

Lord of War Vol 3-391

Chapter 391: . Truth seeker isolated from the world

Overlooking the minaret, the full name is the minaret that overlooks all things, which means the place to pursue the truth. This is one of the reasons why the mage born in the observing minaret will be called "the follower of truth isolated in the world".

At the end of the twilight era, since Jibril raised the floating island and Solomon led the people to escape, the magicians on the entire continent almost disappeared in this world for a time. It wasn't until the middle of the Ash Age that another powerful magician was finally born, and this observing minaret was built-in a sense, the observing minaret is the first mage tower on the Marvel Continent. It was also from this time that the Observation Minaret began to continuously export mage talents for the entire Miracle Continent. It can be said that almost all the wizards walking outside on the entire continent at that time were born in Observation Minaret.

At the end of the Ash Age, with the death of the first owner of the Observation Minaret, the internal power structure began to generate new contradictions and disputes, and then gradually some magicians began to leave the Observation Minaret and start a new stove—strictly speaking, including Today's Wizards' Guild and the Northern Lonely Tower, including the powers formed by wizards, were all geniuses who looked at the spires.

Therefore, in that era, compared with the disappeared floating islands and Fort Solomon, people always liked to call it "the last remaining school hall in the world."

However, because of this reason, the influence of overlooking the minaret at that time can be said to be unprecedented, and the forces formed by other magicians are basically looking at the head of the minaret. It wasn't until the Observation Minaret was taken over by the seven great sages and also chose to escape from the world, that the Wizards' Guild and the Northern Lonely Tower had their early days.

However, in the eyes of the older generation of people in Miracle Continent, overlooking the minaret is still one of the four great temples in Miracle Continent.

But now, the only four temples left are [Overlooking the Minaret] and [Contemplation Hall], [Fudo Bridge Pier], which is famous for training fighters, and [White Walled City], which is famous for training military strategists. It has disappeared in history.

But it's a temple of contemplation. Now it has also been renamed the Temple of Wisdom.

This is another story.

is located on a mountain peak, where a middle-aged man stands.

The wind on the top of the mountain is extremely fierce, which can be seen from the pits and gullies everywhere on the ground-every gully is several meters deep, and these countless gullies criss-cross the peak. Make the whole peak look particularly terrifying. even. From time to time, a strong dark green wind can be seen falling from the sky, and then a new ditch is plowed fiercely on the ground, and countless fine gravel splashes out, just like a meteorite falling to the ground.

This mountain is called the Mountain of God's Fall.

It is rumored that when the gods were twilight, there was an ancient  with high divine power who fell here. He was the  who controlled the sky. And the divine power exploded because of his fall. It made the weather abnormal within a hundred miles from the top of the mountain of God's Meteorite. Even the entire mountain peak is a bare lonely mountain. No vegetation can grow here. Over time, there will be no signs of biological activity within a hundred miles of this mountain as the boundary.

In the field of vision that normal people can't see, there are countless strands of energy rising continuously from the Shenyue Mountain, and then converging at a position about 100 meters from the top of the mountain. The gathering of these energies made the sky of the entire God Meteorite mountain gather a group of strange clouds that could not be seen by the naked eye, covering a hundred miles, countless gang winds shot out from the clouds, bringing out even The air will be distorted by a deliberate flow.

If it is Cecilia, or Sean and others can climb to the top. Then they can see that these energies are actually the power of law.

The special wind formed by the law. It's no wonder that it can cause so much damage to the summit, even affecting the entire area.

This is also the reason why this God Meteorite Mountain will become a famous forbidden place in the Northern Principality Federation. Many strong men who tried to find the way to become a  have not only failed to find the place that can make them become gods. God's shortcut is to lose his lives here one after another.

If anyone could see the middle-aged man standing on the top of the peak at this time, he would be extremely surprised.

Because, no matter how violent these winds are, they can never pose any threat to the middle-aged man standing on the top of the peak.

A dark green air current-that is almost a rule that has been concretized and materialized, faintly has a rudimentary form of a certain field-falling from the sky, lasing towards the middle-aged man standing on the top of the mountain and looking into the distance to. But in the blink of an eye, the air currents from a hundred meters away have already approached the middle-aged man, but facing this group of powerful winds that threaten the lives of even the thirteenth-order legendary powerhouse, this name The middle-aged man remained indifferent, as if he hadn't seen the wind at all.

The next moment, there was no movement of the middle-aged man, and the green airflow completely dissipated in front of the middle-aged man.

But if you look closely, you can still see that a very slight ripple trace is slowly disappearing about one centimeter in front of the middle-aged man.

The middle-aged man's eyes have a kind of ancient vicissitudes, which does not seem to match his age, but combined with the unique temperament revealed by him standing on the top of the peak, it makes people feel very natural.

It seems that this middle-aged man should have such a vicissitudes of loneliness.

Those who are truly experienced and old know that there is only one person in this world who possesses this very unique and isolated temperament.

That's the magician who came from overlooking the steeple.

Only this group of "truth seekers isolated from the world" has this kind of transcendent and unique temperament that is not approachable-as if to confirm the phrase "isolated from the world".

Moreover, it is very simple to recognize the position of these truth seekers in the observing spire.

The more ill-spoken, calm face as if the whole world owes them tens of millions, completely lonely and lonely, the higher his status.

Identified from this, the middle-aged man standing on the top of the mountain in front of him is obviously of a very high status.

In fact, this middle-aged man is indeed an extremely detached existence looking at the spire.

Oscar Will Rodbab.

One of the seven sages overlooking the minaret, the director of the Hall of Fate, nicknamed "The Man of Destiny". He and the time and space lord Tasero and the shadow scholar Hymers are among the sages who have been sitting and gazing at the spire since they escaped from the world, and have never left the plane of the wonderland.

very few people know. Oscar is the leader among the seven sages - if it weren't for him back then, I'm afraid that looking at the minaret would not move the bridge piers and the back road of the white walled city, and be wiped out in this world. And only the other six sages who are in the same position as Oscar will know that the reason why Oscar is able to escape the fate of destruction of the Observation Spire is due to a special ability of him.

at this time. Oscar looked at the earth in the distance. His turquoise eyes quickly turned pale gold, and this gold was becoming more and more intense, until finally his eyes became completely golden - even the white part of his eyes glowed with golden light.

There seems to be a subtle resonance between heaven and earth.

The strands of the law's power constantly escaping from the God's Meteorite Mountain, at this time, no longer rose to the sky, but began to converge toward Oscar's body. This made Oscar no longer just confined his eyes to turning golden, and even the exposed skin began to glow with golden light. The whole person is like being plated with a layer of golden luster.

Even the violent wind that keeps falling in the sky. At this time, it seemed to have been suppressed, and it did not land as wildly and violently as before.

If Tasero and Haymes are there, then they will understand that Oscar has used his special abilities!

The vision of destiny!

They have seen Oscar use Vision of Destiny once, and the result of that time was that he changed from a young man in his twenties to an old man in his fifties. It was only the result of that time, but it also made the Observation Minaret avoid the same results as the immovable bridge piers and the white walled city. It was also that time that the only remaining seven great sages on the entire Miracle Continent joined hands and took control of the entire Observation Minaret. Top power.

and later. The other four great sages also followed Oscar's instructions and left the plane of Miracle Continent. Only the time and space lord Tasero and the shadow scholar Hymers remained. However, the last time someone from the Temple of Wisdom visited Tasero and jointly developed the teleportation magic circle, Tasero also followed Oscar's instructions and left the plane of the Marvel Continent a few months ago.

No one knows what Oscar is thinking.

At this moment, when Oscar borrowed the power of God's Meteorite Mountain to turn on the vision of destiny, in Oscar's vision, he no longer looked like this world, but saw countless lines crisscrossing this land. write.

The colors of the lines are red, blue, blue, black, purple, and even gold, silver, and orange. Basically all the colors that can be exported are presented.

So many line colors, it will only make people feel like messy mess.

However, Oscar is obviously used to it for a long time, I saw him staring at so many lines, and then gently spit out two words: "Destiny."

In an instant, except for the golden lines, all the other lines disappeared.

In Oscar's eyes, there are only seven golden lines left.

The origins of these golden lines are different. Some are located in the south, some are located in the east, and some are located in the west. One of the golden lines even extends from the feet of Oscar. Oscar, who was very familiar with the geography of the Northern Duchy, just glanced at the location of the other six golden lines, and he knew where these lines originated.

But it's not the many lines that really shocked him.

It is the seven golden lines, no matter how random they move, but in the end they all converge on one point.

It is this point that makes Oscar's heart seem to be tightly held, and even has the illusion of being pinched.

The rich and nauseating smell of blood, and the scarlet that gathered on the dots, completely submerged Oscar at this moment.

Chapter 392: Meet

Shaun glanced at Kozilek beside him reluctantly.

This little guy seems to be a bit too hungry, so much so that in the course of the past half a month, he personally hunted the monsters.

But if it was just this, it would not be enough to make Sean feel speechless.

What really makes Sean wonder what to say is that Kozilek is obviously not picky about food. All of the monsters he hunted were of a relatively large body, and it didn't matter what the meat quality was. Even some monsters whose meat was obviously too sour, but as long as they were big enough, Kozilek would also treat them. Bring it back.

Of course, in the last half month, Sean and Kozilek actually encountered some small troubles.

Sean didn't know who Kozilek killed in the first place, but judging from the fact that the opponent was a sanctuary powerhouse, he knew that the forces behind that person would never give up. Similarly, those mercenary groups that sent followers would naturally not just give up.

So in fact, there is still a small group of people starting from Martha City.

It's just that this time the strength of these people is obviously not weak, and they even formed a small team.

In this way, even Sean had to abandon the original plan, leave the Principality of Somalia directly, and enter the Principality of Hemadian by the road south.

In the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy, the Principality of Hemadian is not the strongest—in the thirty-six principalities, Hemadian's overall strength is only ranked ninth, but this principality has the most extensive of the Confederation of the Northern Duchy. territory. Moreover, the terrain in the Principality is mostly plain, so Hema Dien has the largest cavalry regiment in the Northern Confederation and a knight group with strength up to level 7 [Hema Knights], and there is also a regular soldier with a number of five. Thousands of riding steps combined with the special army [Dean Mobile Legion].

Hemation Principality is the eastern defense line guarding the Holy City of Marz, so this principality also has the special laurel of [East Wall].

If there is not only one high-ranking sanctuary powerhouse in this principality, Hema Dien can at least be among the top five.

In Hemadion, those groups of pursuers from Martha City. Obviously, I didn't dare to be too public.

Some things are things that both parties know well after all. If the trouble is too much, it will naturally not be of any benefit.

So, after Sean spent some extra money, he quickly threw off these people.

In fact. If it weren't for Kozilek's huge appetite for not being picky eaters all the way. It might not take so much time for Sean to get rid of those trackers. So now, whenever Kozilek has swallowed up several monsters, Shaun will always let this guy dig a pit and bury those bones. At least some tails should be cleaned up to avoid unnecessary trouble.

However, in the Principality of Hemadion, Sean did not dare to mess around.

Because this principality is not better than other principalities, they have a strong military power. And the whole Principality is very united. It is not once or twice in history that military forces are deployed to encircle the strong. With Sean's current strength, he naturally does not dare to blatantly make trouble here. After all, the sixth-level army can challenge the powerful in the lower sanctuary, not to mention Hema Dien uses the Hema Knights and Dean Mobile Legion to go. It is not once or twice to encircle the strong.

So unless Sean let go and let Kozilek kill him, if he is besieged, no matter how strong he is, he will not be able to escape.

After all, in this world, the military's deterrence to the general strong is still relatively high. Only when it rises to the level of the super strong will the military lose its deterrence.

And if not necessary. Sean really didn't want to expose Kozilek's hole card.

Furthermore, his current identity is not suitable for exposure here in the Northern Duchy.

Because no matter it is him. It was Kozilek, once exposed, then he would never be able to approach Emily again. This is not at all detrimental to Sean's plan for the saint. Before there is a real crisis that cannot be dealt with, Sean does not intend to ruin his plan.

"Are you finished?" Sean curled his lips and watched Kozilek dispose of almost three tons of Warcraft meat in just a few minutes.

These more than ten monsters are actually a small group of monsters, basically all of them are Level 6 monsters, even if Sean encounters them, they can only bypass it. However, Kozilek directly swiped his fist, and easily solved the group of monsters. It was just that Sean was bitter afterwards, and the meat of these monsters was too sour, so Sean gave up eating—he Would rather nibble dry food than eat these monster meat.

"Hungry." After Kozilek solved the beast meat, he dug a big hole very hard to bury all the bones.

Originally, he didn't want to do this, but Sean threatened not to help him barbecue, so after weighing it inwardly, Kozilek agreed to the exchange.

"Your appetite is more than you used to meet in Martha City." Sean frowned slightly, and his voice was a little low. "According to my previous calculations, you can at least eat a meal. Four points full."

"No." Kozilek shook his head.

Sean is a little confused.

No way, every time he talks with Kozilek, he must find a way to figure out the meaning of the other party's words.

"Do you mean something different with this'no'?"

Kozilek nodded and said nothing.

Sean thought for a while, and then asked tentatively: "Your appetite will get bigger and bigger?"

Kozilek tilted his head, and the index finger of his left hand pointed to his lower lip, showing a thoughtful look. After such a moment, he nodded again, and then thought about it again, but instinctively felt that there seemed to be a difference, but he seemed to feel that Sean's statement was indeed the same, so he emphasized again: " Um."

Shaun is really speechless this time.

In fact, he has discovered this for more than half a month.

Kozilek's food intake has completely increased exponentially. Basically, the daily food intake is now measured in tons. If it wasn't that he was not picky about eating at all, and he also had the idea of getting enough food and clothing on his own, if he caught what to eat, Sean would really not know how to feed this guy. But even so, when the little guy admitted that his appetite would be getting bigger and bigger, Sean was also a headache.

In fact, this is also because the communication between Sean and Kozilek was so difficult that he didn't know enough about Kozilek.

Kozilek's appetite is huge, but everything he swallows will be converted into his energy to ensure that his body functions are functioning normally. Of course, the amount of food Kozilek refers to actually includes his energy reserves, which allows him to retain enough combat power in some special circumstances, and even can be without food for several months. state.

Just because of language barriers, Sean did not know this, and naturally did not know that Kozilek was able to feed his stomach by devouring the fire of life.

If Sean knew, he would not throw away those trackers, but would feed them all as food to Kozilek.

"Then how full are you now?" Xiao En said helplessly.

Kozilek thought for a while and said, "Eight."

"That's okay, when I left Martha City before, I was only four points full. It seems that this half month is not in vain." Xiao En sighed.

Sean didn't know. In fact, Kozilek was already six points full after he dealt with Ren and the two monks. In the past half month and a half, after swallowing almost dozens of tons of monster meat, it only increased by two points again. If Sean were to know this, I am afraid he would only be more speechless, and he might feel that the system has given him a lot of money this time.

Kozilek tilted his head and thought about it seriously.

Shaun didn't doubt he had him, and only after Kozilek had finished eating, the two of them started on the road again.

Strictly speaking, it was Sean who led Kozilek to continue on the road. This guy had a habit of sleeping after he was full. If it is in the Void Principality, Sean would not bother to care about him, but the current environment is not very safe, and the time left for Sean is quite limited. He doesn't want to waste too much time on these insignificant things, think If you want to sleep, you have to wait until it gets dark.

However, Sean's abacus is good, but some accidents still happen.

Because they hadn't been on the road for a while, they met two people who were blocking the way.

This is a pair of young men and women.

The man has pale blond hair and a black coat on his body. From the clothing point of view, he looks a bit academy, but Sean has not been able to recognize the other's academy. And in Shaun's impression, there shouldn't be any academy in the Commonwealth of the Northern Principality—it's no better than the usual way of passing on from master to apprentice. You can learn.

By Sean's side, Cecilia and Simi under Asuna's are the magicians from the academy.

But compared to the handsome young man, the young woman next to her is obviously more eye-catching.

Of course, it's not that she looks so beautiful, but that her hair color is a color that Sean has never seen before.

The blue and red hair color seems a bit distinct—from above the shoulders is pure crimson, and below the shoulders is sea blue, it looks like a blazing flame on the sea, dazzling.

The clothes on the two people are similar, so Sean concludes that the two people are from the same place.

It's just that, because the identities of these two people were beyond recognition by Sean, he couldn't help but be slightly vigilant.

Chapter 393: .Andrew's Sleeping Place

It is Levi and Alyssa standing in front of Sean and Kozilek.

The expressions of the two at this time were slightly complicated.

Shaun didn't know the origins of these two people, only when the other party wanted to grab someone, it was still the old rules to protect Kozilek behind him, showing a look of guard.

His idea is very simple, it is not necessary to expose Kozilek without exposing Kozilek.

And little Kozilek, when he was stopped by Sean, he still showed half of his head, looking curiously at Levi and Alissa, his eyes blinked, his face was in line with the child's innocent curiosity.

In fact, Kozilek had recognized these two people a long time ago.

It's just that these two people are not hostile to him, so Kozilek didn't care too much. He wanted to find a chance to eat these two people as food, but Sean looked very closely along the way, so Kozilek didn't find any chance to start. Of course, the most important thing is that the two people did not show hostility, so Kozilek had a somewhat indifferent attitude. If he rushed over with a murderous look like Rennes, Kozilek would have eaten them and buried them.

And Levi and Alisha both looked very painful at this time.

It took several days for the two of them to finally catch up with Sean and Kozilek, but both of them are obviously very proficient in certain tracking secrets, so Sean did not find these two people. Instead, it was Kozilek. I found it-this guy was judged directly by the wave of life breath, a bit like a necromancer, so unless he can make life wave breath like a dead person, it is impossible to hide Kozilek.

After keeping up with Sean and Kozilek, the two of them took a lot of effort to finally confirm that the kid-like guy was the one who burst out that strong fateful aura before—if Kozilek's daily appetite was not too terrifying, Lai Wei and Alisha have not been able to find out yet.

This discovery made the two of them really shocked.

According to their understanding. A person with such a strong destiny aura must at least be a strong man of the generation that crisscrossed the Ash Age. Looking at Kozilek's appearance, it was completely different, and it was even impossible to say that the other party was probably underage. So the two dared not rush to implement a "saving plan", and could only follow Sean and Kozilek cautiously again. I plan to observe for a while.

en route. They even helped Kozilek secretly drive away the herd twice-this is one of the reasons why Kozilek did not kill the two people, otherwise the two would have been eaten by Kozilek as food.

But because of this, Levi and Alyssa found out that Sean was not kidnapped by Kozilek. Rather, it looks like Sean is raising Kozilek in captivity-they have never seen such a ridiculous thing, at least in their cognition, how could someone with such a tyrannical fate be kept in captivity? Unless this species does not belong to the wonderland. It is a visitor belonging to another plane. And it is very likely that they are still underage.

As a result, Levi and Alyssa decided not to follow in secret, but showed up.

"Mr. Andrew, we are not malicious." Levy looked at Sean with a vigilant look, and broke the silence first, "My name is Reinhardt, and everyone who knows me calls me Levy.... This time, We are looking for you on the order of our ancestors. We negotiated a deal with you."

"Andrew?" Sean was taken aback, somewhat inexplicable. "What are you calling me?"

"Andrew." It was Alisha who spoke this time, "Hello, I am Alisha, Levi's companion.... We came to the earth to look for you on the order of sister Jibril.... Sister Jibril said that she is willing to help you leave this plane, but only if you have to make a deal with her."

"I'm not Andrew..." Sean also looked blank.

But soon, his eyes suddenly opened, and he asked with a wrong face: "What is the name you just said?"

"Andrew..." Levi and Alisha looked at each other, then Levi spoke.

"No." Sean shook his head, "I mean... the ancestor in your mouth... is called Jibril? Jibril of the floating island?"

"Uh." Eliza didn't know what Shaun meant, but she nodded slightly, "Yes, she is the ancestor of our floating island, Jibril." At this point, Eliza and Levi were right. After taking a look, Alyssa continued to speak: "Levy and I are both from floating islands, entrusted by sister Jibril, came to the realm to find Andrew, that is, you... sister Jibril said, you know how to meet him."

"How..." Sean frowned. "I don't know why you think I am Andrew, but in fact... I am not Andrew, my name is Sean. Sean Connery, eh..." At this point, Sean's brows can't help but frown even more tightly, because the will of the world once told him that he must meet with Jibril in order to complete the handover task required by the people involved in the world, so at this time he is struggling to ask. Don't reveal your identity.

However, Levi and Alissa did not see the reason for Sean's entanglement. When they heard Sean say that they were not Andrew, their faces were shocked.

"Are you not Andrew?" Levi said in a daze. "It's impossible. Master Jibril gave us the breath that belongs to you. That's why we have been able to find you.... Originally, we thought you were caught I've been kidnapped, and I'm about to find a way to save you, but after following the secrets of the past few days, we found that it's not the same thing, so we chose to meet you here."

He does not mean that.

Shaun's heart was greatly shocked.

He didn't expect that he hadn't found the trace of these two men at all. This was a very dangerous thing for Sean. You know, a guy like Sean who offends people easily, if he is tracked but he fails to find the other person's trace, then he will be in a very dangerous environment, which means that the other person has at least 50% The above assassination success rate.

However, Sean glanced back at Kozilek, but saw that this guy hadn't reacted in any way, which made Sean's heart move: "Have you found them already?"

"Hmm." Kozilek nodded slightly.

"Why didn't you tell me?" Sean felt helpless.

Kozilek thought for a while. He wanted to tell Sean that they were not hostile and that they also helped him catch Warcraft, but it seemed troublesome to say such a long story. So he simply shook his head without saying a word. Sean knew about Kozilek's problem, and when he saw him shake his head slightly, he also knew that this guy must have trouble speaking and didn't want to talk, so he could only sigh helplessly.

looked back. Look at Levi and Alisha. After Sean hesitated for a while, he still said: "I am indeed not Andrew, but I know Andrew.... Maybe it is because Andrew and I are too close, so I have been infected with his breath, which makes you have Misunderstood."

"Mr. Andrew, we are not malicious." Levy still seems to be unbelieving. "You and Master Jibril also know each other. You should know whether what I just said is true or false.... This is indeed Master Jibril's account. of."

"Oh." Sean sighed. Some helplessly said, "I know Jibril for another reason, not because I am Andrew.... To be honest, I don't even know where Andrew is now. The only thing I know is that he fell into In a deep sleep, so..."

"You mean. Andrew fell asleep?" Levi's eyes suddenly faltered, and his expression on Sean changed slightly.

Shaun didn't quite understand. But he nodded and said, "Yes, he has been asleep for several years....Because of...something."

"I'm sorry, it's rude." Levi said suddenly.

Then before Sean could react, Sean felt that Levi's figure in front of him suddenly disappeared from his field of vision. When a subtle sense of astonishment had just risen in his heart, he subconsciously wanted to dodge, but a slight tingling sensation suddenly came from the position of his chest, which made him suddenly a little annoyed. However, in addition to the irritation, there was also a shock in his heart, because from this moment, he judged that Levi's strength was definitely at the level of the upper sanctuary.

Moreover, it's not a normal high-level sanctuary!

Because Sean can't capture the opponent's movement trajectory at all.

When Sean recovered, Levi had reappeared in the same place.

"What's going on?" Shaun's face showed a bit of sullen expression, he was also Jibril's nominal younger brother anyway, these two guys were sent by Jibril, and they didn't respect him so much, Xiao En is indeed a little annoyed. Of course, it was more speechless to Kozilek. This guy didn't even know how to stop him. If the other party wanted to kill himself, wouldn't it be successful just now?

As everyone knows, it is precisely because Levi has no hostility that Kozilek did not take action.

If these two people are hostile, how can Kozilek still let each other live to meet Sean.

Facing Sean's questioning, Levi's expression looked a little weird.

"What's wrong?" Seeing Levi's expression, Sean's heart didn't know why, and suddenly he slammed, as if he was thinking of something.

"Um... I think I need to tell you a fact." Levi and Alisa looked at each other. The latter obviously saw something wrong, so Levi nodded slightly before Levi spoke hesitantly. Said, "We believe that you are not Mr. Andrew, and the personal relationship with Mr. Andrew should be very good."

"What do you want to say?" Sean raised his brow.

"Mr. Andrew's sleeping place, do you know?" Alyssa saw Levi's hesitation, and knew that this guy didn't know how to speak, so she took the conversation and said plainly.

"I don't know." Sean shook his head slightly, but soon he realized a problem, "Do you mean..."

"Yes, the place where Mr. Andrew slept is in your body." Alisha said silently, "Strictly speaking, it is in a very special plane, but this plane's gap is Your soul acts as an anchor. So in the essential sense, it can also be said to be sleeping in your body.... But you can rest assured that this is not harmful to you. It is better to say that Mr. Andrew is very Trust your performance. Because if you die, then Mr. Andrew will die with you."

Hearing Alisha's words, Sean was a little dumbfounded.

Because in any case, he did not think that Andrew's sleeping place was actually in his own body, which really made Sean a little speechless. Only soon, he understood that this is actually a protective measure Andrew has taken to himself, because only in this way can the few less reliable guys under Andrew protect himself wholeheartedly, after all, if he dies. If so, then Andrew will be buried with him.

In this way, Sean instantly understood the reason for Hercules' previous sentence, "Andrew who caused him to fall into a deep sleep, and Beth and Enkos didn't tear themselves apart".

Chapter 394: .The Secret of the Silver Body

People have different interactions and different mentalities, so different ideas will naturally arise.

If the average person is used by Andrew as the anchor of the sleeping place, I am afraid they will definitely feel that they have been treated unfairly.

But Sean doesn't think so.

He knew very well that if there was no help from Andrew, the war with the Kingdom of Darbion would not know how long it would last. Even if the final result was that Ryan won, the price would have become very heavy. After all, it is completely impossible for a battle at the level of the Sanctuary powerhouse without loss. What's more, the Kingdom of Fascism was also watching around at that time, and even prepared to invade and fish in troubled waters.

In addition, because of the awakening of Cecilia's blood, the Millennium Covenant Empire also tried to take a share.

The combination of all these factors made Sean realize that at that time he was sometimes too whimsical.

So, he was very grateful for Andrew's help at that time.

Similarly, there is a feeling of guilt towards Andrew.

Because if it were not for Andrew's intervention, he would not fall into a deep sleep because of this, so as to avoid the oppression of the will of the world. After Sean became a world-bound person, the first thing he thought about was to find Andrew as soon as possible and help him escape the oppression of this world and find his way home.

At this time, I heard that Andrew was sleeping with his own soul as the anchor. Does this mean that it is very easy for him to wake up Andrew?

Sean thought of this, Dang Even immediately raised his own question.

Alyssa in the Floating Saint Academy, the elective course is magic, which is different from Levi's kendo, so she is naturally responsible for Shaun's answer.

She thought about it for a while, and then nodded and replied: "If you didn't know before, it was indeed impossible to contact Andrew. But now that you know. You can contact Andrew through your own soul, so from On the one hand, you do have a certain chance of awakening Andrew.... It's just..."

"Just what?" Sean asked.

"It's just that, according to what you said before, Andrew's slumber is an active form. But its essence is caused by external oppression. Therefore, if you awaken it rashly, I can't be sure what will happen. "Alyssa thought for a while, and decided to tell the truth, "According to the normal situation, Mr. Andrew must have set some special wake-up measures. If it is awakened in this way, then there will be no Unnecessary troubles and accidents."

Hear what Eliza said. Sean frowned and thought seriously.

But no matter how Sean thinks. He didn't realize that Andrew had left him any reminder, which made him look a little bit distressed. However, after Eliza's guidance, when Sean calmed down and felt it silently, he did find a very subtle connection in his soul, and following this connection, he did see a gap in it. The coffin in the middle.

This is a black coffin.

The coffin is embossed with a giant dragon with teeth and claws. It looks as if the entire coffin is a mini dragon.

This coffin is suspended in mid-air, surrounded by a dark background.

That is the real darkness of pure color, without any starlight back. It seems like a black hole can completely swallow all the light. But the most subtle thing is clearly in this place where even light can't exist. The black coffin was extremely clear, and Sean could even see all the textures on the coffin, as if the coffin was right in front of his own eyes.

And around this dark environment, there are two tear marks like canine teeth cracks, as if someone tore a space with great force.

This crack is just enough to allow the coffin to pass through.

Suddenly, Sean felt dizzy.

He knew that this was a problem caused by excessive mental energy consumption.

When he came back to his senses, the expressions of Sean looking at Levi and Alisha seemed a little complicated.

Similarly, Levi and Alyssa are facing Sean at this time, and their faces are slightly complicated.

Only Kozilek was still in a dazed and ignorant look.

Sean naturally knew what was the reason for these two guys showing this complex look, nothing more than finally found the target, but found that the target was actually shot outside, and the mood was naturally a little frustrated. However, seeing that the two of them were not hostile, and they were sent by their sister in name, Sean also said, "Although I don't know how to wake up Andrew now, I can't help but represent No one else can."

"Oh?" Levi's face immediately showed joy, "Who is it?"

"Andrew's followers." Sean said, "But I can't contact them for a short time. I have used up a special item that can contact them immediately. Now I can only wait for the other party to contact me."

"Okay..." Alisha didn't know what to say at this time. She and Levi looked at each other before speaking again, "Then excuse me, when you see Andrew, please be sure Tell him, Master Jibril is looking for him and wants him to make a deal."

"I see." Sean nodded.

"We have some other things to deal with, so everything will get rid of Your Excellency Sean." Alyssa saw that the matter was settled at this time, so she said goodbye.

"Wait." Just as the two were about to turn and leave, Sean suddenly said, "Do you know how to find Jibril?"

Hearing Sean's words, Levi's brows suddenly raised.

He hadn't thought much about Andrew's business before. Hearing what Sean said, Levi recalled it again, and suddenly realized a problem: They had never said that they were from a floating island before. On the contrary, after Sean heard the name Jibril, he immediately knew that they were from the floating island. This discovery immediately caused Levi's brows to frown, because the floating island has been disconnected from the earth boundary since it was lifted off at the end of the twilight era. I don't know the origin of their ancestors.

So. Why would Sean know?

Seeing Levi's expression sharpened, how could Sean not know what Levi was thinking.

So after he coughed slightly, he said, "Jibril... is my sister. I know she is on the floating island, but I have not been able to find the way to the floating island. So..."

Hear what Shaun said. The expressions of Levi and Alyssa changed drastically in an instant.

Others may not believe Shaun's words, but when Levi and Eliza left the floating island, Jibril had one thing especially instructed, that is, to look for intelligent creatures favored by the will of the world. At this time, Sean seemed to be pampered by the will of the world, let alone say, but it was definitely an intelligent creature, and obviously it had something to do with Jibril. Otherwise, I wouldn't know what kind of person Jibril is.

In fact. Even the people on the floating island only know that Jibril is the owner of the Jibril library on the floating island. But in fact, no one has ever seen the owner of this library, let alone know that this person is the real master of the entire floating island-the name of the floating library is the name of the outside world for the floating island. By definition, people who were born and raised on floating islands like Levi are generally self-proclaimed floating islanders.

As for Levi and Alisa, it is precisely because they had the chance to meet Jibril before. Therefore, she could remember her deeds and name, otherwise it would be impossible to remember the name of the ruler of the entire floating island.

Based on these various reasons. So Levi and Alyssa didn't believe it anymore.

In fact, even if the two really don't believe it, it doesn't matter.

As long as Sean is brought back to Jibril, then if Sean is really just a liar, Jibril will definitely not let him go. But at this moment, the two people don't think that Sean is a liar, mainly because Sean still has the anchor set by Andrew's Sleeping Place, and there is also a terrible existence around him with an extremely powerful aura of destiny. Levi feels that these are all signs of the will of the world.

"Master Shaun." Levy's tone changed suddenly, "The way back is not something that can be solved in a short while. We must first set up a long-distance teleportation magic circle, but the transmission of this kind of magic circle is practical. There is a certain degree of harm to the body, so there is a prerequisite, that is, you must have a certain strength and quality of the body. This is one of the reasons why the two of us will be sent to the land boundary."

"A certain strength of flesh?" Sean was taken aback.

"Yes." Levi nodded, "We call this kind of body with high resistance to pressure the body of silver.... In fact, the body of silver is also necessary for the sanctuary powerhouse to attack the legendary realm. The hardness of the body is the same as that for a strong golden realm to become a strong sanctuary, the body must be tempered to the level of a bronze body.... So even if Lord Shaun said you want to see Lord Jibril, but..."

Levy didn't say everything to death, but the implication is already very obvious, that is, Sean must have the physical fitness of a silver body.

Since Sean is only at the level of a quasi-sanctuary now, in Levy's view, it is also the strength of a bronze body.

After all, the body of silver is not so easy to obtain, even in a place with a unique and special environment like the floating island, not everyone can have a body of silver before the legend. Even many floating islanders have been unable to reach the level of a silver body in their entire lives because of their physical strength, and cannot tolerate the birth of a second heart. Therefore, they are stuck at the threshold of the upper sanctuary and can only look at the legendary door. And sigh.

Levy and Alyssa will be selected as representatives of the land boundary because they have very strong potential.

Although the two are already high-ranking sanctuary, they have already obtained the silver body before stepping into the sanctuary, so it is tantamount to completely paving all the limitations of the road to legendary achievement. In the three stages of the lower sanctuary, the middle sanctuary, and the upper sanctuary, in addition to comprehending and proficient in the laws, other people must also sublimate their bodies through various other methods to transform the bronze body. Into the body of silver.

Furthermore, after obtaining the body of silver, they may not be able to be stable, because they must also accumulate enough energy to give birth to a second heart in the body before they can truly become legendary powerhouses.

But many legendary powerhouses who already have silver bodies, because of the approaching end of life, the energy accumulation speed is too slow, and ultimately they are unable to achieve legends.

So, the sooner you can get the body of silver, the higher your future achievements will naturally be.

Basically, the bronze body can be refined and sublimated to the silver body before the upper sanctuary, and it is expected to break through the door of legend. If the silver body is not ready to take shape after stepping into the upper sanctuary, then the hope of breaking through the legendary gate will never exceed 50%. As for those who want to become super strong, they need to pay even more effort, at least they have to obtain a silver body before the middle sanctuary to hope to become a super strong.

Of course, those who have blood and the power of awakening blood have a relatively easy path to growth.

Levi and Alyssa, when they were in the lower sanctuary, they upgraded the bronze body to the silver body, and then continued to accumulate their strength in the two stages of the middle sanctuary and the upper sanctuary, and now the second heart Has been born, becoming a legendary powerhouse is just around the corner.

Chapter 395: The darling of the will of the world

"You can rest assured that I have a silver body now." Xiao En said, "So what you said about teleportation is not a problem."

Hearing Sean's words, Levi and Alissa were taken aback again.

Before this, they could feel that the blood qi in Sean was slightly stronger than the average person, but they didn't guess about the silver body.

In fact, the earlier you get the body of silver, the greater the benefits, and the stronger the law that can be exerted, far more than just what Levi said before. Of course, there are things that Levi does not know about. After all, even people on the floating island have never seen anyone who can obtain a silver body in the realm of quasi-sanctuary. Geniuses such as Levi and Alyssa are also there. The stage of the lower sanctuary was successfully refined, so there was a multiplier accumulation of the middle sanctuary and the upper sanctuary period.

It was hard for the two of them to imagine what it would be like if Shaun succeeded in stepping into the realm of the sanctuary.

There is no record of these in history.

Of course, no record in history does not mean that it did not appear.

The real strong man of the older generation, who didn't temper a silver body before stepping into the sanctuary. It's just that in that era when resources are still extremely abundant, even if you can't exercise a silver body in one breath, you can still achieve a silver body through the action of external forces.

This is also the real reason why there were countless super powers and demigods before the Age of Ashes.

It is a pity that the over-exploitation of various resources has made it difficult for non-geniuses or people with strong bloodlines on the Marvel Continent to become super strong.

As for the legendary powerhouse, looking at the scale of the entire Miracle Continent is indeed not small, but more than 90% of them are unable to become a super powerhouse, let alone a sequence that is stronger than the super powerhouse.

Sean had a silver body before he became a sanctuary, which means that his road to break through the legend in the future is already on the ground. Coupled with the power of blood that others don't know. Sean's future is destined to exist at the super power level, but how long it will take is unknown.

Levy and Alyssa don't know the specific situation of Sean, but they know very well that obtaining a silver body is not a simple matter. So if this is not a mark of the will of the world, the two of them can't understand what can be regarded as a mark of the will of the world.

"Master Shaun. If this is the case. That would be great!" Levi knew very well that what Jibril said at the beginning was very clear. They can put aside everything on their hands and must protect this "world will". "My darling", "At the moment we can't find a way back, but you can rest assured that we will find a solution soon.... But before that. Please allow us to follow you. Just in case of accidents. ."

For Levy and Alisa's request, Sean naturally couldn't ask for it.

Who would think that there are few strong people around him?

The situation facing the Void Principality is nothing more than two problems: the number of top powers is too small, and the second is that the military strength can't keep up with the mainstream level.

However, after Kozilek appeared, Shaun's Void Principality can also be said to be a legendary town powerhouse-Shaun even guessed that if he can successfully step into the realm of the sanctuary, maybe Kozilek can become a super powerhouse. At that time, the Void Principality will not talk about the strength of the army. At the very least, it can be ascended to the level of a super-class kingdom. As for the strength of the military, this is indeed a bit helpless. After all, this is a water mill. Without long training and combat experience, it is absolutely impossible to create a real power team.

Of course, there are no shortcuts.

A large-scale war equivalent to the national war level is enough.

In the war with the Kingdom of Darbion, the biggest gain among the three battlefields was naturally Sean's Void Principality. Nearly six fourth-level armies were born, and other armies have also improved in different levels. After the training and the blood-flag revenge war, the Thunder Lion, Iron Wings, and Cecilia's Guards officially became the fifth-level legion. Together with the Silverside Legion and the Conviction Wings, the Void Duchy now has five fifth-level legions.

The Scarlet Knights are at the level of the quasi-fifth level legion, and they are not far from the real level five.

In addition, the Infantry Cavalry Regiment, the First Cavalry Regiment, the First Infantry Regiment, the Second Infantry Regiment, the Dark Wings, and the Wild Regiment are all at the level of the fourth-level army.

These eleven legions are now the main force of the entire void duchy-of course, like the Thunder Lion, the Iron Wings, and the Cecilia Guards. This must be the combat power of the first echelon; the Scarlet Knights, the Infantry Cavalry. , The First Cavalry Regiment, the First and Second Infantry Regiments, and the Wild Regiment are the forces of the second echelon. As for the two fifth-tier armies, the Wings of Conviction and the Silver Temple Legion, they are considered to be cards-like existence, and they will not be easily used if they are not necessary.

On the contrary, it has dark wings, because the number has not been expanded. Although it has the level of a four-level army, it is generally only used as a guard regiment and will not be used on the frontal battlefield. Although William has said several times that the army will be expanded, Sean is also very clear that once a large-scale army expansion is carried out, the jet black wings cannot maintain the level of the fourth-level army and will definitely be demoted.

Furthermore, the Void Principality still has a big military flaw that has not been resolved so far.

That is, with the exception of the Thunder Lion, Iron Wings, and Silver Sideburns in the event of serious battle damage, they can be quickly replenished to maintain their inherent combat strength. Once the other troops have more than half of the casualties, not to mention whether the recruitment of troops is easy, even if they can. Supplemented by the source of troops, the level of combat power will inevitably decline.

The lack of reserve forces is always an unsolved problem.

The cause of this factor, after all, is because the time for the establishment of the Void Principality is too short, and the limitations of the territory are too large. There are too many constraints to the development of reserve forces, especially after raising the blood flag for revenge, other territories bordering the Void Principality have been blocked, and it is more difficult for the refugees to enter the Void Principality than before. many.

In addition, after the fallout with the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce alliance, the refusal of Shaun's Void Principality to purchase slaves was also an important factor.

Levy and Alyssa are the top powerhouses in the upper sanctuary, and their personal strength is naturally beyond doubt.

With the participation of these two people, no matter whether they can be deceived back to the Void Principality in the end, but in the territory of the Northern Principality Federation, unless it is the Church of God of War, Sean feels that he can really go sideways. .

Of course, if you can not reveal your identity, it is the best.

Shaun doesn't want to give up his saintly plan.

Especially after having a conversation with the Will of the World, Sean is more aware of the value of the True Eye.

So, the two sides soon became a little embarrassed.

However, for Levi and Alisa, Sean is naturally unable to have unreserved trust. Therefore, Sean's answer naturally has reservations about the two people's inquiries about the next itinerary. Just tell the two that he is going to the northern solitary tower, wanting to buy a special potion that can cover the potential explosion of the bloodline awakening, and also want to inquire about the location of the overlooking spire.

As for Levi and Alisha, their original missions were four: find Andrew, investigate the Empire of St. Joles, warn Edward, and protect the darling of the world's will. At this time, they have completed two of the four missions. As for the warning to the demon, they can complete it by the way if they can encounter it. It doesn't matter if they can't encounter it. On the contrary, investigating the Saint-Joles Empire made them feel that There is probably little hope of completion.

At the very least, they have to send Sean back to the floating island before they have a chance to complete this task.

After all, Jibril made it very clear that they must give priority to ensuring the safety of "the darling of the world's will".

So, the group of four did not stop much, and after a brief understanding of each other, they continued to move towards the destination of the trip.

Sean was a lot more cautious this time. After all, there was a disturbance in Martha City before, so he would no longer take Kozilek to eat everywhere. He found that the customs of the Northern Principality Federation were much more combative than he had imagined. The people here always looked a little unusual to Sean.

In fact, he did not imagine that Marz, the  of war, was a true combative god. The entire Northern Principality Federation believed in this combative god, and its folk customs could not be simple. The most common way to solve problems here is to fight and duel. Most of the time, guards such as keeping the law and order are just decorations-or, in other words, a symbol of power for those in power.

Adroan, is a large city located in Hemadion.

This is a city in the realm of the Marquis of Strength Woody Wyrian, and it is also the base camp of the entire Wyrian family.

As one of the three powerful cadres under the command of Grand Duke Hemadeen, Woody not only has reached the mid-level sanctuary in his own strength, but he is also an outstanding military strategist. The private army regiment [Wyer'an Cavalry Regiment] is An army of level six strength. Because of the special geographical environment of the Principality of Hemadion, the Wyrian Cavalry Regiment is naturally very good at cavalry warfare. A multi-functional army.

To put it simply, it is the enhanced version of the Cecilia Guards.

Siege warfare, cavalry warfare, infantry warfare, positional warfare, latent warfare, etc., all are fine.

It is only limited by the level of armaments and a lot of effort has been spent in many combat areas, which made this army unable to become a seventh-level army.

In fact, most real high-level troops are actually more focused on one or two combat areas.

But anyway, the existence of the Wail'an Cavalry Group really allows the city of Adroan to enjoy true peace.

Even Xiao En did not dare to be presumptuous in this city, even if he was surrounded by two high-ranking sanctuary powerhouses and a legendary peak powerhouse.

Chapter 396: .Depressed Christina

Kristina rubbed her eyebrows with fatigue.

She has been chasing down a lonely demon who has entered the material world for more than half a year, and finally killed it completely a few days ago. But then it was discovered that the demon code carried by this demon was not in its hands, and she didn't know where it was hidden. This meant that her mission was only half completed.

According to the original plan, after making this transaction with Sean, she immediately contacted her boss non-stop, and then organized personnel to enter the Northern Duchy Federation, and implemented the most severe and deadly action against the once again rising Medusa Chamber of Commerce. Blow. This time, not only successfully smashed the gate of the devil that was ready to open, but also wiped out all the demon believers, which can be said to be a real eradication.

But unfortunately.

The three most treasures of the Medusa Chamber of Commerce: The Book of Devil, the Code of Devil, and the Demon Fang, but they only recovered the Devil's Fang and the Demon Book.

In fact, they did not retrieve the Book of Devil from the Medusa Chamber of Commerce, but don't know which wicked ghost sold this book to the Demon's Tower Chamber of Commerce, so the Demon's Tower Chamber of Commerce relied on this book at the Oasis Silver Star Festival auction. There was a lot of limelight on the market-it is said that its final transaction price was as high as 10 million pan-continental gold coins. To this end, the Peace Council had to spend more than 10 million funds, plus a certain amount of force to deter, finally reacquired the book of the devil.

Of course, the Book of Devil and Demon Fang were taken by the Peace Council, and they naturally sealed them completely by secret means.

Because everyone knows that this kind of thing contaminated with the power of the devil is not so easy to destroy.

And those demons from the abyss plane have a peculiar induction power with these demon items. If they are disposed of at will, the demon believers will re-sensing the location of these items from the hands of those demon and recover them. Therefore, whether it is the Peace Council or the people of other churches. Once these objects with demon power are recovered, they will be sealed by special means to isolate them from the demon's induction.

Christina, as the fastest-promoted person in the Peace Parliament, many people in the Parliament are optimistic about her future. She is even ready to let her lead the team alone to perform some more special and secret tasks.

is also because of this. So Kristina naturally knew that: killing the single demon that escaped and recovering the demon code is her test.

If passed, then she can become one of the few silver-robed executives with the right to lead the team in Harmonious Tianping.

According to the class classification of Harmonious Tianping, although the executive chief of Yinpao and the executive officer of Yinpao are in the same class, the executive officer of Yinpao has no right to lead the team, that is, the general task is to fight alone. Moreover, he must obey all dispatch orders from his superiors. But the chief executive officer of Yinpao is different. Its administrative level is one level higher than that of Yinpao executives, and its status is equivalent to that of Jinpao executives, who can order and command Yinpao executives, white-robed executives, and other arbitrators whose administrative levels are lower than themselves.

And once you can become the chief executive officer of Yinpao, your future promotion status will inevitably be chief executive officer of Jinpao.

Promoting from Yinpao CEO to Jinpao CEO, but it is much easier than from Jinpao Executive Officer to Jinpao CEO.

Can't help Kristina not be tempted.

But now, Christina looks a little depressed.

She did not complete this mission very well, because the most important demon code could not be brought back. However, there is still some time to be rich at this time, so it is not the last moment. She didn't want to give up so easily, so she thought about this chase process very seriously. Where are the places that I have neglected.

I didn't think about it, but I don't know. After thinking about it seriously at this time, Christina was surprised to find that she had lost the target more than ten times during the pursuit, the longest of which was even more than five days. No target news. It was because the target showed signs of injury later that he was caught up with clues. If it was a more powerful or more cautious and cunning demon, I am afraid she would really be lost.

This discovery made Christine, you deeply realize that your strength still has great shortcomings.

So, Christina, who was more careful and cautious, adopted the old method and began a carpet search in these places where she lost her target.

Adroan, is where he lost his target for more than five days.

Here is also the place where Christina focuses on care.

She has been here for five days, but she has only checked one-third of the suspicious areas. In a big city, it is naturally impossible to say that a thorough inspection will be completed in a few days. What's more, there are surrounding areas, especially the demon who has been missing here for more than five days. If there is no servant of that demon in this city. Christina would not believe it anyway.

So, when she started investigating in this city, she naturally showed a very aggressive aura.

This can't be blamed on Christina's unkindness.

The Peace Council naturally knows that there are many places where dirt and dirt are hidden in this world. Although they take "peace as their responsibility", they are very clear that it is impossible to completely eradicate all darkness, so as long as they don't provoke them In general, they rarely deal with these problems. Only when faced with two principled issues, the Peace Parliament will show its astonishing unending momentum.

The first question of principle is naturally all behaviors related to death thorns.

The second question of principle is naturally dealing with the issue of heretics.

There are demon servants to assist the demon in hiding, which has violated the principled bottom line of the Peace Council, so Kristina will naturally not be merciful.

Therefore, when Kristina showed a violent side in Adroan, Woody Wyrian, the lord of the city of Adroan, the current patriarch of the Wyrian family, and the regiment of the Wyrian Cavalry Corps Long, the Marquis of strength of the Northern Duchy Federation naturally also received a number of reports about Christina.

And Christina is also worthy of this title from a lunatic organization.

In just five days, she made a total of 23 shots before and after, wounding and killing more than 40 people. However, it did allow him to catch a few people related to Deaththorn, which is probably a surprise.

Kristina's arrogant behavior, after changing someone else, Woody had already directly cleaned up the other person. After all, Adroan is the stronghold and political center of the Wyrian family. How can outsiders be allowed to be presumptuous here? Who dares to make trouble here. That was simply a naked provocation and face slap to the entire Wyrian family, especially his marquis of strength. This kind of behavior is especially prone to cause large-scale conflicts in the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy. After all, the people of the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy most admire martial arts.

The weak will never make their first day.

But Christina's body. But it is dressed in the garb of the Peace Parliament from the most neurotic organization on the mainland.

If you dare to provoke or provoke this group of lunatics. Then it must have very serious consequences.

So, when Woody Wyrian received this report document, his expression was particularly painful and helpless. Especially, as the most trusted confidant of the Principality of Hemadion, he knows much more than the average person, and he naturally knows that this time it is a more powerful Peace Parliament lunatic leading the Principality. Its purpose It is to completely wipe out the heretics.

At this time. If he dares to block Kristina's inspection work for some face issues-especially if Kristina is really allowed to find a few deadly members in Adroan. Woody knew with his toes that there would definitely be a large number of lunatics swarming into the city to make trouble for him. At that time, even Grand Duke Hemadion, I am afraid it will be difficult to keep him.

So after weighing the pros and cons, Woody decided to close one eye and ignore the silver-robed executive.

Of course, in private, some people are still sent to help wipe the buttocks, so as to avoid these lunatics who run out of the neuropathic organization from unkindly messing around. It makes people think that the Wyrian family are all scammers.

So these days, the city of Adroan has actually entered a state of turmoil. Even the teleportation magic circle was completely shut down at Kristina's strong request. However, it has to be said that the security of Adroan City has indeed reached a peak state in the past few days, and it can almost be said that it is very safe not to close the house at night.

However, Woody also knows that this is not a long-term solution, and the public grievances have also faintly increased. Before Christina's thorough inspection is completed, Adroan City is now in a state where only entry is allowed and no leaving is allowed. . Many caravans originally only intended to enter the city for supplies, but they were detained after entering the city. The loss of profit in this area is not negligible, and even many mercenaries and adventurers are stranded here.

They didn't dare to trouble Kristina, but it was their habit to work together to put pressure on Woody.

This is where Woody Wyrian has a headache.

For this, he also had to come forward to negotiate with Christina.

But Christina's attitude is unusually tough, that is, she resolutely does not allow anyone to leave easily.

Based on this problem, the two sides naturally can't agree at all.

Fortunately, both sides restrained each other's anger, but it did not cause any greater contradictions and conflicts.

Considering the status of both sides, Kristina finally made some concessions.

Mercenaries and adventurers, after being guaranteed by the guarantor and a series of strict inspections, they can naturally leave. As for the caravan, it's still difficult to talk about it for the time being. After all, the business of merchants is the most filthy and filthy-the facts have indeed proved that most of the infidels and criminals are backed by the Chamber of Commerce. The scale of the caravan is so big, it is not difficult to get caught in troubled waters.

Therefore, the caravan is not allowed to leave until the most appropriate solution is thought of.

Woody also knows that this is Christina's biggest concession, so he can only temporarily agree.

This is probably the first time that the two sides have truly reached a consensus.

After the preliminary results of today's negotiations, Christina no longer wastes time, and simply left the City Lord's Mansion and walked towards the East City Gate.

In fact, her heart is still very annoyed at this time, because she has been here for two consecutive days, and she has to come here every day to negotiate with Woody. However, it is impossible to negotiate a good result at all. Instead, most of the time is wasted every time. For Christina, this is naturally regarded as an interference with her work. It is only strange if she is in a good mood. .

Of course, Christina also knows that the positions of the two sides are different, and the things that need to be considered are also different. And now the Peace Council is not the behemoth that was enough to make all countries and organizations bow their heads. At least after countless painful lessons, Christina finally learned to give in. So if it is not necessary, Christina certainly does not want to offend Woody. Wyrian, a young and promising man with a bright future.

It's just that this matter is important, so Christina has to deal with it carefully.

But now, Christina finally feels that it is a bit difficult to deal with the facts with her own strength, because she began to feel that things are gradually out of her control. It's just that she still doesn't know whether this is because of the conflict caused by the interests of many people, or is it because the heretics feel that things are dangerous and tricky, so they take this opportunity to put pressure on them and try to fish in troubled waters.

Kristina is thinking, is she going to ask for help?

She knew that once she asked for help, her assessment would definitely disappoint the people above.

But as a member of the Peace Council, she also has her own devout beliefs.

At least under the important premise of "maintaining world peace", all personal interests must give way. It is impossible for her to become the chief executive officer of Yinpao, and as a result, the remnants who may be infidels fled the city, leaving the Medusa Chamber of Commerce once again with the flames of revival—this shame is the same for the Peace Council. It is unforgettable. After all, if they hadn't completely wiped out the roots of the Medusa Chamber of Commerce for the first time, how could there be today's troubles?

At the East City Gate, Kristina is going to continue the task from the half of the inspection yesterday-in fact, this kind of carpet search is a very dumb behavior, but Kristina has no experience in this area, so she Can only use this stupid method to find clues. Of course, she is still very confident about her memory, as long as she conducts the inspection in person, if there is any abnormality in this place, she will be able to find out for the first time.

However, when she first came here, she was completely stunned when she looked at the few people who were about to enter the city.

Chapter 397: . Sean's Stagnation

"Why is this guy here!?" Seeing the situation at the gate, Kristina's face showed a look of confusion and shock.

However, she is also a simple and neat lord, seeing the situation at the gate of the city, Dang Even ran directly towards the gate.

The people who entered the city are not other people, they are Sean, Kozilek, Levi and Alyssa.

Adroan is the terminal of Sean's action plan this time. Here he will use the teleportation magic circle to directly teleport over a long distance, striving to reach the northern solitary tower in the shortest possible time, because he has no extra time. wasted.

On the way to Adroan, Sean naturally also had contact with several caravans.

From the mouth of these caravans, Sean learned that Emily had indeed suffered an assassination. Although I don't know the specific actions, according to the news from the caravan's mouth, it can hardly be called an assassination, but a naked assassination. Two-thirds of his troops were lost, and even the twelve God of War knights around Emily died of seven or eight people, and Emily herself suffered a lot of injuries.

At the last moment, it was the foreshadowing left by Sean-the powerful Earl from Hecarom, Anton personally led a troop to arrive, and finally repelled these assassins.

All the assassins, after the failure of the action plan, did not have any life left-not to say that no prisoners were caught, but these people were obviously prepared for sacrifice long ago. Everyone had prepared poison in advance. As a result, immediately after being captured, he swallowed poison and committed suicide. To some extent, this approach is very similar to the practice of the Priory, the Temple of Shadows, and the Assassin Alliance.

But in the Northern Principality Federation, it is impossible for the Temple of Shadows to infiltrate, so the biggest suspicion falls on the Assassin Alliance and the Priory.

Sean did not expect that the other party was so courageous. In order to remove Emily, he joined forces with other forces. In fact, although Sean expected that the other party might send some loyal confidants to join other people, he never expected such a big battle. It's not generally light anymore.

Because of this, Sean was a little worried about Emily's safety at this time.

He doesn't want things to happen until now. Have to re-select a saint spokesperson. Of course the most important. It's Emily who hides the secret of the  stealer. If this secret is discovered, maybe he will become a public enemy of the entire continent-even if he has a good relationship with Aswinter, this Bingxue Goddess and Winter will definitely not protect her, after all, Sean now has the ability to threaten her.

For various purposes, Sean also had to speed up the pace of his journey and immediately rushed to Adroan.

If you let Sean know. Adroan has implemented military control. And if the teleportation magic circle is closed, Sean will definitely not enter here. At this point, I have to admire Woody Wyrian's very clever means. The control of the entire city of Adroan has reached an astonishing level. It is actually able to completely block the entire city's external intelligence information, so that no one knows today. The city of Adroan is already closed.

After entering the city, Xiao En's brows couldn't help but frowned.

Although he has never been to the city of Adroan in the future, but for this heavy city known as the "first line of defense on the east wall". Naturally, it is also heard.

At least, in the information that Sean heard. This city should be very prosperous, and the daily flow of people in and out should be no less than 10,000 units. Although there will be a large number of guards patrolling and maintaining law and order on the streets, the entire city will still show an indescribable vitality. This vitality is the true expression of the four words "prosperous" in this heavy city. .

But now.

The streets that Sean saw were still crowded, and there were all kinds of shouts of business, but the feeling to Sean did not seem to be full of energy, on the contrary, it showed a sense of lifelessness. Looks like. It was as if there was a powerful shadow hovering in Adroan, and the people here were a little out of breath, everyone seemed worried and panicked.

Moreover, a large number of patrolling guards can be seen everywhere in the streets of the city.

Especially some important road junctions, there are corresponding checkpoints and defense fortresses arranged, and the whole city seems to be arranged into a huge defense cobweb. As long as there is a problem in any place, the surrounding area can be supported by hundreds of soldiers at the first time, and through the arrangement of the defense fort, it is also a defensive structure that can be attacked and defended. It is impossible to break through easily. Things.

After all, Sean is a person who has really experienced battlefield conquests, so once he sees this arrangement, he will never know the situation of Adroan's entry into military control.

He immediately felt a toothache plus egg pain.

According to the current "Transport Magic Array Convention" in Marvel Continent, if a city enters a state of military control, the teleportation magic array will be closed as soon as possible. And the closure of a teleportation magic circle is equivalent to interrupting all the functions of teleportation magic circle in the area formed by the node-in other words, if the teleportation network carried out by someone's teleport destination has to pass through the Adrian City If you send the magic circle node, then the transfer will fail, and the other party must detour or re-select the target of the transfer.

Sean began to wonder if he had used up all his luck after obtaining the silver body.

First, he caused a lot of trouble in Martha City, which caused him to make a new plan to move forward. As a result, I didn't expect that after half a month's journey, I discovered that the target city I originally planned had actually entered a state of martial law under military control, which meant that the teleportation magic arrays in the surrounding four or five cities were completely interrupted. If Sean wants to use the teleportation magic circle, I'm afraid he can only continue northward.

This fact made Sean curse fiercely.

"Let's go." Sean waved his hand, Dang Even turned and left.

"Go?" Levi was taken aback, "Where are we going? Didn't we just enter the city?"

"There is no way, military control is carried out here, the teleportation magic circle is closed, we can only go to other cities." Xiao En said helplessly, "Let's go. Taking advantage of the early days, we will go on the road earlier. Maybe I can find a small town to rest in time for nightfall, otherwise I'm afraid I will sleep in the wild."

Levi and Alyssa didn't know anything about the "Transport Magic Array Convention", and naturally they would not know these things.

After all, it hasn't been long since the two came to the realm. And there will be no military control on the floating islands.

In fact. Even if the Floating Island is the daily maintenance team, it is also in charge of the Discipline Committee of the Floating Saint Academy. Of course, the twelve high-ranking families and those big families will naturally also train a group of thugs, but these people are responsible for the safety of their respective families and manors, and cannot interfere with the daily operations of the entire floating island.

To put it simply, it is the distinction between police and bodyguards.

So Levi and Alyssa, don't say they don't know anything like "Transport Magic Array Convention", and they don't even know what military control means.

But they still understand one thing. That's when Sean said to leave here. So as the person responsible for protecting Sean's safety, he naturally left with him.

It's just that it's difficult to get out of the city easily.

When Xiao En and the other four turned around less than five minutes into the city and then wanted to leave, the soldiers in charge of guarding the city gate immediately intercepted them.

"What do you mean?" Sean raised his brow slightly, and there was anger in his eyes.

"I'm sorry, this sir, because the city of Adroan has been mixed with infidels, it has now implemented a temporary control law." A middle-aged man who looks like a captain said in a deep voice, neither humble nor arrogant, "After everyone enters the city .. They are not allowed to leave at will.... If you want to leave the city, you must fill out an application form. And you have a guarantor to guarantee you, and you are allowed to leave after passing the review."

"The four of us entered the city for less than five minutes, and we didn't even enter the city formally. We just stood here for a while at the city gate. Do you think we can take people away?" Xiao En was not angry, so he went straight. He shouted, "Do you all have pits in your brain? Or are your eyes blind?"

Faced with Sean's anger, the middle-aged officer still said in a deep voice: "Sorry sir, the heretics are very cunning and weird. No one can guarantee whether something is wrong with you, so if you want to get out of town. , Please fill out the form first, conduct related review, and leave after confirming that there are no problems."

Xiao En didn't know, this was the latest order from the city lord's mansion only half an hour ago.

If Sean enters the city half an hour earlier, the officer will not fill in the application form with Sean, but simply refuse.

It was not that no one had instigated and attacked the city gates in an attempt to cause  conflicts, forcing Woody Wyrion to be controlled by the pressure of public opinion and let go.

But the nobles who can get the prefix of "strength" here in the Commonwealth of the Northern Principalities, which one is simple and easy?

Woody did not hesitate to directly order the [Wyrion Cavalry Corps] to take action, and immediately put the  conflict in place, even Woody took the shot himself. Directly killed more than a dozen adventurers and mercenaries, and forcibly expropriated and disbanded three caravans.

They also arrested all the caravan's guards, business leaders and others. They are still locked in a big jail. Means to prove the determination of Adroan City.

So, naturally no one would dare to make trouble.

When ordinary adventurers and mercenaries entered the city, they found out that this situation was the same as Sean and wanted to turn around and leave, but after being surrounded by [Wyrian Cavalry Corps], they had no choice but to give up the use of force. Out of town. In the Northern Principality Federation, some nobles can offend, even if they are killed, it doesn't matter, but some nobles can't cause conflicts anyway.

Woody Wyrian is undoubtedly one of the nobles who cannot cause any conflicts.

The name of the Marquis of Strength is not a joke.

Once any conflict arises, whether it is to maintain the prefix of "strength" or to maintain the face of the family, these nobles will dispatch a large number of troops to hunt down and encircle and suppress, or it may be a situation of endless war.

Even though Sean really let go of his hands and feet to open the killing ring, he would naturally not be afraid of the marquis of strength, but it would undoubtedly cause a lot of unnecessary trouble. So if the problem can be solved by non-armed means, Sean naturally hopes to be able to solve the problem by non-armed means.

At this time, following the actions of the middle-aged officer, soldiers from the surrounding defensive fortresses began to complete the assembly, and the phalanx was opened to advance gradually.

This is a very clever means of psychological suppression.

Usually adventurers and mercenaries rarely confront the army. And the murderous intent of those real powerful legions will naturally not be low. Perhaps they are not opponents of adventurers and mercenaries in fighting alone, but once the formation of an army is formed, the aura is enough to deter ordinary adventurers and mercenaries. Coupled with the momentum created by striding, and the surrounding momentum formed by the joint advancement of multiple square formations around it. It is easier to defeat the psychological defenses of general adventurers and mercenaries.

This means. It may be feasible to deal with ordinary people.

But it is obviously impossible to deal with Sean.

Levi and Alyssa are also strong in the upper sanctuary. They have also served as a commissioner of discipline on the floating island. They have been responsible for public security patrols. They have also worked with many lawbreakers and have seen blood. How could a person be deterred by such a momentum.

And Kozilek, at this time, there was also a look of ambiguity in his eyes—for him. Everything in these worlds is food. Of course for the soldiers around. Kozilek still seemed a bit disdainful, because their fire of life was too weak. The sanctuary powerhouses are deadly threatening, but Kozilek's calculation method does not look at it that way.

He is a typical emphasis on quality but not weight.

Of course, if there is no quality, it is allowed to use the amount to make up the number.

Shaun?

This guy is typically confident.

Not to mention that there are two high-ranking sanctuary powerhouses around him, plus a legendary pinnacle, even if there are no such powerhouses. After all, he is also a person who has experienced big scenes, how can he be frightened by the aura of these soldiers. Even if he is alone. He is also completely confident that he can rush out of the city, so naturally he will not put these people in his eyes.

However, this middle-aged officer is obviously not an ordinary person.

When he saw that the momentum created by the mobilization of the surrounding troops failed to scare these people, he realized that these people in front of him were not ordinary people, so the hands behind his back had secrets to make a few. action.

Soon, the East Gate of Adroan began to close, and some people even started to contact the City Lord's Mansion.

Seeing this scene, Xiao En's face changed slightly.

But after a slight change, Xiao En's face looked abnormally gloomy: "You are forcing me."

"This gentleman, please cooperate with our work." The middle-aged officer still said that.

But facing the aura that began to exude from Sean, the middle-aged officer also began to feel strong pressure, which shocked his heart. His strength is already at the top of the golden peak, and he is now trying to find a way to break into the sanctuary. Although he is not known for his personal strength in the army, he is also a middle-level commander. What kind of big scene has not been seen?

On the ability to withstand stress, it is naturally not inferior to ordinary people.

But in front of Sean, he felt that his shoulders seemed to resist a mountain, not only making him breathless, but even faintly showing signs of kneeling. How could he not be surprised? It's just that under so many hands, even if he couldn't hold it, he still had to hold on, so his face quickly became extremely pale, and even a faint trace of blood spilled from the corner of his mouth, apparently suffering a lot of internal injuries.

"Looking for death!" Xiao En's face finally turned into a little anger.

In the Commonwealth of the Northern Principality, Sean has done his best to exercise restraint along the way. If he changed to the Southern Continent, Sean would have killed him. But the successive unsuccessful encounters, coupled with being chased by people and hearing about the big problems Emily encountered, finally made the anger in Xiao En's heart reach a critical point, and it was about to burst out completely at this time.

"What are you doing!" A clear drink, sounded from behind Xiao En and others.

Hearing a slightly familiar voice, Xiao En's face was slightly taken aback, and he thought: Wouldn't it be such a bad luck?

At this moment, there is no anger.

is simply a chill.

Turned around, and she saw Christina walking towards her with a cold face.

"Damn it!" Sean immediately cursed again, "How come I met this crazy lady here."

Don't say Woody Wyrian doesn't want to see the people of the Peace Council.

Even Sean is also reluctant to see these lunatics.

Because countless facts have proved that as long as they have a relationship with these lunatics, there is no good result-Sean lied to sign an agreement with him when he met Christina for the first time. I sent out a stronghold of Deaththorn in exchange for the other party not to interfere in the affairs of Ryan's annexation of Darbion; but I did not expect that the result would lead to deaththorn's crazy revenge, for which Sean had to do it with Christina A second transaction was made.

Originally, this time when he came to the Commonwealth of the Northern Principality, Sean awakened his spirits. Naturally, he did not want to have any entanglements with Christina or other people in the Peace Council. And in Sean's view, it has been more than a year since he told Christina before. It stands to reason that it should have been withdrawn from the Commonwealth of the Northern Principality long ago. I saw Christina's figure at this time. In addition, the middle-aged officer said that Adron had mixed with the heretics, and he immediately knew that the Peace Council had come to the Northern Duchy to eliminate the heretics and the matter had not been completely resolved.

Thinking of this, Sean couldn't help but cursed again: "A bunch of trash, it's been almost a year, and it hasn't solved the problem, but instead let go of the goal."

Of course these words, Sean is just cursing silently in his heart. Speak out in front of Christina. Sean didn't want to ask for trouble.

The middle-aged officer just got out of Sean's pressure and momentum. In a blink of an eye, he saw Christina walking towards him, and his face was again distressed.

Of course he wouldn't be ignorant of who this woman is.

It is because of this woman that the current city of Adroan has entered a state of military control under martial law, and even the entire [Wyeran Cavalry Corps] has to send a large number of soldiers to follow this mad woman to wipe her buttocks and solve a lot of problems. The trouble caused by her. So for Christina, don't talk about this middle-aged officer. The whole city of Adroan will not have any favorable impressions.

But after the depression, the middle-aged officer looked at Xiao En and others. Inwardly, it was a bit dark and refreshing.

He knew very well that the cause of the first bloodshed incident was that this woman directly killed several people who wanted to rush out of the city.

At this time, Xiao En and others were obviously about to rush out of the city. The middle-aged officer was ready to sit on the mountain and watch the tiger fight. Just thinking that he and others were going to wipe the * for this crazy woman for a while, and the middle-aged officer's complexion really didn't get better, especially when he saw at a glance that Xiao En and others were afraid of their extraordinary strength. Cooperating with this woman in besieging the four of her, this conflict may cause many brothers to die today.

"My lord, these four are trying to storm the city." In the face of Christina's loud scolding, the middle-aged officer still had the attitude of neither humble nor arrogant.

"Oh?" Christina raised her eyebrows, and then looked back at Sean, her eyes filled with curiosity, "Why are you here?"

Hearing the familiarity revealed in Christina's voice, the middle-aged officer couldn't help being taken aback.

Wrong, the script shouldn't be played like this!

Sit on the mountain and watch the tiger fight?

What a genius Shaun was. He wanted to answer Christina's words, but when she saw this middle-aged officer's faint look, she coldly snorted, "What? You want to see me and Christina." Miss conflict?... Could it be that the conflict between me and Miss Christina is something you would like to see?"

Kristina's face also became a little angry when she heard Sean's words.

turned his head, staring at the middle-aged officer, his expression was unusually cold, his eyes were almost as if he was looking at a dead person.

"Kristina, I'm very curious, what on earth did you do, so many people hate you, and even want to see you die." Sean is a lord who fears that the world will not be chaotic, so naturally he just started right now. Inflamed the flames, "If I didn't know you today, I'm afraid we would have started fighting now.... I have to wonder if you were used as a knife before."

Hearing Sean's words, Kristina thought for a while, and her face became colder.

The last time she made a murder, it was also because the middle-aged officer said that the other party wanted to rush to the city, so she hurt the killer.

Of course, the shot that time did not rule out that she was in a bad mood, and there was a reason for her to kill the chicken and the monkey.

Hearing Sean's words, the middle-aged officer's face changed drastically, because apparently he also realized that the last time he did say to Christina that the other party was about to rush to the city, it was exactly the same as this time.

"I will report this to Mr. Woody." Christina said in a deep voice.

The middle-aged officer only felt a little bitter at the moment.

He knew that no matter what the result was, Woody had to give Christina an explanation. Even if he was just acting, he would definitely be temporarily suspended, which made his heart feel abnormally frustrated. It's just that he also knows that he only hates that he shouldn't show that look just now, and let others have an excuse. But he is also smart, knowing that he shouldn't refute anything at this time, otherwise he's afraid that his life will be lost.

Seeing the middle-aged officer's silent excuse, this made Sean feel a little bit boring.

Only Kristina was born in a peaceful parliament, and it was easier for lunatics who didn't think about common sense to fool around. Like these veterans from the real army, it was really difficult to use means to fight back. It's just that Sean believes that for Christina's face, this officer will definitely suffer a dumb loss, so Sean doesn't plan to pester this matter anymore.

He turned his head directly and said to Christina: "I have an urgent matter. I wanted to leave through the teleportation magic circle here, but I didn't expect to encounter military control. Can you help me solve it? If it doesn't work, you Give me a guarantee and let me leave the city now."

"No." Kristina shook her head, looking like she was doing business. "I can guarantee you, but you still have to fill out the application form and review it. I don't have the right to violate the rules. After all, it's me. It's hard for me to make an exception to the rules set with Mr. Woody."

Christina is naturally not really stupid.

If she makes an exception for Sean, then Woody can naturally open the back door for a little bit by then, and Christina will naturally be unable to blame anything. Christina will never make these principled mistakes on this kind of principled issues of right and wrong.

"What the  is going to lock down the city?" Sean was also a little helpless, "I heard that a heretic has mixed into Adron? Do you need my help?"

He naturally knew that Christina was not really stupid.

Before, he flicked a bit and asked Kristina to breathe out for himself. This kind of thing is not a big problem, Kristina is naturally willing to cooperate, after all, this can also consolidate her authority. But when it comes to a matter of principle, Sean knows that it is not easy to fool this mad woman.

Therefore, he is quite open to it. Instead of filling out the  application form and waiting in line for the review and inspection, he might as well directly help Kristina solve the problem, so that he can sell a favor to Kristina. And as long as the matter is resolved, he will be able to use the teleportation magic circle, which is much faster than if he leaves Adroan and heads to the next destination city.

"I really need your help." Christina was not polite to Sean's question, "You come with me!"

Shaun doesn't know what Christina wants to do. To be honest, he really doesn't want to face this woman.

Except for this woman who came from the madman organization of the Peace Council, the bigger reason was that Sean couldn't beat this woman.

Whether he admits it or not, Christina is the only genius comparable to Cecilia among everyone he has seen so far. It can even be said that Christina is more talented and talented than Cecilia in a certain way, because she combines the three abilities of martial arts, alchemy, and arcane magic, which can be said to be a real magic weapon. The combination is much stronger than that of Sean.

So, don't look at Christina still staying in the lower sanctuary realm, but this mad woman really let go of her hands and feet, and no one can hold her down except the upper sanctuary. In the past, in the entire Void Principality, only Xuefanio in the fully armed state and Rena after the dragon could fight her.

However, leaving aside the coat of Peace Council, Sean still appreciates Christina's personality.

At least, she is very affectionate and keeps promises.

In fact, what Shaun didn't know was that Christina's pressure inside the Peace Council was far greater than outsiders thought.

The reason is simple.

The Peace Council is an existence independent of all forces, camps, and countries. It is not an exaggeration to say that it is a third-party camp.

And in order to maintain this detachment, the Peace Parliament naturally needs to maintain the three major principles of absolute fairness, justice, and openness. However, after Kristina and Sean came into contact, the two successive actions were extremely utilitarian, and it could even be said to be full of merchants' scheming and cunning, which violated the principle of non-partisanship established by the Peace Council. I am afraid that with the victory of severely injuring the death thorn and preventing the invasion of the devil, it still cannot reverse the impression of Christina in the Peace Council.

Let the Peace Council intervene to protect the senior staff of the Void Duchy?

Even if it seems that the negligence of the Peace Parliament led to the leak of the source of the information, but with the pride and neurotic logic of the madmen of the Peace Parliament. He would only think that Sean should do this, instead of bargaining with the Peace Council. Only Kristina rejected all the arguments and insisted on taking action to protect Sean, which naturally made many insiders dissatisfied.

Because of this, the immediate boss who has a good relationship with Christina. Only then will I win such an opportunity for Christina to become the chief executive of the silver robe.

As long as Christina succeeds in becoming the chief executive of the silver robe. Then she can have a team that is completely obedient to her command and dispatch, and then what she wants this team to do is also her own business, and has nothing to do with other people inside. As for the member's strength, no one cares, because Christina's becoming a legendary powerhouse is a certainty, so as long as she can become the chief executive of the silver robe. Then in the future, he can definitely become the chief executive of Jinpao. At that time, the subordinates dispatched by her will inevitably have Jinpao executive officers.

Of course, the premise is that Christina's mission this time can be successful.

After taking Sean and the four people to the place where Christina lost the target for the first time, Christina opened her mouth to explain to Sean why she came to Adroan this time. In addition to retaining the great pressure that she had to bear internally, Christina did not conceal anything from Sean throughout the entire process, and of course even the embarrassment that she had lost the target's tracks several times was also said.

After listening to Christina's words, Sean's brows frowned.

Levy and Alyssa entered the land boundary for the first time. Although they had a lot of combat experience on the floating island before, they were generally just training and duel training. After all, the situation on the floating island has been at ease for too long. Even if it is to enter other planes to experience, those planes are also special planes for actual combat training made by the ancestors of the floating island. Not only is the security issue guaranteed, even those combat experiences become routine once they are familiar.

Therefore, after listening to Christina's words, the two naturally seemed a little excited.

This is actual combat in the true sense!

Looking at the extremely excited appearances of Levi and Alyssa, as well as Kozilek's ignorant appearance, Christina actually frowned slightly, and she was even more surprised secretly in her heart.

She and Sean hadn't seen each other for more than half a year, but when we saw Sean again this time, there were two more powerful men next to Sean-Levi and Alissa, although their momentum has been reduced, but For Kristina, it is not unclear. A little judgment will tell that these two people are definitely strong in the upper sanctuary, because the strong in the middle sanctuary can't bring her that kind of oppression.

As for Kozilek, Christina could not sense the fluctuations in his breath, and it seemed no different from ordinary people. But Kristina thinks she knows Sean's personality very well. This sly guy will never bring a useless person around, unless this person is his son-but no matter how Kozilek looks at it, obviously he doesn't look like it. Sean's kind, so Christina thought there must be something special about this kid.

Perhaps an extremely talented kid?

And through this unexpected encounter, Christina also has a new understanding of Sean: She thought that Sean was very good at recruiting talents, but no matter how to recruit talents, Sean's subordinates lacked the ability. It is always an indisputable fact that the top powerhouse with great deterrence. But looking at the current situation, Kristina knew that Sean's blacklist in the Peace Council might have risen again.

The lord who can recruit the high-level sanctuary powerhouses, and the lord who can recruit the lower sanctuary powerhouses, the two sides are obviously not at the same level.

"The true identity of the demon...do you know it?" Sean didn't know what Kristina was thinking. After surveying the surrounding terrain, he asked in a deep voice.

"It's a phantom." Christina's voice was a little low, "Black Horn."

Shaun's pupils shrank suddenly.

Levy and Alyssa are a bit at a loss. Demonology is not a subject of the Floating Saint Academy.

And where no one noticed, Kozilek's brows were also slightly frowned.

Illusory Demon is an uncommon demon in the abyss plane, and its ethnic sequence belongs to the upper demon. They are natural camouflage experts and confuse experts, possess very powerful illusion skills, and the skin of the body can also disguise and change color like a chameleon. If it is matched with their powerful illusion ability and breath convergence ability. Unless it is using highly targeted detection props, phantoms can even pretend to be humans and mix in human society.

And the black-horned phantom, in the entire huge phantom group, is second only to the third-level existence under the phantom lords and the double-horned phantoms.

However, unlike traditional demons, Phantom Demon is one of the few high-level demons who are not very good at fighting. Of course, this is only a relative point of view. Any high-level demon is not good at fighting no matter how bad it is. It is also capable of exerting the least strength equivalent to the tenth rank of human beings. Noire Phantom. Its strength will not be weaker than Tier 11, but there is still a very obvious gap compared to Tier Twelve.

Kristina has only the strength of Tier 9, but in fact, it is impossible for a non- Tier 11 powerhouse to suppress her. If this black-horned phantom is not injured, Christina will not be able to chase it down, maybe she will become a tonic for this black-horned phantom. But since the Blackhorn Phantom was seriously injured, Kristina naturally had enough strength to hunt down it.

"This demon, I'm afraid it's still in the city now." Sean's voice appeared very low. The gaze towards the city also seemed uncertain.

"It's impossible!" Christina let out a low cry. "I have killed it myself!"

"Are you sure you killed a black-horned phantom?" Sean turned his head and looked at Christina with cold eyes, "You should be very clear about their illusion ability. One is missing under your nose. The black-horned magic demon that has lasted more than five days, do you really think you can find it again? That's just the bait it led you away... that black-horned magic demon has already regarded this place as a nest."

Hearing what Sean said, she silently compared the situation of killing the "Black Horned Phantom" in her heart. Kristina had already believed a little bit. It was only when she heard Sean say that the black-horned fantasy monster used Adroan as a lair. Still couldn't help but let out an exclamation: "It's all my fault..."

"It's none of your business." Sean said lightly, "Dealing with the devil. It was originally not your job for the Peace Council."

Speaking of this, Sean's heart is actually a bit complicated.

Because in terms of inheritance, dealing with demons should be his own job. But over the years, he has dealt with demons only a handful of times. Even if the old fellow Edward is included, he has not recorded more than five battles with demons.

Is there a providence in the dark?

Sean murmured, but he still couldn't bear to see the big city become the lair of the black horn magic demon.

Because no one knows better than Sean, what does it mean that a demon who has changed into human society treats a city as a lair, especially this is a high-level demon who was seriously injured. But thinking of this, Sean also had to admire this black-horned phantom that was worthy of being an old fried dough stick that had been rolling in human society for so many years. He actually knew how to relax and did not take half of the city's people as food all at once. Nourish oneself, but adopt a slow-cooking technique.

Sean believes that if it hadn't come here by mistake, Christina would have spent half a month exploring Adroan and then left. At that time, I'm afraid that no one will know the whereabouts of this black-horned fantasy demon. When the time comes, the history of the opening of the Devil's Gate in the Commonwealth of the Northern Principality will probably reappear.

Chapter 399: .Christina shot

No matter what Sean thought before, but there are some things he knows very well.

Now that he is already a son of this world, his duty of guarding this plane naturally also has his share.

Also, no one knows better than him what kind of human tragedy will be when the Devil's Gate is opened here in the Northern Duchy.

In the game world at that time, more than two-thirds of the Northern Principality Federation was destroyed, and even the Northern Continent and the Western Continent were affected to varying degrees. If it weren't for the proximity of the Saint-Joles Empire, the Saint-Joles Empire dispatched a large number of papal knights to intercept, coupled with the death battle of the four great paladins, that group of crazy demons might be able to directly swallow the entire northern continent.

Of course, in the west and south, there were also people taking the lead to stop them. Coupled with hundreds of millions of players rushing to the battlefield to fight, the gate of the demon was finally closed and all these demons were wiped out. But that chaotic battle also completely damaged the entire Miracle Continent, so that when the inhabitants of the Underground World opened a gap in the Southern Continent and rushed out of the surface, the surface countries of the entire Miracle Continent were simply unable to stop it.

Although, all this looks a lot like the game official company fears that the players will have fun for the players.

But in this real world, Sean dare not let these fun happen again.

Especially after experiencing Ryan's aggression against Darbion, Sean is even more aware that without the support of a large number of players, if he really develops in accordance with the historical process, I am afraid that the Devil's Gate will be opened once the gate is opened. No one can close it. The entire Miracle Continent will be occupied by demons, dragging this plane into the abyss.

So whether it is public or private, Sean will not sit back and watch.

This guy is obviously still concerned about his saint's plan.

Therefore, it is natural that there is extra investment and hard work in the investigation.

Kristina didn't know what Shaun was making, but saw Shaun helping so hard. I was still a little moved inside. I just don't know if Kristina knew that Sean would work so hard, purely for personal gain, would she be angry?

But Sean doesn't care what Kristina is thinking. Since he has determined that Adroan has become the lair of the Blackhorn Phantom, he will naturally not be like a headless fly like Kristina. Use stupid methods to check step by step. He quickly asked Christina a few questions. Then focused on investigating the disappearance of the Blackhorn Phantom and two places where the traces were exposed five days later. Several suspicious deeds that Christina hadn't noticed were discovered.

As the saying goes, there is a specialization in the art industry, and he has extremely rich experience in the game against demons. Coupled with the sharing of intelligence resources from countless players on the forum, Sean's understanding of demons is not weaker than that of ordinary people who are familiar with demonology. How much, it can even be said that there is more than it is.

In just one day, Sean had almost grasped the specifics of this black-horned magical demon, the only thing left was still unclear. This is the hiding place of this black horned magic demon. It's just that. Sean also had a few speculations, but the speculations about these hiding places involved some powerful people in Adroan, so it was naturally difficult for Sean to take action without authorization.

But Christina has no such scruples.

After she asked about the basis for Xiao En's suspicion of these places, she directly led Xiao En and others through the door.

It was already late at night.

But unlike the city that never sleeps in Adroan in the past, the whole city is more silent and gloomy. There was no traffic on the street for a long time, and many shops that were originally operated by nightclubs were also closed at this time, and the whole Adroan became even more deserted after nightfall.

In the dark night. Only the sound of soldiers guarding patrolling seemed extremely heavy.

Many shops are in buildings, looking at the dark streets. They all looked worried, and some didn't know when this unlucky day would end. Because in the past five days, the entire city of Adroan's economy has been severely reduced by more than 30%. If this kind of closed control continues like this, I am afraid that many businessmen will really be forced to cause riots. NS.

After all, the various taxes in Adroan are not low.

Kristina took Sean, Levi, Kozilek, and Alyssa on the street, walking towards a prosperous house.

Shaun has made a simple disguise. Not only did he put on a fake beard, he also dyed his hair a little, and even his pupils were wearing fake pupils of different colors. Although there is no way to change his figure, he changed his clothes and wore a hooded cloak with a face mask. The whole person looked a little gloomy. However, as far as the disguise effect is concerned, it actually has a certain effect, at least unless it is a person who is very familiar with Sean, no one will recognize his true identity.

Of course, Levi and Alisha have slightly changed their costumes.

After all, it is now in the land boundary, and it seems a little weird to wear the clothes of the floating island.

Only Kozilek did not change his outfit.

Kristina wanted to let the little child stay in the hotel. She really didn't feel any fluctuations in the little child's breath, so she treated him as an ordinary child and didn't want him to be involved in the possibility of fighting. The situation comes. After all, even if he is a genius, he is just an ordinary person when he hasn't grown up. Facing those novices in the Bronze Realm with a little bit of strength, I am afraid that they will not be opponents.

It's just that Kozilek ignores Christina's words, and he follows Sean wherever he goes, so Christina is helpless.

Anyway, if Sean doesn't object, she won't say anything again. She has already fulfilled the reminder duty that should be fulfilled.

"This is the mansion of Asazi." Christina pointed to the courtyard of the mansion in front of him, and then said in a deep voice, "He is a famous businessman in the city, and more than half of the hotels in this city are his assets.The hut, although someone else lives in it, is actually his subordinates."

The cabin mentioned by Kristina is the closest place that can be hidden from where the Blackhorn Phantom disappeared from under Kristina's nose.

Of course, Christina didn't search the hut at the time—because of this, it was known that the real owner of the hut was the famous tycoon Assazi in Adroan. It's just that Christina couldn't find any evidence or clues in the cabin, so she had to give up.

But when Sean returned to the cabin to survey, it was obvious that there was a hint of darkness.

It's just that the abyssal aura has faded a lot because of the long lapse of time—if it weren't for the energy detection provided by the real eye. Even Sean couldn't find the breath of the abyss that was gradually dissipating. But even so, it only shows that the black-horned phantom has indeed been hiding here, but it can't prove that it has a connection with the Asazi tycoon.

At this time, Sean, Christina and others tried to enter the mansion of the tycoon at night. It was Sean who wanted to use the real eye to observe directly.

Because of the way Sean handles things, he has always been straightforward. Since it can use the observation of the real eye to save some trouble. So why not do it?

After all, the Black Horned Phantom had already regarded Adroan as a lair. It will prey on the residents of this city to heal its wounds, so it must find a safe place to hide. And the safest place is undoubtedly the residences of the nobles in these cities, because no one dares to search or inspect these residences of the nobles at will. So if the black-horned phantom was really related to Asazi, it would definitely leave an abyssal atmosphere in its mansion.

"What do you want to do?" Seeing Christina standing outside the iron gate of the mansion and pointing to Asazi's residence, a group of guards on patrol immediately came up.

Kristina did not answer them, her eyes fell on the group of people gathered in the front courtyard of the mansion.

these people. Obviously it was a mercenary hired by Asazi. It could also be his private soldier. After all, with so many hotels, it is natural that there will be some gray business and underground figures to make trouble, and it is naturally inconvenient not to have a private soldier of his own.

"Let Asazi come out." Christina said in a deep voice.

Hearing Kristina's voice, coupled with the light of a torch illuminating the surrounding environment after approaching, this guard patrol naturally recognized Kristina. Immediately, many people's faces appeared greasy and crooked, obviously they were very unhappy with Christina.

And this scene naturally fell into the eyes of Sean, he finally knew that Christina was very unpopular in this city. It's no wonder that when I offered to break into these powerful residences. Christina would look indifferent. Anyway, she was really hated by the people in the whole city, so it didn't matter if she did something to attract hatred. After all, not everyone has the courage to provoke these madmen of the Peace Council.

After waiting a little more than ten minutes, a man with the appearance of a housekeeper hurried to the iron gate.

After the other party glanced at Christine, his brows were frowning, and the expression on his face looked a little impatient: "Master is unwell, he has fallen asleep, and he will not see guests at night. Come back tomorrow afternoon."

Whether it is the tone or the attitude, it is called a arrogance.

Sean raised his brows slightly, he could feel the anger of Christina around him was rising, he couldn't help but secretly smacked the middle-aged man in front of the housekeeper: the monochrome frame, he dared to challenge the madman of the Peace Council. In fact, if it wasn't for Sean and he wasn't sure that Asazi was connected with the Blackhorn Phantom, I'm afraid Christina would not be so polite to ask for a meeting, but would directly kill.

After all, she reappeared on the east side of the city afterwards, as if she had deliberately exposed the location where she wanted to lead Christina away, but there was no Asazi's property nearby.

"I'll say it again, let Asazi come out." Christina suppressed her anger a little, but her voice became much colder, and even her face was covered with frost, "I have something to ask him."

"I said you have a problem with this person?" The housekeeper pointed his finger at Kristina, and the impatience and contempt on his face became more obvious. "I have already said it very clearly. The master has fallen asleep. You will be asleep tomorrow. Come to make an appointment in the afternoon....My master doesn't have so much idle time, he..."

Before the housekeeper could finish her words, Christina had already flew directly and kicked on the iron gate fiercely.

The iron gates of these large households are not particularly heavy, but there are still some two or thirty catties less. After all, they are pure iron gates with a height of four or five meters. Usually, unless some important person comes, or the owner of the house wants to go out, otherwise the iron door will not be opened, usually the small door next to it is opened for entry and exit. Even if these big iron gates were to be opened, people with the Bronze Realm were responsible for opening the gates.

At this moment, Kristina kicked it up, and the entire iron gate suddenly broke completely, and with a whistling sound, it slammed into the butler's body, directly overwhelmed it, and then plowed it out.

In an instant, a scarlet bloodstain clearly appeared on the ground, and the smell of blood immediately diffused.

Xiao En just glanced at it, and then withdrew his gaze. He knew that the guy who was plowed out by the iron gate could not survive.

Such a straightforward method has also given Sean a deeper understanding of the "Peace Parliament", a lunatic organization.

Chapter 400: .The strong Christina

The smell of blood filled the air.

Only one of the vestibule gates of Asazi's mansion is still hanging, but it can be seen that this iron gate has some obvious distortions due to the impact of Christina's previous shots. On the other side of the symmetry, the iron door is now on the ground 20 or 30 meters away. Look at a small part of the ground uplift, and a blood stain on the ground that is nearly 20 meters long. Toes want to know what's going on.

In fact, the weight of the iron gate itself is not large. After all, it is the mansion of a wealthy businessman, and it is not a military powerhouse, so these two iron gates are just symbolic. But Kristina couldn't bear being a powerful sanctuary. She took a blow with her anger. The iron gate did not directly explode into pieces of iron, but instead dragged a person 20 or 30 meters away. Hardly grinding a person to death, you can see how superb Kristina's power control skills are.

Changed to Sean's shot, he would only kick the iron gate, not like Christina.

"What do you want to do!" Several patrol guards immediately spoke out, and even under the command of the captain, they directly surrounded Sean and the others.

Levy raised his brow slightly, and his left hand was already on the guard of the sword.

This move immediately made the guards on the scene even more nervous.

And the private soldiers in the courtyard of Asazi quickly stepped forward, forming a semicircle around the main entrance, blocking Xiao En and others outside. However, the sharp-eyed Sean saw that someone had turned and ran towards the mansion, and he didn't know whether to report Assazi or to sound the alarm.

But these, Sean doesn't care.

"Captain Haas, I think my master needs an explanation." A calm middle-aged man stood out in front of the patrol captain.

This middle-aged man has a calm and steady aura, faintly radiating out of his body, and he is obviously also a strong man who has already half-footed on the boundary of the sanctuary. Perhaps it has not yet reached the threshold of quasi-sanctuary. But compared to the average high-level golden peak powerhouse, at least it is a bit stronger. And the patrol captain known as Haas was just a high-ranking silver, and he didn't even step into the golden realm, under the aura of the middle-aged man. Naturally, it seemed a bit aggrieved and uncomfortable.

Azazi is one of the most famous wealthy business tycoons in Adroan. If his subordinates did not recruit some strong men, then it would not be possible to have today.

If it is not necessary, Woody's army has never dealt with these people.

There is no other reason. The individual combat ability is not as good as the opponents' adventurers and mercenary background guys. At least they have to fight in groups of more than a thousand people to suppress these people. And there have indeed been several conflicts before, but the result is that these soldiers were beaten up by the opponent. And if the army is to be dispatched. Several wealthy businessmen in Adroan will also work together to put pressure on them, so in the end the soldiers were beaten in vain as a result of those conflicts.

In this way, no one is willing to deal with it.

This time, the city of Adroan was closed under military control, and several tycoons were extremely dissatisfied. If Woody had not been pressured by the forces behind Christina, he would have lifted the military control. But even so, he is strictly ordering the army under his command. Don't just go to trouble these tycoons, otherwise things will really have no way to end.

What is more afraid of. What is coming.

The squad leader named Hass, who is in charge of patrolling the area near Asazi's mansion, has a face as black as the bottom of a pot.

"I will give you an explanation." Haas shouted angrily.

This attitude made the middle-aged man's complexion a bit ugly.

"This lady, I have already sent someone to find the City Lord, and the City Lord will come soon..."

Haas is just a small captain of the [Wairian Cavalry Corps], not even the high-level members of the legion, let alone the core members and direct lines, so he does not know the origin and identity of Christina. The only thing I know, or the news he heard from his commander, is that this woman is a guest of the lord Woody Wyrion. This time, the city of Adroan was closed because she was looking for someone in the city. Something missing.

The inside and outside of the words mean the same thing. This woman is also a master who can't offend. If you have any questions, contact the above as soon as possible.

"No need." Christina didn't know what these people were thinking, she simply interrupted the captain's words, and then took a step forward.

Before the soldiers around got the command of the captain, they naturally did not dare to do anything.

The strength of these people is only in the Bronze Realm. Perhaps they are better than the steward who knows nothing, but in the eyes of the real strong, they are just a bunch of make up. They know very well that if they fight, they and others will be easily killed, so of course they will not rush to take action, but if they are allowed to retreat, it is obviously impossible, because they may be dealt with by military law. .

Christine can't reason with these. She turned to look at the captain of the team, her face was already covered with frost: "You want to stop me?"

"I..." Haas had a headache on his face, and he didn't know how to deal with the current situation, because both sides obviously couldn't offend people.

"I have given Woody enough face. If you don't block the way, don't blame me for being polite." Seeing that the other party hadn't stepped back, Kristina looked at the people around Haas, still looking at her. Dead.

Without waiting for someone's reply, Christina took another step forward.

The soldiers who did not receive a clear order naturally did not dare to let them go.

In an instant, a silver light passed.

The three soldiers who stopped in front of Christina suddenly cracked a hole in their throat, and blood spewed out immediately. The strong tingling sensation caused the three soldiers to immediately release their arms holding their weapons, and hurriedly clutched their throats, as if they wanted to stop the blood that was constantly flowing out of their bodies. However, strong men like Christina attacked a few soldiers in the Bronze Realm, even if they didn't really want to kill, it was obviously not something these people could parry.

Soon, blood stained the hands of these soldiers, and then it continued to gush out.

No one thought that Christina would shoot so cleanly.

Suddenly. The surrounding soldiers immediately launched an attack, and their target of attack was obviously not only Christina alone, but Xiao En and others in the encirclement were naturally their targets.

"Humph."

Levi let out a cold snort. His right hand quickly rested on the hilt. Xiao En and the others only heard a faint sound, which seemed to be a "click" when the sword was retracted into the sheath, and then there was a silence in the surroundings.

Xiao En still didn't understand what was going on, countless bright red blood crossed by Xiao En and the others, and scattered to the ground.

But the strange thing is that the place where the blood sprayed out was completely wiped by everyone. It was not sprayed on anyone. It's as if their bleeding mouth has undergone extremely rigorous and precise calculations. Then, there was a neat and unified sound of the dead bodies falling to the ground.

Sean glanced at Levi in surprise, and even Christina glanced back in surprise.

Unlike Sean who didn't see the surrounding situation clearly, even though Kristina had her back to Levi, she didn't know what Levi did just now, but at the moment Levi took the shot, she did feel that she would take it away. The power of the field. Obviously, Levi's domain has a very special attack capability. Otherwise, it is impossible to solve everyone without leaving any traces in an instant.

But Christina just glanced at it. He retracted his gaze and continued to stride forward.

If Kristina's decisive attack made people just feel fierce, then Levi's mysterious attack method made the group of mercenaries under Ass feel a panic. Their strength is indeed much stronger than those of the soldiers, and almost all have the strength of the Silver Realm, but whether it is bronze or silver, there is no difference in the eyes of the strong.

Since Levi can kill more than a dozen soldiers in a flash, it is naturally easy to kill them in a flash.

"Who are you anyway!" The calm middle-aged man couldn't continue to maintain that kind of superior attitude at this time. He shouted a little bit sternly, "This is the residence of Lord Asazi, you are a blatant provocation. The Law of Adroan!"

Provoking Adron's law?

Sean glanced at the patrol team's counterpart who had fallen to the ground dead, and then curled his lips slightly.

The conflict between and Asaz hadn't really started yet, on the contrary, they killed a squad of [Wyrian Cavalry Corps] first.

But it was just a glance, and Sean knew that Christina, who was born in the Peace Council, would definitely not be here. Anyone who stands in front of their "justice" and "peace" will only be crushed into powder.

Kristina seems to have never seen this middle-aged man at all, still moving forward, a dignified and powerful momentum is constantly condensing on Kristina's body, bringing the oppression of those mercenaries. The force is naturally getting stronger and stronger, just like the pressure of the deep sea. With every step Kristina took, these mercenaries were unable to resist a few steps back.

After formally walked into the courtyard of Asazi, Christina turned her head to look at Sean, and asked coldly: "Aren't you following?"

Shaun shrugged, and then followed Christina with Levi, Kozilek, and Alyssa, and walked towards the only building in the mansion.

As Sean and others advanced, the mercenaries still did not dare to take action easily, but from the beginning, the semicircle that was only enclosed at the gate became a circle, turning Christina and Sean into a circle. People completely surrounded. They wanted to stop Xiao En and others from advancing, but when they saw the fifteen corpses that fell at the door, they didn't have the courage to intercept them, because they were no different from the results of the soldiers at the door.

It is true that they are thugs hired by Asazi, and it is true that they are responsible for the safety of Asazi's employer.

However, it also depends on what kind of enemy you face.

A battle without hope of victory is simply suicide.

Walking into the courtyard, Xiao En raised his head and looked at a window on the third floor of the main building in front of him. Even though the window was completely dark, Sean still saw two figures standing by the window, gazing at the courtyard—perhaps the other party thought that no one would find out by observing it surreptitiously without turning on the light, but in fact For Sean and others, their actions are no different from standing in the sun.

From the beginning, it is clear at a glance.

"Are you not going to push the opponent out?" Xiao En slowly retracted his gaze, and then smiled at Christina beside him.

"Azaz?" Christina turned her head and looked at Sean, with a hint of doubt on her face, "Is it necessary?"

"We walked in here so powerfully, but Asazi never intended to meet us, I was very upset." Sean smiled, his expression relaxed and casual, "If I guessed correctly, he should be waiting for Woody to come over, so that we can beat us down when that time comes, and even team up with the spokespersons and tycoons of chambers of commerce in other cities to put pressure on us to force us to abandon the continued blockade of Adroan..."

Having said that, Sean glanced at the mercenaries around who were just surrounding them but didn't take any other actions: "I'm not used to being used as a gunman, so I decided to give that Mr. Assaz a little gift."
