

Lord of War Vol 3-371

Chapter 371: . False Promenade

The air in the channel is not turbid, and there is no wet rot smell of soil, on the contrary, it is very clean and even has a little fragrance.

Much like the fresh fragrance of birds and flowers that Sean had smelled before.

Xiao En and Joanna walked all the way down the tunnel to the ground, and the smell of fragrance in the air became more intense. The mood of the two of them is a little better, after all, the smell of the ghost winged monster's nest is really too unacceptable.

After entering this tunnel, Sean is even more certain that this is not Amiz's magic laboratory, because it is completely different from the situation in the game.

Sean first put Arkham on the ground, then took out Joanna's equipment again, and then began to look at the surrounding environment.

At this time, the place where Sean and Joanna are located is at the bottom of a stairway, surrounded by light blue soft light, which looks like fluorescent lights embedded in the wall. There is only one passage in front of them, and I don't know where it leads, but it can be confirmed that this is the only way for them. At this time, it is obviously unrealistic to return to the lair of the ghost winged monster. After the Wing Devil suffered heavy injuries from Ryze and Hams, he would definitely hide in his lair to heal his wounds in the following days, and would not leave at will.

"You are here to protect Arkham, I will go ahead and see." Xiao En found that there was nothing to investigate around, so he said.

Joanna also knew that her physical condition was not particularly good at this time, so she couldn't help much, so she nodded and sat on the floor. He was originally from Arkham. Although the time with Arkham is not as long as Shiner and Hams, he is also a partner who has worked together for several years. In fact, they have formed a fixed team like them. The relationship has been separated from the concept of ordinary adventurers. But they didn't think there was any problem themselves, so they just made do with it until they met Ryze.

Joanna looked a little ugly when she thought of Ryze.

Shaun knew what Joanna was thinking, he glanced at Arkham, who was still confused. Nothing more. He just left some food to prevent himself from being able to come back in time because of any unexpected accidents, and then he started walking forward.

The passage is very spacious.

At least it can accommodate four people walking side by side, which is more spacious than the nest above.

Sean inspected the stone walls on both sides and found that these stone walls were made of a material he didn't know, and their hardness was not much weaker than that of the Black King. Shaun took the Black King and stroked it, leaving only a shallow white mark, even though he did not exert any force. But this material was indeed enough to shock Sean.

After testing the situation of Shek Pik. Shaun also checked the ground a little, and found that the hardness of the ground was the same as that of a rock wall, which looked like a tunnel dug in a huge underground. It's just that Sean knows very well that there is no natural material with such a hardness on the Marvel Continent. It may be possible before the Ash Age, but after the Ash Age, many mineral materials have been dug out, and the stone walls and floor of this passage are obvious. It is not a natural material. It is a synthetic material.

Shaun stepped forward and continued to move forward.

Only this time, but there was no voice calling again in his mind. This made Sean frowned slightly.

Except for the aromatic sweetness, there is no other strange smell in the air. However, this smell is not a dangerous signal. At least Sean did not feel any influence on his spirit. On the contrary, his spirit seemed to become more energetic after smelling the sweet smell. This made Sean couldn't help speeding up his pace. He suddenly became a little curious about where the scent came from, and he always felt that he should know the scent, but at this moment he couldn't remember at all. Where can I smell this kind of smell?

The passage seemed like an endless corridor. No matter what speed Shaun used to move forward, he never saw any new scenes.

This made Sean a little confused.

He began to wonder if he had been caught in an illusion.

This situation is not impossible. Because in many relics, there are large-scale illusion magic circles. These magic circles may be used as a means of blocking in the era when the gods existed to warn others that they have broken into other powerful fields. Among them, there is no danger in itself. However, with the passage of time, it is no longer an easy task to easily crack these illusion magic circles in today's age. Lost his life.

Even in the game at the beginning, many players were unable to break the illusion. As a result, fatigue reached the top, coupled with the consumption of hunger, and eventually they could only lose the level with hatred. This is why in the middle and late stages of the second expansion of the game, many guilds and teams began to pay attention to the illusionist, because only they can easily dispel these illusions.

Sean's brows are frowning, and he has even begun to prepare to retreat.

But at this moment, the extremely exhausted and weak voice sounded in Xiao En's mind: "Keep going!"

Sean struck a shock all over his body, and then subconsciously began to move forward.

"Who are you anyway?" Sean shouted in his heart.

But I didn't get any reply.

It seems that this time, that voice lost the ability to talk to Sean, and just urged Sean to move forward blindly. When Sean tried to stop several times, the voice became severe, so that Sean felt a strong tingling sensation in his head, which made him have to continue walking.

But even so, after half an hour of walking forward again, Sean still did not come to an end.

At this moment, the voice in Sean's mind is no longer just urging Sean forward: "Confirm your goal! Keep going!"

At this moment, in Xiao En's eyes, he even saw the green field again, and a figure stood in this green field, looking at Xiao En with a peaceful expression. Xiao En couldn't see the other party's face clearly, there seemed to be a thick fog hidden there, but Xiao En could clearly feel the warm smile in the other party's eyes. Just like a kind elder is looking at the younger generation, looking forward to the growth and success of the younger generation.

"Who are you?" Sean asked suddenly.

"Go ahead."

There is a nice Qingrun voice, but in any case it can't cover up the tiredness in the voice.

It's like a twilight old man who finally couldn't stop the passage of time. At the last moment of his life, he was sitting in a rocking chair, waiting for his younger generation's last visit.

At this moment, Sean was suddenly afraid to move on.

He is afraid that if he really meets the other person, the other person will leave peacefully like an old man who can finally breathe.

Sean didn't understand why he felt this way, but at this moment, he really didn't want to move on. His footsteps also slowly slowed down, almost at a speed of one step per second-Sean didn't dare to stop, I don't know why, he heard the words of this person just letting him go on and firmly believe in the goal. Later, Sean was scared to stop.

"Don't be afraid." The wide and gentle voice sounded again, with an unknown understanding, "We are the world's people, and death is not the end for us, because the fire of our will has not been extinguished. ...My son, come here, and go on bravely, I am waiting for you on the other side of the door, don't be fooled by the false corridor, your path shouldn't stop here."

The scene in front of Sean began to gradually become blurred.

Then soon, the green field of birds and flowers that Shaun saw was like the sea at low tide, quickly receding from around Shaun. When Sean came back to his senses again, the surroundings had been restored to the endless corridor, the light blue fluorescence still shining, and the fragrance in the air still permeating.

But Sean finally remembered where he smelled this scent.

The flower of falsehood.

This is a very rare plant that can be used as a magic material. It is also a necessary material for advanced alchemy potions, and it is also an auxiliary material for many illusionists to practice illusion. This kind of thing is now very rare on the Marvel Continent. According to legend, it is a special plant brought by other planes. It's just that this plant was originally used as an anesthetic, because even when the legendary powerhouse is severely injured and needs pain relief, this plant can produce effects. Only after being transplanted to the Continent of Miracles, it has this kind of confusing nature, which can amplify the sense of the passing of time and various other perceptions of all creatures.

In the scent of the flower of falsehood, it is easy to lose yourself, and then consume a lot of physical energy, and finally starve to death.

Sean was sure that if it hadn't been for the reminder of that voice, he would have been lost.

Gazing at the seemingly endless front, Sean closed his eyes, then let out a light breath, and after another deep breath, he walked forward holding his breath. This time, Xiao En no longer used his eyes to see, and no longer used his senses to sense. He just kept moving forward and stepping. If the child who knew nothing about the surrounding situation, his mind about moving forward remained unchanged.

He knew that there was someone waiting for him in the depths of this ruin.

Whether this ruin exists in the game, Sean doesn't know.

But what he knows is that the sole purpose of this ruin in this world is to wait for its own arrival.

Almost the moment when Xiao En realized this, the system also sent a reminder that his mission was completed at the same time.

Chapter 372: .Worldly person

【You have completed the task: find the calling place. 】

[The current mission has been updated: understand the origin of those involved in the world (unfinished), and activate the power of blood (unfinished). 】

【Task success reward: Blood Vessel Awakens; get a chance to be fully designated to draw a lottery. 】

【Mission failure penalty: ? ? ? 】

The system voice in his mind was loud and clear, and even faintly contained a unique tone that was not available before, which made Xiao En feel that the voice no longer seemed so cold.

Suddenly.

Sean suddenly felt the pressure on his body lighten, as if he had passed through some barrier or field.

So he quickly opened his closed eyes, and what caught his eyes was a huge jade door against the top of the passage-the material of the entire door looked like jade, and Xiao En stretched out his hand and stroked it. , There are wisps of coolness. However, if the hand is pressed for a long time, there will be warm heat feedback on the door, but after the hand leaves, the door will soon become warm and cool again.

"Come in." The unique voice of vicissitudes in Sean's mind resounded again.

Sean knew that the other person did not have any malicious intentions, nor was he deceiving him, but was really waiting for him, and tried to tell him some secrets. So this time, he stretched out his hand to push the huge jade gate without any hesitation.

The giant gate looks heavy, but in fact it is very light.

Almost lightly pushed by Xiao En, Yumen opened.

The world behind the door happened to be the green and green place that Shaun saw.

There are not a lot of magic laboratory pedestals and materials and medicine jars as imagined, there is no strange smell, and there will be no enemies or other things within the scope of normal people's thinking. The whole world seems to be a green prairie ocean, with a breeze blowing across, and the grass on the prairie is pressed very low, just like when the waves on the sea are surging.

"You are finally here. My son."

The opening of Yumen is like a space portal erected in this unique alien plane space, which seems unusually incompatible with the surrounding environment. Especially the space inside the door is a dark blue passage, while the world outside the door is a green field full of sunshine.

Inside and outside the door, there are two worlds.

And in this green world. A black figure is standing.

He faced the Yumen opened by Xiao En. The fog-like face revealed a smile inexplicably. But in Sean's eyes, the person in front of him seems to be standing in the center of this green world—not the egocentric arrogance and arrogance, but a more gentle and introverted imperial temperament, just like this No matter where a person is, he must be the center of the world, and the whole world will revolve around him.

Xiao En stepped into Yumen.

And the whole Yumen also disappeared without a trace instantly after Xiao En entered this green wilderness world, as if it had never appeared before. But this moment. Sean didn't have the slightest worry or fear. Because he knew that if the other party was really going to kill him, he would have countless opportunities to do it along the way, at least it wouldn't be a problem to let Sean not get here smoothly.

So, Sean believed in the mysterious man before him.

The mysterious man who didn't know his age and identity, just stood in the center of this world, and looked at each other with Sean. It seemed that neither of the two parties had the intention to speak: the mysterious man's smile remained the same, but he was not eager to speak. He just looked at Sean quietly. It seemed that he wanted to see a flower from Sean; but Sean's situation was not much better than the mysterious man in front of him. He opened his mouth several times to speak, but in the end he could only swallow it all back.

It seems that I have no way to start, and I don't know where to start.

However, this mysterious man was obviously prepared. When Sean stopped talking for the twentieth time, he finally spoke again: "Don't you have anything to ask?"

"Why, I am your heir?" Sean frowned, "My blood is...different from yours."

Sean knows very well that he is not an aboriginal in this world.

Only Andrew knows his origins, but in essence it is also in a completely different situation from Andrew: Andrew entered into a different plane world. Judging from the descriptions of Andrew, Beth, etc., it is a land of miracles. A more developed and powerful plane, and Andrew is also involved in the world of that plane, so he has the blood of a dragon.

But I am different.

He came to this different world with his body, so his bloodline will only belong to his own bloodline, and not inherit the bloodline of the dragon clan like Andrew. Therefore, if he is a heir, then his genealogy should be traced back to the Earth Federation before he crossed into this world. But it is a pity that since Sean is sensible, he has been an orphan.

and many more.....

Orphans! ?

Shaun's pupils shrank slightly. Could it be that...

At this moment, Sean suddenly got a little brainstorming. Could it be that he was actually a person from this world, and only went to the Earth Federation for some reason. Then the development of the story is like those played in the second-year cartoons. One day, he finally awakened his soul and mission, so he returned to this world?

"Although I don't know what you are thinking, I see excitement in your eyes. I think you should be thinking about something very powerful." The mysterious man standing in the world smiled again, "But I want to say, no matter what you are thinking about now, it must be far from the truth."

Sean raised his eyebrows, with an expression of "Big Brother, are you playing with me?"

"I didn't want you to guess." Although the mysterious man's face was constantly rolling in thick black smoke, Sean could still feel the doubts revealed by the other party.

"I suddenly felt my heart stuck." Sean suddenly had the illusion that he shouldn't be here, "Just tell me why I am your heir."

"Because you are the second person born in accordance with the times." The mysterious man's tone suddenly became serious and solemn.

Xiao En looked at the man in front of him in disbelief, making sure that the other party was not joking, because he always felt that the other party's tone of voice and the content of the words at this time looked special in the second. Then Sean held his breath and waited for the other party to say the following, but after a whole number of minutes passed, the other party fell silent after saying this sentence. No longer speaking, this made Sean a little dazed soon.

"It's over?" Sean asked.

"It's over." The mysterious man nodded seriously.

"The only proof that I am your heir is because I am the second person born in accordance with the times?"

"Yes." The mysterious man still nodded seriously.

Sean suddenly didn't know how to communicate with the other party. He felt that he shouldn't come here in response to the call, and should choose to leave when he heard the voice. Because he found out. He was completely unable to communicate and communicate with the guy in front of him. Because the other party's logic is not straight forward at all, but the crazy rotation of the frog machine or the high-speed screw machine.

"Well, in that case, you, as the first person born in accordance with the times..."

Before Sean finished speaking, the mysterious man suddenly interrupted Sean's words-this was the first time Sean had been interrupted since he came to this world, but it was strange that he was not at all. Feeling annoyed: "First of all, I want to correct your point. I am not the first person born in accordance with the times..."

Well.....

When being interrupted. Sean didn't feel annoyed. But when Sean heard this man say this, he exploded: "You TMD tease me, you are not the first person born in accordance with the times, and then you tell me that I am your heir. Because I am the second person born in accordance with the times..."

"I'm sorry, I don't have a mother." The man interrupted Sean again.

"Oh, I'm sorry..." Xiao En was taken aback for a moment, and then subconsciously apologized, but soon he suddenly had the idea of strangling the other person to death. "I'm not asking if you have a mother, I am..." Sean felt that he was already on the verge of madness: "...Forget it. Regarding your mother, let's put it aside. You should tell me first. You are not the first person born in accordance with the times, so why I am the second person born in accordance with the times is your heir."

"Because you and the first person born in conformity with the times are all awakened by me." The man said, and then he really began to explain, "The first person born in conformity with the times was called Jibril. She was born much earlier than you. According to your words, it should be the end of the dawn age. She is the first world involved in this world, and we...or what you, the world involved people need to do Work is to ensure the normal operation of this world, to solve the pollution sources that should not exist in this world, and to prevent the world's origin from being destroyed."

"Sounds... it seems to be amazing?" Xiao En was taken aback, "Then since there is the first person involved in the world, why do you need me?"

"That's because Jibril is no longer a world involved, but an observer." The man said again, "When a world involved has completed his historical mission, he will no longer be a world involved, but will Become an observer. Then you will no longer be able to interfere with everything in this world. The only thing that can interfere is causal connection with yourself.... If the observer forcibly interferes with the things in this world, it will cause the world. The collapse of the world, so the selection of people involved in the world is a very important thing.... You are not the first person chosen by me to replace Jibril, but you are the only person who can successfully get here. "

Sean's pupils shrank suddenly: "You mean, there are still many people like me."

"You are the ninety-two hundred and twenty-seventh selected, but the nine thousand five hundred and twenty-six in front of you have been eliminated." The man shrugged, his voice was calm, which made Sean felt a little uncomfortable, "After becoming observers, people involved in the world are qualified to observe and judge the next person involved in the world.... Jibril thinks those people are unqualified, so they are eliminated, and she thinks You are qualified, so you can see me here...but..."

"But what?"

"Your attitude just now is very similar to Jibril. You all deny that you are my heir. This makes me incomprehensible." The man tilted his head, revealing a puzzled look, "I think... maybe it's because of you. It's so similar to Jibril, that's why she feels that you are suitable to be a new world involved."

Hearing this man's words, Sean simply couldn't look at him directly. How could a normal person admit that he was his heir!

There is no blood relationship at all, alright!

Does the misty-faced man in front of him really know what words like heir and blood mean?

"Although I don't know what you are thinking, but the look in your eyes always seems to be thinking of something very remarkable." The man named the foggy man by Sean spoke again, "However, anyway, I I'm glad you can be here before the end of time."

Son suddenly remembered something, and hurriedly asked: "Wait, you said you have no time, what's the matter?"

"Because I can't exist in this world for too long, it will cause very bad damage and impact." The foggy man said, still looking serious, "Of course, if it is within the time limit, then there will be no problem. Because if there are any sources of pollution, then it must be something you, the world involved person, must solve next."

Listening to such irresponsible words, Sean is no longer as simple as trying to choke him to death.

"Is there any problem?" The misty man could feel Shaun's depression and mania at the moment, but he couldn't understand it.

"Yes!" Sean thought for a while, and found that he seemed to be a bit obsessive-compulsive disorder, "Since you said that the person involved in the world was selected by the observer, then the first person involved in the world, what is the name of Lil..."

"Jibril." The misty-faced man corrected. "You better remember her name. Jibril doesn't like that others can't remember her name.... And you, as a new world involved, you must meet her. At the same time, complete some handover work. If you can't remember your sister's name, trust me... She will throw it down from a height of hundreds of thousands of meters, catch it, throw it back, and catch it again... until she plays I'm tired of it."

"I remember, Jibril, what a good name." Sean shuddered.

"So, what do you want to ask?"

"What I want to ask is..." Sean took a deep breath, and then said again, "Since you said that the person involved in the world was selected by the observer, what criteria did the first person involved in the world come into being?"

"Didn't I already say? It was awakened by me." The misty-faced man said in a natural tone, "Her awakening is different from yours.... She was born by me personally, and entered from the outside with you. The method here is different.... The observer is qualified to choose the birth method of the person involved in the world."

"Fuck!" Sean finally couldn't help but explode, "You said that the first person involved in the world was made by you, who are you?"

"Me?" The foggy man was taken aback, "Didn't I tell you?"

Shaun shook his head.

"Oh, that's really sorry.... I actually forgot the most important etiquette Jibril said. Then I will introduce myself again.... I am the will of this world."

Chapter 373: .history

"Huh?" Sean was taken aback.

If you say that Sean is drinking water now, then after listening to the other party, Sean will definitely squirt directly.

"I just didn't hear clearly, can I trouble you to say it again?" Sean subconsciously used a more polite tone.

"Oh, I mean, I am the will of this world." The misty man's tone was very serious and serious again, and he didn't seem to be joking at all. "Strictly speaking, I am the manifestation of the will of the world. The stand-in is like the will of the gods coming.... It's just that the rules don't allow me to contact ordinary people. I can only appear in front of people involved in the world. If you just took those two people with me, it would be difficult for me to meet. of."

Sean was shocked, and he couldn't react to it.

"You... are you really the will of the world?" Although Sean had some belief in his heart, he still asked again.

There are some things that he has to confirm repeatedly, because it's important.

"Of course." The misty-faced man, or World Will, has a serious look at this moment, "Your reaction is exactly the same as when Jibril first met me.... But I created Jibril at that time after all. , So she quickly believed. You weren't created by me, but appeared in response to my call, so it is really difficult to make you believe."

Shaun did not speak.

He was just thinking about a question at this time.

If the person in front of you is really the will of the world, then what is the function of his system? According to normal logic, the so-called system is the most core principle basis in a game. All data is a branch derived from the system, so the system in this world represents the will of the world. But looking at the reaction of the misty man who claimed to be the will of the world in front of him, Sean knew very well that the other party didn't know the ability of "system" at all.

Then doesn't this mean that there are two wills in this world?

Shaun couldn't understand the logic inside. Because this has a serious paradox with his common sense.

"That's right..." World Will suddenly hammered the palm of his left hand, "This is the case, this should be used."

Sean looked at the will of the world with some doubts.

Then the next moment, Sean's face turned black.

Because of the dense fog on the face of the will of the world, it soon began to shape a facial contour, and then the facial features such as eyes, nose, and mouth began to be born on the face one by one. Shaun witnessed the other person's transformation from a faceless person to a beauty with almost perfect facial features. At this moment, he was not thinking of the stunning beauty in front of him. But a sense of horror from the heart.

However, when the five senses of the will of the world were completely finalized, Xiao En's face looked a little painful.

Because the face shape that the world will change at this moment is actually Cecilia's perfect and delicate face!

"This is the woman who has been with you all the time." Although the weak tone remains, the tone has changed from the gentle and full of magnetic male tone to the unique soft tone of Cecilia, "You Look, is it exactly the same?"

A ghost!

Shaun felt that he would never be able to look directly at Cecilia again!

1.8 meters tall, with a slender figure, wearing a well-tailored black evening dress. No matter how you look at it, it is a very outstanding image of an elegant aristocratic man. But it happened to be a beautiful face of Cecilia. Even the voice is exactly the same as Cecilia-if he only listens to the voice and looks at the face, Sean believes that he will never be able to recognize the identity of the other party.

But when Sean looked down and looked at the body of the will of the world...

He covered his face with one hand, stretched out one hand and made a stop motion: "Please change back to that foggy man."

"Huh? Don't you like it?" World Will said with some confusion, "I thought you would like this girl."

"No... you simply have the wrong point!"

"What about this?" There was a thick fog surging over the face of World Will. If Sean saw this scene, he would probably only feel that he wanted to kill more, but soon World Will completed another "transformation". "I remember. This girl is called... Christina, right?"

Shaun glanced at it. It was Christina from the Peace Council.

The chest is flat.

Slender figure.

The evening dress has not changed.

Shaun's mouth twitched: "I said...Did you overlook the point again..."

"So what?" The world will began to deform again. Then Sean was truly traumatized, "Snowfanio?"

"I said! What's the matter with your changing face! The body! The body is the point!" Sean directly turned on the roar mode, "They are women! Not men! When you transformed, you put your body away. Change it too! The 1.8-meter Cecilia, don't you know that this is a violation of peace?"

"I'm sorry, the body is fixed this time, so I can't change it." World Will actually responded with a serious face, "But if you need it, next time I can reshape a female body to communicate with you... If, then you can feel better."

"No." Shaun once again held his forehead, and made a stop gesture with the other, "You should return to the previous state.... I suddenly feel so stressed that I can't communicate with you normally."

"It's weird, Jibril said the same at the beginning, you deserve to be the one chosen by Jibril." World Will took a look at Sean.

"I suddenly admired the guy named Jibril, who was able to communicate with you without being annoyed by you." Sean twitched his mouth, a little smirking, "Let's go back. Let's get to the point.... I believe that you are the will of the world, and you don't have to try to prove it. Now, just tell me what is going on with me."

"I am the will of this world, but I am only the will." The will of the world said a very puzzling sentence.

"What's the meaning?"

"I am a ray of the original will of this world plane. I can't understand or understand many things about you, but from the perspective of birth, you are all my children and my children." World Will Speaking softly, there was an indescribable gentleness in his voice. "Regardless of whether you are good or bad, and whether you are good or evil, you are my children after all.... I cannot interfere with all your actions, I can only watch you evolve. I will grow up with you."

"You call it the power of the law. It is part of me. You touch my will, my power, and use it. This is your path of evolution and your path of growth. With your own strength Just like your so-called squeezing potential to increase strength, I will also grow in this process. This can bring you more strength feedback and growth limits."

"Whether it is this plane. Or other planes, all things grow with companionship.... And I, your companion grows." The voice of the will of the world is very soft, but what it says is like one. Just like a video playback, Sean instantly saw the growth posture of all things on this green field, "However, as the saying goes, all things have pros and cons, and their existence must have corresponding natural enemies.... And on the road of growth. .There will be many obstacles and disadvantages, and there will be many enemies. But all of this. I can't intervene personally, I can only watch all these changes..... And because of this, that's why there is Jibril, you were born."

"You are all beings born in accordance with the times."

"In the era you call Dawn, the existence that has mastered part of my power limits the growth and future of other people. They may think that the world will be peaceful because of this, but they will not understand it, and it also limits it. The growth and future of this world." World Will said softly, "So, I shaped Jibril through the impact of a foreign traveler's entry into this world, and the remaining residual power."

Sean once heard Andrew talk about their entry into this world, and also heard Beth and Enkos talk about the dawn age.

So he generally knows some stories about what happened in this era.

At this time, listening to the will of the world once again narrated this period of history, Xiao En understood it instantly.

It turned out that when the people of the gods became gods, they joined hands to hold the other people's path to becoming gods, and because of this, there was a class distinction between the people of gods and the people of the future. Although the world was indeed peaceful at that time, the whole world also stopped the possibility of continuing to evolve and grow, and the power of the plane could not be improved at all. And Andrew came to this world at that time, and their arrival also brought the impact of the elemental plane, and magic finally ceased to be the unique law ability of the magic net lady, and began to have more forms of magic power. appear.

Jibril, the titular sister of Sean, was born at this time.

In other words, the birth of Jibril means that the world is about to usher in the dusk!

"Later, Jibril grew up very quickly, and she also understood her mission and responsibilities, so she wanted to get the world back on track, so there was the battle that you later called the Twilight of the Gods."

Even though he had guessed the truth of the facts, after hearing the will of the world say so, Sean was still shocked.

If it is said, the arrival of Andrew and others broke the monopoly of the gods and introduced elemental magic to the plane of the wonderland. Then the birth of Jibril means that the dawn era is about to end. She is the birth of the representative product of elemental magic, so elemental magic is naturally carried forward in her hands-the element has a very special affinity, and Since Jibril is the agent of the will of the world, she will naturally be treated and approached uniquely, which is why elemental magic can be carried forward in Jibril's hands.

And then, under the instruction of Jibril, Wanmin, whose status is not as good as the gods, mastered powerful magical powers, and possessed the strength to challenge the gods and even the gods. The contradictions caused by class suppression naturally broke out. . Therefore, the first outbreak of conflict between the gods and the peoples also marked that the entire world has officially entered the twilight era, followed by successive contradictions, conflicts, wars, and confrontations. Jibril took a whole era to go. The plan, and finally triggered the dusk of the gods, forcing the ancient gods of this dawn age to fall more than half.

In this way, all peoples also have the qualifications to become gods, and the gods and the gods can no longer monopolize the road to gods.

The entire world plane is also in this series of wars. The potential of the world's origin is brought to the limit, thus pushing the growth limit of the world plane. However, the following eras also entered the Age of Ashes because of this, so that later dragons, giants, and various powerful creatures dominated the world. However, this situation was also caused by Jibril alone. So at that time, Jibril was already preparing for the transition from a world-handler to an observer. Naturally, it is necessary to carry out the final cleanup.

Originally, Solomon was the next successor to Jibril.

I just didn't expect that because of this incident, the two sides fell out, so Jibril personally took action to reorganize the whole world again, giving mankind a broader development future. And this is also the first time in the entire Marvel Continent that a hundred schools of thought have entered into an era: Orcs, elves, humans, dwarves and many other races have begun to compete for the status of the continent's supremacy, so this best and worst era is called chaos. era.

But this time. Jibril finally became an observer. She can no longer interfere in all developments of the world, just to prevent special accidents, so she created a winged human race as the guardian-this is also the origin of the image of the angel of the miracle continent today. It's just that angels are not a product of this world, but are advanced creatures from a more powerful plane. However, like the advent of the gods, angels cannot appear in this material world at will.

But no matter how history develops and changes, Jibril can only observe the changes in this world silently.

In this process, mankind finally became the overlord of the mainland. Drive all other races from the center of the continent. During this period, there were also two wars on the surface and under the ground. The most tragic one was that the surface world was almost completely invaded by the underground world. That time was also the second time that all races on the surface joined forces after the Atlantis Empire was defeated in the Age of Ashes.

The founders of the five empires, the Millennium Covenant, Emelia, Zenus, St. Joles, and Maggie, gained great fame by virtue of this coalition battle, and thus completely emerged as the most famous of the seven empires. Five ancient and powerful empires. Even if the other two of the seven empires were destroyed, changed dynasties, and changed generations, none of these five empires had a history of being destroyed by other countries since their establishment.

After , when the chaotic era is over, the world has finally grown to a new limit.

Then, it was Sean's appearance in this world.

"I am the will of the world, but I am only the will. I cannot control the situation of the whole world, but you are different." After the world will tell the history that Sean doesn't know, he said again, "You are the world. You can blend in and change the world without being punished.... But unfortunately, I cannot give you much help, because every person involved in the world has unique special abilities."

Sean raised his brow slightly, and he suddenly understood the origin of his ability.

"The special ability Jibril has is that she can master an ability through reading and thinking. Most of her abilities are mastered through books. This is her innate ability. She uses this ability Call it'knowledge.'" World Will said softly, "Every person involved in the world has different abilities, which is allowed by the law, and it is also the real reason why you are called the "children of the world". ."

It was almost after the words of the will of the world were finished, Xiao En heard the prompt sound from the system again.

【You have completed the task: understand the origin of the people involved in the world. 】

【You have already received a reward: fully assign one chance to the lottery. 】

【May I start the lottery now? 】

"no."

Shaun refused without even thinking about it.

【The lucky draw opportunity has been reserved, you can open it in the lottery panel at any time. 】

"You also have a very special ability, I think you should have known it in the last few days." World Will continued to say, "I want to know, what do you call this ability?"

"Named...?" Sean frowned slightly, not knowing what he was thinking of, and suddenly laughed heartily, "Let's call it 'System'."

"System?" World Will is a little confused, and obviously doesn't understand the meaning of this ability.

"Well, I'm different from Jibril. She can master abilities through books, but I can master abilities through other ways." Sean smiled, "This way includes but is not limited to reading books.... Even if others are practicing martial arts or teaching them verbally, I can master it, but I still need to pay some price. Perhaps this is the so-called balance."

"I understand." World Will nodded slightly, "I can't help you much, only two points. The first point is the real eye. This is one of the abilities I give to people involved in the world, as long as it exists in You can know the essence of everything in this world. Jibril also has it."

"What about the second?"

"It's time to awaken your blood." World Will said in a deep voice, with a rare seriousness in his expression, even more serious and serious than the previous attitude, "You and Jibril are both I awakened with the blood of the gods. The difference is that Jibril was created by me. She was originally born to free the world from the blockade of the gods, so her blood is the blood of the killing of gods, and You were awakened by my spirit hunting blood."

"Hunting spirit?"

Chapter 374: .Blood Awakening

"Killing the gods, hunting the spirits, and calamity are the three taboo bloodlines recognized by all planes and worlds." World Will said in a deep voice, "When I awakened you with the spirit of blood and spirit, I introduced the blood of the hunting spirits into you. It's just that I didn't let it fully manifest, but I didn't expect that you could loosen the seal with your own power, thereby guiding a little spirit hunting power."

"The seal is loose?" Sean was taken aback.

"There can be no so-called perfect things in any world. All perfections are only relative. The flaws that you can't find are just that your vision is not high enough and your cognition is not broad enough." The will of the world stands on. Is undoubtedly much higher than Sean, so what he said naturally showed more information and reason, "So, no matter how perfect and strong the seal is, there will be certain defects. This defect It may not be revealed too soon, but one day it will still be loosened or even broken."

After that, World Will suddenly stretched out a hand, and then slightly in the air in front of him.

In the next moment, Sean felt a burning sensation from the center of his eyebrows.

This is not a feeling of warmth, but real heat, as if it was being grilled on a stove. Sean could feel that the moisture in his whole body was madly lost, and the whole person became dry and dry in an instant, and all this was not an illusion. Sean could clearly see that his skin was moving at an astonishing speed. It was shriveled and quickly turned into a thin layer of skin clinging to the bones, as terrible as a corpse.

At this moment, Sean felt the palpitations and fear from the soul inexplicably.

is not the kind of heart tremor and fear when facing death, but from a deeper level of fear, as if the soul is about to leave its own body. Sean wanted to make a scream, but he found that his vocal cords seemed to be damaged, and he couldn't make any sound at all. You can't even move, let alone run away.

At this time, the only thing left for Sean is the fear and trembling of the soul. As for the other perceptions, it seems to be deprived of it, and he can't feel it at all.

soon. Sean's fear and tremor of the soul. It becomes a kind of numbness.

As if at this moment, this sense of fear was completely deprived, he could no longer feel any fear, let alone any tremor or panic in the soul.

Shaun's eyes gradually became firmer, and the panic and fear in his eyes gradually disappeared at the same time.

I don't know how long it has been, maybe a moment. Or maybe it's a long time.

Shaun gave a shock.

Then he found out. His ability to move seems to have recovered, and his body no longer looks like that skinny, it seems that the scene just now was just an illusion. But Sean is very clear that it is by no means an illusion, because the impression of that feeling is too deep, as if it is directly branded in the depths of the soul's fear, and it really makes Sean understand the so-called "trembling from the soul." "The meaning of these words.

The next moment, the sound of the system sounded again.

【You have completed the task: Activate the power of blood. 】

【You have already received a reward: Blood Vessel Awakening. 】

【Your bloodline has been activated. 】

After hearing this, Xiao En immediately woke up, and then opened his property panel for the first time.

was originally on Sean's personal properties panel. Located directly below the item of [Race: Human] is [Blood Talent: True Eye], and there is no other information to show. But at this time, a new set of data was inserted between the two data.

【Bloodline: Hunting Spirit (child of the world—taboo), all attributes +30. Current bloodline level: Appearance (the second stage), a bloodline talent has been activated, and the bloodline soul has been obtained. 】

The soul of blood?

Sean quickly moved his gaze down again, and he saw that there was a new set of data under the real eye.

[Blood Soul: Spirit Hunter (every time you activate the Spirit Hunter, your attack will bring soul damage to the opponent. The duration of the effect will consume your mental power. When the spiritual power is insufficient, you will not be able to maintain the Spirit Hunter Soul state.)]

Sean knows that the bloodline is divided into five stages, and each stage can get a variety of different ability bonuses.

In the first stage, in addition to gaining various attribute bonuses, you can also get a bloodline talent, but most of them are passive skills. And the passive skill that Sean's bloodline awakens is undoubtedly the [True Eye], but this skill was already possessed when Sean first came to this world, so the bloodline awakening at this time is only for Sean only brings an increase in attributes.

However, the increase in the attributes of the Hunter's bloodline really shocked Xiao En.

All attributes +30.

This is equivalent to an increase of one hundred and fifty attribute points!

Be aware that the highest bloodline that players can acquire in the game is the blood of the gods in the people, that is to say, it is the bloodline unique to the descendants of gods. And this kind of bloodline only increased the total attribute value by 80 points at most. As for the dragon species and the holy beast species, it was even lower, only increasing the total attribute value by 75 points and 70 points respectively.

Like the blood of the dragon snake mysterious turtle, although the strength and endurance have increased by 35 points, which seems to be more than Sean's 30 points, but the dragon snake mysterious turtle only has two attributes. However, Sean's full attributes directly increase strength, endurance, agility, wisdom, and will by 30 points. Perhaps the increase in individual attributes is a little weaker than that of Dragon, Snake and Black Tortoise, but the increase in comprehensive attributes is. It also made Sean enough to throw the Dragon Snake Black Tortoise out of dozens of streets.

But what really surprised Shaun was that his bloodline entered the second stage directly after activation.

The bloodline power of the second stage must be increased by passive skills. It is not like an offensive skill that may be awakened in the first stage. But this passive skill is also the most important of the entire bloodline power-including the third and fourth stages that follow, which are all based on the bloodline soul at this stage. It can be said that the bloodline power of the latter two stages is built with the bloodline soul of the second stage as the foundation, so the strength of the bloodline soul often determines the power increase in the subsequent phases.

The biggest difference between Wanmin bloodline and legendary bloodline lies in the soul of bloodline.

Legendary bloodlines have different genres, so the souls of bloodlines born have the same ability. However, the way of distinguishing the blood of the peoples is based on the system type. Therefore, the birth of the soul of the blood has different types.

Like the blood of the Manmin-Dragon species, even if two people are both awakened blood of the black dragon at the same time, the essential strength of the black dragon is divided into many categories, such as magic immunity, physical damage reduction, attack power enhancement, magic power enhancement, and so on. So when they enter the second stage, it is possible that their awakening bloodline soul abilities are different because of their fighting style, personality and many other influences in the first stage.

And once the nature of the soul of the bloodline in the second stage is different, the abilities of the third stage and the fourth stage born on this basis will naturally be completely different.

It can be said that the second stage of Wanmin's bloodline is an important point of countless branch routes.

Sean didn't know exactly what the bloodline of this son of the world was in the second stage, but he knew very well that even the bloodline of the Manmin-God blood had never been born with the ability to directly attack the soul. In the game, the attack methods that directly affect the soul are basically equivalent to "ignoring defense". Only by adopting a defense method that specifically targets the soul attack method can such soul damage be reduced.

"The so-called gods are just powerful souls." At this moment, World Will suddenly spoke again.

Sean was taken aback for a moment, then reacted.

"The hunting spirit is different from the killing of the gods. The killing of the gods can exert considerable abilities in the second stage. That is for the gods and all the powerful bloodlines related to the gods." World Will continued to say, "The hunting of the spirits requires It is only in the third stage that its truly terrifying nature can be exerted. Because... the meaning of hunting spirits is to hunt creatures. Your bloodline has been fully awakened, and what you need next is to cultivate your bloodline soul and let it Form the mark of the soul."

While World Will explained this to Sean, Sean was also checking his attributes.

He found that under the impact caused by the bloodline awakening just now, he had actually stepped into the lower golden peak, and Requiem was officially unblocked, but it was a pity that Zhen Hun did not unblock it. But anyway, the strength of the Golden Realm coupled with a powerful assassin such as Requiem also made Xiao En very satisfied, because it meant that his combat effectiveness had been doubled.

"Okay, then what do I need to do for you?" Sean asked.

"It's no different from the things you usually do." World Will said, "You only need to clean up all the things that may harm the origin of the world, and that's it.... In the future, you will know how to do it."

Sean was a little dazed, because there was no difference between saying the world will and not saying it. But if he doesn't need to spare time to help World Will run errands, Sean is still quite satisfied, at least he still has a lot of things on his hands that he hasn't done. And these things are not related to him alone, but to the followers behind him.

"Time is almost too." The will of the world seemed to be extremely tired, "I will remind you one last thing, if one day you want to be an observer, then you must cut off all the lines of cause and effect that are linked to yourself. if not....."

"Otherwise, what will happen?" Sean asked hurriedly.

However, at this time, the will of the world has completely disappeared, and the last sentence he said could not be conveyed to Sean's ears.

Chapter 375: .Apocalypse Totem

The figure of the will of the world began to gradually diffuse in front of Sean.

Sean could feel that the will of the world seemed to want to say something, but there was no sound anymore, and even the green world around him began to disappear gradually. Countless starlight points floated out one after another, as if a certain element condensate was attacked by the dispelling magic, and it was beginning to be stripped and dissipated little by little.

After the entire wilderness world disappeared, Xiao En was stunned to discover that the space he was in was not in an alien plane.

Everything I have just seen is just an existence similar to an illusion.

At this time, when the illusion world created by the will of the world disappears, everything returns to the original situation.

Behind Xiao En, there is still the Yumen.

However, the wide-open Yumen was not closed, and it remained the same as when Xiao En entered. He just stood inside the door. When he turned around, Xiao En could see that the false corridor had an extremely obvious dividing line. ——The area about ten meters away from Yumen has been filled with thick gray mist, and it is completely impossible to see what is going on in the corridor.

Shaun turned his head and began to look around.

The situation in this basement is completely different from the Amiz Magic Laboratory that Shaun knows about, because there is no laboratory equipment.

In the huge space, only in the middle is there an altar similar to a totem-this position is where the world will was just now. In addition to this weird totem and altar, it can be seen that the surrounding environment layout is obviously intended to emphasize the natural setting, but it may be that the level of the people is not good enough, so that the entire space can see extremely obvious man-made traces.

Shaun walked towards the totem altar.

The engraved pattern on the totem looked very strange, and Xiao En could not recognize it at all, but when his hand touched the totem, a powerful force suddenly poured directly into Xiao En's body. It doesn't matter whether Sean is willing to accept it or not, and it doesn't matter whether Sean can bear it. This force appeared to be extremely violent, and there was a great power to completely burst Sean's body.

It's just that, except for Sean's panic at first, a surprise quickly appeared on his face.

Because Shaun felt that his strength was continuously improving.

After his bloodline awakened, his strength returned to the lower golden peak. The upper gold is not far away. But based on previous experience, Sean knew that it would take at least one month of polishing to get into the upper gold. But now, it was just a moment of effort, breaking through this layer of shackles, and directly stepping into the realm of high-level gold, and this is not the end, the previous internal injuries that were torn his body due to the power of the void. Also under the surging of this force. He recovered quickly, which made Sean's body become stronger and stronger.

Even the skin has a faint blue light.

In the game, Sean, who has successfully completed the task of Bronze Body, knows that this is a prelude to his bronze body.

In fact, above the bronze body, there are more advanced silver and gold bodies.

But at this level of body, Sean did not see it with his own eyes. He just heard it mentioned by his own president. After all, in the game at the beginning, Sean was just a powerful ninth rank. He has never stepped into the tenth level, but his president is a real tenth top-level powerhouse, he is only a little closer to the eleventh level, so the inside story and the experience he has are naturally better than his own More.

Sean watched the cyan glow on his skin getting stronger and stronger, and his mind gradually became more happy.

According to this speed, I am afraid that I will be able to complete the task of Bronze Body and let my body formally advance to Bronze Body.

As long as this step can be achieved, Sean can complete one of the main tasks established in this trip.

At this time, Sean finally knew what the weird totem pole was.

Apocalypse totem.

This is a very rare relic of the dawn of the dawn-the reason why it is said to be rare is that even after the game has been running for so many years, it will never appear more than five times in total. And its function is also very powerful. This thing can give players a large amount of experience in an instant. It is difficult to say how much its specific experience value increases, but according to the few words left on the forum by players who have discovered the totem of the apocalypse. , At the very least, the player can directly rise from the eighth level to the ninth-level critical point.

You must know that the more terrifying the class experience is, the more terrifying it is.

The experience of upgrading from the eighth level to the ninth level is enough to go from the sixth level to the eighth level.

In this world, Sean does not lack experience points, so every time he is promoted, he can directly reach the peak level. This is actually one of Sean's many advantages. After all, when other people break through their ranks, not to mention that they cannot fully exert their current rank realm's strength, or even are in a state where the realm is not stable. At this time, if they are stimulated too strongly or due to other strange reasons, it will It may cause a drop in order.

However, what Shaun did not expect is that the game is just a totem of the apocalypse that gives the player a lot of experience points, and its performance in the real world is so guarded.

The power of the void is a force that is also extremely violent and tyrannical. These forces are constantly tearing at the internal structure of Xiao En's body. Although it is protected by vindictiveness and will not hurt Xiao En's internal organs, it is also completely. Restricted Sean's ability to play. That's why he has to fight constantly and exercise his body fully. Not only can he accelerate the consumption of the residual void power in his body, but also allow the void power to penetrate into his body, thereby strengthening his body. To complete the transformation of the bronze body.

And this violent injection is like a third-party army that suddenly entered on a battlefield. Whether it is Sean's vindictiveness or the power of the void, it will directly start a hedge. In this way, it accelerates the consumption of the power of the void. When the two conflicts, it is easier to be absorbed by Sean's body. What is even more bizarre is that Sean finds that this violent force is opposing the force of the void. Later, he was also absorbed by his own body.

This is the key to speeding up the completion of Shaun's bronze body.

But soon, Sean began to feel a panic of pain and panic.

Because Sean found out. The cyan light on my body has become more and more prosperous. This is already a mark of the bronze body. In the game, as long as the player absorbs all the cyan light back into the body, he can thoroughly develop the bronze body. One of the two steps of the Sanctuary mission. But now. Sean was completely unable to pull his hand off the totem pole. So that violent force was still pouring into Sean's body madly, which naturally made Sean feel a panic.

You must know that his body is now in a saturated state.

This violent force is still pouring in madly, not only washing out all the power of the void, but even Sean's vindictiveness has been compressed to a very small degree-the vindictiveness that is attached to the internal organs has changed. It became a very thin film, almost like the skinny state that Sean had just experienced before. But even so, this amount of violent violence still has no idea of stopping. Instead, they continued to rush Sean's body madly. Even the internal organs are not let go.

Sudden!

"Puff" with a soft beep.

The vindictive film that wrapped Sean's heart from being attacked suddenly broke, and it was like pouring blood into a school of sharks, which immediately triggered the boiling of violent violence.

This tyrannical force rushed to Sean's heart frantically, completely tearing this vindictive film, and then all the violent force finally found a catharsis, and completely poured into Sean's heart. At this moment, Xiao En's face paled with fright, because he was too aware of the importance of the heart to the strong.

The influx of powerful forces. Shaun's heart was damaged in an instant.

Sean opened his mouth as a spurt of blood, and at this moment, Sean was truly panicked. Because he has never encountered such a thing now.

The damage to the heart also caused a momentary imbalance in Sean's power control. All the vindictive films that protect the internal organs were also ruptured at this moment, and then at the same time, they were constantly pouring from the totem pole. The amount of madness and violence torn into pieces.

In an instant, Xiao En felt as if his body was completely torn apart. This kind of pain was even more painful and uncomfortable than when Xiao En was sent to the North Continent by the randomly positioned teleportation scroll. Almost in such an instant, the influx of powerful forces caused Sean's body to suffer an unprecedented major trauma. This injury was even more painful than the void force tearing his body, which was completely beyond the ability of Sean to bear. The limit.

So at this moment, Sean's brain finally initiated a self-protection mechanism-Sean fainted.

It's just that even if Sean fainted completely, he still maintained a very strange posture-he was completely paralyzed, and seemed to fall to the ground, but his right hand was still tightly attached to it. The root totem pole, which makes Xiao En's whole person like a pious pilgrim, is kneeling in front of this totem pole.

However, at this moment, Xiao En, who had fainted, did not realize that the cyan light radiating from his body was slowly turning white.

The soft white light is also gradually deepening and brightening at the same time.

Gradually, it changes to the silver direction.

Chapter 376: .Silver Body

Shaun had a dream.

A very real dream.

He dreamed that he was swimming in the void. The black void lightning struck him, but he did not tear his body apart, but was completely absorbed by his body. Then, he was like a magnet, and more and more void lightning began to strike him, which made him feel very uncomfortable and painful in his body. He wanted to roar and roar, but he didn't know. Why, it was as if someone pinched his throat, making him unable to make any sound at all.

Shaun struggled hard in the void, trying to dodge these black lightnings, but no matter how he dodges, these lightnings can always strike him accurately. And it was the kind of precise blow that covered the whole body, which magnified Sean's pain many times, and it also spread all over the body.

But this is not the end.

Soon, Sean suddenly fell from the void into a cloud of unknown place.

The sudden sense of weightlessness made Sean feel a panic, which almost made him incontinent-it was not that Sean was too timid and could not bear it, but that this feeling directly broke through Sean's psychological defenses and reached the deepest part of his soul. Trembling.

And when he fell into a thick white cloud that was so dense that he could not see his fingers, Sean felt as if he had been thrown into a squeezing machine.

These clouds squeezed his body crazily, as if to squeeze his body completely. And what made Sean feel even more panicked was that even those strong flesh bodies that the void lightning could not really destroy, but under the squeeze of these thick fog, there were actually fissures, and blood was seeping through these fissures. As the dense fog continued to squeeze, cracks became more and more, as if I was like a ceramic full of cracks at this time.

Shaun struggled madly, he could feel the gradual approach of death. The double trauma from the body and spirit made Sean become like a wounded beast, crazy and hideous.

"what!"

Finally, in the constant struggle, the feeling of being pinched by the neck could not stop Sean's roar.

Along with this roar, Sean suddenly bounced off the ground. Directly put on an attacking posture.

But this state. It only lasted for a short while, and then Sean found that he couldn't hold on at all, and he fell to the ground immediately, and could only gasp for breath. It wasn't until this time that Xiao En's vision gradually became clear, and then he suddenly discovered the extremely real scene he had just experienced. Just having a nightmare.

With Sean's soberness. All the senses of the body quickly recovered.

The pain from the whole body can't be said, the fatigue that is so weak that it can hardly move, the fiery dryness of the throat, and the hunger of the stomach squirming, all tell Sean the fact that he has entered very seriously. State of collapse.

Not only hunger, but also dehydration.

So Sean did not feel the delay, and hurriedly took out the water and food from the storage ring, and then began to gobble up frantically.

After eating up nearly twenty people's food for three days in one breath. Xiao En finally recovered from extreme hunger and collapse.

He lay on his back on the cold slate floor, and then panted for breath. The whole person really did not want to move at this time.

It's just that Sean knows very well that he doesn't have so much time to waste.

It was completely an accident to be able to meet the Totem of the Apocalypse here. If it weren't for the sudden appearance of this thing, I'm afraid it would take at least three to four months for him to return to the upper golden peak. As for completely absorbing the power of the void and becoming a bronze body, I am afraid it will take longer, at least more than half a year, and this is still based on the situation where there are at least ten fierce battles.

At this time, what Sean is most concerned about is his physical condition.

He knew that the amount of violent violence instilled in him by the Totem of the Apocalypse could at least save him more than half a year. At this time, even if it is not possible to achieve a bronze body, it must be not far behind, and it can be solved by polishing at most one or two months.

And Sean with this idea, after opening his panel, the whole person was stunned in an instant.

On the personal attribute status bar, located in the item bar of race, suddenly there was an additional sub item.

【Race: Human】

[Intensity: Silver Body (Immune to strong poisons, reduce the effects of toxins by two levels, all attributes +20, reduce all damage by 20%)]

In the game, the toxicity is divided into five levels according to the strength of the effect. There are five types of weak toxins, medium toxins, strong toxins, violent toxins, and violent toxins. The poisons generally available in the game store are only medium toxins. Only master-level pharmacists and above can prepare the violent toxins, but the required materials are usually They are all extremely expensive grade A materials.

As for the violent toxins that claim that even level 9 beasts can have a certain harmful effect, at least a master-level pharmacist and S-level materials can be deployed.

Immune to strong toxins, which means that poisons below Grade A have no effect on Sean. And even if it is a Grade A poison, it is only equivalent to the effect of a medium toxin in front of Sean-because there is also a criterion of "the effect of toxins is reduced by two grades".

In addition, the two points of increasing all attributes by 20 points and reducing damage by 20% are also very powerful.

It goes without saying that all attributes are increased by 20 points. All damage is reduced by 20%. This means that the attack that was originally enough to severely hurt Shaun is likely to cause Shaun to be injured at a normal level, and even the silver realm may not be able to break it. Prevent it.

Shaun clearly remembers that the effect of Bronze Body is immune to medium toxins. The effect of toxins is reduced by one level, all attributes are +10, and all damage is reduced by 10%.

He didn't expect that the effect of the legendary Silver Body had doubled!

You must know that the reason why the sanctuary powerhouse is stronger than the golden realm powerhouse lies in the two attributes of "all attributes + 10" and "all damage reduced by 10%". Of course, there will be some special situations. For example, the skin of the undead girl was blue-gray. In addition to the role of the bronze body, it also came with the unique racial talent physical resistance of the undead zombies. Sex, this makes the undead woman immune to a certain degree of slashing.

Sean didn't know how he got this silver body.

But he only knew that the crux of the problem must lie in the Totem of the Apocalypse.

Of course, this unexpected harvest also surprised Sean. At least, he has now completed the task of increasing physical strength. It can be said that half of his sanctuary task has been completed. At present, all that is left is to shape the field. Once the field is successfully shaped, it means that he officially enters the sanctuary. Domain level.

But when Sean looked at his fragments of the law, he felt an unprecedented headache.

Now he has only collected two fragments. Although these two fragments have also allowed him to exert a certain degree of law, there is obviously a big gap between becoming a complete field. But the biggest problem at the moment is that Sean doesn't even know which law his law corresponds to. If he can know which law his law's power corresponds to, then he can perceive and perceive it. Understand, this can accelerate the formation of his field.

But Sean knew that this kind of thing was in a hurry.

Obtaining the legendary silver body, this can be regarded as an unexpected joy for Sean, and now that the blood is completely awakened, if he is still not satisfied in this way, it would be too greedy. You must know that both the silver body and the spirit hunter bloodline are far beyond the level of normal people. These two points are enough to give Xiaoen the ability to fight against the lower sanctuary and even the middle sanctuary. You must know all attributes. Adding fifty points is no joke.

Now on Sean's panel attributes, strength is 184, endurance is 136, agility is 186, intelligence is 126, and will is 144. This attribute data is equivalent to a top-level lower-level sanctuary powerhouse. Even the average middle-ranked sanctuary powerhouse, the data may not be so beautiful, maybe only those middle-ranked sanctuary powerhouses above the first-class kingdom level can have such beautiful statistics.

But you know, Sean still has a few extremely powerful hole cards.

such as light weight surgery, such as adrenal stimulation.

The explosion of these two abilities, Sean can directly break through 400 points of agility-this data has far exceeded the level that a mid-level sanctuary power can possess. According to the inference of the data party in the game, after breaking the 200-point mark, the data qualitative change effect is two hundred and fifty, three hundred, four hundred, five hundred, and one thousand points, which can break through four hundred points. Just because of the qualitative change in the third stage, only the high-ranking sanctuary powerhouse can suppress Xiao En in the speed alone.

But if you can suppress it, it does not mean that you can kill Sean.

The strong who are good at agility tend to have weaker lethality. However, Sean has the two killer moves, Requiem and Suppression. Even at his current level, he already has the two skills of learning soul-breaking and slashing souls, as long as he can master these in the seven forms of souls. Four types, unless it is a high-level sanctuary powerhouse of the kind of genius level, or an upper-level sanctuary powerhouse whose strength is at its peak, otherwise it is impossible to pose any threat to Xiao En.

It's not that Sean is conceited, but that he has this kind of self-confidence!

And the source of all this confidence is the silver body unexpectedly obtained today!

At this moment, Xiao En finally understood why the body of silver was a legendary existence.

Chapter 377: .Fully designated to draw

After having a silver body, Sean is obviously in a good mood.

He has never been an insatiable person, so even though he knows that there are more advanced golden bodies than silver ones in the legend, Sean obviously did not take these into his heart at this time.

His mind quickly shifted to another reward.

Fully assigned to the lottery.

This kind of reward, Sean has never heard of it before.

It has been almost seven years since I came into this world. Since the lottery system was activated, in addition to the random lottery at the beginning, there was also a directional equipment lottery later. According to Sean's speculation, this lottery reward should be designated to be drawn in the equipment, and there is no one-tenth chance of drawing something that Shaun doesn't need like a random lottery.

So, with great curiosity, Sean directly opened the lottery system.

【Do you want to draw a lottery? 】

The sound of the system is as cold as ever. It seems that after the will of the world has left, this special ability that belongs to Sean will no longer be disturbed.

"Yes." Shaun confirmed.

【Check that the number of draws you have is ‘fully specified’, please select the lottery item.
】

This time, when Shaun confirmed, although the big wheel still appeared in front of Shaun, the pointer on it was gone, and it looked like a huge disk. And as Sean's gaze moves across the ten areas divided on the disk, relevant introductions will appear corresponding to the prize content of the lottery.

Ten options, in fact, it doesn't matter if you don't read the introduction, because basically you can easily distinguish these related content from the area name.

Even a guard who didn't know before, after drawing Noro, Sean already had what this reward was.

The difference between a guard and an army is that the former is a strong one, while the latter is a force.

at this time. According to the system's prompt sound, Xiao En knew that he could designate one of the ten rewards as a prize for the lottery.

And the reason why he hesitated at this time was because he was considering whether he wanted the strong or the army.

If you look at the situation in the future, the value of choosing an army is obviously higher.

Now the Void Principality has two fifth-level armies, the Wings of Conviction and the Silver Temple Legion. This is also one of the confidence that the Void Principality now has a second-rate kingdom that is not inferior to the average. Sean believes. Under William's guidance and training, coupled with the accumulation of a large number of sophisticated equipment on the Armory, these two corps can reach the level of the sixth corps in a few years, and this is the limit, and then think about it. Development requires a certain amount of individual strength.

You must know that if you have a level 7 army, even if the number of strong is not large. The quality is not particularly high. That can also be among the level of a first-class kingdom.

As for the gap between the super-first-class kingdoms and the first-class kingdoms, it is not because the super-first-class kingdoms have more legions than the first-class kingdoms, but because the super-first-class kingdoms are relatively high-end in terms of quantity and quality.

If the Void Principality can have a seventh-level legion, coupled with Noro stepping into the realm of the upper sanctuary, it can immediately become a top first-class kingdom. If there are legendary powerhouses in charge, they can even be among the ranks of super-class kingdoms. The gap between the empire and the super-class kingdom lies in the super power. As for the super power of the legion itself, there is a certain relationship. But in fact the relationship is really not very big.

And the training of a seventh-level army, the time required is naturally not a problem that can be solved in a short time. Sean wants to have an empire that can deter the millennium covenant. Even if it has the power to fight the Millennium Covenant Empire, then the seventh-level legion is very necessary-the entire wild land may not be able to make up many seventh-level legions today, and this type of legion is obviously all major tribes. Even if they have now merged into the Wild Federation, these legions are under the control of the parliament, but they will never be easily deployed, especially for the war between Sean and the Millennium Covenant Empire.

But this is also from the perspective of the midway future.

If you want to consider more far-reaching significance, then you must choose a guard.

The army can be cultivated, and the strong can also be cultivated.

However, the training time of the strong is absolutely far beyond the training time of the army, especially those who are truly top strong, it is not easy to recruit. There are so many top powerhouses with names and surnames on the entire continent. These people are all distinguished guests from major kingdoms and empires. Even if Sean's Void Principality now has a certain reputation in the Southern Continent, he wants to make these powerhouses. It is not easy for us to invest in ourselves.

Especially the strong after the legend, it is extremely valuable.

Many kingdoms have not been able to rank among the top first-class kingdoms and super-first-class kingdoms because of the lack of strong enough power.

Especially the existence of legendary powerhouses, even the seven empires will not think there are too many legendary powerhouses in their country.

Therefore, if you consider the long-term benefits purely, then the guard is naturally more valuable in this draw.

In these two thoughts, Sean fell into a wavering situation.

Instinctively speaking, he naturally hopes to choose a guard, but a high-level army is also quite attractive to him.

However, after considering for a full three minutes, Sean finally gave up the choice of the army-this is not to say that Sean is purely considering long-term interests. What he needs to take into account at this time is that he is in the Northern Federation. This is the principality. If it were in the Void Principality, then Sean would definitely choose the army without saying a word, but on the side of the Northern Principality Federation, Sean would not dare to be too casual.

Because according to Sean's understanding of the urine system, if an army is really drawn, I am afraid that this army will definitely appear directly near his location at this time. And at the moment Sean is located in the hinterland of the Northern Principality Federation, so if the appearance of this army misunderstands the people of the Northern Principality Federation, I am afraid it will be a lot of fun.

So after hesitating again and again, Sean still chose the type of guard.

【The designated lottery item is ‘Guardian’, are you sure? 】

"determine."

Soon, the picture in Sean’s field of vision changed.

Countless cards appeared in front of Sean, and they flew quickly in front of Sean.

Rows of cards are swiping quickly, and soon a wall of cards composed of countless cards is formed. Sean can feel it. The eyes of these cards were filled with surprise and curiosity. It seemed that these cards also had their own unique memories-they had clearly recognized Sean's identity. And presumably, not everyone can easily enter this space, so for Sean entering this space for the second time with such a short interval, these cards are naturally a little curious and shocked.

【Because your chance to draw is ‘fully designated’. So please choose five guards from the deck for the final draw. 】

The sound of the system sounded again.

【You can freely choose the guards you are familiar with. If you do not choose free draw, the system will randomly select five guards for you. 】

【Excuse me, is there a free lottery? 】

Hearing the sound of the system, Xiao En was stunned for a moment, and then suddenly reacted. It turned out that the so-called "fully designated lottery draw" could allow Sean to choose the lottery at will. If Sean chooses the guard's lottery at this time, then he can choose five guards as candidates. The final draw was born among these five guards. Instead of drawing in a library that doesn't know the upper limit at all.

In other words, as long as Sean knows the characters in the library, the rewards for his draw will never be too weak!

Understanding this, Sean's expression immediately became excited.

"Card draw, kill Wu Ji!"

Without even thinking about it, the first card that Sean chose was the horrible existence he used to scare Noro.

I saw the card wall composed of cards, and suddenly a card flashed a golden light. Then a card portraying a lifelike card appeared in front of Sean: this was a young girl wearing a light hunting suit, who seemed to be only about 1.75 meters tall. She has slender legs and a well-swept waist. Compared to many women with hot figures that Sean has seen, this girl named Alexis does not have much majestic twin peaks, and is probably normal. The size of an adult woman, but she has black hair that reaches her hips.

Of course, what is really eye-catching is the sword-blade gun she is holding in her right hand—the so-called sword-blade gun is similar to a wide-blade sword with a longer grip. The blade is one foot in width and about one meter in length. The two ends of the sword's handle are made of sharp needle-like metal about one foot in length, and the handle is about two meters long.

The length of this sword-blade gun is more than three meters, which is close to the minimum standard of the dragon gun—more than one meter longer than the general sword-blade gun.

In addition to this sword-blade gun, Alexis's left waist is also tied with two narrow cutting blades about one meter in length.

As for the appearance of killing Wu Ji, Sean had seen it several times in the game, so he was very impressed.

At this time, the character who saw this card appeared in front of him like this, his heart was naturally agitated.

【Please choose the second card. 】

The system's prompt sound doesn't care about Sean's excitement, and he reminds Sean to make a second choice.

However, at this time, Sean was directly in a state of distress.

Because there are too few existences that can be compared with Killing Wu Ji.

Although this "fully designated lottery draw" allows Sean to choose five cards by himself, the chance of drawing a lottery is actually only one-fifth.

In other words, it is possible to draw other cards.

And since Sean chose Killing Wu Ji for the first card, then the ideal state for the next four cards is naturally to choose an existence that can be compared with Killing Wu Ji, otherwise it would simply be a waste of the chance to draw this time. . Sean didn't want to draw another Noro, or some other weird or poorly capable existence. If a one-fifth chance of hitting this kind of stuff, Sean felt that he might cry to death.

Therefore, he had to start racking his brains to think about what level of existence could be compared to killing Wu Ji.

Soon, Sean thought of several existing ones that could be compared with Killing Wu Ji on the game's official website.

"Card lottery, butcher of truth!"

A golden light shines again.

The second card presented to Sean is a boy who is only about 1.5 meters tall and about 11 or 2 years old. He has a lovely face like pink jade and red eyes. It looks a little weird, and the golden hair looks very bright in the sun. The skin is somewhat unhealthy white, and it looks like he has leukemia. And as striking as the killing of Wu Ji, is a pure white epee that is as large as a door panel and even above the child's height. The sword is engraved with golden texture. The shining golden light makes people even want to ignore it.

【Please choose the third card. 】

Do not wait for Sean to appreciate it carefully. The reminder-like sound of the system sounded again.

And this time. Shaun didn't have any hesitation. He directly opened his mouth and made the third choice: "Card lottery, wounds forever."

The character of this card is a man dressed in black and red and a luxurious evening dress with gilt and silver stripes. He holds a blood-like crystal spear in his right hand. The spear is a typical cross-spear shape. The thrust of this weapon is extremely terrifying. It's just that the man's skin is wrapped in a white bandage. Only turquoise eyes and a few strands of brown hair exposed from the bandage were revealed, and he couldn't see his skin color and appearance at all.

【Please choose the fourth card. 】

"Card lottery, endless reincarnation."

The character image that emerges from this card is a wise old man wearing white luxurious clothes and a short black cloak on his shoulders. He held a golden scepter studded with red gems in both hands. The gray hair was meticulously combed towards the back of his head, and the whole person looked abnormally energetic. Although he is not as domineering as the character image of the first three cards, but he has the same extremely dusty temperament, as if he has an insight into everything in this world.

【Please choose the fifth card. 】

"Card Draw. Scarlet Girl."

This is a little girl about the same age as the Truth Butcher. She has purple eyes. She has bright red hair and is wearing a set of red casual clothes. From the clothes, it can be roughly inferred that this little girl's origin should not be aristocratic, because this dress does not look very gorgeous .

Although this girl is still young, her facial features and eyebrows have traces of extremely charming and moving. She must be a great beauty when she grows up in the future.

But what is really attractive is not the embryo that the girl shows at such an age, but that there are actually two symmetrical purple-red natural magic lines on her face. Xiao En didn't know the meaning of this pair of magic patterns, but there was an introduction on the official website at the time. The meaning of this pair of magic patterns was Void Fire. This means that this little girl is naturally able to control the fire of the void, and the intimacy with the flame is so great, it can almost be said that she is the incarnation of the flame.

When Sean picked out these five cards, the sky full of cards disappeared completely, leaving only these five cards floating in front of Sean.

In terms of strength alone, these five cards can all be said to be the strongest hero-level existence, otherwise the official website will not directly post these five cards as a signboard in the most conspicuous position. Hype. However, in the game, there are only three characters actually owned by the player, namely Killing Wu Ji, Truth Butcher, Scarlet Girl. As for the Trauma of Eternity and Endless Reincarnation, they have never been found by the player.

Of course, among the three, the most famous is naturally the killing of Wu Ji.

Her strength is almost beyond what a normal person can imagine. It is said that if it were not for the interference of the three seven demon kings, the lord of arrogance, the angry tyrant, and the demon of desire, the greedy demon would have to be replaced by another person. But even so, the killing of Wu Ji Alexis still severely damaged the Greedy Demon, and escaped smoothly under the siege of the other three Seven Demon Kings. It is said that Elken, the Lord of Pride at the time, was so angry that he was chased directly. Outside the void.

The existence in the game second only to killing Wu Ji is the butcher of truth.

Don't look at this Xiaozheng's too soft and weak appearance, the handle is almost two meters-the epee, which is more than half of his body, looks like a toy in his hand. And the most frightening thing is that it is said that his special ability is to distort the rules, even if the sanctuary masters who have mastered the domain can not get any benefits in front of him, and this is because the players who signed the contract with the truth butcher at that time were not strong enough. The reason for being strong, if the strength is strong enough, I am afraid that the Truth Butcher is the powerful existence of the class that killed Wu Ji.

Because of these two living examples, Sean will list the wounds of the eternal world, endless reincarnation, and the Scarlet Girl. Although Sean has not seen the Scarlet Girl's shot, the official can put these in Propaganda together, and Truth Butcher and Killing Wu Ji are so powerful, then Sean believes that Scarlet Girl will not let him down.

【The cards you selected are 'Killing Wu Ji', 'The Butcher of Truth', 'Tear of Eternity', 'Endless Reincarnation', and 'Scarlet Girl'. Are you sure? If determined, a lottery will be held and you will get one of these five cards. If you are not sure, then you will have the right to choose again. Please note that this will be your last choice of power. 】

"determine."

Shaun didn't even think about it, so he decided directly.

These five cards are already the strongest and best cards he can think of. There is no uncertainty about the truth.

When Sean confirmed the right to choose, a golden light began to light up on the [Kill Wu Ji] card, and then quickly began to move from left to right. With the speed getting faster and faster, after almost reaching the level of dazzling, Xiao En's sight finally couldn't keep up with the beating of this light.

However, this situation did not last long.

About ten seconds, then the golden light began to slow down.

As the speed decreased, Sean's heart almost rose to his throat.

By the way, Sean can accept any of the five cards, but if he can stay on his favorite card, he will naturally be a little excited!

Soon, the golden light finally stopped beating, and then stayed on a card.

Chapter 378: . Destiny

Northern Principality Federation, although it is strictly forbidden to engage in war among the principalities within, in fact, small-scale conflicts and frictions are still banned repeatedly. Because of this, many terrains in the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy have been destroyed in countless years of conflict, and most of them have turned into wasteland.

Therefore, in the Commonwealth of Northern Duchy, the wilderness is undoubtedly the most.

At this time, the two young men were walking on a wilderness.

This is a pair of young men and women.

The man is wearing a black outfit, it is difficult to see what the material is, but from the color and luster, it should be some kind of special leather outfit. His waist is tied with a special saber with a slightly different shape from the long sword and the cutting blade. The body of this sword is narrow and wide. The closer it is to the hilt, the wider it is. Reformed epee. If there are experts who are familiar with the history of weapon development in the Marvel Continent, you can definitely recognize that this is a special weapon that originated from the broad sword two eras ago. Only the strong with the combination of strength and skill can play a special weapon. .

The woman who followed the young man did not have any weapons on her body.

Although her dress is slightly different from the men's style, if you look closely, you can still recognize that this dress is made by the same designer. From this judgment, we can also know that this woman should come from the same place as the young man.

may be an academy, or it may be a special force organization.

The reason for saying this is that the clothing of these two men has a more obvious uniform style, rather than the common designer clothing styles in mainland China.

These two people seem to be a little shameless, but they still maintain a certain tidiness and cleanliness as a whole, and they seem to be people with a lot of identity. Of course, judging from the neatness of their clothes, it can be seen that these two people have extremely strong survivability in the wild, and they are not like ordinary travelers, adventurers, or mercenaries.

But at this moment. The young man stopped suddenly and frowned slightly.

"What's wrong? Levi." The young woman suddenly said, her voice was clean and sweet.

"It's gone." The young man named Levi heard the woman's questioning, his unfolded brows did not stretch, but he still spoke. "The breath of the other party suddenly disappeared."

"Andrew?" the young woman asked in confusion.

"En." Levi nodded slightly. "There was a very obvious breath fluctuation before, but it suddenly disappeared completely....I don't know what happened, but obviously this is definitely not normal. Alyssa, it seems that we are going to speed up."

"But... But since the other party disappeared, how can we find it?" Alisha tilted her head and asked innocently and curiously.

"We can go to the place where the other party disappeared first." Ryan said in a deep voice, "It's not hard to find. The breath has been in the north just now. So we just have to move on in this direction....This way, We can follow the clues left by the other party to find. It is impossible for anyone in this world to move without leaving a trace."

"Oh." Although Alyssa didn't quite understand what Levi was talking about, she felt that what Levi was saying seemed very powerful. Anyway, she just had to act with Levi.

But suddenly, Alisa seemed to have thought of something, and she asked again: "That... Levi, is your injury... okay?"

I heard Alisha suddenly ask. Levi's face inevitably darkened. He subconsciously reached out and touched his left rib, a bandage wrapped around under his coat. Although he has been injected with a special recovery medicine, he has not fully recovered as a whole, and it may take one or two weeks to fully recover.

After all, the rib was broken, this kind of injury is not easy to heal.

"It's okay." But when Levi saw Alisha's cautious look, he said with a chuckle, "It's not a big deal, although the strength is slightly reduced, but I believe that with the combined strength of the two of us, ordinary people It will definitely not be our opponent."

"Oh." Alisha nodded slightly, but she still glanced at Levi's left rib subconsciously.

In fact, Alyssa is not stupid.

She knew that Levi was only comforting her by saying this, but she couldn't say anything at this time. After all, this was caused by her. Even though she was indeed trying to make up for it afterwards, this internal injury problem is difficult to heal. Unless the priest of the Temple of Life can be found to treat it, it will be possible to heal instantly. , Otherwise, relying on the special therapeutic agents brought about by this trip, the recovery time will definitely be slower.

At this moment, Alyssa suddenly hoped that she could be a priest.

"It's okay." Levi patted Alisha's head with a chuckle, "This injury is nothing to me.... Don't forget, when we were in the academy, But there are more serious injuries than this."

Recalling the days when she was studying at the Floating Saint Academy on Floating Island, Alyssa smiled subconsciously. During that period of time there were indeed worse days than the ribs were broken right now, but it was in the academy at that time, even if it was disabled, it could actually be completely cured.

"It would be fine if there is a life fluid." Alisha sighed.

"It's almost the same if there are special therapeutic liquids." Levi didn't mind very much himself, "It's just that the recovery speed is a little slower, but it can actually be cured."

Alyssa stopped talking, just clenched her lower lip subconsciously.

"Don't worry too much." Levi smiled, and then the hand placed on Alisha's head rubbed her long hair. "It's just that the recovery time is a little bit slower..." But then, he said. Levi's face suddenly changed again, and when he turned his head to look north, his face was already heavy.

"What a strong breath of fate!" Alisha's heart was suddenly startled.

At just this moment, both of them felt an extremely terrifying breath suddenly appear. It was as if some kind of tyrannical existence was announcing its arrival to the world, directly intervening in the world's fate line in a very arrogant form, rippling instantly like a circle of ripples, and passing it through the entire world.

This sudden approach often means that some kind of tyrannical existence is entering the plane strongly.

is different from what the world imagined.

When the real strong leaves a plane, what disappears must be his aura and the line of fate that is implicated in the world-also known as the line of cause and effect. But this kind of disappearance does not mean that it is really missing, it is just a transition from visible to invisible. Just like the hibernation period, the traces of fluctuations will become very slight, and only those destiny masters who are proficient in divination and foresight can barely trace it back.

And when these powerhouses return, their destiny line will change from invisible to visible, and at this moment will exude a very strong aura.

is like the arrival of a storm. It seems very violent.

But at least. This kind of storm is also a product of the world's rules, so no matter how abrupt it is, it won't feel uncomfortable.

Just like Jibril's return to tearing the plane space some time ago.

At that moment, the storm of fate formed by her return swept the whole world. The real top powerhouses, as well as those destiny wizards, felt the appearance of Jibril at the first time-although many people don't know who the owner of this storm of destiny is, they at least know this breath. The owner of was once a person in this plane world.

The return of a traveler.

This is after Jibril tore the plane. The common cognition produced by the whole world.

But this time. The storm of fate that is happening right now is not the case.

The appearance of this breath is extremely abrupt-like throwing a stone into the lake. The other party does not belong to the existence of this plane world at all, but the very subtle thing is that the intervention of this breath did not cause a rebound of the world will, but more like accepting the other party, allowing the other party's fate to be extremely rude. The way intervenes, and then the connection is made.

This situation can at least prove one thing: the owner of this breath is not a dark creature.

Like before. The appearance of Elken, the Lord of Pride, was equally powerful. However, she is not connected with the fate line formed by the will of the world, but is more like another parallel line, trying to cover the world fate line of the Marvel Continent.

The assimilation of the abyss and the plane of * is mainly based on the way of covering the line of fate.

Once the line of fate formed naturally on the plane is covered, it also means that the origin of the plane has been assimilated. Unless all demons and demons can be completely driven out, otherwise the entire plane world will become another abyss or purgatory. It's just a matter of time.

Even Levi and Alyssa can feel the sudden appearance of this storm of fate, so other powerhouses who are stronger than the two of them can naturally feel it.

It's just that everyone's reaction to this attitude is completely different.

Especially at this time, the groups of people who are located in the Northern Continent and are coming to the Northern Continent.

.....

Because of the information provided by the special informant Shaun, the Peace Council's sudden attack hit the Medusa Chamber of Commerce by surprise. This time it can indeed be said that it truly uprooted all the remnants of the Medusa Chamber of Commerce and only fled. Several unidentified people were sent.

Although these people probably couldn't overcome any storms, to be on the safe side, the strong man in the mission of the Peace Council issued an order to chase and annihilate them.

The strong intervention of this fateful breath did make the powerhouses of the Peace Council feel nervous for a while. They even thought that a fish slipping through the net was dying and trying to summon the devil. After all, the sudden appearance of Elken, the lord of arrogance, left the entire Peace Council in a mess. They once suspected that Sean was an infidel and tricked them into sending out to the North Continent to deal with the Medusa Chamber of Commerce. He summoned the lord of arrogance to the material world.

But later, the Lord of Pride only existed for a very short period of time, and his breath completely disappeared.

Although the Peace Council is not sure what is going on, they are relieved that the Lord of Pride is not in this plane. Of course, the doubts about Sean cannot be removed. They are even ready to wait for Medusa to be annihilated. After the action is over, go to Sean to have a good talk.

So at this time, a tyrannical fate aura appeared, which naturally made them quite surprised.

However, they were relieved to feel that this breath of fate did not appear in parallel lines, but directly intervened in the fate of the existing world.

.....

Compared with the relief of the Peace Council, the paladin and his party, who were secretly preparing to return from the Northern Duchy to the St. Joel's Empire, went directly into a state of extreme alertness.

In order to take Uriel this time, they spent a lot of effort.

Seeing that the task is finally about to be completed. Only this last part of the journey is left, and of course they won't be careless.

No matter who the master of this fateful breath is, the four great paladins don't want to run into each other at this time, so as not to be out of touch. After all, considering the subtle attitude between the Northern Duchy Federation and the Saint-Joles Empire, the Dark Face Knights did not travel with the Four Great Paladins. Instead, they were scattered in a patrol and alert manner. Distributed around the travel route of the four great paladins, in addition to cleaning up unnecessary troublesome tasks, they also have tasks such as gathering intelligence and preparing for support at all times.

In fact, apart from the fact that the Four Great Paladins did not want to encounter this powerful fate, they had already learned that the lunatics of the Peace Council were in the Northern Principality Federation, and they also did not want to collide with the people of the Peace Council. Who knows if this group of lunatics will suddenly come up with Uriel's idea after seeing Uriel- especially after knowing that this time the Peace Parliament has dispatched three peace envoys. The four great paladins are more cautious.

If it is not their identity, it is not suitable for using magic teleportation array. I'm afraid they all want to use the magic teleportation array to return directly to St. Joel's Empire.

.....

Of course, in addition to the Peace Council and the secret troops of the St. Joel's Empire in the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy, there are actually several forces entering the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy.

For example, the death thorn that has a feud relationship with the Peace Council.

After receiving the news that the Peace Assembly had launched a mass murder in the Northern Principality Federation, the person in charge in the lair of the Northern Continent simply led a group of people into the Northern Principality Federation and prepared to compete with the Peace Assembly. So after they felt this breath of destiny, their first reaction was different from the secret forces of the Peace Council and the Saint-Joles Empire. They discussed it. One person was sent to try to contact the other party to see if they could recruit or win.

For the death thorn, which has lost a lot of money today. The powerhouses of this level are enough to attract their attention.

.....

In addition to Deaththorn's interest in this breath of destiny, there is another force that is also interested in this breath of destiny.

After this fateful breath appeared, a fate mage left the minaret, which is known as the "last surviving palace of learning" in the world. This group of "truth followers isolated from the world" standing on the "minaret overlooking all things" really wants to know who is the owner of this fateful breath that almost shattered their walls of fate.

In this world, only a few people know that there is a wall of destiny in the spire.

Therefore, the strong men who can freely enter and exit this world plane have a traceable aura of fate on this plane. Even if these strong men have left this plane for a long time, their aura is still recorded. In the same way, if someone who does not belong to this plane world enters, the Wall of Destiny will give an early warning at the first time-through the strength of the ripples of the Wall of Destiny, the strength of the person entering this world can be judged. weak.

However, in the years since the establishment of the Observation Minaret, there has never been a situation where the Wall of Destiny almost collapsed.

Therefore, looking at the minaret is really interested in the owner of this fateful atmosphere.

Not more than dead thorns trying to win and recruit, they just want to talk to each other.

Of course, if you can invite the other person to the observation tower as a guest, then it is naturally the best.

.....

However, there are people who are interested, people who want to avoid, and people who are indifferent, so naturally there are people who choose to ignore.

For example, the confessor Edward who seems to be afraid of not knowing that another demon * will be born in this world.

He completely ignores this fateful aura, anyway, as long as the other party does not come to provoke him, he doesn't care what the other party wants to do.

Of course, it's impossible to destroy the world.

In Edward's cognition, if the plane of Miracle Continent is really to be destroyed, then he must also do it.

He is a confessor. Edward!

Chapter 379: .Second guard

When Arkham woke up, he found that he was lying in a stone room, his head was particularly dizzy, and he even felt nauseous.

This feeling makes Arkham extremely uncomfortable, and it is even more terrifying than a hangover.

Fortunately, someone soon handed over a cup of hot water and fed Arkham a few sips.

After entering the entrance, Arkham knew that this was not hot water, but a kind of warm tea commonly seen in the North. It was said to be warm tea, but it was not the kind of high-grade tea that could only be enjoyed by the nobles of the Chenas Empire. It is a liquid made by boiling several kinds of herbs. This liquid is sour in the mouth and even has a bit of bitterness. Most people don't like it, but it is a rare good thing for mercenaries and adventurers. This kind of warm tea can warm their bodies and is bitter. The taste can also stimulate their spirits.

Warm tea is especially useful for swordsmen like Arkham.

Jian Hao has relatively excellent offensive and defensive capabilities, and is very average in terms of combat capabilities. There is no significant combat weakness, but the same does not have strong advantages and characteristics. This kind of profession is very good at protracted battles and tough battles, especially in battles that need to maintain a stable situation. Jianhao can play a huge role than other sword professions.

However, because of the superiority in combat ability, Jianhao actually has a very fatal weakness.

Very low resistance to abnormal abilities.

So the effect of warm tea-this elixir for restoring abnormal states-can also be said to be "excellent" when used on Arkham.

After drinking several large mouthfuls, Arkham's perception gradually recovered, and his vision gradually became clearer.

At this time, he realized that the person who fed him warm tea was Joanna.

Although his head was still a little groggy, Arkham sat up with his body forced, and then looked around. But no one else was seen. So Arkham looked at Joanna again and asked weakly: "Where are the others?"

Joanna was slightly dazed.

This reaction caused Arkham's pupils to shrink suddenly, and hurriedly asked: "What's the matter!"

"Ryze betrayed you." At this moment, Sean also walked over and said. "He hypnotized you all first. Then he led the Ghost Winged Demon lizard over, and Shiner died on the spot.... To cover our smooth departure, Hams sacrificed himself. The environment at the time was very critical. So Joanna and I had to hide behind your back in this ruin, but then you were all confused by the Flower of Falsehood. You have been in a coma for two days, and Joanna woke up a few hours earlier than you."

"Damn it!" Arkham cursed angrily.

But very fast. He turned his head and looked at Joanna again. He asked in a deep voice, "Have you checked everything here?"

Joanna nodded.

Arkham's face quickly fell back, and his eyes were a little apathetic, as if he had received a major blow.

Shaun glanced at Arkham, and then said: "I don't know what Ryze said to you, but I can be sure that there is absolutely nothing you want here.... Ryze's real purpose is That totem pole, he lied to you just to treat you as sacrifices. He wants to start the demon summoning ceremony, he must have enough sacrifices. Of course. I guess the ghost winged monster outside must be his choice. One of his sacrifices."

"Don't he be afraid of soul backlash!" Arkham cursed in hatred.

"Once his sacrifice is successful, his soul can be strengthened, and the soul loss caused by breaching the contract is not worth mentioning." Xiao En said lightly, without much anger, "and... Once he completes the deal with the devil or the devil, the people sent by the Adventurer Association to hunt him down will probably not be his opponents, but will become the nourishment for his strength."

Arkham's face looked very ugly.

"When dealing with magicians, it's better to pay more attention." Sean sighed and said helplessly, "Especially those wandering magicians, most of them are not very good at heart, the only thing that can respond is inheritance magic. Teacher, even academic..."

Afterwards, Sean did not continue, but he believed that Arkham could also hear it.

Arkham didn't say anything. At this moment, if he still couldn't see that Shaun's identity and strength were not simple, then he would not be a qualified leader.

Obviously, the rapid growth of Sean's strength before must be related to his trip, but this is a secret of others after all, and Arkham would naturally not be so sensible to ask anything. He only needs to know that Sean is not malicious to them, because if Sean really fancied them, he would be able to take advantage of them as early as when they were in a coma, and he would not wait until now.

"Then what shall we do now?" Arkham asked, "Given our current situation, it might not be easy to get out of here. After all... there is still that ghost winged monster outside. "

"Don't worry about this." Sean said softly, "Someone will pick us up."

"Someone is coming to pick us up?" Arkham was taken aback for a moment, and subconsciously asked, "Who?"

"I'm a...friend." Shaun replied.

Shaun did not know how to explain this new guard.

According to the rules of the system, these guards should be defaulted as followers of Sean, just like Noro. However, despite the default abilities of the system, in fact these guys are not necessarily obedient. Just like when Noro came to see Sean, the guy didn't intend to follow Sean's orders at first, and in the end it was Xiao. En relied on the special emergency means left to him by the system to tidy up Noro and obediently.

And the new guard he had drawn right now, in fact, had already appeared yesterday.

Sean can feel the extremely strong aura of fate when the other party appears-in fact, it is impossible to sense this breath with Sean's strength, but the other party and Sean have a soul contract concluded, so The moment the opponent appeared in this world, Sean's soul received a strong intervention from the opponent's soul.

However, after the other party entered this world, they did not actively contact Sean.

So at the moment. In addition to being able to feel that the other party is nearby, Shaun doesn't know what the other party is doing, nor can he know what the other party is thinking.

Furthermore, given that the opponent's proper combat power is definitely legendary, Sean really does not have the cheek to say that the opponent is his follower.

Arkham can naturally hear Shaun's pause in that moment. Although he was a little confused about the word "friend" that Sean said in his heart. But it was obvious that Sean was not very willing to continue this topic, so he couldn't say anything, just nodded slightly.

Joanna on the side of did not speak, but took care of Arkham carefully.

"Since you are all awake, let's go out." Shaun said, "He has been waiting outside for more than a day."

"Okay." Arkham was also simply, even though he hadn't fully recovered at this time. But since Sean said so. He also chose to believe, "How many days have we been in this ruin?"

"At least one week." Sean is also unable to determine how many days have come, because after touching the Apocalypse Totem to absorb the power, he passed out in a coma. I am afraid that this time will not be less than three days, because In the game, it takes two to three game days for players to completely integrate the bronze body, so Sean speculates that the transformation time of the silver body may not be less than the two to three days of the bronze body.

"You will be in the false corridor for a while, you must keep your breath. Then close your eyes and leave nothing to do. Just grab the corner of my clothes and follow me. You know?"

Although Arkham and Joanna didn't know what was going on, they nodded when they heard Sean say this.

Soon, the three of them left the stone room one after another.

Because of Sean's advance reminder, all Arkham and Joanna did not say much after seeing the thick fog of the False Promenade, although their faces were surprised, but they did not say much. They remembered Sean. He ordered to hold Sean tightly by the corner of his clothes, and then move forward together. And Sean, if he wanted to go through this false corridor, it was not an easy thing, but Xiao En knew that people with a bronze body could not be affected by the false corridor, not to mention what he had now is still The body of silver.

So on this road, it was quite easy to return to the previous stone slab.

As Sean pushed up the stone slab cautiously, and then glanced at the probe, he found that the injured ghost winged monster was not in the cave.

It's just that the muddy fishy smell inside the hole, acupuncture point, is still unpleasant, which makes Sean feel helpless.

But at least, they came out smoothly.

After a silent induction, Sean knew that the guard was outside the cave, so he didn't make any more stops. After turning his head and talking to Arkham and Joanna, the three of them quickly moved towards the cave. . Acupuncture. Run outside. With their current state of weakness and fatigue, they are indeed not suitable for dealing with the ghost winged monster - of course, Sean knows very well that if there is that guy, I am afraid that the ghost winged monster is either dead, or Just fled for the first time.

Instinctively speaking, Sean actually hoped that the ghost winged monster was dead, because the material on this kind of monster was extremely rare.

After the three ran out of the cave, they did not see the ghost winged monster, nor other figures.

Arkham and Joanna breathed a sigh of relief, only Sean was slightly disappointed.

"Where is your friend?" At this moment, Arkham hurriedly asked, "Should we find a place to hide and wait for him or do we say?... The ghost winged monster has a very sharp sense of smell. If we stay here It's probably dangerous if it's nearby."

Before, Arkham and others had the experience of being chased by the ghost winged monster, so some of the ghost winged monster's abilities are still fresh in their memory. At this time, Arkham's body was extremely weak and exhausted. If Sean hadn't said that there were friends waiting outside and Joanna was in a good state, he would never agree to leave the stone room now.

After all, there is no sense of security.

Even if the strength of the companion is stronger, but when you encounter the same powerful enemies and monsters, if you can't play a certain battle value, then it is actually no different from waiting to die. Especially in the business of mercenaries and adventurers, whether one's own condition is normal or not is extremely critical.

However, at this moment, Sean felt an extremely intimate aura that was constantly approaching.

Obviously, this breath comes from the newly drawn guard.

Although the opponent is not the killer Wu Ji that Shaun wants most, he is also one of the strongest guards he has selected, so he has nothing to complain about.

Soon, in the woods outside the cave, there was a rustling sound and friction.

Arkham and Joanna were instantly enemies, and hurriedly shouted: "Something is approaching, we have no time to run now, let's go back to the ruins!"

"No." Xiao En chuckled and shook his head, "It's his own."

"My own person?" Arkham was taken aback for a moment.

Immediately afterwards, he and Joanna both saw a very shocking scene.

At this moment, the mouths of the two of them opened because of their mistakes, I am afraid they can fit several eggs.

But unlike Joanna and Arkham's extreme shock, Sean's face showed excitement.

I saw in front of everyone's sight, a small figure was slowly walking out of it.

If it were just this figure, Arkham and Joanna would be astonished, but they would never be shocked like this—even if they saw something dragging behind this figure.

The dwarf figure pulled the upper jaw of the ghostly winged monster with his left hand, and then walked out of the woods step by step calmly, dragging the ghostly winged monster out-obviously, this head caused the entire team of Arkham and others to be torn apart and even let them The Ghost Winged Demon Lizard, who had a great headache and fright, had obviously been dead for a long time at this time.

In this world, there are not many people who can kill the ghost winged monster. Even Arkham thinks that with the cooperation of his team and the special props provided by Sean before, they can also. Easily solve the ghost wing demon lizard. But if it is a heads-up, Arkham thinks that if he does not have the strength of the sanctuary, it is obviously unrealistic, because the ghost winged monster is too powerful.

But!

The person in front of me who was dragging the body of the ghost-winged monster lizard and walked out calmly is just a child!

A boy who seems to be only eleven or two years old.

He has a pair of blood-red eyes, his blond hair looks unusually bright in the sunlight, and a white wide-collared coat looks unusually clean and tidy, not stained with any stains due to the environment of the Akaz Forest. This man apparently looked like a lovely child, probably at the age of living carefree by his mother's side.

However, when Arkham saw another thing that was also dragging on the child's right hand, his pupils shrank suddenly.

It was a silver-white giant sword that was at least two meters in sight!

Chapter 380: .Leaving Akaz Beisen

"This...this is..." Arkham looked at the child who was walking towards him and the others in shock.

"This is..." Sean frowned slightly. He really didn't know how to introduce this guy in front of him.

Say it is his friend, this age is obviously not right, unless he can explain the race of the other party. But the problem is that Sean also has a black eye about this little guy's race, so how can he explain it. And in fact, among all the races currently known, Sean can't think of any race that fits this guy's current situation.

At the beginning, after Shaun got the card of Truth Butcher, some basic and related information about him was also imprinted in his mind for the first time. But in fact, this does not help Sean thoroughly understand the truth butcher, because the specific data is not necessarily much more than that of Noro's original introduction.

[Name: Ko Ji Lei]

【Sex: Male】

[Race: Unknown]

【Realm: Legendary Peak】

【Strengths: Distorted law; Devouring life; Martial sword skills】

【Title: Butcher of Truth】

[Special note: Any enemy who underestimates the truth butcher has long since become the dust of history.]

"My friend's son." After hesitating for a while, Sean thought of a more reliable excuse, "...they are very strong."

The Butcher of Truth. Although Kozilek and Sean and the others are still almost 20 meters apart, Sean's voice did not deliberately conceal it, so Kozilek naturally heard this clearly. He just glanced sideways at Sean, didn't say much, but didn't slow down, so he dragged the ghost winged demon lizard that had been dead for a long time to the front of Sean and the others.

"Kozilek, where is your father?" Sean bit his scalp and asked.

Kozilek glanced at Sean, did not speak, but let go of the left hand holding the upper jaw of the ghost winged demon lizard. Throwing this monster that had ridden Xiao En and others running around in front of them like this. Only then did the meeting begin to look at Sean, Arkham, and Joanna—he scanned his eyes from bottom to top, and on average everyone stayed on for three seconds at most, no more, no less.

And after Shaun and the other three were all finished, Kozilek said, "fei."

Kozilek's voice is no different from the crisp voice of ordinary children. No matter how you look at it, it is obviously a child.

However, Sean's facial muscles twitched a few times: "Fei? What fei?"

Hear what Shaun said. Kozilek's face seemed to be embarrassed. He tilted his head for a moment, and then said, "Weak."

This time, everyone understood.

Dare to love the "fei" mentioned by Kozilek just now means "waste"!

Changed to ordinary people, not to mention Shaun's attitude, Arkham and Joanna, who were born and raised in the Northern Duchy, would definitely turn their faces on the spot, or even have to fight each other. Because the most famous characteristic industry of the Northern Principality Federation is adventurers and mercenaries, if this kind of profession that feeds on strength is once called a waste. Then it is very likely that there is no need to continue mixing in this country.

But now.

Arkham glanced at the silver-white giant sword that Kozilek was dragging upside down on his right hand—this sword was nearly half the height of Kozilek's height. When Arkham thought he was at the peak of his state, he might not be able to wave it easily, not to mention that he was still in a weak state at the moment—after that, he clearly chose not to make any rebuttals. Anyway, there are no outsiders here, and Arkham doesn't feel ashamed by such a monster who obviously cannot be evaluated by ordinary people.

"What shall we do now?" Arkham simply pretended not to hear Kozilek's words, and then asked, "Waiting for your friend here?"

Sean glanced at Kozilek, and said in his heart: You cooperate with me anyway.

Kozilek and Sean are a contract with souls. So even if Sean didn't speak, he could still receive Sean's belief. To understand what Shaun meant. Of course, this contract is also limited in scope. If the two parties are too far apart, they will not be able to receive it—just like Sean and Noro are now, one is in the North Continent, and the other doesn't know where to go. Obviously he and Noro. There is no way for the two to communicate.

But, just as Sean was in a hurry, Kozilek just stared at Sean with his eyes open, and didn't mean to cooperate with Sean at all.

This made Sean a little mad at once.

"You will die if you say something!" Sean exclaimed inwardly.

"bother."

"Is it troublesome or irritable, you should make it clear." Xiao En scolded.

"numb."

"...you will die if you say one more word!" Sean felt like he was about to collapse.

"No." Ignoring Sean's madness, Kozilek still said unhurriedly.

"If you can't, then say a few more words!" Sean knew that these guards were all problematic children, but he didn't expect Kozilek's problem to be so serious, it made Sean even more helpless than Noro. Extremely, because Noro just wanted to resist and fight for the initiative, but Kozilek didn't bother to speak at all.

"No." Facing Sean's request to say a few more words, Kozilek simply refused.

Here, Sean and Kozilek are arguing in secret, but because it is a direct communication between the souls, Arkham and Joanna don't know what's going on. In their opinion, it was probably because Sean and Kozilek were staring at each other with big eyes and small eyes. Because they didn't know if this was the habit of the two people, Arkham and Joanna looked at each other. Later, I don't know if I should say something.

But before the two of them spoke, Arkham saw that Sean suddenly seemed like a depressed old man who had lost all energy, completely defeated in the eyes of the child.

"We will leave this beast after dismembering it." Shaun's face was a little angry, "I promised Hams to send you out of the forest, but I don't plan to go back to Larne. So I can only trouble you to go north with me. We went straight through the forest and entered the Principality of Somalia."

"Then the father of this child..." Arkham glanced at Kozilek, then asked.

"He is here, and his father will definitely not show up." Sean was too lazy to make up any lies. He said directly, "It's okay. It's not once or twice that his unscrupulous father left the child outside alone. Originally, I had an appointment with his father to meet in the Principality of Somalia, but now this kid is here, his father Surely it won't show up again. Let's leave after we finish our work."

Say it. Without waiting for Arkham's reaction, Sean had already started to dismember the ghost winged monster.

The most valuable material of the Ghost Wing Demon Lizard is the two osteotomy wings on its back.

But when dealing with Ryze before, one of the bones and wings of this ghost-winged monster was damaged, and the other was also badly damaged. However, these remnants of bone wings can still make a golden-grade long sword or spear in the hands of Sean-these two weapons are made of less materials and no more materials than other weapons. The production process is also more complicated.

Because this ghost winged monster was killed by Kozilek. So this part of the material Sean was not distributed to Arkham. However, for other materials, such as scales, endoskeleton, and part of internal organs, Sean gave Arkham a share, which is less of an income of thousands of gold coins.

As for the three magic cores second only to Bone Wing, Sean also did not give Arkham.

The magic core of level six monsters, each piece is at least the size of a fist, and the color is extremely bright.

This kind of magic core is about 100,000 gold coins, like the more popular fire system. Usually it can be sold at least for a price of more than 130,000 yuan, while the land system is relatively inferior. Usually it can only sell for around 80,000.

However, magic cores are not available in all monsters. Some powerful monsters use all the magic elements they absorb to strengthen the body, so they do not create magic cores in the body. At present, it has been clearly determined that there are more than 130 kinds of monsters without magic cores on the Marvel Continent. Therefore, ordinary adventurers and demon hunters usually don't bother with these monsters without magic cores.

However, some subspecies will give birth to magic cores.

But unfortunately, most people distinguish between subspecies and non-subspecies.

Arkham was a little jealous of the three magic cores of the Ghost Wing Demon, but Sean did not intend to give them, and they naturally did not dare to ask for it.

Under the dismemberment of a skilled worker like Sean, the important material on the ghost winged monster was separated in only ten minutes, so Sean, Arkham and others immediately went back on the road without being in Akka. Stay longer in Zibei Forest.

I don't know if it's because of Kozilek's participation. The next journey would have passed through the territory of a few powerful monsters, but these monsters did not run out to find the trouble of Sean and others, so Sean and others were naturally It was extremely easy to traverse the entire Akaz Beisen. After leaving the forest, Sean also separated from Arkham and Joanna, mainly because Sean's next trip was also quite troublesome, and it was not convenient to take these two people. Otherwise, Sean did have a future. The two people collected the meaning.

However, for Arkham who has nowhere to go for the time being, Sean also gave them a suggestion.

After all, Emily is short of manpower right now, and both Arkham and Joanna are obviously experienced combat veterans, and they are still somewhat helpful to Emily.

After the two parties officially parted, Sean took Kozilek and continued northward.

Through these days of getting along, Sean also has a general understanding of Kozilek.

Although this guy seems to be a child, his true age may be several thousand years old, maybe even higher.

He has short, slightly curly blond hair, with a hair color that is as bright as gold. He was wearing a wide-collared overcoat, which looked like a priest's robe, but it was just a coat style. The lower body is a pair of white pants, although the texture is not visible, but it is very tough and wearable. The most important thing is that whether it is a shirt or pants, you can clean up the stains on it with a light dusting.

This is especially envious of Sean, who looks messy and looks like a beggar.

Kozilek's height is only about one meter two or three, with a standard baby face, very cute. Even if his skin is not touched, it can be seen that it is very delicate and fair, which makes his eyes naturally look particularly eye-catching-although blood-red eyes are not uncommon in the Marvel Continent, they are not very common. The color of the pupil.

If Kozilek were older, he might be regarded as a vampire or some blood-conscious survivor in the West, but now this guy is just a child, and no one cares too much.

certainly. What really cared about was actually the epee in Kozilek's hand.

The epee is like a door, not to mention that the length may exceed two meters, and the width of the blade is about one meter.

The whole epee is silvery white from the body to the hilt, and there is even a faint glow at the edge of the blade. Obviously this epee is not made of anything ordinary. And the middle of the blade. From the guard of the sword, there is a golden texture extending to the tip of the sword. The golden pattern seems to be some kind of rune, and it flickers like breathing.

"Your sword is too conspicuous. I will keep it for you first, right?" On the way to the Somali Principality, Sean has seen more than ten groups of people showing shock and curiosity towards Kozilek. This is not Xiao Yeah what you want.

"No." Kozilek didn't even look at Sean, so he refused directly.

"Then you think of a way to put it away. You are such a child. It's not decent to drag such an epee." Xiao En felt a little helpless.

"Annoying." Kozilek is like a treasure.

But this time, Sean knew that Kozilek meant trouble instead of disgusting him.

"Well, if you put the sword away, I will buy you sweets after we enter the city for a while." Xiao En said helplessly.

Kozilek is obviously a fanatic who believes in the famous saying "silence is golden", and has never said more than two words in contact with Sean these days. Usually if Sean doesn't ask him, then he can stay silent all day—of course. Even if Joanna and Arkham asked him something, he was completely too lazy to respond. So even if Sean wants to understand Kozilek, it is completely a situation where a mouse can't do anything about it.

So in this kind of desperate situation, Sean only has to offer ordinary people's killer skills to deal with children.

But obviously, although Kozilek looks like a child physically, he is not a child psychologically.

He glanced at Sean diagonally and did not speak, but his contemptuous attitude was obvious.

This hurt Sean very much.

If he had a choice, he would rather have a guard like Noro who fights against him than a guard who is almost dumb like Kozilek. Because Sean has no idea what this guy wants to do. He will not trouble Sean, but will also cooperate with Sean appropriately, but there are only two points, no matter what Sean says, or even use "snap fingers". Kozilek completely ignored this kind of killer move.

The first is to let Kozilek say a few words.

His response to this was: "No."

Second, it was the situation where Kozilek wanted to put his weapons away.

His reaction is still: "No."

"As long as you are willing to put this weapon away, then I can meet one of your conditions when I look back." Sean thought for a while, and finally dispelled the idea of snapping his fingers. He found that this trick was completely useless against Kozilek, "Of course, yes. Within my abilities!"

"Meat."

"Meat?" Sean was taken aback. He found that talking to Kozilek was like a guessing conference, "Do you want to eat meat?"

Kozilek nodded: "Yes."

"No problem!" Sean was overjoyed. He was worried that Kozilek would make some terrifying requests, but if he just wanted to eat meat, then Sean wouldn't think it was anything. "We will enter the city in a while. After that, I can satisfy you immediately!"

"bake."

"Barbecue?" Sean asked again, "It's also okay!"

The staple food on the Marvel Continent is based on a variety of barbecues, because warriors need a lot of meat to supplement the body's nutrition, so if Kozilek just wants to eat barbecue, this is simply a condition that cannot be relaxed for Sean. .

"Okay." Kozilek saw that since Sean had agreed, he didn't say anything anymore, and directly raised his epee with his hand.

Soon, Sean saw a blue light pattern suddenly appeared on Kozilek's right wrist.

This blue light pattern quickly began to expand, from a diameter of about one decimeter to a radius of 30 cm.

With the expansion of the blue light pattern, Sean can also clearly see that this light pattern is somewhat similar to a circle, which is completely a circle formed by the blue light, except that it is painted on the plane of the circle. There are dense patterns.

Immediately afterwards, I saw a sudden shock in the space.

Vibrating ripples visible to the naked eye emerged in the air, and then this light pattern quickly extended to the direction of the epee, and a blue light pattern appeared every few centimeters until the entire epee was completely covered. However, the coverage of this light pattern is not a uniform size, but fluctuates with the width of the epee. The part is the largest. As for the tip of the sword, it also begins to shrink to a few centimeters in diameter.

When all the light patterns are completely covered, there is a dim light inside.

Then all the light patterns began to shrink back, but this time it was not with Kozilek's right wrist, but the * of his right hand. And with the contraction of the light pattern, this epee, which looked like a door panel, also began to disappear from Sean's vision, as if these light patterns were some kind of spatial mystery, this epee was hidden here. In a crack in space.

When all the apertures dissipated, Sean keenly discovered that Kozilek's right hand pointed out an extra blue ring.

After all this was done, Kozilek looked up at Sean again and said, "Meat."

"Okay, I know, we will enter the city now." Sean looked at Kozilek's behavior just now, his heart suddenly became a little more clear, but he was originally planning to meditate on it, but he did not expect to be urged by Kozilek. The sound awakened, which made Sean a little depressed.

"bake."

"I know, I know." Xiao En gave up, "We will go find barbecue when we enter the city, and eat until you are satisfied, let's go."

"Okay!" It is still the answer of cherishing words like gold.