

Lord of War Vol 3-81

Chapter 81: .War Fight Festival-Golden

The stone wall roared and shattered, and countless fist-sized stones flew in the air, like migratory locusts crossing the border.

A figure leapt out from the hole in the stone wall.

Its speed is so fast that it has almost reached the capture speed of ordinary human eyes, and it can barely capture an afterimage visually. But more subtle, it is far from the case. The distance from the hole in the stone wall to the atrium is almost a hundred meters or so. With the help of a leap, you can only leap up to a distance of 20 to 30 meters, even if it is increased. With the outburst of vindictiveness, it is also difficult to rush to a hundred meters away in one breath.

Unless it is a strong sanctuary.

When this figure leapt out of the hole, the figure did not fall, but remained almost parallel to the gravel in the air.

At a position of about thirty meters, this figure was spotted on a piece of broken rock on a broken wall. Almost the moment the toe fell, the rock turned into dust and fluttered down from the sky. This assistance allowed her to continue sliding in the air for a distance of nearly thirty meters. Then no one noticed when the silhouette suddenly added a flying dust particle under her feet.

A blue light burst suddenly from top to bottom.

The azure blue brilliance like a horse training!

Edward's pupils reflected a blue light and shadow, and the cold air emitted by the blue light reflected in his pupils was not inferior to his abyssal ice. But Edward's expression was still disapproving, his right hand was slightly raised, and following the trajectory of his right hand raising, a ripple naturally appeared in the air, accompanied by the surging of the ripples. Numerous tiny blue ice crystals suddenly floated in the air.

These blue ice crystals condense together quickly, forming a crystal clear blue ice sword in an instant. The hilt of the sword happened to be in Edward's hand.

Hold the sword, raise the sword, and block.

The three movements are almost completed in one go in Edward's hands.

A more dazzling blue light burst into the air, and the roar of gold and iron fighting was deafening. And the bright blue brilliance completely concealed the figures in the battle, like a blue curtain dividing the whole world into two completely different plane spaces: inside and outside the space of the blue light curtain, there is already one. The deputy was in a fierce confrontation wandering on the edge of life and death; but in the space outside the light curtain, Sean and Cecilia could only hear the sound of gold and iron clashing.

After a while, the intense blue light curtain began to weaken until it diffused.

A human figure was forcibly shaken out from behind the light curtain.

It's Xuefanio!

At this moment, Xuefanio looked awe-inspiring. Although she is only wearing light cloth clothes, the blue light shining on her body is enough to prove that her defensive ability is no weaker than that of the fully armed Rina, because now at least five magical blessing effects are taking effect on her body. write.

But even so, in this round of confrontation, it still seems that Xuefanio is at a disadvantage.

was shaken back from the blue light curtain, and Xuefanio slipped a full five meters away, and the ground was plowed into two long marks caused by her slip. And her long sword Binglin. She was also placed in front of her chest-the priest with the sword has a unique advantage in sword skills, and even many swordsmen have to ask him for advice, so there is almost no "defense" in the dictionary of the life of the priest with the sword.

But at this moment, Xuefanio actually showed a defensive fighting posture.

On the other side, Edward said that although he retreated several steps in a row, every step he touched would make a deep hole in the ground. The depth is almost over the ankle, but after this, Edward is perfectly able to completely release all the pressure he has been under. And unlike Xuefanio's defensive posture, Edward's appearance is more casual and relaxed, and there is no obvious wound on his body, unlike Xuefanio's magical brilliance that shakes extremely strongly.

Who is strong and weak. The results are almost clear at a glance.

"Priest with sword?" Edward raised his brow slightly. "I've heard of the glorious achievements of priest with sword in the Ice Church in the Northern Continent. It was really extraordinary at first sight today. But unfortunately, in terms of swordsmanship, we drive Devil's curse seal sword skills are not necessarily weaker than the so-called priest swordsmanship of priests with swords. Of course, you have divine art, and I also have curse seals. So basically, we are on the same level, the only difference is It's..."

A faint blue light appeared on the back of Edward's right hand, which is the characteristic of the spell-marked swordsman's power being activated. It's just that the curse seal on the back of Edward's hand is completely different from the curse seal structure of Sean's layered, interlocking magic formation. The curse seal on the back of Edward's hand is obviously more casual, it looks like a child's random graffiti, but the sense of authority emanating from this curse seal is enough to prove that this thing is definitely not a graffiti.

"I'm better than you." Edward said softly to Xuefanio, "If you think that I am the same as the lord over there, then you will soon suffer, because the sealer and the hunter are the same. There is a fundamental difference."

"Really?" Listening to Edward's boasting, Xuefanio's expression is much colder than Edward's. It is a kind of awe-inspiring arrogance that is almost sacred and inviolable, "I also want to tell you one thing. ...The church I belong to is the Church of Ice and Snow and Winter. If you think I am a fool from the Church of Ice, you will soon receive a surprise."

Needle mang to wheat mang.

The aura of the two suddenly climbed to the highest, and the invisible aura continued to dissipate, as if to draw a dividing line between each other. This is already a powerful aura that is infinitely close to the sanctuary level. It is obviously no longer a battle that ordinary people can intervene. With the sullen and cold aura emanating from the entire mansion at this moment, the strong sense of depression almost makes people crazy.

Sean's eyes suddenly became a little hot, and then in his line of sight, he began to see the black misty gas continuously emanating from Edward's body.

At this moment, in Sean's eyes, the whole world suddenly became black, white, and gray. The tone of the whole world was white, and the figure was gray. But there are deep and light, and contrast from the chromatic aberration. Sean could easily understand the strength of the power gap represented by this shade. Judging from the depth of color, there is no doubt that Edward's color is a little darker than that of Shefani, which is probably what he calls "stronger."

However, Sean felt that the reason why Edward looked a little deeper was purely because he was constantly emitting black misty gas at this moment.

True Eye (Bloodline Talent) has evolved to Tier 4, enabling energy detection.

As if there was a thunderbolt in his mind, Xiao En instantly understood what the three colors of black, white, and gray represented. In fact, just as he expected, white is the base color that forms the foundation of the world. The gray color represents the strength of the strength. The darker the color tone, the stronger the strength, but because of the lack of specific data support, it will become necessary to rely on self-guessing.

The black color comes from a variety of different energy auras.

At this time, the black gas emanating from Edward's body is his unique ability: the power of frenzy.

"Nio. That's his frantic aura disturbing you, calm down!" After understanding this, Sean immediately shouted to Xuefanio, "Don't be affected by his frantic aura. You lose your mind."

"Clean!" Xuefanio's heart jumped slightly, revealing a look of alertness. However, it was the first time to use the magical technique to calm his mind.

"Your Excellency Sean Connery, I regret the choice you made at this moment." Edward turned his head to look at Sean, his expression calmed down again, and the black frenzy on his body finally stopped exuding, "I I thought. We might be able to work together, as long as I perfected the power of this bloodline. Then I will give you a true orthodox bloodline, not a semi-finished product like silver."

When Sean heard Edward's words, he finally knew why he felt an unnatural illusion in her when he fought Silver before. Many times the aura radiating from her body is obviously far from her strength. It is a kind of unreality. At this time, I finally understand that in Edward's eyes, silver is just an experiment. It's not that silver itself has the ability to control the power of demons.

"From the moment you killed Master Yoda, you should understand that there is absolutely no possibility of cooperation between you and me." Sean said firmly.

"In that case, then I have to use another method to get the manuscript from you."

Edward sighed slightly, and the next moment, a large crack spread wildly from where he was standing.

In the eyes of everyone, Edward seems to be standing still, but his breath no longer stays in place.

The panic of heart palpitations instantly rose up in Sean's heart. The intense fear almost made him want to scream, but it came from somewhere deep in his consciousness, but there was a strange sense of tranquility. These two completely opposed emotions continued to impact in Sean's heart. In the end, the voice from the depths of the soul was better and took the upper hand, expelling the panic and despair from Sean's consciousness.

"Huh?" Edward's soft whisper of doubt, sounded close at hand.

In the empty space where there was no one, Edward's figure suddenly emerged, and the figure he was standing on began to gradually disappear. One of his hands was grabbing towards Sean. Although the movements were very slow, it made Sean feel an unavoidable illusion. He almost exhausted all his strength and finally broke free of this. With a huge sense of oppression, he raised his hand and swung his sword towards Edward.

"Humph!"

With a soft snort, Edward showed a bit of disdain, and his left hand did not evade and grabbed to Sean. However, the back of his left hand also showed the same light blue curse brilliance, and then the blue brilliance gushed crazily from his left hand like a liquid blowout, and then quickly wrapped his entire left hand, turning for an instant It turned into a raging flame, and then grabbed the black long sword blade that Xiao En had swung up.

It's just that, as he expected, the scene where the black long sword instantly turned into iron juice did not appear.

Under the frantic burning of the flames in his left hand, the black long sword not only showed no signs of being melted, but on the contrary, black powder was constantly falling off the body of the sword, making the body of the long sword more and more smooth and faint. There is a kind of black crystal-like translucent luster.

Refining!

The term appeared in the minds of Sean and Edward almost at the same time.

Edward originally wanted to destroy Sean's weapon. Relieving Sean's rebellious behavior, he did not expect to accidentally help Sean to forge the Black King even further. All the impurities inside are tempered out. As a result, the feeling of despair and panic that Sean had left completely dissipated without a trace, and his shot became more resolute, and the sword slid towards Edward.

is not a thorn, but a slippery.

The flame on Edward's left hand seemed to be like a natural fire at this moment. On a whim, Sean wanted to use Edward's flame to temper and forge the Black King. The long sword was rubbing across Edward's left hand, and a few sparks sputtered like gold and iron fighting, but the sparks were all weird blue and white. This in turn made the flame in Edward's left hand burn more violently.

"I almost forgot, there is another effect of the Cleansing Flame, which is to wash impurities." Xiao En said in a deep voice.

This made Edward's face suddenly become difficult to look at for such a moment, so without hesitation, his left hand loosened the grip of the sword. Only at this moment, it was Sean's turn to be somewhat unreasonable, and the dark vindictiveness in his body was completely activated at this moment. Then poured into the black king, a suction suddenly came from the sword, but it took away a small part of the world-cleaning flame from Edward's hand.

This made the Black King's sword entangled with light blue flames, just like the ice crystal long sword that Edward was holding in his right hand at this moment.

But what is even more incredible is that this light blue flame burned on the Black King for less than three seconds, and it seemed to have been swallowed. It was completely absorbed by the black king, leaving only a piece of black powder falling off the sword.

This scene of clearly exceeds the cognition of Sean and Edward.

However, at this time, if Edward did not know that the Black King could restrain his purification, then he would not be able to achieve what he is today. So I almost didn't even think about it. Edward shook his left hand abruptly, and the flames of the Pure World, which was obviously missing a half of his left hand, immediately poured back into the mark on the back of his left hand.

And Sean. Obviously, he didn't want to miss this wonderful opportunity to attack right now.

He rushed forward without hesitation, and a sword pierced Edward's heart. Regardless of what Edward's achievements are today, he is still a human being, and as long as he is a human, there will be vital points—such parts as the heart and head are unavoidable after all. Perhaps some strong people can transform the body. A weapon trained to be fearless, but with the sharpness of the Black King, Sean fully believed that it could kill Edward.

Feeling the slight tingling from the heart, Edward knew that the weapon in Sean's hand was an extraordinary item—in fact, he had already guessed this weapon since the Black King was able to seize and swallow the flames of his purification. The origin is extraordinary. Watching Sean stabbing this sword at him with a mortal conviction at this moment, Edward would of course not choose to back down, because this would instead let himself fall into Sean's rhythm, so he would not retreat but instead advance.

The ice sword in lifted from Edward's hand and cut it on the blade of the Black King. There was a peculiar trembling, but there was a crackling sound that could not be concealed in the trembling sound.

It was the ice sword blade in Edward's hand that had a crack!

Obviously, such a sword could not stop the Black King in the hands of Xiao En. Watching the Black King continue to slide towards his heart, Edward had no longer cared about whether to leave Sean's life, so he flew directly towards Xiao En's chest and abdomen kicked. At such a close distance, with Edward's movements, even if Sean caught the body, it was too late to dodge. Therefore,

Edward's foot was firmly eaten by Sean, and the whole person flew upside down at the speed of a cannon. After going out, he flew directly over a distance of hundreds of meters, and then fell into the building in the duke's mansion, smashing countless walls, tables, chairs and other things, and raising dust in the sky.

However, Edward can only have time to kick Sean, and if he wants to continue chasing out, this obviously becomes an impossible task.

Because Xuefanio next to him had already brought the sword to kill, this time Xuefanio blessed herself with two new magic arts, which made her exude a dazzling brilliance. Although Edward could not recognize the effects of these two magic arts, but seeing the momentum that Xuefanio raised again, he knew that these two magic arts were not ordinary magic arts, so he had to give up continuing chasing Sean. Turn around and fight Xuefanio.

But because Shaun's black king was not restrained, Edward naturally summoned the World-Clearing Flame once again, and without hesitation, he swung out a web of fire, and slammed his head toward Xuefanio. Obviously, Edward is already a little impatient, and he is starting to make up his mind to make a quick decision-after all, he has already wasted a lot of time here. If it is delayed, wait for the sanctuary powerhouses in King Ryan to react. , Then it is difficult for him to escape such a powerful encirclement.

However, in Edward's view, it should be the super enemy weapon that everyone is afraid of, but today it has failed one after another.

The fire web composed of the flames of the Purifying World was torn apart by Xuefanio's merciless sword, but the long sword in her hand was not damaged in the slightest. But what is worthy of comfort is that at least this world-cleaning flame has not been absorbed by the long sword in Xuefanio's hand.

But Xuefanio can't solve this world-cleansing flame, but it doesn't mean that no one will take it in the presence of it.

Accompanied by Cecilia's singing, the World-Cleaning Flames scattered on the ground suddenly gathered together quickly, and then gathered around her. This part of the World-Jing World Flames quickly broke away from Edward's consciousness. Then, Edward saw that Cecilia's eyes had been fixed on the flames of the Purifying World on his left hand. It was obvious that Cecilia was planning to take all of the Flames of Purifying World as his own.

"Looking for death!" Edward finally couldn't suppress the inner mania, burst out with a roar, turned around and slashed towards Cecilia.

Among all the people present, the only thing he cares about is Sean, and it is only the handwriting of the exorcist in Sean's hands. As for the others, he doesn't care at all. Moreover, there is someone like Cecilia who has awakened the Phoenix blood, and his strength is actually greatly suppressed, so the sooner Cecilia is resolved, it is naturally more beneficial to Edward.

But the development of things still failed to be as Edward wanted.

The long sword in his hand was only half swung, and he was hit by a powerful force, but it was impossible for this force to completely stop his sword swing, at most it would only be delayed for a while. But then, the second shock that was almost inferior to the first force oscillated out again. This time Edward even had a feeling of being unable to hold the hilt of the sword, but he didn't wait for Edward to offset the shock and hit the ice. The arrow on the sword burst completely, and this time the strength of the impact directly shook Edward back by two steps.

As a result, Edward naturally could not kill Cecilia.

At this time, his heart was not as calm as it was at the beginning. He raised his head and looked at the roof of the main building of the Duke's Mansion. There was an elf standing there. The longbow in his hand was almost as high as that of a person, and he was shooting. The arrow is obviously not an ordinary arrow.

Madun.

A strong man from the Xuefeng tribe.

And what he just displayed was the wizard archery unique to the highland elves.

Chapter 82: .War Fight Festival-Golden

Shawn's personal combat power was completely negligible in Edward's eyes. Even if the black long sword in his hand was indeed unexpected, he did not take it seriously. Because the strength gap between the two sides is sufficient to make up for the shortcomings in this regard. But when Xuefanio and Marton appeared, Edward felt that something was not quite right, and the implementation of the plan was not as easy as he expected.

was interrupted by Marton's arrow, Edward's irritated mood flashed, but he didn't make too many angry expressions. He knew very well that he had only one goal from beginning to end, and that was Sean Connery, and he didn't have much time left. He was on the weaker side in this battle, so he had to fight quickly. , So for others, if it can be resolved, he will of course remove all these obstacles without hesitation, of course, if not, then he will not force it.

It's just that, at this time, he didn't dare to release the Flame of Purifying World at all.

The flame of the Pure World Flame is a very rare flame even on the abyss plane. It is not as well-known as the Abyssal Hellfire. Most of the time, many people don't know the existence of this kind of flame-in fact, people who have seen this kind of flame have basically been wiped out, and only a few Talents can retreat. Moreover, those who have been wiped out by the flames of the world-cleansing will also cut off the line of fate that was born by themselves and rely on their existence as the fulcrum. This is the terrifying part of the flames of the world-cleansing.

But on the contrary, this kind of flame is also one of the few flames in the abyss that will be affected and controlled.

In other words, people like Cecilia with Phoenix blood can control or influence the inflammation of the world to a certain extent. Moreover, the World-Clearing Flame is not the World-Clearing Flame produced by Edward himself, but he intercepted and cultivated it from other places, so if Cecilia is strong enough, he can capture all of Edward's World-Clearing Flame. Go.

This is the real reason why Edward put away all the Flames of Purifying World at this time.

He has not been able to completely control the super dangerous goods like Jingshizhiyan.

But even without the help of Jingshizhiyan, Edward's combat effectiveness has not diminished at all. Because he still has abyssal ice flames.

This is a special flame created entirely by Edward, and this flame has a very strong abyssal attribute, just like the abyssal hellfire, this type of flame will not be manipulated by natural possessions such as Cecilia People with natural fire abilities can control and influence. Of course, it is still possible to save a certain degree and proportion of damage, so wait if you say so. Unless Edward causes substantial damage to Cecilia by physical means, he is largely unable to take Cecilia.

It's just that, at this time, there is Xuefanio near and Marton far away. It is really not easy for Edward to kill Cecilia in a second.

But since Cecilia can't be solved quickly, Edward won't be obsessed with it. He whispered a curse silently, as if a breeze was blowing, the wind element in the air suddenly became active.

This phenomenon, everyone has seen Sean too many times.

Lightweight technique.

This is the signature skill of the Curse Seal Swordsman!

Snowfaneau instantly noticed the situation is not good, and without hesitation, he immediately lifted the sword up, the long sword in his hand turned into a number of indeterminate sword lights, and it stabled towards Edward. And Cecilia on the other side. The reaction is also not weak. The strong fire element becomes extremely active in the air instantly, and it becomes extremely dry and sultry within a radius of tens of meters, almost forming an elemental clearance zone, and there are countless sparks in the air. Rise up.

But the combination of these two people is still a step slower.

Cecilia's magic exploded countless fires in the air-this is not a means for the purpose of harm, but basically self-preservation. It's just that the burst of fire in this entire area can still cause a certain degree of harm to people. Cecilia's purpose is only to hinder Edward's sprint. As long as she can keep him, she believes that Xuefanio can definitely entangle her opponent.

However, when all the flames burst in the air, no Edward was seen at all. Instead, the afterimage left in place by him was blown away.

In this way, Xuefanio's sword light is naturally impossible to cause any damage to Edward—almost all attacks, even if Xuefanio calculates that Edward's offensive trajectory extends several meters. But these attacks still all failed.

"Om!"

There is a clear trembling sound in the air.

That is the sound of bowstrings.

This sound seems to be only one sound, but it has a continuous smell.

is just in the air, but there are dozens of hot bursts of air. Almost because of the friction in the air, it has a red luster, which looks like a red meteor shower.

The landing points of these arrows are all over most of the atrium, and it is obvious that these positions are not the arrow rain shot by Marton at will, but the selective coverage attack. If you want to escape safely from this rain of arrows, the best way is to determine the shooting position of the arrow, and then stand still. But in this way, once Xuefanio catches the trail again, it is obvious that Edward will not be able to easily avoid it again.

But!

All the arrows sank into the ground, but he still didn't see Edward's figure appearing.

It was as if Marton was practicing his archery against a deserted land. This extremely depressing atmosphere instantly filled the hearts of Marton, Cecilia, and Chefanio. Come. At this moment, they really have a deep understanding of the gap between them. It is obvious that Edward's strength has exceeded them by too much, at least among the people present except Xuefanio, Marton and Se Celia can only play a containment role.

at this time!

A trembling breath of coercion permeated from the main building, it seemed to be the terrible breath of the ancient beast finally awakening.

There was a red light, shining suddenly from the hole that Xiao En flew and crashed.

Immediately afterwards, there was an earth-shattering roar.

Almost everyone could feel the ground shaking. Cecilia even swayed a few steps unsteadily. It was Xuefanio who held her from the side to make Cecilia stand firm. Of course, Marton, who was on the top of the building, also almost fell from above, because the vibration was too strong, and an annex building next to it that was almost destroyed collapsed directly.

Along with the strong earthquake shaking, a figure slipped and retreated from the entrance, just like Xuefanio before.

Only from the scene, this figure is obviously a bit more embarrassed than Xuefanio's retreat just now, because the distance he retreated is almost ten meters, and the two traces of plowing on the ground are getting deeper and deeper. The stone slabs on the ground were completely shattered into dust. It is conceivable how terrible the superimposition of the power he endured during this process, because in the end, when the figure stopped, he could hardly see his calf at all.

At this time, he raised his head and looked at the place where Xiao En had fallen. His eyes were a little bit more surprised, and his voice was even more unbelievable: "Long Wei?"

Faced with Edward's surprised voice, the person in the hole did not answer, but stepped out of the shadows.

This man was wearing a silver-white armor, holding a scarlet spear diagonally in his hand, and walked out calmly. Although he couldn't see his face because of the helmet mask, he looked at the eyes of the mask and showed cold eyes. , I know that this person is in a very bad mood at this time.

A silver-white light armor and a crimson spear, there is only one under Xiao En's command.

God of War. Rena.

Accompanied by the appearance of Rena, and directly activated the dragon bloodline in her body, the aura emanating from her body was obviously stronger than that of anyone present. After all, she is on par with Xuefanio in terms of strength, and the purity of her bloodline is slightly higher than that of Xuefanio. In addition, the two battlefield equipment of Flame Spear Smashing Air and Angel Armor are indeed enough to make At this time, Rina has the absolute fighting ability that is completely unique.

And not only that.

There was a stronger sensation from the ground, and Heiyan's eyes flushed out from one side, and everything blocking it along the way was hit and flew mercilessly.

At this time, Black Rock, Rena, and Xuefanio were two of them, and they perfectly surrounded Edward.

Awe-inspiring killing!

Chapter 83: .War Fight Festival-Golden

The Emperor Dragon itself is a relatively rare evolutionary individual of the Earth Traveling Dragon. They usually have more powerful combat abilities, and they are also really good in defense. But as a further variant of the Emperor Dragon rather than an evolution, Blackstone possesses a much stronger combat ability than other similar ones. The same defensive ability cannot be underestimated. At least ordinary weapons can hardly leave anything on Blackstone's body. Traces, only high-quality weapons or demonized equipment that are famous for their sharpness can truly injure the Black Stone, but whether it is a serious injury or a bruise, it depends on the situation.

Of course, Edward's strength is also obvious to all at this moment. No one will doubt whether he has the ability to kill Blackstone.

It's just that Blackstone's performance at this time is obviously different from the previous situation.

It is obviously in a state of extreme excitement. In addition to the redness of the eyes, the skin on the body also has a faint blood red texture. But the most obvious feature is that its tail, which never stopped at that moment, almost swept a large swath of dust on the ground.

It's just that, even if Blackstone itself possesses gold-level combat power, it will never be the most important target on the field at this moment.

On the right front of Edward is Rena.

Rina, wearing a silver-white angel armor and holding a crimson flame spear, stands here like a  of war. If it was just the unrivaled God of War aura on the battlefield, Edward would definitely not care. With his current strength and the powerful cards he possessed, it was indeed enough to despise all the golden powers in this world. Perhaps in his opinion, only Saint Only the domain strong can compare with him, after all, in the aura that he exudes, he is not weaker than Rina, Xuefanio and others.

But at this moment, Edward did not dare to act rashly.

Because Rina exudes not only the invincible general temperament on the battlefield, but also the unique vicissitudes of life from ancient times. It was a sense of dull pressure that was almost suffocating. It seemed that just standing in front of Rena required extremely strong willpower and courage. This was the so-called Longwei. Only from the exclusive power of the dragon clan.

If Rena is the only person in the way, Edward can still fight hard, but now he has to pay some attention to Xuefanio behind him.

Different from the calm and calm temperament of Rena's typical vertical and horizontal battlefield veteran, Xuefanio's aura is much colder and quieter, as if there is a more awe-inspiring and terrifying invisible pressure shrouded in this. In fact, most of the high-level members of the church will have an aura like Xuefanio, but most of them are strong or high-ranking ones over half a hundred years old. Because it takes a long time to listen to the will of the gods, it is more or less contaminated with a lot of divine power.

If you look closely, you will find that Xuefanio's eyes have begun to fade, as if covered with a layer of water vapor, almost can't see the color of the pupils, and her hair tips have also become a lot. Kind of light blue. It seems to continue to fade towards a lighter white. As this change became more obvious, Xuefanio's divine aura became stronger, so that some mist even began to appear around him.

Edward's gaze fell on Cecilia, but after two or three seconds he turned his head to look at Rena. This time his time stayed a little longer, but it did not exceed five seconds. at last. He just turned his gaze on Xuefanio, but this time he stayed longer, for ten seconds, until he began to feel the slight coldness in the air before he took his gaze back. Where Xiang Xiaoen was buried in gravel.

From the length of time Edward's eyes stayed, we can see the high and low proportions of the three people present in his mind.

"Phoenix, ancient dragon, blood of the gods." Edward chuckled, "I didn't expect that one day I could actually see the appearance of these three bloodlines at the same time.... Like you people with such a powerful and noble bloodline. Why do you want it? Do you take orders from a lord? And it's just a duke of a second-class kingdom. As long as you are willing, the seven empires are even willing to give you a domestic country."

"I told you you would not understand." Cecilia replied with a gloomy face.

"Well, I really don't understand." Edward nodded, "But if you think that this will make me surrender, then you are wrong....Perhaps in the eyes of ordinary people, you are indeed very powerful. But in mine. It's nothing more than that for you. Because there are still many problems with the blood in your body, at most it is in the second stage state, and you have not even entered the third stage. This is enough."

Hear what Edward said. Except for Xuefanio, Rina and Cecilia frowned slightly.

In fact, Edward was right.

Although the bloodlines of the three of them are very powerful and rare, only Rena's bloodline is in the second stage. Cecilia is still in the first stage, and Xuefanio is even the first. None of the stages entered. Although they can use the power of the bloodline more or less, they are still very limited and cannot use the power of the bloodline as they like. It is completely different from someone like Edward who has activated the power of the bloodline to the fourth stage. .

But!

What really surprised Cecilia was that only the successor would know the active level of the bloodline power, and outsiders could not tell which stage the bloodline awakening had entered. But Edward was able to distinguish it easily by just looking at it. This is what surprises her. Thinking of this, Cecilia couldn't help looking at Sean's position: Is this the unique ability of the exorcist?

Can see through blood heritage?

"I only ask one last time." Edward said in a deep voice, his figure suddenly stood up straight, a strong breath began to radiate from him, and the air could even be faintly felt the sound of thunder. That is the sound that his aura and Xuefanio's aura are constantly impacting, "I only want the code, and if you are willing to hand it over, I promise not to hurt any of you... I do what I say."

The silent and cold killing intent was still in the air, and no one answered.

After maintaining a stalemate for a few seconds, Edward finally sighed: "Well, I understand your decision."

Almost as soon as Edward's words fell, a very strong explosion suddenly appeared in the air, and there was obviously no confrontation. However, the powerful air blasting is still produced with the core of Ed Huawei.

These air currents raged wildly in all directions like sharp blades. The entire courtyard was almost completely enveloped in this air current and exploded. It was just a blink of an eye. There were already dozens of rough ravines on the ground, dirt, and debris. The stones and even the flowers and plants planted in the courtyard were completely shattered as if they were involved in a meat grinder, and such a powerful airflow completely affected the clarity of everyone's vision.

but. At the moment when this air current erupted, there was also a figure moving.

The figure that reacted most quickly was not Cecilia, Xuefanio, or Rena, but Blackstone!

It launched a charge towards the position where Edward was standing at an astonishing speed. At this moment, Blackstone showed an unprecedented terrifying explosive power.

The earth seems to be unable to support its weight, and every time the black stone's footsteps collide with the ground, a circle of crack marks will be stamped out. But it was the explosive force formed by this terrible force that made Blackstone traverse a distance of tens of meters in just two or three seconds, and then slammed into Edward. However, this time the collision ended with Blackstone passing through Edward's body as the curtain. With Blackstone's poor intelligence, it was obvious that he couldn't understand what afterimage was.

However, because in the previous few short encounters, everyone present has already seen Edward's terrifying explosive speed. So from the moment Blackstone moved, no one had any expectations for its attack. Although everyone didn't know exactly how this sudden violent airflow was generated, whether it was Rina or Xuefanio, they actually captured Edward's trajectory.

In terms of the ability to capture dynamic strength, no creature can be compared with the dragon, and Rina, who inherits the dragon's bloodline, gains more than just endurance, strength, agility, etc., in terms of vision—— Whether it is dynamic vision or the width and length of the field of view. She has been greatly improved, so Rina can naturally clearly see the figure he is rushing towards Xiao En after the air current erupts.

It was Xuefanio who reacted after Blackstone and Rena.

In fact, Xuefanio's dynamic vision is not enough to capture Edward because his speed is so fast. But at this time Xuefanio was already in a complete state of heyday. The force field emanating from her is actually the rudimentary form of the field, and as long as it is within the scope of this field, Xuefanio can clearly perceive all movements and changes, so it is natural to "capture" Edward's actions. .

is still a straight forward without hesitation.

Edward is like the most stubborn, unflexible old man. He still chose to rush towards Sean.

In terms of distance, Rena is naturally the first person to be able to intercept Edward. Although she is slightly inferior to Edward in terms of overall strength, if she only plays a procrastinating role, she will fight with Xuefanio. If people join hands, there is no problem at all. But in fact, the development situation was not as perfect as Rina had conceived, because it was almost just a face-to-face, and Edward had already acted first before Rina's spear was pierced.

The azure blue abyssal ice flame completely erupted from Edward's hand, and then surrounded the ice sword in his hand. The entire ice sword instantly melted at a speed visible to the naked eye. Immediately afterwards, Edward squeezed and shook his right hand, waved his hand, and shot the blue fire toward Rena. Na goes over.

Feeling the terrifying breath of the abyssal ice flames, even if it is separated from the legendary armor of the angel armor, Rina's body can not help but tremble and sting in fear. This is since she left her mercenary status. There have been no death threats. Almost subconsciously, Rena abruptly stopped the momentum of the charge, and the flame spear in her hand was circulated like a hot wheel.

The red and blue brilliance burst out completely at this moment, almost blinding everyone's retina.

Because of Rina's stagnation, Xuefanio, who was a step slower than Rina, naturally couldn't catch up with Edward immediately. He could only helplessly feel that Edward was out of the range of her aura and disappeared into her perception.

But compared to Xuefanio's helplessness, Rina felt a humiliating anger in her heart, because she could clearly see that Edward had rushed to the place where Sean was covered by the gravel, and kicked him away. The largest stone was pressed on the top, and the right hand had already been under the gravel.

But at this moment, a peculiar induction that seemed to stop time suddenly rose out of thin air!

Chapter 84: .gold

Time has not really stopped.

is just everyone's thinking, at this moment, it is infinitely slowed and extended, as if the whole world really stopped rotating at this moment.

That is an overbearing sense of contempt!

As if ignoring all the wills of all beings in the world, only me!

Only, suppression!

In Edward's consciousness, a strong sense of fear and death threat spread all over his body in an instant. Under this terrifying aura, he was alarmed and immediately realized the seriousness of the problem. But at this time, his whole person seemed to have been stuck in the body magic, completely unable to move-the feeling of separation of consciousness and body made Edward almost completely lose the ability to control his body.

But even so, Edward didn't even give up on his fate.

Because he has been dealing with the  of death for so many years, and he has been wandering and struggling on the edge of life and death countless times, so that he has today's achievements. If there is a person in this world who understands death that has surpassed those of the believers of the Death Church, then this person is definitely not Edward, after all, he is a person who even dared to steal the Demon God's Flame of Purification and managed to keep it.

Edward let out an angry roar. At this moment, he finally regained his control over the body, and the whole person quickly retreated, giving up the chance of catching Sean alive.

In the air, a terrible breath suddenly burst out.

Obviously there is no brilliance, but there seems to be an invisible beam of light shining directly toward the sky from where Xiao En is lying.

Although Edward gave up the attack at the last moment and chose to retreat, after all, his speed was not as fast as this invisible beam of light erupted, and the arm of his left hand was still rubbed by this breath. In an instant, all the flesh and blood in the upper left arm that was rubbed by the beam of light disappeared-it was a real disappearance out of thin air. As if swallowed by the void of space, blue blood burst out suddenly.

Suffering from this trauma, Edward staggered backwards a few steps, and a light blue flame immediately appeared on his right hand and then covered his left shoulder.

A sizzling sound of burning echoed in the air.

Shaun stretched out his hand to push away a large rock that was pressing on him. Then he got up from the ground. At this time, Sean looked a little embarrassed. Not only did the clothes on his body wear out a lot, but he also had several wounds. The blood ran down from his forehead and half of his face was dyed red, which made his pale complexion look too much. Kind of blood-the color of blood. But his eyes. But still persevering and calm, can't see the slightest joy and anger.

"What sword skill is this?" Edward coughed lightly, and blue blood coughed out of his mouth. Obviously, the sword just now did not just wipe out a bit of his flesh.

"Soul Soul." Shaun's answer was simple and straightforward.

"Good sword skills, good..." Edward nodded slightly. "...Sword name. Look at all the creatures in the world, if there are those who disagree, town....This trick is your trump card, right?"

Sean is noncommittal.

In fact, Shaun the soul hasn't fully grasped it yet.

Although because of the existence of the Black King, he has indeed reached the standard bottom line of the soul calming after turning on the light body technique and adrenal stimulation. But when he implemented it himself, Sean discovered this skill that relied on his own hard work to learn. It is very different from the skills that can be learned by activating the proficiency points. In theory, he can indeed learn these skills, but the prerequisite is that he must have "realistic" experience and understanding before he can truly Master.

Since the birth of the Black King, Sean has devoted all his time and energy to the practice of calming the soul as long as he is free. But to this day, Sean still hasn't mastered this sword skill completely. If it is expressed by the progress bar in the game, then Sean is only 50% at most, which is far from 100% real mastery. A long distance to go.

Of course, even if it's only 50% progress. But if it is used well, it is still a very terrifying killer card, which has been clearly displayed from Edward at this moment. It's just that, for Sean, the display of soul calming is for his current body. It is also a very big burden, after all, this is an eighth-level skill.

The so-called eighth-level skills represent rare and high-level skills in the game, but in this real world it means that they are at least the skills that can be truly mastered and used by the strongest of the upper gold level.

"So, this is the gap between us." Edward's right hand finally moved away from his left arm. The torrent of blood had been stopped, and a palm-sized burnt black imprint just blocked it, but You can still clearly see the depression in your arm, "You are almost trying your best, but you are only barely able to confront me. If I really want to kill the killer, none of you will survive."

Edward moved his body a little, and his body made a crackling sound like fried beans, and then saw Edward's body muscles become strong and swollen, as if an air pump was pumping gas towards Edward, almost visible to the naked eye. The speed is swelling wildly. In the next moment, the light armor on Edward's body began to burst, and many parts of the light armor all flew out, and deformed and damaged at an astonishing speed.

With a normal human body, it is impossible to withstand the damage caused by the collapse and deformation of this light armor, but it is clear that Edward's body can no longer be regarded as a normal human body. Because the bare skin squeezed out of the armor showed a blue-gray color, Sean even saw a piece of armor shards across his skin, only to slip a spark, and then a light white scrape. No traces were left.

"Bronze body..." Shaun's face became gloomy.

The biggest gap between the sanctuary and the golden realm, in addition to the realm owned by the sanctuary strong, another more important issue is the physical body. Sean didn't know what the situation of the aboriginals of this world looked like when they were promoted to the Sanctuary, but he knew that in the game, if the players wanted to advance to the Sanctuary, they had to complete a front called "Bronze Body". After setting the task, it was possible to advance to the ninth-tier occupation, that is, the existence of the sanctuary in this world.

And then. Why are so few players advancing to Tier 9 professional in the game? Almost 95% of the players are stuck in the "Bronze Body" task link.

Sean is fortunate to be one of the few Tier 9 professional players, so he knows what it means to have a bronze body.

However, when Edward's body swelled to a certain extent. However, the exclusive domain of the Sanctuary powerhouse did not appear, and it seemed that it was only the physical body being strengthened. This makes Sean's gloomy face look slightly better, but it is only a little better, because at this time Edward has not broken through the sanctuary, but it also means that he is only half a step away from the sanctuary, and he can do it at any time. Break this boundary.

But. Seeing that the color of Edward's body skin is not a normal human skin color, but a weird blue-gray, and even a strange texture of dark red, this makes Sean's eyes immediately full of strangeness: "You actually become The devil?"

"What do you know!" It seemed that he was extremely sensitive to the two words of devil, and Edward's face became furious, originally because of his body's mutation. It has already made his handsome appearance a bit hideous. After he became angry at the moment, his appearance became even more distorted, "If you give me that handwritten note, I can solve this small problem! ... as long as you solve it. If this problem is solved, then I am the one who has set up an immortal cause. How could it be a devil!"

"Even if you give it to you. You won't be able to solve this problem." Sean gave a sneer, "How can blood be blasphemy? Since you have forcibly mixed the blood of the devil, this is enough to make you a real demon. ...As an exorcist, I don't believe you don't know these things. Don't forget why we are not at odds with the heretics. After you activate the power of blood in your body, even your personality has changed."

"Arrogant and ignorant kid!" Edward clenched his fists with both hands, his aura exuding more serious and fierce, "Do you really think that the Exorcist Association really hunts demons? Do you know why the Exorcist Association has divided the seal? Did the teacher and the hunter gradually decline?...No, you don't know anything. For the huge Exorcist Association, you and I are just beginners who have just embarked on the road of truth. It's just that I'm luckier than you, and I'm so older, so I've walked a little bit further than you."

Shaun's pupils shrank slightly at this moment.

"The hunter and the sealer are the same way by different routes. It is only because of the defeat of the ancestors in the abyss that our inheritance was interrupted." Edward said in a deep voice, "It is precisely because of this that we have a future. The difference between the hunter and the sealer, I only discovered this secret 15 years ago.... Do you think Yoda knows nothing? He just doesn't want to believe all this, so he personally took this The codex was buried, because becoming a demon violated his beliefs!"

"You mean..."

As if he had guessed what Sean wanted to say, Edward snorted, "Yes! The so-called Exorcist Association was founded by the devil from the beginning. The so-called 'devil' in this organization refers to the devil! They have tried Occupying this world and turning it into the Abyssal Plane, it was only later that they failed.... In other words, because the Exorcist Association once gave birth to a great man who resisted the demons' rule over the Exorcist Association, Therefore, there was the Exorcist Association later, but how could the demons see the organization they cultivated become their enemy, and therefore they had the journey of expedition into the abyss."

"In this world, the truth is sometimes more cruel than you can imagine!" Edward said coldly, "Do you think you are Yoda's first student? Hehe, why is his first disciple until now? Haven't come back yet? It's just because his choice is more thorough than mine. Anyway, I haven't forgotten that I was a human being, that's all."

"Huh, in order to explore the truth of the past, in order to gain more powerful strength, but in the end you have changed your blood and become a pure demon, do you think this is interesting?" Sean's heart beats abnormally Fiercely, his attention at this time is actually not on Edward at all, but staring at another frame emerging from the retina, with a progress bar on it, which is moving forward, "The sealer and the hunter are even going to the same end by different means. But. It will never turn into a demon, because that is what makes it different from a heretic!"

"You're right, it's really not becoming a demon." Edward actually retained a trace of reason in his mania, "but the road I chose is faster, but I have encountered some problems like my predecessors. They have not read the Demon Hunter's Handbook. So they don't know that there are some code words recorded in it, but I was fortunate enough to read it, so I know that this is the key to solving the problem. Only this handbook can help me get rid of the current problem. ... So no matter what price I pay, I will not give up. And my patience is very limited now. I will ask you one more question, whether you will hand over the code."

"Let me ask you one last question." Xiao En suddenly looked at him, and then said in a deep voice, "Is the final path of the sealer genre, is to accept the concept of the hunter? Receiving from the soul is being sealed in the curse seal The power of the devil, thus breaking through to become the limit and stepping into a higher realm?"

"Yes!" Edward nodded, "I'm not afraid to tell you the truth. The ultimate way for the hunter is to accept the sealer's idea, seal the devil's blood, and form his own curse power. Although at this point It is the reverse of the Seal Master, but the essence is the same, that is, accepting the power that belongs to the demons, rather than repelling them or fearing them."

"That's it." Sean nodded, "But this way, there are indeed a lot of dangers, and the road to promotion requires a strong will to constantly resist the temptation of the powerful force from the power of the devil.... Therefore You will choose a simpler method, which is to directly steal the devil's bloodline ability in exchange for stronger power and strength. Only in this way, your power will be affected by the demon lord, and it may even change. Become a puppet, so you need the mysterious ritual recorded in the manuscript to strip away the influence of the demon soul in your body."

Edward was taken aback for a moment, and then smiled: "You are indeed very smart. You have understood and accepted the true nature of our magic swordsman so quickly."

This is the first time Edward has called "Devil Hunter Swordsman". Rather than "curse seal swordsman".

"Yes, I don't have any other strengths, but I am particularly good in understanding and accepting new things."

Xiao En smiled, and then watched that the progress bar finally turned into 100%. Hearing the ding sound in his mind, a powerful warm current spread out from Xiao En's hands in an instant, and then an incredible speed poured into Sean's heart. Immediately afterwards, I heard a strong heartbeat sound, which seemed to resonate with the world. Sean's face quickly turned red, and then he opened his mouth and spit out a foul-smelling black blood. In the next second, the unparalleled aura rose from Sean's body.

This momentum quickly turned into a substantial beam of light, directly piercing the roof of the entire Duke's mansion and rushing to the sky.

Then, silver and red radiance floated out of Sean's body, like dye dripping into the water, quickly rendering in the beam of light. The vigorous and powerful aura of strength continued to rise on Xiao En's body. The earth seemed to be unable to bear the weight of Xiao En at this time, and countless cracks snaked out from his feet.

In Edward's shocked look, Sean's breath quickly recovered from a state that was already weak to near the edge of death, and directly broke through the upper silver limit, until the critical point of the lower gold peak. Stop. But even so, Sean is only one finger away from the upper level gold. It seems that some mechanism hinders Sean from being able to directly upgrade to the upper level gold.

However, as for the obstacles of this mechanism, Sean already has a clue. As long as he finds a suitable opportunity, it is only a matter of course to break into the upper level of gold. At least, at this time, Sean knew very well that it would be much easier and easier for him to rise from the lower silver to the upper silver in order to become a strong player at the upper gold pinnacle.

"This...how is this...possible!" Edward's eyes showed unconcealable shock.

"In this world, nothing is impossible." Sean, who was resurrected in situ full of blood, smiled slightly, "You know, I am a genius, this is the biggest gap between me and you... Moreover, I rely on my own strength to climb step by step, so my foundation is much stronger than yours, which is very different from the strength you gain by borrowing sideways like this."

"Humph!" Edward snorted when he was so mocked by Sean, "Even so, you won't be my opponent, because our strength gap is always an insurmountable gap.... And most importantly, yours The hole cards have been turned over, but I still have the hole cards that I haven't turned over. Since you don't want to honestly hand over your hands, then I have to kill all of you and look for it slowly."

Facing Edward, Sean suddenly smiled. What is different from the previous embarrassment is that Sean is extremely elegant and calm at this time: "Hehe, you are so sure...have my cards turned over? ?"

In the next second, Edward's pupils shrank suddenly, and the tingling sensation in his back made him understand that he was already being watched.

A powerful aura no less than the might of a sanctuary powerhouse suddenly burst out from behind Edward!

Chapter 85: . Edward was injured!

The fierce momentum is full of a terrifying murderous intent.

The faint tingling sensation in Edward's back fully shows that this blow can definitely cause substantial damage to him.

Almost without even thinking about it, Edward dashed back towards the fierce momentum behind him without advancing and retreating.

Standing with the sword, Sean had already done a good job as long as Edward dared to choose his side as a breakthrough, then he would definitely give the other party an unforgettable surprise. After all, from a logical point of view, his strength is the weakest among everyone on the court, and he still has something Edward wants very much in his hands, so choosing him as a breakthrough is definitely the best choice.

However, the result is completely different from guessing.

Edward didn't pick Sean's persimmon!

As a class of the curse seal swordsman class, speed has always been the biggest advantage of this class, so how fast Edward retreats is definitely something that can be imagined. Almost as soon as he moved, he had already collided with the awe-inspiring momentum behind him.

The one who attacked from behind was not someone else, it was the sword dancer wizard of the Pofeng tribe, Winia!

Vinia's own strength is the third person behind Xuefanio and Rena, and in terms of the richness of combat experience alone, she is not even below Rena, let alone Xuefanio's combat experience comparison. Few people can compare. So when she saw Edward chose to retreat, the dagger in her right hand was slightly offset, and her left hand was lightly pressed on the hilt of the right waist.

There is no suspense, the next moment the two auras clashed, Winia's right hand moved slightly to the left.

The range of is not large. If you don't observe carefully, you can't even find the movement of Winia's right hand. But as far as the actual combat situation is concerned, Winia is a little bit too subtle. In fact, the final result may be enlarged by about two to three inches, and this position happens to be the position of Edward's back vest-from this position to pass through, Winia's hand that handles the waste-breaking tooth will mercilessly hold Edward My heart is shattered!

As long as Edward has not broken away from the human body structure for a day, then the heart will always be his biggest weakness, once it is destroyed. It will still be killed on the spot.

Perceiving the tingling sensation in the back, he shifted. Edward's expression changed slightly. At this time, he finally found that he underestimated the Sean team too much. In fact, he knew that Sean's followers were all golden powerhouses, but he didn't think these people were strong from his induction, but he didn't expect that after the actual battle, these people would have such a fighting ability. High standard. The strong man comparable to the sanctuary counts as the one who sneaked behind him, there are as many as three people.

Before the dagger of Vinia's hand pierced, Edward twisted his body forcibly. Although this would cause some strain to him, this kind of injury was not considered to be a direct death. hurt.

"哧—"

An extremely small voice quietly sounded.

This is the tearing sound of the dagger cutting through Edward's skin. It's like the frustration of the silk being torn apart.

Being able to make such a sound, it means that Edward's bronze body has been completely formed and stabilized, and ordinary weapons cannot cause any harm to such a person. This is also the reason why it is difficult for the sanctuary to die, because in addition to the same realm, only some special or extremely sharp weapons can injure the sanctuary.

The reason why Edward is so conceited, even ignoring the possibility of Sean's combat power, except that he doesn't think the golden power can cause him any harm. The more important point is that he doesn't think these people have weapons that can hurt him. It is important to know that for a second-rate kingdom, only those ancient nobles with strong enough foundations can have one or two of these weapons.

But you know, the Kingdom of Lane is just a second-rate kingdom just upgraded! And this is to a large extent the bonus points that only the Kingdom of Darbion can be annexed. Otherwise, even if the Kingdom of Lion succeeds, it will be a third-rate kingdom at best, and there are less than a dozen such kingdoms on the miracle continent. . Of course, even if the Kingdom of Darbion is annexed, there is no such thing as the foundation, at least it will have to go through a period of development and digestion.

But, Sean's people. Except for the archers Marton and Cecilia, everyone has the ability to hurt Edward. Of course, even if Cecilia was unable to cause substantial damage to her, with the Phoenix bloodline she possessed, Edward would not dare to use the Flame of Purifying World in front of him. After all, this thing is not his own, he can't completely control it.

The dagger enters the flesh, and then it pierces deeply like a broken bamboo.

But it was only a few inches into the flesh, because Edward's body had already turned sideways, and it just happened to jam Vinia's right hand, preventing her from continuing to stab. At the same time, Edward's left hand was also directly pinched towards Winia's delicate white neck. At such a close distance, at Edward's speed, even if Winia had the speed bonus of the elves, he still escaped. Can't get this catch.

'S original intention was to squeeze Vinia's neck directly. The moment he grabbed Vinia's neck with his right hand, a strong tingling sensation came from his right hand.

Edward's face changed suddenly!

Without even thinking about it, Edward's right hand retracted instantly.

But even so, there are still clear and obvious red palm prints on Vinia's neck, even brightly close to bruises.

At the same time, a cold light and a blood light shining in the air at the same time!

The cold light was the light that burst out from Vinia's left hand pulling out the dagger.

Bloodlight, it was the * color spattered from the dagger drawn out by Winia's right hand.

Edward let out a muffled grunt, and a trace of blood glowed in his eyes. This was the first time he had been injured in the true sense since he had fought for so long, and he had never thought that Sean's people could hurt him before. The furious Edward didn't even think about it, and slammed a fist towards Vinia's face. There was a sharp whistling sound in the air. The sound was so strong that it even caused the surrounding walls to tremble, and countless dust brushed and fell.

Venia, in this case, has no choice but to fight with two swords to block the punch.

The blue-gray fist hit the Desolate Fang and Wind Ghost Blade without any accident, and a strong air current blasted out with the two as the core.

Edward anticipated that the scene of the sword breaking a person to death did not appear in front of him. Although the dagger of Wigna could hurt him and let him understand that this sword was by no means ordinary, he did not expect to hit with all his strength. Unexpectedly, this sword could not be broken. But even so, Vinia still couldn't withstand the impact of Edward's powerful force, and the whole person flew out directly, smashing a wall, and then didn't know which bush it flew into.

"Roar!" A furious roar suddenly sounded.

Suddenly, Edward turned his head and saw that Rena shot away the blue fire entwining her body. But the next moment he could not see Rena's figure. The only thing he could feel was the drama coming from the abdomen. pain.

Immediately afterwards, there was a strong and clear pain in the back and chest at the same time!

Chapter 86: .demon

The sharp pain from the chest and abdomen and back made Edward clearly understand one thing, that is, he was injured.

However, Edward's reaction speed is not slow.

Almost as soon as he felt the pain, he contracted his muscles and clamped all these sharp weapons into the body to prevent further damage to the wound. Just because of the severe pain, it also made his mood a little bit extreme, which made Edward's heartbeat faster, and the blood flow rate in the body was naturally accelerated. In the blood vessels that no one can see, it is a normal red color that belongs to humans. The blood was constantly being rendered blue, and even the beating of the heart began to become intense.

Edward raised his head with difficulty. Right in front of him, Rina and Xuefanio were two.

At this moment, Rina's pupils have turned into vertical pupils, and half of her face is covered by scales, but the coverage of these scales does not make her look terrible, but rather looks more like Rina's face. Sketching out a different kind of totem gives Rina a little more alternative charm. However, compared to the scales on the face, there is a somewhat exotic beauty. The scales on the back of the hands and the neck and neck are not as beautiful, and the color of these scales is also darker than the face. Shows a kind of black and black.

This is the real manifestation of Rina completely activating the dragon's bloodline.

In this state, Rina's five personal attributes, including strength, speed, agility, intelligence, and will, will be greatly improved. At the same time, personal combat abilities including defense and offensive power will be increased. This is why Edward incorrectly assessed Rina's speed at that moment, which led to his abdomen being pierced by a shot of Rina. After all, in the previous match, he was used to Rina's speed, so Once Rina broke through her own limit and increased her speed. Edward naturally couldn't adapt to Rina's speed for the first time.

It was precisely because of the successful attack of Rena that Edward was slightly distracted, and then Sean and Xuefanio succeeded in the attack.

It was Xuefanio who pierced Edward's chest with a sword.

The ice in her hand, but the weapon of the goddess of ice and winter, Aswenter, was before the gods. This is an artifact that has accompanied Eswinter for many years and is truly contaminated with the might and power of the gods. Whether it's compared to the Black King in Sean's hands or the Desolate Tooth in Venia's hands, Bing Rin is obviously much more precious. In addition, it's a divine tool that is contaminated with the power of the gods, so although it's pierced The depth is the shallowest among the three weapons that simultaneously injured Edward. But the damage is the most.

In comparison, Sean's injury is quite satisfactory and can be ignored.

In addition to part of the reason that the main material of the Black King is the leg bones of the demon lord, the bigger factor is that the damage caused by Bing Rin has covered both the influence of Rina and Sean.

Frost is spreading quickly on Edward's chest, covering it like the dragon scales on Rina's body.

But the faster the frost covers, the faster the blood flow in Edward's body. A white mist even began to evaporate from his body.

"Roar!"

Accompanied by Edward's roar, his right fist swung towards Xuefanio's face, and a sharp howling sounded in the air just like before against Vinia. It's just that compared to Vinia, although Xuefanio is inferior in combat experience, her strength is much stronger. Therefore, in the face of Edward's attack, Xuefanio's response is much more relaxed and calm. .

She drew her sword very lightly. Bing Rin's blade even slid out against Edward's right arm. The sharp blade easily cut Edward's right arm, and blue blood spurted out like a fountain. However, Xuefanio himself has always kept a line of gap with Edward's right fist, never letting Edward's right fist hit his face, and at the same time, he would not be too far away from Edward's right fist and let himself 'S attack can still hurt Edward the most.

Only at this time, all of Edward's pain nerves seemed to have disappeared instead. Even if his right hand was hit hard by this, he still punched out without feeling. But it is limited by arm length. His punch never hit Xuefanio's face, but it seemed that it just caused him to suffer a greater trauma in vain. However, his attack was not the only punch. While he attacked Xuefanio, his left fist also swung back without hesitation.

certainly. This attack on Sean's whistle still failed to achieve a satisfactory result.

In fact, when Edward finally launched such a deadly attack on Sean, it meant that Edward finally stopped being merciful. He had already done his best to wipe out Sean and others before slowly searching.

So this punch with a sharp whistling sound, if Sean's head is really hit, then it must be the result of a direct brain burst. It's just that although Sean's strength is worse than today's Xuefanio, his combat experience is also countless times greater than that of Vinia. Coupled with his flexibility and opportunism as a player, Edward This punch still failed to cause any substantial damage to Sean.

Guru, the golden ball of light that is easily overlooked, is suspended on the left side of Sean, on the only way to Edward's left fist.

is still an astonishing airflow, but the result is more tragic and terrifying than the previous few times.

Guru's natural force field is definitely a real void turbulent area, walking in this area, even the legendary powerhouse must be absolutely cautious. With Edward's strength, the result of this punch colliding with Gollum's force field is completely predictable-in everyone's sight, the epidermis of the back of Edward's entire left hand was torn first, revealing the epidermis. The flesh and tendons underneath, and then in the process of continuous movement, these flesh and muscle tendons smashed and disappeared bit by bit again, until the inner bones were exposed, and then once again turned into gray powder and disappeared into the air. .

When Edward's left hand swung through the force field of Gollum, the entire palm of his left hand had completely disappeared, and the incision showed an amazingly neat cut surface!

Due to the inertia of the movement, blue blood splashed all over Sean's face, which made him look extraordinarily hideous. It's just that Sean's face was still cold, and his hands didn't even tremble at all. Instead, he used the moment Edward was injured to increase his strength again and pierce the sword in his hand into a deeper position.

However, Edward remained indifferent.

Two consecutive punches failed to achieve any effect, and instead made his injury worse, but Edward seemed to care nothing. In the eyes of Sean, Sean could clearly see the faint changes in his pupils: the pupil color of Edward's left eye began to change to purple, and began to have many strange textures, and this texture is just It spread quickly like a virus, but in just two or three seconds, Edward's appearance began to change, becoming more vicious, and his forehead even began to grow a sharp unicorn.

Sean's pupils shrank suddenly, and without hesitation he drew back quickly, and at the same time he shouted, "Quick back!"

A strong sense of fear and crisis rose up in Sean's heart, and the chill instantly spread all over his body. This made Sean, who has always been proud of extremely high willpower, feel a bit unbelievable. That kind of fear seems to come from the deepest part of the soul. There is no way to avoid it.

He vaguely remembered that once seemed to have this feeling.

The picture of memories flashed quickly in Sean's mind for an instant, and then it was quickly frozen on a picture!

Earl Mario!

Edward in front of him, in Sean's gaze, quickly grew stronger. This time, all the armor of his body was torn apart, and it continued to grow. In a flash, it exceeded three meters, but this was not the limit. , He even continued to grow. Moreover, the broken left hand also began to grow new bones, and new muscles appeared. Both the size and the aura emanating from it have far surpassed the demon that Mario transformed into at the beginning!

This time, Edward, who has turned into a demon, is truly stepping into the sanctuary!

Chapter 87: . Edward the Confessor

The loud bang sounded one after another.

The main building of the residence of the Void Duke, this ancient building that is also quite famous in the history of the Royal Capital of Ryan, slowly collapsed in this continuous roar, stirring up a dusty yellow dust almost like a sandstorm.

"Puff——"

A faint voice sounded, and a figure broke through the sky among the huge dust rising up all over the sky.

This person is not someone else, it is Sean.

At this time, Sean had an unconcealed panic on his face. The clothes that were scraped because of being blown away and buried alive under the gravel seemed to be more dilapidated, and there were many new scars on his body—— In fact, after Sean broke through the boundary of the silver realm, all the injuries healed automatically, so at this moment these wounds were obviously caused when they rushed out of the dust.

"Puff——Puff——"

Just as Sean exited the dust, two other faint sounds that broke through the dust and fog also sounded one after another.

Like Sean, the two figures, Rena and Xuefanio, also retreated backwards.

In the middle of the air, there is another figure sliding over a distance of more than ten meters in a flying posture. This person is naturally Marton who stood on the roof before. Because Edward rushed into the house to fight, Marton could only wait on the roof in the series of confrontations just now, but he himself did not expect to encounter the current situation, so when the main building collapsed, he Only had time to leap out in embarrassment.

But it's a pity that Marton doesn't have the amazing strength of Xuefanio, so he can't use the power of gravel to land gently in the air. But perhaps because of the unique balance ability of the elves, Marton did not fall from a ten-meter-high altitude. At the moment he landed, he rolled and unloaded all the power that gravity might bring. Impact-even though there are a few more scratches due to it. But at least it's better than being injured.

The earth is still trembling.

The shock and damage caused by the collapse of a four- or five-story building and the main building complex that is also connected to several auxiliary buildings is by no means as simple as a dust escape like a sandstorm. The cracks caused by the vibration of the earth continue to spread, and these cracks spread. Grievous cracks are also revealed on the ground, just like a monster with an open mouth that is devouring something. No one can guarantee what kind of result will be caused by falling into these cracks; and the agitated dust and fog are also formed by the continuous collapse of the main building. The impact airflow was continuously diffused, affecting everyone's visibility, which formed an extremely dangerous and ingenious coordination with the cracks in the earth.

nobody. Dare to stay in such a dangerous range, and can only continue to retreat.

When the earth finally stopped trembling, Xiao En and other talents finally dared to stop their retreat, but because the field of vision was blocked by the dust and fog, they could only choose to wait in place for the time being. In this case, no one dares to move around at will. Because the visibility is even five meters, and for all the gold powerhouses present at this time, it is absolutely impossible for people to get close to the range of five meters.

I am afraid it will attack from a distance of ten meters.

Therefore, walking rashly at this time will cause trouble for oneself.

I don't know how long it has been, maybe a few seconds, or maybe a few minutes, at this time. The flow of time will undoubtedly be slowed down by the strain of thinking. However, what can be confirmed is that the dust and fog that has been rising in the sky finally began to become thinner-although this dust and fog has spread to other noble residences around the Void Duke's mansion, it is indeed beginning to become thinner, so the view The visibility will also be improved and clear.

However, when Sean was finally able to see his surroundings clearly, his inner thoughts were better than seeing nothing.

At the center of the main building, there is a majestic figure!

This figure is undoubtedly Edward.

Edward has been completely demonic!

The demonized Edward has a visual height of more than seven meters-according to the standard of the devil's theory. The larger the size of the demon, the stronger the strength. Although Sean is not sure how the demon's size and strength are calculated, judging from the aura exuded from Edward at this time, it is clear that this guy's current strength is absolutely absolute. It is the strength to truly step into the sanctuary level.

Although it is only the lower sanctuary, it is on the abyss plane. The Demon Shaoshu with the strength of the sanctuary also exists at the commander level. The only difference is the small commander or the big commander. But whether it is a small leader or a large leader, the form of performance in the game is a leader-level boss-it is completely impossible for this type of boss to rely on personal strength to win. After all, the game "Miracle" advocated from the beginning It's teamwork, not individual heroism.

The demonized Edward, who is more than seven meters tall, has a strange bluish-gray color on his skin-completely different from the demon skin that is usually recorded in the offering. There is no wings behind him, which proves that Edward is not an agile flying demon, and seeing Edward's physique today is unusually strong, it also proves that he is not a demon of intelligence and endurance, but of a strength type. Demon, the destructive power of this type of demon has always broken through the sky.

However, as a form of demonization, the demons that Edward and Sean have impressions are still very different. At least to some extent, he still maintains a human-like form and structure. This is the same as that of Sean. The demonized Earl Mario is very similar. And Edward also has a single horn on his forehead, which seems to be contaminated with the blood of a horned devil, but his crotch position does not grow a tail, and the surface skin of his body has a metal-like appearance. Gloss.

He just stood here, and the pressure of the powerful demon leader made everyone around him feel breathless.

However, in Sean's field of vision, Edward's damage was more than just this. There was also a crimson halo shining under his feet, which made Sean feel a little dry-mouthed mania. There was even the sound of fighting in this aristocratic mansion.

no doubt. This should be Edward's unique frenzy aura, and after his complete demonization, the power effect and range of influence of this aura have obviously been greatly increased.

At this moment, Sean seemed to have a clear understanding.

"A few days ago, the tragic fight in the Ryan Arena. Did you cause it?" Sean looked at Edward, who could be regarded as a behemoth, and asked in a deep voice.

If conflicts are caused only because of old grievances between countries, they usually use disability as the first purpose and will not cause blood and enemies. After all, the former method can increase the burden on the enemy country, but the hatred between each other will also be limited. In conflicts between nations, no individual family will be involved. The latter, apart from establishing new enemies for his own family, is impossible to bring any benefits at all, and may even be scolded.

So all this is not in line with the tendency of political interests at all.

Before, Sean didn't think about it, but now that he saw Edward, Sean couldn't help but guess in this aspect: only Edward's frantic halo was affected. Those who have contradictions and conflicts for the purpose will transform the martial arts festival into a Shura field.

"You are indeed very smart." Edward did not deny, "Since you can guess that it was me who did it, then you should know my motivation for doing this."

Hearing Edward's voice, Sean was taken aback.

The first thing he thought of at this time was not what Edward's motive was, but how Edward was still sensible? !

Demons are creatures that admire chaos. For them, the meaning of existence is destruction. Although demons are also intelligent creatures, they only refer to high-level demons. Low-level demons have no will at all. According to this law, once demonized pagans who admire demons are demonized, most of them will not be able to maintain their rationality. Only extremely rare and powerful individuals can retain such a trace of self-consciousness, but this kind of self-consciousness is relatively reserved. It is also completely different from the situation in which they are humans. The most notable characteristics are manic, irritable and extremely aggressive.

But Edward's situation is completely different from all the cases of human demonization that Sean knows about.

He still maintains the reason and consciousness of absolute self!

"Surprised that I can keep my sense?" Edward seemed to see through Sean's doubts. He continued to ask.

Like Edward in human form, although the demonized Edward at this time looks like a streamlined body, it still feels very hideous—of course, this is relative to the aesthetic perspective of normal humans. In other words, from the perspective of the devil, Edward at this time should be considered strong and powerful. For the devil, being strong and powerful is equivalent to being handsome—but his voice is still very pleasant to the ear: a mature, low voice full of magnetism.

"I said that I did not become a demon, but borrowed the power of a demon to embark on a new path." After Edward became a demon, his tyrannical aura was reduced a lot, but it gave Sean the feeling. But the danger has increased sharply, "As long as you give me that handwritten note, then I can solve the current demon form and return to the normal human form, and I can also create a brand new bloodline!"

"You are going to challenge the authority of the God of Creation!" Without waiting for Sean's response, Xuefanio retorted with an angry expression. Infidels like you want wishful thinking too!"

"Ignorant and ignorant fanatic." Edward snorted disdainfully. "The reason why the gods are not involved in the bloodline is not that they dare not, but that they are incompetent! Do you think that being a  is the ultimate in this world? Ridiculous, The real strong are the travelers who tear through the barriers and travel between the planes. Only the weak will choose to become gods and take root here. Therefore, it is not that they cannot be involved in the bloodline field, but their pure incompetence!"

"Shut up, heretics!" Xuefanio exclaimed, "The glory of the gods, how can you blaspheme!"

"Haha." Edward chuckled, but the voice was full of elegant contempt.

A strong sense of disobedience occurred in Sean's heart instantly. If it weren't for Edward's size to be too large, Sean would even think that the man in front of him was an elegant high elf. Because of that kind of contempt, it was exactly the same as the pride of those high elves in Sean's memory. Just having such an expression made by a demon was really hard to understand.

But at this time, Sean is still in the mood to consider these. Xuefanio was directly furious.

Although she is indeed a village girl, but after such a long time, Xuefanio can no longer be the simple person at the beginning, but knows a lot of secrets about the gods. Coupled with Esther's close attention and guidance all the time, today's Xuefanio is naturally more and more like a true fanatic. She would never allow anyone to laugh at Eswinter, after all, in terms of blood, this goddess was still her ancestor.

So the next moment, Xuefanio rushed towards Edward with his sword.

She is extremely fast, almost reaching the limit of her strength. When Sean saw Xuefanio like this, he cursed inwardly. It was absolutely too late to stop her at this time, so Sean could only rush towards Xuefanio quickly.

If it is a demon that Sean knows, then he definitely knows how to deal with it, but for a demon like Edward that obviously shouldn't exist, Sean really doesn't know how to deal with it for a while, let alone where the weakness is. So instinctively. He naturally didn't want to let Xuefanio go to risk, so he rushed towards Xuefanio at full speed to stop Xuefanio's attack.

"I don't know what I can do." Edward glanced contemptuously at Xuefanio and Sean, but from this glance he could see that at Sean's speed he could definitely stop Xuefanio, but he didn't mean to stop. Because he is indeed a little tired of such endless conversations, after all, he has completely exposed his whereabouts now.

As Sean expected. The main reason why Edward would use the frenzied power to influence the Wudou Festival and turn the Wudou Festival into a thorough Shura arena is to attract the powerful sanctuary of the royal capital to the Lion Arena and let the nobles. The defensive force on the district side has become weaker-of course this weakness is relatively weak. As long as there are no sanctuary strong, it is impossible to find Edward's infiltration by the palace guards.

Originally, this is indeed a seamless plan.

It's just that Edward didn't expect that Sean, who he regarded as a persimmon, was so tenacious, so tenacious that he had to transform into a demon to be able to deal with it. Naturally, this completely disrupted his overall rhythm. But now, even if he retreats now, it is meaningless, because he has sensed that several powerful auras are rushing towards him.

His existence, after all, was discovered by those sanctuary powerhouses in the capital.

At this time, Edward lost his escape route. However, he showed an unprecedented calmness. He leaned sideways slightly, and his right fist fell towards Sean and Xuefanio. The impact of the powerful force was extremely violent, but this time there was no whistling sound. Instead, there was a vaguely visible red air current. The temperature suddenly rose a lot, and it looked like a small fall.

Without waiting for Sean to issue an order, Gulu had already greeted that huge fist.

Golden and azure blue flames sprayed out in the air, turning into golden-blue raindrops in the sky.

The powerful air current blows out from the air like a nuclear explosion. Such a powerful air current shakes, the physique of a non-golden powerhouse simply cannot withstand it. Even if it is a strong gold player, under the impact of such an air current, it will definitely be injured.

Sean, was directly blown out by this air current.

Fortunately, he had already rushed in front of Xuefanio, so he was directly holding Xuefanio and was blown out.

As for Guru, this time he couldn't stop Edward's attack completely. When he was smashed by such a heavy fist, even Guru didn't know where he was hit in an instant. However, his soul connection with Sean did not end there, which at least proved that he was still alive.

Failed to completely kill Sean with a punch, Edward was not angry, but he took a step forward, and accompanied by another roar of the earth, Edward slammed down with another punch. This time, without Guru's blocking, naturally there was nothing that could stop Edward's punch, so its speed could be called thunder.

Rina let out a low roar, which was as clear and high-pitched as a dragon, but the anger contained in the voice was clearly audible.

Only at the distance of Rena at this time, even if she sprinted with all her strength, she would definitely not be able to save the two of them before Edward's right punch Sean. But even if the situation is so desperate. But Rina is not a person who will give up easily, so she still chooses to rush forward without hesitation. No matter how tragic the final result is, Rina must definitely have a clear conscience-at least, in the knight she has learned. belief. The knight can never die after the master.

However, when Rina rushed to a distance of several meters from Sean and the others, there was a figure that was faster than Rina's speed-this figure arrived in front of Rina first. In front of Sean and Xuefanio, they faced Edward's huge fist, which was almost one meter square.

"boom!"

There was a dull impact sound.

The frantic air current raged around frantically, blowing up the figure's hair and clothes, and it seemed that this person seemed a little struggling to block Edward's punch. But this is only superficial. If you look closely, you will find that this person's legs are like ancient trees rooted in the earth, without any movement. Of course, if the strength and vision are excellent, then it can even be found that although this person blocked Edward's punch, the unsheathed long sword he raised horizontally was actually Edward's fist was not touched.

The two sides compete. In fact, it is already a hedge in the field!

With this kind of strength, naturally, he can only be a veritable sanctuary powerhouse!

When the frantic airflow finally raged, and the flying dust finally settled, when Sean was finally able to see this person's appearance, he was still shocked in his heart. Because the sanctuary powerhouse who rescued him and Xuefanio at this time is not someone else, it is the patriarch of the Shab family who is now in a hostile relationship with Sean, who is known as the Sword of Lion, Devin Soder. Shabo!

Dawain Soder Sabre stared at Edward. Then suddenly he uttered a violent drink. At this moment, Devin Soder Sabre didn't seem to have any obvious changes in his body, but he didn't know why he gave people a horrible illusion of muscles all over his body. I saw him suddenly take a step forward, and his right hand holding the sword swept out to the right. An unmatched strong air flow instantly erupted from the front of Devin Soder Sabre, directly shook Edward. Take a step back, and Edward's right hand will naturally be retracted.

"I don't remember, our Ryan's Kingdom Ascension Ceremony invited demons to watch the ceremony." Devin Sodder Shabo raised his head to stare at Edward, and said with a joking tone.

"It's just a second-rate kingdom's promotion ceremony. It's not worth being put in my eyes." Edward sneered without showing any weakness. "You can't keep me with just a few of you. Be careful you will move your capital from now on. ."

This is the threat of Edward "chi lu" naked!

The destructive power caused by the battle of the sanctuary powerhouse is terrifying, anyone who has studied the general history of the mainland a little will not know. Therefore, the general sanctuary powerhouse fights against each other. Will choose to fight in the wilderness of no man's land, unless the two countries are fighting to the point where they are endless, otherwise the sanctuary powerhouses will try to avoid fighting in densely populated areas-a big reason for this is because there is peace. The association is such a crazy threat.

But Edward is a demon, he doesn't care about it.

Looking at the extent of his demonization, he has already destroyed Shaun's Duke's mansion. It is conceivable that he will not have any worries now. Of course, since Edward created an opportunity to be close to Sean, dozens of golden powerhouses were killed in battle. This is also enough to prove that Edward has almost no humanity at all, so at this time his threat is not only very serious. Effective, but also very headache.

Only this sentence made the several sanctuary powerhouses who rushed here from the Ryan Arena at this time to throw the mouse.

Of course they would not think that Edward could not be solved with their strength.

But just as Edward said, once they start a battle here, not to mention what kind of impact and damage King Ryan will suffer, at least Seventh Avenue will be completely destroyed as a result. At that time, how many of these nobles living on Seventh Avenue will survive. This is an unknown-but no matter how many people will survive in the end, it is by no means a good thing for Ryan today. .

Because they can live with the nobles who have a real estate on Seventh Avenue, either the real power or the powerful, as long as these people lose one-third, Ryan's national strength will go backwards for at least 20 years. Moreover, most of the real power aristocrats also held some high-level positions in the kingdom. If something happens to them, it will take at least a few months or even one or two years to recover from the chaos of the power pivot that may be caused by the follow-up alone.

This is the real reason why people dare not do it easily!

"Hand over Sean, I will leave." Edward said in a deep voice.

As soon as these words came out, the complexions of the several Sanctuary powerhouses who had arrived at the scene instantly became difficult to look at.

The strong sanctuary present. It's not just Devin Sodder Sabre, the sword of Ryan, but also the lower sanctuary powerhouse armed with an epee who clashed with Sean on the Evergreen Suspension Bridge, from Florence. Pod Daron, even Vivian, the sanctuary powerhouse of the Boulder family, and Wengers Wilvac, the town powerhouse of Ryan, have already arrived.

Hearing Edward's words, other people have not yet expressed their views, Vivienne is the first to be upset: "Oh, if you let us make someone, we have to do it? Isn't that too distracting to us? , You are strong enough to solve so many of us by one person?"

"You can't keep me." Edward shook his head. His expression remained as steady as before, "I really can't cope with your teamwork, but...what if?" Almost as Edward's words fell, he suddenly raised his eyes to the sky and let out a loud roar. The sound wave visible to the naked eye was above his head. Spread out in circles. These sound waves continued to expand in the air until they covered the entire Kingdom's Seventh Avenue. Many buildings began to crack under the interference of these sound waves, and then they shattered one after another.

In the sky, dark clouds began to gather, and along with lightning and thunder, red firelight shining from the dark clouds.

Like the end of the world, the scene completely descended.

Screams of horror. Began to resound on the entire Seventh Avenue.

The strong man in the sanctuary holding the epee was obviously acute. Seeing that Edward, the demon, started to attack so uncontrollably, he was the first one who could not restrain himself to attack Edward: after rushing a few meters, He jumped to a height of nearly ten meters with one step, his hands clasped the hilt of the epee tightly, raised his head high, and then a vertical split slashed towards Edward.

But!

When there was still a little distance from Edward, this sanctuary powerhouse suddenly stopped in the air, as if time had frozen.

The next moment, there was the sound of a cannonball exploding in the air. This sanctuary powerhouse swept across the sky like a meteor in everyone's field of vision, not knowing where to fall.

Seeing this scene, all the sanctuary powerhouses present became solemn. With their eyesight, it was naturally clear that a barrier appeared on Edward's body just the moment the epee was swung down. It was this barrier that blocked his heavy blow. And this barrier is obviously not an ordinary barrier. The reason why the strong sanctuary flew out was because that barrier all bounced back after absorbing his attack.

"My name is Edward!" Edward clenched his fists and let out a roar. The blue flames burst out from under his feet instantly, like a huge blue lotus blooming, "My name is Confessor!"

In the sky, fire and rain fell one after another.

The earth began to burn.

At this moment, Edward does not only look terrifying, but also has an invisible high-level coercive aura. That is a pressure comparable to the Demon God, although it is not obvious in the current situation, but this is indeed the unique aura of the Demon God.

Then everyone heard Edward's voice again.

"I, returned from the abyss, born in the world! I am a person who despises the rules, I am a person who breaks the rules, I am the enemy of the gods, the enemy of the abyss, the enemy of hell, I am the demon * who controls the ice!... ...I am Edward the Confessor!"

At this moment, Sean looked at Edward dumbfounded.

He always thought that Edward was just a pure pursuit of power, so he did not hesitate to borrow the power of the devil, but at this moment, hearing Edward's oath, Sean finally knew that he had despised Edward! It turned out that from the very beginning, the path he took was not the path of a heretic, but with huge ambitions-determined to become the seventh demon in this world!

Chapter 88: . Sean's last hole card

Devil!

This is a transcendent existence that can be juxtaposed with the gods.

But unlike the gods, their existence is not limited to this world, but can exist in multiple planes. To put it simply, the gods are the manifestation of certain laws in a world, while the demon  is synonymous with destruction and destruction. In a sense, the existence of the demon  is actually more like the abyss plane and the  position. Face allies.

Of course, they belong to the kind of ally who may stab demons and demons in the back at any time.

However, like the existence of the Great Devil, Great Devil, and Gods, the power of the Devil God has far exceeded the overall balance of the world plane, so they cannot enter the material world at will. Even if you want to enter the material world with your own will, you can only use methods such as apostles or saint sons or saints to descend to gods. Of course, in terms of strength, it must be stronger than many so-called strong people. of.

According to the in the game, there are a total of six demon gods in the game "Miracle".

Only in his years of gaming career, Sean has only seen traces of two demon gods before and after: one is the world-cleaning demon Leros, one of the sources of Edward's current bloodline power, and the other is the co-lord of evil thoughts. Segern Foy.

The former was originally the final version of the final copy wave ss that appeared when the second expansion was involved, and the difficulty of its strategy was a large-scale seventh-order copy of a hundred people. Of course, according to the official setting, this Jingshi Demon God's descending on the main plane is just a ray of thought, and he doesn't even have 10% strength. But even this still made countless players hate it deeply, until the third expansion was released, and finally successfully formed a hundred-member group of all eighth professional players, it was the first time to pass the copy of this demon god.

This can be seen. How terrifying is the actual combat power of Jingshi Devil?

And this is also the reason why Sean has never been able to understand why Edward was able to obtain the unique ability of the Demon God. In the game, I never heard that the Jingshiyan bloodline ability would be dropped in the copy of the Jingshi Demon God. If someone really played such a thing, the forum would have been noisy.

As for the co-lord of evil thoughts. Segern Foy, it is the wave ss that only appeared at the end of the third expansion, but it is different from the copy of the Jingshi Demon God. Segernfoy appeared as a world wave ss. It is said that its purpose is to prepare for the invasion of the entire Miracle Continent, so it will always send out evil thoughts to control the people on the Miracle Continent. It belongs to the Wandering Wave ss of the entire Miracle Continent that is refreshed every natural month.

certainly. In terms of difficulty, the challenge is much easier than Jingshi Demon God.

Compared with the two Demon Gods who appeared in the game at the beginning, although Edward has the power of the Demon God at this time, it is obviously still a long way from becoming a real Demon God. But if one day, Edward really becomes the real devil. Then everyone present at this time can say that they are all the people who witnessed the birth of the seventh demon-of course. This kind of bragging pride is probably not what many people want.

At least, Sean doesn't want this worthy capital at all.

On the scene, a kind of silent confrontation was formed very strangely.

Edward did not have any other actions, and the other sanctuary powerhouses also did not have any actions at this time-not that they did not want to have other actions, but that they did not dare to stimulate Edward at this time. In terms of combat power alone, which of these people on the scene did not come out one step at a time in countless killings and conquests? Purely among the powerhouses in the same realm, their combat power is much more powerful than those who step into the sanctuary realm unimpeded all the way.

Like Florence's Pod Darona, who was codenamed "Guardian", he was in the clash with the Howard family before. In the real  battle with the real sanctuary powerhouse, he was lucky to survive, and he was able to break through and achieve his current realm strength; and Vivian. As the most powerful person under Asuna's command, her tyrannical combat power is also the result of countless battles and killings, and the battle with the Nugus family's sanctuary powerhouses in the Rift Valley. Because the accumulation is deep enough to break through.

As for the long-famous Devin Soder Sabre, the sword of Lane, and Wengers Wilwach, who guards the entire Kingdom of Lane, let alone their strength. I am afraid that in terms of going it alone, there is no problem in stabilizing the current Edward.

But now, because of Edward's threat, they have to throw a rat-in-the-mouse.

No one dared to start the war lightly.

Because the facts are just like what Edward said, they lack the ability to solve Edward with one hit, so if the battle cannot be made quickly, it would be easy to destroy half of King Ryan's capital with Edward's current strength.

"Oh." With a helpless sigh, Xiao En slowly stood up from the ground, and then patted the dust on his body.

He seemed so relaxed in this action, he didn't seem to put the tense atmosphere in his eyes at all.

The apocalyptic scene is still on the Seventh Avenue of the Kingdom. Fortunately, this situation is still controlled in the Seventh Avenue. Perhaps because of the presence of strong sanctuary, the guard soldiers from the royal family are rescuing the survivors of those noble residences on Seventh Avenue. Of course, their actions are cautious, and it can even be said to be a little hasty, because no one I don't know what Edward will do next.

The power and horror of the Demon God is well known to the world.

Along with Xiao En's sigh, everyone's eyes focused on Xiao En's body.

"With your abilities, you can really hit this city hard before you escape." Sean looked at Edward fearlessly and said in a steady voice, "But after that? You still can't get any of you from me. What you want will cause you to get into more trouble.... The birth of the Demon God is not a trivial matter. Do you think so many churches on the mainland will let you go?"

Edward's pupils shrank suddenly.

"You have just arrived in the Southern Continent, so you certainly won't know something." Xiao En smiled. "In the past year, there have been two demon invasions on Ryan's side, and they are now tens of kilometers southeast of Ryan. There are more than ten knights of the church stationed here, and you have such a strong momentum here now. , Do you think the clergy of the church will find out?"

"Even so, I am more than enough to solve you." Edward looked proud.

"That's not necessarily." Xiao En smiled, with an unprecedented relaxed expression on his face, "I originally prepared a hole card to scare those outsiders. But now I use it on you, I think The effect should also be great."

Edward's look seemed a bit contemptuous.

But this change in expression quickly solidified on Edward's face.

Because. A pure white beam of light was shooting up from behind Xiao En, directly rushing the dark cloud that Edward had called out of a hole. Then, the dense clouds in the sky were instantly smashed at a speed visible to the naked eye. Layers of azure blue brilliance rendering. It looked like a huge block of ice was frozen in the sky. Not long. There was a huge cracking sound, and the huge ice cube appeared densely cracked.

A terrifying will of incomparable majesty is slowly descending from the sky.

This will is much more terrifying than the majesty of Edward's Demon God. It is a powerful will that is completely above everything in this world. Everyone has a strong will at the moment they feel this will. Worship thoughts. This thought has nothing to do with personal strength, but a huge sense of coercion that arises directly from the soul level. This shock and fear from the soul, with the abilities of everyone present. At most, he can barely ensure his consciousness is sober.

A noun appeared in everyone's mind at this moment.

God descend!

is obviously an empty beam of light, but everyone seems to be able to see that huge will slowly descend, and then enter Xuefanio's body.

A icy chill radiated from Xuefanio's body, and the ground was quickly covered by ice at a speed visible to the naked eye, and all the broken walls were quickly frozen into clusters of ice crystals. In an instant, the entire Kingdom's Seventh Avenue and the surrounding area were completely frozen into a field of ice, and the huge piece of ice in the sky was also completely broken into countless icy dust in an instant, flying and falling from the sky. .

Sunlight, re-spilled on the earth.

It's just that it still can't dispel the endless chill that rises from the ground.

Xuefanio, slowly opened his eyes.

In an instant, in everyone's perception, the whole world seemed to be swept by a strong light, which made their eyes feel abnormally stinging, and tears flowed from their eye sockets. Even Edward, that huge dark aura was completely destroyed at this moment, and the aura weakened a lot in an instant, almost no different from the general Sanctuary powerhouse.

The brilliance that felt the strong light began to weaken slightly, and everyone could finally open their eyes.

Xuefanio is still the same Xuefanio, but her hair color has changed to almost transparent light blue, but her eyes have turned into an abyss-like black. A bitter and powerful aura radiated from her, and the entire Kingdom's Seventh Avenue was instantly included in her domain. The divine aura was shocking so that everyone would not dare to act rashly, fearing that it would lead to God's punishment.

This is the last hole card Sean has kept.

God descend!

Xuefanio's gaze swept across everyone present, and finally fell on Edward's body, which made Edward's breath also suffocated, because he had never expected that the band around Sean The sword priest actually has the ability to descend from the gods!

"I don't even qualify as a quasi demon god, and dare to be presumptuous here." Xuefanio-perhaps, now the goddess of ice and winter, Esther-snorted contemptuously. Several ice pits were exploded in the surrounding ground in an instant, and the exploded icicles shot out towards the surroundings, but soon these deep pits began to grow new ice crystal clusters, "I seemed to hear you say everything before. God's incompetence? So now, do you dare to repeat what you just said?"

A powerful and terrifying coercion, wave after wave, pressed on Edward's body.

At this moment, even if Edward's height is more than seven meters, he is much taller than Xuefanio, but in the range of everyone's perception, Edward's image has become extremely small, but Xuefanio is even taller. !

Chapter 89: .Goddess of Ice and Winter

God surrender is the last hole card that Sean has.

This trump card was originally intended for Sean to be used in the war against Darbion. After all, Darbion's commander has a sanctuary powerhouse far surpassing Ryan. Once all these sanctuary powerhouses are put into war, they will be decapitated. If so, the southern battlefield controlled by Sean will inevitably fall apart completely, so Xuefanio, who has the ability to descend, will naturally become a foregone conclusion that Sean is going to use to turn things around.

I just didn't expect that, because Andrew's full intervention had completely accelerated the fall of the Kingdom of Darbion, Sean's hole card was also preserved. Of course, the same thing has been preserved, as well as Hitley, the saint from the Church of Life. In fact, even the senior leaders of the Church of Life don't know that Hitley has signed a deal with Sean on behalf of the Goddess of Life. The contract of God.

However, this contract can only be used on the battlefield.

So in the current environment where high-end combat power determines the situation, Shaun's only hole card is Xuefanio.

"Roar!"

Edward let out a furious roar, trying his best to break free of the mighty suppression brought by Eswintel.

It's obviously an empty scene, but it seems to hear the clinking of iron chains, and then in everyone's field of vision, they can see the transparent chain made of unknowingly condensed material wrapped around Edward. Body. These chains seem to come from the void. Except for the part that is entangled with Edward, no one can see where the other end of these chains comes from, but watching Edward struggle so hard, it's okay. Obviously knowing that it is not easy to break free of these chains.

The power of God. The sinner is bound.

This is one of the unique talents possessed by the gods.

To put it simply, this kind of chain is actually a manifestation of the coercive aura of the gods. Of course, in fact, it is not only a form of chains, but a variety of concrete forms. This is mainly based on the different preferences of the gods and there are different symbols.

Under the entanglement of this chain, Edward struggled harder, but he was bound tighter and tighter, so that he even had to kneel on the ground when he reached the back.

And Xuefanio—or rather. The goddess of ice and winter. Aswenter walked towards Edward without stopping.

Her steps are not fast, but the sound of each step is as clear as a drum on the battlefield. There is even a shock from the soul. Everyone present, when they heard the sound of Aswenter's steps, inexplicably felt a kind of fanatical excitement in their hearts, as if their strength had begun to become endless. There was an eager attack on Edward.

God. Fanaticism.

This is a special ability unique to the priesthood.

Eswenter's ability to possess some of the clergy abilities belonging to the God of War is not because she is lucky enough, but because she does possess extremely strong combat abilities. Even at the beginning of Genesis, where all gods coexist in the Age of Dawn, Eswinter was one of the top gods in the field of the gods, and in that glorious era, she even had a war god. Gusn-the * of war in the true sense-has played a great feat of howling ghosts.

Dealing with a guy who is probably not even considered a quasi-devil, it is really overkill to let Eswinter take a shot.

So, at this time, Aswinter was very angry.

Along with her footsteps rising and falling like drumbeats, there seemed to be waves of invisible shocks from the earth.

"Roar!"

Edward let out a terrifying roar again. There was even a blue flame burning on his body. The transparent chains from the void continued to make sizzling noises under the burning of the blue fire, and the burning white fog visible to the naked eye continued to emerge from Edward's body. This time those transparent chains seemed to be unable to withstand such an attack. . It began to ablate.

Seeing that within a few seconds, Edward will probably be able to break free from the shackles of these chains.

Es Wentel snorted coldly, and the chains entwined with Edward's body became stronger and stronger in an instant. At the same time, the cutting blade in her right hand, the artifact named Bing Rin, also began to tremble. The crystal-like body of the sword was quickly filled with dark blue brilliance, and the color began to thicken, followed by frost and white mist. Emerging from the sword, even Eswinter's entire body began to emit a white ice mist visible to the naked eye in a blink of an eye.

A strong sense of crisis, instantly rushed to Edward's heart.

Then the next moment, Eswinter raised Bing Rin in her hands high, and Edward's figure was suddenly reflected in her dark eyes like an abyss-this is the unique effect of the skill, of course, it was Ter, the goddess of ice and winter, is used, and the prefix is not to be prefixed with divine power, that is, the prefix of divine grace.

This time, what Edward felt was no longer a sense of crisis, but a strong fear of death.

I saw that Eswinter didn't have the slightest drag, and the right hand holding Bing Rin suddenly swung down. The distance between her and Edward was clearly more than 20 meters, but with the cutting of this sword, one piece was like a horse training. The azure blue brilliance instantly crossed the distance of more than 20 meters, and fell on Edward's body fiercely. The strong storm air flow suddenly raged in all directions with the center of Edhua, and a huge diameter spider web crack appeared on the ground. A large number of ice chips turned into blue and white dust particles spewed out from the cracks and floated in the air. .

Blue blood spurted from Edward's body like a blowout.

However, Aswinter's brows were slightly frowned.

The touch of the blow just now is slightly different from the perception in Eiswinter's memory. She has indeed been asleep for a long time, but as a top figure in the dawn era and one of the main forces in the war of the gods in the dusk, many instincts can even be said to be completely integrated into her blood-before the gods became gods, they were the same. All creatures living in this world.

So at this moment, Aswinter knew that she had missed the sword.

Failed to cut off Edward's head as he wished.

"Everyone get back!"

Accompanied by Es Winter's violent shout, although the voice was as crisp as a silver bell, the urgency hidden in the voice was also very obvious.

The surrounding sanctuary powerhouses are all talents who have truly fought and grown up in countless battles. So the response is naturally not slow. As soon as they heard Es Winter's voice, they almost didn't even think about it, and immediately chose to retreat, although they didn't know how far it would be appropriate to retreat. But they all believe in a principle: that is, when the inner anxiety disappears, the distance is truly safe.

So this retreat. Everyone moved a few hundred meters away from Edward in the center of the storm.

The next second, the blue flame is like a lotus flower. Suddenly bloomed on the entire battlefield. Originally it was only a small area of burning, but soon the fire began to spread across the entire battlefield, covering an area of more than hundreds of meters in a radius like the prairie fire, which happened to be the area where all the sanctuary powerhouses retreated. ——The spread of these flames is extremely fast. It was exactly like a flame ignited in kerosene. If the response and speed of the non-Sanctuary powerhouse were fast enough, they would probably be swallowed by these blue flames.

Just looking at the burning of these blue flames, even the hard ice crystals that were condensed from the breath of Aswinter, comparable to the realm of the kingdom of God, completely turned into a blue liquid, and then evaporated in the air. inside. You can fully imagine that once someone is contaminated by these flames. What kind of end will it end up?

At this moment, the only person who dared to stand in the flames was Eswinter.

But even the goddess of ice and winter, she did not dare to step on these flames with her feet. Instead, he was standing on a platform completely condensed and raised by cold ice.

These blue flames from Edward's body constantly tried to erode the platform on which Eise Winter was standing, but Eise Winter did not give him such a chance at all. When the blue flame starts to climb towards this icicle, the places that are contaminated by the flame will explode into countless fragments and fall, and then the icicle that seems to have been weakened once will be at a speed visible to the naked eye. Quickly condense new ice crystals again, ensuring that this icicle will not be completely consumed.

It's just that everyone on the scene knows that both flames and ice crystals need to consume the strength of both sides to maintain. Once one of them can't fill up this rate of consumption, then in this sudden change of attrition. It will be completely at a disadvantage, and it may even be taken over by the other party.

Once falling into this result, then for Edward, it is the end of death; but even for Eswinter, there may be many sanctuary powerhouses watching, and her inherited descendant, Xuefanio, will not be on the spot. He died in battle, but it was inevitable that his vitality would be severely injured and even affect his combat power for a long time in the future.

So at this moment, no matter who it is, no one will choose to give up easily, but will only squeeze all the potential of the body and completely release it!

But Sean knew very well that in such a war of attrition, it would be extremely detrimental to Eswinter.

God surrender, although it is the ultimate skill of clergy professionals, it can even play a decisive role in turning things around in many cases, but it usually means that it is the last resort to exhaustion.

In the game, if the player has enough luck and strength, of course, they can also learn such a magical skill as "God of God" through the lengthy task chain. But in fact, this skill is more often used as a "strategic nuclear weapon" to threaten others. Not to mention its scary CD cooling time. The punishment after the skill is used is not something ordinary people can bear. , Especially for high-level players, it will be even more terrifying.

Moreover, the display of this skill has a certain relationship with one's own strength.

For instance, Xuefanio is now only a half-step sanctuary strength. Although she can indeed reach the peak of the lower sanctuary or even the mid-level sanctuary after she casts the gods, she also has to continue to bear the strength of the sanctuary. The mental impact caused by the coercion of Eswinter, as well as various physical exhaustions-even if she is a direct descendant of Eswinter, this influence and squeeze are unavoidable. , Just cut to the minimum.

Therefore, the longer the duration, the greater the price Xuefanio will have to pay, and once the critical point is reached, then every second of Eiswintel's existence in this world, he will directly Causes irreparable loss of life essence to Xuefanio.

To put it simply, it is a longevity.

This is why many clergymen in the church have performed the surrender of God. The reason why they will die completely-most people can't even sustain a high-attenuation war of ten minutes. The high-attendance war that can last for 30 minutes is basically the existence of the holy child and the holy woman. .

If Xuefanio's strength is stronger and she truly steps into the realm of the sanctuary, then she may be able to maintain it for a longer period of time-even if it is the current battle that has far exceeded the definition of "war of high attrition". . At the very least, it can sustain a battle for more than half a day. Because for the real strong. The combat time of individual confrontation is usually relatively short, and it rarely lasts for several days like a team-scale local conflict. Unless it is an evenly matched entanglement battle.

"Can you control these flames?" Sean turned his head and looked at Cecilia.

Probably because Edward had to concentrate on dealing with Eswinter, the flames burning on the ground did not cover that vast area anymore. But the range involved is still more than hundreds of meters. In this environment, even the surrounding sanctuary powerhouses can't guarantee that they can attack Edward without touching these flames. After all, this is actually in Edward's realm.

The battle for the domain of the sanctuary powerhouse has always been extremely dangerous. If it is a little bit worse, it is easy to fall into a situation where it is impossible to recover.

Edward was originally held by Eiswinter at the moment. This should be an excellent opportunity to attack. But because Edward's field is too difficult to deal with, everyone is a little helpless, and can only watch such a wonderful opportunity so missed, let alone regret and entanglement. That is obviously impossible. But for the war between Edward and Eswinter, which belongs to the gods, it is obviously easy to play with fire if they rashly intervene, so the sanctuary powerhouses present can only choose to watch.

also knows this, not just those who are strong in the sanctuary, Xiao En also knows that this is a good opportunity.

This is why he will ask Cecilia.

After all, if there is someone present who can help Eswinter play a role in Edward, then it is Cecilia, who has the blood of Phoenix.

Cecilia closed her eyes and felt it for a while, then opened her eyes and shook her head: "The elements refuse to approach. These flames are not made of elements, so I can't control it."

Sean nodded slightly, and his gaze returned to the flames in the arena that was burning like a blue sun.

The blue flame released from Edward's body not only produced a domain that covered the surrounding area, it also wrapped Edward in it, and had a certain protective effect on it. Only based on Sean's gaming experience, he can speculate that Edward is now hiding in those abyssal icy flames to repair the trauma that Eswinter caused just now. Once he is successfully repaired, then Eswinter just now The advantage that you finally gained is about to be lost.

After a little thought, Sean finally decided to take a risk. As a player known for his opportunism, Sean really couldn't give up such an opportunity right now. So he could only choose to help Eswinter, because his instinct told Sean that Eswinter had not given up the attrition war with Edward at this time, but was waiting for an opportunity to take action, as long as he mastered this. If the time is right, then she can definitely hit Edward again.

"Guru!" Sean called Guru inwardly.

Just now Gulu blocked Edward's blow for him, but he didn't know where he was beaten, but Sean knew that the soul connection between him and Gulu hadn't broken yet, so Gulu was definitely not dead yet.

After called for several times, from the depths of the soul consciousness, Guru's response was finally heard, but judging from the information of the soul band, this time, even Guru might have been seriously injured.

"Can I still move?"

"Goo——Lu——" Although the breath sounds weak, the fighting spirit is still full.

"Can you give that old guy a surprise attack?" Sean asked in consciousness.

 was silent for a few seconds before finally getting an affirmative reply from Guru. So Sean didn't waste time anymore. Relying on the contact with Guru's soul, Sean stood on the ground and began to locate and navigate Guru, feeling the movement of Guru under the ground, and Sean continued to help him correct his position. At this moment, even he had already felt that Xuefanio's body had reached a critical point. If you don't solve this current dilemma soon, then Xuefanio will definitely need to consume life force as the price of summoning the gods.

It seemed that he had felt an unknown danger, or that the blue flames released by Edward had become more violent for the long-term inability to defeat Eswinter. As a result, it naturally intensified the consumption of Eise Winter's supernatural power. In fact. If it hadn't been for the protection of Sean, Cecilia and others, with Aswinter's strength, he would definitely not fall into such a situation where he needed to fight a war of attrition.

Feeling that Gollum is getting closer and closer to Edward's position. Sean finally let out a cry in his heart: "It's now!"

Guru gathered the last strength of his whole body, and immediately sprinted towards the ground without hesitation when he heard Xiao En's instructions. I saw a golden light suddenly burst out of the ground, and then shot directly through the blue flame that wrapped Edward from the inside to the outside in one fell swoop. Suddenly a painful roar erupted from the fire ball, and the blue flames surrounding Edward also instantly twisted, and then exploded into countless blue fire spots, like the same blue rain. In all directions.

And the blue flame on the ground that burned extremely vigorously, at this time, it seemed to have suddenly lost its fuel, and quickly dried up and disappeared, leaving only the blue, yellow, and brown mixed on the ground to form a crystal-like ground like glass. ——This is the result of high-temperature combustion.

but. Almost at the moment when the blue flame exploded, a terrifying breath burst out suddenly and simultaneously.

This breath naturally originated from Esther Winter.

As if to make a final decision, Eswinter raised the artifact in his hand again. But this time. The white mist wrapped around the sword appeared to be even more condensed. The mist seemed to turn into a huge sword with a height of hundreds of meters, pointing straight to the sky. It is not so much that the terrible cold and awe-inspiring aura radiates from Eswinter's body, but rather it emanates from this huge sword, which is over a hundred meters in length alone-at this moment, No matter where you are in King Ryan's capital, you can clearly see this silver-white giant sword that can be said to pierce the sky!

Without the slightest hesitation, Eswinter swung down the great sword again.

In the process of swinging down, the original solid sword body quickly turned into a two-meter-high stout beam of light, and then erupted from in front of Eiswinter, instantly passing hundreds of meters between her and Edward. The distance traversed the seventh path of the entire kingdom with an unstoppable strength, and even half of the wall of the Kingdom of Ryan and the top of a tower were completely annihilated in this pillar of light.

A louder, painful roar erupted from Edward's mouth.

but!

Seeing that half of Edward's body was about to be also annihilated in this beam of light, the beam of light shot out from in front of Eswinter suddenly disappeared. Immediately afterwards, before everyone had time to react, the terrible and powerful spiritual coercion of Eswinter disappeared from everyone's perception. If it weren't for the seventh path of the entire kingdom to be completely frozen at this moment, If a section of the wall and the top of a tower in the distant kingdom have completely disappeared, no one can believe that just a few seconds ago, there was a * here who was surging through the gods.

Although he was spared from being completely wiped out in this divine light, Edward at this time was obviously already seriously injured, not to mention that almost half of his body turned bright red, and blue blood constantly seeped out of his skin. Just the huge wound that fell straight from the left shoulder to the right abdomen was enough to make everyone who saw this scene feel terrified- this is the power of the divine tool.

However, everyone's eyes didn't stay on Edward's body, but instead looked at the place where the beam of light disappeared-the position of Eswinter.

I saw that Aswenter had fallen to the ground, and the long, light blue hair that was almost transparent had also returned to blue. Although I can't see the color of my eyes because of my coma, everyone at this moment knows that even if they use their toes to think, Xuefanio has exhausted the strength in his body, and Eswinter in order not to hurt Xuefanio. The fundamentals of the situation can only be forcibly interrupted.

The surrender from Aswinter, it's over!

In everyone's hearts, there is a regret at this time: as long as you hold on for a few more seconds, you can really wipe out Edward. But it is a pity that there has never been a if in this world. This may also indicate that Edward was not abandoned by the will of the world, so he was not completely crushed into powder in this beam of light.

It's just that on the battlefield at this time, the first thing that reacted was not Sean, but Wengers Wilwach, who was the powerhouse of Lane Town.

The town powerhouse used a silver-white spear with brilliance, with an extremely obvious and strong aura attached to it. Obviously, this was at least a weapon of legendary rank or higher.

Seeing this strong man attacking him, Edward's face showed a very angry expression. If it was a * like Eswinter who came to trouble him, of course he wouldn't say anything. After all, the devil and the gods were originally opposed, but they were attacked by a middle-ranked sanctuary powerhouse. For Edward, who considered himself a devil, it was an insult.

So his right hand stretched out slightly, and a blue spark appeared in his palm, and Edward threw it at Wengers Wilvarge without even thinking about it.

This blue fire bomb was blown out in the air before it even hit Wengers Wilvarge.

The shot is Duke Shabo, who is the sword of Lane.

At the same time, the remaining few sanctuary powerhouses on the field at this time finally began to choose to shoot Edward one after another. If Edward was in his heyday before, they would naturally not dare to take a shot, but after a fierce battle with Eswinter, now Edward is already very good at coping with the cooperation of these sanctuary powerhouses. Reluctantly, how can there be enough energy to be distracted while resisting endless attacks while continuing to cause trouble in the capital?

Among these sanctuary powerhouses, the most ruthless and craziest shot is not the town powerhouse Wengers Wilvarge or the Duke of Ryan's Sword Shabo.

is the halberd of thunder light. Vivian.

Chapter 90: .I will be back

Thunder Light Halberd, Vivian Michel.

As one of Asuna's two main high-end combat forces, although Vivienne does not have the powerful bloodline power of Elizabeth, her true combat power is not necessarily much worse than that of Ryan's other sanctuary. After all, whether it is from silver to gold or from gold to sanctuary, she has been honed in countless life and death battles. The only fatal flaw is probably that she has never deliberately suppressed her own strength development.

This is actually extremely unfavorable for those who are really trying to climb to the top.

However, everyone knew that Vivian had sacrificed all this for Asuna. After all, Asuna's situation is a bit embarrassing now: The Thunder's Front, the strongest unit under her command, is now on the verge of disbanding. In addition, the old site Tonys Fortress has now given up, and the newly sealed Garrod collar The internal worries continued, and many problems were integrated, which led to Asuna's urgent need for the strong to sit down.

So in this situation, Vivian could only give up the time to polish the foundation and directly break into the sanctuary.

But even so, Vivian's current real combat power is still not under the Sword of Ryan.

As a magic warrior, Vivian is one of the few who can develop both martial skills and magic to the extreme at the same time, so in a certain way, Vivian is indeed an out-and-out genius.

The halberd in her hand is just weight, enough to make the silver masters of non-power-type professions daunting. This special halberd is not a magic weapon or a legendary weapon, it is just a high-quality weapon made of materials that can be attached to by the elements. The only advantage is that it is heavy enough, even without using any martial arts or magical assistance, it is enough to smash an ordinary tin can.

It can be such a powerful halberd. Even Vivian gave herself three magical auxiliary effects that directly affect the weapon: sharp, stone blade, and brave, but the halberd slashed on Edward's body, but it only left a shallow scar. .

This kind of result is already unbreakable in the game.

Vivienne obviously did not expect this result. Seeing the confrontation between Eswinter and Edwards before, Esswenter's move easily and severely inflicted Edward on Edwards, so everyone in the room seemed to see that Edward, the demon god, did not. Nothing great. But now after Vivian really went into battle personally. Only to realize that the facts are far from being as simple as I thought.

But Vivian is obviously not a person who gives up and compromises so easily.

After she realized that her attack did not result in the desired result, she did not hesitate to swing her halberd again, and the second attack still struck the same position fiercely-here is the part where Edward was injured more heavily. The entire piece of skin has fallen off, and the blue blood has completely penetrated from the skin. This should be regarded as the weakest part of Edward's body, but even this is still impossible to break.

A series of attacks. It finally caught Edward's attention-for the seven-meter-tall demon. It's really hard for Vivienne to get his attention, not to mention her attack is no different from tickle at first. But repeating one thing for a long time will still make people feel bored, and to Edward, Vivian at this time is like a fly, so he naturally started to attack Vivian.

But after turning around, suddenly a large amount of blue blood gushed out of Edward's body.

At this moment, everyone knows it. Edward's injury is probably heavier than it seems.

Naturally, Edward's punch at Vivian also seemed a bit weak. At least for Vivian, it was not completely unstoppable. But when Edward's punch fell on Vivian's halberd, she knew that this seemingly light and soft punch was probably relative to the demons, and for humans, such punch strength was still It is equivalent to the full blow of the golden peak powerhouse.

I saw Vivienne go back at least ten meters.

The realm she was fully expanding, under Edward's punch, there was no way to resist.

Variously, you can hear the sound of something breaking in the space.

However, when Edward wanted to pursue it anymore, the sword of Lane, Devin Soder Sabre, had already shot.

The weapon used by this year's male hand is also a long sword similar to a slashing blade, but compared to Bing Rin, it is more in line with Sean, the earthling, this sword is actually more like the blade of ancient Japan on earth, because it The radian of the knife should be more warped, and the tip of the knife should be sharper and sharper. It is not the traditional semi-circular arc knife tip on the Marvel Continent. And swords like this have significant advantages in terms of swinging, slashing, stabbing, and slashing—but this advantage is only compared to the traditional sword weapons on the Marvel Continent.

Long sword-it's not so much a sword as it is a blade. Under the light swipe of Devin Soder Sabre, the body of this long blade glows with a light milky white fluorescence, which seems to be a little thin and sticky. However, when Sean took a closer look, he found that this was not the effect on the sword of Devin Soder Sabre, but the effect from his domain.

Edward's left fist slammed into this sticky milky-white fluorescence, which immediately stirred up countless shocks and ripples, spreading in circles, but these fluorescences, no matter how thin they were, there was still no sign of dissipating. On the contrary, the ripples in this circle were stretched and thinned infinitely. But if you look closely, you can find that the movement speed of the fist that hits this milky white fluorescence is being infinitely slowed down, which looks like a lagging magic effect.

As we all know, it is almost impossible for an existence like a demon * to have any effect on negative magic effects because of their extremely high magic resistance. Therefore, it can be proved by this point alone that the domain of Devin Soder Sabre is not a domain of magic, but a domain similar to space effects. Although the specific domain ability is not clear, the most At least this is definitely related to effects such as sluggishness.

and. Devon Soder Sabre's domain stage may not be low.

Otherwise, even if Edward is not an official demon now, but in terms of his ability, it is impossible to be restrained by Devin Soder Sabre.

However, just when Sean thought that Duke Devon was only trying to reduce the pressure on Vivienne to contain Edward, the Duke from the Sabo family once again proved that he was worthy of the name "Leyne Sword".

A silver light flashed in the air.

The milky white fluorescence that spread out suddenly resembled a school of disturbed fish. The crash suddenly spread out, scattered into countless smaller milky white light spots. But as soon as these tiny milky white light spots spread out, they instantly stretched into the air like silver needles, and then suddenly bombarded Edward's right hand-these things like silver needles touched. When it reached Edward's right hand, it exploded quickly, turning into small milky white bubbles.

In an instant, Edward's entire left hand was covered by these white bubbles. It looks like it is wrapped in a layer of milk.

A black crack opened quickly on this layer of "milk" like lightning, and then the blue liquid spewed out from the crack in an instant.

Edward let out a painful roar.

No one knows. What kind of means did Devin Sodder Saber use at this moment!

But when it became clear, the duke of the Shab family, who had the title of "Sword of Lane", obviously did not stop his attack. He waved the long blade of his hand again, and a series of milky white light spots appeared in the air again. This time it felt more like a group of piranhas smelling the fragrance of fresh meat. Madly rushed to continue biting. Then there was another black lightning crack and blue blood splashing out.

Edward's howl of pain became even more angry. He hurriedly withdrew his left hand, and then raised his right hand. The blue flame instantly rose from his fist. It seemed that he wanted to use this punch to fight against Dai Wen. Soder Sabre's realm.

It's just that Pod and Wen Gehua on the other side are obviously not just watching the show.

The two people instantly joined forces to attack from front to right, and they blasted both in front of and behind Edward at the same time, only in terms of light and shadow effects. It doesn't seem to be as shocking as the attack by Devin Sodder Sabre. But listen to Edward's more violent roar, and the huge bruise on his chest and the blue blood rain on his back like rain. It can be known that the attacking power of Pod and Wen Gehua is much greater than that of Devin Sodell Sabre.

After the two succeeded in a blow, they were not greedy. They had a tacit understanding and chose to retreat to prevent Edward's counterattack.

Almost when the two were retreating, a thick thunder snake full of purple and blue shot out from behind, and then exploded in front of Edward's chest. This position had just received a heavy blow from Pod. , It can be clearly seen that the breastbone has been concave, and there are even many cracks on it. Under the bombardment of this Razer, the crack of the injury became bigger, and even became scorched as a result, but did not see the blue blood splashing out, on the contrary, there was a lot of blue. Colored condensed crystals.

Obviously, under the bombardment of this Razer, the blood that spilled from Edward's body was burnt and solidified before he could even get out of the body.

This time, it was Vivian, who had already taken a breath.

Since the ordinary physical attack methods failed to work, Vivian's magical attack was not weaker than the Sanctuary-level Grand Mage, specifically picking Edward's weakness to attack, and it could still cause great damage.

The cooperation of several sanctuary is naturally extremely difficult for the seriously injured Edward. After only a few rounds of confrontation, several people have the upper hand. On the contrary, Edward became more and more decadent in the Vietnam War, and his injuries began to increase. Even the blood splattered from the body is not as magnificent as it was at the beginning, and it feels as if the blood is almost running out.

"Roar!"

But at this moment, Edward suddenly let out a high-pitched roar.

All the sanctuary powerhouses felt a horror in their hearts, and even their hairs stood upright, and strong thoughts of danger of death arose in an instant. Several people who had launched a new round of offensive suddenly stopped and retreated quickly, and they did not dare to approach Edward at this time. Because Edward's body suddenly began to swell, and the flame on his body instantly burned more vigorously, even if it was hundreds of meters away, he could still feel a scorching sensation.

This made everyone present feel unbelievable.

Because they played for so long just now, they all knew that Edward's Abyssal Ice Flame was not warm at all.

A noun suddenly sounded in everyone's mind.

Blow!

How terrible is the self-destruction of a demon? No one knows, but how terrible a sanctuary powerhouse's self-detonation is, the people present are very clear—this blow will probably destroy half of the Royal Capital of Ryan, and it depends on Edward's momentum at this time, even Wen Gehua This town-state powerhouse wanted to stop it, but he was obviously powerless.

So naturally no one will dare to step forward at this time, and it can even be said that they can't wait to stay away.

But only one person did not escape.

That is Sean.

Sean looked at Edward solemnly. At this time, in his eyes, he could naturally see the power surges that were close to the entire world, but these surges of energy did not converge in Edward's body, but rather With constant proliferation, this is completely different from the self-detonation phenomenon that Sean knows.

In an instant, Sean woke up!

"He's not blew himself up! This is bluffing!"

"It's late!" Edward glanced at Sean, then let out a roar, and slammed his punch directly to the ground, "Sean Connery! I will come to you again!"

Suddenly, a blue pillar of fire instantly rose up into the sky to envelop Edward, and then turned into a blue meteor and shot to the northwest.

Almost in the blink of an eye, this blue meteor completely disappeared from everyone's vision.
