

Lord of War Vol 4-111

Chapter 111: .This is war.

The outbreak of war is always caught off guard.

In September of 1882 in the miracle calendar, when autumn was cool, the Thorus Fortress broke out in the first tragic battle since its completion.

Torus Fortress in the Kingdom of Fascism, has always been known as the pillar of the Kingdom of Fascism, is the last place of the entire kingdom. They firmly believed that even if the fascist kingdom fell completely, as long as the Thorus Fortress still exists, the restoration of the country is a matter of time.

In the history of the Marvel Continent, Thorus Fortress has not fallen. The three fall of the first and last fall has made the defense and monitoring of Thorus Fortress more and more strict: the first fall was because of internal problems; the second fall was because of tunnels dug by people; the third fall was because of the problem of material transportation. .

In response to these problems, the Thorus Fortress has been guarded by the most loyal army of the royal family since the first fall. The combat effectiveness of this garrison may not be the strongest in the Fascist Kingdom, but it is undoubtedly the least fearful of death. After all, as long as the three magic crystal cannons need to be defended, what combat power is needed, the Fascist royal family only wants loyalty.

will use powerful magic power to completely solidify the entire underground and the surrounding area, also because of the second fall of Taurus Fortress. If it weren't for the fierce battle that broke out in the city, and the enemy eventually occupied the Torus Fortress but couldn't refill the excavated secret tunnel so that reinforcements could enter the city from the secret tunnel. This fortress would really be easy. Lord.

Then came the third fall-strictly speaking, it cannot be said to be a fall, but the reserve army of the Thorus Fortress was almost annihilated in that battle, and finally it was weak and the five-way reinforcements were timely. After arriving, he was finally able to reverse the situation. But because of this, Thorus Fortress also realized that the logistics materials of the fortress were limited by outsiders' pain, so it also secretly trained a number of material transport troops operated by the Fortress garrison in the vicinity.

It is a pity that with this time the two sides of the Zenus Empire and the Void Empire jointly suppressed, these few secretly trained material transport troops have been wiped out. William believed that the Zenus Empire definitely also controlled one. The provision of the material transport force was to wait for the defeat of the Nether Empire to take a share of the pie. It's a pity that William knew this tactic from the very beginning, and compared to the slightly clumsy tactics of the Zenus Empire, the exchange tactics coordinated by Ruby and Eli Kate went to the next level.

It is precisely because of this that William's invasion plan was created today.

The  put in by the rupee has penetrated into the body of all the defenders of the entire fortress in the past month. But this kind of poison does not make them aware of anything. At most, it makes them a little bit listless and easier to get sleepy. However, this kind of thing can be excused from the psychological pressure formed by being completely surrounded by enemy forces for several consecutive months.

Of course, if the time is too long, as the effect of the drug gradually increases, then people will definitely be found to be poisoning.

So when the drug's effect reached the best expiration date, Rupi led the transport troops to come back again, but this time all the materials were mixed with a kind of alien powder. This kind of powder itself is colorless and tasteless, and will not have any side effects. However, when mixed with the poisons previously administered, it will immediately form a strong and highly poisonous. The poisoned person will lose mobility in a very short time, and it will appear later. Virus infection characteristics: symptoms such as fever, vomiting, diarrhea, etc., will fall into coma shock after ten to fifteen hours, leading to organ failure and eventually death.

In just one hour, more than one-fifth of the soldiers in Thorus Fortress were infected with toxins and lost their ability to move.

At this time, the commander of Torus Fortress finally realized the problem.

The first instruction he gave was to strengthen the defense of the control center tower, because this is the control valve of the three magic crystal cannons in the entire fortress. Once closed, Thorus Fortress will also lose its sharpest claws and fangs. It is no different from an ordinary fortress. The enemy can forcefully attack the city with several times the strength of the fortress.

In history, Torus Fortress fell several times because of the closure of the control center tower.

Just as he realized the seriousness of the problem at the first time, Ruby and others launched an offensive after the toxin took effect, and it is indeed the most important core place of the Thorus Fortress-the magic crystal cannon control center tower. However, because of the swift response of the commander-in-chief of the Torus Fortress, Ruby and others failed to break into the control center tower in the first time. The two sides broke out a very tragic battle here, but when the combat intelligence was reported When the fortress commander held it, he was still a little unbelievable.

Together with Rupee to attack, it turned out to be the one of his most trusted line-up troops-of course, it is now a person who has been disguised by William's direct subordinates. For this possible surprise attack, after the Void Empire and the Millennium Covenant Empire reached an alliance agreement, William directly dispatched the Black Winged Legion from the Wild Fortress, and selected the most elite 100 from them, and mixed in with the rupees. Torus Fortress.

Everyone who attacked the control center tower, including Rupi, knew that this was a deadly battle with no retreat: if they couldn't attack the control center tower, it would only be them, not others. Therefore, there is no suspense or hesitation. At the beginning of the battle, the death squad led by Ruby broke out with amazing combat effectiveness, and the battle between the two sides directly entered a white-hot degree.

If the fortress commander's first order was issued very accurately and quickly, then his second order was quite satisfactory-but quite satisfactory, for Hella's layout and William's tactics, it was a complete one. The mediocre instructions.

Torus Fortress has about 100,000 regular defenders, and this number does not include logistics and boot camps. However, as the two fronts of the fascist kingdom were retreating steadily and the royal family members were stationed, the actual conventional combat force of the fortress of Thorus was as large as 200,000. After receiving a large number of reinforcements, I am afraid that so many people will not fit in at all.

But after knowing that Ruby and others stormed and controlled the central tower, he actually deployed nearly 40,000 troops to reinforce the four major city gates.

According to the regional defense situation of Thorus Fortress, the conventional garrison of the four major gates is 5,000 each, and the other 5,000 are alternate garrisons. Only after the outbreak of war, these five thousand alternate troops will immediately go to reinforcements, bringing the conventional defense forces of the four major gates to 10,000 each. The standing defensive force that controls the central tower is 6,000, and the force deployed during wartime will double to 12,000, and the other 48,000 is used as a mobile reserve to be responsible for fire fighting duties.

However, as the Thorus Fortress became the last pillar of the Fascist Kingdom, the influx of more than 100,000 troops made the defense force of the Thorus Fortress extremely sufficient, so the standing strength was more than doubled.

Usually, the defense forces responsible for the four major gates are as many as 10,000, and another 10,000 are responsible for shifts. At this moment, under the alarm that the control center tower is attacked, the commander of the fortress has issued reinforcements for the four major gates. The four major gates divided more than one-half of the force of the entire fortress. Counting the 20,000 troops of the control center tower at this time, it is equivalent to saying that the regular army scattered in the various regions of the Thorus Fortress-the mobile rescue force, there are only 60,000 left.

This amount is enough to maintain the stability of the fortress.

But, what if the enemy did not invade from the four major gates, but from within?

When the five secret passages were completely opened and a steady stream of Void Empire Army soldiers appeared in the entire Thorus fortress, the chaos of the entire Thorus fortress could no longer be suppressed.

Twenty thousand to deal with less than five hundred dead soldiers attacking troops, is there a big advantage?

must be very big, and the Rupiah and others have no possibility of survival at all.

However, when the Void Empire soldiers with a total strength of 80,000 appeared from the five key points around the control center tower, and after quickly completing the deployment, they began to continuously attack the control center tower, then the 20,000 troops controlling the center tower can still defend NS?

The answer is also obvious.

It is impossible to hold!

Lost is only a matter of time!

And if there are two super-powerful people among these people who are rushing to control the central tower, how long will it take for the control of the central tower to fall?

The answer is one minute.

When Kozilek waved the big sword in his hand to cut off the forty-meter control center tower, the Fortress of Thorus had completely lost its existence.

And when Alexis's boots stepped on the roaring and collapsed control center tower, the ending of the Thorus Fortress had also been decided.

When I heard the report of this situation, the entire military meeting in the Thorus Fortress was silent.

"They... how dare they... just demolish the control center tower?"

"Don't... don't they know the value of Magic Crystal Cannon?"

"Why are they able to dig underground secret passages? Why don't we have any warning messages?"

"What the * is going on?"

"This is impossible! This must be a dream! Am I having a nightmare?"

"Torus Fortress cannot be captured so easily! Magic Crystal Cannon... Where's the Magic Crystal Cannon? Launch!"

After the silence, there is chaos.

Panic and desperate emotions spread crazily throughout the Torus Fortress, infecting everyone in the meeting. Whether it is a general, a commander, a representative of a noble family, or a messenger, an intelligence soldier, a guard, etc., everyone is crazy and unbelievable.

Just then, an exclamation sounded!

"Blood flag!" A middle-aged nobleman who grabbed his hair was holding up the window of the conference room with a pale face. From this window, you could see the control center tower that had been cut to half height. "It's the blood of the Void Empire. Flag!... They, they are going to slaughter the city! We, we are dead!"

"Calm down!" The commander-in-chief of the Torus Fortress also saw the banner planted on the control center tower.

This is obviously a specially made blood flag: it is ten times as big as a normal flag. The flagpole is made of an unknown huge log. Visually, it is probably an ancient tree that requires at least three to five people to hug it.

This huge blood flag is so inserted on the control center tower of the highest landmark and core building of the Torus Fortress. It represents the original landmark and becomes the new landmark building of the Torus Fortress. Under the flames that exploded like daylight under the night sky, this huge blood flag fluttering in the wind looked dazzling, no matter where it was in any direction or corner of the fortress, you could clearly see this blood flag.

Similarly, looking at the woman suspended in mid-air, all the fascist soldiers in the fortress could also feel the terrifying will of this blood.

This woman suspended in mid-air is not the famous Alexis on the entire southern continent today.

But no one knows the identity of this woman.

The emperor's agent of the Void Empire, Queen of Phoenix, Cecilia Connery.

Watching the queen of the void empire personally appear on the battlefield, the entire Thorus fortress became more panic and boiling.

"It's over! It's over!" In the meeting room, officers began to howl without gods, "It's the queen of the Void Empire, we are dead..."

"Calm down! We also have His Majesty the King!" The commander is still trying to control the increasingly chaotic situation, "Your Majesty is always with us!"

"Listen to the people of Torus Fortress..." Just when the commander's behavior in trying to control the situation finally improved a little, Cecilia's voice also rang and spread throughout Torus. Fortress, "The blood flag of the Void Empire is not aimed at you! We are aimed at the Wiles family! As long as you are willing to surrender, we will never wave a butcher knife against you! And as long as you are willing to help us catch the Wiles family People, especially Turin Wiles, I swear as a queen, no matter who you are, no matter what your previous status is, I will give you a very generous reward! ... And, any Wyle The heads of the members of the Si family can receive a reward from me, and this reward will vary according to their status and status!"

"Finally, let me say one more sentence! Those who descend will not kill!"

"Those who descend will not kill!"

"Those who descend will not kill!"

"Those who descend will not kill!..."

has completely established its footing, and has begun to advance towards the surrounding Void Empire army, constantly shouting the last words of Cecilia!

The momentum is like a rainbow!

Shocking!

"Everyone, don't be deceived!" The commander-in-chief of the Torus Fortress shouted hiss exhaustedly, "This is the enemy's trick! They want to kill each other to achieve their goal of reducing wear and tear! Don't forget the meaning of the blood flag!...we want to stay united...well!"

A bayonet penetrated the commander's chest and abdomen from behind.

The entire conference room fell into silence once again.

The commander lowered his head with difficulty, with an unbelievable look on his face, then he turned his head even harder and looked at the companion who pierced his body behind him-he remembered that this was a very special member of the Fascist Kingdom. The brave general, his majesty, the King who desperately protected the Kingdom of Fascism, fled all the way to this fortress. He still remembered that this companion had also been exceptionally promoted from a viscount to a duke.

"Why...for what?" The commander obviously couldn't understand.

There was no madness, no resentment in the general's eyes, and only calmness. His hands didn't even tremble at all. Obviously he had made a deep and firm will to his actions: "I want to live. I am. I don't want to die. Fascism has no future. I don't want to sit on this ship that is about to sink. I have a wife and a lovely daughter. I am willing to pay all the price for them, even if... I sacrifice my soul to the devil! "

The general's face showed a trace of perseverance, then he drew his sword and stabbed again!

This time, the part he pierced was the commander's heart, which completely ended his life.

Everyone looked suspiciously at the loyal minister of the kingdom who was evaluated by the fascist kingdom a few months ago as brave and unparalleled.

The loyal minister slowly drew out his saber, then turned around and looked at a middle-aged man in the conference room. At this moment, the middle-aged man's face was extremely pale, and he obviously knew his fate. The face turned back in horror, and at the same time waved his hands repeatedly: "No...don't kill me...no, please, for the sake of us...we have known each other for so many years...I..."

"It's useless." The general shook his head and stepped forward slowly. The people standing in front of him couldn't help but retreat to the sides, giving way to a straight road ahead. "You also heard...Queen of Phoenix just now What she wants is someone from your Wiles family. Anyone can! ... You have to blame, you can only blame you for being a member of the Wiles family, and it is important to be able to speak on behalf of Turin now figure."

"No...no...as long as you don't say it, no...no one knows...right? Right! Right! As long as you don't say it! As long as you don't say it!"

The bayonet was directly pierced into the body of this important figure in the Wiles family from the general's hand-originally he pierced towards the heart, but because of the opponent's dodge, the sword could not penetrate it. The heart, but it also caused absolutely deadly injuries.

Feeling the pain in his body and the rapid loss of his vitality, this important figure in the Wiles family also flashed a cruel expression: "Since you want me to die, then I want you to be buried! Ah ah Ahhhhhhhhhh!"

seemed to be the final counterattack from the dying beast. This important figure in the Wiles family, who was already obviously impossible to save, rushed towards the general, and the two quickly scrambled together. But apparently, this general is more powerful, but his enemy has suffered extremely fatal injuries and it is impossible to maintain it. Therefore, the general quickly kicked the opponent out and fell heavily to the ground.

But at this time, the general felt a tingling pain in his chest.

He looked down, but saw that a beautifully shaped dagger had been inserted in his heart.

The shape of this dagger gave him a sense of familiarity.

He finally recognized it vaguely. This dagger was a gift he gave to each other. As the important figure in the Wiles family said, the two of them had known each other for a long time, and they had been in friendship for more than ten years. Perhaps the middle-aged man is not good at force, but he has very good eloquence and brains. It seems that he can become a general because of the other party's credit.

"Aisa... Lil..." The general held his chest, staggered a few steps and then fell onto a chair in the conference room, murmured in his mouth, "Dear Aisha...I, I...Ilove you."

Finally, the general's eyes were completely broken.

The last scene in his consciousness was a scene of blood splashing through the retina.

The strange thing is that for this splash of blood, he actually knew clearly whose blood it was: the blood of a frontier earl, he has always been a staunch supporter of the Wiles family, and his family has always been It is the mainstay of the Wiles family faction.

Along with this splash of blood, the meeting room finally fell into a  chaotic killing.

No matter who it is!

No matter what status it is!

As long as you hold the head of a member of the Wiles family, you can exchange for generous rewards!

Since the heads of members of the Wiles family can be exchanged for rewards, what about the supporters of the Wiles faction?

What about the members of the noble families who support all the decisions made by the Wiles family and support the interests of the Wiles family?

Surely there is no problem, right?

must be possible, right?

There must be no problem!

It must be possible!

The flag of the Kingdom of Fascism, which has been flying for thousands of years, was finally burned tonight.

The history of the Kingdom of Fascism, which has been passed down for thousands of years, was finally annihilated tonight.

The pride of the fascist kingdom that has been maintained for thousands of years was finally shattered tonight.

Torus Fortress, the last symbol and pride of the fascist kingdom, was finally completely destroyed in the fourth fall.

Inside the fortress, there are screams everywhere.

The chaos and despair of the battlefield spread throughout the fortress.

But the most ironic thing is that the soldiers of these fascist kingdoms are not the soldiers of the Void Empire, but their own people a few minutes ago. Because no one knows in which direction the butcher knife will be swung from, perhaps from behind, or from the left or right. The so-called most trustworthy comrade-in-arms was trampled ruthlessly on this * night.

As a result, when the soldiers of the Fascist Kingdom shivered in the cold night wind, they watched their surroundings in despair and fear, and finally saw the soldiers of the Void Empire slowly advancing, their faces unexpectedly showed. A relaxed feeling of relief.

At this moment, surrender does not seem to be a difficult choice.

At this moment, treason does not seem to be a painful choice.

Miracle Calendar On September 7, 1882, all the royal families of the Fascist Kingdom were slaughtered in the Fortress of Thorus, officially proclaiming that the kingdom with a history of thousands of years has finally perished.

Empire of the Void, the name of Queen Cecilia Connery of Phoenix, officially resounded throughout the entire Marvel Continent.

Chapter 112: .The Feared Kane

With the war on the ground in full swing, and the path to the strong rise of the Void Empire can no longer be stopped, Sean, the true legitimate emperor and founder of the Void Empire, is still dangling in the underground world at this moment, looking for a way back to the surface. .

When on the surface, Sean is not an idle person. Many organizations and countries regard Sean as a lunatic, a troublemaker. Basically, wherever he passes, he can set off a * storm.

The underground world is originally a place where there is no order and rules at all, where various * events will erupt almost all the time.

Killing is already a way of survival in the underground world.

Especially for Sean, this kind of behavior that can kill at will as long as he has enough power makes Sean more handy, because this is the game method that players are good at. Unlike the surface world, when Sean wants to do something, he needs to consider other factors and situations. Therefore, he always feels a little restrained when he acts. Except during wars, most of the time Sean has to consider himself. The impact of every step of the way.

In the underground world, Sean doesn't need to think about that much. He can apply almost all the behaviors he had in the game that year directly in the underground world.

Throwing a person who is good at making blood and blood into a place that is already blood and blood, how terrible is the destructive power it produces?

This is probably not even Serena expected.

Perhaps, at the beginning, Serena wanted to drag Sean into the underground world and use the power of the blood clan to solve Sean's trouble. Of course, it is also possible to retaliate against Sean's destruction of the Mo Party's plan, or even a simple act of venting his anger.

It's just a pity that things didn't develop as Selena expected, but instead caused even greater chaos for the entire blood clan.

The war between the Mo Party and the Mi Party broke out again.

The fuse was the killing of the patriarch of the Capa clan-Hubble's fame is greater than Sean had imagined. Perhaps the little barons of the Capa clan didn't know it, but they described the image a little bit like that. After the reports were posted, Hubble's identity was immediately announced. After that, the Mi Party quickly found out that Hubble was not in the Luxemba clan, or even in the area of the Mo Party, and it was almost as if he had disappeared.

This made the entire Mi Party immediately realize the seriousness of the problem. They believed that Hubble must have been lurking in the Mi Party territory. So naturally a search operation was launched. Although Hubble was still not found, many traces of the Mo Party's activity were found in the Mi Party's territory, as well as many Mo Party and secrets that sneaked into the territory. Betrayers who took refuge in the Mo Party.

This naturally broke out countless small-scale conflict wars, and with the gradual escalation of the small-scale conflict wars, the war also came.

The war between the two major parties of the blood race, this is not just a problem of the holy blood race, the countless interest issues that it has caused are definitely enough to make the other big holy blood races be moved by it. Therefore, with the gradual expansion of this war vortex, the number of people who joined the blood race battle in this short half month is naturally getting bigger and bigger, and it is not just the game of the six holy blood races, even Other races in the underground world have also begun to get involved.

For the increasingly chaotic underground world situation, Sean naturally mixed better-the player is best at fishing in troubled waters. The more chaotic the situation, the easier it is for them to grab benefits, which can almost be said to be an instinctive behavior of them.

Since leaving the territory of the Capa clan, there have been as many as 30 or 40 official blood clans who have died in the hands of Sean.

He doesn't even care about whether the opponent is a secret party or a magic party. As long as he doesn't trouble him, he will solve it directly if he wants to trouble him. He doesn't even have time to talk nonsense. Digging for hemorrhage nucleus and leaving, the typical control and killing regardless of the burying style. However, it is precisely because of this that the situation between the Mi Party and the Mo Party has become more chaotic. Both sides believe that the other side sent an elite blood family to intercept and sniper.

In this regard, Xiao En, who knows nothing, is still trying to find clues to return to the surface world.

It's just that, this time he is not alone, but he is accompanied by a person.

Kane Capa.

A vampire who has just reached the rank of lord.

Vampires of this level are not cannon fodder in the entire blood clan, but they are no different from the lowest level coolies. Of course, the term cannon fodder depends on what level of blood clan members are used. If it's a grand prince like Serena, not to mention that Kane is just a small blood lord, even at the first level of viscount or earl, in her eyes it is also a thing that can be discarded at will.

However, there are potential and talents, maybe exceptions?

Xiao En has not yet understood how the geniuses and elites in the blood clan, and the high level of the blood clan, treat and arrange. And from Kane's mouth, Sean could hardly ask any news and inside stories about the upper blood clan, Kane knew only the simple cognition confined to the area around the Kappa clan, and the general common sense of the blood clan society as a whole. That's all, apart from that, Kane is no different from a mentally handicapped in Sean's eyes.

唔, maybe there is a difference? A mentally handicapped who will faint? ——Shaun glanced at Kane, who was looking exhausted, and couldn't help thinking.

If it weren't for Kane's presence that really made Sean easier, and without worrying about the trouble of surface identity being leaked, Sean would definitely be too lazy to take Kane on the road. The only comfort that can be regarded as the "torture" of the past half month, Kane has finally been promoted from a knight to a lord, and his physical attributes are almost comparable to those of the baronial kinsmen. This makes Sean Kane did not give up.

However, fainting blood has not been completely cured, and a new problem has arisen.

Cowardly and weak.

A dignified blood race, known as the most bloodthirsty horror race, it is actually weak, Sean really wants to open Kane's head to see if it contains paste.

"Master Zorro, we...where are we going?" Kane asked in a low voice, his voice interrupting Sean's thoughts.

Shaun gave Kane a sideways look, and he shuddered in an instant, his face didn't look very good.

Kane was not confident enough, because even in the Capa clan, his status was very low, probably just a little bit higher than the unconscious blood slave. But when he learned that Sean had solved an earl, two viscounts, and a dozen barons on his own, and even shocked that the Capa clan fled the territory overnight, Kane began to feel that he was dealing with some monster. .

After all, in the nearly two hundred years of Kane's life, the greatest rank he saw was the viscount of the patriarch of his clan. As for the count, he was even more like a legend. So Kane's Three Views were destroyed and reshaped by Sean. This is naturally a normal thing. It's just a thing that Sean didn't expect. Kane will actually become more timid, which makes Sean very upset. .

And then, in the small half-month when the two of them embarked on the trip together, Kane had personally seen how Shaun "dismembered" those blood races—almost every blood race that troubled Shaun would be affected by Shaw. Hun's torture, after all, Sean hadn't counted on Kane at all, so he could only obtain information about the underground world from other people.

It's just that this kind of picture is too shocking for a blood-conscious blood clan.

Kane's mental breakdown has not broken down, which has shown from a certain aspect that Kane does have some advantages.

is just the fear and fear of Sean, but at the same time it is deeply rooted in Kane's heart.

Therefore, Kane shuddered when Shaun glanced so casually.

"Let's go to the territory of the Morta clan first. Recently, the spread of war has been a bit large, and other underground races have gradually joined the war situation. If we don't want to be affected, we must leave the front line of the battlefield." Sean retracted his gaze, his heart He sighed helplessly, "But you can't do this in your current situation. I think I need to develop some targeted training for you."

"Will... still have to train?" Kane's facial features were almost crumpled.

"In the next itinerary, all the barons and enemies below the baron will be solved by you." Sean's voice was calm and light, but revealed an unquestionable taste, "You can rest assured, if there is a problem, I will do it too. I will take action. I will try my best to give you the space to play, and the only thing you need to do is to constantly kill your enemies and exercise your fighting ability and courage."

"Courage...?"

"That's right." Xiao En nodded, "You look like a solemn promise, you really don't look like a blood clan."

I am not scared by you yet! ——But Kane didn't dare to say this, he just bowed his head and said nothing.

Perhaps it is God's will.

Sean and Kane soon met their ideal opponent: a team of seven led by a blood baron. It looks like it is a patrol team arranged by nearby clans. After all, the scope of the war is spreading a bit. Therefore, in order to ensure the security of the territory and prevent the infiltration and infiltration of hostile clans, patrol teams are also arranged by the blood clans in various places.

The leader of this patrol is a baron. There is no lord under his command, only six knights. However, unlike ordinary blood races, these seven blood races are all wearing long swords, and their bodies are not very burly. On the contrary, they look more slender. Their eyes are sharp and their temperament is also full of confidence. Fearless.

This is a very typical swordsman temperament, just like the countless swordsmen that Sean has ever seen.

In Sean's impression, although the blood family is not almost forbidden to use weapons like the werewolves, but there are very few blood family using weapons. Because compared to using weapons to kill the enemy, the kinsmen are very similar in nature to the werewolves: they prefer to tear the enemy apart with their own hands, and experience the invigorating sense of venting and satisfaction.

When Sean and Kane discovered the patrol, the other side also found both Sean and Kane.

However, in view of the chaos of the current situation, there are often various asylum seekers running around in the underground world, so the other party's patrol did not take Sean and Kane to heart, just look at the appearance of the two men and women. , They only regarded Sean and Kane as suffering people seeking refuge.

Although the aura on Sean's body is a bit weird, who in the underground world has a breath that is not extremely weird? Coupled with Kane's real Lord of the blood, and he is not an ordinary member of the blood, obviously has a very strong blood, such people are often elite figures, so this patrol team did not come up. Ask for trouble.

After all, they are the regular patrol team of the nearby clans, they are not the kind of people who try to take advantage of the chaotic war situation, and they are not the Mojo assault squad that penetrated into the secret party territory-Sean and Kane. They are still here. The secret party was huddled in the turf and did not leave-so naturally they would not come up to trouble Shaun and Kane. However, routine interrogation is needed, so the other party quickly called Sean and Kane and asked them to cooperate in the routine interrogation.

Sean was very happy and walked over to meet each other, but Kane was sad.

This strange expression instantly makes the other party feel a subtle sense of disobedience.

The leading baron subconsciously put his right hand on the saber at his waist, his face looked a little solemn. After seeing the actions of their captain, the six kinship knights also made a vigilant move. A vigorous aura immediately radiated from the seven people into one body, and their oppressive force was actually faint. It is close to the viscount's demeanor and momentum.

"Oh?" Xiao En's eyes lit up suddenly, and he felt a little excited as if he had discovered a new world. "The momentum? Huh... I didn't expect to be able to see it here, hey, it's interesting. I don't know which clan belongs to. special power."

Different from Sean's obviously excited look, Kane was not weaker than the Viscount after seeing the momentum of the seven opponents connected together. Kane felt that his legs were trembling on the spot. Because he thought of the viscount patriarch in his clan, that majestic vibe, accompanied by his nearly one hundred and fifty years of growth, has been deeply imprinted in the depths of his soul.

"Who are you?" The baron shouted, "What are you doing in Tad's territory?...Stop!"

Looking at Sean and Kane's gradual progress without any intention of stopping, the baron couldn't help but snorted.

"The baron will leave it to you. I'll help you stop the knights." Sean ignored the opponent, but said to Kane sideways, "Oh, by the way, don't keep your hands. Otherwise you will be very unlucky."

Looking at Sean's last smile, Kane only felt bitter in his mouth, because he knew what Sean was planning to do without thinking about it.

These days, he has watched Sean's actions after showing this smile countless times.

The next moment, Sean instantly accelerated and crashed into the middle of the patrol team in the territory of the Tadez clan as Kane had expected. Before the baron could react, he only felt a soreness in his chest, and then his whole body flew out, and then fell heavily to the ground, standing next to him is exactly one. Kane with a gloomy face.

But before the baron stood up again, he saw a scene that made his eyes distraught: the six blood knights who followed him did not even have time to pull out the sword, and they all did it. Sean directly broke his neck bone and fell to the ground one after another.

With the death of these six blood knights, the aura that united the seven of them was completely interrupted in an instant, and the viscount aura exuding from the leading baron quickly fell back to his own baron level. And his face flashed with an inadvertent flush, which was obviously backlashed by some kind of power, but the backlash effect of this power didn't seem to be great, because Sean didn't feel the disorder of the other party's breath.

"Asshole!" The baron let out an angry roar, then quickly got up and drew his sword out of its sheath.

"You haven't shot yet?" Sean ignored the baron. A baron wouldn't let Sean look into his eyes. At least an enemy of Hubble's level was worthy of Sean's full shot. He still looked at Kane with a relaxed look.

At this time, the baron finally woke up and found that there was an enemy beside him.

So without saying anything, he swung his sword towards Kane with a single stroke.

Immediately afterwards, a scream suddenly sounded.

Even Sean frowned with a bit of horror: Kane was unsuspectingly cut through his clothes and chest with a sword from the opponent, and a * wound was clearly visible from Kane's right shoulder and left abdomen. It's just that as far as the blood race's physical ability is concerned, as long as the injury is not fatal enough, it can in fact be suppressed. Therefore, the wound on Kane quickly healed again, but the blood that has been lost is impossible. It's just a supplement.

This made Kane's face slightly pale, and he staggered back a few steps.

Kane's weakness was obviously something that was beyond the expectations of the baron of the Tardes clan. Because of his breath, he felt that Kane's strength would not be too far apart even if he didn't have a Baron rank, so he was ready to fight hard, but he didn't expect his opponent to be unexpectedly weak, which made this Baron's strength. A sharp look flashed in his eyes.

Then solve it first! ——At this moment, the baron had made up his mind to solve Kane first, because he found that another guy who seemed to be too strong had no plans to shoot, but looked like he was watching a play.

After making the decision, the baron's offensive against Kane became more and more fierce.

Chapter 113: . Momentum linkage

Sean yawned boredly, and then just sat there and watched the baron hang Kane.

In the eyes of Sean, this baron's strength is not very strong, not a genius or elite. Although he had a sword in his hand and the temperament of a swordsman on his body, he was not as fierce as a swordsman when he attacked, so that in Xiao En's eyes, the blood baron's sword skills were almost all flaws-just by using the sword. In theory, Sean believes that all the bronze swordsmen on the surface who specialize in swordsmanship can easily suppress this blood baron.

Of course, it refers to only swordsmanship.

If it is in terms of strength, there is still no comparison.

The explosive power possessed by the blood family of the baron rank is definitely stronger than that of the average lower level golden realm powerhouse. Only the lower level gold realm powerhouses like Levi, Rena, Sean, and Christina cannot be measured by conventional means. Only then can it be said that the victory is steady.

But what is special is that this is not the case with the Hemostatic race. Most of the creatures of the underground world races have stronger individual abilities than the surface humans—basically, they are stronger than the surface races of the same realm. According to the research of the madmen of the Heerson Institute, they found that this was because the blood of the inhabitants of the underground world was more pure, but no one knew how to make the blood more pure.

So the final explanation can only be attributed to blood.

According to the scientific research madman of the Helson Institute, the blood of the inhabitants of the underground world still maintains a considerable degree of activity, at least more than 5%. Combined with the residents of the surface world today, the bloodline activity is generally less than one percent, so the strength of the residents of the underground world can be imagined.

However, just watching Kane being slammed unilaterally, Sean was really bored: "You still have five minutes. If you can't solve this kid in five minutes, then you have to make sure that the next day will be very difficult. Painful preparation."

Kane's face changed slightly.

He knew very well that what Sean said was not a joke. If he really can't meet the requirements, then he will end up very poorly.

Among the options of suffering long-term torture and experiencing short-term pain, Kane undoubtedly chose the latter: he let out a frantic roar, and then ignoring the long sword that was close to him, he rushed towards the opponent fiercely.

Seeing this scene, Sean nodded secretly.

Kane may lack courage, appear timid, and even have the strange problem of fainting blood, but under the tutelage of Sean, he has also developed a kind of almost crazy behavior. Once he is driven to a dead end, he will completely show this madness, which often allows him to play a stronger strength, in popular terms, it is a little extraordinary.

Especially in the battle of the blood race, if the decisive result cannot be formed by directly hitting the key points, then the battle will often fall into a protracted combat situation of war of attrition. However, the blood clan is also very important to protect its core parts. Therefore, it is not an easy task to achieve decisive results by hitting the key points. Therefore, it is a crazy battle mode like Kane that suddenly ignores it. , Is often able to achieve good combat results.

Of course, the most important thing is that there are more battles in this situation, and the absorption and growth rate of combat experience is far more than the combat experience gained in ordinary combat.

However, the combat experience of this blood baron is not weak. Perhaps he is not much better than Kane in terms of personal qualities, but he has one more weapon than Kane, and the use of sword skills is also quite proficient. Therefore, in addition to the initial panic, when the situation was deadlocked, Kane's injuries increased, which was naturally extremely unfavorable for Kane.

But Sean did not mean to want to help.

"Dad, this kid doesn't seem to work anymore." The Black King said.

Today's Black King has been able to control the fluctuation of his voice very well. Although he still can't whisper, he is not like before. Once he opens his mouth, he is afraid that others don't know he can talk. At least at the moment when Kane and the blood baron were fighting, neither of them found the black king who was talking.

"Kane will last longer than you think." Sean said softly, "It's not going to kill him at this level.... Moreover, this guy is a spring. If you don't need to press it down, he will It won't bounce up. Look, it's probably the baron who is unlucky in the end."

"But Kane won't be any better." The Black King obviously curled his lips, and was completely disinterested in Kane.

As the guy Shaun has been training for the past two months, no one knows Kane's situation better than Shaun.

In fact, even if Sean knows that Kane will win in the end, Kane will definitely be hurt. However, this kind of naked life-and-death fight can cure Kane's faint and panicemia, because in the last half month, Sean asked Kane to help him to dig out the blood nucleus counts of other blood races. There are not many, so Kane has a certain adaptability.

Otherwise, Sean really dare not let Kane directly confront such a blood baron.

"At least not to die." Xiao En said lightly, and then stopped paying attention to the fighting situation here.

As long as Kane is immortal and will not be disabled, no matter how badly he is injured, it is still within the acceptable range of Sean. After all, during this period of time, he has collected a lot of blood cores, not to mention the blood of other blood races. Basically, as long as the blood races that fall into his hands, all valuable parts will be squeezed out and left to the Mo Party and the secret. The party's only had a blank corpse.

With the situation of the Mo Party and the Mi Party, it is natural not to know that someone is trying to provoke a larger-scale war.

But as for who they are, it is something that the Mozambique and the Secret Party cannot predict. After all, there are more and more races involved in the "jihad", and the situation is no longer the Mo Party and the Secret Party can decide with one word. of. Unless more than half of the six holy blood races reach an armistice agreement, then it is possible to stop this war, otherwise as long as a few of them want to continue, then this war will never stop.

Perhaps this is not a good thing for the Mi Party.

But for the Mo Party, it is definitely a good thing, anyway, they only need an excuse to provoke a war. And Sean did give them an excuse.

However, with the character of the Devil, if you know the truth, you will definitely not thank Sean, on the contrary, you will continue to send people to hunt down Sean.

Fortunately, the only person who knows the truth is probably the Scarlet Duke Serena of the Resenba clan. Hubble has not contacted her for almost half a month. As her most trusted confidant, Serena couldn't help but know what's going on. With her cunning, shameless and extraordinary thinking ability, she must have completely figured out the Mo Party. What was the real fuse of the sudden outbreak of war with the Mi Party?

But as Shaun said, the situation is that he is in the dark and Serena is in the light, so Serena wants to find Shaun again, but it is not an easy task.

She has lost her best time.

But this kind of thing, it can't be said that Serena was stupid and wasted such a great opportunity. It can only be said that the internal relationship of the blood clan is due to the fact that Serena failed to establish an action base on the surface, and also caused the destruction of the extremely secret path of the abyss, Serena's status in the Luxemba clan naturally plummeted. . It was truly unscientific for those who had enemies with Serena not to come out and fall into trouble, so naturally other people would not want Serena to hold power again.

Under such circumstances, Serena can mobilize a blood viscount to take action, even if this person is her direct power, this is really not easy.

It's a pity that Sean's situation is better than Serena had imagined.

So, Hubble died, and Sean disappeared completely.

The battle between Kane and the blood baron continued, and the wounds on Kane's body began to gradually increase, and his healing ability began to decline. This is obviously a phenomenon that the blood gas in Kane's body is no longer sufficient to maintain physical consumption. But Kane still did not give up fighting. He seemed to have completely lost consciousness. Every time he shot, he had to leave a scar on the opponent's body before he would give up. He had completely forgotten the pain, fear, and even the fear of blood. It also seemed to disappear.

Sean nodded quite satisfied. He felt that as long as he came a few more times, Kane would almost be able to cure the fainting problem.

After all, when Kane was soaked in blood for so long in that small town, the smell of blood should be almost used to smelling it. Once he got used to such a strong * smell, the * smell caused by the battle now was much weaker than before, and it was no longer able to form enough impact.

Just after a person gets used to heavy-tasting foods, suddenly eating some light ones will not feel delicious, but will only feel dull.

"Someone is coming, Dad." The Black King suddenly warned.

"Someone is coming?" Xiao En froze for a moment. He is injured now, and his perception range is not large, so if someone who is good at sneaking touches him, he is actually very dangerous. Therefore, the work of vigilance is currently It is the responsibility of the Black King, "How many people?"

"Four." The Black King replied.

It was almost as soon as the words of the Black King fell, Xiao En saw four figures swiftly approaching from a distance.

Their speed is not fast, but their figures are tens of meters away, and they are still a little fuzzy and air distorted. It seems that they have used some secret method to cover their figures. The most important thing is that these four people have almost no breath. In other words, it is obvious that he intends to lurking close. If it hadn't been for the perception and judgment of the Black King, Xiao En would have found these people within a hundred meters of his side, and given the strength of these people, the distance of one hundred meters would be the speed at which they exploded.

With a somewhat vigilant Sean in his heart, he also got up to face these people.

seems to have discovered their latent failure, and these people no longer sneak close, but instead rushed in the direction of Sean, and at the same time let their own aura completely emerge.

This is one of the favorite things of the blood family.

After all, kinship is a very hierarchical group, and the suppression of rank can often have a good effect, especially after being promoted to the upper kinship, the coercion formed will be more obvious and terrifying, and the lower kinship has almost Absolute suppression. Therefore, the battles within the kinship are often fights between people of similar strength, and the low-ranking ones rarely win the high-ranking ones.

The momentum of the opponent's four people completely emerged, obviously with this idea, because Sean saw that Kane's movements were obviously slowed down, which was the result of being suppressed by the opponent's momentum.

Four new kinsmen, one is a viscount and the other three are all barons.

This made Xiao En instantly judge that the Tadese clan is a fairly strong clan, and the patriarch is likely to be an earl or even a marquis. Of course, the possibility of earl is higher. After all, the rank of marquis is already considered as a relatively powerful member of the blood clan. Although the clan led by him is still just a declining clan in the eyes of some people, it is still not enough. It is despised.

And usually only the clan led by the patriarch of the earl rank can send a blood clan of the viscount rank to be responsible for patrolling the clan territory.

"Humph."

Sean hummed softly. Although he could only use the power of the upper gold without using special secrets and other abilities, this is probably only equivalent to the strength of the Viscount rank, but after all, Sean almost stepped into the upper sanctuary. People, so the use of momentum, domain, etc., naturally far exceeds that of people who have not yet entered the realm of the sanctuary. Therefore, even if it was just a cold snort, it was enough to deter the four new blood races from the opposite side, allowing Kane to regain a fairer fighting space.

The four new kinsmen felt the vibrancy of Shaun. The four looked at each other, and they seemed to feel that they had nothing to communicate with Shaun, so a very subtle blood aura radiated from the four in an instant. Come out, and then link together.

At this moment, the aura of the four people suddenly increased, and they had reached the peak point of the Viscount, and only a little bit they could have the aura and pressure not weaker than the Earl.

The momentum is linked!

Shaun raised his brows.

He already understood that the secret skills mastered by this Tades clan should be this kind of momentum linkage.

In the game, momentum linkage is a very special battlefield skill, which can only be mastered by the military system, or can only be launched in the guild battle mode, which cannot be played in ordinary battles.

The most famous momentum linkages are the "group charge" of cavalry arms and the "strategic magic" of mage arms. The former allows the cavalry troops to exert assault force as much as that of the knights; while the latter allows a group of magicians who can only use fireball skills to launch high-level magic such as fire rain overturning.

However, what is the specific situation of the momentum linkage of the underground world, Sean had not seen it in the game at the beginning.

In the surface world, Sean had never seen the momentum linkage, he thought that this real world did not have this special function. After all, he hadn't seen the charge of the cavalry and the knights before, and the entire cavalry force of tens of thousands was still defeated by the knights composed of hundreds of knights. If in the game, the cavalry unit that has mastered the group's charge ability is completely capable of opposing and undefeated against the knights that are ten times smaller than their own.

At the moment, what special effect capabilities the momentum of these blood races have, Xiao En does not know.

But the only thing that can be determined at the moment is that after the momentum of these four people is linked, the pressure alone has almost reached the level of the blood count. Although he still hasn't broken through this level limit, the coercion of every move still exerts some influence on Sean.

This made Sean couldn't help but look back at the baron who was fighting Kane.

Obviously, this baron has already discovered the arrival of his companion, so he does not want to continue to struggle with Kane, but wants to rendezvous with his companion.

This discovery made Xiao En understand that if this blood baron and the other four blood families were to join together, their auras would definitely reach the level of earls. Although I don't know what changes will happen once the opponent's aura reaches the earl's level, but intuition does tell Sean not to take risks.

"Kill the opponent, at least hold the opponent!" Xiao En shouted in a deep voice, "Once you let them meet, you and I will suffer!"

Chapter 114: .change idea

Shaun was extremely fast, and rushed towards the opposing team without hesitation.

No one knows the effect of momentum linkage better than him.

Although even if it is to connect the baron with the opponent, Sean can solve it, but that will make his injury slightly worse. You know, in order to deal with Hubble before, he forcibly stimulated his potential and made his own injury worse. It has been a little bit for half a month to get well. He doesn't want to slow down his recovery because of this. Because the cruel way of survival in the underground world has made Sean fully aware that only strength is the only guarantee for the underground world.

So, to be able to solve the opponent in an easier way, Sean does not need to waste time and energy at all.

The four newly arrived kinsmen apparently did not expect that Sean's reaction would be so intense. At this moment when they were a little surprised, Sean had already crashed into their attack circle.

also uses swords, but as the sword master, Sean's sword skills are obviously far beyond the opponent.

Facing the four long swords, he stabbed towards him, and Xiao En's toe was a little bit, and there was a very unnatural pause in his figure.

But it was this slight pause that made Xiao En not directly involved in the attack of the four long swords, but instead created a buffer. Immediately afterwards, there was Sean's counterattack like a violent storm, several sword shadows scattered and stabbed, and only a few soft sounds of gold and iron strikes were heard. The four blood races holding long swords retreated several steps, obviously. The shock was caused by Sean's strong attack.

Obviously, none of the four of them expected that Sean's power would be so strong, and they were a little bit astonished for a while.

But even more horrified, it was Sean.

The actual effect of momentum linkage is a strengthening effect similar to aura ability.

A group charge like a cavalry, which allows 10,000 ordinary cavalry to have the attack power of a thousand knights when charging, giving them the ability to fight against the knights. Of course, this is not to strengthen the individual combat ability of all cavalry, so this power bonus is only available when the cavalry unit initiates a charge, and there is still a big gap between the overall ability bonus of aura-type skills.

In Xiao En's view, the momentum of these blood races should be similar.

But through this match, Sean was able to determine that the situation was actually quite different from what he had imagined.

Among the four blood races, only one is a viscount and the other three are all barons.

For baron ranks like this, let alone three, even if a few dozen of Sean comes, they will be cut as vegetables, as melons.

But at the moment of the fight, Xiao En found that the four people were obviously the same in terms of power and speed, which was obviously that their strength had been enhanced. It would be nice to say that the power of the people connected with the aura is separated, but Sean can clearly feel that the strength of these people is not all separated, but all have been improved. At the moment, each of these four people has Has the strength not weaker than the peak of the Viscount.

This discovery made Xiao En a little grateful that he had obeyed his intuitive judgment and forced an attack without letting his opponent complete the rendezvous.

Otherwise, once the momentum of the five opponents is linked together, and when the five of them all have the strength of the Earl rank, it will be a real trouble.

After all, if it was just a flanking attack by one or two earls, Sean would be able to cope even if the injury occurred, but if there were flanking attacks by five earls, then Sean would have to pay a considerable price to be able to escape.

After revealing the opponent's strength with one blow, Sean had no idea to keep his hands.

A lunge rushed up again, and the long sword in his hand was lightly tapped, seemingly light and heavy, on the black long sword of a blood baron on the left.

Looking at Sean's sword, the strength should not be too strong, so the blood baron didn't use much effort to prevent Sean from cheating his sword. However, he did not expect that under the intersection of the two swords, Sean's strength was terrifying. This unprepared reaction instantly made him lose all the possibility of counterattack, and even his own attack was completely deflected. The long sword is inevitable. It ran into the blade of a nearby companion, causing his companion to be unable to attack.

And the sudden delay of these two blood family barons also caused the other two blood family's offensive steps to be deviated-the leading viscount and the other baron took a few steps forward and pulled away from the other two. A few steps away, this made a loophole in their attack network.

It is naturally impossible for Sean to let go of such a loophole.

At present, the strength of these four blood races is close to the level of earl rank, even if their swordsmanship skills are quite rough, but in the blessing of strength and agility, they are still not much weaker than Sean. When Sean was unwilling to aggravate his injuries, he could only rely on his personal combat experience and superb swordsmanship to solve these four blood races.

Without the slightest remaining hand, Sean has already used the potential of this body to the limit.

After artificially creating a flaw, Sean took a step back, and the long sword in his hand swung again. After opening the long sword of the viscount of the blood clan, his figure did not retreat but moved forward. The whole person was like a loach. Slide the opponent from the side.

While his body twisted, Xiao En also retracted the long sword in his right hand. It was obviously a long sword, but in Xiao En's hand it was as dexterous as a short sword.

The other  baron who attacked Sean with the  viscount had not yet figured out what was going on, he suddenly felt a tingling pain in his chest. Immediately before he could react, the fierce sword aura suddenly bloomed from his body, and directly tore the upper body of the blood baron to pieces, and the blood sprayed down like a drizzle.

And Xiao En did not take into account the  water on Lin's body. Turning around with a sword, he was once again entangled with the angry viscount.

This time of confrontation, Sean was completely convinced of one thing.

The momentum of these blood races is linked together, and it really can produce a powerful amplification effect. Moreover, once the linkage is generated, the strength of all the blood family members connected together can be improved. Although the specific upper limit of the number is not known, it is currently determined by Sean that it is formed by a viscount and four barons. Linkage of momentum can break through to the level of earl rank.

However, it is not too difficult for Sean to crack this kind of momentum linkage.

As long as you can kill one of the members who have generated the momentum linkage, although the momentum linkage will not be cracked, this power increase will be weakened.

is like now.

When Sean confronted the viscount again, he clearly felt that the opponent's strength and agility had been weakened a lot, and there had been a significant gap between his own strength. It's no longer the same as before, completely in a state of peak and critical point, making Sean feel a bit tricky-this is also the reason why Sean would choose to kill a blood baron first as a breakthrough point, because he is convinced that this is not caused. The strength that I have exercised step by step cannot be easily controlled.

Of course, in addition to this breakthrough point, Sean's skill in using the sword is also a key turning point.

At the moment when he fought with the sword of the Viscount, Sean not only blocked the opponent's attack, broke the opponent's defense, interrupted the opponent's change of moves, and even grasped the only gap in the hole and bludgeoned in—this series of attacks. The coping skills fully demonstrated Sean's deep understanding of sword skills, as well as a high degree of grasp of strength and agility.

At the moment when Sean avoided the long sword of the blood viscount for the second time, and was ready to make a decisive contribution to take the opponent down, two long swords were stabbed diagonally on both sides at the same time, and they flew towards Xiao En's waist and ribs.

If Sean still wants to kill the opponent's blood viscount, then Sean's waist and ribs will inevitably be hit. This position is not to mention the human body, even for the blood race, it is considered a more important vital part, because as long as the angle is slightly higher, it can directly hit the heart through the ribs. Even if it is not a sharp weapon attack, but an attack method such as a fist, it can still cause concussion damage to the heart.

Sean knew that after killing an enemy, he had already won a lot, but he was still unwilling to give up this rare attack opportunity.

Of course, the most important thing is that with the weapons of these two blood barons, he can't be injured.

Seeing Xiao En's wrist shook slightly, he unloaded the blade of the opposite Viscount with a very unique force. Immediately after the force of the wrist, the black king was like a poisonous snake in Xiao En's hand. The blade was slightly twisted, and a peculiar traction was generated from the blade in an instant. The viscount of the blood family obviously felt his own power. Being dragged, his face showed a horror. At this moment, it was not easy for him to get rid of Sean's entanglement.

It's just that he was just as straightforward, loosening the hilt of the sword without hesitation, and wanted to retreat quickly as soon as he moved.

But how could Sean give up this attack opportunity.

Before the power of the viscount of the other blood clan had completely exploded, Sean took the lead and stepped on his feet, and the Black King suddenly stabbed the blood clan like a poisonous snake flying out. Viscount's chest and abdomen. In the unbelievable look that the other party showed, Xiao En suddenly swung his sword upwards, and the sharp sword aura broke out of the viscount's body, tearing the viscount's corpse into two pieces on the spot.

But because of Sean's deliberate attention this time, his blood core was not destroyed.

At the same time, when Xiao En pierced the opponent's chest with a sword, the long swords of the two left and right blood barons also pierced Xiao En at the same time.

But unlike what they imagined, the two swords did not directly penetrate Xiao En's body, not even the epidermis. In their unbelievable look, they saw a silver luster on the surface of Sean's skin, and it was this silver-plated luster that blocked the attack of the blood baron.

Magic Seal. Silver Scales!

One of the special abilities that Sean acquired a long time ago.

It's just that as Sean's opponents become stronger and stronger, the battle has become a high-paced and fast battle aimed at fatal injuries, so this kind of small means gradually loses its meaning. But Sean hasn't used it for a long time, but it doesn't mean that he really forgot these skills. Sometimes in some special circumstances, he still has a great surprise effect, and the less he uses it, the fewer people have seen it. , This also means that fewer people know about Sean's cards and abilities.

did not turn around, after Xiao En blocked the attack of the two blood barons, he drew a backhand directly to the side.

Under the horror of the blood baron, he hurriedly returned to the sword to block, but the black long sword, which was reasonably hard, was cut directly by Sean!

In this world, apart from artifacts and specially reinforced weapons, there is no weapon that can withstand the black king's slash!

If so, double click!

Along with the sword being directly cut off, the head of the blood baron was also cut off.

Blood gushes out from the neck of this blood family like a fountain.

There is still a kinship baron who wants to escape at this time, it is too late. After losing the special ability bonus of momentum linkage, it was not a lot of trouble for Sean to solve such a blood baron. It can be said that he almost effortlessly beheaded this blood baron on the spot.

Except for the first blood baron who died in the hands of Sean to break the momentum, Sean did not keep his hands, the blood cores of the other two blood barons and the blood family viscount have been preserved. The only regret is that It was that Sean couldn't collect the blood on their bodies, so they had to deal with a few corpses to speed up their blood loss and prevent the blood clan from sending people to investigate and found clues about him.

After solving the four kinship members who came to support, Xiao En turned around, only to find that the battle on Kane's side was also over.

is different from the situation that Sean expected to end up with him in the end.

Although Kane was wounded all over, and even his abdomen was penetrated by the long sword of the opposing baron's blood, but Kane really killed the opponent with his personal strength. He is holding the opponent's blood core in his left hand, and his fangs have penetrated into the opponent's neck blood vessel, sucking in the opponent's blood-in Sean's eyes, Kane's injury is showing the naked eye. The visible speed quickly recovered.

Especially in his eyes, the scarlet color unique to the blood race appeared.

This is the first time that Kane has taken the initiative to draw the blood of other blood clan members, especially if the opponent is a baron, whose blood nourishment is more effective than ordinary creatures. Of course, if it weren't for Kane's physical fitness, it's not necessarily worse than the baron's blood. If he rushes to ingest blood from a blood clan member of a higher rank, it will only cause extremely serious damage to a blood clan, and nothing will happen. benefit.

But Shaun doesn't care about that.

What he really cares about is the madness that Kane broke out in this battle, and that he finally broke through the psychological barrier and started to * blood without any resistance.

This is a real blood race!

"Dad, I always feel that that kid seems to have a nervous breakdown." But the Black King always likes to say something that doesn't fit the atmosphere.

Although Sean also felt that Kane was probably in a state of mental breakdown, so he made this kind of behavior that belonged to the "real blood". But Sean was more willing to believe that after having this experience, Kane would not resist and reject this behavior in the future. In a sense, Kane's haloemia was completely cured.

"It doesn't matter so much, whether this kid has a mental breakdown or not, it makes no difference to us." Sean looked back at several corpses lying on the ground and the blood all over the floor." The underground world is more cruel and * than I expected, especially after the war broke out. It seems that I must change my previous thinking."

"What do you mean?" The Black King asked.

"Meaning, I must first find a doctor or someone with the ability to treat, and then heal the injury on my body first." Xiao En said angrily, "Otherwise, I can only play out in my current state. Equivalent to the strength of the Viscount, when encountering a stronger opponent, I have to work hard to aggravate the injury to be able to solve the opponent.... But in the entire underground world, perhaps there are not too many enemies of the order of the prince and the grand duke, but the earl, Marquis and other ranks are certainly not few."

"Then...how to cure it?" The Black King asked.

Shaun glanced at the Black King silently, gritted his teeth: "Anyway, let's find a town first!"

Chapter 115: .Chaser

On a slightly messy wilderness, four men in black dresses are surrounded by a middle-aged man in dark red and floor-length robes.

This middle-aged man has short black hair, and his facial features are different from the typical high hip-bone contours of the common blood. The outline of this man's facial features are softer, more similar to the Chanas on the surface-if it weren't for his red pupils.

The middle-aged man wears a white lace shirt inside, with slightly fluffy cuffs, a small black vest, and a pair of slim black trousers on the lower body. Unlike other blood races who are very particular about dressing and dressing, the middle-aged man's shirt is not received in his pants, but is released, and the whole person looks a little sloppy. He didn't wear a tuxedo jacket. What he was wearing was the dark red floor-length gown—not so much a robe, but a windbreaker.

The aura of this middle-aged man is particularly strong, even if he is not surrounded by the four blood viscounts, he will definitely be the most dazzling one in this wilderness.

This is a blood count.

Moreover, he belongs to the extremely powerful blood count, and he is not much better than Hubble.

But it is different from Hubble, because this blood count is not an elite from the thirteen clan, he is just a blood clan from a middle clan. In a sense, this is a true blood genius, both talent and potential are far above Hubble.

Tibone Tades, one of the leaders of the younger generation of the Tantric faction.

However, compared to several other leaders from the Thirteen clans in the Tantric faction, Tiburn, a blood clan who is not from the Thirteen clans, naturally has a stronger appeal and influence. To describe it in the words of the surface world, it means "this is a hero from the civilian class."

Although Tiborn did not break common sense, facing the geniuses from the thirteen clans, he would still be affected by the coercion of blood and energy, but this did not prevent him from becoming a leader of the younger generation, nor did it prevent him from becoming a leader in many of the younger generations. The terrible appeal and influence possessed by the small and medium clans.

Tades clan, stronger and more dangerous than Shaun imagined.

Standing on the wilderness, Tiburn glanced around.

In his line of sight, there are ten bodies of members of the Tades clan.

Includes a viscount, four barons and five knights.

The identity of the five knights is not to be mentioned, but the sacrifice of four barons and one viscount is a great loss even for the Tades clan.

After the thirteen clans, the blood clan has created no ten thousand but eight thousand clans, which belong to three major factions. But after these clans have undergone hundreds of thousands of years of changes, they are naturally strong and weak, and even many big clans that were once so strong and not necessarily worse than the 13 clans have now been annihilated in the long river of history. Except for the thirteen clans, no blood clan can guarantee that its clan will prosper forever, because a sudden war is likely to weaken countless powerful clans.

If you want to ensure the prosperity of a clan, you must ensure that the successor of each generation of patriarch in the clan must reach the level of a duke.

Because the founder of the clan is a grand duke between the duke and the prince-this is not a symbol of strength, but a symbol of honor, symbolizing that this blood clan has the ability to create a clan. So often the first founders of the clan are extremely powerful, but whether a clan can maintain and develop for a long time depends on the potential level of the second and third generations of the clan.

Once the next successor fails to reach the Duke level, then this means that the clan has begun to decline. Although the rank of Marquis is not weak, for the scale of the entire underground world, the rank of Marquis barely belongs to the high-level level-but this position is actually very embarrassing, it belongs to the high level. Sequence, of course, if you want to speak nicely, it can be said that it is not inferior, more than inferior.

And below the Marquis, in the blood society, it belongs to a relatively general category, and it can be regarded as a clan that barely has a certain status. As for the second level, the clan ruled by the viscount is a cannon fodder like the blood slaves to the entire kinship society. Basically, this kind of clans are ultimately unavoidable from being annexed, that is, the Mi Party's attitude is slightly more moderate, so there will be a living space for the Viscount clan. If it were changed to the Mo Party, it would have been annexed by other clans. NS.

And those who can be called big clans, there must be a blood clan powerhouse with the rank of prince sitting in the clan.

The reason why the Thirteen Clans surpassed all the clans in the entire blood society is because they have elders of higher rank than the prince, that is, the "eternal sleepers".

Tibone's high hopes are because of his extremely high assessment of potential: as long as he does not die, his future achievements will be at least a duke, and it is even possible to attack the prince. Once Tibone can become a prince, then the Tades clan will become a new big clan in the blood society. Even if Tiborn cannot become a prince in the end, the rank of the duke is enough to ensure that the future status of the Tadez clan will never be low.

But the future belongs to the future, and the present belongs to the present.

Before the Tades clan became a powerful clan, the sacrifice of a viscount and four barons was still a heavy price.

The entire Tades clan also has ten viscounts, and the jihad has broken out at the moment, and the territory of the Tades clan is considered to be on the front line of the war. How big the impact of the sacrifice of a viscount will be can be imagined. And know.

Tiburn narrowed his eyes, not knowing what he was thinking.

But he didn't speak, and the four people standing behind him also didn't dare to speak, they just stood so quietly.

The scene seemed a little weird for a while.

But this weirdness didn't last long, and a small bag of soil soon swelled up in front of Tibone. Immediately afterwards, a pale-skinned hand suddenly broke out of the ground, and the scene looked a bit horrible: I saw the hand that broke out of the ground touched the ground for a few times, and then the other hand followed. Breaking out of the ground, holding the ground with both hands, it seemed that with a strong support, a human head came out from the ground.

The person who came out of the ground had a pale complexion, but it was not that white and delicate, but a sickly color. It's just that there is some dirt on his body at the moment, so he looks a little embarrassed, very funny.

It's just that among the five people present, except for a hint of a smile on Tiburn's face, the four standing behind him were not even laughing. They didn't even dare to show a smile.

Because this person who got out of the soil is also a genuine blood count!

"You laugh, don't help me quickly." The person who got out of the soil looked at Tiborn with a smile on his face, and did not curse politely.

Tibone was still smiling, but he stooped and pulled the opponent, pulling the opponent straight up from the soil. Then he watched the other person slapping the dirt on his body. After everything was cleaned up, Tibone asked, "How?"

But seeing the blood count burrowing out of the soil shook his head and said in a deep voice: "Old hand, all the blood cores were either dug out or completely smashed. The blood was also put very clean. I guess it should be left behind. It's too late to deal with.... There is hardly any use of memory backtracking."

"Can't even you?" Tiborn suppressed the smile on his face and replaced it with a serious face.

The abilities possessed by the blood clan are bizarre. No one knows what rules the birth of these abilities follows, because even the children born to the same clan and the same pair of parents have different abilities.

Like the  earl who drilled out of the soil in front of him, his special ability is not suitable for combat, but it is also a very important ability. He can directly start the memory backtracking with a little blood, unlike other blood races that need to use blood to cooperate with the blood nucleus. Of course, for this blood family count, it is not all blood. The closer you are to the heart or even the source blood, the more memories you can read.

There are ten corpses of members of the Tades clan in this wilderness. Although their blood has been emptied, they are actually infiltrated into the wilderness. When he was drilling the ground just now, he was actually looking for the blood of these members in the geological formation, and then used the blood he collected to trace back the memory to determine the identity of the murderer.

is just the result, but not ideal.

"I haven't seen the specific memory, but there are some clues."

"Oh?" Tiborn raised his eyebrows, "What clue."

"There are two murderers, and the strength of one is not worth mentioning at the moment, but it should be seen as a guy with amazing potential." The * earl who has a special memory backtracking ability said, "But the other is stronger. It's a bit too much.... The memory is very vague, and I don't see it really. I feel more emotions are fear and fear. This man uses a sword, and his swordsmanship is extremely strong.... I'm afraid, above you."

Tiburn's face changed slightly, frowned and said: "Is it the blood? The Devil?"

"It looks like it should be a blood clan, but it is hard to say whether it is the Devil Party or the Parliament who wants to fish in troubled waters." The earl shook his head slightly, "but I can't determine whether the opponent is a hunter or a coincidence. In all the memory pictures, there is nothing. If you can see his true face, all you can leave behind is a back.... Well, his sword is also quite unique."

"Give me a picture." Tiborn said.

The other party didn't say anything, just stretched out the index finger of the right hand, and then forced a drop of blood at the fingertip.

The blood color is bright red, and it exudes a peculiar smell.

The four blood viscounts standing behind Tibourne just smelled it slightly, and the Adam's apple was surging. But they also knew that this drop of blood was not something they could meddle with, so despite the unnatural urgency on their faces, they didn't dare to make the slightest movement.

and Tiburn stretched out his hand, took the drop of blood and sucked it in his mouth.

Soon, countless incomplete images began to flash through his mind.

In , there are scenes of Sean swinging a sword to kill members of the Tadez clan, as well as scenes of Kane and the blood baron fighting to death. But Kane's face can still be seen more clearly. After all, his fight with the baron is a real death fight. There are not many face-to-face situations, especially in the last scene where Kane bit the opponent's blood vessel and sucked. How can this baron's blood and vitality, such a resentful scene be forgotten?

But compared to Kane's clarity, Sean's picture looks a little strange. Basically, every scene has only one sideways or back, and you can't see the true face at all. The only thing that can make a clear impression is the shadows of the swords and swords, as well as the fears and fears left in the hearts of the people who were easily resolved by Sean. Shocked.

After all the memories had disappeared in a flash, Tibone slowly opened his eyes.

However, his red eyes suddenly flashed with light, which made his eyes look more brilliant red.

Of course, no one had seen this scene except the blood count standing face to face with him.

"Did you see it?" The other earl tilted his head, a little curious, because he knew Tiburn's special abilities.

Tiburn is not a pure blood in the true sense, but can only be regarded as a semi-pure breed. However, compared with other semi-purebred parents who are all newcomers, Tiburn's achievements are already much higher than the average person, because his mother is a true pureblood, and it is said to be from Belgium. The more powerful clan of the Tades clan, it is even very likely to be the next generation of the thirteen clan.

Of course, not many people know the truth, because Tiburn's origin is said to be a small accident-his father is a first-time kin of Tades, but because he is quite handsome, he is also famous. It was said that I met a woman of the blood family with extraordinary temperament while going out on an adventure. After the two looked at each other, some very subtle stories naturally happened, but after that adventure, the two sides never met again.

It wasn't until ten years later that Tiborn's father suddenly received a letter asking him to go somewhere, and then he took Tiborn, who was just born at the time, back. After a series of careful cultivation, Tiburn did live up to expectations, and finally gradually gained the fame and status it is today. It is a pity that his father died unexpectedly during a trip, and he did not mention it from beginning to end. Byrne revealed who his mother was.

Hundreds of years have passed since then. Of course, Tiborn will not think about who his mother is anymore.

Has been promoted to earl, he already has a very lofty prospect in the Tades clan. As long as he can be promoted to the marquis, he can immediately take over the position of the head of the Tades clan and officially become the leader of the Tades clan. As for the old patriarch, of course, he retreated to the second line and became a high-ranking member of the Tadez clan.

One of the special abilities that Tiborn possesses is the blood pupil.

His eyes can analyze some very unique clues, and can even accurately determine the opponent's attack trajectory and traces of fluctuations such as mana.

Therefore, when the earl with a special memory backtracking ability saw the bright red eyes of Tibone, he knew that Tibone must have found some clues that he hadn't found.

"It should not be the blood." Tiborn said with a smile, "Those swordsmanship... are more like the sword skills of the surface world. The queen of the Resenba clan seems to have caused a major incident on the surface before, which led to the whole The path of the abyss is shattered, and it is very likely that Her Majesty brought in someone from the surface world."

"You mean..." The count's face changed slightly.

"Don't you think this time the jihad broke out very strange?" Tiburn chuckled, with a little disdain in his eyes, "The Mo Party invaded the secret party's territory? Don't say anything else, Hubble is on the Mo Party's side. His status is only higher than mine. What important thing is there in a small Kappa clan that he should personally take? Obviously, Hubble's actions were instigated by the Queen of Resenba, but by that. The surface guests were taken advantage of, so it became the fuse for the outbreak of the jihad."

Tiburn put the accent on the word "guest".

"Then we should tell the council about this..."

"Let the parliament stand on our side?" Tiborn laughed a little coldly. "It's useless, now the situation of the war has been completely chaotic. It can't be ended if one side wants to end it.... And the Devil's party is basically. I didn't intend to let our secret party go. They are probably the guys who want to fight the war most."

"Then what shall we do now?"

"You go back first, I'll chase the other person." Tiborn said, although his tone was flat, but there was something beyond doubt. Her Majesty the Queen suffers. Who is the well-deserved first person in our new generation. Compared with her, the outside world called us why the leader of the new generation is simply a humiliation to us... How many people are in hers She suffered a big loss, and she didn't even have the qualifications to turn over.... Hey, she was so ugly this time, now it's a big joke."

"I heard that the Luxemba clan intends to strip her of the name of the Grand Duke."

"That's just a rumor, the thirteen clans are not so stingy." Tiburn said, "but it's true that Her Royal Highness is having a hard time now. The Resenba clans are obviously planning to marry her, hey, It is said that the object is the tyrant of the Giovanni clan.... Well, the Scarlet Queen and the tyrant are very good match."

"The attitude of the Giovanni clan has always been very ambiguous, and it is erratic between the parliament and the Demon Party. It is estimated that this time it is the Luxemba clan who intends to completely tie the Giovanni clan to the Demon Party's chariot."

"Anyway, the things that big people want to think about have nothing to do with us." Tiburn said, "No one can leave calmly after hurting our Tadez clan.... This account will be personally pursued by me. . You are not good at fighting, so I asked the four of them to send you back first.... After returning, tell the patriarch that the opponent is very strong and there is no need to send me reinforcements. First, deal with the provocations from the stinky dogs from the north."

"You have to be careful." Without dissuasion, another earl present spoke up.

"I see."

Chapter 116: .Into the city

The underground world is extremely vast. In addition to the six holy blood races representing the highest power and status symbols, there are many other races in the underground world. For example, cavemen, underground demons, crypt demons, underground goblins, and other humanoid creatures, and even crypt ice beads, crypt spiders, cave worms and other biological races with a certain degree of wisdom, and even Killer rabbits, giant bees and other exotic animals.

Because the temperature of the underground world is constant, there is no seasonal division such as spring, summer, autumn and winter. The only difference is day and night, so apart from some differences in the living environment, the underground world is actually a scene of mixed living.

All territories are divided according to clans and ethnic groups. The stronger the clans and ethnic groups, the larger the territory they own. Other people living in this territory can only be regarded as vassals of this clan or ethnic group, especially those villages and towns that have set up gathering places, and they must pay tribute according to the facts in exchange for peace and freedom in the gathering place.

Only small clans like the Kappa clan will lose control of the territory.

And the helm of the Tades clan is actually not just an earl as Shaun guessed, but a real marquis-level blood clan, so the territory he controls is much larger than Shaun imagined. There are a total of six earl-level blood families in the entire Tades clan, as well as a blood-clan with thirteen viscount levels—it should be twelve now—and the number of barons is more than a hundred, not to mention. The lord and the knight are now. However, to calculate the actual high-level combat power of a clan, usually only the blood clan above the viscount level is calculated. Therefore, the six earls and thirteenth viscounts are the real high-level combat power of the Tadez clan, and it is also to ensure that the entire Tadze clan can An important guarantee for a firm foothold in the secret party faction.

Of course, the most important thing is the existence of Tiborn Tades.

Although this blood family is only an earl rank now, his upper limit of future potential guarantees that he can at least become a blood duke, and even if he is diligent enough and a little luck, it is not a prince. Impossible.

This is the real reason why the Tades clan is not a big clan now, but there are many blood clans in the Tantric faction that treat it as a big clan.

Of course, if you switch to a faction of the Mob, then the situation is likely to be different.

A genius of the young generation of blood clan is enough to make many big clans fight to break their heads-they will not let such clan grow up, but will do everything possible to annex blood clan with young genius, this is also the Mo Party and The biggest difference between the secret party is.

Sean didn't know that his estimate of the Tadez clan was wrong.

In fact, when the entire underground world is involved in war, if you are not very familiar with the situation in the underground world, you can never judge the strength and background of a clan, tribe, or group based on what you see. . After all, the larger the territory of a clan, the more places it needs to guard, so the power will definitely be scattered. For example, the Tades clan is at war with a werewolf tribe at this time.

This is the real reason for Shaun's miscalculation of the Tadez clan.

Kane only knows some basics of common sense. For this guy who has never left the Kapar clan's castle for more than two hundred years, Sean really has no hope. Many things were based on some of Kane's descriptions and his own experience for more than half a month. As for the guys who died in Sean's hands, they basically didn't bring any useful news to Sean.

For this, Sean is actually quite helpless.

Although Sean is not very familiar with the underground world, at least he still has a wealth of adventure experience. So after killing people in the territory of the Tades clan, Sean took Kane away all the way, occasionally passing through some villages and towns, and they were short-term replenishment of resources immediately, unless they were really exhausted. For staying and lodging, as for buildings such as cities, Sean is very respectful.

Don't even want to get close, let alone enter the city.

After traveling like this for more than a week, after Sean felt that he should have left the territory of the Tadez clan, Sean took Kane to a small town.

Underworld, there is an unwritten rule.

A gathering point formed by wanderers and some small forces or deliberately operated, its scale can be expanded unlimitedly, as long as the tribute can be paid, and the clans within the jurisdiction will not ignore it. However, these gathering points are absolutely not allowed to build cities. They can only maintain the scale of the gathering points forever, and even some items are not allowed to be traded and sold casually.

If you want to expand the gathering point into a city, you must accept the control of the clan. And there are also such cities that can purchase some things that are not sold at the gathering point, and even see some things that are also only available in big cities.

This is also the reason why Sean didn't enter the city before.

He just killed members of the Tades clan in the territory of the Tades clan, and he also heard about the blood clan's weird methods from Kane and the blood clan killed by him in the last half month. Maybe they just Have a means to track yourself. However, any method has a timeliness, as long as this timeliness is passed, there will be no more problems, so what Shaun thinks at this time is to leave the territory of the Taddes clan first.

He knows very well that if he really wants to heal his injury completely, he must go to the city.

Because only cities can have medical centers, gathering points do not allow medical centers to exist. This is also a guarantee for the clans of various territories to control their own territories.

So after more than ten days of driving, Xiao En finally took Kane into the city.

The name of the city is also very complicated. Sean has already discovered that none of the cities in the underground world has a short name. It seems that the longer the name, the better. But the meanings expressed over and over are actually only a few, what hope, dawn, the future, etc., and occasionally new singularities will also be domineering, domineering, and invincible. This makes Sean very disgusted with the taste of the inhabitants of the underground world. .

"Even the grassroots of the public on the surface world would not have such a boring name." When Sean entered the city, after listening to Kane's translation of the city name, he curled his lips in disdain.

But after entering the city, Xiao En did not rush to the hospital immediately, but began to wander around the city.

This is an adventurous habit that Sean used to develop in the game. Whenever he goes to a new city, he will first visit the city and remember the route map of the entire city. Because in the game, only a few cities have safety zones, and almost all other cities do not have safety zones. You can perform PK operations as long as the guards don't see them, so in order to avoid trouble And risk, all players in the game have developed good behaviors that are familiar with all the layout of the city.

"Where are we going? Lord Zorro." Kane finally couldn't help but ask after wandering behind Sean for a long time.

Shaun looked back at Kane.

Since he fought to the death with a baron of the Tades clan that day, and drew the blood and vitality of the opponent, Kane's temperament has undergone a great change. The whole person is much calmer, unlike the previous one who looks a little cringe, and doesn't need to be told by Sean. He himself will insist on physical training and hunt some alien beasts, even monsters, and the whole person seems to be immersed in it. In battle.

At first, Sean only thought that Kane had cured his dizziness and fear and weakness, but after watching Kane's battle once, Sean knew something was wrong. To paraphrase the most often said by the Black King, that is that Kane was broken.

Now once he enters a state of combat, Kane will fall into a state of madness. And for the scene of blood flying and blood splashing, he will be particularly enthusiastic-before Sean saw Kane drag the prey back, he was incomplete, and thought it was just a difficult battle, but when he saw Kane It was only after the ruthless hand that these prey were tortured to death by Kane.

From extreme fear and weakness, to extreme madness and cruelty, Kane obviously embarked on a diametrically opposite extreme road.

The only constant is that Kane still maintains a fear of Sean. Even though it looks respectful and polite on the surface, Kane still dare not look at Sean. Deep in his eyes, there is a deep fear and fear of Sean. It is obvious that Sean's torture to Kane remembered him. profound. But Sean may not have noticed it, but the Black King has already observed that Kane's actions to torture his prey clearly mimicked the actions of Sean to Kane two months ago.

This is also the reason why the Black King keeps saying that Kane was broken by Sean.

Of course, playing bad is playing bad, but Kane's strength growth is also extremely obvious.

Different from the growth methods of other races, the growth method of the blood race is to cultivate blood cores. As long as the blood core can be supplemented with a sufficient amount of blood to allow the blood core to continue to grow, the strength of the blood family will grow extremely fast, especially after reaching the Viscount rank, when the blood gas can be stored in the body, the blood core will start to proceed. The state of endless automatic growth, and at the same time, it begins to feed back to the host's body, increasing the host's combat ability.

However, this growth method does not just need to keep sucking blood. The blood nucleus has a critical point of endurance at each stage. Once the critical point of endurance is reached, the blood nucleus will begin a new adaptation stage, which is the so-called self-reform state. In this state, the general blood race will choose to enter the dormant state to avoid fighting and excessively violent exercise, which will lead to the failure of blood core transformation.

However, Kane obviously did not have this kind of consciousness.

The continuous battle over the past ten days and the death battle with the baron of the Tadès clan has allowed Kane to successfully enter the baronial status. Of course, there is Shaun's previous training for Kane, but more of it is Kane's own potential and excellent qualities, as well as his own physical fitness and level that is not weaker than that of Baron.

Kane has been only a knight for more than two hundred years, but in just two months, he has become a baron from a knight. This kind of strength growth rate is definitely unique for the whole blood family.

Similarly, this also made Sean understand one thing: The blood pool method used for Kane before can definitely improve the physical fitness of the blood race. Moreover, the increase in this method of improvement is probably not small. Because of the real eye, Sean can see that Kane's physical fitness is increasing almost every day. According to the current situation, it may not take two months. In time, Kane will reach the limit of the baron rank, and then try to break through the viscount rank.

The only thing that Sean can't confirm is whether Kane's current physical condition is due to accumulation, or is it a factor in the transformation of the blood pool. If it is the former, then all the results must wait until Kane is promoted to Viscount before he can be judged; and if it is the latter, Sean feels it is necessary to go to the castle of the thirteen clan to see the blood pond. What kind of substance is it?

But the most important thing right now is the recovery of his own injuries.

After the underground world entered a state of war, the degree of danger increased geometrically, which made Sean realize the importance of strength.

At this time, Kane asked, and Sean had already visited the whole city almost, so he said, "Let's go to the hospital."

"Which medical clinic shall we go to?" Kane asked.

Wandering along this road, Kane knew that there were three medical clinics in the whole city, which were located in the east, south and central areas of the city. Although the three medical clinics seem to be the same, two of them have obvious kinship styles, and they are obviously established by kinsmen; but the one in the city center is unique and exquisite in shape and color. Mainly in dark colors, this is obviously a medical hall opened by an elf, but I don't know if it is a dark elf or a blood elf.

"Let's go to the city center to see the situation first. This is also closer to the city center." After thinking for a while, Xiao En said, "However, be prepared for battle."

The medical halls of the blood clan are special, mainly because the injuries of the blood clan can be recovered by sucking blood and drawing blood gas. Therefore, the blood clan's medical halls are mostly prepared with a large amount of blood food. But Sean is not a member of the blood clan, so the treatment methods of the blood clan medical hall have no effect on him. On the contrary, the medical halls opened by the demons, dark elves, and werewolves may be able to heal his injuries.

The medical hall of the spider monster is also impossible, this is also due to the special structure of the spider monster.

As for the blood elves' medical clinic, it's not that it's impossible, but with the blood elves' extreme attitude, Sean doesn't want to make trouble for himself.

Kane didn't know why Sean didn't go to the blood clan's medical hall, but to the dark elf's medical hall, but he didn't think much. After all, sometimes, even blood injuries cannot be cured by taking blood food, and can only be recovered by other treatment methods, such as poisoning with some special formulas.

So Kane simply thought that Sean's injury was a bit special.

But what he really cares about is what Shaun called "combat preparation".

For Kane right now, the tyranny of completely using himself in battle has become a hobby of him. So when Sean talked about preparing for battle, it was completely different from the previous cringing appearance. Kane's eyes can be described as shining brightly, and his expression is particularly excited, especially when he licks his lips. The action made Sean think of the term "perversion".

It's just that Kane's current appearance is inseparable from Sean's previous training, so although Sean felt a little helpless, he only shook his head slightly, and didn't say anything about this situation, but he did it quietly. Preparations for the battle.

Because he knows very well that once the doctors in the hospital start to examine his body, there is a great possibility that he will be exposed as a human problem. Given the degree of hatred from the underground world to the surface world, it is very likely that he will be beaten on the spot, so Sean had to make perfect preparations.

It is also for this reason, so Sean chose such a small city to experiment.

Because there is only one actual manager of this city, he is a viscount of the blood family-this is information obtained through various inquiries after Xiao En entered the city.

This level of strength is just at the level that Sean can cope without using special means, and the previous detailed understanding of all the terrain and routes of the entire city is also to prepare for the possible conflicts and battles that may arise in the future. Once he is really besieged, Sean can also choose a road to break out of the siege at the first time, avoiding the crisis of being trapped in the city and finally being consumed alive.

However, if the identity is not seen in the medical hall, Sean plans to go to a larger city to try.

Because according to Kane, the medical facility is the larger the city, the higher the level. There are some problems that can't be cured in small cities. The medical clinics in big cities may be cured, especially the blood food of kinsmen. The quality of medical clinics in big cities is definitely higher than that in small cities. Although the higher the level of the medical clinic, the more likely it is to discover that Sean is a human, but in this case, Sean has no choice.

Soon, Sean and Kane arrived at the Elf Clinic in the city center.

Looking at the busy dark elves in the medical hall, Sean knew that this was a medical hall opened by dark elves.

If it was opened by the blood elves, Sean would definitely leave without saying a word.

After a little hesitation, Sean took a deep breath, and then stepped into the hospital. At the moment when he entered the medical hall, the people that Sean needed to guard against were no longer limited to those in the medical hall, as well as Kane who followed him.

Chapter 117: .Mutation situation

There are not many people in the medical hall, and most of them are injured, but not many people are seriously injured.

Sean looked around very carefully, he found that these people were not strong, most of them did not even have the level of knights, and there were only a few people who could reach the level of the lord of the blood family.

is different from the situation of the blood family.

Werewolves, spider monsters, blood elves, dark elves, and demons are all tribes with the strength of the bronze realm, because their birth method can only be formed through reproduction. Unlike the kinsmen who can increase their clan members through the initial embrace, the kinsmen with self-awareness and thinking must be of knight rank, and the kinsmen with only the strength of the bronze realm must be blood slaves who can only serve as cannon fodder.

Of course, compared to blood slaves who have no thinking or IQ, the bronze realm of other races is naturally much stronger than blood slaves because of their wisdom. Like a Spider Demon with only the Bronze Realm, he can easily sweep a dozen blood slaves. If he fights to exhaustion with the belief of death, he can even solve 20 or 30 blood slaves.

But once you step into the rank of knight equivalent to the silver realm, the situation is completely different.

Due to the special reasons of the underground world, the other five sacred blood races also follow the knighthood system established by the blood races in the division of strength. They are still divided into knights, lords, barons, viscounts, earls, marquis, dukes, and princes. As for those who have not even reached the level of knights, they are collectively referred to as the incompetents, of course, the werewolves and the spider monsters are also habitually called cubs.

After all, most of the Bronze Realm powers are minors, or have not experienced the baptism of war after they have just grown up.

In this dark elf medical hall, you can see many werewolves and dark elves, as well as several demon descendants and some clansmen from other races, but there are no arachnids, blood elves, and blood races.

Because of the particularity of the blood family, generally only the blood family's medical clinic can treat the blood family injuries. As for the spider demon, before stepping into the earl rank representing the order of the upper aristocracy, the spider demon could not modify the body, but could only maintain the huge size of the spider man, so naturally it was not suitable for going to the medical hall opened by other races.

As for blood elves, they think that they are noble and have a sense of superiority, so naturally they will only go to the medical clinic opened by their own race.

After looking around, Xiao En knew that because of the outbreak of the war, the wounded in these clinics were basically hired mercenaries. However, the current war situation has not completely entered into a fever, just some small-scale conflict operations, so the mortality rate is not particularly high, but combat injuries are inevitable.

The treatment methods in the medical hall are no different from those on the surface. They use medicinal juice to stop the bleeding, and then wrap them with bandages for protection; the treatment methods such as fractures are also the same, first correct and clamp wooden boards for stabilization. , And then observe the treatment.

It's not that there is no healing magic in the underground world, as the goddess of the moon believed in by the dark elves naturally also has some healing magic. It's just that the cost of healing magic is very expensive, far from being acceptable to ordinary people, and this has fostered the prosperity and prosperity of industries such as medical halls. At this point, the underground world looks more than the surface world. It's like a wild land.

But, this is also quite helpless.

The six holy blood races, the werewolves, the spider demons, and the demons are all ancestor worshipers, the blood elves and the dark elves have different beliefs in gods, while the blood races are completely atheists.

The result of the conflict of beliefs is naturally hatred and confrontation with each other, especially the worship of ancestors and gods, and it is even more impossible for both parties to accept the other's magical treatment. And the strange race of the blood race does not need any magical treatment at all. Even if it is physical damage, as long as it can enter the blood pool and soak once, it can also regenerate its limbs. Compared with the other five sages who are completely incurable when facing a broken limb. As far as kinship is concerned, kinship is also understandable as a typical atheist.

And the six holy blood races are so diametrically opposed, those who are not as good as the six holy blood races are naturally conceivable-in fact, most of the races in the underground world are atheists or ancestors, and the dark elves want to expand their beliefs. The circle is naturally extremely difficult. The blood elves had never thought of expanding their belief circles. They insisted that those despicable people in the underground world were not qualified to believe in such noble gods.

It is all kinds of deformed cultural evolutions that have formed the peculiarities of the underground world and made the medical clinic industry a large number of them.

"Hello, do you need anything?" A dark elf woman greeted Sean, but her eyes looked a little strange.

Kane's kinship aura was not concealed in the slightest. The constant surging of blood aura made many people in the hospital feel a little uncomfortable. After all, Kane is now a baronial rank and can almost be said to be a hospital. The strongest inside.

However, the blood family has never stepped into any medical hall except the blood family medical hall. Now Kane follows Sean into the medical hall together, which naturally gives the people in the dark elf medical hall a kind of weirdness. feel. At least, they wouldn't think that Kane was here to see a doctor, because there is nothing wrong with a pack of blood plasma that cannot be solved. If there is, then two packs.

"I want to visit your great physician." Xiao En said.

"Visit the Grand Physician?" The dark elf woman was taken aback for a moment.

The great physicians, on the surface, are the inhabitants of the medical hall, but in fact they are believers of the gods or tribal shamans. In addition to the conventional treatment methods, they also have more or less mastery of some magical skills or Witchcraft ability. However, depending on the size of the city and the scale of the medical center, the standards of these major doctors are naturally different. In a small city like this one, the big doctor in this dark elf medical hall is probably equivalent to the official priest level of the surface world.

It is worth mentioning that there is no such thing as a big doctor in the Blood Family Medical Center.

"Yes." Xiao En nodded, "There are some things, I want to ask the doctor."

"This..." The dark elf female looked embarrassed.

Sean wasn't a person who didn't know the fun. He reached out and handed a small bag, which contained the universal currency of the underground world and stored special energy ore. This ore has no effect on Sean and can only be used as currency, but for other races in the underground world, it has great value: in addition to being used as currency, it can also be used with special equipment. Absorb the energy inside, thereby enhancing your own strength.

To put it simply, it is a bit like the magic core of Warcraft that magicians love.

Receiving this bag of energy ore, the dark elf female's face showed a hint of surprise. This reaction made Sean quickly realize that the value of the bag of ore he gave was not low. But it's not to blame Sean, he almost never stayed in villages and towns except for simple supplies. This was his first time in town, and Kane was responsible for the previous negotiations. Now he naturally doesn't know. How much wealth did he scavenge from the enemies he killed?

However, this female dark elf was also very responsible. After the money bag was put away, she immediately led Xiao En and Kane to the inside of the medical hall.

The area of this medical hall is not small, about 500 square meters, and it has a three-story structure.

The stairs through the floors are inside the medical hall, and the first floor is also separated by a space as the front hall, which is about 200 square meters. These are the treatment places for patients with minor injuries. After passing a gatehouse with a partition wall, there are some beds in 300 square meters behind. There are already many people lying on them, all of them with more serious injuries. This reminds Sean of the inpatient department of a hospital in the federal era.

After passing through this place similar to the inpatient department, the dark elf female took Xiao En up to the second floor, but did not enter the second floor, but continued to go up to the third floor.

The space on the third floor is obviously much more spacious, giving people a very bright feeling.

The entire third floor, except that the first place to enter is a waiting area like a reception room, there is a separate room behind the door, Xiao En guessed that this should be the residence of the medical staff in this hospital.

After knocked on the door of the room, Sean and Kane entered the room at the invitation of the room owner to "please come in", but the dark elf woman quickly left.

"Two, do you have anything to do with me?" The chief physician of the dark elf medical hall is a dark elf who looks very young, but in terms of age, he is definitely not low. At this moment, I see Sean and After Kane and the two entered the room, they couldn't help but ask.

"I have something to ask you." Sean is generally more polite to such pastors.

"Oh?" The great physician glanced at Sean with some curiosity, and then at Kane again.

Even ordinary people can feel Kane's breath, knowing that he is a genuine blood clan, how can this great dark elf physician fail to tell. It's just the breath on Sean's body that made him feel very puzzled. He was obviously very strong, but he didn't have the weird breath of the blood race. This made the great physician somewhat discouraged Sean, but he could clearly feel it. Yes, it was Sean's qi and blood that was a little unbalanced, as if he had been seriously injured.

"Do you want me to check your health?" The great physician assessed Xiao En's condition, and then asked.

"Yes." Sean nodded, but did not deny it.

At this moment, his body has completely relaxed, seemingly defenseless, but in fact, Sean's vigilance has been raised to the maximum. As long as he changes a little bit, he can immediately draw his sword and enter a fighting state.

The great doctor frowned slightly: "You should be clear, please me..."

Without waiting for the other party to finish speaking, Sean raised his hand and he threw a dozen money bags on the table.

These purses are filled with energy ore, which is the trophies that Sean "touches the corpse" along the way. Of course, Hubble, a genius of the Luxemba clan, has contributed the most. Sean found a lot of good things on him, so he didn't feel bad about throwing these things out at this time. After all, as far as Sean is concerned, compared to curing his injuries, there are no other problems.

Sure enough.

The great physician saw that Xiao En throws so many money bags casually, his eyes brightened instantly, and his eyes looked much eager when he looked at Xiao En.

"I have seen your sincerity, and it is what the goddess hopes to be able to help you." The great physician smiled and stood up, and then greeted Xiao En aside, "Then, you do not mind me now..."

While the great physician said so, there was a soft white brilliance on his right hand.

The light is not strong, and it is not a ball, but it is attached to the hand of a great physician, like a coating.

Seeing this soft white light, Sean only felt a chill and coolness.

and Hitley have had a lot of dealings, and naturally they also have contact with the priests of the Temple of Life, so Sean knows exactly what the energy of life feels like. Although this group of white brilliance looks somewhat similar to the life energy of the Goddess of Life, it is actually not the same substance. Although Sean can feel that this group of energy also has a trace of healing power, it is similar to the life energy of the Goddess of Life. There is obviously a big gap compared to the magic arts.

However, the goddess of the moon is not the * who is in charge of healing and resuscitation, so it is not incomprehensible.

Without the slightest choice at the moment, Sean certainly did not have to refuse.

The great physician quickly put his right palm on Xiao En's chest, and then moved it gently, seeming to be checking something.

It's just that the look of doubt between his eyebrows gradually piled up with his actions.

However, Sean's breathing still seemed very calm, and he did not feel nervous or acted otherwise.

And when this great physician's right hand was placed on Sean's heart, his puzzled face finally changed suddenly: "You...you are not of the holy blood! You are a human!"

exclaimed, sounded without the slightest concealment.

Shaun's face instantly became a little gloomy, and the thing he didn't want to see finally happened. And judging from the look on this great physician's face, it is obvious that he is not a member of the Reform Party. Although it is difficult to judge the specific tendency, it is not the Avenger Party that hates the surface humans, or the Evernight Party that wants to conquer the surface— -Neither of these two parties can get along well with mankind.

After the great physician's face exclaimed, it suddenly became savage, and the coldness emitted by the soft light on his right hand instantly became cold.

I saw the great physician pierce Xiao En's heart with his five fingers together into a knife.

Believers in the underground world, even the pastors who have always given people a weak impression, are more capable of fighting than those in the surface world. Although it is not as brave as the priests with swords produced by the Church of the Goddess of Ice and Winter, but the fighting power is definitely dozens of blocks away from the priests produced by other churches and temples.

Under the brilliance of divine art, the hand knife of this great physician, who is not at the lower level of silver, really has a sharp feeling like a sharp blade.

And Sean, of course, it is impossible to sit and wait like this.

His muscles suddenly tensed, and his right foot kicked out at lightning speed, kicking directly on the chest of the great physician.

In the next moment, this great physician flew out like a cannonball.

Maybe it was because Sean used too much force, or the building materials in the medical hall were not strong enough. When the doctor hit the wall behind him, he didn't just bounce back to the ground. Instead, he smashed the wall behind him and continued to fly out. , Finally stopped after breaking through two walls one after another. As a result, it was natural to startle the other people in these rooms, and such a big movement could not hide the people in the hospital.

Xiao En got up with a gloomy face, took all the money bags thrown away with a swipe of his hand, then turned around and opened the door to leave.

Kane looked at the sudden change of the situation in a daze, the confusion on his face was obviously not a cover. He stared at the hole in the wall and Sean who opened the door, and the roar of the great physician who had not died was echoed in his ears: "That's a human! Human! Humans from the surface world..."

The chaotic and noisy sounds one after another, but soon there was the sound of weapon collisions and screams.

Kane is really at a loss: Is he a human that he has been following for the past two months?

Chapter 118: Kill

Out of the door, a dozen dark elves were already standing in the corridor on the third floor.

These dark elves are male and female, young and middle-aged, but regardless of age, gender, and status, the expressions on these people's faces are full of anger, hatred, and disgust. Sean even saw the angry face of the young dark elf woman who smiled when she handed the other party a bag of energy ore. The purse that served as common currency was returned to him.

"Get out of the way, you are not my opponent." Xiao En said in a deep voice.

Sean doesn't mind killing, and even in order to achieve certain means, he will use the violent means of killing. However, because of the kindness and the goodness to the world still remaining in his heart, he does not like meaningless killing.

Especially, the strength of these enemies is only in the Bronze Realm-such a huge power gap makes Sean unable to mention the slightest desire to kill. Because in the game, he was not a person who likes to abuse food. What he pursues is to challenge the limit and break through his own technology. This is also why he can join the guild elite group and become the leader of the elite group. At the same time, he is also deeply loved by the guild brothers. The real reason for love.

glanced around at the people who were still blocking him, and there was even a steady stream of footsteps ringing from the stairs, and Xiao En knew that he didn't have much time to delay.

The medical hall is a special institution in the underground world. Almost no matter what kind of people need to rely on the medical hall to treat injuries, plus the only six holy blood races that can open medical halls, any medical hall usually does not deliberately Arrange escorts, because this is a meaningless waste of manpower.

Only in some special occasions, escorts will be arranged to protect the hospital.

But obviously, this dark elf medical hall is not in a special period at this moment.

But similarly, and because of the special nature of medical centers, medical centers in every city are equipped with special calling devices. This device can directly communicate with the city's security department. Once someone makes trouble in the medical hall, this device can be activated, and the city guards will rush to the medical hall to guard the accident in a few minutes.

Sean didn't know where the calling device of the Dark Elf Medical Hall was, but after so long, it must have been turned on, so his time is running out.

After making a decision in his heart, Xiao En's right hand holding the sword tightened, and the awe-inspiring spirit of conquest was completely exuded.

At this moment, the faces of the dark elves who were blocking Sean's way changed suddenly.

With such a strong aura, if they don't know what Shaun's strength is, then they will be no different from an idiot.

Of course, at this moment, they are no different from idiots.

After Xiao En decided to kill everyone, he naturally wouldn't show mercy, and as soon as he moved his figure, he had already crashed into the group of these dark elf doctors.

I saw the sword light overflowing, and the black sword aura completely bloomed among the dark elves, like a hundred flowers blooming.

While the screams and wailing sounded, countless blood also splashed out, and there was even the roar of the walls collapsing and breaking.

With these dark elves' abilities, let alone blocking Sean's attack, there is no possibility of fighting against Sean at all, let alone being close to Sean's side, so once Sean really starts to get big When killing precepts, these people simply cannot survive.

When Sean passed through the crowd of these dark elf physicians, all the dark elf physicians had all fallen. Their expressions of horror and shock were full of expressions that they had realized the huge gap between the strengths of the two sides. It's just a pity that they discovered this fact too late, because Sean didn't show any mercy, so these doctors who were blocking the way naturally won't have any survival.

stepped past the group of corpses, before Sean walked into the reception room on the third floor, the door of the reception room was opened.

The first to bear the brunt are several dark elves and demons who have the strength of a lord.

His gaze crossed behind these people, and a dozen or so people rushed up behind them. It seemed that they should be under the leadership of these people. If it were not for the size of the reception room, Sean believed that there would be more people crowded in the reception room at this moment.

Before on the first floor, Sean and these people had also met each other, so it was clear that these people were just like mercenaries.

This type of people is the largest basic group of people in the entire underground world. The vast majority of them are people exiled by clans and tribes. In order to survive and increase their own strength, these people choose to form groups like mercenary groups. Organize to earn energy ore by accepting some employment tasks. Of course, there are also young people who are mostly arranged by tribes and clans for experience, because there is a well-recognized saying in the underground world: "Fighting is the best way to grow."

But the underground world is different from the surface world, and most mercenary groups have a very serious tendency to stand.

These people saw a murderous Sean, and the corpses all over the ground behind Sean, not to mention the bronze mercenaries in the reception room, even the few powerful lords who broke through the door, They all swallowed subconsciously.

"Yes, I'm sorry... I'm bothering you." A middle-aged demon-born man showed a bit of embarrassment on his face, then smiled and said hello, and then slowly backed away.

The several lord ranks with similar strengths also nodded in agreement, and then slowly stepped back, fearing that too much action would stimulate the evil star Shaun. At this moment, they had already regarded Sean as a troublemaker who had a grudge against the dark elf medical clinic, so they came to seek revenge.

Medical Center, although it is a special institution in the underground world, it is not peaceful.

Just as in some special times, the medical center will arrange some defenders to be responsible for the safety of the medical center, and this so-called special time naturally means that someone will make trouble after receiving clear information, or it is a conflict between different positions of medical centers. The war is over.

For example, a city already has a medical hall opened by the Dark Elf Reform Party, and then if dark elves from the Eternal Night Party or the Vengeful Party want to open a medical hall at this time, then the problem of the Dark Elf Reform Party medical hall must be solved first. Therefore, this kind of medical disputes from factions are normal in the underground world. Of course, although normal, it is not a very common thing.

Based on the response of the great physician before, Sean already knew that this dark elf medical hall was not a Reform Party medical hall, and looking at the attitudes of these people, it was obviously not a firm stance, it was probably the exile of the tribe. People-this kind of people is no better than the trainers arranged by the tribe. Most people who are exiled and expelled by the tribe will not be too firm. Of course, there are a few fanatical shots.

Except for the stalwart enthusiasts, few mercenary groups are willing to get involved in the battle of factions in the medical hall. After all, the reason why these mercenary groups hold together is only to fight for a better living space. —In fact, to put it bluntly, it is the commission issue.

But at least fortunately, these people in front of you are not fanatics.

So, Sean did not plan to care about anything with them.

All of a sudden, the two sides kept a certain tacit atmosphere and gave in.

But just as these mercenaries breathed a sigh of relief, the great physician who was kicked by Sean suddenly ran out—he ran out of a room behind Sean, his face was terribly pale. , He held the door frame with one hand and pointed at Sean with the other, and then yelled: "Don't let him run! He is a human!"

In one sentence, the atmosphere that was originally slightly tacit and relaxed became tense again in an instant.

Xiao En's brows wrinkled slightly. He looked around at the mercenaries in front of him, and found that many of them had changed their faces, but more of them showed a look of hatred and anger, just like before intercepting Xiao En. The dark elf physicians on the road looked the same.

These mercenaries may not be involved in the faction fight in the hospital, but it does not mean that they will not hate humans.

Especially, now that Sean will stay in the underground world for a long time, his identity is naturally more unlikely to be exposed.

At this moment, Sean had a decision in his heart.

And seeing Xiao En's expression, the face of the demon who had spoken to ease the atmosphere suddenly changed: "Run!"

As soon as this demon descendant finished speaking, his figure suddenly retreated, and he didn't even care about who was behind him. All he wanted to do now was to be as far away as possible from Sean. Because at the moment when Sean made his decision, the breath emanating from Sean made him feel an extremely deep fear. This sense of fear and coercion was only on the patriarch before he was expelled. Just felt it.

Plus, it's not night time, and the strength of their demons will be greatly limited, and they will not be able to play at all, so he naturally wants to escape from this place of right and wrong. As for the idea of fighting against Sean, this demonite never thought about it from the beginning. He would rather swing the butcher knife at those behind him than at Sean, because no one knows Sean better than him. What does the terrifying aura that exudes at this moment mean?

But, even if this demonic elder does not want to fight and wants to escape, it depends on whether Sean is willing to let him go.

And the answer is obvious, Sean is not willing.

Obviously, the start was slower than the demon descendant, but Sean was the first to come and blocked the stairs before the demon descendant left.

This demonite realized that a gust of wind had passed by his side, he knew that he could not escape from the stairs, and immediately wanted to escape from other places after he had a pause in his footsteps. But since Xiao En has blocked the position of the stairs, there is no chance that he will let the other party flee again, so he is very light and swipes a sword, and a surging energy suddenly radiates from the black king. : An arc of sword energy swept across this reception room.

is not a superb sword skill, just a powerful sword aura, but facing these people who are far less powerful than Sean, this method of winning by force is undoubtedly the most portable.

With just such a sword aura, more than a dozen people were beheaded by Sean on the spot.

The first to bear the brunt is the escaped demon.

Others who reacted half a beat or a beat slower, but escaped the sword attack of Shaun, which was mortal on the spot. It's just that Sean's attack is obviously not so easy to withstand. Even though these people did not die in the first blow, they were still injured by the sword energy, and they were originally injured more or less. At this moment, being shocked by this sword aura, the injuries on his body were naturally more serious, and even the gaze towards Xiao En was full of deep fear.

The great physician obviously did not expect that Sean's strength was so terrible. When he was kicked by Sean before, he only regarded him as being careless. After all, Sean didn't have much momentum exuding at the time. Instead, what made him a little wary was Kane who was following Sean, but he didn't see Kane when he rushed out of the door just now, so he thought Kane was just blinded, and then saw so many people coming up. , So he will call out the identity of Shaun.

If he could look back at the pile of doctor corpses not far behind the room he rushed out of, I'm afraid he wouldn't be so stupid to call out Sean's identity. It's just a pity that there is no if in this world, so he is naturally responsible for the result now.

Shaun did not look at the people who tried to rush up at the stairway, but looked up at the great physician.

When Xiao En looked at him like this, the great physician felt a panic of fear. He subconsciously wanted to retreat, but he didn't want to run into someone as soon as he took a step back. The great physician looked back in horror, but saw that Kane was standing behind him like this, looking at Xiao En with complicated eyes, not knowing what he was thinking.

The great physician was shocked, but after seeing Kane's expression, he shouted again: "I know you were just deceived. That guy is a human being. I have set the alarm. The guards soon It will come, you just have to delay..."

Before the great doctor finished speaking, he felt a sharp pain in his heart.

He looked down, but saw that his chest had been inserted by a hand, and the owner of this hand was Kane. Of course, if he could look back and look again, he would be able to find that he was not inserted into the chest cavity by Kane's hand, but came out directly-Kane passed through the right hand of the great physician's heart and was holding it. A heart still beating.

Sean looked at Kane, his eyes narrowed slightly, and said nothing.

He was also a little wary of Kane. After all, the stance of the blood race against humans has been around since ancient times. This has nothing to do with party disputes. Unlike the Reform Party in the dark elf camp, it still retains a trace of friendliness to humans. As long as any blood race enters the surface, it will inevitably be strangled by all the organizations and forces of the entire Miracle Continent. There has never been any exception, because the blood slaves produced by blood races are no less harmful than the heretics, and the underground world and the surface world happened back then. During the war, it was the blood race that caused the most damage to the surface world.

The hatred between the two parties is almost impossible to resolve.

Because of this, only lunatics who are completely frantic will cooperate with the kin, otherwise no one will be willing to cooperate with the kin. And the blood clan secretly enters the surface world, mostly by means of infiltration and disguise, and dare not reveal their identity at all.

At this moment, Kane's shot also showed the position Kane chose. If people know that Kane helped Shaun this human today, Kane's future fate is definitely predictable. Let alone whether the Dark Elves faction will let Kane who killed one of their great physicians be spared, the kinship alone will definitely make Kane experience what it means to be a real life better than death.

"I will leave the rest to you." Xiao En said to him, and then looked back at the cubs of these people in the Bronze Realm at the entrance of the stairs.

He wasn't sure how many people heard when the great doctor called out his identity, but Sean was a very cautious person. After all, he was not in the surface world, but in the underground world, so he couldn't help it. He was not careful-at this moment, Xiao En could be regarded as experiencing the feeling when the blood family secretly penetrated into the surface world.

In order not to reveal his identity, Sean has decided that he would rather kill the wrong person than let anyone in this medical hall go.

And Kane also squeezed the heart of the great physician in one palm, and after pulling his body aside, he slowly walked towards the lord who had fallen on the ground and had no resistance.

Chapter 119: .Leave

In the shadow of an alley, one figure pinched another figure and slammed into the wall, making a strong collision sound.

also thanks to the good quality of the wall, it was not directly collapsed, but the traces of dents on the wall also showed the intensity of the impact.

As the attacker, he was obviously dissatisfied with this impact, and saw his right hand gripping the opponent's neck suddenly lifted, and directly dragged the opponent out of the dent on the wall, and then his right hand sent it again. Force, once again slammed it against the wall fiercely.

This time, the impact on the wall seemed to have finally reached its limit.

Numerous cracked textures appeared on the entire wall in an instant, and the dent became more obvious. The person who suffered two consecutive impacts was completely plunged into the wall, and seemed to have been completely lost. With the ability to resist, he only became dying after a squirt of blood.

This person who uses Thunder attack is not someone else, but Kane.

At this moment, Kane showed a hideous look, and his whole person looked very crazy.

But even if it seemed crazy, he didn't let up in the slightest.

Kane's position is very clever: his right hand is always firmly pinching the opponent's neck, while his left hand is holding the opponent's right wrist tightly, and dragging his right hand to his left, stuck firmly. The opponent's left hand is in the range of motion, and his position is also stuck on the opponent's left, and he stepped on his left foot, perfectly hiding in the dead corner of the opponent's right foot attack.

It can be said that this set has played a great effect and power after learning Shaun's capture by Kane.

"Why... why?" The man who was hit hard by Kane spoke with some difficulty, his tone and eyes were blank and confused, "Aren't we... the same kind...? Why..."

"Why?" The hideous color on Kane's face was slightly reduced, but under the cover of losing the hideous color, what was exposed was a naked excitement, and that could not be concealed at all. Tyranny, "I don't know, I just think... this world is different from what I imagined. Without power, there is nothing. You can only be trampled underfoot forever... Now, like now, you Can only be subdued by me, but completely unable to resist."

Kane's right hand was slightly hardened, and the face of the blood that had been subdued by him turned red in an instant, and his body struggled even harder.

It's just that, as Kane said, in this underground world where strength is respected, if his strength is not as good as others, he can only be bullied by others, so no matter how hard he struggles, he still cannot break free from Kane's suppression.

"This is the gap, do you understand?" Kane's right hand did not release, but continued to increase his strength bit by bit, but the tyrannical color on his face has completely disappeared and replaced it. His face was calm, calm and indifferent, "Now you know why?...Because of me, I don't want to go back to the days of the past, the days of being trampled under the feet forever by others.... And , I have no turning back."

At the last sound, Kane said in a nearly whispering voice, it is naturally impossible for this blood clan who has basically fallen into a coma to hear clearly.

But whether he can hear it or not, it doesn't matter anymore.

Because when Kane finished the last sentence, his right hand suddenly broke, and only a small "click" sound was heard, and the neck of the blood family who was subdued by Kane was pinched off by him. .

When Kane let go, the kinship young man did not slip off the wall, but still kept the appearance of sinking into the wall. This shows how hard Kane grabbed the opponent and hit the wall for the second time.

However, compared to the other companions of this young kin guard, he is undoubtedly much luckier, so at least he still has the whole body. And for several of his other companions, almost no one could save the whole body. The best one was also torn off by Kane's hands, and the most tragic one was directly torn into pieces by Kane. Two petals, let the organs, blood, and residual limbs splash everywhere.

These guards are the city guards who rushed over after receiving the warning from the medical hall, but they are only the strength of the knight rank, let alone Sean personally acted, facing the baron rank now. Kane is not an opponent at all. So these people, after discovering that the entire Dark Elf Medical Hall had been slaughtered, naturally pursued Sean and Kane, but they did not expect to be led by Sean into this lane of death.

Seven city guards, none of them survived.

However, the strength of these guards is not very good. Kane doesn't even have the desire to  their blood or dig blood cores. However, in order to prevent the exposure of their identity, Kane certainly squeezed all their blood cores, and then opened a hole in their bodies, giving them a bloodletting act to ensure that no other high-level blood races would look for it. After arriving at these corpses, he can still read the memory—this set of techniques, Kane has been very proficient in following Sean for more than a month.

After solving these guards, Kane stood in the middle of the alley with a dazed expression on his face. He glanced at himself, his whole body was stained with blood, almost staining him into a blood man. The blood was not all from the seven guards in the alley. Most of the blood actually came from the patients in the dark elf medical clinic. After Sean decided to kill, Kane could not be idle. He even To play the role of blocking the door.

You should know that the power that people who are one step away from their birth day finds that their only way out is blocked is very amazing. If it wasn't for the strength gap between Kane and theirs by close to two ranks, and possessing some unique combat skills taught by Sean, I am afraid he would not be able to block so many people.

It's just that, after passing this incident, Kane knew how murderous Sean was — it's not that he hadn't seen Sean commit a murder. The escape in the past two months has made Kane fully aware of looking for Shaw. En trouble is a matter of courage. Until today, after Sean slaughtered everyone in the Dark Elf Medical Hall, Kane really realized what a terrible person Sean was.

Such a serious killing, Kane has never seen him in the two hundred and thirty years since his birth to today.

He didn't know that the fear and influence that Sean brought to him had deepened again after today.

At the entrance of the alley, a figure appeared.

This person is Sean who left to explore the way earlier.

Xiao En did not walk into the alley, but he could smell the rich blood even when standing in the alley, which made his brows wrinkle slightly.

Feeling the breath of Sean, Kane turned his head and glanced at Sean. The blankness and tyranny on his face disappeared immediately, revealing a clear smile.

The Black King's voice sounded again in a timely manner: "This child has been completely distorted....Too many negative emotions and pressures have been accumulated, and they have not been relieved in time. These have caused him to go to the other extreme."

If Sean didn't talk to the Black King, he just reached out and said hello, and then Kane quickly ran towards Sean.

After the two merged, Sean led the way in front, and Kane followed behind Sean.

"Martial law has already begun in the city, but they don't know the specifics, so we just need to follow the crowds leaving the city." Xiao En said in a deep voice, "but you have to change your clothes now. ... and It will be a little troublesome to condense your vitality. Such a strong murderous aura will be a little troublesome."

"Oh."

Kane responded, and then took off all his clothes as he walked, and then pried open the door of a nearby house along the way, and went inside and searched for a while. When he reappeared in front of Sean, he had changed his clothes, and his blood was completely restrained. Judging from his slightly damp hair, it was obvious that Kane had still washed a little bit inside.

"That dark elf medical hall was opened by members of the Eternal Night Party or the Vengeful Party?" Sean frowned. "This is the secret party's territory, right? Why can such a radical faction open a medical hall here? Shouldn't it be the Reform Party?"

For Sean's question, Kane didn't know how to answer, and finally he could only mutter and say, "I...I don't know."

Sean glanced at Kane, but think about it, how could an otaku who has lived at home for more than two hundred years know these things. Kane was able to know some of the daily knowledge of the world, obviously, it was already very good. As for other problems, it was estimated that he didn't know it was common, so Sean didn't say anything. He just felt that his understanding of the world was still too superficial.

Originally, he thought that the blood clan secret party is a relatively moderate faction, basically a kind of incompetent. As long as it is not to provoke the other party first, the other party will definitely not come to him for trouble, so Sean will choose to be in the secret party Stay in the site instead of going to the site of the Magic Party. It is also out of this kind of thinking, so Sean also used inertial thinking to figure out the situation, thinking that the person who can open a medical hall in the territory of the blood secret party must be a relatively uncontested person, such as the dark elves. Reform Party.

It's just that, after all, Sean still underestimated the conflict of partisan interests in the underground world.

Or in a strict sense, only the Reform Party of the Dark Elf race is the only one who really has the heart to make friends with the surface humans. As for the other five holy blood races, the demons and the blood elves, and the Dark Elves's revenge party hates the surface world. It is undoubtedly the biggest, and they obviously don't have a good impression of human beings with the same treatment that the blood race has suffered on the surface. As for the spider monsters and werewolves, they don't care.

"This time, I was impulsive." Xiao En said softly.

The Black King and Kane were silent.

Kane doesn't know how to answer the conversation, because his fear of Sean has always been maintained.

The Black King is very clear why Sean said this: The impact of these two months of life not only affected Kane alone, but also a very strong stimulus and influence on Sean. Perhaps Sean can deceive himself, but the black king who has blood connections with Sean can also clearly feel the fluctuations in Sean's mentality and emotions. In fact, he is eager to go home.

This kind of urgency made Xiao En's mentality a little lax, not as cautious and careful as before.

"Tell me about you." Sean walked ahead, Kane was about a step behind Sean, "Why did you choose to shoot in the end?"

"If I don't make a move, you won't let him go, would you?" Kane didn't answer, but said to himself, "I don't quite understand why you didn't make up the last sword in the first place. It's not like your style."

"I was negligent." Sean confessed his fault bluntly. "I didn't think about killing in the first place. If the doctors didn't block the way, I wouldn't necessarily be the killer... But now you should. Clearly, I have a very serious internal injury. If I do not seek a cure, my injury may be difficult to heal. My original intention was to control this medical clinic, but in the end I found that I was too naive."

"Kill all the people in the hospital, and then kidnap the doctor?" Kane asked.

"Almost." Sean was noncommittal. "But then he said that he broke my identity, so there is nothing to do, so I can only handle things cleanly and make sure that no one knows about me....The underground world is right. As far as I am concerned, it is a place where all the people are enemies. I don't want to be followed by a group of people chasing me. That would be too much trouble, and of course it's too tired."

Kane fell into silence.

The two continued to walk on the street like this. The whole city seemed to have been completely alarmed. A large number of guards ran around the city, rushing towards the medical center in the city center. However, many curious people are asking what happened. Some people who seem to know the truth rush to other places, obviously trying to avoid the huge vortex in the city center. In this case, Sean and Neither Kane seemed so special.

"You haven't answered my previous question." After walking for a while, Sean spoke again, "I thought you would stand on the side of the blood clan."

"I have no choice." Kane smiled bitterly, "In the eyes of others, you and I are in the same group.... My strength has always been poor. This is caused by the fact that I have been fainted before, but It doesn't mean that I'm stupid. If you keep me, I'm afraid I will end up badly, and as long as a higher blood clan * my blood and reads my memory, I will definitely know my relationship with you. Then you You will definitely not let me live with what you have shown before."

Shaun looked back at Kane, slightly surprised by his sharp judgment and reaction.

Although Kane's statement is not wrong, in fact, Sean hasn't really thought of killing Kane. After all, he also went through an adventure trip for more than two months. Of course, the meaning of Sean's surprise glance back made Kane misunderstood, thinking that he had guessed Sean's idea, and he couldn't help but feel a little nervous.

It's just a panic, but she continued to speak; "So in order to show my position, I can only take action.... Fortunately, there is no blood in the hospital, so they will never know who moved. Hands. I have cleaned up the guards in the alley and will not leave any clues."

Although Kane said this seemingly normal, but Sean knew that Kane was showing him the signal "I am still very useful."

In response, Sean could only sigh helplessly.

As the Black King said, Kane's character has indeed been extremely distorted, but this also accelerated Kane's growth rate.

It's just that Sean doesn't know whether this kind of thing is a good thing or a bad thing.

Perhaps because of the quick actions of Sean and Kane, their identities were still not revealed until the two of them approached the city gate. It's just that the guards at the city gates are obviously stricter-at least compared to when they first entered the city, they are obviously much stricter, but they are more focused on the identity of those who leave the city, and there are not too many strict checks on those who enter the city.

In this scene, Sean shook his head slightly.

If this happens in the surface world, the first reaction of those in power must be to close the city gates and implement martial law throughout the city. Because in this case, if people are released to leave, then the real murderer is likely to be released; in the same way, if people continue to be released into the city, it is easy to put the murderer's accomplices into the city, allowing the criminals to have more Selection and disguise of identity and so on.

However, Sean is just looking at these things at will. He will definitely not say anything. It is better to say that the underground world's authority has improper management, which is more conducive to his actions.

Soon, it was Kane and Sean's turn to check the team.

Although I feel a little strange about Sean's breath, I can see that Sean's attire is a typical blood aristocratic appearance, and Sean is also followed by Kane, a genuine blood baron, so there are not too many guards. In embarrassment, they only let them go after a hurried inspection, so Sean and Kane quickly left the city where they had just set off a heinous crime.

However, after experiencing this incident, Sean is actually not without gain.

At least he figured out two things.

The first thing is that the dark elf can discover his human identity during injury treatment and inspection. Through this, Sean knew what he needed to pay special attention to, at least not letting others get close to him easily, and avoiding some detection magic to lock himself as much as possible.

The second thing is that the party disputes in the underground world are more intense than he thought, and the entanglement between ethnic forces is far more complicated and chaotic than he knew, which made him clearly understand that he will enter the dark elves in the future. When you are in the medical center, you must first investigate whether the other party is the Reform Party Medical Center, the Revenge Party Medical Center, or the Yongye Party Medical Center. If it's the former, maybe you can try to communicate, if it's the latter, then he'd better stay away.

Moreover, at this moment, Sean also had a whole new idea.

"Do you know anything about werewolves?" After leaving the city, Sean and Kane didn't know where to go for a while, so they chose a place a little farther away from the city for a rest, but they just sat there. When he came down, Sean asked Kane, "Do you know where the werewolf's territory is?"

Hearing Sean's words, Kane's face suddenly changed: "Do you want to go to the site of the stinky dog?"

"Smelly dog?" Sean froze for a moment, but then he realized that Kane is a kinship, even if Kane doesn't care about kinship matters much before, his hatred and aversion to werewolves must be innate. Well... the werewolf is seriously at odds with the blood clan. In a sense, the blood clan and I are also enemies, so maybe I can get some help from the werewolf."

Hearing Sean's words without evasive suspicion, Kane was embarrassed: "I..."

"At that time, I can go by myself. You can find a blood town and wait for me to come back temporarily."

Sean knew what Kane was thinking about. Normal werewolves would not enter the territory of the blood race, and the blood race would not easily enter the territory of the werewolf, because this is more extreme than racial discrimination. It is easy for the two parties to enter each other's territory. A series of conflicts will erupt. And what is the fate of the conflict in this hostile area is definitely something that can be imagined: the blood clan sees the werewolves bullying their own people, they will not care about the difference between the secret party and the devil party at this time, and they are definitely swarming. ; The same is true for the territories of the werewolf tribe.

"I didn't mean that." Listening to Sean's words, Kane knew what Sean had misunderstood, but after thinking about it, he said, "I don't know the territory of the werewolf very well, but I have heard of the wolf in the castle before. To the east of the Hill of Gods are werewolves' territories, which is the eternal forbidden area of our blood."

"Mound of the Wolf God?" Sean frowned, "Then where are we now?"

"The Kappa clan is at the northernmost end of the River of Blood Ancestor. This is the site of the Mi Party." Kane replied, "If we continue to go south, we will enter the site of the Demon Party. The site of the Presbyterian Church is to the west, there. It borders the territory of the blood elves... But these territorial divisions are actually just some general gathering areas, which means that the races seen in these areas are all groups that tend to be the leader of the territory, and they are not fixed. "

Kane's meaning, Sean is very clear.

means that in the territory on the side of the elders of the blood clan, most of the blood clan you encounter are the blood clan leaning towards the stance of the elders. However, this is not absolute. It is as if it is now in the secret party's domain, but there are members of the Dark Elf's Eternal Night Party or the Vengeance Party. The antagonism and complexity of these clan relations is completely engaged by even Sean. Not sure.

"In other words, if we want to go to the werewolf's territory, we must go east?"

"Well, this is a faster way." Kane nodded, "But maybe we can also encounter some werewolf tribal territories halfway, and we don't necessarily have to go to the Wolf God Hill."

"Where is the dark elf reform party's territory?"

"I don't know about this." Kane shook his head helplessly, "Dark elves are one of the six major races, generally in the Forest of Profound Knowledge. But there is the Eternal Night Party as its mainstay. The Vengeance Party is too extreme, so it is a little closer to the blood elves. The Reform Party is the least popular party... This unpopularity is not only in the dark elves but also in other groups."

For this, Sean has some understanding, because he has heard of Rorty Kabas before.

The living space of the Dark Elf Innovation Party has been greatly compressed. In the underground world, it is almost a series of endangered species. Of course, it does not mean that they are all extinct, but they rarely show their position and identity now. Previously, Rorty Kabas went to the surface to find the remains of the lost riding  to reverse this situation, because the lost knight was powerful enough to allow the Reform Party to reverse the current situation.

It's a pity that Sean didn't discuss much about the Revolutionary Party with Rorty Kabas at the time, so he didn't know the secretive location of the Revolutionary Party.

"Then you say, where should we go now?"

"Where are we going?" When asked by Sean, Kane was also a little at a loss, "Anyway, let's leave the territory of the Tadesse clan first, I heard..."

Before Kane could finish speaking, Sean had already interrupted: "We haven't left the territory of the Tadez clan yet?"

"No." Kane didn't quite understand why Sean's reaction was so fierce. "When we entered the village to supply supplies, I asked. The Tadese clan is a marquis-level clan, and the territory is naturally It's a bigger one. It's just that because of the outbreak of the war, they are now fighting with the stinky dogs in the northeast, so there is no free manpower to manage the situation in the rear."

"Why didn't you say it earlier!" Sean was a little annoyed, and the strength of the Tadez clan was somewhat beyond Sean's expectations.

"You didn't ask either." Kane was a little aggrieved, "I thought you knew all about it."

"Oh, forget it, it's not the time to talk about this." Xiao En said in a deep voice, "We killed so many people from the Tadese clan before, and now we are making trouble in the city of the Tadese clan. The knot is big."

"They didn't know that we did it." Kane curled his lips. "Besides, we didn't handle everything very cleanly."

"Don't be afraid of ten thousand, just in case." Shaun glanced at Kane, "You'd better remember this, never, never have any fluke psychology. And the most important point is not to be with your enemies. Talking too much nonsense, if it can be resolved simply and neatly, you must always resolve it simply and neatly, otherwise you might not even know how you died."

Listening to Sean's words, and reminiscing about Sean's straightforward style of acting without any sloppiness, Kane realized a lot of things in an instant.

Immediately afterwards, Sean did not make any more stops, but and Kane headed towards the territory of the werewolf tribe in the northeast.

And less than half an hour after Sean and Kane left, Tiburn Tades arrived in the city where Sean and Kane had just triggered a killing. Unlike the previous city that was not closed, the entire city has entered a state of martial law at this moment, because the bodies of seven city guards have been found. This act of attacking and killing the city guards of the Tades is naturally impossible to be like a doctor. The incident of the museum being slaughtered is handled the same way.

Although this is a bit awkward, for the blood races, no matter how many people died in the Dark Elf Medical Hall, it was just a general murder.

But the death of the city guard will change the nature of the incident extremely seriously.

Because the city is firmly controlled by the clan and is their biggest source of interest, which means that the city symbolizes the face of the clan. And the death of the city guard, especially the torture that was obviously severely abused, is not as simple as slapping the face for a clan.

Tibone's face became even harder to see the extreme after knowing the situation.

In particular, the seven blood knights of the Tades clan died in the same way as the ten members of the Tades clan that were killed before: the blood core was crushed and the blood emptied. This gave Tibone more reason to believe that the murderer It's the same group of people. After contacting these seven guards, they rushed over to support the slaughtered dark elf medical hall. How could Tibone know the cause and effect of this killing.

But it is precisely because after knowing the cause and effect, Tibone's face is more agitated, because he already knows that Sean is injured.

Chapter 120: Underground world

The day and night in the underground world has only a short signal mark, and the length of time is only a few seconds.

Unlike the surface world, there will be obvious landscapes such as sunrise and sunset, and evening sunset.

In the underground world, when the day comes, the magic stone in the dome is charged and emits a faint light. This light will last for a few seconds, giving the residents of the underground world a time to adapt to the bright environment, and then the entire underground world When the night came, all the magic stones suddenly dimmed, and the entire underground world fell into a dim light. After a few seconds, the entire world was completely dark.

For the inhabitants of the underground world, they have long been accustomed to this change of day and night.

General urban residents are okay, because there are lighting facilities such as torches and magic lights in towns, so usually the problem is not big.

Walkers walking in the wild will begin to make corresponding preparations an hour before the night falls, such as taking some defensive measures, or finding a safe refuge, and so on. Because the dark night in the wild is extremely dangerous, most of the night hunters are wandering. In this kind of invisible environment, you will never know whether the originally seemingly safe environment will be in the next moment. Become a place of death.

Shaun doesn't quite understand the environment of the underground world.

At least, he originally thought he understood enough, but now he is completely uncertain.

Especially the injuries on his body suppressed his ability to perform, which made it difficult for him to perceive too far. It is precisely because of this that once the night is in the environment, Sean and Kane have to find a safe place that can be avoided temporarily. This is the problem that really delays the trip of the two.

Knowing that after two days of driving, he has not left the territory of the Tadez clan, Xiao En's heart has gradually become a little more irritable.

He knew that this was a signal that danger was imminent.

With Sean's current strength and mentality, there are very few things that can make him feel irritable, mainly because as his strength increases, the stability of his mentality will gradually be strengthened. So for the strong, whim is not a good feeling, because it often means that there will be trouble.

In the past two days, Shaun's feeling of restlessness in his heart has become a bit heavier than before.

At this time, he and Kane were hiding in a cave, and the burning campfire was their only illuminator.

On the surface, in addition to lighting, bonfires also serve as heating.

But in the underground world, there is no need for heating.

The entire underground world will not have the sultry hotness of the sun, no clouds, no rain, let alone heavy fog and blizzard. Although there is wind, it is often not strong, and it completely presents a four seasons like spring. Climate temperature. Therefore, in the underground world, there is no need to worry about the behavioral logic of  when the heat is hot, and adding clothes when it is cold. This is also the reason that many residents of the underground world need to spend a long time to adapt to the climate temperature of the surface world once they go to the surface. reason.

In the cave, Sean is sitting while watching Kane draw a map on the ground.

The map has three large horizontal lines and some small lines branching out from these large lines.

Kane said that the three big dashes are the main rivers of the underground world, and the small dashes are the tributaries separated from the main river, and they are also the water sources for all the inhabitants of the entire underground world.

Xiao En discovered that although the three main rivers did not converge with each other, many of the tributaries branched from the three main rivers converged with each other, and most of the tributaries eventually converged to the center of the entire underground world-Kai En said that the lake at the center of the entire underground world is the Earth Sea.

This is another wonderful place that Sean found.

There are undercurrents, underground rivers, and even underground lakes. These common sense, Sean still knows. But Xiao En found that no matter how he looked at it, the area of this earth sea was obviously much more extensive than the conventional underground lake, and it almost occupied one-seventh of the area of the entire underground world. And what makes Sean most puzzled is that the underground world has a geographical limit, that is, whether it is east to west or south to north, you can see a wall that is as strong as a world barrier at the most extreme place. .

It is said that in history, many inhabitants of the underground world wanted to open up new territories, but no matter what they did, they could never leave a trace on this mountain wall.

Over time, everyone gave up the idea of opening up new territories and turned to compete for the limited territory of the underground world.

The situation of the surface world is not clear to Sean, because there are oceans outside of the miracle continent. Moreover, the Far North is the outer land divided by the Orc Empire, the Elf Empire, and the Dwarf Empire. No one knows what the Far North is like.

Except for these criss-crossing rivers like scars, the entire underground world is roughly divided into six areas.

The first main river near the north is the river of blood ancestors. The area bounded by this river to the north is the living area passed on by the blood from generation to generation. It is said that in a long time ago, the area from the south of the blood ancestor river to the second main river, the heart of the earth, was also the living area of the blood race, but now with the multiplication and complexity of the ethnic tribes in the underground world, now The blood race also had to shrink the living area.

Now this area from the river of blood ancestors to the river of the heart of the earth belongs to the land of monsters and alien beasts. It is a relatively wild area and is called the land of the desolate gods by the inhabitants of the underground world.

is bounded by the river in the center of the earth, the land of the desolate gods to the north, and the deep-skilled forest to the south, also known as the deep-skilled forest, where the dark elves live. However, the majority of people living in the Forest of Knowledge are members of the Evernight Party. This party is the mainstream party of the dark elves. Although it is relatively close to the Vengeance Party, there are still some gaps between them. The reason why they did not fall out completely. The main reason is that from time to time, the Evernight Party or the Vengeance Party changes their positions and joins each other's parties, so the two parties are very detailed.

The forest of deep knowledge is extremely vast, occupying almost half of the middle of the underground world. From the forest of deep knowledge to the south, it is the most iconic area of the underground world: the sea. In the Earth Sea, there are some water monsters and alien beasts. Of course, there are also marine tribes, such as sea people, fish monsters, etc. They are all over the earth sea area, and they are accompanied by monsters and alien beasts. Even the six holy blood races will not fight these guys in the Earth Sea.

The Earth Sea is regarded as the most central area of the underground world, and it is also the anchor point in the cognition of the residents of the underground world.

East of the Earth Sea, passing the ancient ruins, the millennium battlefield, and the valley of corpse tombs, is the hill of the wolf god.

The so-called Hill of the Wolf God refers to a large piece of hilly terrain uniquely formed here in the underground world. The 16 oldest tribes of the entire underground werewolf tribe live here. And the next-generation werewolf tribes born from these sixteen tribes also radiated outward with the Wolf God's Hill as the core, but in terms of the number of tribes, there is no way to compare with the blood races. It is said that this is because of the ancient wars. , The number of werewolf falls far exceeds that caused by the blood family.

Earth Sea to the west, after passing the keel battlefield, the ruins of the holy city, and the land of shameless blood, it is bounded by the throne mountain promenade. The northwest is the active place for blood elves, and the southwest is the active place for the demons.

This is a contrast between two extreme styles: the northwest is rich and luxurious. Here you can see one tall city after another, with almost no villages and towns, and the buildings in the city are also extremely luxurious, obviously just a simple three. Home, even if you count the hired servants, there are only a dozen people, but their house looks like it lives in a family of hundreds of people.

The southwest is poor and dilapidated. It is obviously the same as the six holy blood races, but the demons are more like nomads. There is hardly any concept of towns here, and some are just tribes of different sizes. Ethnic group. These tribal groups are formed under the leadership of the king's call. The size of the tribes does not represent the actual combat effectiveness of the tribes. On the whole, the demons are a race that is difficult to define the actual combat effectiveness level.

As for the territory of the spider monster, the area south of the earth sea, also after passing the southern dragon bone battlefield, belongs to the territory of the spider monster. However, people in the underground world are more accustomed to calling the area west of the Earth Sea a spider nest, because here you can see almost all spiders you can imagine: such as crypt cold spiders, crypt ice beads, ghost face spiders , Humanoid spiders, and most of the races that are associated with such spiders, monsters, monsters.

This is the territory and power distribution of the entire underground world.

But after listening to what Kane said, the doubts in Sean's mind became deeper and deeper.

He compared the map of the subterranean world with the map of the surface world, and silently inserted it into the geographic location of the surface world.

If the Earth Sea is the center of the entire underground world, then this location is equivalent to the trading capital of the surface world. Of course, the trade capital is not as vast as the land and sea. It is necessary to count all the land surrounding the trade capital, and even involve the borders of several countries, but the substitution of this part of the location is absolutely no problem.

Calculating with the trading capital as the center, Sean thinks that the position where he and Serena were at the beginning of the battle should probably be between the spider's nest and the demonite's territory. If the underground world corresponds to the location of the surface world, then now he is either in the territory of the demon descendant or in the territory of the spider demon.

The facts turned out, but he was in the territory of the blood clan.

You need to know that according to the map comparison, the territory of the blood race is the northern part of the Marvel Continent. Even if it is not an outland area, it should correspond to the position of the Northern Duchy Federation or the Empire of St. Joel's. But Sean knew that in the game world, he had seen the introduction of the underground world, so he knew that the vastness of the underground world was calculated according to the two continents of the miracle continent and the outer continent, not just the miracle continent. Of the territory.

Even if the territory of the underground world is turned upside down, it is completely unmatched-in this way, the blood family's territory is indeed transferred from the north to the south, but the position where the battle broke out between Sean and Serena is also not in the same place. On the territory of the Demon Party, it will become closer to the territory of the werewolf race because of the map change. Because from the map drawn by Kane, the Hill of the Wolf God is in the eastern part of the Earth Sea, but the vast radiating out of the werewolf tribe occupies most of the northeastern area.

Looking at the map of the underground world drawn on the cave floor, Sean fell into silence.

However, Kane can only paint a rough map of the underground world. If a map is too detailed, he can't do anything. After all, the territories owned by different clans, tribes, and ethnic groups will change with their influence. The size of the territories of these clans is not static.

"In any case, you must go to the werewolf turf." After a long time of contemplation, Sean finally made a decision.

He still holds a path of the abyss in his hand, but because of the regional differences in the underground world, he cannot judge the specific location of the path of the abyss. But according to Serena's situation, Sean tentatively speculated that the map of the underground world and the surface world were reversed, so he had to go to the werewolf turf to understand the situation anyway.

When he was communicating with Serena, he had already drawn out her information, so Sean believed that the path of the abyss would be used as a backup channel by the character of the magic party, so this proved that the path of the abyss must be In the hands of the Mo Party. The only thing he needs to do is to find a territory of the blood demon on the territory of the werewolf race, and there is also an abyss in this territory, as long as these three requirements are met, it will definitely lead to the void of the Principality. A path to the abyss.

As for the method after finding it, it is equally simple, just open it directly.

"Dad!" The Black King suddenly said, breaking Shaun's thinking about the next plan.

The moment he recovered, Xiao En's brow furrowed. Although his perception ability has been greatly reduced due to his injury, he needs to rely on the Black King's assistance. But if it is close enough, Sean's keen perception can still play a role.

Only at this moment, at the next moment when the Black King issued a warning, someone broke into Sean's perception, which was enough to show that the other party's attitude was not friendly.

Without the slightest hesitation, Sean drew his sword instantly.

A sword qi broke through the air directly and swept out towards the cave entrance.

The bonfire on the ground swayed towards the entrance of the cave at the moment when the sword gas burst into the air, as if there was a strong wind blowing.

The fierce sword aura raged out, drew a long crack on the ground, and hit a dark shadow head on.
