

Lord of War Vol 3-501

Chapter 501: . Killing Wu Ji

The scenery of the Royal Rose Manor is indeed very beautiful. No matter how it looks, this place is indeed in line with the critical vision of the royal nobles. Even if the elves come, they will definitely not fault it.

At this time, Sean was in a room on the third floor, looking at the front courtyard of the manor.

Standing here, he can admire a sea composed entirely of roses—the sea of gorgeous red roses, white roses, and black roses exudes an unspeakable charm. In particular, the planting layout of the red rose looks like a blooming rose, while the rhizome is composed of black roses, and the background is a white rose, which looks particularly charming.

But it's a pity that Sean is really not in the mood to appreciate these beautiful scenery. He just rubbed his eyebrows tiredly, and the look on his face was a bit ugly.

The progress of his communication with Asuna and Vivienne was not smooth: Shaun could not persuade Asuna to give up supporting Her Royal Highness Princess Fulcis; and Asuna could not make Shaun relentlessly support her. In fact, both Sean and Asuna know each other very well, as long as Asuna throws out the past comrades in arms, then Sean will definitely agree to Asuna's request unconditionally, but Asuna does not do so. .

Therefore, the final negotiation can only be treated as a simple routine, and will not mention it again.

This kind of atmosphere, of course, cannot be regarded as friendly and harmonious.

The door of the room was gently pushed open.

Although the sound was so slight that it was negligible—at least Sean didn't hear the sound, whether it was the door opening or the sound of footsteps—but it didn't prevent Sean from knowing who came in. He didn't even turn his head, he already spoke: "It looks like you are in a good mood, I can feel your happy mood that is about to infect me, but..."

Sean sniffed his nose, and then turned to the smiling Alexis of Prestige: "This blood is really strong, it seems to have killed a lot of people?"

"Kill some dark walkers." Alexis walked to the table. Then he poured himself a full glass of water and drank it all, "...At least everyone in this manor can have a good night's sleep tonight. But unfortunately, I still don't know who is behind the scenes, otherwise If we do, we will go directly to the door. Everything can be solved."

"I think so too. The guys behind the scenes are more cautious than we thought." Sean gave a bitter smile, then sighed. "But if the killer is the Dark Walker, it's understandable. No wonder those killers can do it every time. Finding the way into the manor so smoothly, most people really can't prevent these guys, at least they are better at sneaking in than the shadow assassins.... However, I thought you met some equal opponent. Woolen cloth....."

"I did meet a well-matched opponent." Alexis said with a smile. The look seemed very satisfied. "A little guy with good abilities makes me have a lot of fun.... It's better than the Absolute Swordsmen I've encountered in the Green Forest before."

Sean doesn't know anything about the Green Forest Plane. Perhaps this is a plane that Alexis has visited before being locked in that "cage world." However, judging from the name of the plane and the name Absolute Swordsman mentioned by Alexis, it should be a plane full of elves. I just don't know what those elves are, but only literally Look, it should be the forest elves.

As for the Absolute Swordsman, perhaps no one knows this name in the outside world. But in the elven clan, it is definitely considered a reputable rank.

The talents of the elves in archery and magic are amazing, relatively speaking, they are slightly inferior in sword skills. It's just that this inferiority is only in relative terms. In fact, they are generally stronger than human beings, especially the sword dancers of the elven clan, who are outstanding in swordsmanship. The partner that Shaun flicked to before, Winia Pofeng, is a genius in sword dancers.

However, as we all know, sword dancers are masters in skill warfare. On the contrary, they are slightly inadequate in strength and endurance. Therefore, in order to make up for this shortcoming, after entering the sanctuary, the wizard sword dancers will turn to practice and study hard in this area. If they can step into the legendary realm because of this, then the shortcomings in all aspects of the body will be To be compensated, to obtain a strong balanced combat power, not even limited to the use of short swords or light swords, and even to wield two heavy swords.

Sword dancers like this will be called the Absolute Swordsman—to put it bluntly, they are special advanced classes.

But even if it is a general Absolute Swordsman, it is definitely a standard Tier 12 legendary profession.

Alexis said that the one she encountered was stronger than the one she had encountered before. How many levels would it have to be? Thirteenth order or fourteenth order?

Shaun doesn't believe he will be the legendary pinnacle powerhouse of the fifteenth rank.

There were three legendary powerhouses suddenly emerged from the Kingdom of Lane—in fact, strictly speaking, there were only two. Elizabeth is a follower of Asuna. According to the theory of luck, she relied on the spirit of the Principality of Garrod. The result of luck—this level is enough to make the Kingdom of Lane one of the top super-class kingdoms. After all, after the Sanctuary powerhouse becomes a member of the high-end combat power of this world, it is equivalent to entering this circle, so the dealings will be more frequent, but the legendary powerhouse is really not the cabbage of the bad street—maybe there are only seven. Only in those top-level circles of the empire can you see several grand scenes playing together at the same time.

But if you want to say that you can meet people of the legendary pinnacle or even the super power level at random, unless there is a super power in the seven empires, or accidentally enter some special taboo area—for example, it has been The forest of sighs occupied by Lake, the outland where the elves and the orcs and dwarves co-ruled, the dark tide forest was visited by Beth, and so on.

"I think that the Absolute Swordsman can hear your comment, he should be very honored to die." Xiao En thought for a while, and simply commented.

"I think I should correct your two mistakes." Alexis tilted her head and thought for a while, and then said, "First, this is a female elf, and she is very young. Over two hundred years old, in terms of the age and strength of the elves, this is a genius!...Secondly, she is not dead yet."

Compared to the age at which the elves are 80 years old, two hundred years old is probably less than 30 years old. At this age, she is already a legendary powerhouse, and this female elf can definitely be called a genius among the geniuses—compared to Venya Pofeng, it is definitely several energy levels higher than the potential. genius.

"Not dead?" The first error corrected. The second is where Sean really shocked. "Is there someone who can escape from your hands? Is this a super strong!?"

"Of course not." Alexis shook her head, "Her strength is probably the level of the thirteenth-order critical point, and if you work harder or completely show your strength, you should be able to reach the fourteenth-order level.When fighting with me, I can see that she should still have a unique skill at the bottom of the box that has not been displayed, so she probably only exerted a combat power close to the fourteenth level, but compared to the one in the manor and the one in the palace. That. This female elf can indeed ignore them...Of course. I mean in a one-on-one situation, if the two of them work together, the female elf can only protect herself."

"Such a person... can escape from your hand?" Sean couldn't believe it. He even doubted whether the Alexis he had summoned was a fake, "You are not..."

"Of course I didn't use my full strength." Alexis didn't know what Sean was thinking, and said straightforwardly, "Well...not so much that I didn't use my full strength. It's better to say that I just used single swordsmanship. , Even the strength is not used."

"Wait...single swordsmanship? Strength? What are these?" Sean looked puzzled.

In Sean's impression. There are four strengths of this killer Wu Ji, namely swordsmanship, spearmanship, physique, and killer domain. Although these introductions are very general and even confusing, it is still clear at a glance. After all, Alexis's weapon is a sword-blade gun and two slashing blades. But what the * is this single swordsmanship and strength?

Alexis patted the two cutting blades next to him, and then said naturally: "Single swordsmanship, of course, means that I only use one sword! It's a question? You have everything in your brain. What are they all about? Mud?"

Sean glanced at the two chopping blades hanging on Alexis's waist. Although they look exactly the same, they are still slightly different in details. The most obvious of which is that the hilts of the two chopping blades are respectively. One black and one white.

"Then when you use two swords, is it called double swordsmanship?" Xiao En asked.

"Of course." Alexis nodded proudly, his eyes seemed to say that he finally admitted that Sean had a little bit of IQ.

And Sean, naturally, is a face twitching: What a casual way of naming it.

However, under the simple explanation and description of Alexis, Sean finally knew why the list of Alexis introduced the strengths so simple and straightforward. Of course, it is natural to know why Alexis is called a taboo.

The reason is simple.

Swordsmanship, spearmanship, and physical skills, Alexis has completely reached the pinnacle level. Basically, as long as the martial arts related to these three specialties, she can perform beyond the limit. Although it can't be compared with world-class monsters like Beth in terms of domain height, the general so-called swordsman, sword emperor and the like, don't think about surpassing Alexis in swordsmanship.

As for the other two fields, the same is true.

It is precisely because of this characteristic that Alexis's level of strength is also very special.

Under normal conditions, even if no weapons are used, Alexis also has the combat power of a rank 12 legendary powerhouse, or she has reached the level of a legendary powerhouse only with physical strength. Basically, as long as it is an ordinary legendary powerhouse, Alexis can even squeeze the opponent directly without using weapons.

And after using strength-in fact, the fighting spirit of the miracle continent -, Alexis's strength will be comprehensively improved by a large level, which is almost equivalent to the combat power close to the peak of the thirteenth tier. In this state, Xiao En simply understood the Dou Ji mode.

If it is after joining single swordsmanship, although Alexis does not have a significant increase in physical strength, speed, etc., it is combat effectiveness in attack power, defense power, and martial skills—that is, combat skills. In terms of aspect, it will be greatly improved again, almost reaching the level of the 14th-order critical point. Shaun referred to Alexis in this state as the Wu Ji mode, although the level of strength in this mode has not really reached the level of the pinnacle of the legend. But even facing the pinnacle of the legend, there will be no inferiority.

And if the double swordsmanship is combined, then Alexis can reach the level of a super strong or even above. Because with the use of dual swords, Alexis's combat tactics, combat skills, lethality, defensive capabilities, etc. will be greatly improved, basically no different from playing Wushuang, even if it is a general Tier 16 super. It is difficult for the strong to stop Alexis in this state. So Shaun defines Alexis in this state as a killing mode.

But it is very subtle. When Alexis uses single swordsmanship, he doesn't need to stimulate the energy in his body. In this case, it is equivalent to that Alexis only chooses to strengthen his own combat ability, and does not carry out a comprehensive ability improvement. The strength he exerts is similar to that of the Dou Ji mode, which is only the level of the peak of the thirteenth order. — In order to facilitate his own understanding, Shaun calls this the Sword Fairy Mode.

But on the contrary, if you want to use double swordsmanship. Then Alexis must stimulate the energy latent in the body. Put yourself directly into the killing mode. According to her own statement, it seems that dual swordsmanship consumes a lot of physical energy, and many combat skills and martial arts require vigor to assist them in order to be able to perform, or to put it in a more popular way: only in this way can it be lethal.

Therefore, from the four stages of strength changes from the twelfth to the sixteenth level, Alexis has a total of five modes: the normal mode, the fighting girl mode, the sword girl mode, the martial arts mode, and the killing mode. This also allows Alexis to have different fighting methods and skills when facing different opponents, so that the huge difference in combat power will not make the battle boring-according to Alexis himself, This is the "game way" she spent a long time studying. It is also the secret of the invincibility of Alexis at the same level.

But in Sean's opinion, this is purely an excuse for Alexis to let himself have more fun playing against the strong. Just like tonight. In the face of that female elf, Alexis obviously could torture and kill her opponents, but she chose to fight in the Sword Fairy mode, and fully enjoyed the fun of this battle-but even if it was only in the Sword Fairy mode, Ai Lixis also completely suppressed the opponent with absolute strength.

As for why he didn't kill the opponent, it was just because the opponent did not exert his full strength, and Alexis really wanted to fight against the opponent who exerted his full strength, so his men mercilessly let the opponent go-from Alexis. From the point of view of the description, it took her almost three minutes to force the opponent to flee. From this point of view, she was indeed merciful.

Of course, the true strength of Alexis is naturally more than that.

Don't forget that she also has a sword-blade gun.

Only under the condition of using the blade gun, Alexis can truly be called Killing Wu Ji. The previous modes were all just that Alexis was playing a game called "Fighting the Strong". Of course, if Alexis can use the sword-blade spear, then this at least proves that the enemy's strength is at least at least the seventeenth level, and it may even be at the level of the eighteenth and nineteenth.

Based on Sean's knowledge of the World of Wonders, it is estimated that no one can let Alexis use the sword except for the antique-level old monsters of the Seven Empires, or the world-class monsters such as Oscar that caused the battle of fate before. Blade gun. After knowing this, Sean suddenly felt a bit resentful about the fact that Alexis had put away his sword in Robin's Principality so obediently.

At the time, he thought it was Alexis who was obedient, but she didn't expect it was just that after she quickly understood the structure of the world's realm of strength, she felt that she would "use a sledgehammer to kill the chicken."

"Ah, that's right..." Alexis, who was humming an unknown minor, was obviously in a very good mood. He suddenly turned to Sean and said, "The female elf brought us a kind of 'goodwill' before she left. It seems that a person named Arlan has asked you to find him in the clubhouse tomorrow afternoon.... Well, let me think about it, what is the clubhouse called."

"Rosane Hall?"

"It seems to be by this name." Alexis thought for a while, then nodded.

.....

Alexis spoke lightly, and seemed very happy-happy to find a "toy" for herself.

But in fact, the damage suffered by this female elf named Fannie was not as easy as Alexis said.

The hollow light armor she originally wore on her body-although it seems that the defensive ability is not very good, but in fact it is a set of genuine epic equipment. Although the defensive ability has been reduced to the level of quasi-legendary in pursuit of beauty, it still has a strong protective ability-it has been completely shattered. There is no longer the emerald green luster on it, but the faded emerald looks dull and dull, and it is covered with countless cracks. Almost just a little harder when walking. There will be a good piece of armor falling on it.

If it's just a loss of armor, it's nothing.

However, Vannie's face was pale and scary. It was obvious that she had suffered quite serious internal injuries, especially her sword-holding hands were trembling non-stop, and even many times she needed the help of these two knight swords in her hands. Trying to support the body will not fall. It was just a will to keep Vannie firm and not fainting, and she was still working hard towards the mansion where Arlan was located.

It is conceivable that when Arlan saw this look of Vannie. How shocked the look on his face.

even. There is also a bit of self-blame.

"His Royal Highness, don't worry." Seeing Arlan's panic, Fannie tried her best to squeeze a smile on her face, but she didn't know it. In this case, her laughter is more ugly than crying, "I It just suffered a bit of shock and internal trauma, so it looks more serious, but in fact it is not as serious as expected. Please rest assured, your Highness. I only need to drink the dew of life and rest for two days."

"It's all hurt like this. How could it not be serious!" Arlan looked angry, but soon became deeply self-blaming, "It's all my fault. If it wasn't for me to let you go, it wouldn't be This happened. I..."

"It doesn't matter to your Highness, I was too careless." Fannie shook her head, and then said, "In the beginning, I didn't try my best. I wanted to focus on temptation. I didn't expect the other party's body to be stronger than I thought. The middle was stronger, so I suffered a boring loss. When I came up with my full strength later, the rhythm was completely controlled by the opponent, so I could only passively defend...I suspect that the opponent is not human at all."

"Not a human?" Arlan's face changed slightly, "What is that?"

"I don't know, but it's not an orc or elves or dwarves. It may be a half-orc, or a morphed monster." Vannie thought for a moment before she said her guess, "Her physical fitness is terribly good. , Has completely exceeded the limit of human beings. In fact, if she hadn't mastered the power of fighting spirit, I would probably not be her opponent."

"You mean... she is already... a legendary powerhouse without mastering the power of fighting spirit?" Arlan looked astonished.

"That's why I feel that the opponent is not a human being, but may be some kind of beast. Another factor that makes me make this judgment is that the killing aura on the opponent is too heavy, and it almost turns into In essence, I have never seen it in any human or intelligent race." Fannie said in a deep voice, although her face was pale, she also showed a bit of sorrow, "And in the process of fighting me, she went from beginning to end. They only use one-handed swords, although I must admit that her swordsmanship is very fierce, but the more so, the more suspicious.... Moreover, I think the other party shouldn't use all their strength."

"I didn't use all my strength!?" Arlan looked incredulous, "You have reached the peak of the thirteenth rank! Only one step is the way to reach the fourteenth..."

"I just fell short of the wind. If I go all out from the beginning, I don't think I will be suppressed." Fannie replied, "In terms of swordsmanship, I must admit that the opponent is better than me, but She didn't master the fighting spirit, but just relied on her physical fitness to confront me. If it weren't for me to be suppressed carelessly at the beginning, she wouldn't have a chance to hurt me. And...in the course of the confrontation, I didn't use the meteor sword skill. "

Prince Arlan's face showed a very solemn expression: "You said that the other party did not exert all their strength, so if she exerts all his strength, does it mean that she has the same strength as you?"

"I don't think so." Fannie shook her head slightly, and then continued, "She wears two slashing blades on her body, and only one out of the sheath when confronted with me, but I am also a double-sword warrior, so I know the two The difference between a sword and a single sword is not very big. Even if she has both swords together, it is at best the level of the 13th-order peak or critical point. And if I use the meteor sword skill, the combat power can reach the 14th-order."

"I thought you had the strength of Tier 14 and it was enough to suppress Elizabeth and Lauren. Now it seems that our plan needs to be adjusted." Arlan frowned, his face looked very ugly. "Anyway, I can't let you take risks.... Grand Duke Xiao En, we must win, even if we can't win the other side to stand on our side, we can't let him be in our hostile side."

This time, Fannie didn't say anything. She is not good at politics, she only knows that she is the sharp blade in Arlan's hands, and she only needs to follow Arlan's orders to solve the obstacles. As for other issues, she can't think about it, nor can she think of any countermeasures, so she never bothers about them.

Of course, she still didn't tell Arlan.

That was the night's battle. Except for the initial care, the opponent had given her enough time to react when she confronted her for the second time. She was completely suppressed in the real swordsmanship confrontation, especially Alexis's fast sword that shining like a star, almost broke her body protection qi-but even so, she I still didn't feel how terrible Alexis was, because she wouldn't be grudge.

In the Continent of Miracles, judging whether a strong man's martial arts is fierce and terrifying, to a large extent depends on the quality and quantity of fighting spirit.

A strong man, even if he can reach the legendary level by virtue of his physical fitness, but if he cannot master his fighting spirit, he will have this serious defect in terms of endurance combat capability or lethality. And these flaws are enough to make them the ultimate losers in high-end battles-even if they can gain the upper hand at the beginning, it is meaningless, because as long as they endure the initial period of suppression, wait for the opponent to show fatigue. , Is when the outcome is reversed.

So even though Alexis was deeply surprised by Vannie's swordsmanship tonight, she still didn't make her feel fear and despair.

As everyone knows, the reason why Alexis is called a taboo existence, so that her reputation is well-known throughout Outland and the Void, is because she constantly strengthens herself bit by bit in the process of fighting with opponents. Combat power, thereby completely defeating the opponent's defense and will, and only after the opponent fully feels the deepest despair and fear, will the opponent be solved with one blow.

Almost all the people who fought with Alexis, even if they were not killed by her, would become a useless person after the battle, and could no longer afford any fighting belief.

This is the real killing of Wu Ji!

Chapter 502: .On the last day of the royal capital

If it is placed before the establishment of the teleportation magic circle, when the king is seriously ill, the entire territory will be issued a notice, and then all lords and nobles will be ordered to prepare, according to the distance between the territory and the king's capital, limited to one to three months to resist the king's capital . But now because of the invention of the teleportation magic circle, the itinerary will naturally be much faster, so since the death of Ingus Lane, nobles and lords from all over the world have been restricted to the royal capital to participate in condolences.

It was more than half a month after Sean received the news. After that, he and Alexis arrived at the capital directly with teleportation magic, which didn't take much time. And Asuna and Elizabeth also arrived in the royal capital in the same way. Vivienne only led five hundred thunder fronts to join Asuna and others in a rapid march a week ago. However, in just one week, there were four assassinations against Vrches. If you count the two previous palaces, Vrches has already encountered six since the death of the old King Ingus. Assassinated, one can imagine how desperate the enemy wanted to get rid of Fulhis.

It's a pity that Sean, Asuna and others don't know why.

But compared to Kiasna's eagerness to know the reason, Sean didn't want to get involved in it at all.

In another two days, it will be the burial day of Ingus Lane, and then all the nobles who have been summoned to the King's Capital can leave.

Shaun didn't want to cause any new troubles, he just wanted to spend these two days in peace.

So when faced with the invitation of the third prince, His Royal Highness Arlan, Sean did not pay attention to it at all.

Furthermore, Sean did not want to go to the Luoshan Guild Hall at all. He had a lot of trouble in the Guild Hall back then, and later learned that the Guild Hall was actually a product of the Black Hawk, one of the three kings of the Ryan Underground World. It's just that the guy named Black Hawk never showed up after he failed to assassinate Sean, and Sean also gave all these things about Black Hawk as a favor to the Marquis of Flores, and the subsequent secret hunt The whereabouts of the Black Hawk were still not found, but it was also because the Black Hawk left the Kingdom of Lane. Therefore, all these secret industries and territories he left behind were naturally taken over by Floris.

After , Ruby took over the status of Black Hawk and became one of the three dark giants in the underground world of the Kingdom of Lane, and "divided and ruled" with the Marquis of Floris. And the two people also agreed on some special treaties because of Sean's relationship. Occasionally, private information sharing is also carried out. The thing that both of them caught more strictly was to continue hunting down the Black Hawk. But it's a pity that the former one of the three giants in the underworld of the Kingdom of Lane has never been seen.

It's just that Sean doesn't want to talk to the third prince Arlan, but he doesn't want to pay more attention to Shaun because of seeing His Royal Highness Arlan, who was injured by Fannie.

So, in a very delicate situation. The third prince came to visit in person. It knocked on the door of Sean's room.

It is conceivable that when Sean opened the door and saw that His Royal Highness Arlan was standing outside the door and looking at him with a smile, his face was amazed. To be honest, Sean wanted to close the door directly, but after thinking for two seconds, Sean welcomed the prince into his room.

"Did you bring you to your elf follower?" Sean glanced at Arlan's back and confirmed that there was no second person behind him before speaking.

Arlan glanced at Sean. The look on his face looked very weird, because he really couldn't tell whether Sean was provoking him by saying this or just talking? If it's someone else. Arlan was 100% sure that the opponent was definitely provoking him, but facing the rumored Void Grand Duke, there was no malice in the opponent's eyes, and Arlan really didn't know how to judge.

So, he could only give a wry smile and sighed: "Grand Duke Xiao En, didn't you ask me knowingly?"

"Huh?" Sean blinked, then turned his head and glanced at Alexis.

He remembered that Alexis told him that she had been very merciful and would not have any sequelae. As for the serious injury, it was even more impossible. Yesterday, Alexis deliberately let her go, just to fight against the opponent in the heyday. If she is severely injured, then I don't know that you will have to wait until the year of the monkey to be able to fight with the opponent. With Alexis's temperament I would never do such a thing.

But now, when Sean listened to Prince Arlan's words, it seemed that his follower's injury was not light. This is seriously inconsistent with what Alexis said last night.

"Her injury is not that serious, and she can move freely after lying down for at most one day." Alexis didn't want to speak, but seeing Sean's eyes full of doubts, she could only explain, "Anyway. You elves all have life potions, just drink a sip and sleep for that degree of internal injury."

Hearing this, Arlan's heart was shocked, because judging from Alexis just now, he already knew that last night was the mercy of others, so this follower of Sean is definitely stronger than Vanni is much taller, far from the level of the thirteen peak as Vanni had guessed, and even Vanni's meteorite sword skills would not be his opponent. But although Arlan was shocked in his heart, the look on his face was very natural, nothing unusual.

But I didn't know that the other two people in the room were a middle-ranked sanctuary strong and the other a super strong. The change in the moment when Arlan's heartbeat accelerated and heavier just now, they couldn't escape the ears of the two of them, but whether it was Xiao Well, neither Alexis planned to say anything. Of course, Alexis didn't think it was necessary, she was only interested in the strong, and Arlan had no martial arts at all, she would naturally not care about it; and Sean thought there was no need to tear this Arlan. His Royal Highness's face, judging from the fact that the other party dared to come and visit alone, it shouldn't be any trouble for him.

Although the Marquis of Flores has said that the main supporter of the three prince Arlan is his political opponents of the Sené noble faction in the Kingdom of Ryan, but Sean is not a stupid person, of course he has his own Judgment and understanding. Especially now that he is no longer the baby of the year, he has been a lord for so long, even if he seldom participates in the development and construction of the territory himself, and he has hardly ever dealt with other lords, but there is a little way in the noble circle. Under the influence of William and Hela, they are also well acquainted with it.

Now the third prince Arlan visits in person. It's nothing more than trying to reconcile.

Sure enough, after the third prince had a polite greeting with Sean, he quickly went straight to the subject: "Grand Duke Sean, this time I came to visit, but it was actually selfish. I think about what happened last night. . Maybe there may be some misunderstanding."

"I should say sorry." Xiao En smiled and said. "Last night, my companion hasn't had contact with the strong for a long time. Could it be that he has met such an outstanding follower of your Highness, so it may be itchy for a while, and the one who accidentally hurt your Highness when the shot is a little heavier, please also your Highness? Forgive me."

Since Arlan's heartbeat speeds up slightly, Sean already knows what Arlan already knows, so naturally he has no scruples when he speaks.

Maybe it's not quite comfortable with Sean's straightforward way of speaking. It may also be that he doesn't know how to deal with Sean's words. So Arlan's face was slightly embarrassed, and he didn't know how to answer the conversation. However, after all, he was once responsible for the diplomatic work of the Kingdom of Lane. His thinking was naturally very quick, and his negotiating ability was naturally not weak. He soon thought of the way to deal with it, and brought this topic to the past in a few words. The atmosphere is also quite harmonious.

"I think your Highness, it's not because of that little incident last night that I made a special trip to visit." But Arlan had a heart to circle. Sean did not intend to continue.

"Hmm...that's it." Arlan probably has already figured out Sean's character and speaking habits, so now that Sean has spoken so directly. Of course he does not intend to continue to wrestle, "I think, Grand Duke Sean, you should know, because my father passed away this time so strange that he did not even specify the heir, so the political situation is quite chaotic now, and I am very sad about it. , So I hope to get your support from Grand Duke Sean to help me ascend to the throne."

If it were under normal circumstances, Arlan would certainly not be so straightforward.

After all, if some things are too open and straightforward, they will make things tricky and troublesome—especially those timid and cautious nobles. They always think about conspiracy theories and guess if this is a temptation. Or something else. However, Sean is indeed a bit different. What he hates most is the random guessing around the corners, and straightforward explanation of the situation is his favorite way of communication.

"Please allow me to refuse, Your Royal Highness Arlan." Shaun refused to think about it at all, "I don't intend to be involved in the dispute between your royal family. This time I come to the capital, it is only to express condolences to the king. Your Majesty, do your best as a courtier. As for the next king's successor, I don't believe that the wise meeting of His Majesty Ingus has not made any arrangements."

In fact, Sean has already learned the truth through the last visit of the Marquis of Flores. Maybe others don't know it, but he knows that the Marquis of Floris is a true lone minister, and he can only continue to live if he continues to be loyal to the heir appointed by Ingus Lane. After all, He knows too many other people's secrets, so there will definitely be a lot of people who would be happy to see the intelligence chief of the Lane Kingdom die.

Therefore, when the Marquis of Flores said that Ingus had not had time to appoint an heir, Sean believed it.

However, Arlan obviously did not intend to give up: "In fact, Grand Duke Sean, my father did not leave any suicide note this time." At this point, Arlan's face looked rather helpless, but immediately

Turning to excitement: "But! Grand Duke Sean! Do you think my king brother Adams and my king sister Fulhis are suitable candidates?"

"Do you think you can do it?" Sean asked back.

"I don't think so." Arlan shook his head slightly, "but I am at least more suitable than my Wang brother and Wang sister.... My Wang sister lacks courage. If not, then I will support her as a successor. , Because she is deeply loved by the lower aristocracy and the people of the kingdom. If we must say that the one who is the least suitable to succeed to the throne is undoubtedly my brother, because now he has a distorted personality, even if it is far apart, I can Smell the chaotic breath of him."

Shaun looked at Arlan with a calm face. In the eyes of the third prince, Shaun saw sincerity. Therefore, he believed that those assassins who assassinated Princess Fircis were not sent by the prince. He also saw the sincerity of cooperation in the eyes of the prince, so he believed that those Sene nobles would definitely not come to trouble him now. It is even possible that the prince has been excluded from his camp.

Just, it's a pity.

"I'm sorry, Your Highness Arlan, I still can't agree." Sean shook his head, "I really don't intend to get involved in your competition for the throne. Otherwise, I will choose the one chosen by Grand Duke Asuna, who I am more familiar with. Faction. But since I have refused even Grand Duke Asuna's request. Then I have no reason to join your camp.... But, Your Royal Highness, if you really think like you just said. , I think you should have a good talk with His Royal Highness."

Arlan didn't reply, he just stared at Sean like that.

After a long time, the third prince finally nodded, and then chose to leave.

Watching the prince leave. Alexis curled his lips: "It's really boring. I thought there would be a conflict.... I knew I wouldn't let the elf leave last night, maybe I could force the other party to take out the unique skills at the bottom of the box. Now it looks like there is really no need to fight."

"I'm really curious now, who wants to assassinate the princess." Sean stood by the window, watching Arlan get into a gray carriage, and then gradually away from his sight, "but it's a pity , I really don't have time to toss these now."

"Want to find that Cecilia?" Alexis asked.

"How do you know?" Sean was taken aback.

"You called this name many times when you slept last night. I will remember it."

Shaun's face flushed slightly, and then he coughed. Try to divert this topic. It's just that even if Sean doesn't try, Alexis doesn't have much interest in asking about these, because for Alexis, she only cares about fighting, and she doesn't care about everything else. .

However, maybe it was because of the visit of His Royal Highness Arlan that many people were aware of, so no one would bother Sean for the whole day.

This also makes Sean happy.

The next day.

The sky that had been clear for most of the month, but it looked gray, and occasionally there were showers of fine rain falling down.

Today's royal capital is extremely silent and sad, as if there is a strong resentment condensed in this city. The civilians went out spontaneously early in the morning, and then gathered on the street, forming a long line from the main entrance of the Royal Capital, extending to the center of the Royal Capital Square. The nobles also gathered in the palace early, and occasionally, even if someone greeted and communicated with each other, their voices seemed very depressed.

Because today, the remains of the old King Ingus Lane will start from the palace and be sent to the pyre already erected in the center of the square for a cremation ceremony. All the nobles who have now gathered in the royal capital will also follow the guards who escorted the remains.

This has always been a custom in the Kingdom of Lane.

Sean had already gotten a good supplement before he came to the capital, so today he will definitely not make any mistakes.

When the first ray of sunlight in the morning shone in the capital, the guard escorting the body of Ingus Lane set off from the palace. Following the guards are the sons and daughters of Ingus, but the eldest son Adams Lane is walking in the forefront, followed by the third son Arlan Lane, the fourth daughter Fulhis Lane, and then later. It is the other children arranged in order of eldest and youngest.

The important ministers behind these princes and princesses are led by Sean and Asuna, and then the dukes, marquis, earls, and viscounts of the kingdom.

This is a mighty team.

But looking at this team, Sean felt only a dull life.

He knows very well that after the cremation ceremony is over, I am afraid that the war between the three throne contenders will directly enter the white-hot stage. Fundamentally, this kind of internal friction has always been avoided by all countries, so generally when the prince and princess reach adulthood, successive kings will conduct an assessment on their children, and then save the envelope with the heir in advance. .

Based on Sean's understanding of Ingus Lane, His Majesty the King, he definitely would definitely make these preparations in advance, so he wouldn't be so confused. But the facts were like hitting Sean in the face, even as the closest courtier of Ingus Lane, the Marquis of Flores did not find this letter. If someone changed and said that he could not find the letter, Sean would definitely think that someone was acting secretly, but when the Marquis of Flores said this, Sean really could only think that Ingus Lane was too confused. NS.

Because if there is only one person in the entire Kingdom of Lane who will not betray Ingus Lane, then it must be the Marquis of Floris.

But as the team progressed, Sean quickly drove these thoughts out of his mind.

He does not intend to participate in the battle for the throne, and naturally he does not care about who will become the next king of the Kingdom of Lane in the end. He only knew that when the cremation ceremony was over, he and Alexis would immediately leave here for the Millennium Covenant Empire.

Chapter 503: . Vulnerable

Before the cremation ceremony of His Majesty Ingus Lane, the old king, King Lane had already closed the magic teleportation array.

It is said that this is to avoid the sudden teleportation that will cause some unnecessary chaos, and it will not open for the next three days. The magic teleportation array will not be reopened until the fourth day.

In this regard, the people naturally expressed their understanding and did not have any objections.

Just in this way, it also suffered the nobles and commoners who wanted to leave. For this reason, they had to rent a carriage to leave, or take a public carriage that traveled regularly; of course, those who had no money could only rely on their own legs to move.

But now, Sean, who is a great prince of a country, will naturally not be short of this little money.

So he hired a carriage, and Alexis prepared to go to the city closest to the capital and use the teleportation magic circle there to leave.

Since Sean did not hide his whereabouts, when Sean and Alexis left the capital, dozens of eyes were staring at him. Obviously, the nobles in these royal capitals simply can't understand why the Void Grand Guild will leave the royal capital at this time, because it is obvious that the next three princes will compete for the throne. The nobles who have the right to speak can't wait to find a camp immediately and show their loyalty.

As far as the current situation is concerned.

The most powerful is the camp of the prince Adams.

All the nobles in the northern part of the Ryan Kingdom gathered under him. Most of these nobles were powerful nobles. Perhaps they did not occupy any important official positions and positions in the Ryan Kingdom, but because of the chaotic factors in the north, he With a strong private army, it can be said that almost one-third of the army of the entire Kingdom of Lane is now gathered in the northern border of Lane.

Therefore, Adams, who won the support of the entire northern aristocracy, is undoubtedly the favorite to win the championship.

And Badams is slightly inferior, it is the fourth princess Vulhis.

In fact, after Sean learned that the forest elf named Fannie was a follower of the third prince Arlan. He knew that the four princesses were the weakest among the three competitors. It's just that the outside world doesn't know this, because they value Grand Duke Garrod, Asuna publicly stated her position in a clear-cut manner, and she also has a legendary mage under her command-Elizabeth from the Batian family.

have to say. Elizabeth paid a lot for Asuna. She left the Batian family that year. In fact, two-thirds of the factor was driven out by the Batian family. Now that Elizabeth has become a legendary powerhouse, she is trying to get Elizabeth back to the family. If it is according to Elizabeth's idea, it is naturally unwilling, but for Asuna, Elizabeth still returns to the Batian family, and the price is that the Batian family fully supports Princess Fulhis.

So in terms of strength on the bright side. Although the fourth princess Fulhis had no courage. She is also very timid, but she, who has won the support of the people and the nobles of the royal capital, is the one who can stand against His Royal Highness Adams among the discerning people.

But in fact, the real strength is the third prince Arlan.

Vannie, the supreme swordsman from the forest elves, her rank is the powerhouse at the thirteenth-order critical point, which is a whole rank stronger than Elizabeth and Lauren. Second, although his supporters have suffered a big loss in the contest with Sean. But the foundation did not lose too much, even if the overall strength cannot be compared with the northern nobles. But it also occupies at least one-third of the voice of the military.

Today's royal capital is divided by these three heirs who are about to cause internal friction for the throne.

It is precisely because of this that, whether it is Arlan or Vulheis, it is clear who won the support of Sean, who is the next king deservedly, even if it is unable to win the support of Sean, it is just like Al Like what Lan said, he must not have any antagonism with Sean. Only Adams disdains this. This prince, whose personality has been distorted to the point of no further increase, only had revenge in his mind. In fact, apart from the northern nobles who gathered around him due to the fear of his sworn army, no noble was optimistic about this prince. .

Even the surrender vassal of the Kingdom of Darbion.

But these have nothing to do with Sean.

The carriage quickly drove away from the royal capital, away from the sight of the nobles.

Sitting in the carriage, Alexis looked very ugly. She let go of the female elf before, just to let her use all her strength the next time she played against her, otherwise Alexis would not have to let her go. But now, it turns out that he can't fight the female elf again, which makes Alexis very unhappy. As for Elizabeth, Alexis can see at a glance that the other party is not good at duels, if she really fights against each other, she can solve the fight in an instant, so there is no need to fight against each other at all.

Seeing the gloomy look on Elizabeth's face, Sean smiled: "There is no need to be so disappointed. If it's just a fight or something, I believe you will have a chance to make a move soon.... As long as it doesn't cause the royal capital. Pay attention to those guys, you can just let go and fight for a while."

Alexis looked at Sean with a puzzled look, as if trying to tell the truth of the smile in his eyes: "Huh! I can't deal with those unqualified waste. No one can do it. If you can stand my punch, hitting me with them is not even a warm-up."

"What kind of level is a warm-up?" Sean asked.

"At least, let's do the same the night before." Alexis thought for a while, and then said, "That female elf is pretty good, barely enough to warm up. But I really want to see Absolute Sword. I've seen the secret skills of the player before when I was on the Green Forest plane, and the strength has been greatly improved. This female elf is the first person I met after I woke up that was qualified to be able to warm me up. , But it's a pity."

"What a pity?" This was the first time Sean heard Alexis speak in such a regretful tone.

"That female elf can't become a super strong, I am afraid that even the pinnacle of the legend is difficult." Alexis shook his head, "Otherwise, I don't mind waiting for her to grow up.... Well, it seems. Still find a chance to fight her again."

Hearing what Alexis said, Sean suddenly felt a headache.

"Have you heard of the Knights of Oath?" Sean decided to divert the target's attention. If you continue to let Alexis continue to talk like this, maybe she will really immediately run back to find Vannie for another fight.

"No." Alexis shook his head, "But if you are talking about the one I sensed in the palace before, then it's meaningless.... Although that guy is a legendary powerhouse, his aura is vague. . Obviously it was promoted by some special external force. Such a person can only stop here. To me, even the qualifications for warming up are not considered as fragile waste."

"Very good." Xiao En nodded in satisfaction, "I will trouble you to solve that waste in a while."

"Huh?" Alexis raised his eyebrows, "How do you know? I didn't even feel the other person's breath."

"Does this still need induction?" Sean chuckled, "Do you really think that I have spent the past two days in vain? Even if I don't join the camp of His Royal Highness Arlan or His Royal Highness, but their The thoughts are the same. I will never be embarrassed or have a bad relationship with me. So, they will naturally be happy to send some information to me, so I have a good understanding of the man of this prince Adams. ."

"What do you mean..." Alexis wrinkled slightly, and then suddenly came over, "No wonder I said that I lost a breath today. It turns out that I was already waiting for us on the road.... Humph, look. I was really underestimated when I came here."

Along with Alexis's words falling, there was a sudden neighing sound from the carriage. Then the carriage came to a halt.

Sean was still sitting in the carriage, looking at Alexis with a smile. Just don't speak. After a cold snort, the latter slammed the door open, and got out of the carriage.

As Sean had expected before, the legendary powerhouse from the eldest prince Adams, the vow knight Lauren, intercepted in front of the carriage at this time. And next to him, there were twelve soldiers wearing leather armors of imitation light armor and wide-bladed swords at their waists. Because I heard Sean mention these before, Alexis recognized at a glance that these soldiers were the so-called soldiers of the oath.

The so-called pledge soldier refers to a warrior formed by a special magic contract force.

In fact, these people are already dead. They just continue to stay in this world just to fulfill the wishes of their followers. These soldiers have the same effect as the undead creatures: they will never really die, and there will no longer be any fear. As long as they are ordered from the loyalists, they will advance one after another until the goal is completed.

However, despite their similarities, these soldiers cannot be regarded as undead. It can even be said that there is no fire of life—at least the undead creatures also have the fire of souls belonging to life, and this type of vow soldier can only They are contract creatures, so they don't have any independent thinking at all. Of course, this kind of thing is not absolute. If there are some powerful people who are strong enough in their lives, if they are resurrected by the contract with a strong unwillingness to fight, then they will have their own thinking, and even their strength will be given a certain amount. The increase and strengthening in amplitude are only at the price of being unable to continue to grow in this life.

There is only one contract magic that can form an oath soldier, and that is the "King Arthur's Recovery Covenant".

This is a special kind of magic that is not classified into any class. In the Magic Guild and Mage Tower, this magic is called "super magic", which means that it has surpassed all currently known magic classes. . As far as Sean knows, "King Arthur's Recovery Covenant" is not a kind of magic that can be displayed casually. It is not so much magic, but a magic circle. He needs extremely strict special environment and conditions. Can produce.

One of the most demanding restrictions is fearless loyalty to followers.

Just like Clover's Cecilia Guards did to Cecilia, even if Cecilia let them die, they would die without hesitation. Only by reaching this level of loyalty can one of the limiting conditions of this super-order magic be reached.

But what really makes this magic extremely tricky and troublesome is not that its followers have an almost invincible undead army, but the problem is precisely in the contractor.

The most direct way to solve the Oath Legion is to kill the contractor-in other words, if you want to truly make the Oath Legion disappear, then it is undoubtedly the easiest to kill the prince Adams. But perhaps the person who created this magic at the time was also very clear that this flaw could easily turn his magic into a tasteless one, so this magic has another function, that is, it allows the contractor to also have a nearly immortal state.

This kind of immortality does not mean that he will never die.

It is that the contractor will also be born, old, sick, and die, but he will never die because of external force. As long as the contractor does not die, the Oath Legion will never be destroyed.

This is the reason why Shaun would say it was difficult when he heard Vivienne say that Adams had such an army under his command.

As for why would he know?

That's because there was such a BOSS in the game that year. So Sean also knew very well that the safest way to deal with Adams was to divide his five horses and seal all the pieces of the corpse. Only in this way could the trouble of the Oath Legion be solved. But Sean didn't want to get involved in this battle for the throne. As they competed with three princes and princesses, it would be impossible to tell the winner within a few months. Sean didn't have so much time to stay. In the royal capital.

Alexis looked at the man in heavy armor who was almost 20 meters away from him, his eyes were extremely cold: "Give way, or die."

As a famous killer Wu Ji in Outland, Alexis never knew what politeness was, her temper was just like her strength.

This is not to say that she is arrogant, but the fact that she does not care about everything outside. Only those who can make her interested, she will be willing to pay a little gaze to wait and see, just like the forest elf Vannie before. But like the vow knight Lauren in front of him, although he has reached the legendary combat power of the twelfth level, in the eyes of Alexis, it seems worthless.

To put it bluntly, it is vulnerable.

Chapter 504: .Two swords

"Get out, or die."

Alexis's tone did not fluctuate in the slightest, and it seemed extremely cold, even without the emphasis at the end of the sentence, and it was straightforward.

Lauren's brows were raised, and his calm eyes also showed a bit of anger. He glanced at Alexis coldly, then his eyes quickly passed her, and then landed on the car behind her. On the carriage, he said in a deep voice: "His Royal Highness Adams invites Lord Void to go to the palace to assist in the investigation of the mysterious death of His Majesty Ingus Lane."

Seeing Lauren doing this, this time it was Alexis's turn to raise his brows, the corners of his mouth raised slightly, and a smile soon appeared on his face. It has been a long time since no one dared to show such neglectful behavior in front of her. For a while, Alexis naturally laughed instead of anger, but those who had the privilege to watch Alexis take action will know it. , Once Alexis showed this smile, then the problem was big.

"It seems that you chose to die." Alexis spoke again, but his tone was no longer as cold as before.

Lauren snorted coldly: "Where is such a silly hillbilly? Didn't you see that I was talking to your master?"

The smile on Alexis's face grew stronger.

"Duke Void, please also..."

Before Lauren could finish her words, Alexis had already stepped up to Lauren and hit Lauren's breastplate with a fist with his right hand. The ripples visible to the naked eye spread out, and even the onlookers seemed to be able to see the place where Alexis was in the boxing, and there was a feeling of spatial shock.

As the person involved, Lauren, was even knocked out by Alexis with this punch, like a cannonball fired from the bore of a magic cannon.

had flew hundreds of meters away in the blink of an eye, and it seemed that the strength was still strong, and there was no sign of falling to the ground.

But the destruction caused by Alexis's punch. Obviously it doesn't stop there.

When the powerful force shook and dissipated, the four soldiers standing next to Lauren were the first to bear the brunt. The impact generated by this powerful force was directly knocked into the air that even Lauren couldn't bear. How could these strengths only be able to withstand the silver soldiers. The four soldiers were immediately shocked by this powerful force, and their bodies were still in mid-air, and they were squeezed and torn apart by the escaping spatial shock. Stay on the ground next to the fall. The four soldiers had become four incomplete and tattered corpses.

Seeing the sudden change, the coachman let out a horrified scream, then immediately fell off the carriage and turned around and ran.

It was not that he wanted to abandon the carriage, but almost when he was ready to make the carriage turn back to town, the wheels of the carriage sank to the ground, as if the carriage was carrying heavy goods, even The two horses were also unable to move. Compared with public products. Naturally, his own life matters. So the driver naturally jumped out of the car and left, how dare he continue to stay here.

This is because the driver doesn't know the strength of the two sides fighting in front of him. Otherwise, I'm afraid that as early as the moment when the two sides confronted each other, he would flee desperately. Because although the destructive power of the legendary powerhouse is not as powerful and terrifying as the super powerhouse, it is not difficult to destroy a city, so in general, the battlefield of the legendary powerhouse is in the sparsely populated area. The place, which is like Alexis, does not distinguish between the environment and the occasion.

The eight remaining soldiers next to . Seeing Alexis shot his commander into the air in an instant, he killed four of his companions at the same time. How can they hesitate. Immediately he drew out his swords, and stepped forward to surround Alexis, and the broad-bladed sword in his hand swung towards Alexis. From this point of view, you can see this. How fearless a contract soldier who has lost his mind is.

Ordinary people, even those who are strong in the sanctuary, see how far and far they are when they see the legendary strong, not to mention just the eight soldiers in the silver realm. And you must know that the strength of the soldiers is more about the martial arts and combat skills learned in their own army, far from the martial arts and physical strength that are exercised like adventurers and mercenaries, and they are a bit inferior in terms of ability.

Faced with the eight broad-bladed swords that were slashed towards him, Alexis didn't even bother to hide.

I saw her both hands out, and she tapped each of the eight wide-bladed swords like a thunder, a powerful force shook out from the wide-bladed sword, and then quickly moved away from the wide-bladed sword in a posture like a wildfire. The sword was passed to the hand of the sword holder. Not only was the sword trembling, even the arms of the contract soldiers holding the sword also began to vibrate strongly, and it was obvious that they could no longer control the broad-edged sword in their hands.

If you were an ordinary person, you would abandon your sword and retreat long ago, but these thoughtless contract soldiers did not do so. From the moment these people become contracted soldiers, they have indeed become fearless since then, but they also lose their thinking, mind and judgment ability. So there was no accident. The right hands of the eight soldiers exploded in this tremor, but the strange thing was that no blood splattered out. It seemed that what these contract soldiers had was just a body.

The shards of the wide-bladed sword that were also blown into iron pieces by the tremor fell on the ground and clinked together.

But these contract soldiers who lost an arm and a weapon did not stop fighting because of this. Instead, they grabbed Alexis with only one arm. As the famous killer Wu Ji in Outland, how could Alexis let these people touch her, and didn't see her actions? The eight contract soldiers were all shocked before they touched Alexis. Flying out, even the corpse is no longer intact.

If it hadn't been for these contracted soldiers to have no blood in their bodies, I'm afraid there would have been blood flowing here long ago.

easily obliterated these contract soldiers, but Alexis's face looked unusually indifferent. When I heard Sean describe these contract soldiers in the carriage before, Alexis didn't feel anything, but after he really did it himself, Alexis had a full understanding of these contract soldiers, but I don't know why. However, her heart felt a sense of disgust and rejection towards these people.

A fierce murderous aura swept from far and near.

Alexis stared at Lauren, who soon reappeared in sight. His face was already full of killing intent.

Looking back at Lauren, the heavy armor on her body was already shattered. Obviously, this armor couldn't stop Alexis's punch just now. So when this came over again, he had already removed the heavy armor from his body—in fact, Lauren, who was a contracted creature. It won't really die at all. Wearing heavy armor is just a hobby during his lifetime. Of course, it can also play a certain protective role at certain times, but a set of ordinary heavy armor is obviously unable to stop a strong attack like Alexis. , So instead of continuing to be a burden, it is better to take it off.

But when Lauren rushed over, what he saw was that the twelve men he brought out had all turned into corpses. Although knowing that these people will not really die at all, they will "live" again after a while. But the sight in front of him has made Lauren feel unusually angry.

"Void Lord. Are you trying to treason?" Lauren let out an angry roar, "Dare to attack His Highness Adams' subordinates!"

Facing Lauren's reproach, in the carriage not far away, Sean's voice finally came: "Treason? Wait until the one in your family becomes the king. Now he is just a prince, on power and power. I am even above him. Prince Adams dared to intercept and provoke me openly. Is this going to provoke a war? No wonder the outside world says that your master is not suitable to be a king. I don't even have a brain, it seems that it is true. in this way."

"You dare to slander His Royal Highness Adams. Sean Connery, you just pay for it with your life!" Lauren let out a roar, and the majestic aura of being a legendary powerhouse broke out completely at this time, and the murderous aura radiated from him. It also swept straight towards the carriage in which Xiao En was riding like a sharp blade.

The next moment, Lauren raised the giant sword in his hand and rushed towards Sean's carriage.

However, even if he wants to kill Sean, he has to go through Alexis. As Alexis's contractor, if Sean is dead, then it will be for Alexis. The biggest trouble, so she naturally can't let Lauren attack Sean.

"Go away!" Lauren roared, and the epee in his hand swept towards Alexis.

The black sword wind was accompanied by the sound of howling thunder, and there was even a smelly bad wind, which made Alexis' brows slightly frowned. It's just that, because the reason Alexis frowned was just that the smell was a little disgusting, not because she found it bothersome.

The black sword light suddenly lit up.

Alexis has already pulled An out of the sheath quickly, and is no longer the same as before relying on physical strength to fight against Lauren. And if you observe carefully, you can even see a breath surging in Alexis's body, which is clearly a force of vindictiveness!

A sword came up, and only a muffled sound of gold and iron was heard, and the bad wind that Lauren waved the sword was directly shaken away.

And Alexis, still standing in place, not only did not move a bit without being impacted by the force, even her right hand holding the sword did not tremble at all, as if Lauren's sword was like a child, unable to shake at all. Alexis. On the contrary, Lauren himself was so lightly blocked by Alexis. Because of the excessive force, his feet sank several inches into the ground, and countless cracks spread behind him from the place where he was standing.

A black flame was burning in Lauren's eyes. The next moment his strength suddenly increased a bit, and his voice became low and hoarse: "Dark realm!"

A subtle airborne vibration sensation suddenly trembled in this area. It was obvious that Lauren had already developed his domain and legendary abilities.

But the next moment, the black flame in Lauren's eyes only burned for a few seconds before it was completely extinguished. In addition, there was a crisp cracking sound in the air, as if a vase fell to the ground. It was more dense and louder than the sound of the contract soldiers' broad-bladed swords breaking into iron pieces.

Lauren's eyes showed a touch of surprise.

"Any field and legendary ability can't exert any effect in front of me." Alexis said lightly, but her face was already full of murderous intent, so these words sounded extraordinarily cold, "You The only thing you can use is your own strength.... But obviously, your physical fitness is not very good."

After saying this, Alexis suddenly picked up his right hand.

The black sword light exploded in the air along with Alexis's actions.

Just looking at this black sword light with the naked eye, you will feel a soreness and tingling sensation in your eyes.

As a party to the confrontation, Lauren can feel the horror of this black sword light even more, because the epee in his hand was cut into two directly by the sword light of Alexis. Although his epee is not a magic weapon, it is blessed by his vindictive power, but it is not weaker than an ordinary legendary weapon, but it actually appears so fragile under the attack of Alexis, as if this It's not a weapon at all, but a piece of noodles.

The next moment, Lauren's sight was shrouded in darkness, and his consciousness was completely silent in the darkness.

After Alexis cut Lauren's epee with a single sword, she had no intention of keeping her hands at all, but continued to take a step forward, and the cutting blade in her hand would naturally pass by again. This time the black sword light stayed at Lauren's neck, directly separating Lauren's head from his body, and Lauren himself didn't even have any sense of it.

Two swords, they solved a legendary strong man.

If this record is passed out, it will definitely cause a sensation among the nobles in the royal capital.

However, if they know that the person who shot is a super strong, I am afraid this news will be more sensational than knowing that Lauren was solved by two swords? But behind this sensation, how many people can see the subtleties of it? In fact, even Sean is very curious as to why Alexis, who is a legendary powerhouse, did not cause much damage and noise when he shot. It is not a legendary or super-powerful at all, but just two novices in the Bronze realm fighting.

He remembers that the previous battle of fate in the North Principality Alliance was truly earth-shattering, and the vitality of dozens of miles around was completely destroyed!

However, this kind of curiosity was filtered after a flash in Sean's mind.

He still has real things to deal with right now.

For example, a great gift given to Sean by His Royal Highness Prince Adams at this time-the Grand Duke who blatantly intercepted and attacked the Void Duchy.

Chapter 505: .Undercurrents of Competitors

A burst of broken porcelain sounded one after another, and then there was a continuous sound of heavy objects falling to the ground.

All the sounds come from one room.

There were dozens of people standing outside the door, more than half of them were contract soldiers with cold and solemn expressions, but lifeless eyes. The rest are mainly servants, but there are also a few people who are embarrassed. These people with embarrassed faces are all wearing luxurious clothes. Although the style is not the most popular luxury style in the royal capital today, it is a more retro style of killing.

Only nobles in the north of the kingdom will wear this style of clothing.

After the cremation ceremony, they wanted to go back to their residence to make up their sleep. After all, they are all noble lords, so naturally they must have some nightlife. Even if they come from the more pragmatic northern nobles, they want to relax more or less when they come to the capital. But they didn't want to. They were called by Adams's urgency just shortly after they slept. When they arrived in a hurry, they only heard the constant noise from the study.

Thinking and knowing with his toes, Adams was venting his anger in the study at this time. None of these northern nobles were willing to go up and die at this time, so despite the embarrassment on their faces, they would rather choose to wait outside. It just made them curious, why did Adams furious after the old king's cremation ceremony? It stands to reason that even if it is unable to obtain the support of the Kingdom's Representative Military and Political Council, it should not be so furious.

The so-called Kingdom Representative Military and Political Council is a kind of autonomous operation mechanism of the kingdom created by the first king of the Kingdom of Lane. Its purpose is to prevent the previous king's failure to designate an heir and cause chaos and division in the kingdom's government affairs. In addition, the Kingdom's Military and Political Council also has the power to inspect and evaluate all the children of the royal family, in order to determine the candidates for the next successor to the throne, and to prevent the Kingdom's Military and Political Council from being overwhelmed, splitting and changing the Kingdom of Lane. The law also limits the executive power of this parliamentary body for only one year.

In other words, the kingdom's military and political council must decide the next heir to the throne within one year.

In the hundreds of years since the establishment of the Kingdom of Lane, the Kingdom's representative military and political assembly has been activated twice, and this time is the third time. This is also the fundamental reason why the Kingdom of Lane died when the old king did not designate an heir, and the three princes and princesses competed for the right of inheritance without causing civil strife in the kingdom.

The representative military and political assembly of the Kingdom consists of eight people. The four are the powerful aristocrats who have won the title of "National Pillar and Important Minister" in government affairs. The four are powerful aristocrats who have won the king's trust in military affairs. This list was drawn up by the current king himself, because it is an urgent matter for the future of the kingdom, and the characters on this list are constantly being tested and tested at the same time, so every other year, someone will ask the current king if he wants to modify it. List.

If Sean had not been given the name of the Grand Duke of the Principality, he would actually be on this list.

Since the cremation ceremony of Ingus Lane, the government affairs of the Kingdom of Lane have been temporarily transferred to the commissioned Acting Military and Political Council. Whether it is the first prince Adams, the third prince Arlan, and the fourth princess Vulhis. They all have a year to compete. In order to strive to become the next seater on the king's chair.

For this reason, they naturally do not want to make any mistakes in order to be caught by other competitors, thereby eliminating themselves from the ranks of competitors.

But at this time, the prince Adams made a mistake, which made arrogance like how he could calm down.

In the study, as people outside the door had expected, Adams was destroying things to vent his accumulated anger.

The entire study room. It is as if it has been damaged by a typhoon of over ten magnitude and an earthquake, whether it is a bookshelf, a vase, a bronze statue, etc. placed in the room. All have been dropped, broken into pieces, or broken into pieces. Even many precious books, scrolls, picture books and the like have been scattered on the ground, many of which have been torn or missing corners. I'm afraid that anyone who is skilled in art will yell at this scene and can hardly hide his anger.

"You mean, you can be solved by Sean Connery's two swords?" Adams waved his hand and swept all the remaining things on the desk to the ground, and then asked in a deep voice, "Didn't you say, Isn't that woman your opponent?!"

Before intercepting Sean, it was Lauren who was beheaded by Alexis with two swords. At this time, she stood intact in the study. Although he did not wear the heavy armor that had been smashed by Alexis, he did not carry the heavy sword behind his back, but his neck also did not suffer from the scars of being beheaded by Alexis. No matter how you look at it, Lauren doesn't seem to have been injured at all.

But only Adams and Lauren themselves know that he did die once in the hands of Alexis.

Only because of the contractual oath, Lauren was resurrected afterwards, and then led the twelve subordinates back to the royal capital-not only Lauren did not die, but also the twelve he took. The soldiers are also resurrected just like Lauren. It is said that when several ordinary people saw the resurrection of these soldiers, they were directly frightened, thinking that some undead creatures appeared.

Facing Adams' roar, Lauren can only bear with his head down silently at this time.

For a long time, after Adams' anger had subsided slightly, Lauren said: "I seriously underestimated the woman's strength, which caused trouble to His Royal Highness. The subordinates are not doing well, so please punish your Royal Highness."

"Punish?" Adams smirked, "Is there any use for me to punish you!? And if I punish you now, I will only give my good brother and sister the opportunity to rise, which is useless for me!" Adams finally calmed down a bit: "The most important thing now is how many people know about this matter? And, what kind of response will that Sean make."

"It's better to let the subordinates immediately lead the Oath Legion to attack, and then..." Lauren made a move to wipe his neck.

Adams glanced at Lauren, and said coldly: "How sure do you think you are? According to what you said, that woman has at least a strength close to the fourteenth order, and may even be close to the peak of the fourteenth order. In this case, even if you give you two thousand vows soldiers, you can only entangle her undefeated and really want to solve the opponent. At the very least, you need the help of a legendary powerhouse.... You think it is possible for Elizabeth Help you?"

Lauren lowered his head and said nothing.

"Go and let them in." Adams said in a deep voice.

Lauren quickly turned around and opened the door, letting the northern nobles come in. After all the northern nobles entered the room, they all chose to turn a blind eye to the mess on the ground, as if the room was unusually empty and tidy, so even there were some precious scroll picture books on the ground. They also stepped straight on without squinting.

"I don't hide it from you." Seeing these few northern aristocrats who are really my confidantes. Adams also got up from the chair behind the desk, and then said in a deep voice, "Because of an intelligence error, I have committed a stupid thing. This is likely to cause trouble for me and you.... So, I need you now. Return to the northern border immediately and mobilize the army to prepare for war."

"Preparing for war?" A northern noble general frowned slightly. "Who is at war with?"

"The Void Lord." Adams said in a deep voice. "Today, after the cremation ceremony, I asked Lauren to intercept the grand prince. I wanted him to assist me in investigating the mysterious death of my father, but I didn't want the grand prince Xu Kong to refuse to cooperate. There was a battle among the followers of the Grand Duke, and finally the Grand Duke Void escaped."

Hearing this, the expressions of several northern nobles immediately changed.

They are all powerful nobles with feudal territories. So it is very clear what Adams's words mean.

Although their identities are not as noble as Sean, who is already a great prince of a country, even the army of the Kingdom of Lane has no right to intercept their vehicles. Really qualified to intercept and order them. Only the supreme King of the Ryan Kingdom, but with the death of His Majesty, even the active military and political council is not qualified to intercept them.

Not to mention hands-on.

To put it harder, it can be regarded as an assassination.

Even if a country's king or even an imperial emperor blatantly assassinates a nobleman, this is a very troublesome thing and may even cause a rebellion. However, if the action is successful, then naturally no one will doubt, and even if they doubt, they will definitely not dare to openly criticize. But let Sean Connery, the Void Archduke, escape, then the next thing is much more troublesome.

After all, about the reputation of this great prince, even in the north, they can be regarded as familiar.

Several northern lords immediately led their orders to leave, and for a while, only Adams, Lauren and an older northern nobleman were left in the room.

"His Royal Highness, isn't it possible to reconcile with Grand Duke Sean?" The northern nobleman frowned slightly, his face showing a bit of fatigue, and then said, "After all, Your Royal Highness just wants to ask Grand Duke. It's just to come back to assist in the investigation. Even if there is a conflict, it should be just a small contradiction. If it can calm the anger of this grand prince, even if it is to give up a little interest, I think it is not a bad idea."

Adams smiled helplessly and said, "Although I am arrogant, it does not mean that I am stupid.... Even if I am willing to reconcile with Lord Void, will my brother and sister miss such an opportunity? Now my attack on Lord Void has been circulated in the capital. No matter what the Lord Void reacts, the representative military council is already deducting points. In the competition for the throne, I have fallen behind. My two brothers and sisters are gone."

Hearing Adams's so calm words, the northern noble also showed a solemn expression.

.....

A person who can become a contender for the throne is by no means as simple as it seems on the surface.

The prince Adams is indeed not good at government affairs, but it does not mean that he will be politically savvy. From the moment he saw Lauren come home empty-handed, he had already realized the mistakes he had made. Although the next series of actions were not a good strategy, at least he would not fall into passiveness in the future. It can be regarded as a panacea-like response method. Of course, he himself has seen very clearly that his brother and sister will never miss such a good opportunity to strike.

In fact, as Adams had guessed, Lauren blatantly intercepted and fought Alexis-of course, whether in the eyes of Arlan or Frches, it was an attempt to assassinate the Void Archduke Sean Connery. — The intelligence has fallen into the hands of these two throne candidates.

Furxis passed the information obtained from the Marquis of Floris to Asuna's hands. The latter frowned immediately after reading it. However, she did not speak. Instead, she handed this information to Elizabeth and Vivienne, but her eyes fell on the Marquis of Floris, who was standing behind her Royal Highness Princess Frches. In the southern Kingdom of Lane, nothing can be concealed from the giant of the underground world.

Facing Asuna's slightly indifferent gaze. Even the Marquis of Floris, one of the three dark giants underground in the Kingdom of Lane, seemed a little uncomfortable. But fortunately. Asuna didn't mean to embarrass the Marquis, she quickly retracted her gaze, looked at Frches, and said, "What is your Royal Highness's plan?"

"I want to disseminate this information, what does Grand Duke Asuna feel?" Vulcis said softly, with her unique delicate tone, but in her voice it was revealed that it was also cultivated by the royal family all the year round. The awe-inspiring will. "Although this cannot cause fatal damage to Brother Adams. But it is enough to cause some people to be vigilant. Especially the Acting Military and Political Council, they will definitely come forward to investigate this matter immediately, but regardless of the outcome, Brother Adams's reputation will definitely be affected. This is obviously detrimental to him on the road to the throne."

"But this kind of thing involves Grand Duke Sean after all. We don't know how Duke Sean will react..." Asuna frowned. Then he said.

"I heard that the Void Principality has shifted its focus and energy to the Thousand-Year Empire Control Zone in the Barren Land. I am afraid that it will ignore what happens on our side in a short time." The Buddha standing behind His Royal Highness The Marquis of Loris spoke suddenly.

"After the incident, as long as we make appropriate compensation to Grand Duke Sean, I believe Grand Duke Sean will definitely not mind, and maybe he will be very happy about our attack on His Highness Adams."

Asuna just stared at the Marquis of Floris without saying a word, but the look in her eyes obviously made the Marquis of Flores feel unusually heart palpitations, and even her back was soaked.

"Grand Duke Asuna, I believe that even if Grand Duke Sean pursues it afterwards, you will definitely have a solution." Vulcis suddenly said, interrupting Asuna's gaze on the Marquis of Floris. Moreover, such information, even if we don't use it, my three king brothers will definitely use it.... So in a sense, our most is to add fire."

.....

Arlan, who has a handsome face that many people can envy, the corners of his mouth are slightly raised at this time, which makes his handsome face even brighter. He raised a piece of information in his hand, and then gave a soft whistle: "Vannie, my brother really did a terribly stupid thing.... Haha, I believe he should now It will be a very headache."

Fannie's complexion has completely returned to normal, completely no longer the appearance of the previous serious injury. Just listen to her red lips lightly open: "His Royal Highness seems to be very happy."

"Of course I'm happy." Arlan nodded, "My king brother is as brainless as I expected, and asked his vow knight to intercept Grand Duke Shaun's car. As a result, he was killed by the man next to Duke Shaun. The follower's two swords have been resolved.... If he hadn't been an oath of the undead, my king brother would have lost a legendary follower, and now I'm afraid he's completely ineligible to compete for the throne."

"Then I have to congratulate Your Highness in advance."

"No, my brother Wang hasn't completely lost power yet. At least he still has the power to compete, but he won't be as popular as before." Arlan said with a smile, "Although I don't want to be with that Void Lord Enemy, but...it's good to borrow some momentum a little bit. Besides, I believe my sister who lacks courage will definitely not let it go. After all, there is a side hiding in the shadows beside her. Fox... And, I am also very interested, how my brother Wang plans to solve this matter, he is not like a person sitting and waiting to die."

"Does His Highness Adams have any other means?"

"Hmph, he certainly won't have any other means, he will only consider it in the way of military warfare." Arlan said coldly, "but beside him, there is a conspiracy that was called a black hand in Lane in the past. Home.... He is just as annoying as the old fox hiding in the shadows of Floris. I would be driven out of the royal capital back then, thanks to him.... Well, I believe this old guy will definitely not. If Adams is allowed to come, he should find a way to make up, at least to minimize the damage to Adams."

Speaking of this, Arlan stretched out his hand and gently tapped on the table top, and a unique rhythm-like percussion sounded: "Vannie, these days, you pay attention to staring at the road from the capital to the Fortress of Tonis, as long as it is. If you find any suspicious guy, you will be killed.... In addition, let people go to the teleportation magic circle in several nearby cities. If suspicious people are found, report them immediately, and then conduct a follow-up investigation. If it is confirmed that they all eventually appeared At Tony's Fortress, everyone will be killed regardless of status or status."

When said this, Arlan looked murderous, not at all as weak as he had seen Sean before.

"Old guy, no matter what you want to do, you must get in touch with the Void Principality. I am not as you wish." Arlan sneered, "Back then, you judged me that I was not resourceful enough, but so what? I just have more brains than the one you supported..... I fundamentally broke your plan, no matter how you save it, I don't want to regain control of the situation."

Chapter 506: . Potential danger

What happened to King Ryan has nothing to do with Sean.

After he and Alexis arrived at the city closest to the capital, they could not wait to use the teleportation magic circle to leave, and they still teleported.

The teleportation magic circle is a cross-age magic circle developed by the Helson Research Institute based on the ancient teleportation map. Its main function is to use the consumption of magic power to perform real-time on other magic teleportation arrays that have been anchored in space. Space transfer. But after all, it is not an ancient teleportation array that uses magical power to support space channels. This teleportation array that uses magic power as a consumption is actually not only very susceptible to interference from space magic, but every time it transmits, it will cause certain damage to the body.

Although these damages are only minor mental and physical damages, they can be recovered with a little rest for a day. But if you continue to transmit without getting enough rest, then this accumulated damage will become permanent damage, perhaps only the body like Alexis is already at an extraordinary level. The guy who was able to completely ignore it.

Even if it is stronger than Sean, it will be affected physically. However, compared to the average person, Sean's impact is much more minor. After all, the laws he understands and come into contact with are time and space. Although the power of the laws of space is still completely unavailable, he uses this to reduce the teleportation magic array. Its own interference, influence and damage are already more than enough.

With a shorter number of days than when they went to the capital, Sean and Alexis returned to the Void City.

This big city, which is now a symbol of the capital of the Void Principality, does not show such a prosperous scenery, even if it has been recuperating for more than a year, but it has experienced the Darbyan war, the conspiracy of the Sené nobility, and the blood-flag revenge. For the Void Principality with a series of battles such as the Ryan Bad Blood Plan, the principalities of the Principality are now in a state of serious shortage, and this cannot be recovered in a year or a half.

Even though Neil and Hela used some darker methods to attract a large number of people from other territories into the Void Duchy. However, as the lords of the surrounding territories began to set up checkpoints and implement iron-blooded methods, no one dared to venture into the Void Duchy now. Fortunately, because of the large-scale housewarming of many tribes in the Wild Lands, it has made up for the supply of troops in the Void Duchy to some extent.

But, that's all.

Many cities and towns in the Principality of Void. Still in a deserted condition-although it is not considered as ten rooms and nine empty spaces. However, there are at least four to six empty rooms in the ten rooms.

The City of Void, a big city that can accommodate nearly 100,000 people, even when the Principality was newly established, there were nearly 50,000 people. Now because of several consecutive wars, the long-term population of the entire city is less than 30,000, even if you count it. The floating population is also less than 40,000. When returning with Alexis before. Sean just felt unusually deserted. But now after seeing the detailed data report, Sean's brows are completely frowned.

"There are advantages and disadvantages." Looking at Sean's brows furrowed, Neal said lightly.

"I know." Sean nodded and said in a deep voice, "If the empire plan is successful, now the territory of the Void Principality will become very tricky. After all, it is too deep. Once a war breaks out, the strategic aspect will be too big. To give the enemy more room to move, even if Hela and William join forces, it will be difficult to completely blockade."

"So in my strategic plan, this old land is just a buffer zone for our front battle." Hela took the words indifferently, and then said, "Currently the imperial plan is progressing very smoothly, and the third phase is nearing completion. The opposition in the Wildlands basically ceases to exist. But now there are many black hands reaching into the Wildlands, and the situation is more complicated than the business alliance's implementation of the head and tail snake plan."

"We are such a big movement, it is impossible to hide it from others, but it is far from the time to tear the skin." Neil said in a deep voice.

Many people believe that William is the most talented military commander of the Void Principality. Even Hella only slightly beats William in a strategic layout. If it is in actual combat or even the changing situation of the battle, Hella is likely to be ranked in the top 20. The standards are not in the rankings. But only Sean's true core followers will know that William can have today's achievements, in addition to his own talent and perception, to a large extent owed to Neil's guidance in the past.

Perhaps, Neil is not as good as Hela in strategic layout, and he is not as good as William in tactical attack. However, Neal's biggest advantage is that he has no obvious shortcomings, and in conjunction with his political processing methods, his keen sense of political situation, and his diplomatic skills, Neal's strategic and tactical thinking is far superior to anyone. At least the opinions and judgments in this regard are absolutely the level of ten generals.

So when faced with the direct core of Neal's words, neither Sean nor Hela were surprised or surprised.

After a short pause, Neil continued to speak: "On the Millennium Covenant side, there is no need to worry about it. The civil strife has consumed a lot of their energy, and there is really no energy left to stop it. According to William, the Millennium Covenant Empire The internal rebel party is desperately desperate, but it is a pity... they are doomed to lose."

"Oh?" Xiao En was taken aback for a moment, "how do you say?"

"William has achieved a brilliant victory." Neal handed the letter sent by William to Sean, and then briefly explained, "All the materials raised by the rebels of the Millennium Covenant Empire have been William was captured. But... at the moment he is unable to return for the time being. Several of the Zoanton family's goals of competing with Hasas for successors and supporters from the rebel party have fought with William."

"It's impossible for William to be held back because he fights with them?" Sean frowned. "What the * is he doing?"

"Cecilia hasn't contacted William." After hesitating, Hela and Neil looked at each other before Hela said, "Although the specific reason is not clear, but...sigh over the forest... "

"Sigh the forest!?" Xiao En's face changed slightly.

No one knows better than him, sighing what kind of place the forest is.

Before the black soil was purified, this forest was regarded as the fringe area of this chaotic and dark land, and it was a clear watershed boundary. In the eastern frontier of the Millennium Covenant Empire, it has always been known as the "death boundary". And when the black earth was purified, after Utopia appeared. This forest of sighs will become a war buffer zone for Utopia in the Holy Land. If a road is not opened in the forest, it will not be easy to launch an aggression against Utopia.

But now, utopia has not yet emerged, this sigh forest is a more dangerous area.

Shaun always felt that Cecilia seemed to be in trouble. This is not his illusion. It's a feeling of feeling after he became the son of the world. This is a kind of welfare given to him by the will of the world, but at first he didn't know what this feeling was, until he was raised by Jibril on the floating island, he finally realized it. It is precisely because of this that Sean is anxious to return to the Void Principality, preparing to go to the Millennium Covenant.

Forced to directly stabilize the mind. Sean said, "Cecilia's side. I will go with Alexis. If you want to come to her with Kozilek and Rena by his side, Cecilia and the others should not encounter much danger."

Sean thought for a while, as long as it didn't alarm the death wave in the forest of sighs, Kozilek and Rena would be enough to run rampant throughout the forest of sighs.

"If this is the case, I will send a letter to William later so that he does not have to worry." Neil nodded, and then continued, "Don't bother about the Millennium Covenant Empire. When they stabilize, we are here. You can call yourself an empire. But what you need to worry about right now. On the contrary, it's the Fascist Kingdom. Recently, there have been constant movements, and the conflict with the Ryan border has become more and more fierce, even Darby on the Broken Dragon Mountain. The Ang Old Party is also showing signs of a comeback."

"Third Garrison?" Sean frowned.

When the Kingdom of Darbion fell, the Third Garrison was unable to participate in the Great Patriotic War of the Kingdom of Darbion because of Andrew's action, which caused the invasion of the orcs. And because of this, the kingdom of Darbion's military power was only less than half of it. Otherwise, even with Sean's conspiracy and Andrew's intervention, Ryan would never want to annex Darbion so simply.

This orc troop that often crosses Broken Dragon Valley to invade is actually composed of prisoners exiled from various tribes in the Barren Land.

To put it simply, Broken Dragon Mountain Range is equivalent to a prison in a wild land.

In the past, the Broken Dragon Mountain Range was naturally guarded by people, ensuring that these prisoners can only live hard in the Broken Dragon Mountain Range and never return to the wild land. For this reason, they can only seek to cross the Broken Dragon Valley in the Broken Dragon Mountains, trying to find a new way to survive.

However, as the major tribes of the Wildlands were incorporated by Sean, the blockade of the Broken Dragon Mountain Range became thinner, so that all the troops stationed in the Wildlands of the Broken Dragon Mountain Range were all withdrawn in the last two months. In this way, those murderous criminals who were caught up to the Broken Dragon Mountain Range will have a new way out, and when there is a way to survive, they will naturally not go to the hard bones of the Third Garrison.

In this way, the third garrison was freed up instead.

After understanding this, Sean sighed softly: "Ignore them, we will continue to implement our plan. But... If Hopson asks for help, if we can help, we will do our best to help. One hand, after all, the treaty of the Alliance of Seven has not been lifted."

Hela curled her mouth noncommittal about what Shaun said, her eyes obviously a little disdainful.

"As for the fascist kingdom, after I have dealt with Cecilia's side, I will spare my hands to deal with them." Sean ignored Hela, but then said coldly, "They thought our blood Qi's revenge is over, huh... then, let's give the Wiles family a surprise. So, in this case, our empire plan is basically free of obstacles?"

"Actually, there are." Neil sighed slightly, then gently pushed a piece of information and slid it in front of Sean.

Receiving the document bag containing the information, Sean opened it, and then only glanced at it, and his brows wrinkled.

There is very little content on the letter paper, only a few short sentences, even if you look carefully, it takes less than ten seconds, but Sean looked at it for ten minutes, then raised his head and looked at Neil, with a deep voice. Said: "Already infiltrated?"

Neil nodded slightly. Then he replied: "Although the current situation in the wild land is basically under our control, these people are still trying to find opportunities. And there are signs that they are not willing to cause trouble in the wild land, and they are also trying to cross the strait. Rift Valley, it's just that several attempts have been unsuccessful."

"The Empire plans to let it go first. I'll wait until Alexis and I bring back Cecilia and them." Sean thought for a while. Then he said, "Be sure not to give these guys any chance, otherwise, once those people are allowed to intervene, even if there is an excuse that His Royal Highness Adams makes for us now, we will fall into passiveness.... This is not what we want. The desired result."

"However, you can take advantage of the open assassination of the Void Lord." Hela, who had been quiet and did not speak any more, suddenly smiled at this time. The eyes are surprisingly bright. "If everything goes well, Ryan will be overwhelmed....I'll go and negotiate with Diana." At this point, Hela suddenly seemed to think of something, and then suddenly said: "You asked me to pay attention before. There has been news about the movement of the Peace Council in the principality.... The people that the Peace Council secretly dispatched to our principality have all been evacuated. It seems that you have offended them severely."

"It's good if they evacuate. If they keep relying on it, it will be a trouble." Xiao En said lightly. "But I care more about Christina."

"I went through the underground intelligence organization. I didn't buy any news about her, as if she had disappeared from this world."

"Because of this, I am worried."

When she thinks of Christina, who is like a fanatic, Sean feels a headache. That woman is the most buggy existence that Sean has ever seen. If it weren't for Rena to have an angel outfit. Michael, Rena would not be Christina's opponent in terms of achievement and strength growth alone. . But even so, when he thinks of Christina, Sean's heart is a little uneasy. He knows that this is a kind of induction of the will of the world, just like his induction of Cecilia, this is also Sean letting Hela go. Inquire about the reason for Christina's trail.

If you can grasp the real trace of Christina, then naturally it would be better.

But now even the God Eye, Thieves Guild, Assassin Alliance, and Priory cannot detect Christina's trace, which is worth thinking about. Of course, Sean believes that Deadthorn, an old opponent of the Peace Council, can definitely be inquired, but now the relationship between Sean and Deadthorn is absolutely antagonistic, and Deadthorn will not provide Sean with any information or clues, even if it does. It's definitely wrong information, so Sean didn't ask himself to be boring.

The current Void Principality is like a huge vortex, attracting the eyes of all the forces in the entire southern continent.

I have to say that Hela, Neil, William, and Cecilia are the most correct to choose to implement the Void Empire plan at this time, because this time is the time when the Millennium Covenant Empire is most declining, and this internal friction caused by the rebellion There is absolutely no way to recover in the next ten years. In addition, the Kingdom of Line is now trapped in a vicious circle of self-care. The Void Duchy left the Kingdom of Line at this time, just as the Kingdom of Line used Enkos to block the way and annex Dabion to regain the status of the kingdom.

No matter who it is, it is difficult to find the Void Principality or the future Void Empire in trouble at this time.

Just because they can't make trouble, it doesn't mean they don't mean to cause chaos or fish in troubled waters.

Especially now, because of Reyce, Sean has dispersed all the high-end combat power within the principality, which makes the void inside the principality somewhat weak. If the void empire is destroyed at the most critical point at this time, and the purpose and news of the impending empire are even exposed, then it will definitely cause more unnecessary trouble.

This is also the real reason for Sean to stop the Void Empire plan immediately.

After all, even if you want to proclaim yourself an empire, you need to choose a good time to minimize all risks. Otherwise, if you fight head-to-head with other people, or with other forces and organizations, even if you can really become an empire afterwards, it will enter a long period of decline. This is not the result that Sean wants.

Especially, there are many foreign forces that are like sharks smelling blood, beginning to gather in the wild.

At the very least, Sean will have to eliminate all these undesirable factors before he can continue to implement the Void Empire plan without any worries, otherwise he would rather let it go. Of course, he can't delay this time for too long. At least it must be before the Kingdom of Lane can really choose the heir. If it wasn't for Adams to intercept him, Sean would choose to decide the next term in the Kingdom of Lane. After the heir, he left the Kingdom of Lane.

As far as the current results are concerned, Sean has about half a year to make relevant preparations.

After explaining things to Hela and Neil, Sean and Alexis rested in the lord's mansion for one night, and then the next day through the teleportation magic circle directly into the wild land, towards the millennium covenant empire Advance within the country.

Chapter 507: .The game has been decided

The wind on the Gobi is a bit more awe-inspiring than the gale on the plains, and people can't help but feel a sense of wonder.

Just like the difference between the rabble and the elite troops.

On the vast Gobi, a cavalry unit is like a surging sea, rushing towards the battlefield in the Gobi where it is fighting, just like a large-scale tsunami is trying to destroy the world and destroy the earth. Destroy everything on its path.

In the entangled battle of infantry from charging each other to catching and killing each other, it is naturally impossible not to see this menacing cavalry unit.

I have to say that the timing of the charge of this cavalry force is very precise. At this time, it happens that the two sides are entering a stalemate in a tug of war. As a new force, it can give itself a great advantage. In particular, the entry point of the cavalry force is located on the flanks of the battle. As long as the battle formation is penetrated, it can cause a heavy blow to the enemy from the two major aspects of momentum and lethality.

The value of cavalry units should be like this.

It's just that, on a steep  later in the battlefield, William finally looked away from here: "The victory is determined."

"Huh? The outcome has been divided?" Hasas looked at the battlefield ahead with a look of uncertainty, and he couldn't understand what William said that the outcome was determined.

In his opinion, the Thunder Lions troops led by Alfred did not directly smash the enemy's infantry phalanx as they did in previous battles, which led to a situation where the occupation fell into a fight. It stands to reason that in such an evenly divided battle, the side as the commander should immediately join the second echelon, strive to get rid of this kind of fighting situation as soon as possible, and allow its own side to expand its advantage.

But William did not do this. Instead, he kept Clover and his troops on standby, and even the troops he had raised to serve as cannon fodder remained useless—in fact. Hasas is very clear about the level of the troop he has recruited. He knows that this troop cannot play a unique role on the front battlefield. So from the moment he handed over the command of the troop, he thought that his troop would be put into use either as a decoy or when there is a stalemate like the present one. To put it simply, he was very self-aware: cannon fodder was nothing but cannon fodder. Can be used for sacrifice.

But the result was completely beyond the expectations of Hasas.

William's approach seems to be full of arrogance and even complacency. He didn't bother to use the second echelon at all.

but. The commander of the enemy army who fought with William obviously knew how good William was. Of course, the opponent is also more aware of how powerful the Thunder Lion's combat effectiveness is. In the first few battles, his infantry was not the enemy of the Thunder Lion at all, and the charges of both sides were directly defeated by the Thunder Lion. The battle broke out in less than thirty minutes and was completely defeated.

The reason why today's battle can be deadlocked. It is because the enemy put almost all the infantry into it. He even used an unused heavy infantry as the core main force, which blocked the thunder lion's charge.

However, the opposing commander is also very cautious and careful. When he discovered that William did not use the second echelon, he directly ordered his troops to fight and retreat—obviously, this was a tactic that the opponent had already prepared. Although this tactic will cause the loss of one's own troops to further expand when retreating in a state of struggle, at least the front line is still intact and has not been overwhelmed by the Lion of Thunder. Instead, it caused the battlefield to shift to one's own position.

Wait until this time, when the enemy puts into the cavalry unit as the second echelon to cut the battle formation. It's too late for William to enter the second echelon to rescue—because the cavalry is definitely faster than the infantry, and the battle situation is more biased towards the enemy's main formation, so the cavalry force's support speed is definitely second than William's dispatch. The echelon is faster. Under the dual combination, it seems that human beings and geography are already in the hands of each other.

Hasas even began to wonder whether the relationship between Alfred and William was at odds, otherwise why would William not rescue him at all?

It seemed that he had seen Hashas's doubts, and William, who withdrew his gaze from a distance, said indifferently, "That's a light cavalry."

Seeing William's so indifferent appearance, only those who are familiar with William's nature will know that the current battle can't raise his interest at all. This also means that the level of the enemy commander who fought against William is too poor to attract William's attention and excitement at all. In fact, only the war that can excite William is for him. war.

However, there are only a few people who are really lucky enough to see William enter an excited command state.

"I know that it is a light infantry, but the ability of the light cavalry to rescue is recognized as second to none." Hasas said with a puzzled face, "Although in the previous battles, it has been proved that the light cavalry's peeling tactics are right. The Thunder Lion is useless, but this time they took advantage of the Thunder Lion to be caught in a fighting battle, and directly started the battle!...Even if the light cavalry is not good at the battle, it is still relatively heavy."

"Military battle formation, I am more familiar than you." William said lightly, but his words revealed absolute self-confidence.

At this time, the enemy's light cavalry unit had already engaged with the soldiers on the edge of the Thunder Lion.

The light cavalry is known for its extremely high mobility. They have excellent battlefield support capabilities. In most cases, the light cavalry also plays a strategic role in reconnaissance, vanguard, and sharp knives. Because the light cavalry has a wide range of characteristics, the use and applicability of warfare are also above all arms, and according to different battlefield conditions, many countries will specially train more targeted and valuable light cavalry units.

Under normal rescue situations, the most commonly used tactics of peeling around wolves are light cavalry units.

They will use the unique high mobility of the light cavalry to continuously charge the enemy's flanks, thereby causing a certain degree of damage to the enemy, weakening the enemy, and attacking the morale of the enemy. . In terms of frontal charges and battle formations, the light cavalry is not as lethal and efficient as the heavy cavalry due to equipment problems.

However, that is only relative to heavy cavalry.

"...Thunder Lion's heavy infantry has been at the forefront. The only light infantry on the edge of the two wings." Hasas continued to say something, his tone was very excited, "The light cavalry or the impact is not as strong as the heavy infantry. Cavalry, but the light infantry standing in front of them now!"

William nodded slightly, which generally means "I know": "It seems that you have studied the "On Arms Restraint" written by General Hannibal very deeply. I am here to thank you on behalf of others. Introduce it in a propaganda style."

is an idiot. You can hear the teasing in William's tone, which makes Hasas' face flushed. Only then did he realize that standing in front of him was not an ordinary general, but a commander who could rank among ten generals. Obviously, it was impossible for him to make such a low-level mistake.

William could see the embarrassment of Hasas, but he didn't mean to continue laughing, but waved his right hand: "Tell Cloff. They can go on. The previous battle is over....The mission of chasing and harvesting. Just leave it to him. I want to hear the news that he will completely annihilate the enemy at sunset today."

Hasas was slightly startled, and could not help but move his eyes along the figure of the soldier.

He knew that Clover's troops had been in a state of waiting for work, but what Hasas had previously guessed was that William intended to make this force a final word at a critical time, thus ending the battle. After all, the battles and pursuits in the past few days have been taken care of by Alfred and his Thunder Lion. Instead, Clover's troops have been rushing to the rear of the army, and there is no chance to go on the battlefield frontally.

But, Hasas guessed the ending. But there was no guessing process—Clover and his Cecilia Guards were indeed regarded by William as a finalist. It's just that it is not used in the current situation, but used to hunt down the enemy who has been scared and exhausted to the point where they can no longer fight.

seems to have seen Hasas' surprise. William was finally willing to give an explanation: "The composition of the Lion of Thunder is very complicated, and it is not purely human. For the bears and tauren, and even the northern barbarians, the division of light infantry and heavy infantry is meaningless. , Because they are born heavy infantry.... You have only read "A Brief Talk on Arms Restraint" written by General Hannibal, but you don't know that General Hannibal's book is after reading the book "Light" written by Jason. Written after "On the History of the Continental War"."

After that, William no longer continued to look at the battlefield ahead, but turned the horse's head, and then slowly left the  and headed towards the camp to the rear. Noro and Bannock, who were in charge of protecting William, naturally left with them, accompanied by a black wings guard unit trained by William. Soon this  was convenient for observing the battlefield situation ahead. Only Hashas and his uncle Moro, who also served as a bodyguard, were left.

Ahead, the situation on the battlefield is indeed as William said before, the winner is already divided.

The charge launched by that light cavalry unit only rushed into a quarter of the battlefield, and it was already unable to continue advancing. On the contrary, it seemed to be stuck in a quagmire. As we all know, once a cavalry unit responsible for charging and cutting the enemy's formation fails to penetrate the enemy's formation successfully, but instead falls into the enemy's army, it is basically no different from the annihilation of the entire army, especially since this is still a light cavalry unit.

Seeing that the situation cannot be done-of course, Hassas now believes that the enemy commander should have been frightened, and at this time he was blowing the sound of the cavalry unit to retreat. However, it is rare to deceive the enemy's cavalry unit. Of course, the Lion of Thunder cannot let it go. An anti-encirclement circle is soon formed, directly enclosing the cavalry unit, and the battle situation soon becomes completely white-hot.

However, what really made Hasas felt the heart palpitations was that he had been in the forefront, and it seemed that it was the Thunder Lions Guards led by Alfred, who was in a deadlock. In the blink of an eye, this unit exploded with amazing aura and fighting power, just like a real lion. Under the leadership of Alfred, they directly penetrated the enemy's infantry phalanx, and then formed a counter-attack. The situation of siege started almost a one-sided butchery.

Seeing this scene in front of him, the corners of Hassas's mouth twitched slightly.

He did not expect that the previous stalemate was actually a play performed by Alfred. At this moment, the Lion of Thunder that finally revealed its true face immediately revealed its heart-palpitating sharp teeth and minions, completely tearing away all the enemy's defenses, and it felt as if a male lion had completely bitten off the trachea of its prey. , And then ready to start feasting.

A total defeat of the enemy army. It was completely impossible to stop.

If it weren't for the fact that the Thunder Lion's troops were too low, the enemy would not be able to escape at all, and there would even be no need to dispatch Clover and his troops to carry out a raid.

After a long time, Hasas finally sighed: "It was rumored that the Thunder Lions can be used as heavy cavalry. I think the rumors are too exaggerated. I didn't know until I saw them today. The rumors are too modest... Hey, the three major legions of the Void Grand Duke, the steel wings of the 'Unmoving Mountain', the thunder lion of the 'Thousand Armies Splitting Easy' and..." Hasas turned his head and looked at the Cecilia Guards who were already preparing to go out. , And then continued: "...The Cecilia's Guards of the 'Fearless Deathsmen' are indeed well-deserved, no wonder they can enter the field of vision of those big men."

"The gap between combat literacy and armament is too big, it is completely incomparable." Moro, who stood by, nodded in sympathy. "It's still that the Void Principality can't support other armies. It makes it impossible for the other legions to expand, otherwise... I am afraid that these legions are more famous."

Hearing this, Hasas couldn't help but remember a previous conversation with Angel. In that conversation, Angel was not concerned about these three powerful legions that have become famous, but the first cavalry regiment commanded by the Valkyrie, Valkyrie Rina, and the birthplace of the same name as her. The only true knights in the Void Duchy of the First Cavalry: the Scarlet Knights.

"After this battle, my brother and sister will not have enough background and strength to compete with me. In the next family meeting, my inheritance will be promoted to the first place." Hasas said. "As long as I don't die, then I am equal to taking the position of Patriarch in advance.... But I don't know why, at this moment, I am not happy at all."

Molo did not speak, but his eyes showed everything.

The Zoanton family is located in the southern border of the Millennium Covenant Empire. So this also means that after Hassas succeeds as Patriarch, he will not only often deal with the Wildlands, but also with the Void Duchy—especially the trade agreement that has just signed a ten-year period. But no matter who it is, knowing that there is a giant dragon lying next to him will not feel at ease.

As everyone knows, this scene is actually the scene that William deliberately let Hasas see.

After breaking through the army that secretly supported the rebellion in the Millennium Covenant Empire, William had fought against the brother and sister of Hasas, and even remotely controlled Dwight's Scarlet Knights to assist the Frost Legion and the other. One group apparently came to support the rebel party and had a confrontation. Since that time, William has accurately grasped the enemy's strength, so he actually had the opportunity to directly determine the outcome through a battle from the beginning.

Only in that way, the war ended too soon and there was not enough time for the future heir to the Zoanton family to see some facts clearly. For this reason, after discussing with Alfred, William sacrificed a small number of soldiers to give the future heir of the Zoanton family a grand and shocking and thoughtful war.

Judging from the current results, it is clear that this plan is very successful.

After returning to the camp, William also received a message from Neal.

"Sean has entered the Thousand-Year Covenant Empire to support Cecilia?" William looked at the confidential letter handed over by the intelligence personnel of the Void Realm, and then his brows were slightly frowned. "There are enemy forces here. The wild tribes in the Great Rift Valley are infiltrating and destroying. Want me to immediately return to the Great Rift Valley to sit here? Hmm...Also, since Sean took the shot himself, then I shouldn't worry about it, and the things here are also It's all solved."

While saying this, William quickly made a decision. He hurriedly wrote a reply, and after handing it to the intelligence officer in the Void Realm, he said, "Tell Rupiah, in addition to maintaining the necessary information After the collection, all the Void Realm intelligence personnel and Void Dark Blade troops sent out have all returned....There is something in the Great Rift Valley for them to do, and let Ruby come back to me directly."

"Yes." After the intelligence officer nodded, he disappeared in a blink of an eye.

After Noro, who was standing next to William, felt the breath disappear, he said, "Master Shaun has already given me an order, let me continue to be responsible for your safety....Also, let me tell you that he will definitely do it. Bring Miss Reyes back, please don't worry."

"I have always trusted Sean very much." William smiled, which made his indifferent face look a little more charming, "So, I will continue to trouble you, Lord Noro. ."

Also, Noro smiled with a smile that was not inferior to William's charming smile: "You're welcome, Sir William."

Looking at this scene in front of him, Bennock didn't know why he shuddered suddenly, and he felt like he wanted to escape from here.

Chapter 508: .Death tide erupts

Kozilek waved the huge epee in his hand.

Just listen to the howling wind and thunder suddenly sound, like thunder on the ground. Immediately afterwards, within a fan-shaped range of several tens of meters in front of Kozilek, the entire space produced a strong sloshing, and there were even cobweb-like cracks faintly emerging in the air, which obviously caused the space to oscillate.

But this blow, the effect is equally obvious.

All the skeletons gathered in the area were shattered and turned into powder.

It was just a blink of an eye, and a thick layer of bone meal was already spread on the ground.

However, this fan-shaped area showing a vacuum state only lasted less than a second before being filled with countless skeletons.

If you look down from the sky, you can see that the entire forest of sighs has been submerged by a white ocean of skeletons. And in this ocean, Cecilia and others protected by Kozilek and Rena are like the lone boat floating with the waves of the ocean. Although they are struggling hard and stubbornly, trying to break through the encirclement of this sea of skeletons, but this seemingly endless sea of skeletons also forces a strong like Kozilek to be unable to easily break through.

It's not that Kozilek can't break through and leave, but that he can't protect everyone from leaving safely, even if Rena, who is not inferior to the super strong, is assisting, the result is the same. Because at the moment they are surrounded by Kozilek and others, it is not only these skeletons that even make them difficult-although these skeletons are not ordinary low-level undead, but up to the fifth-order bone warriors-there are also countless hidden in the dark. Of other undead creatures.

If Kozilek and Rena want to break through and leave, they can't go, but they lose the protection of these two strong men, even if there are still two in the team, Cecilia and Angel, which cannot be considered as a general sanctuary. The strong, the final result of this team is still unable to escape the fate of being buried here.

"What the * is going on!" Angel's face was full of surprise, "How could it suddenly become like this! ... We have been trapped here for five days. If this continues, even if we are not energetic, Then he fell."

Cecilia rarely quarreled with Angel, but her face was also not much better. Especially when she is a magician, or a magician who specializes in fire magic, when the entire forest of sighs is filled with these undead creatures. She directly expanded the domain and urged Solomon's Seventy-two Heavy Flame to the extreme. Basically, in the first two days, Cecilia had torn out a safe road alone.

After all, the flame and the holy light have always been hailed as the two most powerful killers against the undead.

It's just that even if the magician of the middle sanctuary uses magic continuously, he will always be exhausted. Cecilia is in such a state at this time. If it weren't for some potions that Sean deliberately collected for Cecilia before, Cecilia would have been overpowered by magic and energy. I fainted due to consumption.

"It's a wave of death." Dini answered for Cecilia.

Originally. As the servants and representatives of the gods in the world. It should be able to cause great damage to such undead creatures. However, Tini is not a priest or priest who uses divine arts as the main means of combat, but a special profession that uses martial arts as the main method and divine arts as a supplement. The combat effectiveness is extremely limited, and it is not much better than others.

"This is impossible, why is there a sudden wave of death!" Angel's face was incredulous.

As a millennium covenant empire living next to the black soil, it is not unfamiliar with the outbreak of the death wave, although the specific conditions for its occurrence are unknown. But after so many years, some considerable laws have been mastered. At least the interval between the outbreak of the death wave is generally about 20 years, even if there is a sudden inducement that leads to the accelerated formation and outbreak of the death wave. The interval is definitely more than ten years. After all, even undead creatures cannot be born out of thin air, but also require a birth process.

The reason why the Zoranton family can become the strongest family in the southern part of the empire is because at that time, in a disaster that erupted in a death wave, the Zoranton family, who had taken over the leadership of the Zoranton family, was not like other southern nobles. So when the death wave broke out, he immediately chose to withdraw, but organized a force through its influence, and then successfully resisted this death wave under his command. The result not only did not allow the disaster to expand further, but instead preserved the vital power of the army and nobles in the southern part of the empire, including the Zoanton family, and laid the foundation for the second wave of death afterwards.

At that time, Puhuus was only twenty-five years old.

Through this command and operation, Puhughes demonstrated amazing military qualities, which made him soon become a powerful nobleman in the south of the empire. And the important battle that drove him to become the Duke of the Empire was also the eruption of the death wave—the second death wave erupting less than ten years after the last death wave eruption. It's just that compared with ten years ago, the scale of the death wave this time was much smaller, and the power that Puhughes could use was much larger, so this time the death wave disaster did not even have any impact on southern Xinjiang. It's completely over.

The land of black soil is located in the southeast of the Millennium Covenant Empire. In fact, more areas are bordered by the eastern frontier of the empire. Therefore, when the death wave erupted, the most affected and affected area was naturally the eastern part of the empire, followed by the southern part of the empire. It's just that every time a wave of death erupts, almost the entire southeast of the empire will be destroyed. So about every 20 years or so, the Millennium Covenant Empire will bleed heavily, which to a large extent limits the Millennium Covenant Empire. The development of comprehensive national strength.

It's just that this time the tide of death was blocked when Phughus was driven to the south and was affected, saving a lot of losses for the empire. For this reason, the empire integrated the most prosperous counties of Hamburg, Greater Serem, Little Serem, and Southern Hesse into the Duke of Hamson, and gave it to the Zoranton family as a hereditary duke, and Purhus Zoranton became the first Duke of Hamson and commanded the southern front of the empire.

After this, the fifty-five-year-old Duke of Hamson, Phughes Zoranton finally ushered in the third death wave in his life. It should have been a death wave that only broke out every twenty years or so, but it has erupted three times in a row in a short period of thirty years. Although this third death wave erupted twenty years after the second, it was a normal eruption with sufficient accumulation.

But in contrast, Puhuus Zoranton has become the Duke of the Empire, and at the same time he is in charge of all the military forces in the southern part of the Empire. So in terms of contending, compared to the one twenty years ago. The cards Phughes Zoranton have are naturally more beautiful.

And this duke. It did not disappoint the empire.

The death wave broke out this time, and it only caused a small impact in the eastern part of the empire and was successfully prevented. Although almost a quarter of the eastern part of the empire has fallen, it can be regarded as a glorious victory compared to at least a half of the area that has been affected by disasters over the years. After that, the Duke of Puhuus, who had found quite regularity and experience, also wrote a related survey report on the land of black soil and the forest of sighs, and then every three years. The duke will organize a large-scale sigh forest expedition. Exterminate these undead in large numbers.

As a result, it directly made the entire southern and eastern parts of the empire peaceful for thirty years.

Even the Millennium Covenant Empire believes that the death wave that has plagued the empire for thousands of years has been put to an end by Puhuus Zoranton.

But Angel did not expect that a death wave that had not erupted for 30 years would actually break out at this moment! Moreover, both the scale and the quality far exceed all records in the history of the millennium covenant empire-the vanguard of the death wave has always been the lowest level of skeletons, occasionally mixed with skeleton warriors, zombies, etc. Undead units. Only when enough materials have been accumulated to start large-scale raids on villages and towns will more advanced undead creatures be born. And powerful undead creatures like some black warrior, bone mage, black knight, etc. Only after encounters with the armies of the Millennium Covenant Empire will it begin to be born.

In addition to paying a huge price when Phughes Zoranton ended the death wave for the first time, in the next two fights and the death wave disaster, he was before the death wave formed a huge scale and sufficient quantity and quality of troops. , It will completely kill all of this. The facts have also proved that Duke Puhuus's approach is very correct. Although the results of the battlefield casualties after the incident are bright red and glare, it is undoubtedly brilliant in terms of merit.

But this time, sighing, the people who gathered in the forest and acted as the vanguard of the death wave disaster are the bone warriors!

Bone Warriors are powerful undead units between Tier 5 and Tier 6.

They are wearing armor, holding a shield, holding a series of heavy weapons such as epee, machete, and heavy axe that require a certain amount of strength to be used. In terms of arms occupations alone, the bone warriors are equivalent to the heavy infantry arms of the human world. They not only have excellent defensive capabilities, but are also unambiguous in terms of offensive capabilities. It can be said that these types of arms already possess a considerable degree of attack capability. .

Even in the undead army, bone warriors are not used as cannon fodder.

But now, Angel's vision of these skeletons that look no different from skeleton soldiers are all bone warriors, and there are even many bone demons among them-these are standard Tier 6 undead creatures, they have more than bone warriors. More powerful combat effectiveness, and also has a certain degree of command ability, it can be regarded as the middle-level commander in the undead army who is specially responsible for commanding the undead creatures such as bones and skeletons.

According to Angel's understanding of the death wave and related experience, the undead forces gathered in the sigh forest generally act as the vanguard of the death wave disaster. In the history of the Millennium Covenant Empire, the vanguard of the death wave disaster is composed of countless cannon fodder skeletons or walking corpses. Even after capturing a large number of villages and towns and obtaining enough corpses, they may not be able to see them. To the skeletal warrior, let alone the skeletal demon.

Because the highest-order undead creatures that have appeared in the past are the sixth-order black knights. Although the black knights already have a certain degree of thinking and IQ, they are not good at commanders after all. They are all known for their powerful combat effectiveness, so basically every so-called death wave disaster is just a goalless destructive action.

But now, the death wave vanguard gathered in the forest of sighs unexpectedly appeared bone demons, even those who are slow to react know that their nature is completely different!

The undead army under the command of a commander and the undead army without the command of a commander are basically two concepts!

Angel could not imagine. If in the tide of death that erupted in the past few decades, when undead creatures with powerful combat effectiveness and commanding capabilities such as bone demons appeared from the beginning, would the eastern and southern parts of the Millennium Covenant Empire still be able to defend it? You must know that the destruction and influence formed by the undead army of the commander like this can be called a real death wave—the so-called death waves before can not be called death at all in the strict sense. tide. It can only be said to be a disaster raging by the undead.

"This is a real death wave disaster." Cecilia said weakly. In the past few days, her consumption has been too great, "Miracle Continent hasn't happened for almost a thousand years, right."

"Accurately speaking, it is three thousand five hundred years." Angel looked very depressed. It seems that she also knows what this means. "In the archives of the empire, there are all records about the death wave. The last time was OK. The real disaster called the death wave was three thousand five hundred years ago, when the empire paid a great price to kill a lich and a large number of necromancers and necromancers. But that time the empire also paid a lot. A heavy price...Why is it so at this time..."

Cecilia looked at Angel with some sympathy.

Because she knows. What does Angel mean by "this time"?

The last real death wave disaster. The millennium covenant empire was not in civil strife and division, but the millennium covenant empire also paid a very heavy price. This time, the Millennium Covenant Empire is in a civil strife. Although the civil strife has been basically calmed down, the previous internal friction losses still exist, and it is impossible to recover without a few years of recuperation.

At this time, a real death wave disaster broke out, for the Millennium Covenant Empire, it is undoubtedly a major blow to the worse.

"It seems. Those undead creatures are not ready to attack." Rena, who has been silent and only responsible for killing the enemy, said suddenly.

"What's the use? There are bone demons. They will definitely not let us leave easily." Angel forcefully cheered up, but the despair in her eyes was clearly visible, "We can't leave here, we can't pass the message of death wave disaster. Go out. So according to the empire's response measures, they will only treat it as an ordinary undead raging, and when they find that something is wrong, it will be too late."

"So, we have to leave here!" Cecilia said in a deep voice.

"You mean..." Angel froze for a moment, and then her eyes became firm, "You are right, then...who will break through?"

"There is only Kozilek."

Cecilia glanced at Kozilek. This little guy, with a posture of being a man, can easily solve all the nearby undead, and it looks extremely relaxed. However, after hearing Cecilia's voice, the little guy turned his head and looked at Cecilia, with a dazed expression in his eyes.

"Kozilek, I have one thing to ask you."

Cecilia opened his mouth and said to Kozilek, the meaning of the words was naturally that he hoped that Kozilek would break out immediately and tell the outside world what happened here. Of course, Cecilia did not forget Kozilek's inability to speak, so she deliberately entered a piece of information into a magic stone crystal. As long as Kozilek handed this magic stone crystal to someone else, she would be able to immediately learn about it. condition.

However, what Cecilia didn't expect was that after Kozilek listened, he turned his head and continued to compete with the undead, and had no intention of leaving at all.

At this moment, everyone present fell into silence for a while.

Only Rena sighed helplessly: "It seems that this little guy will not leave. He should only obey the orders of Lord Shaun, unless you follow Miss Cecilia."

Chapter 509: . Death Knight

Sean and Alexis sneaked into the territory of the Millennium Covenant Empire by special means.

The use of the teleportation magic array requires the construction of a magic network. If one of the parties closes the magic power circulation node, the magic teleportation array with this node as the center will be in a closed state, and the magic teleportation array will naturally be unusable. However, for technical reasons, unlike the teleportation array that was completely controlled by the goddess of magic in the dawn of dawn, once the node of the modern magic teleportation array is closed, it will affect several surrounding magic teleportation arrays.

This has also become the key to the strategic control of the countries on the Marvel Continent.

Like the Millennium Covenant Empire in the Barren Lands, this fortress has not opened any nodes of the teleportation network, and even the teleportation magic circle has not been set up. And not only the Millennium Covenant Empire, the six major entrances and exits of the entire Barren Land, except for the Great Rift Valley controlled by Sean, the other five areas are like this. After all, for these countries, the Barren Land is theirs. The impression of his back garden has never changed.

So, it is natural that all the tribes in the Wildlands are now close to Shaun's Void Duchy, and there are even signs of union. These countries that have always regarded the Wildlands as their back gardens and an important source of income are naturally extremely dissatisfied.

This is also the reason why more and more other forces have sneaked into the wild tribes. They may not know about Sean's Void Empire plan, but people with a keen political sense definitely smelled some unusual places, so they sent intelligence personnel to inquire further.

Originally, because of the departure of Sean, Cecilia, William, and others, and the addition of Haila returning to the Void Duchy, the Wild Land was in a state of "emptiness". Under this circumstance, once it is used by someone who is interested, even if Sean's Void Empire plan will not be destroyed as a result, it will definitely cause a lot of twists and turns. For this, Sean will let William return to his seat immediately.

In terms of intelligence warfare, Sean has always felt that William can definitely be ranked in the top three of the entire Marvel Continent, so he is not worried at all.

It's just that because the Millennium Covenant Empire did not transmit a magic circle, and Sean's identity was too sensitive, he could only let Alexis lead him across the Millennium Covenant Area, which was close to the Cut Wall Mountains. This mountain range is homologous to the Broken Dragon Mountain Range. It's just that the branches are different. But in essence it is the same harsh and steep, and there are miasma surrounding the mountain top all the year round, blocking the conventional climbing and climbing methods.

The only section of the Broken Dragon Mountain Range that can be surpassed is the Broken Dragon Valley where the Third Garrison is about to be liberated.

Of course, it is called conventional, so it must be traversed by unconventional means.

For example, the powerhouses above the legend fly directly across the sky.

If a strong like this level wants to force over it, in addition to the strong at the same level, it can be slightly blocked. No one can intercept it at all. So even though the breath of Alexis flying across the sky with Sean leaked out for others to catch. However, no one wanted to trouble the killing of Wu Ji. If it weren't for the Millennium Covenant Empire to fall into serious civil unrest, follow the normal procedure to report, after Alexis entered the territory of the Millennium Covenant Empire, he would be strong. The person came to monitor.

Just as Edward flew across the territory of the Emilia Empire in the posture of a demon, at that time many superpowers in the empire were drawn to the battle, fearing that this demon might cause trouble.

At this moment, after crossing the steep mountains and entering the Millennium Covenant Empire, both Sean and Alexis rushed towards the forest of sighs non-stop.

Perhaps it was Shaun's eagerness. This time Alexis didn't show off with Sean, but took him to the forest of sighs.

Sean didn't speak anymore along the way. Because as they got closer to the forest of sighs, the panic that was dull enough to make Sean's heart palpitations became more obvious. He didn't know what happened in the Sigh Forest, but he knew that Cecilia and the others must be in trouble, because Sean found that he could not connect with Kozilek, as if some powerful force field distorted them. Communication between the minds.

This phenomenon is absolutely unusual.

It's just that Sean can only suppress all the irritability and panic, and transform it into the deepest anger in his heart, and save it for one day's eruption.

"Take a break."

Hurrying continuously for several days, even if Alexis and Sean can bear it, Sean still chose to rest when he already saw the forest of sighs. After really seeing this ruined and dead forest, Sean calmed down, because even if it was about tens of kilometers away, Sean could clearly feel that the forest was so rich that it almost turned into a sigh. The real breath of death.

The diffusion of this breath is not formed naturally, but is mixed with many man-made traces, as if someone is forcibly catalyzing the entire forest.

On the entire Marvel Continent, if anyone can catalyze such a gathering place for the undead by special means, then it must be a powerful person above the legendary class with profound knowledge in the field of death. It's just that Sean was really frightened and he suppressed this emotion forcibly, but based on Sean's understanding of the game world process, the current scene did not appear at all.

Almost without even thinking about it, Sean knew that what was condensed in the forest at this moment was definitely a wave of death.

But in the course of the game's history, the time of the death wave's eruption is not at this time, and even the place of eruption is not on the southern continent.

After taking a few deep breaths in a row, Xiao En finally calmed down completely.

Alexis glanced at Sean with some curiosity, and suddenly said, "You seem to know what's ahead?"

"If I'm not wrong." Xiao En's face looked a little gloomy, "The previous owner of the forest has been replaced, and this new owner, I am afraid we are very unwelcome to visit."

"Oh?" Alexis raised his brows with interest, "Very strong?"

"Very strong." Sean said in a deep voice, "And it's not as strong in the usual sense."

Alexis raised his eyebrows, a look of surprise in his eyes. She has not been in contact with Sean for a day or two. She has a relatively deep understanding of the temperament and strength of her own contractor, so Alexis knows that Sean will not easily say it. These two words. But this time, he uttered these two words straightforwardly. This couldn't help but make Alexis take it seriously.

Only soon, Alexis's face showed a bit of excitement.

Just as Alexis already knows Sean very well, Sean also has a better understanding of Alexis. Seeing such an excited look on her face, and still staring at a certain place under the night, Sean's gaze naturally looked over. But it was different from the excitement on Alexis's face. Sean's face showed a cautious look.

A cold current suddenly blows out.

The place where there was nothing, there was darkness like an abyss surging.

At this moment, Xiao En realized that the so-called emptiness before was actually just an illusion. The real situation is that it has been shrouded in extreme darkness, and even perception cannot penetrate this darkness, let alone the naked eye. The field of vision.

A pale young rider is slowly walking out of the darkness.

The young rider wears this armor made of unknown materials. The armor was polished to be smooth. There is even a faint dull luster flow. The young rider has quite handsome facial features, but his face is very pale, he looks like he has recovered from a serious illness, his hair is black, slightly curled, and his eyes are also black, if it is not for Sean. Knowing enough about the Zenas, he would definitely mistake this rider for the Zenas.

The mount under the rider's hips. It was a war horse wearing a vest, judging from the exposed limbs. This should be a pure black horse. However, it is more appropriate to say that it is not a war horse, it is more appropriate to say that it is a kind of beast of horse type, because this war horse is almost three meters in height, the pupils are blood red, and it shines with excitement, cruelty and other wisdom. Even the qi and blood surging in the body appeared exceptionally strong.

The young rider slowly drew out a knight's broad-bladed sword, and then gently pulled the reins, and the horse aimed at Sean and Alexis.

A terrible wave of momentum suddenly erupted from the rider and the horse.

Shaun's face looked more cautious, but he was not deterred by this aura, even if Shaun had already sensed from his aura that the rider had a legendary level of strength. But now he has the legendary powerhouse Alexis beside him. He is just an enemy of the legendary class, and it will not make Sean feel tricky. Of course, Sean can also guess that this must be Rekna. The head of the old lich disarmed himself.

"Quiet Death Knight." Alexis frowned slightly, apparently recognizing the identity of the young rider in front of him, "This is not an ordinary undead creature.... The strong enemy you are talking about is A Lich, right?... Well, I'm afraid it must be a quasi-great witch who is qualified to compete for the title of the Lich King."

"It's not a quasi-great witch, but one of the seven real witches on the bone plane." Shaun said in a deep voice, "but even that old lich, there will definitely not be many death knights under his command.... If this guy is resolved, it will be enough to make the old lich feel distressed."

"Seven Great Witches. Hey, it's interesting." Alexis nodded slightly, and then took a step forward. At the same time, his left and right hands were already placed on the hilts of the two slashing blades tied around his waist. "Then I'll be a little more serious, solve this undead creature as soon as possible, and force the old lich out....I just don't know which great witch it is."

"Undead disaster. Lake, have you heard of it?" Sean knows that Alexis often travels to all planes, the gods, extraterritorial creatures and even enemies such as demons and demons who die in her hands. It was by no means a minority, so he wouldn't be surprised by the fact that Alexis had fought against the Lich King.

But it's a pity that Alexis has obviously never heard of the name of this lich, so she just shook her head about it.

As if feeling the power of Alexis, the brows of the nirvana death knight frowned, and a milky white flame suddenly ignited on the wide-bladed sword held in his right hand, inside the flame. There is a faint blue light-this is the flame unique to the plane of bones: the pale flame. And the horse under his command, which should be the necromancer's nightmare, also began to shake his right front hoof to dig the ground.

There is no communication, no temptation, as if it is a rehearsal, full of a subtle sense of tacit understanding.

Alexis and this nirvana death knight charged each other at the same moment!

was supposed to have the advantage of speed and charge strength, but it did not seem to have any advantage in Alexis, because the distance shortening when the two sides are running is the same! This also means that Alexis, who runs only on his legs, is no weaker in speed and charge power than the Death Knight riding a war horse, or even worse!

In Sean's view, it was Alexis and the nirvana death knight who initiated the charge at the same time, and then only a second later, the two sides had already collided with each other.

A strong storm instantly raged in all directions with two people as the core.

Even if it was Sean, in the face of this storm-like impact, he had to close his eyes, and even raised his hand to relieve the pressure with the help of obstacles.

And Alexis, who was in the center of the storm, had a very calm look on his face.

The pure black slashing blade that she held in her right hand "Dark" was blocking the wide-bladed sword of the Death Knight. The blade passed to Alexis, as if a black hole was sealed in the blade, was continuously devouring the pale flame that was trying to invade.

In the eyes of the death knight, a flame suddenly lit up, as if it was showing its inner emotions.

And the necromancer also felt the emotional fluctuations in the master's heart, it let out a sharp scream that was not inferior to the howling banshee, and then suddenly stood up. The death knight sitting on its back also took this opportunity to break off the fight with Alexis, and then raised the wide-bladed sword in his hand, ready to use the horse's trampling and at the same time with stronger power to Aili Xisi fell off.

It's just that, facing the terrifying and powerful attack method of this nirvana death knight, the corners of Alexis's mouth were slightly raised, and his expression showed a strong disdain!

Chapter 510: .Meet Lake again

Furious trampling!

This is a powerful combat skill of the Nirvana Death Knight. Although it does not have the general trampling skills that can stun the enemy, it can triple the power of the Nirvana Death Knight, thereby increasing the Nirvana Death Knight. The next attack skill is based on the power attribute. Seeing the nirvana death knight raising the wide-bladed sword in his hands, the pale flame on the sword almost turned into a monstrous tornado, you can know how terrifying the nirvana death knight's skills after the furious trampling are.

It's just that Alexis didn't show any panic, on the contrary, the scornful smile on his face was even more exciting.

The front hooves of the necromantic nightmare stepped down heavily, even with a strong whistling sound. This blow contained a powerful law!

Shaun felt the change in this breath, and was slightly surprised.

Originally, he thought that the Nirvana Death Knight was only a mere twelfth-tier strength. In the final analysis, it was a legendary powerhouse. Even if he was stronger than the vow knight Lauren under His Royal Highness Adams, he was definitely stronger, at most. It's equivalent to Fannie who didn't use the meteor sword skills. With this strength, Alexis only needs to enter the Wu Ji mode of the fourteenth-order critical point state, and it is enough to solve it, and there is no need to use double swordsmanship at all.

Dual Swordsmanship is a combat state that Alexis can use only when he stimulates his internal fighting spirit. It is basically equivalent to the strength of the sixteenth tier.

Originally, Sean did not quite understand, but at this time he already understood.

The horse underneath the death knight's crotch is also the existence of legendary combat power!

And compared to ordinary war horses. Necromancers are intelligent creatures with self-awareness, judgment and combat effectiveness, far beyond the comparison of ordinary mounts. In addition, knights and mounts have always been integrated combat power, so the combination of these two legendary combat powers is naturally not as simple as one plus one equals two.

Simple combat power may have reached the level of the pinnacle of legend!

This. Perhaps it is the real reason why the death knight is so difficult to be born, but once it is born, it has the real reason for the terrible combat power!

Old Lich Lake, obviously created something terrible!

It's just that, with this nirvana death knight, he wants to block Alexis, which is undoubtedly idiotic.

But seeing Alexis swinging his right hand horizontally, the blade of the Dark Sword blocked the feet of the Necro Nightmare, and a terrible storm suddenly erupted. Compared to the previous storm that Alexis and the Death Knight confronted, it was more than a hundred times stronger. Even though Sean had mastered the power of the laws of space, Sean was still shaken back one kilometer away under the surge of this powerful force. It will stop.

It's not that Sean is completely defenseless in the face of the shock of this storm, but his consciousness tells him that this position is the safest.

The clash of legendary powerhouses, slightly revealing the influence of momentum. Every tens of miles in a radius is annihilated at every turn. After all, when the strong at their level compete, basically the power of the law is the power of the competition. You must know that the strong in the sanctuary is already the power in the field of competition. How can the legendary power who is stronger than them show such inferior methods. And the destructive power formed by the confrontation between the legendary powerhouses is already so powerful, let alone the existence of the super powerhouse.

In the battle of fate of the Northern Principality Federation, the loss of life within hundreds of miles is the best proof.

And this is the result of Oscar's use of his own destiny to obstruct and weaken the impact and destruction. Otherwise, so many super powers will gather together, and even gods will come. I'm afraid the damaged area will be a hundred times bigger, a thousand times bigger.

However, the current confrontation between Alexis and the Death Cavalry is slightly different.

The dark sword of Alexis blocks the storm generated by the trampling of the necromancer. Although the impact is several miles away, the destructive power is actually limited to only one mile. This is nothing compared to the attack between the legendary powerhouse's gestures, and even a bit unworthy of the "legendary powerhouse." "These four words. But just looking at the space within one mile has produced a strong shock, and even produced countless traces of cracks, and you can faintly see the void undercurrent behind the space cracks, and you can know how much the area within one mile is. danger.

After was blocked by a sword, no matter how hard the necromantic nightmare tried, even the eyes seemed to drip with blood and the forefoot tendons floated up, but they still couldn't make Alexis' right hand sink the slightest. It was as if this necromancer was not stepping on the slicing blade in Alexis's right hand, but the wall of the world, no matter how strong it was, it couldn't break through!

The death knight riding on the necromancer, pale flames ignited in his pupils, and the white flame on the sword suddenly condensed, but it was not as violent as before, but turned into a layer that clings to the sword. The cold flame. Just judging from the aura radiating from the sword, normal people know that this might be even more terrifying than just now.

Without the slightest hesitation, the Death Knight immediately waved the broad-bladed sword in his hand, and slashed towards Alexis.

The sword's edge swung down, and there was a burning sizzle in the air. Although it was not violent, it did not have a feeling of shocking the soul. As if under the burning of this pale flame, no matter how rebellious souls are, they will be completely frozen and burned.

Alexis lifted his left hand slightly, and the pure white blade "Chi", which was completely opposite to the Dark Sword, pierced against the wide-bladed sword of the Nirvana Death Knight.

The tip of Chi's sword was pointed on the edge of the broad-edged sword, but it was just such a slight point, but it seemed to have a great irresistible force blessed on Chi, which not only completely blocked the broad-edged sword in the hands of the dead rider. When it fell, it completely broke through the pale flame attached to the wide-bladed sword. The powerful explosive force completely exploded under the collision of the two swords, and it was like a flying fire meteor that scattered all the pale flames attached to the wide-bladed sword, but the cracks in the surrounding space became more obvious.

The pupils of the death knight finally showed a more humane look of surprise, but this look quickly became crazy.

An empty breath of nirvana suddenly diffused from the body of the nirvana death knight. And it spread quickly at an extremely alarming speed, and gradually transformed into a special field-this is a legendary field unique to Nirvana Death Knight. Through the deadly influence of nirvana, any living being entering this field will be suppressed by a certain degree of strength. If it is a weaker person, it will be directly turned into a bone, and all the aura and power of the living being will be transformed into the power of the death knight.

nothing but!

The realm of the death knight of nirvana was just unfolded, and there was no maintenance time of three seconds, and it was completely shattered.

In a blink of an eye, strands of black dead air were completely dispersed between the heaven and the earth, even being captured by the world's original power, and then used to repair the spatial cracks caused by the confrontation between the two. soon. The area that had been nearly ruptured due to the fighting between the two was quickly completely repaired, which shows how terrifying the death aura content of this nirvana death knight is.

This is the second time Sean has seen Alexis crack the opponent's domain and legendary ability.

The first time, it was when Alexis faced the vow knight Lauren. At that time Lauren wanted to use the legendary realm to fight, but the result was the same as it is now. The same was that the realm was directly destroyed by Alexis in a special method as soon as it was expanded. If Sean hasn't seen it clearly the first time, then this second time the enemy's domain capabilities have been cracked. Sean saw it very clearly.

The moment it unfolded in the realm of this death knight. In the space covered by the entire domain, a red glow flashed away, and immediately after that the domain of the Death Knight was completely ablated, leaving countless death auras to diffuse. This is not that Alexis uses a certain secret method to forcefully destroy, but it is more like Alexis has a special force field that disintegrates the domain and legendary ability. This force field completely prevents the ability of all domains. Unfold.

On the surface, it is similar to Kozilek's law distortion, but in essence it is much smarter than Kozilek's law distortion.

Because what Kozilek can twist is the power of all actions. If the enemy does not borrow the power of the law or expand the domain, it is just to use the legendary ability that he has obtained after being promoted to the legend. Then the distortion of Kozilek's law will not be effective.

And Alexis is much more special.

Involved, Sean suddenly remembered a special ability that Alexis possessed.

Kill the field!

If this field is the secret that Alexis can nullify the enemy's laws, fields, and legendary abilities, then Sean feels that there are not many people in this world who will be her opponents.

The reason is simple.

Compared with other legendary powerhouses or super powerhouses who need to rely on legendary abilities to make their body tyrannical, Alexis really trains his physical quality to the powerful level of the legendary powerhouse. This alone is enough. Enough to make her basically invincible. In this world, except for those powerful sacred beasts whose physical powers surpass 9th level and above, which have true legendary levels, even some super powers will not deliberately cultivate their physical powers. After all, the legends obtained after the legends Among abilities, there is a legendary physique that can increase physical strength.

One black and one white, two seemingly thin blades, but they are wide-bladed swords that block the huge Necro Nightmare and Nirvana Death Knight respectively.

The next moment, Alexis's hands suddenly shook, and the wide-bladed sword of the Nirvana Death Knight was immediately shaken, followed by the hooves of the necromancer.

Under the impact of this powerful shock, the death knight, which has been maintaining a certain state of riding a single body, has unexpectedly become unbalanced!

"Double swordsmanship. Strang the head."

Alexis groaned softly, and two rays of light, one black and one white, suddenly lit up in the dark night, forming a huge cross-light pattern, and suddenly slashed towards the death knight.

Because in an unbalanced state, the Death Knight couldn't dodge this attack from Alexis. However, it was also decisive enough, without hesitation, abandoning a big boost of its own, leaping towards the rear, let the necromantic nightmare under the crotch resist this sword of Alexis.

I saw the sword light circulating, and the entire necromancer was completely divided into four pieces by Alexis's sword skills. However, at the fracture cut by the sword, it is not blood that gushes out, but it is so rich that it has turned into substantive death. These death auras are emitted from the fracture of the horse, and the ground is directly corroded and changed. It became pale, and almost even the nature of the rock was completely changed.

One move abolished nearly half of the fighting power of the Death Knight. This is already a proud record!

But obviously, Alexis is not satisfied at all.

At the moment when "Double Swordsmanship. Head Strangulation" was launched, Nimie died riding a horse and retreated at the same time. Alexis had already pursued it again.

This action looks like Alexis stepping towards the death knight, and the necromantic nightmare that intercepted the two of them was mercilessly stricken by Alexis. Divide. An awe-inspiring aura of the gods blocking and killing the gods, and the Buddha blocking and killing the Buddha, broke out completely on Alexis at this moment.

"Double swordsmanship. Blizzard."

Obviously there is still a distance of tens of meters, but at this moment, the death knight of nirvana has once again a feeling of inevitable. It let out an angry low growl, and a death aura that was stronger than the necromancer's nightmare suddenly burst out from its body, as if it had put on a new set of armor on its body.

Just rely on all of this. Just wanting to block Alexis is obviously a delusion.

A distance of tens of meters is fleeting.

And in this distance, countless white or black sword lights just float in the air. It is densely packed like a sword-light galaxy road. Sweeping it at first glance, it gives people a sense of beauty that is somewhat coordinated in black and white, but after seeing the truth, they will only feel endless murderous aura. It was as if an ancient beast finally showed its hideous side.

next moment. Alexis had already appeared behind the death knight of nirvana.

Countless sword lights, white or black, seemed like a real blizzard at this moment, swept across, and easily tore the nirvana death knight to pieces, revealing only a diamond-shaped black spar. Suspended in mid-air.

This spar is the core of the Death Knight.

Different from ordinary undead creatures, the death knight is a powerful undead creature that has condensed a dead core, just like the phylogeny of a lich. As long as this dead core is not broken, the death knight will be cut into granules. It can also repair on its own and then resurrect itself-of course, no one can cut the Death Knight into granules. But after today. I'm afraid there will be someone on this list.

After directly using powerful sword skills to tear the death knight into pieces, Alexis did not look back to make another sword at this dead core, but slowly retracted the two slashing blades of Dark and Chi. In the sheath. Ignoring the death knight suspended in mid-air behind him, trying to shrink and regroup, Alexis's gaze has coldly looked at a position not far from the front left, where there is a piece of naked eye and perception that can't be penetrated. Through the darkness.

When the horns of the two swords in Alexis's hand made a slight collision with the scabbard, there was a "click" sound.

An unwilling and terrified roar finally resounded in this world, truly terrifying and ear-piercing like a banshee wailing.

The dead core suspended behind Alexis was suddenly covered with countless cracks, and then from the bottom up, it turned into black powder little by little, floating in the air. And the body fragments of the Nirvana Death Cavalry, which were attracted to each other and were trying to recombine like a magnet, also turned into black powder at this moment, and drifted away with the wind like the death core.

"What a wonderful battle, Jie Jie." A voice full of evil aura rang out from the darkness, and then all the darkness faded in an instant, and a skeleton wearing a robe of the mage was slowly walking out, "I did not expect the legend. Killing Wu Ji in the movie actually took refuge in Sean."

"Rake!" Sean exclaimed with a look of anger, "What have you done!"

"I'm just here to take away the last thing I'm interested in in this world." Rick let out a hoarse noise, "I knew that the famous Killing Wu Ji was here, so I wouldn't let those toys under my hand show ugliness. Now... Hey, it was so hard for me to cultivate such a death knight."

"Do you know me?" Alexis raised his brows and stared at Lake indifferently, telling her instinctively that the Lich King in front of her was not easy to deal with.

It's not that she hasn't fought against the Lich King on the Bone Plane, but the Lich that can make her feel oppressive is the first one in front of her.

"Little Lucas once suffered a big loss in your hands, and almost lost the bone plane, so your name is not just spread outside the territory." Lek looked at Killing Wu Ji, obviously just a skeleton face. , But I don't know why both Sean and Alexis felt that he was smiling at this time, "But...Little Lucas is the last among the seven Lich Kings on our bone plane."

"What about you? What is your ranking?" Alexis asked coldly.

"Hey. This is not a problem you should be concerned about." Lake said evasively, "If it were you in your heyday, then I might have to be a little bit jealous. But now...you seem to have signed a contract with this waste, Sean. Well, how much can your strength be? The sixteenth rank is your limit right now?... Oh, no, I can feel that there is still a force in your body that is falling asleep... Well, not bad. , Better than the kid I met before."

"How did you do with Cecilia and Kozilek!" Sean was taken aback for a moment, then asked.

"Sean, it is deliberately trying to arouse your anger. It is delaying time.... You go first." Alexis said in a deep voice, her eyes locked on Lek's body all the time, and she didn't relax at all. , "I stopped here. Now that the lich appears here in person, it can no longer distort the connection between you and Kozilek."

Hearing what Alexis said, the flame in Lake's eyes suddenly lit up, and the anger in his heart could be felt from this flame. It was clear that his mind was spoken by Alexis. Just in the face of Alexis, even if the current Alexis is unable to exert his full strength, Lake also dare not let up and careless, because as he said, there is still in the body of Alexis. A stronger force.

Xiao En lost his senses, and then reacted: "Can you do it?"

"Whether I do it or not, there is no benefit for you to stay here." Alexis still said in a deep voice without squinting. "If you are really worried about me, then you might as well go and meet Kozilek. Then let Kozilek come over and help me."

Shaun took a deep breath. He knew that with his current strength, he would not be able to intervene in battles above the legendary level, not to mention that Rick was clearly a battle in the realm of super powers. So Sean didn't say anything, just nodded, and then rushed towards the forest of sighs, because, as Alexis said, the communication of the souls that had been shielded and distorted had already been once again. back to normal.

Through Kozilek's telepathy, Sean finally knew what was going on in the sigh forest.

Leck, the old lich, actually played his name of "dead catastrophe" in this material world, directly causing a wave of death!