this moment, death no longer represents the end, but a higher level of consciousness.

Sean took out a stink bomb from the storage space and handed it to Hams. Although they collected a lot of seeds that time, they only made three stink bombs in the end. The original tactic was to throw these stinky bombs by Sean, which caused a certain degree of interference and weakening to the ghost winged monster, and gave Sean and others better time and space, whether it was to fight or avoid ghosts. The Winged Demon lizard has sufficient preparation and choice to sneak into that ruin.

I just didn't expect that because of Ryze's arrogant and crazy behavior, it led to such a result.

"Take care!" Sean said in a deep voice, then picked up Arkham on his back, turned and left quickly.

Joanna's face showed a trace of hesitation and entanglement.

"Let's go, Joan." Hams said in a deep voice. He held the stink bomb in his left hand, and his right hand held the arc-cutting knife. That's it... Master Arkham still needs your help, don't sacrifice here."

While saying this, Hams also began to tap the shield with his hand, making waves of knocks.

The sound went from light to heavy, from slow to urgent, and finally turned into a thunderous bang.

Joanna watched Hams slowly walking towards the back of the ghost winged monster, and finally gritted her teeth and turned and chased in the direction of Sean.

"My lord Marz, I would like to use my soul as fuel to add a cornerstone to your kingdom. I only ask you to give me endless divine power..."

A golden beam of light as thick as a giant tree suddenly tore the night and dark clouds, and fell straight from the sky.

God's blood burns.

At this moment, knowing that he was definitely not the opponent of the ghost winged monster, in order to fulfill the loyalty oath he swore to Arkham back then, Hams used his life and soul as the price in exchange for 30 minutes. immortal!

"Master Arkham, I am very happy to be by your side all these years..."

"Now, it is time to fulfill my promise to you..."

"May you be safe forever."

Chapter 370: .Entrance

PS: Watch the exclusive story behind "Lord of War", listen to your more suggestions on the novel, follow the official account of the Internet (add friends on WeChat-add official account-enter qdread), and let me know quietly!

The golden beam of light tore through the silence and darkness of the night, shining a large area of Amiz Beisen like daylight.

Even the people in Larne can clearly see this golden beam of light.

Many people sighed with helplessness and regret.

Of course more, showing a mocking look.

In the eyes of these people, if they want to use the special ability of burning blood, it must be a team of adventurers or mercenaries who do not know the heights and depths of the forest, and the result will be such a situation of group destruction. And most of the people who show this look are just some small characters of the third and fourth tiers-it is precisely because of this kind of disregard for the good of others and the desire for others to be more unlucky and miserable than themselves, that these people are doomed forever. It is impossible to become a strong one.

Only the real strong will understand the meaning of burning blood.

Amidst Amiz Beisen, when Sean saw the golden beam of light fall, he knew that Hams could not survive.

God's blood burns.

This skill is a magical technique unique to the  of war Marz. It can make the caster's body extraordinarily tough. Attacks of any form and energy can't harm the caster himself. It can be called a truly invincible skill. Just as a price, the caster has to abandon everything including his own soul, which means that once the effect is over, the caster will be completely annihilated: it is not only that there is no trace left in this world, Even the soul will turn into the power of Marz and become a cornerstone for Marz to build the kingdom of God. Unlike other believers, it is possible to enter the kingdom of Marz in the form of heroic spirits and continue to exist.

even in the game. This skill can only be activated at the cost of the player's death and even five levels of punishment.

And Sean finally understood why Hams was so sure that he could win the last twenty minutes for them. It's a pity that the burning of God's blood can't improve a person's strength, just make him unable to be killed in any way for 30 minutes, but personal martial arts, endurance and other aspects. It has not been strengthened by any increase.

So God's blood burns. Although it is a magical technique unique to the Church of the God of War, its reputation is not widely known, and only the Knights of the God of War can perform it. Relatively speaking, this ability is not as prestigious as the three skills of the war series.

Looking at the golden beam of light, Joanna looked very sad. He may not know what the burning of God's blood is, but he does. It's really impossible for Hams to survive. An extremely crazy idea suddenly emerged in his heart. He had never hated a person like this for a moment.

"Let's go." Sean said lightly, "Don't let Hams sacrifice in vain."

"Ryze..."

"He can't be alive." Sean's voice was a little deeper, and his expression looked a lot uglier. "He was able to compete with the ghost-winged demon lizard for so long with the help of the power of the thunder demon of the Demon Code. , It's great to be able to hold on for two minutes if you change to an ordinary magician.... If he has a demon bloodline, or can completely transform into a demon, then maybe it's possible to escape, otherwise he should be there now. In the belly of the beast."

Joanna fell into silence.

He wants to say something. He also wanted to vent his inner sorrow and anger, but he didn't know how to speak or how to vent. In the end, he could only follow Sean silently, because they didn't have much time and had to enter the ruins before Hams completely fell.

"Don't worry, that animal won't last long." Xiao En sighed lightly. At this time, he hoped that Ryze was still alive, at least he could avenge himself.

"Hmm." Joanna nodded and said nothing.

Because of Joanna's physical problems, Sean also slowed down a little along the way. However, without the burden of a heavy armor, a shield like Joanna already has a great endurance advantage, so apart from the need for Sean to take care of the speed at the beginning, there is nothing to worry about, at least he can still keep up. Sean's energy consumption.

The 20-minute journey is not long, but not short.

Sean, Joanna, and Arkham soon came to the mouth of a cave full of fishy.

It can be seen from the acupoints and mouths of this hole. The height at the beginning may not be very high. It should be able to accommodate two people walking side by side. However, when the ghost winged monster used this as a nest, the cave was obviously rebuilt. It was more than four meters in height and five meters in width. It was not a problem for Sean and the other three to enter side by side. .

"This is the entrance to the ruins?" Sean asked with some confusion.

The position in front of you is slightly different from the situation in the game.

In the game, the entrance of Akaz's Magic Laboratory is built on a building ruin. It can be seen that the old ruins should be a castle, but I don't know what caused the castle to be destroyed, only left the bottom foundation. And under this foundation, there is a secret passage through which you can enter a basement, which is the real entrance of the Akaz Magic Laboratory.

But in front of him, there is a cave full of fishy smell. Shaun has not even seen any foundation buildings related to the castle.

"This is a secret road." Joanna said, "We also discovered it accidentally.... On the other side of this cave, there is a castle built on the hill, and we also discovered this illusion magic accidentally. Then we met Ryze. We stayed here for a while, studied and investigated the surrounding terrain, and finally discovered that there is a secret road here..."

After listening to Joanna's words, Sean finally figured out one thing, why what the player saw was the ruins of a castle foundation.

Obviously, in the game, someone must have been here and opened the magic laboratory of Akaz, thus completing the exploration of the dungeon, which led to the appearance of this copy. It's just that some changes must have happened later. In other words, it may have been part of the story of the game, so this short mountain was completely destroyed, leaving only the ruins of the castle foundation.

This is an area with a story.

Sean looked around for a while, looking at the tired bones around him, he was sure that these were the stuff left by the ghost winged monster.

"Do you know where the secret path is?" Sean asked.

This place is far away from where the Ghost Wing Demon and Hams fought. Except that the golden beam of light was still reminding Sean Hams that he was not dead at this time. There was no sound of fighting at all. But Sean believes that Hams probably won't be able to survive for long. He may not die, but his stamina will definitely be exhausted. If he can't stop the ghost winged monster, the guy will definitely go. Came here from the lair.

After all, the location where Sean and others moved forward when they left was the location of the ghost winged monster lizard's lair. In addition, Arkham and the others had already had a battle with the ghost wing demon lizard before. There was even a conflict that broke out in his lair. With the wisdom of that beast, he would definitely be able to figure out the key to it. By then, he would drop the exhausted Hams and rush directly to the lair. I am afraid it will only take a few minutes. .

"I know." Joanna also knew the urgency of time and had already come here. If she was stopped by that animal and fell short of success, Joanna would definitely not be able to forgive herself, so he nodded in response. Just enter the cave directly.

Seeing Joanna's familiar path forward, Xiao En can be regarded as truly believing that the other party knows the way.

But Sean is also not idle this time. He quickly contrasted the route in his memory in his mind. He felt that if this cave was built behind the castle of Akaz, then the location and route of the secret passage should be consistent. But then Sean quickly discovered that everything in the cave was completely inconsistent with what Sean knew in his memory.

I don't know why, Sean suddenly came to a conclusion in his heart: this is not Akaz's magic laboratory!

But Sean has no clue what exactly it is.

The only thing he could know was that after entering the cave, the voice calling him became clearer and stronger. Xiao En had even begun to have slight hallucinations, as if the place he was in at the moment was not in a cave, but a place where birds and flowers were scented, and even the stench of smell disappeared without a trace at this time.

Sean looked around blankly, he felt a person standing not far in front of him.

The man is beckoning to him, calling him to pass.

Obviously he couldn't see the other person's appearance, but Xiao En felt that the other person was smiling.

"My heir, you are finally here..."

A weak but very clear voice rang in Sean's ear.

"Our mission..."

"Master Shaun?" Just when the figure seemed to be going to say something, Joanna's voice suddenly sounded next to him, pulling Shaun from that hallucination back to reality, and for a moment the smell was extremely smelly. The smell spread again, and Sean almost spit it out on the spot, "What's the matter with you?"

"No, nothing..." Xiao En shook his head. Although he couldn't see five fingers around him, he could see the cave even if he didn't look at it. The environment in the cave was messy, "I found the entrance to the ruins?"

Joanna nodded, and then struggling to lift a stone slab, revealing a passage underneath.

As soon as this passage was revealed, a blue spark suddenly appeared, illuminating the entire passage and even illuminating a small area around it. Sean did not hesitate at all. When even carrying Arkham, who was still in a daze, walked into the passage, Joanna quickly followed and covered the slate again, because he had heard the ghost. The roar of the Wing Devil's lizard, and the slight vibration from the ground.

And when the stone slab was re-covered, the faint light emitted from the passage disappeared without a trace, and even the gap between the stone slab and the ground was completely non-existent, just like a flat terrain. .