

Lord of War Vol 3-521

Chapter 521: .Faith Going South

In the Northern Continent, the Church of the God of War is well known as the largest church, because its support is the Confederation of the Northern Duchy that has formed a climate. Although in terms of top powerhouses, the Northern Duchy's Confederation cannot be compared with the Saint-Joles Empire, but on the surface, the Principality's Confederation has the appearance of a lion that fights against it. Especially the geographical location of the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy lies between the Emilia Empire and the Saint-Joles Empire, forming a perfect natural buffer zone.

Neither the Emilia Empire nor the Saint-Joles Empire can sit and watch the territory of the Northern Duchy Federation fall into the hands of the other, so once one of them sends troops, the other will certainly send troops. In this way, it is natural that the Northern Principality Federation will completely fall to the other side. This situation is undoubtedly unwilling to see the two empires. It is precisely because of this that the two empires will allow the Church of the God of War to continue to grow.

As for letting the two empires join forces to eliminate the Church of God of War, this is not unconsidered, but the plan is not feasible.

Because the closest neighbor of the Emilia Empire is the Millennium Covenant Empire, this country will not miss any opportunity to invade the Emilia Empire-although this time because of the internal disturbances in the Millennium Covenant Empire, the Emilia Empire will find A good opportunity, but unfortunately the problem this time was on the side of the Saint-Joles Empire.

Not to mention that the Saint-Joles Empire is now hit hard, even if there is no battle of fate, the result of the complete tearing of the Maggie Empire due to the incident of the Duchy of Rembel also makes the Millennium Covenant Empire not dare to start the war lightly. Otherwise, the Maggie Empire doesn't mind using force to completely annex the Duchy of Rembel, and at the same time let the Holy Puppet Legion go around in the Saint-Joles Empire.

Because of various restraining reasons, the Northern Principality Federation controlled by the Church of God of War has more room for development, so that it has completely become a big trouble for both the Emilia Empire and the Saint-Joles Empire. However, the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy has always liked to work against the Empire of St. Joels, so the Emilia Empire feels pretty good. There is even secret support.

It's just that, following the battle of destiny, the Northern Principality Federation has entered a dormant mode, and the Saint-Joles Empire has to act low-key because of its vitality.

At this time, Twilight Church began to become high-profile.

The spread of their faith in the Northern Continent followed the defeat of the Dark Face Knights of the St. Joel's Empire. Finally got unanimous recognition. It's just because of the complexity of the pattern of beliefs in the Northern Continent. Coupled with the stability and sturdiness of the faith area, the Twilight Church's faith dissemination work is very difficult, for which they had to make a strategy of going south.

The so-called spread of faith, in fact, cannot escape the means of war.

As there is an old saying, the primitive accumulation of capital is ***** and cruel.

In fact, whether it is the Church of God of War, the Church of Chenguang, or the many churches in the North Continent where the situation is particularly chaotic today, the grassroots establishment of their beliefs is very bloody. Because they will treat the missionaries and knights of other churches and the most devout believers as pagans. Give the most complete elimination. As for other people of shallow faith, they usually show mercy, but this does not mean that nothing is wrong.

On the contrary, for many shallow believers, their fate is not as comfortable as being executed directly as a devout believer. Because after the spread of beliefs, these churches also need property to maintain the spread of beliefs in an area, so behaviors such as confiscation of property are naturally permitted by the rules.

As for the noble lords in the realm, these churches also have the same method to deal with.

Strong enough. Then it is natural to compensate this lord in exchange for the power to spread the faith. Moreover, the confiscated materials after dealing with infidels will also be divided into tribute. But if it is a weaker lord, then these churches do not mind using force to declare their positions and beliefs.

This is the war of faith spreading.

In the entire history of Miracle Continent, only two churches have not experienced such ***** accumulation.

One is naturally the Church of the Goddess of Life that no one wants to offend.

The other one is the church of the goddesses of ice and winter. There are many churches who really appreciate the purity and faithfulness of Sean's Void Duchy, but it's a pity that what they can give is not as straightforward as the goddess Eswinter, so naturally it is impossible to get the spread. that power. As for the desire to conquer by force, those churches gave up this point tacitly after studying the family history of Grand Duke Shaun of the Void.

At this time, a black square flag fluttered in the wind.

The background color of the flag is silver, and a meniscus is painted with black dye on it. It looks like a dark moon glowing with soft moonlight.

This is the flag of faith belonging to the Twilight Church.

The road of faith spreading south was not smooth for the Twilight Church, but there were hardly any twists and turns. Rarely encountered strong resistance several times, and they were all successfully resolved by the Darkmoon Spear Knights personally. The reason that really delayed the spread of belief in the south was due to the intrigue of high-level figures in the church. Because if the faith area is divided according to the territory laid by the Twilight Church, there can be at least five cardinals and fifteen cardinals, not to mention other powerful spiritual leaders under the cardinals.

This is the division of interests, and it is an irreconcilable conflict. Everyone who wants to run for the next pope wants to place more of his own people in high positions.

In this regard, Elsie, who is in charge of the military command of the road of faith spread, has been watching with cold eyes.

He neither expresses any opinions, nor is he eager to seek his own rights like other church knight leaders. All his actions seem to be really just to make the Twilight Church stronger and more prosperous. But only a few truly powerful cardinals know that Elsie's ambition is greater than any of them, so big that even if they join forces, they can't stop Elsie's path forward.

Therefore, under the huge power gap, they chose to compromise-not so much a compromise, but like an ostrich, as long as their own interests are not involved, they don't care about what Elsie intends to do or prepare. How to do it.

Anyway, now, Twilight Church has three great artifacts. It has all been concentrated on Elsie, which makes everyone, including the Pope, very clear who is the true darling of the Twilight Goddess. In today's Twilight Church, Elsie is not really a high-level figure. However, almost two-thirds of the armed forces of the church made it clear that they only accepted the orders of the head of Elsie. All other church orders are kept at the minimum guard level.

"Head of Elsie." A young man with a somewhat immature face on his face rode a tall lei beast and quickly came to Elsie's side.

This young man looks about eighteen or nine years old. His complexion is dark and his hair is red. His figure is tall and slender. When riding on a lei beast, he feels like a fusion with a lei beast. The illusion of being one. All this shows that this young man is a typical Cang Ye.

Cang Savage is a branch of the nomadic family. It's just that the bloodline of this branch has a certain prairie elf bloodline. Its ancestors were half-elves that combined steppe elves and humans. It is precisely because of this that the Cangye people are particularly proficient in riding, archery, and swordsmanship, and later developed a riding and shooting skill that can be called a hundred shots. It's just that this branch of the ethnic group has always wandered around on the northern continent and never stayed in one place for too long, so it was quite difficult to recruit them.

This time, it was Elsie who was able to solve the trouble in person, and at the same time, he saved a dozen Aangs who were almost sold as slaves. After some thinking, several of these dozen Cang Savage finally expressed their willingness to join the Darkmoon Spear Knights of Elsie. As for those who don't want to join, Elsie didn't feel embarrassed. Just let them go.

The Cangye who came to Elsie right now was the strongest among the few Cangye who joined. In particular, he is also very good at tracking, investigating, searching and other abilities, so after joining the Darkmoon Spear Knights, he was quickly promoted one after another. Now he is the second only to the leader of the Darkmoon Spear Knights. Elsie, Deputy Chief Cassius, and three powerful figures under the Dark Moon Qianqi Commander.

On this journey to the south, the Darkmoon Spear Knights have undergone a series of expansion and reconstruction, from the original five-hundred-member organization to five-thousand-member organization. Originally, according to the meaning of the Twilight Church, it was directly expanded into a tens of thousands of knights, and was given the prefix "Twilight". But this request was rejected by Elsie, because Elsie was looking for a real elite army, not a junk army.

Therefore, under Elsie's personal supervision, review, and selection, the Darkmoon Spear was expanded into a five-thousand-man legion, divided into Twilight Spear, Twilight Shield, Night Armor, Glow Eye, and Dark Moon Ying waited for five thousand troops. The names correspond to the five artifacts bestowed by the Goddess of Twilight, but now only the Spear of Twilight, the Shield of Twilight, and the Armor of Night are still preserved. The other two have been destroyed by the war in the Age of Ashes. middle.

In fact, in the military organization of the Twilight Church, these five names plus the Twilight Knights correspond to the six knights that were once the main force of the Twilight Church. However, after Elsie requisitioned the names of these five artifacts, the designations of the five knights were naturally to be cancelled. In addition, the Twilight Church had deliberately awarded Elsie the name of "Twilight" by Elsie. The name Xi refused, these six knights were also the other third of the armed forces of the entire Twilight Church that did not obey Elsie's orders.

Among the five knights, the Twilight Spear, the Twilight Shield, and the Night Armor are the main combat forces. They are commanded by Elsie, Cassius and another Darkmoon Qianqi Commander. However, even though they are the main combat force, they actually have different focuses.

Like the twilight gun, it is known for its penetrating power. The standard equipment is a heavy cavalry lance, an epee, and a uniform cavalry heavy armor.

The Twilight Shield is good at rushing forward. The standard configuration is also heavy cavalry, heavy sword and cavalry heavy armor, but it also has a heavy shield. In order to have enough weight-bearing ability, the mounts of the Twilight Shield troops are not lei beasts with excellent foot strength and charge ability, but earth dragon beasts known for their weight-bearing ability.

The Night Armor is a force that is good at frontal fortifications. In addition to retaining the cavalry heavy armor, the other equipment is the standard equipment of the earliest Darkmoon Spear: a black cavalry long spear, a black broad-body epee, and A Ben Lei beast.

Luminous Eye is the unit responsible for reconnaissance and tracking. It is regarded as the only light cavalry in the Darkmoon Spear Knights. In addition to the cavalry spear, it uses a knight's long sword, a long bow and one full of fifty. The quiver of the arrow, the armor on the body is also light leather armor.

Dark Shadow is a force that exists as a reserve force. The configuration of this unit is quite diverse, usually with three sets of equipment, in order to be adapted to different combat situations. In fact, the shadow of the dark is the essence and essence of the entire Darkmoon Spear Knights, and its main force is all members of the former Darkmoon Spear Knights. But only this way. Elsie was relieved to let them serve as an important reserve force.

The Cang savage who came to Elsie was the Hundred Cavalier of the Second Unit of the Eye of Night Light. Everyone in the entire Luminous Eye unit knows that this young knight who has recently become a red man in front of Captain Elsie, if there is no accident, he is the designated candidate for the next Luminous Eye Qianqi Commander. Although this made a lot of people slightly unhappy, but this Cang Yeren's strength was also obvious, so unhappy returned unhappy. But at least everyone was convinced.

"Head!" The young man came to Elsie's side. Hardly needing his command, Ben Lei Beast spontaneously slowed down, and stopped completely when it reached Elsie. The skillful riding skills of the Cang Savage were evident, "I'm back!"

"It's Nar." Elsie did not take her gaze back, but still stared at the south, "How?"

"The investigation has been completed, and there are no enemies around that need our Darkmoon Spear to be dispatched." The Cang Savage named Gnar said. "But if we go further, it will be the jurisdiction of the trading capital. According to your instructions, we did not enter the trade capital rashly. However, the Archbishopric seems to be a little dissatisfied with this, and he insisted that we be responsible for protecting him from entering the trading capital. "

Elsie's brows raised slightly: "Which Archbishop is leading? Archbishop Lalanger or Archbishop Persian?"

"Archbishop Persian." Narr replied.

"That group of flies." Elsie said coldly, "Don't bother, they want to negotiate with the people in the trading capital and let them go. You will give me orders to all the church knights, not allowed to enter the trade. The jurisdiction of the capital.... Although it is a free belief zone, it has always been very repellent from all missionaries. Even the Saint-Joers Empire will not argue with the capital of trade about the spread of belief, not to mention the fact that we just have The twilight church that has risen up."

"Yes." Gnar nodded respectfully, "So... what do we do next? Defend it on the spot?... Some people in the church are worried that people from other churches will infiltrate our new faith area."

This time, the Twilight Church's journey to the south is very impressive.

Except for the six church knights that did not obey Elsie's orders and the local guards were not dispatched, the remaining two-thirds of the church knights totaled 100,000 people, and there were almost 200,000 new ones. Enlisted church recruits and one hundred thousand guards. These 400,000 combatants alone used more than half of the Twilight Church's savings in the past 100 years, and the logistics force even exceeded 800,000.

This time, the attitude of the Twilight Church can be described as very serious, and its ambition is naturally extremely large.

With the newly-occupied faith dissemination area, it certainly cannot fully satisfy the church's ambitions. If Elsie ceases to continue his faith warfare at this time, the Twilight Church will not lose anything, but it can be said that there is no gain. It is only proportional to the cost of this mobilization, which is absolutely unacceptable for the high-level church personnel.

Alsie knows this too.

But what he knows more clearly is the behemoth that is preventing them from continuing to go south: trade must not be violated, otherwise the church will suffer very heavy losses, and then this hard-fought new faith dissemination area may be all compensated. go out. Therefore, there are only two options left at the moment: either defend on the spot and completely consolidate the stability of the faith in the new faith area; or choose to detour east or west, bypassing the trading capital and continue to spread the teachings of the Twilight Goddess go out.

Just in this way, it is very likely that a battle of gods of the earthly church will break out.

Because the belief structure on the southern continent has basically been completely stabilized, if the expansion of the faith area is still carried out by killing infidels, those churches that have been rooted in the southern continent for many years will definitely not agree. And once a war of gods broke out between the two churches, there would be a lot of things to involve and take care of. If the strength gap is big enough, it's okay. If they are evenly matched, it is easy to be profited by other people.

This time, the Twilight Church did not set the main target area, but just said to go south. So the operating space is actually very large.

"Let the Darkmoon Spear get ready, all the other church knights and guards will stay, and I will divide the defensive area for them to garrison." After a moment of indulgence, Elsie finally spoke, "Tell them. The current primary goal is to assist in the layout. To ensure that missionaries from other churches will not infiltrate to avoid the second war in the faith area. In addition, let them prepare for the battle according to the sequence echelon announced by me later. Once we seize in other areas When they arrive in the new faith zone space, they must come over and take over the defense as soon as possible."

A flash of excitement flashed in Nal's eyes: "Then what is our goal?"

"Go to the Kingdom of Lane first, and enter the Millennium Covenant Empire through the Fortress of St. Drones." Elsie said lightly, "Spread our doctrines and beliefs along the way."

"The Kingdom of Lane may be okay, but the Millennium Covenant Empire... I am afraid it will not allow us to preach." Gnar frowned. It was not that he did not trust Elsie's judgment. It's just that he belongs to a more outspoken person, and if he has any doubts, he will definitely ask him the first time.

"If it was definitely not possible before then, but now it is not necessarily." Elsie smiled slightly, "Now the Millennium Covenant Empire should be in a mess. They will definitely welcome us very much....Especially our twilight. The Church of Light also has expertise in dealing with undead creatures."

"Undead creatures?" Gnar froze for a moment. "Why are there undead creatures in the Millennium Covenant Empire?... Could it be that the death wave broke out again?"

"No, it's something more serious than the tide of death." Elsie said in a deep voice, "I don't know who it is. It actually opened the door of the bones. Hey, this is a bit big. But it just gives us an excuse. Enter...I am afraid that other people will not be of much use in this battle, and only our Darkmoon Gun has the combat power to confront the undead army....Of course, I also have a little selfishness."

"Huh? Captain Elsie also has selfishness?" Gnar said with a grin.

"Yes, I have a friend who wants to see you again anyway." Elsie's indifferent face showed a rare smile, "If it weren't for him, I'm afraid I wouldn't be who I am now.... So, anyway. I want to see him again and see how he is going. By the way, let him see me now."

"I'm curious about the person who can keep you from remembering the head of the group." Gnar chuckled, "Is it your fiancée?"

"No." Elsie shook her head, "He is a man."

"What?" Gnar showed a disappointed look of disappointment.

.....

Just when Elsie made a new southward course of action, he was located in the trading capital, and ten people also put their eyes on this.

As the representatives of the ten major chambers of commerce in the Pan-Continental Chamber of Commerce, they are not only responsible for the affairs of the chamber of commerce, but also the joint defense of the entire trade capital and some external decisions. Although in recent years, their reputation has taken a big hit. First, the First and Tail Snake project in the entire wild land was completely destroyed, then the gray shadow black market was fatally hit, and then they were caught in the operation against the Void Duchy. The tail is completely torn from the void duchy.

It can be said that the series of prestige blows by the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance are all related to the Grand Duke of the Void Principality.

However, the Pan-Continental Chamber of Commerce Alliance has no way to retaliate.

In terms of military operations, they don't have any famous generals. Even if they can use high-level equipment to forcibly build an elite division, they don't feel that they are facing the Void Principality with two ten generals and many veterans on the battlefield. What victory can be achieved with their military capabilities. In addition, Xiao En's commander is not a strong army, the names of the three main army groups are almost resounding in half of the southern continent.

As for the strong, the Pan-Continental Chamber of Commerce Alliance may still be able to win at the beginning, but they just couldn't use it rashly. The Chamber of Commerce Alliance dispatched a strong killer to kill an aristocratic lord. This kind of thing is simply a challenge to the aristocratic class of the entire Miracle Continent. They don't have the powerful force of the Peace Council and can fight the entire world.

So in this awkward situation, it is natural that the reputation of the Pan-Continental Chamber of Commerce will be damaged.

In this regard, they can only adopt economic sanctions.

But I didn't want to. The Void Principality actually found a way to relieve the economic pressure, which made the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance a little helpless. final result. That is to say, not seeing and not worrying, simply ignore the related matters of the Void Principality, and continue to do their business as a businessman.

It wasn't until the Twilight Church suddenly went south with a high profile that it finally attracted the attention of the top ten chambers of commerce and the capital of trade.

As Elsie made a decision, the policy of the entire Twilight Church began to adjust. The presidents of the top ten chambers of commerce are still sitting silently in the conference room.

"The large forces of the Twilight Church are stationed in place. It seems that they want to consolidate the faith in these areas." Finally, someone opened the mouth to break the silence. "However, the current chief paladin of the Twilight Church leads the way. The Darkmoon Gun continued to move south, only bypassing our trading capital."

"Where is the goal?" Someone asked again.

"Should be planning to go to the Kingdom of Lane, but I guess they are planning to go further."

"The Millennium Covenant Empire..."

As soon as the name came out, there was another silence in the conference room.

"Almost all the strong people in the entire southern continent have been aware of it now, right?"

"We also have to do something. The opening of the door of bones is not a joke. If you can't resist it, I'm afraid that the entire southern continent will fall completely soon, and even we will not be able to keep our lives." A middle-aged man said, "I think we should reinforce the war in the Southern Continent at this time. This will also help us restore the reputation we damaged before."

"There is no problem with material support, but this time the opening of the door of the bones exudes too strong aura, and the level of combat involved is probably not low. If we are also involved in the war..."

The president of the Chamber of Commerce did not finish speaking completely, but the people present were not fools. How can I not understand what he meant.

Although the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce Alliance is a collection of businessmen's interests, especially in the trading capital, there are also a large number of strong people here. Sanctuary strong people can be seen almost everywhere, and even legendary strong people can even be seen occasionally. However, the thirteenth and fourteenth ranks are the limit, and there are only one or two legendary peak powers of the fifteenth rank. As for the higher-level super powers, there are none. This is also the trade capital and the pan The weakest place in the mainland chamber of commerce alliance.

And the door to the alien plane like the door of bones opens, if there is no accident, it is normal for a few super powers to fall.

If the legendary pinnacle powerhouses of the Pan-Continent Chamber of Commerce all fall in this battle, then this would be a very terrifying thing for the trading capital that has always maintained its autonomous status. After all, after losing the deterrence of this top powerhouse, there is no need for the seven empires to rise up, and the big kingdoms bordering the trade capital are enough to pose a strong threat to the trade capital.

Before, Elsie did not advance to the Trade City, because at that time he was facing each other with a 15th-tier legendary pinnacle powerhouse in the Trade City.

For Elsie, who now has three artifacts including the Twilight Spear, Twilight Shield, and Night Armor, is not without the power of the two powerhouses who are sitting in the trading capital, but if the war really starts. If so, Twilight Church will definitely not become the biggest beneficiary, and I am afraid that it is not even a winner. Therefore, after weighing the pros and cons, Elsie chose to give up, not planning to start with the delicious fat of the trading capital.

At the very least, this piece of fat still has very hard bones, and several teeth will collapse if you are not careful.

Soon, the top ten chambers of commerce in the trading capital reached a consensus: they can provide free material support for the war that opened the door of the bones at a minimum, and other more important strategic materials can also be discounted accordingly. But it is just material support, and will not send the strong to support the battlefield.

.....

Death Trade Road of the Commonwealth of the Northern Duchy, a legend recently appeared.

Lucky old horse. Hatas.

Originally, a trip to the Death Trade Road, even a one-way trip, may take one, two, or even several years, not to mention customs clearance. The fastest record of customs clearance in history is the record held fifty years ago: three years and seven months. It was an extremely large caravan. The leader was an old man with a record of twelve clearances, accompanied by seven warcraft scholars and twenty hunting masters, and the guard was still capable of fighting. A level six elite army.

But this record was broken by Hatas.

In the past year, Hatas has actually cleared twice in a row!

And the amount of goods he traffics each time is still several times the previous amount. This allowed the team he led to earn a lot of money in an instant. All of a sudden, Hatas became the hottest leader of the Chamber of Commerce on Death Road. Almost some people offered a high price of 5 million pan-continental gold coins and wanted to hire Hatas as the leader of their chamber of commerce, and they could share all the goods for sale. 10% after the profit.

In the face of such high returns, it is impossible for anyone to remain unmoved.

But. Hatas was very distressed at this time.

Others may not know why he was able to pass the death trade route so smoothly. But Hatas, as the party concerned, is absolutely very clear. The reason why he was able to pass the customs smoothly was not himself, but the two people he had taken in before: Diane and Edward.

Since more than a year ago, he took in Edward on the trade road, and then after Diane came to the door, the two have stayed in his caravan. After that, their journey became smooth and smooth, and they could even be like driving on the outside world. Walk for more than ten hours a day. In this way, the clearance time is naturally greatly shortened.

But now, these two real cash cows are leaving. How dare Hattas take the order from the merchant?

"Really not going with me?" Diane asked while sitting on the roof of the clock tower, dangling his feet, drinking wine.

Edward, who was sitting next to Diane, raised his brows, his face was contemptuous: "What do you let a demon do?"

"The door to the bones was opened." Di An said softly, "Don't you know?"

"You let the demon ***** who was supposed to destroy the world to help you save the world?" Edward let out a chuckle, "This is the funniest joke I've heard since I was born."

"Hmm. But I know you are not." Di An said with a serious face, "You don't want to destroy this world at all. You like this world better than anyone else, don't you?"

"Huh." Edward snorted coldly, no longer speaking, just pouring his own wine.

Diane didn't speak, but just sat on the roof and looked into the distance. He said to himself: "I know, you are just colder on the surface. In fact, you really like this world, or this plane. ...Otherwise, your vow to become a demon ***** is not against the devil, the devil, and the undead. Now the door to the bones has been opened, and it happens to be your enemy, isn't it?"

"Believe it or not, those guys will solve me first after I go?" Edward said coldly.

"I don't believe it." Diane said without hesitation, "Those guys are not that stupid.... Compared to the threat of the bone gate, your threat is not worth mentioning. And, as I said, you can Only I will kill you, and I will never allow others to kill you."

"It's up to you?" Edward glanced at Di An and said coldly, "Now almost all the strong people in the entire Southern Continent have gathered in the past, and only the super strong ones do not know how many. You can stop it. How many? One? Two?"

"Block until I can't stop it." Di An said lightly, but the meaning of the words was to show a great confidence, "How about? Do you want to go with me?"

"No." Edward refused without thinking.

"Okay." Diane said nothing, just nodded slightly.

The two did not speak anymore, as if they had lost their interest in talking, they just drank wine silently.

A moment later, Edward suddenly stretched out his hand and pushed Di An.

Diane blinked slightly blurred eyes, and then said: "What? I figured it out, want to go to the South Continent with me?"

"I just want to tell you, the wine is gone." Edward said lightly, "Go get some more."

"You don't know where the wine is, why don't you go by yourself?"

"Do you want me to destroy the whole city?" Edward raised his brows. "If that's the case, I don't mind."

"All right, when I'm afraid of you." Dian stood up, then patted his butt, "Wait for me here, I'll get some drinks back, but don't wait for me to come back and you won't run away again. NS."

"It's really long-winded." Edward curled his lips, then lay back, fell asleep on the roof, and took a nap.

Poor Di An could only shook his head helplessly, tearing open the space barrier to buy wine.

After Diane left, Edward, who seemed to be taking a nap, sat up again and looked to the south:
"The door of the bones... Sean? What would you do?"

.....

In addition to the many powerhouses on the Miracle Continent, they all looked at the southern continent. At the same time, on the floating island above the sky, some people also looked at the opening point of the door of the bones.

Andrew and Jibril fought side by side, their eyes seemed to be able to penetrate the layers of barriers, looking towards the dark ground.

"Aren't you going to make a move?" Andrew asked.

"That's not something I should deal with." Jibril said lightly, "That is my brother's responsibility and a test given by the will of the world. Just as the test given to me back then was the twilight of the gods.... Speaking of which, the Lich King came here because of you, how about you? Why didn't you do it?"

"If I shoot, will you stop me?"

"Yes." Jibril said without thinking.

"That's not the end." Andrew rolled his eyes, "You sons of the world, there is a lot of trouble.... But I owe him a gift, I want to give him, you can't stop it, otherwise I'll turn my face with you."

"I happen to have a gift that I agreed to give him and hasn't been sent yet." Jibril said lightly, "but after this gift is given, the real delivery is probably complete, and you and I I'm leaving here completely."

"It is a pity that he can't see the heroic figure of closing the door of the bones." Andrew sighed with regret.

"You are very optimistic about him." Jibril finally glanced sideways at Andrew.

"Do you think I'm good?" Andrew didn't answer the question.

"Um... it's really amazing." After thinking about it for a while, Jibril nodded slightly, "Back then, the matter of the gods at dusk, if you want to, you can completely destroy the whole world.... Even now, if it weren't for this. The law of the world suppresses your strength. If the location of our confrontation is converted to the void battlefield, I will still not be your opponent. Not to mention that there are so many powerful planes around you."

"But, does this have anything to do with you being so optimistic about him?" Jibril was still puzzled.

"Of course." Andrew laughed loudly, "Because, he and I are from the same plane! They are also the same race! They have the same beliefs! Since I am so powerful, then I am Sean of the same race. How could it not be great?... This is simply a ridiculous joke in the world. Not to mention that there is only one Lake, even if there are some strange guys, it will not be able to stop Sean's progress, this is us The beliefs and beliefs of the family!"

Chapter 522: .Jointly

Before the gate of the bones was opened, if someone said that the people of Deaththorn and the Peace Council would join forces against the enemy, then this would definitely be regarded as a joke.

may be regarded as a joke of the century.

But now...

Shaun glanced at the battle ahead.

I saw Mingbei take the lead, easily tearing a line of defense in the encirclement formed by the bone warrior and the bone demon. In the face of the Mingbei that is about to step into the ranks of the superpowers, these bone warriors and bone demons of the fifth and sixth ranks are naturally unlikely to pose any threat to them, but because the number is too large, the work of breaking through is not seen. So easy.

Especially, because of the strengthening and transformation of the forest of sighs by death, some higher-level undead creatures suddenly rush out from time to time. The ranks of these undead creatures are naturally not particularly high, at least they can't pose any threat to the monument. It's just that these undead creatures basically have combat power as high as tiers 8 and 9, and the number base is also huge, so even if they are Mingbei will also feel a little strenuous to deal with it.

At this time, Mingbei opened the bow with two fists, and blasted the heads of the two high-level undead creatures that burst out from the left and right sides with one punch.

Compared with the undead creatures of the skeleton type, the undead creatures like zombies are naturally difficult for people of low-level professions to deal with, but it is easier for people like the monument than the skeletons. Deal with it more, because their weaknesses are more obvious.

It's just that, just as the Mingbei solved the two undead creatures, a third high-level undead creature suddenly attacked next to him, and it attacked the side waist of the Mingbei.

Ghost corpse.

This is a very vicious undead creature-it extracts the soul of a person who was an assassin in his lifetime, and then only retains the memory of the skill, merges it into the dead child or baby, so that it becomes a kind of at least up to the eighth level. Even the undead creatures of Tier Nine. This kind of undead creatures hardly have any frontal combat ability, but they can mix in a huge army of undead creatures through the hiding of death. Launch a surprise attack on higher-level enemies with its unique assassination and qi-breaking ability.

Even a legendary powerhouse, even a little careless person will be injured by this, or even be infected with severe corpse poison.

With the strength of the Mingbei, it is natural not to be injured by such a ghost and corpse, but in the face of such a sudden attack. It is difficult for him to fight back for a while. To put it in layman's terms. It is the time for the attack action to freeze, and it can only take a wave of damage.

But at this moment, Christina suddenly shot.

A simple arcane charge bombarded the ghost and corpse demon, interrupting its attack, followed by a lunge, and a faint star glow appeared on the glove of the right hand. light spot. The breath of the cold wind radiated from Christina's right fist, following the movement of her fist. I can clearly see that there are even traces of frost fluttering in the air.

This is the power of alchemy.

When this punch hit this ghost corpse. This ghost corpse was first swallowed by the strong cold air, and quickly condensed into a block of ice. It's just that the ice cube didn't last for a second before it exploded into countless ice chips and fluttered down.

Smashing crystals.

An attack skill unique to the warrior of Alchemy. It has extremely low physical abilities in the face of its own physical ability, and the small ghost and corpse has a very significant special effect.

And just after Christina's hit, three ghost corpses suddenly flew out next to Christina, and they attacked both Christina and Mingbei.

The attack angle and timing of the three ghost corpses are very well selected. It happened to be the moment when Christina was in the attacking state. Kristina has the evasion method to show the combo skills again; and if it is slower than one-tenth of a second, Kristina's hard time will also end.

At this time, the attack of the three ghost corpses, in addition to two attacking towards Christina, another target was the neck of the Mingbei.

If the Mingbei goes to rescue Christina, then the Mingbei will inevitably be hurt. Although it will not be fatal, it will definitely affect the next battle state of the Mingbei. But if the Mingbei does not rescue Kristina, it will be difficult for Kristina to be able to withstand the siege of two ghost corpses. Even if she has the domain ability to heal injuries, she is a fierce corpse. Poison can't be recovered immediately, even if it doesn't fall due to it, it will definitely hurt its vitality.

And most importantly, Kristina's domain power has a very strong lethality for several members of the Deathspine such as Mingbei. If she opens her own field here, then maybe it is not a good thing, but a very bad thing. Just as the power of the domain of the Mingbei and others is as lethal as Christina and the others.

So no matter what the result is, it is a big damage to this team at the moment.

At this moment, a pair of big hands suddenly came out.

directly grabbed the two ghost corpses attacking Christina with one hand, and saw Mingbei sneered, and with his hands slightly harder, he directly squeezed the two ghost corpses completely. And the ghost corpse behind him was also intercepted by a sword light, and a puff of green sour blood was sprinkled in the air-this was the hand of the silver-robed executive Atana.

Whether it is the Mingbei, Christina or Atana, the coordination of the three can be almost seamless.

Obviously, each other is deadly rivals. Obviously this is the first time they have joined forces, but the fighting tacit understanding between each other is more like one than the soldiers who have been fighting on the battlefield for a long time.

After a staggered body, the one responsible for opening the road ahead is still the Mingbei, with a vigorous momentum.

And Kristina and Atana, they are still about one position behind the Mingbei, and they are responsible for sweeping the formation.

After a staggered assistance between the three of them, they did not say anything to thank each other, but continued to cooperate with each other tacitly and continue to open the way. For them, it seems that this is a matter of course, it is not worth bothering each other.

Only with the death of the ghost corpse, everyone present has already begun to realize that the attack from the undead army has also begun to become more and more fierce. Because of the undead like ghosts and corpses. They are not common undead creatures. Their status is equivalent to the value of shadow assassins and assassins in the eyes of politicians. They are usually sharp daggers used to implement decapitation tactics.

Their appearance is usually used to resist the invasion of the bone plane, the main generals and commanders in the human coalition.

After all, with their special abilities. Even the legendary powerhouse. A little carelessness will be seriously injured.

Regardless of whether it is a legendary powerhouse or a strategic general commander, they are the mainstays in the war against the invasion of the bone plane.

As long as Sean and others who sigh deeply in the forest at this moment, more than half of them are damaged in this forest, then this is absolutely good news for the undead army on the plane of bones, even if it pays a certain price for this, it will not hesitate to pay a certain price. . Therefore, almost after seeing the appearance of one after another of ghosts and corpses, Xiao En and others were actually mentally prepared for a deadly battle.

"Kozilek. You are responsible for the queen." Shaun spoke to Kozilek in the middle of the team.

As one of the strongest combat power in the team. Kozilek was responsible for sitting in the center in previous operations to deal with the special circumstances around him. If it weren't for the raid of the ghost corpse demon to come too fast and too urgently, everyone hadn't prepared anything before, otherwise it would be impossible for Kozilek to threaten Mingbei, Christina and others. However, the situation at this time is a little different. If Kozilek continues to sit in the center to guard against emergencies, then once the enemy launches an attack from several aspects, it will definitely cause damage.

if we assume. If the people present are mainly from the Deadthorn or the Peace Council, then Sean will definitely ignore these.

but now. He has the most people in the team, so Sean must ensure the safety of all the members. Otherwise, if it causes casualties, then Rilitha and others must be the first to die. After all, their strength level is the lowest, and it is very likely that even Reyce can't keep it.

For Sean's order, Kozilek did not resist too much. After a little hesitation, he fell a few steps behind everyone. This is the best support distance for the team at the moment: whether it is for the team that needs key protection in the middle or for the people on the two wings, the only thing that cannot be supported in the first time is the trio of sharp knives in front of the team who is responsible for opening the way.

Mingbei, Atana, and Christina are responsible for the team's road-opening work-because the road-breaking pioneer is the most arduous work, not only requires a certain degree of mobility and adaptability, but also has a lot of combat power and endurance. High demands. The only people capable of this job were Mingbei, Rena, and Kozilek, but for the sake of the team's tacit understanding, Xiao En arranged for these three to be responsible for opening the way.

Rena, is in charge of the left wing of the team-this is a heavy fire attraction area most vulnerable to attack. However, with Rena's strength, combined with Blackstone and the set of Michael's angel costumes, it is enough for Rena to cope with all situations.

As for the right wing of the team, Bone Steele, Dark Steele and Dini were originally responsible for the joint responsibility, but now with the increased pressure caused by the onslaught of the undead army, Sean consciously joined the right wing. In this way, the pressure on the right wing of the entire team was reduced a lot, which was tantamount to greatly alleviating the pressure on the entire team.

The rest of the people are all protected objects, and Cecilia and Angel are responsible for them. If necessary, they will be reinforced by the surrounding people.

With Sean's scheduling and reallocation of the combat area, the team that had gradually felt heavy pressure quickly adapted to the new combat environment, and even the three pioneers such as Mingbei and Christina were able to accelerate A lot. And all this is just a few words from Sean, he didn't even make tactical requirements for all the staff, so it is natural that Mingbei and Christina's evaluation of Sean is a little higher.

Only at this time, Xiao En can no longer think about things like hiding and clumsy. What he wants now is to leave the forest of sighs that is gradually becoming dead as soon as possible.

Chapter 523: Evacuate

Alexis chose to leave the battlefield for the first time after Rek opened the door of the bones.

In the door of bones, she smelled a very familiar breath, which was not a good thing for her. Because very few people can escape from Alexis's hands, and those who can escape and then dare to face Alexis again are obviously not easy to reach, at least in terms of combat power, they are definitely strong enough. . And there was only one person in the door of bones that could make Alexis familiar.

Little Lucas.

This Lich King can be regarded as a strange existence in the plane of bones.

Lucas, who has been proficient in magic since childhood, was originally an outstanding young man who was diligent and studious, who loved life. In order to explore the eternal mystery of magic—in fact, to avoid the sorrowful end of accidentally exploding himself to death during magic experiments, Lucas probably When he was in his thirties, he transformed himself into a lich. Although this kind of behavior is quite shocking, but as a well-meaning lich, he can still make people feel at ease, so he has always been fine.

But when he was forty years old, his brother was murdered because of an imperial conspiracy, so little Lucas naturally wanted to avenge his brother.

This is the first time the little Lucas has shown his power on the plane where he is, and the result is the destruction of the entire plane. However, the little Lucas, who was not originally particularly powerful, has also destroyed the entire plane, absorbing the original power of the plane and becoming extremely powerful, directly opening the door to the outside world of the bone plane, and officially becoming One of the seven lich kings on the plane of bones.

After that, little Lucas resurrected his elder brother. Later, with little Lucas' reinforcement and support at any cost, Grand Lucas eventually became one of the thirteen kings of the bone plane.

These brothers have always had a reputation on the Bone Plane, but unlike the big Lucas who became cruel and combative after being resurrected, the little Lucas is a Lich King who doesn't like fighting very much. And what he is most proficient in is not undead magic, but elemental magic. However, just like the personality problems that all Lich Kings will have, little Lucas's hunger for experimental materials is also very high, so many times the conflicts between little Lucas and others are due to the experimental materials.

Before clashed with Alexis. It is because of the problem of the experimental materials: this guy was shocked by Alexis' unparalleled physical quality. Based on the character of the crazy experimenter. So little Lucas offered Alexis the most beautiful invitation in his opinion.

"Please be my experiment material."

Although the tone and modifiers are likely to be more gorgeous, it is always the same.

So, Alexis ran away without any suspense.

Then the end is that little Lucas not only lost the entire undead army stored on the plane of bones, but even all the experimental bodies created over the past countless years were solved by Alexis. Even he himself, if he hadn't opened the door of the bone plane at a critical moment, because the great Lucas intervened and interfered with Alexis's attack, the little Lucas would probably be killed by Ali Xis destroyed.

The throne replacement of        and the thirteen undead kings is very frequent. The seven great witches of the bone plane are caused by their own particularities. So although it is very likely that for various reasons, it will be defeated or even defeated in battles on other planes. However, it is absolutely a rare thing for a small Lucas to be completely defeated by Alexis from the front, and even severely injured or even on the verge of death in the true sense.

At least, apart from the fact that the Seven Lich Kings and the Thirteen Kings of the Bone Plane are absolutely threatening to each other, the Seven Lich Kings were almost truly wiped out by enemies outside the Bone Plane, and the first one was born from the Bone Plane. A Lich King began to count, but only a few times. And once this happens, then the name of the enemy who has the ability to endanger the life of the Lich King. It will soon spread throughout the bone plane.

But, in most cases. Such a very famous enemy would soon die in the Lich King's revenge.

Like Alexis, he has the power to kill the Lich King, but he is still alive and kicking, and only three have died in the Lich King's revenge.

Among them, Andrew also occupies such a place, but his opponent is Lake.

And unlike Alexis's situation, Lake knew that he would definitely not be able to beat Andrew, so basically he would never have direct contact with Andrew. This is also the real reason why after Sean was released from a plane that was on the verge of collapse, apart from symbolically announcing his return, he never had any contact with Andrew and Andrew's members from beginning to end. .

Don't even mention that Andrew took the shot himself, his Enkos and Beth all have the ability to completely kill Lake in a true sense. It's just that these two people, one is the demon king from the abyss plane, and the other is the thirteen undead kings who belong to the same plane as Rek, so they can't be regarded as enemies outside the plane of the bones above.

Fight alone with Lake, Alexis is not at all empty.

But facing two Lich Kings at the same time, and there is even a thirteen undead kings, Alexis felt that her mind hadn't been flooded, so she chose to retreat strategically. If you change the location and environment, and the opponent has only one person, Alexis doesn't mind teaching these guys how to behave again—or, if you are a mature undead.

But right now...

Alexis waved the sword in his hand, and a cold light appeared in the darkness.

Accompanied by a crackling sound of broken bones, dozens of skeletons blocking the road were all shattered into broken bones.

In the Undead Legion, it can basically be divided into three legion sequences, namely Cannon Fodder, Soldier, and Elite.

Cannon fodder refers to the undead creatures of the skeleton series, among which the undead of the skeleton series belong to this branch.

Soldiers refer to the undead creatures of the Necronomicon series, including the most common zombies, zombies, ghouls, banshees, spirits, etc., and their high-level forms include black warriors, black knights, vampires, necromancers, Necromancers, tombstone guards and other ranks five to eight exist.

Further up, it is the seventh and eighth undead creatures mainly composed of the dead soul guards and fear knights. They can be regarded as elite sequences in the Undead Army, representing two different types of infantry and cavalry. Although the advanced methods are basically fixed, there can be no new breakthroughs, but they include powerful corpse dragons, bone dragons, and so on. All belong to this class.

At this moment, the skeletons that were swept by Alexis with a single shot are bone warriors, only half a rank lower than the bone demon, and they are considered the most advanced undead creatures in the skeleton system. Although in essence it is still the cannon fodder sequence in the Undead Legion. But after all, there is some difference between low-level cannon fodder and high-level cannon fodder. In the face of at least thousands of bone warriors, even Christina, who is stronger than the Peace Council, must be careful to avoid falling into the encirclement of the Undead Legion.

Different from the attack methods used by Sean and others, Alexis did not brand all these skeletal warriors into powder, making them unable to regenerate. But her handling method is more cruel and ruthless than Sean and others-just like her name "Killing Wu Ji", all the bone warriors killed by Alexis. Its soul seeds were completely destroyed without exception. Moreover, its residual bones are also "contaminated", and there is no possibility of reorganization and recycling.

In essence, Alexis's method is the same as the "purification" commonly used by the church to deal with undead creatures.

It's just that the soul seeds of the undead creatures that are usually purified will be liberated and return to the kingdom of the gods that the priest believes in, becoming part of the god's power, and may even give birth to new heroes in the kingdom of God. People.

but. These undead killed by Alexis will roar with extreme fear. Because their soul seeds were completely destroyed, their souls no longer exist. It is equivalent to this world, this person has never been born, it can be regarded as a very terrible method.

Alexis walked towards a target point like a stroll in the garden.

She didn't care how many bone warriors there were around, or how many bone demons were hidden, even if there were raids by the black warriors, black knights and even the fear knights, Alexis completely ignored them. Alexis, holding the gun of the ruins, could not be considered by common sense. In this state, except for a limited number of people, there was no enemy that could stop Alexis from advancing.

Even if they were undead creatures who never knew tiredness and fear, after hearing the panic sound of countless companions being destroyed, these undead creatures finally stagnated. That was the fear that was sealed from the depths of the soul, and it was gradually recovered in the bodies of these undead creatures at this time.

"Xu Dance."

When Alexis came to the very edge of a forest, looking at what finally turned into substance and formed a dark light curtain similar to an enchantment, Alexis finally swung his gun and drank lightly. Screamed.

is just a very simple sweeping action, which seems to be no different from how she solved the bone warriors before.

However, a powerful air current suddenly swept out of Alexis, like a hurricane from a tornado. All the undead creatures within a radius of 100 meters were instantly destroyed into countless broken bones. . And the dark light curtain in front of Alexis was also torn open a huge hole, which can even accommodate dozens of people to pass side by side.

A few figures quickly rushed out from the other end of the light curtain.

The leader is impressively Sean, behind him are Cecilia, Angel, Lays, Rena, Rilitha and others, and the one in charge is Kozilek. Christina, Mingbei and others who had joined forces before, were no longer visible at this time.

"Huh? Didn't it mean that there are other guests?" Alexis glanced behind Kozilek and confirmed that there was no one else before she turned to look at Sean.

When Alexis asked, other people were also observing Alexis, because this person had never seen him before. However, only Cecilia, who is most sensitive to perception, discovered that Kozilek's emotions fluctuated extremely strongly when he saw Alexis, and seemed to be a little frightened—especially when he saw Alexis. When Sith smiled at Kozilek.

"This is Alexis." Sean just gave a brief introduction and didn't say much. When other people saw that Sean didn't want to say anything, they certainly wouldn't bother.

"We parted ways as we approached the edge of the forest." Sean was answering Alexis's question. "After all, it was only a temporary cooperation, especially the Peace Council and the Deadthorn...Of course the two families could not follow me. Come out in the same direction."

"It's a pity." Alexis shrugged.

Others may not know what Alexis is so sorry for, but only Sean knows the meaning of this sentence.

Alexis had an intention to kill those people.

"Let's leave here first."

Chapter 524: .Bone Disaster

"Alexis!"

In the darkness, there was an angry roar: "I smell you!"

This sound is like a raging wave on the sea, setting off a storm of waves. An invisible wave of air spread from the center of the sound to the surroundings, so that all the surrounding undead showed a frightened look, and even the fire of the soul beating in the eye sockets of tens of thousands of low-level cannon fodder skeletons was extinguished on the spot, and they fell apart one after another. Fell to the ground.

A black vortex, spinning crazily in a huge magic circle.

A skeleton in a black robe with purple flames in its eye sockets is slowly rising from this black whirlpool, as if sitting on an elevator.

The bones of this skeleton exposed outside the robe are pure white like a jade. It is completely different from the pure white bones of Reck that have been washed by the long river of time, which has a sense of history. Look at this skeleton. It actually has a strange sense of beauty. But in fact, this kind of white bones, like a jade, is a complete shame in the eyes of the Lich King, because this color means that their bodies have been destroyed by others, so they have to be reused. Realize the resuscitation of the prepared bones.

When this white bone finally stood on the ground, the fierce might emanating from him was not inferior to that of Reek.

Countless undead creatures shivered in front of this new skeleton.

If the previous method of Alexis directly destroying the bone warriors made the bone warriors hesitate, then the appearance of this skeleton made all the undead creatures present feel sincerely afraid. Even some of the undead auras on their bodies are extremely powerful, and even fear knights and death knights who already have self-awareness are unwilling to face this skeleton.

"Little Lucas, you scared my legion." Rick's deep voice sounded slowly.

With the sound of the sound, countless undead gathered here retreated to the left and right. Give up a straight passage.

Rake, holding a magic wand, is slowly walking out of this passage.

In fact, Rick is not walking by himself at this moment, but a white wave formed by countless bone meal under his feet is supporting him, just like a **** king patrolling in his own kingdom. generally. The undead breath emanating from his body perfectly neutralized the fierce power emanating from the young Lucas. To avoid having to go to war with the enemy. He has to pay the price of tens of thousands of cannon fodder deaths again.

"Huh!" Little Lucas looked at Lake, and then let out a cold snort.

However, he did not confront Leike again, but condensed his breath.

"I asked you to come here, not to let you help my enemies to solve my lovely men." Rek said coldly, "You know, you are only a new life for thousands of years. You are still very immature. ...Not to mention. This time you didn't even bring the phylactery. If it is dispelled, you can only be reborn on the plane of bones."

"It's you who told me that Alexis is here, so I will join you." Little Lucas responded without showing any weakness, "As for me, don't worry about it, wait for me to learn the origin of this world. After the power, I can return to the peak state again, and then I can open the door of the bones again. Bring my phylogeny here." At this point, little Lucas looked at Rek up and down, and then sank. The voice said: "On the contrary, it is you...there hasn't been much progress in these thousands of years, but the strength has gone backwards? Why, have you also been destroyed by your body?"

The time velocity between the        plane and the plane is completely different.

Some planes will have a very fast flow rate, and some planes will have a very slow flow rate.

Although the time flow rate of different planes is different, in fact, as long as you are in a world, your body will naturally follow the time flow rate of this plane. Therefore, in the eyes of many plane pioneers, the value of a plane, in addition to the resources that this plane possesses, the difference in time velocity between the ectopic plane and the main plane is also a crucial point.

For Lake and Lucas, the Bone Plane is his main plane, while the Marvel Continent is an alien plane; for Andrew, his hometown Sobros is the main plane, and the miracle plane is the main plane. The continent, the bone plane, the abyssal purgatory, etc. are all different planes; as for Sean, the miracle continent is his main plane, and the other planes are all different planes.

So, what little Lucas said about thousands of years of time is calculated based on the time velocity of the bone plane.

But in fact, based on the time flow rate of the plane of Miracle Continent, Lake was sealed by Andrew in a desolate semi-plane for more than tens of thousands of years.

Thousands of years, for a Lich King who is almost immortal and eternal, it is not short but not too long. So even if one's personal strength reaches the realm of the Lich King, it is almost impossible to make any further progress, but after so much time, some new things will always be created. However, the aura on Lake's body clearly showed that not only did his personal strength not grow, but he was much weaker than before, and even the undead army that was famous for his subordinates suffered heavy losses.

Because of this, that's why the little Lucas asked.

Because, except for the method that was almost completely wiped out by Alexis like the little Lucas, there is almost no way to make a Lich King's personal strength and legion strength such a big regression.

"It's more unacceptable than being destroyed by the body." Rick said coldly, "but I have to accept this fact."

Little Lucas exudes a solemn breath.

For the Lich King, it is not that they are unable to accept defeat. On the contrary, they will accept and admit defeat very calmly, because this allows them to sum up more experience and lay the foundation for victory in the future. Therefore, when a Lich King says that he has to accept the price of failure and does not want revenge, there is often only one possibility, that is, the strength of the opponent is so strong that the Lich King cannot even want it. Go for revenge.

Of course, in a general sense, this kind of thinking is only temporary.

Because the life of the Lich King has never lacked time, and they will not worry that their enemies will not be able to get revenge if they die. They will directly trace the origin of the soul and blood. So if the enemy dies, they will choose to find their blood heirs for revenge. This is also the reason why normal people are unwilling to offend a lich, not to mention the seven great witches on the plane of bones.

"The situation on this plane is more complicated than you think." Rek said lightly, "You want to draw the power of the plane's origin. It is also impossible. Because the son of this plane has been born. ... and besides Alexis, there are still enemies in this plane that can threaten your life. I don't want you to be dispelled so quickly, if it weren't for being forced by Alexis, there would be no way. , I don't want to open the door of bones."

"Son of the plane...?" Little Lucas said in a deep voice, "Then I have to use another way to gain strength. Just wanting to create elite soldiers will be very troublesome....Forget it. Let's do it with low-level material first."

"The closest thing here is an empire of human forces. I can lend you some of your subordinates so that you can develop faster." Lake said, "However, I think you should be clear about the situation, this time. The opening of the gate was purely an accident, so I was not ready to invade the undead army on this plane. But those strong in this plane don't think so, their next counterattack will definitely be very fast."

"I'm not interested in invading a plane." Little Lucas retorted in a deep voice, "but I will do a good job of defensive measures. ... As for other issues. You don't need to worry, and I am not at all. Come here unprepared."

"Oh?" The fire of the soul in Lake's eyes jumped. Emotional fluctuations showing doubts.

But the next moment, a tyrannical breath of death surged out suddenly, and it turned out to be a kind of monarch's majesty that made people fearful and even worshipped.

On the ground, another black vortex composed of rich lifelessness appeared.

A man wearing an off-white armor is slowly rising from it.

The man's hair is light gray, with a silver frost-like feeling. The armor he wore was a set of composite chain armor. This armor had excellent defensive capabilities, but the heavy weight also made this armor quickly disappear from the battlefield. But at this moment, he wore a light gray-haired middle-aged man with a particularly mighty awe-inspiring aura.

Not enough. As he slowly rose from the black vortex, the middle-aged man was riding a horse with blood-red rays shining under his crotch. The war horse also wore a vest. It was an extremely retro pure war vest chain. The iron blades were strung together one by one by hand. It was not forged in batches in the inverted pattern of today's blacksmith craftsmanship.

This middle-aged man riding a war horse, the aura that exudes from his body is not inferior to that of Lucas and Rick, and even more than Rick and Lucas a noble and majesty that only emperors have.

"Big Lucas..." Lake looked at the middle-aged man who looked like a death knight, and then said in a deep voice, "I'm still thinking, even if you haven't developed much in the past thousands of years, but the most At least it is impossible not to bring any subordinates here.... It turns out that you concentrated all your energy on the maintenance and expansion of the Bone Gate, and you sent your brother over."

"I was defeated by Alexis because I underestimated her, but this does not mean that I am stupid and arrogant." Little Lucas said lightly, "On the contrary, it is precisely because of this failure. That's why I clearly saw the strength of Alexis. Now that I have decided to launch a vengeance war against her again, then naturally I cannot come here unprepared.... Since facing Alexis, The human tactics that our Lich King relies on most to become famous are already worthless, so why should I waste my power to bring those worthless experimental subjects?"

Lake nodded slightly, agreeing.

Because even if it is an undead creature that is as strong as the nirvana death knight, it is hardly an opponent of Alexis.

Then the Great Lucas, one of the thirteen undead kings, came in person, maybe the situation would be completely different.

"Then, it's as promised." Rek said.

"If you successfully win this plane, you and I will be half of the original power." Little Lucas took over.

"The girl with Phoenix blood is mine."

"And killing Wu Ji Alexis is mine."

"The contract is established."

This time, it was the common voice of Lake and Lucas.

"I can buy you about two months or so." Lake said, "During this period, you can gain your strength as quickly as possible."

"With me, it doesn't take two months." Grand Lucas glanced at Lek, and then said coldly, "One month is enough."

Faced with such arrogant words from the big Lucas, Rek sneered and did not answer.

Because he knows very well that the native strongmen in this plane will soon teach Grand Lucas how to behave.