Chapter 241: .Utopia

The black sky is a thick lead-gray cloud layer, occasionally only extremely bright sunny weather can shine on the earth through a thinner place.

But even so, there are often only very short moments.

In the black earth, death and desolation are the eternal theme.

But today, all this is destined to be completely different.

Somewhere in this huge and thick lead-gray cloud was directly penetrated by a golden-red beam of light rising into the sky, exposing a clear sky that had never been directly shot on the ground for a long time. And this golden-red beam of light, as if it were some kind of virus, was rapidly spreading the golden-red luster at an astonishing speed, and gradually stained the original monotonous lead gray cloud. Layers of golden red.

Golden-red light spreads extremely fast on this lead-gray cloud layer, but in the blink of an eye, nearly a quarter of the cloud layer was smeared into a golden red. Standing under this cloud layer, anyone can clearly feel that the forces that belong to order are emerging crazily, and then all chaos, darkness, evil-all forces that are not part of the order, are driven out.

The power of order is like a storm, beginning to sweep across this black soil.

The next moment, this thick lead-gray cloud layer was infected by the golden-red power of order, and it began to become thinner.

On the clouds, some places that were originally relatively thin have been "corroded" into a small pit, and sunlight is falling through the clouds.

In the beginning, only a few strands of aperture, probably less than one meter in diameter, fell on the entire black soil.

But as the golden-red ray's infection area becomes larger, the thinning of this lead-gray cloud is also speeding up. So, soon, more and more places of black soil began to be shining down, and the places where sunlight had already penetrated the clouds and fell were spreading at an alarming rate.

Standing on the ground in the distance, one can clearly see that this land, which is full of cold and dying silence, as more and more sunlight falls through the clouds, the whole land has a little bit. Holy, warm feeling.

But soon, even more shocking, or shocking pictures began to appear on this land.

The earth was withered, dried up, and filled with a breath of death. Under the shining of the sun, with the force of order sweeping away like a storm, this dark-brown earth, full of traces of cracks, unexpectedly moved at a speed visible to the naked eye. Started to recover!

First there are traces of cracks, just like rewinding, countless sands and rocks suddenly appear on the ground, and then just like a program that has already been set, they start to line up one by one and jump into oneself. The specified position is glued little by little. Only because of the extremely fast speed of this process, it looked like the original cracked ground. The cracks began to shrink and fade, and finally recovered to a bare yellowish-brown stone.

And as the dark-brown earth gradually faded and turned into a yellow-brown bare layer of stone: just as the lead-grey clouds in the sky were infected by the golden-red power of order, the entire black soil was also growing. At a very fast speed, it changed from a dry dark black to a full khaki.

Then, a little greenery emerged from this land.

It was as if some kind of charge was blown, and soon there were continuous green grasses growing out of this land.

First one point, then many points, and then when these green grasses that grew from the points gather into one piece, patches of green grassland that seem to be isolated begin to form on the ground. Immediately after this piece of grass, which seemed to be isolated, bordered each other, a vast field of vision began to form on this land, and when more and more fields finally began to border each other, this land Finally, a vast grassland was formed.

With the formation of the grassland, more and more colors have finally begun to appear on this land.

was originally a large area of lowland. With the formation of grasslands on both sides, this lowland became a road. At this moment, a small opening was opened in the ground of the road, and then water came out from this small opening: at first it was just a little bit of moisture, just soaking the surrounding ground within a few millimeters, and then soon The spring water gushed out, and the dark area, which appeared darker due to being soaked by the water source, began to gradually increase.

A few seconds later, spring water began to gush out from this small crack, like a sudden spring.

After a few more seconds, the sudden spring changed from just a few centimeters above the ground into a clear water spouting tens of meters high.

After the first channel, there will be a second channel of water gushing out of this channel, followed by the third channel and the fourth channel.

Soon, this lane began to be filled with spring water at an extremely fast speed: first it was a waterway, then it became a creek, and finally it became a river.

The clear water of the river, complemented by the greenery on the grassland, the air soon began to become fresh.

And not only the river water, but also flowers began to bloom on this grassland.

Even what began to change is no longer confined to this land.

The forest of sighs that originally lay in front of the black soil, the weird trees that were distorted by the radiation of the dark power, under the correction of the power of order, these distorted trees began to gradually return to their original state: the dry bark began to become full again When he got up, the originally twisted branches began to straighten out, and the branches even directly grew leaves on these branches, contrary to common sense.

Dark, gloomy, forest of sighs full of dead wood, at this moment, it has also become a real forest full of greenery and vitality.

It seems that all this was just a certain kind of fear illusion, but at this moment, this fear illusion has finally been lifted, and everything has begun to return to its original appearance.

If we say, before sighing in the forest or the black soil, there is always a desolate atmosphere of sigh. So at this moment, what is emanating from this land is an aura of prosperity full of vitality.

Xuefanio, Hitley, and Rena looked shocked at the land that seemed extremely desolate a few minutes ago.

In just a few minutes, the thick lead-gray clouds in the sky completely dissipated, and when the sun completely shone on this land, everything turned out to be so different.

Unlike Xuefanio and Hitley who sighed about the magic of the Creator, Rena rubbed her eyes very directly. She obviously couldn't believe why this land could show up in such a short period of time. Two very different pictures come out.

Death and life.

"Let's go." Sean had seen this scene a long time ago. Although he watched it again at this moment, his heart was still deeply shocked, but his face did not show it, but looked very indifferent. .

"You... knew it a long time ago?" Hitley looked at the indifferent Sean, and said with some surprise, "You already knew all this would be like this, didn't you?"

"The land of black soil is planted with fire of order. When the power of order disperses chaos, it will be like this." Xiao En replied, "Every time the black soil is purified, it is a spiritual baptism for the pioneers. ... to Otherwise, why do you think so many people are willing to become pioneers and are always struggling on the front line of purifying the black soil? They just want to see this scene before them, for a kind of... spiritual satisfaction."

Sean naturally knew that every time the pioneers buried order fire into the black soil, so that the chaos of the black soil disappeared, and the order returned, similar things would happen.

It's just that this is not an instant recovery, but a relatively long period of time.

may be several days, it may be ten days and a half months, or even several months or even years. The only thing that is impossible is to let all the chaos disappear in just a few minutes, and to turn a lonely and barren land into a place of prosperity and vigor.

Only because of Utopia.

The only remaining holy land in the world today, the earthly ideal town.

However, Hitley, Xuefanio, Rena and others have never dealt with the pioneers, so they naturally did not know the doorway inside.

Even, they don't even know the meaning of the three words "Utopia".

The name of the Holy Land has long since disappeared after the Age of Ashes.

"Let's go." Sean said again.

"Where are we... going?" Rena finally recovered from the shock, and then asked.

"There." Sean reached out and pointed forward.

is the empty front, but I don't know when the outline of a city has appeared.

Because this outline is too far away from Xiao En and others, only a little outside of the city wall can be seen vaguely, which seems to be built on the hillside. But before that, whether it was Hitley, Xuefanio, or even Rena, who had been investigating high in the sky, it was clear that there was no trace of this city before.

If it hadn't been for Sean to point his finger at this place, the three people present would not know that there was still a city here.

However, the previous three were immersed in the shocking side of this land, so it is very possible that they have missed something.

Only Xiao En knew that this holy place hidden on this land was actually assimilated with the mountain as early as the chaotic forces invaded. Only by putting the fire of order into this black soil, and thoroughly purifying the place, will Utopia appear in front of everyone-that is the entrance to the Holy Land that was exposed after the mountain collapsed. After passing the entrance, it is the legendary copy of the twelfth order: Paradise Lost.

Only now, all this is just as Sean expected.

As the dungeon of Paradise Lost was destroyed and conquered by Leike, the final stage of this holy land had already been cleared.

As long as order is restored in this land, utopia will return completely!

At present, Utopia, the holy land, is presented to everyone in such a straightforward manner!

Chapter 242: .The Earthly Ideal Hometown

The plane of miracle, in the hundreds of thousands of years since the dawn of dawn, after experiencing the twilight age, the ashes age, the chaos age, and the age of order, it finally came to the current era of the strong. In these many historical periods, the Plane of Miracles has also successively built six holy sites.

The two holy places built in the dawn of dawn are Birsrod and Asgard.

The former is called the world wall of dawn. It is the first world wall constructed for this plane by the gods rising from the kingdom of gods to resist the erosion and attack of the void storm. The latter is called the Golden Palace of the Gods, and it was once a temple built by the gods for their * servants in the dawn of dawn.

These two are obviously more in line with the meaning of "holy land" than the four holy places established in later generations. Especially the golden palace of the gods. Asgard, this holy land destroyed in the evening battle of the gods, was once the place of faith in the hearts of the gods and the people.

After that, when the plane of miracle entered the twilight age, the gods built Saint Afar and Valhalla in accordance with the instructions of the gods. In contrast to Birsrod and Asgard, which were created by the gods, they are called the Great Church of the Twilight. Saint Afar and the last Hall of Valor. Valhalla was not built by the gods, but because The people of God were built according to the will of the gods, so these two holy places also have their unique sacredness.

It is reported that in the twilight era, the friction between the gods and the people has become more and more serious. At that time, wars of the fall of gods and heroes have begun. Therefore, the construction of Valhalla once strengthened the belief in the hearts of gods and people. All the gods and people believe that if they live according to the will of the gods, as long as they do not violate the orders of the gods, then they can enter Valhalla after death, continue to survive in another way, and even be promoted to Servant, enter Asgard.

The reason why believers of the gods believe that they can enter the kingdom of God after death and become servants is actually because of the existence of Valhalla in the past. Although this special existence called the "Last Hall of Heroes" was later destroyed in the Twilight of the Gods, its divinity and inherited meaning also caused the gods to introduce this "heroic spirit" into their kingdom. Mode, so that their believers can enter the kingdom of God after death and continue to serve themselves.

Compared with the value of the last Valhalla and the influence it had on the gods, the Great Sanctuary at dusk, St. Afar, seemed a bit tasteless. This holy place was originally called the Great Sanctuary, and it was the only legal place for the gods to come and communicate with the people. In fact, before the contradiction between the gods and the peoples was completely intensified, the gods did try to make the peoples. The return of faith.

It's just a pity that this plan ended in failure.

Later when the gods erupted at dusk, Saint Afar of the Great Temple became the first victim. However, in view of its sacredness, and the first destroyed holy place in the history of the Plane of Miracles, and it happened in the twilight era, it is called the Great Sanctuary of Twilight.

After , when the age has entered the age of ashes, the earth is devastated and the world plunges into darkness.

Humans, elves, dwarves, all kinds of races, in order to be able to live in this world, they finally worked together to build two new shelters.

is the utopia known as the "worldly ideal hometown" and the "fairy sanctuary" Avalon.

The former was where humans hid at the time, while the latter naturally gathered all the elves on the entire continent at that time. However, there is a slight subtlety that, whether it is Utopia or Avalon, there were quite a few dwarves who also joined the construction at that time, but when these two holy sites were finally completed, humans and elves were able to avoid being the darkest in the early days of the Ashes. When the difficult times were obliterated, the dwarves did not appear in these two holy places.

There are many rumors about this part. Some say that the dwarves hide underground after the construction is completed, and some say that the dwarves are driven away by humans and elves after the construction is completed, and they are not allowed to enter. Although there are many rumors, in the game at that time, many players actually favored the second point of view, and even derived a genre: that is, Utopia and Avalon would disappear and disappear to a large extent. Because of retribution.

It is humans and elves who have abandoned the dwarves and violated the retribution suffered by the content of the contract.

But no one knows the truth.

The only thing Sean knows is that after their Void Wings opened Utopia, there were no new tasks or troubles. He only knows that Utopia can be called the "ideal land of the earth" for no reason, and it is not without reason that it can be called one of the six holy places.

If there is a place in this world where the sacredness condensed is comparable to the kingdom of God, or even the kingdom of God that surpasses the current gods, then it must be the six holy places. Except for the first four holy places that have been completely solidified into the barriers of the world on this plane, Asgard, Saint Afar, and Valhalla have been destroyed in the battle of the gods at dusk. Although Avalon Like utopia, it is only cursed and sleepless, but the way to open this goblin sanctuary is not easy, and it can even be said to be more difficult than utopia.

In addition, Sean is not familiar with Avalon, so he naturally never wanted to open this place.

Since he came into this world and made a determination to let the wings of the void fly again, his goal has always been utopia.

Now, when Utopia finally revived and appeared before Sean's eyes, the excitement in his heart was naturally beyond words.

No one can understand Sean's mood at this time.

It is a kind of faith that has persisted for a long time, a kind of turbulent feeling that has been pursued for a long time and finally realized.

A group of four people soon came to this holy place.

The Holy Land Utopia is a giant city built on the hillside.

As a refuge for human beings in the Ash Age, this land can accommodate a population of close to three million people and covers an area of more than 1,500 square kilometers. It is the largest known territory in the Marvel Continent today. Although nearly one-third of the area is hollowed out and constructed by hollowing out the mountainside, the entire utopia actually has a very complete circulation system: including grain farming, water circulation, and so on.

Of course, the area of the sanctuary of this refuge does not just refer to the towering city wall that is present in front of Sean and others at this moment, but refers to the entire land including the forest of sighs, which belongs to utopia. area.

Only about 500,000 people can really live in the holy city. The other two million people are actually scattered across the entire land—according to the background information recorded by the game's official Utopia, in addition to the holy city, there are actually ten surrounding areas. Two towns.

The giant city wall that was fifty meters high was built along the direction of the mountain.

The construction materials of these walls are obviously some kind of stone that may not be mined now. Although the years have left indelible traces of history on these walls, the walls did not bring anything to Sean and Rena. The impression of dilapidation, on the contrary, this city wall is stronger than any wall that Sean has seen, and it is obviously a stone building, but when the weapon hits it, there is a muffled sound of metal impact.

The city wall stretches for hundreds of meters, starting and ending at the mouth of the valley on both sides.

Utopian cities are built on a valley, and the city gate is right in the middle of the valley. In the game, a player who was too busy to test that time, the two sections of the east and west walls were exactly 750 meters symmetrical, which means that the length of this section of the city wall was 1,500 meters.

According to the standard of setting up a shift of soldiers on duty every 50 meters for the wall patrol, this section of the wall requires a total of 30 shifts of manpower, that is, at least 600 soldiers on duty for each round of the wall. If you count the number of commanders, maneuvering teams, and reserve forces, then it's the size of a thousand people.

Only a section of the city wall requires a thousand soldiers on duty.

Fortunately, there is only one wall in the main Utopia city. The east and west sides are steep mountain walls. It is extremely difficult to climb into the city. On the north side, there is the hollowed out mountain belly. Although there is a mountain range bordering the back, it is a loophole in the main Utopian city, but in fact it is not easy to climb the mountain from the north to enter the Utopian main city. matter.

Because the climbing point of this mountain range happens to be in the Canyon of Warcraft.

At this time, Xiao En and others have all arrived under the city wall, and they all raised their heads to look up at the huge city gate nearly twenty meters high.

"We... how do we get in?" Hitley asked.

Even if this city gate is just a casual glance, you can know that the weight of the city gate is definitely not light, I am afraid that if you want to open it with human power, it is by no means an easy task. Even Hitley and others are speculating that the city gate is probably also a large-scale magic power machine, and the opening of the city gate must be opened by the transmission of the wheel of the magic power machine, just like a steam gear. The gates are opened in the same way.

"Fly?" Rina asked tentatively.

The height of fifty meters may be very difficult for the strong in the golden realm, but for the strong in the sanctuary realm, it is nothing. They only need one or two borrowings to easily climb. Up the city wall. As far as legends and even super powers are concerned, there is no problem. With the ability to stay in the air and the ability to fly, they can easily cross the city wall and enter the city.

And a dragon knight like Rena naturally has a more convenient way.

Black Stone, now it is a real flying dragon. Perhaps as long as it evolves once or twice, it will be able to become a real black dragon, which might become the third real dragon on the Marvel Continent—if the dragon hiding in the dark tide forest did not exist. If it was slaughtered by Bass.

"It's useless." Sean shook his head. "On this land, several large magic circles are permanently immortalized, one of which is the no-fly zone. If your black stone becomes a real dragon, then maybe there is. It may be possible to obtain a short-term suspension capability, but it is impossible to fly like in other places. Not to mention us people...Here, we can only be about 30 meters above the ground at most."

Utopia, there is no reason for flying without birds.

When it was chaotic black soil, this was the forbidden zone of life. And even after being purified, there is still no possibility of flying on this land, even if it is just a non-aggressive ornamental bird, it is impossible to fly on this land.

No one in the room would doubt what Shaun said.

"Then how do we get in?" Xuefanio said, "This door...it is not easy to open at first glance. Do you have the key?"

Shaun gave Xuefanio a white look: "When have you seen the city gate opened by a key?"

"Then how to get in?" Xuefanio frowned.

Sean's brows also frowned.

In the game, with the success of the first phase of the mission, after the opening of Paradise Lost, players of Void Wings will automatically enter the dungeon of Paradise Lost as long as they approach the city. Later, when they completely finished the Raid of Lost Paradise dungeon, they also appeared in the central square of the city. The gate of Utopia had already been opened, so Sean was really at a loss as to how to open the gate of this city. .

"It seems that the old way can only be used."

sighed lightly, Xiao En stepped back a few steps, and then ran quickly. As he approached the city wall, he suddenly jumped, and his figure rose to the ground. This time, Sean did not use the power of the law in his body to give him the ability to float, but even so, Sean felt a sudden heaviness from his body, as if some power was preventing him from continuing to climb. .

And the strength of this obstruction became especially obvious when it reached 20 meters, and Xiao En even felt that he was directly affected by dozens of times of gravity. At this time, he finally couldn't help but stretched his foot and tapped lightly on the wall, trying to take advantage of his strength to jump again, but what made him feel subtle was that at the moment when his right foot was on the wall, that The huge gravity exerted on him completely disappeared, which made Xiao En's spirit uncontrollably refreshed.

But when he took advantage of the force and jumped again, the gravity instantly returned to him, and as his height continued to rise, the power of gravity was obviously still being superimposed, even if it was Sean's current power multiples. The strength of the body, when it reached 40 meters, the bones in the body also heard a squeezing crackle, which obviously had reached the limit of the body.

This discovery made Sean's heart startled: the reality is far more complicated and troublesome than in the original game.

However, his reaction was extremely fast. As soon as he noticed that his body was not right, he touched his legs on the city wall, using this method to eliminate the gravity blessed on him. The facts have proved that this method of judgment by Xiao En is indeed effective. Although this climbing method will undoubtedly increase his physical exertion, and only the strong above the legend can easily use this technique, but anyway, Xiao En still quickly climbed onto the wall.

After entering Utopia, everything here, for Sean, it feels like returning home.

Walking along the stairs of the city wall to the city gate, Sean gently raised the rocker, and with the sound of gears turning, the entire city gate was quickly opened.

Hitley, Xuefanio, and Rena filed in.

Utopia's main city, about two-thirds of the area was built in the valley, and the remaining one-third was in the mountain. Compared with the beauty of Avalon, Utopia's architectural style is obviously much simpler. Basically, it is based on durability and sturdiness as the first consideration. Moreover, the division of street areas is also very detailed and concise, giving people a kind of overall Atmospheric and simple impression view.

Probably because when this city was built, the whole world was in darkness, then human beings must work together in order to survive, and no one complained about anything. Because of this, there are no such concepts as commercial streets and shops in the utopia of the society. All houses are personal residences. Although the class system still exists, the class system of the society is different from the current class situation. .

In the Utopia period of the Ash Age, only the wise and sages can be regarded as the real upper class. They can avoid all labor and live in larger and more luxurious houses, just like the so-called aristocratic class today. Same.

In the valley, most of the dwellings are still at the level of ordinary people, and there are few more luxurious houses. However, as you get closer to the side of the mountain, it is easier to see some larger houses, and even some single-family buildings similar to a manor.

Under the leadership of Xiao En, everyone quickly passed through the street, entered the belly of the mountain, and then came to a room in the basement.

During the whole process, Sean didn't pause at all. After all, he was very familiar with the city. Even with his eyes closed, he knew where his destination was, so naturally there would be no waste of time when he acted. move.

It's just this action that fell into the eyes of Xuefanio and Hitley, and it seemed weird.

Because according to normal circumstances, an unfamiliar place must be explored first. But Sean's actions clearly indicated that he was not here for the first time. The only one who didn't have any doubts about Sean's actions was Rena.

"Isn't it your first time here?" Finally, Hitley couldn't hold back.

"You may not believe it." Sean thought for a while, and then said, "In my dream, I have been here many times."

"Dream?" Xuefanio glanced at Sean.

"En." Sean nodded, his tone full of sorrow, "I once had a dream. In that dream, I had many, many companions. We took risks and fights together. We cried and laughed together. Face the difficulties together, and then use the weapons in our hands to smash these difficulties and troubles.... In that dream, I am not a lord, nor an emperor or king. I am just... the captain of a mercenary group. ."

"It's really a talent." Xuefanio said, "If you can only be the leader of a mercenary group, then I am afraid that no one in this world dares to be your leader."

is still there. ——Sean said silently in his heart.

However, at this time, he did not answer this question.

He just stood in this room similar to an altar, and then lifted up several small stone pillars that had fallen down on the altar one by one, and then placed them in the altar.

Each of these small stone pillars is only half a meter long and looks like a piece of stone sticks, but the colors are different.

As Xiao En put the five stone pillars into the altar one by one, the altar also lit up in five different colors at the same time. Hitley, Xuefanio, and Rena who entered this altar with Sean didn't know that when the altar lit up a color, the whole utopia also emitted a color. And when the five colors shone one by one, the whole utopia instantly felt completely different.

A holy sacred breath has begun to diffuse throughout the Utopia.

That is an awe-inspiring atmosphere that cannot be profaned.

Sean looked up at the soft white light emitting from the altar. He closed his eyes and looked reverent.

"Chairman Yun Lan, I have already won the Utopia." Xiao En's heart was silently praying, "This time, I promise that no one will ruin the Utopia. The wings of the void will always be here. Spread our wings and soar... I will definitely make our wings of the void the most dazzling flag in the world. I will also make this pair of wings the pride and belief of the people of the void empire."

Although I don't know what Sean is doing, this scene is indeed the first time Hitley, Xuefanio, and Rena have seen Sean show such a pious appearance. Therefore, they did not interrupt Sean's prayers, but quietly watched his actions.

And when Sean finished praying and opened his eyes again, his eyes became firm and awe-inspiring: "Let's go.... Our guests will come soon, and everything is as we planned before. Do it like that."

"With our strength, can we really deal with Rick?" Xuefanio frowned, "Listening to Lord Ulamog, his strength should be... able to keep pace with them. And we... "

Before Xuefanio finished speaking, Sean interrupted: "We must not be able to beat Lake in other places. But here, there is absolutely no problem. Because this place is called "the ideal land of the world". Utopia is a sacred site created in the Ash Age. It is full of unparalleled sacredness. As long as Rek dares to step into this place, his strength will inevitably be weakened. This is our only advantage."

"Then how are you sure that Rick will enter this unfavorable place for him?" It was Hitley who asked.

"Because, when I planted the fire of order, the light of order that soared into the sky was actually equivalent to the war book I gave him." Shaun said in a deep voice, "as proud of the Lich King. For the existence of, I directly gave him the war book, and he will never ignore it. Because his pride does not allow him to ignore it, even if there is something unfavorable for him, he will intrude....Of course. Although his strength has been weakened to a certain extent, his experience is still there, and the magic that he masters is not less, so we still can't take it lightly."

"But at least, in such a situation, we have the power to fight a battle!" Rina said, as always very excited, "As long as we have the opportunity and we have so many people, we are not afraid that we can't beat him. . Rather, what we should worry about is what should we do if he can't beat us and run away."

"Then we have to do our best to prevent the opponent from running away." Sean chuckled, but the laughter didn't have much relaxed tone. "This belongs to our home court, and we have more people than the opponent, so On the whole, we are still relatively advantageous.... The most important thing is that now that the war has broken out in an all-round way, we don't have time to hesitate anymore. This war started as early as a month ago."

"We will do our best." Xuefanio nodded, "So... when will Rek come over?"

"He... has come." Xiao En was about to answer, but his face changed slightly, and he immediately said, "Just outside... the city gate."

Chapter 243: .Fighting Lake again

Lake stared at the towering city wall in front of him, and the wide gate that was wide enough for more than fifty knights to walk side by side, and the fire of the undead in his eyes kept shining.

When he first came here, he did not find this place. If he had known such a city here, he would definitely not leave easily. Because no matter how you look at it, this city is clearly of the type that is easy to defend and difficult to attack. As long as it occupies such a stronghold, then he is equivalent to having an invincible place, and the rest is just searching for materials.

And the material...

The location of this city can undoubtedly be called a transportation hub. Whether it is to the left or the right, it is a densely populated place. This is actually a steady stream of undead materials.

Lake sighed lightly: "It's a pity...it's a pity."

"What a pity?" A clear voice sounded inside the city gate, and took Leike's words.

Hearing the sound, the fire of the undead in Lake's eye sockets suddenly shrank. This reaction was somewhat like the sudden shrinkage of the pupils of normal creatures. Obviously, Lake has recognized the identity of the voice owner, but it is the overpowering strength of the voice owner that really makes him have this similar reaction.

In Lake's impression, when he and Sean met for the last time, Sean was nothing more than a sanctuary powerhouse, and even the realm of the upper sanctuary had not been reached. It was a completely negligible existence. But now, in just a few short years, Sean's strength has reached the legendary pinnacle level of the fifteenth order. This strength increase rate, even if it is Lake, has seen countless geniuses, and even killed countless genius witches. The Demon King felt palpitations for a while.

"Your strength has grown a bit beyond my expectations." Lake said in a deep voice, "but it has only been a few years since you already have such strength. If you give you some more time, I'm afraid you will set foot on this plane. The peak is not impossible."

Sean smiled slightly and did not answer.

Others don't know, but he knows it well.

In his situation, he wants to break through the realm with his personal strength and step into the ranks of super powers. Without centuries of accumulation and training, he does not need to think about it. And if he wants to increase his strength quickly, then he needs to slaughter many legendary powerhouses and strengthen his own combat power by absorbing their souls.

Not to mention how many legendary powerhouses in this world can be slaughtered by Sean like this, as Sean's strength breaks through to the ranks of super powerhouses, the souls of powerhouses needed for each level up, both in quantity and quality. That's even more terrifying. And in this way to improve the strength, if people know, then Sean will definitely be included in the team of the demon even if he is not the demon. When the time comes, all countries on the entire continent will raise the flag of crusade together, that's not Shaun wanted the result.

However, Sean did not speak, but Rick recognized his own guess, and his intention to kill Sean was obviously stronger.

"I have a question." But Sean didn't seem to feel that Rick's killing intent was so strong that it was about to become a substance. He asked himself, "Why Cecilia?"

"Why?" Lake asked back.

"You know what I'm asking." Sean said in a deep voice, his expression more serious this time.

"Jie Jie." Rick suddenly laughed, "Why? No reason, I just fell in love with that little girl, and I happen to lack an assistant, I think she is very suitable. It's that simple."

"So simple?" Sean frowned, "Phoenix blood has always been the purest bloodline of order, and it is also the bloodline ability of the bright direction. It is incompatible with your lich. Let Cecilia be your assistant. , The first person who feels uncomfortable is you?... Do you want to study Cecilia's Phoenix bloodline? Well, it's more than that simple... Your goal is to cultivate the Dark Phoenix."

In the end, Sean's words were no longer doubts, but affirmations.

"You don't look as wasteful as you used to be." Lake put away the weird smile, "Indeed, my goal is Dark Phoenix. However, you should know that Dark Phoenix research projects can only rely on A few drops of blood or a little blood is not enough. So, if I also transform her into a lich, then she doesn't need blood and flesh, does she?"

"I see." Sean took a deep breath, then exhaled heavily.

"What do you want to do when you ask this?" Lake also asked Sean curiously.

"Decide whether to expel you from this plane, or completely strangle you." Sean stared at Lake, and said with a cold face, "Now it seems...you must be completely wiped out to prevent you from making a comeback. Thoughts."

Rake let out a burst of laughter when he heard Sean's words.

Laughter is arrogant and irresistible.

"Kill me?" Rek's grinning laughter also revealed a bit of joy. "Are you really ignorant, or are you scared? Completely, kill a lich? It's up to you? Hahaha , Even Andrew can't help me, he can only seal me up, do you think you can kill me? This is a very interesting joke."

"If you don't try, how can you know." Xiao En took a step forward, and the momentum of the whole person quickly gathered.

He didn't know.

Creatures such as liches must destroy the phylactery before they can completely end their lives, otherwise it will only destroy the opponent's body. As long as the other party has done a good job of sufficient reserves, it will inevitably be resurrected within ten to several decades. No matter how long it is, it will not exceed a hundred years. Of course, for the average person, it will be able to live for more than a hundred years. It's an unknown number, but for people like Sean, living for thousands of years without accidents is not a problem.

And more importantly, Rick is not an ordinary Lich, but a Lich King.

What is the Lich King?

can be roughly understood as being the most powerful creature in the category of lich.

Like this Lich King, will he still lack materials? Even if it is really lacking, after strangling his body and driving him back to the Bone Plane, he can still easily obtain a large amount of material on the Bone Plane to recreate a body.

At the time, Andrew did not completely wipe out Rek. It was because he could not find his phylogeny, so he was exiled and sealed in a broken world of small planes, trying to completely wipe out Rek by this means. After all, this method that accompanies the collapse of the entire space plane is not something that ordinary people can bear. With the strength of Rek's soul, it is possible that it will not be able to support his soul to return to the bone plane.

It's just a pity that Andrew's original plan was eventually destroyed by Sean's accidental hitting.

And this has become a line of cause and effect for Sean.

So the expulsion of Lake must be done by him himself. If this weren't the case, Sean wouldn't have written a note to Lake, forcing him to come here.

There are some causal lines that can only be completed by him personally, and cannot be pretended to be someone else's hand. Otherwise, if it is too deeply involved or causes confusion, then it will have a fully estimated result. This is something that Sean only fully understood after becoming a son of the plane.

"Try it?" Rek smiled in a low voice, "Interesting, then...try it."

While saying this, Rick suddenly took a step forward. The speed was so fast that it completely subverted the image of the lich in the past.

But as he took this step, more than a dozen spiral air currents suddenly appeared in the air around Lake. As soon as these spiral air currents appeared, a white spear tip appeared immediately, and Sean just glanced at it and knew that these white spears are bone spears, and they are a favorite attack method used by undead magicians. . However, under normal circumstances, the undead magician can only summon one or two bone spears, and only a Lich King like Rek can summon a dozen bone spears effortlessly.

As soon as a dozen bone spears came out, they shot out suddenly in the next second.

All the bone spears were targeted by Sean, and under the guidance of Lake's spirit, all of Sean's retreat and evasion spaces were sealed to death. This completely forced Sean to deal with these bones. spear.

It's just that, in the face of these bone spears, Sean was indifferent.

Then the next moment, the soul fire in Lake's eyes suddenly shrank again.

In the process of these bone spears flying to Sean, the tip of the first bone spear appeared with a golden shimmer, and then this golden light seemed to be like a bottomless pit, and began to gradually swallow the whole bone spear. stand up.

or swallow, not very accurate.

To be more precise, it should be decomposition.

The entire bone spear is constantly burning and decomposing in the process of flying fast, just like a meteorite breaking through the atmosphere. The only difference is that the burning speed of these bone spears is much faster than when the meteorite breaks through the atmosphere, but at a distance of tens of meters, these bone spears have turned into a piece of fly ash and spread in the air. , Even being close to Sean's side, he couldn't do it at all.

Lake's face looked extremely solemn.

At this moment, the rich light element radiated from the city gate, and even Leike, who was standing outside the city, felt a searing pain. You know, it is impossible to calculate how strong the dark elements he possesses, who can become a great witch-level existence on the bone plane. What a fatal injury.

but!

At that moment, when the power of the light element burst out, Lake felt a burst of danger.

But soon, Lake's mood swings turned into shock.

"Oh? Feel it?" Sean could clearly feel Lake's mood swings. An existence like the Lich King could not even control his own mental fluctuations. This was obviously a great shock.

At this moment, Lake only felt an extremely thick and powerful light element beginning to flood this space. The filling of this light element power in this space made Leike feel extremely uncomfortable. He could even clearly "see" that the dark element power in his body was being continuously drawn out, which made Leike couldn't help but feel it. Begin to mobilize the dark elements in the soul to quickly condense into a barrier, resisting the erosion of this huge light element force on itself.

But in this way, Lake's strength is naturally equivalent to being weakened.

At this moment, he just felt like he had fallen into a pot of hot oil.

"You..." Rick was furious, glaring at Sean. The arrogance of being willing to act before has disappeared without a trace. Now he can't wait to take Sean off on the spot. It's just the most basic. The reason is still maintained, which prevents Rick from acting rashly immediately.

If before, Rek, who had the strength of Tier 19, wanted to kill Sean just like squeezing an ant. So now only the eighteenth-order Reck really wants to kill Xiao En, although it is still possible, but it is definitely not as simple as pinching an ant. Especially, according to Lake's investigation and understanding, he knew that Sean would never do things that were unsure. If he dared to appear in front of him alone at this time, he must have made perfect preparations.

But Sean will not give Lake any chance.

Since he planned this final battle, he had anticipated this situation.

Only here in Utopia, can he weaken Rek's strength and put Rek in a stage that can be dealt with. Otherwise, with his nineteenth-tier combat power, no one in this world can deal with him except the three Eldrazi brothers and Alexis.

"It's now!" Sean exclaimed, "Hitley!"

Standing on the platform of the city gate, Hitley, who was ready for a long time, heard Sean's shout, and immediately immediately locked her spiritual guidance to Leike, and whispered: "Life sanctions!"

Life sanction is one of the few attacking magic arts of the Life Church.

Although the damage effect is almost negligible, if it is used to deal with creatures like undead, it can often have a very good miraculous effect. Naturally, the power and effect of the life sanctions imposed by the chief saint of the Church of Life can be imagined.

The milky white light shrouded Lek in an instant.

And when this light came into contact with Lake's body, it was immediately like pouring gasoline on the flame, and it turned into a more violent fire in a blink of an eye. The strong light that burst out made Rick look like a small sun. The original soft brilliance even pierced Sean into closing his eyes, and he could only listen to Rick's anger and anger. With a painful roar.

But this light did not last long.

was quickly suppressed by Leke, but even so, he could clearly feel Leke's difficulty, because the intensity of his aura had dropped from the eighteenth to the seventeenth.

Standing outside the city gate, Lake glared at Hitley who was standing on the gate tower.

He actually wanted to fly up to kill Hitley, because from the aura and characteristics that Hitley radiated, he was obviously just a legendary powerhouse, and his strength was about the level of the twelfth and thirteenth ranks. , Not even Sean.

If calculated according to normal conditions, even the legendary powerhouse of the thirteenth rank can not suppress the superpower of the sixteenth rank in the spiritual realm, let alone the existence of the eighteenth rank.

But on the contrary, the "power of life" that Hitley possesses, but it happens to be the nemesis of Lake's "power of death". Moreover, life sanctions are a locked-in continuous magic. What Hitley needs to do is not to suppress mental power. She only needs to maintain her own spiritual guidance and firmly lock Leke, then Leke There is no way to completely evade the suppression of life sanctions. For this reason, he must consume a large amount of undead power all the time to suppress the power of life sanctions.

Under this situation, the strength of Lake is naturally double suppressed.

This is because Lek is a nineteenth-level plane powerhouse. If it is only a super power-level, I am afraid that his strength has already been suppressed to the fifteenth level.

The next moment, without waiting for Sean to speak again, Xuefanio had already jumped down from the fifty-meter-high city wall, and hit Lek with a sword in the air!

Chapter 244: .Quantity

Xuefanio suddenly jumped from the high school, and the magical sword in his hand, Binglin, was shining with brilliance.

Although Xuefanio's strength was only the pinnacle of the legendary fifteenth order before the fall of the gods, but at this moment Rek is in a state of convulsions, so even if he still has the strength of the seventeenth order, he still has the strength. The hacking of Xuefanio's sword also seemed extremely embarrassing.

"Bone Prison!" Rek shouted angrily.

Under the ground, twelve white bones suddenly pierced out, converging towards a certain position on the top of Rek's head with a weird curve, forming a bone cell completely composed of the ribs of some kind of giant beast. Just by looking at the luster and brightness exuding from these white bones, we can know that the hardness of these white bones must not be low, and it is very likely that they are Leike's private treasures.

And just as Lake summoned this bone prison, Sean's pupils shrank suddenly.

The laws he mastered were originally the laws of time and space combining time and space. Therefore, he has a more acute sense of changes in the flow of time, the rhythm of space, and so on.

At that moment, there suddenly appeared spatial fluctuations and changes beside Leike that did not belong to this world.

Judging from the breath, it should be the breath of the bone plane. And it is this sudden emergence of the bone plane space that allows Lake to summon this bone prison. After all, most of the bone magic of the undead system needs some special materials to be activated, such as bones. Prison, bone spear, corpse explosion, corpse puppet, etc. In Utopia, what is absolutely impossible is all impure darkness.

Shaun was still thinking about it, Xuefanio's long sword had been severely chopped on the bone prison.

But an unexpected situation soon appeared.

Everyone felt that the bone prison created by using the precious ribs of some unknown behemoth should be extremely strong in terms of firmness. However, when Xuefanio's long sword was slashed on it, a bright light burst out in an instant, and countless cracks instantly spread in all directions along the position where the blade of the long sword was cut on the bone prison, but in a blink of an eye In between, the entire bone prison was full of cracks.

In the next second, the entire bone prison suddenly exploded, turning into powder floating in the sky.

Xuefanio's long sword slashed straight down.

The sword is sharp!

Although the Ice Wind Sword Qi that jumped and fell at the beginning was weakened and almost dissipated when it was cut on the bone prison, it still hadn't completely disappeared. At this time, there was still a trace of Ice Wind Sword Qi. The strands of sword aura bloomed in the powder dust flying all over the sky, and it was obviously very dazzling and dazzling.

The blue blade touched the ground, and a slight shock came out.

Sounded at the same time, and Rekna's low roar like a wounded beast.

Xuefanio didn't dare to be indifferent at all. After standing up suddenly, he let out a low drink, and at the same time waved the sword with his right hand, an icy cold wind suddenly blew, covering all the bone dust that covered each other's sight. Blow out.

Field of view, clear again.

Lake has retreated a few meters-perhaps because of his profession as a magician, so the retreat speed cannot be too fast. It's just that his left hand at the moment also looked a bit weird, as if he had been injured in the battle with Xuefanio just now.

The black mist is constantly emanating from the bone of Lake's right arm, and a very subtle crack can be seen on it. However, this crack was moistened by the black mist that radiated from it, and it was being repaired at a very fast speed, and it was restored in a short time, but from the aura, it was still possible to feel that Leike's strength seemed to have declined slightly.

Of course, compared to before, the decline in this strength appears to be very low.

Lake's gaze first glanced over Sean, then towards Hitley who was standing on the tower of the city wall, then glanced at Xuefanio, and finally fell back to Sean.

"It seems that I underestimated you." Rick said in a deep voice, "I didn't expect that it would actually be the light domain here."

The so-called light domain refers to the place where only the energy of the light system is extremely active in the entire area.

In the world of magic, the battle between magicians often uses the repulsive battle of pure elemental force field. For example, a magician who is very good at water magic, in a force field of pure fire element, then his combat power will be greatly reduced, on the contrary, a magician who is good at fire magic in this force field will have the best combat power. Big improvement. And this kind of force field with only a single element is called "pure element force field". Of course, this is only a more academic term, and there are many other ways of addressing it.

The most typical pure elemental force field is the four elemental planes.

Of course, if the strength is strong enough, then it is actually possible to use magic to forcibly extract or expel other elements.

The light field is actually the performance of this pure elemental force field. Just as the pure elemental force field is aimed at other elements, the light domain is only aimed at the power of the dark system, not against other powers such as elements and arcane arts. Just like the power of arcane, light energy, and dark energy in the pure elemental force field will not be improved, the arcane and elemental power will also not get any strengthening effect in the light field.

It is worth mentioning that the land of black soil is actually a kind of natural dark space.

Similarly, the kingdom of the gods can actually be regarded as a natural light domain. In the material world, the natural light domain is almost impossible to exist.

It is precisely because of this inertial thinking that Lake will appear here without hesitation.

Such a swagger, without even a trace of defense.

"It's not that you didn't expect it, it's just that you disdain it." Xiao En said calmly, not without the slightest complacency, "Before this is the dark domain, then when all the darkness is expelled and purified, naturally only light will remain. ...You are too confident in yourself. No, it should be said that you never put me or other people in your eyes. You think this is the best way to solve me, because as long as I die, then Alexis, Kozilek, Ulamog, Imoku will all disappear with me, and no one in this world can stop you anymore."

Lake did not speak, but stared at Sean.

Because of the facts, as Sean said.

Others may not know the relationship between the three brothers Alexis and Eldrazi and Sean, but Lake is not clear about it. As a follower of the contract, and also the top power that suddenly appeared in this world, Lake will naturally pay special attention to these enemies who can pose a death threat to him. So naturally, he also knew the origins of Alexis and others-although he did not guess the specific relationship between Alexis and Sean, in Lake's view, as long as Sean died. If they are too powerful, Alexis and others, who are too powerful, will naturally be rejected by this world, and then expelled.

In a sense, this is indeed a kind of "disappearing".

Of course, Sean did not tell the truth.

If all the black soils are natural light domains after restoration of order, then the light domains on this plane will be at least 800 if there is not one thousand.

In fact, in the plane of miracle, where such natural light can be formed, as far as Shaun knows, there are only two places, Utopia and Avalon. As for whether there is such a place in the outland, the game situation of the year has not yet opened the outland map, so he does not know the situation there.

"You are right, I have to admit that I did make a big mistake." Rick nodded, and his voice became a lot colder. "But what? Just a few of you, too. Want to kill me?... Even if my current strength has declined, it is only slightly decreased. If I do not suppress these influences, then the strength that I burst out in an instant can still make me above the peak. You...who wants to die first?"

Hearing Rick's words, Sean laughed instead: "Want to scare us off in this way, do you think this trick is useful for us?"

"I really want to know, if you don't suppress the influence of the light domain on you, how long can you hold on?" Xuefanio said coldly, and she swung her sword straight at Rek, a blue that contains light energy. The aura turned into a substantive smoke from her body, and Xuefanio's aura was constantly improving, "One minute? Three minutes? Only five minutes at most, right? What then?"

"Then, his strength may not even be able to maintain the realm of a super strong." Sean sneered and stepped out in the same step, then walked to Xuefanio's side and fought side by side with Xuefanio. He whispered to Xuefanio: "Be careful, Rick should fix the secret vault of his bone plane in his domain, so he can summon bone spears and bone prisons regardless of the suppression of the light domain."

Xuefaniao nodded slightly, but did not answer.

Shaun continued: "However, this ability has advantages and disadvantages.... In the development of his inherent domain, all of his material abilities can be maintained at the best effect, but once it collides with external forces, or leaves If the inherent domain is suppressed by the light domain, then all his abilities will be immediately invalidated."

Xuefanio thought about it carefully and found that it was exactly what Shaun had said.

The Bone Spear was still intact when it first appeared.

And the bone prison was also intact when it was summoned, but after colliding with Xuefanio's frost, it was suppressed by the power of the light domain, so it fell apart in an instant.

In other words, although Lek still retains the strength of the seventeenth rank, because of the restraint of the light domain, his actual combat effectiveness is actually lower than his current realm. Basically, no matter what kind of magic, it can only be maintained within a certain range around him, and this range cannot be attacked by external forces, otherwise the light domain will take the opportunity to invade and form a new round of suppression on him.

"But what he said just now, we can't help but prevent." Xuefanio said, "If he really desperately fights with us..."

Breathing out gently, Sean stared at Lake: "So, we can't fight the war of attrition, and we can't continue to drag it. The best way is to keep launching the thunder offensive to make him tired of coping."

"What idea do you have?" Hearing Sean's words, Xuefanio knew that Sean must have some tricks. Otherwise, the best way to deal with Lake is to delay time, not to fight head-on with him. After all, time is On the side of Sean and others.

"He was very cautious, even when he unfolded the plane of the secret vault, he didn't reveal any flaws." Xiao En whispered, "but this is not what I want, what I need is that he completely let go of all defenses. For an instant. As long as I have such a chance, then...I am sure to completely injure him. Even if he can't severely injure him, I can also seal off his secret vault plane and let him lose all magic materials."

"In that case..." Xuefanio glanced at Sean, then took a deep breath, "Then I have to go all out."

"You..." Sean was taken aback at first, but then he looked awe-inspiring, "Please."

Lake didn't know what Sean and Xuefanio had communicated in a low voice, but he could feel it. At the moment when the two exchanged, Xuefanio's look and breath suddenly changed. , An extremely powerful aura suddenly broke out in all directions with her as the core, and then a cold wind gathered on Xuefanio from all directions, surrounding her like a king crowned, and then quickly condensed Come out a set of light armor.

At this moment, Xuefanio's body suddenly exudes a sacred but inviolable aura of majesty.

This breath is not inferior to Shaun's emperor's aura.

God descend!

Rek, as the existence of God's greatest enemy, he naturally immediately felt the difference in Xuefanio's breath.

But what made Lake feel even more palpitations was the realm of strength that Xuefanio showed at this time.

Eighteenth order!

At this moment, Xuefanio's momentum has climbed to the peak of the eighteenth order, which is almost the peak state of the super power. If you go up further, you will belong to the nineteenth-level powerhouse of the plane level, but it is impossible for a clergyman to surpass this level throughout his life. This is also the biggest helplessness of the clergyman-they don't Like the rank of a magician or a warrior, as long as you don't become a god, you can endlessly improve your strength.

The realm of strength of all clergy is actually limited by the divine power of the gods.

And the gods, as the manifestation of the law, their strength is limited by the strength of the plane. Under normal circumstances, the highest strength of the gods is two steps lower than the plane limit-in other words, the current miracle plane has reached the twenty-second growth limit, and the gods of higher divine power can grow to twenty The degree of order. Of course, this means that in their own kingdom of gods, they can display the strength of the twentieth level. If they leave their own kingdom of gods, their strength will also be reduced accordingly.

Xuefanio, originally only the strength of the fifteenth rank, after passing through the gods, her strength can be used to the eighteenth rank, but this is also the limit. Even if in the future Xuefanio has the strength of the eighteenth order even if she does not pass the goddess, then in this state, she wants to break through her own strength only to enter the kingdom of Eswinter and become her servant. Only gods or subordinates can break through the eighteenth order.

Clergy are professionals who devote everything they have to the gods, so their strength is naturally closely related to their belief in gods. This is also a limitation for the clergy to quickly improve their strength by praying and gaining the grace of the gods. After all, compared to the ranks of magicians and warriors, clergy do have a little bit of no effort. .

But in any case, Xuefanio, who had forcibly improved her strength through God's descending, did indeed possess a stronger strength than Rek.

"It's been a long time, Lord Sean." Xuefanio, or it should be said that Eswinter opened those pale white eyes, and said slowly, "The opponent this time ...Is this filthy thing in front of you?"

"Yes." Shaun nodded, "Opponent... is the Lich King on the bone plane, please pay attention."

"Last time, your enemy was a demon. This time, it was a king of bones." Eswinter turned his head and looked at Sean, "The identity of your opponent really surprised me. "

"If you don't have this kind of status, how can you be worthy of being my opponent?" Xiao En laughed, "I am the emperor of the emptiness, who has created a new era."

Chapter 245: .opportunity

Boom!

Along with a roar and explosion, sand suddenly exploded to a height of tens of meters, and then turned into a piece of soil and rain fell.

However, it is strange that the three people standing in this soil and rain are completely immune to the influence of these soil and rain.

All the sand that fell on the three people was directly repelled by a certain powerful force field and bounced toward the surroundings when it was 30 centimeters away from the three people.

The whole soil rain lasted for two full minutes before it finally stopped.

The three people present were not very embarrassed, but the field around the three people was a few layers thicker. And in the middle of these three people is a huge deep pit with a radius of more than ten meters and a depth of more than five meters. The mud and sand splashed by the explosion just now erupted from this deep pit.

Lake is a skeleton frame, but he can't see the change in his expression. Most of the emotions he feels are judged by his mental fluctuations and the fire of the soul in his eyes.

At this time, Lake's emotions are obviously in a state of extreme irritation.

His black magic robe, which symbolizes his identity, has been damaged very badly. If it weren't for the fact that the defensive magic solidified on it was really extraordinary, then his magic robe would have long since become fragments. But even so, this magic robe has completely lost its due function and turned into a tattered piece-of course, if there is a sufficiently advanced skill, then you can still try to repair it.

However, Lake's anger is not just due to the destruction of this magic robe on him.

Most of his body is also covered with a layer of frost. Although the frost is rapidly melting under the washing of negative energy, it is still affected to a certain extent. Of course, using these negative energies to dissolve the frozen frost on the body is actually a decline in his own strength for Laker.

After all, to put it bluntly, in the current situation of the light domain, his dark energy is basically using his own long-term reserves, and some of the materials needed for dark magic come from the corpse vault that he solidifies inside his body. These are all used for a little less and cannot be supplemented in time, because the light domain is a place that completely isolates and repels the dark, so in a sense, excessive energy and material consumption is for Lake A weakening of strength.

Rek glanced in the direction of Xuefanio, and then snorted coldly.

Compared with the appearance of Rek where half of his body was covered with frost, Xuefanio's situation at the moment was also not much better.

A layer of black smoke surrounds her body, trying to erode into her body all the time. For this reason, Xuefanio, or Eswinter, who has taken over the control of Xuefanio's body at this time, also had to consume a certain amount of divine power to counteract, in order to avoid being eroded by these negative energies and affecting the body. The function of, after all, this dark energy was displayed by the great witch from the plane of bones, not the native lich of this plane world.

The gap is as big as the gap between a stream and a river.

But unlike the situation where Lake is in, Utopia is a light domain after all. In this environment, even if Eswinter is consumed, it will not be unable to be replenished. In a sense, the light domain is actually equivalent to the kingdom of the gods themselves. The clones of the gods and the descendants of the gods in this environment will more or less feel like a fish in water.

But as a whole, Aswenter has to fight against the invasion of negative energy, so the strength is somewhat damaged, but it is not as serious as Rek.

In this way, Sean's role seems a little important.

If Sean is really just a strong man at the pinnacle of the fifteenth-order legend, then in the battle between Eswinter and Lake, he will definitely not be able to intervene, and it can even be said that if he dares to intervene rashly, Then he will definitely become the first victim.

However, this kind of "if to say" is obviously not applicable to Sean.

Although Xiao En is only the legendary pinnacle of the fifteenth order on the surface, but with his unique time and space law ability, he can burst out of the super power of the sixteenth in a short period of time. Although this ability is not a small burden on Sean's body, if it is only used at a critical moment, it can often receive miraculous effects, especially in the face of Lake's overpowering situation, Sean's brief burst He just happened to be the key person who stuck Reck.

This is due to the absolute advanced combat awareness that Sean possesses.

If it is said that what Sean is facing at this moment is Ann Lucas, then this kind of advance consciousness of Sean will appear meaningless. After all, as one of the famous thirteen kings on the bone plane, Ann Lucas is an old monster that has not known how many tens of thousands of years he has fought, and is definitely not inferior to anyone in terms of combat awareness.

And Rick, although he is also a famous great witch on the plane of bones, even in terms of status, he is probably slightly higher than the thirteen kings by half.

However, what Lake is better at is still the strategic and tactical aspects. In this single-handedness, although he is not weak, he is still inferior in the end. In particular, many of Sean's tactical ideas are derived from the experience summed up by countless players. As far as the essence is concerned, it is naturally incomparable.

So, in the fierce battle that lasted more than ten minutes in the previous round, although Sean only made three shots, these three were extremely critical.

Especially for the last shot, Sean's Black King pierced directly into Lake's right rib, forcing Lake to end his death finger against Aswenter. But even so, the energy dissipation generated during the three-way confrontation still caused the collapse and explosion of the entire land-like this kind of pit with a radius of more than ten meters and a depth of more than five meters, there is not only one, but there are seven or eight pits. There are so many, it can be seen how fierce the battle has been in the past ten minutes.

The energy flooding between Lake and Eswinter is also the deepest impact on each other in this battle.

Instead, Sean, who was used as a restraint, seemed a little clean-he was not entangled by the negative energy of Lake. Lake deliberately wants Sean to experience this pain, but whenever Lake takes a shot, these negative energies are always offset by Eswinter's magic, so that Sean can be safe. Now.

But in the current battle, it is obvious that Eswinter has not too much leisure to take care of Sean.

Eswinter glanced at Sean, and when she saw the other side nodded slightly, she took a deep breath, and after dividing a little divine power to counter the erosion of the negative energy, her attention was once again focused on Lake.

Reck stared at Eswinter, watching all the negative energies entwined around her were drawn to one place, and then surrounded and compressed by a divine power, and finally contracted into a fingernail-sized piece. The expression on the face of the golden beads became more solemn.

"Divine power cutting...This has a great impact on you, too." Leike said coldly, "As one of the gods in this world, you are actually willing to use this method? Is this kid that important?"

"The supernatural power I possess is enough for me to perform dozens of such cuts before returning to weakness. What's more, in this light domain, although my power recovery is very slow, it is not only exhausted." Winter replied coldly, "But you, can you still display negative energy consumption of this scale dozens of times? Or, can you afford to fight such a war of attrition?"

Rake was silent.

Because of all this, as Eswinter said, he couldn't fight the war of attrition. At least, within the scope of this light domain, and want to leave this light domain... Rick quickly dispelled this idea, at least before completely crippling Sean and Aswinter, he did not I don't think I can escape the opponent's chase, but it will put myself into a bigger predicament.

Because Lake knew that Sean would never let him leave like this.

"It's no good for you, right." Lake said coldly. "To be honest, I have no interest in this world, so I have no intention of conquering. All I want is one thing, and after I get it, I will Get out of here. So... in terms of fundamental interests, we are not in conflict, right? You can still be your superior god, and I will not infringe your rights."

"Heh." Eswinter sneered, but this time she didn't speak anymore. The coldness in her hand was in two states on her hand and on Xuefanio's hand. At this moment, the coldness that radiated from the icy rim had already filled the surroundings, and the feeling of coldness seemed to freeze even the space.

In the next second, without waiting for Rek to speak again, Eswinter had already attacked with a sword: "Doing a deal with people on the plane of the bones, not to mention whether this will damage my godhead, even if it really doesn't... ...You guys who are in the abyss and hell, never believe it!"

The long sword in his hand suddenly slashed and fell.

A cold light shone from the blade, directly freezing the surrounding space of Leike.

Under this blow, as strong as Rick, he did not dare to parry forcibly. His mental fluctuations had reached an extreme state. From an emotional point of view, it was a deep anger. Of course, Rick didn't catch it with his hands, but once again used his own corpse vault to forcibly summon dozens of more white and crystal behemoth ribs, once again forming a pure white bone prison.

And at this moment!

Sean, who has been waiting for an opportunity, finally caught this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity!

Chapter 246: .Who gives you the confidence?

Powerful energy fluctuations, madly dissipating.

Although it has a very strong suppressing effect on Lake in the light domain, it is true that as Lake said, if he really wants to desperately desperately, only Sean, Xuefanio, and Hitley can Still unable to suppress him. At that time, the most likely outcome would be that Lake was severely injured, while Xuefanio and Hitley were likely to die directly here. As for Sean, it was natural that he would not escape being severely injured.

So from the beginning of the battle, Sean tried his best to control the rhythm of the battlefield.

Neither let Lek fight to the death, nor let Lek feel relaxed.

He needs to create an environment artificially: the desperate fight broke out under Lake's carelessness.

And now, Aswenter has created this perfect environment for Sean!

The pure white jade-like white bone prison was quickly covered with a layer of frost under the freezing air of Aswenter. The ice rim in her hand exudes a brilliant white glow, and the strong divine power constantly erupts from Eswinter's body, turning into a strong sense of coercion under the increase of the light field, thoroughly The bottom was shrouded in Leike's body, and the burning sensation was directly imprinted in Leike's soul, causing him to let out a frantic roar.

"Divine power burns! Are you crazy!" Rek roared, "What good is this for you!"

Eiswenter did not answer, but focused on madly drawing out the divine power stored in the kingdom of God, and then increased his own power through continuous burning, and continued to form a divinely suppressing power against Reck.

She knew that Lake was also already desperate.

He continuously mobilized all the energy he had stored in the secret storehouse, turning it into an incomparable black energy storm, although the burning of the soul from the * fire made him feel abnormally painful. But as one of the seven great witches of the Bone Plane, even if Lake is not particularly proficient in the skills of the soul level, he can still be regarded as a true master-level figure compared to countless people.

The brilliance of black and white burst out completely in this small space.

In this bright light source, no one noticed, there was a golden radiance which was flying directly into the dark ray burst out by Leike at an astonishing speed.

In the white light erupting from Eswinter, this golden light is hard to detect. But when it blended into the dark light of Lake, this golden light became as conspicuous as a beacon in the dark night. Even if it was Reck who had concentrated on dealing with the suppression of Aswenter, it was impossible to turn a blind eye to this golden brilliance.

Without waiting for Rek to draw a trace of attention to deal with this golden brilliance, the golden brilliance that had flown into Rek's aperture suddenly burst into light. At this moment, the golden light was like a virus, and it quickly began to infect Leike's black light at an alarming speed visible to the naked eye: at first it was only a circle inside, but after two seconds, Leike's black light Mottled golden light began to appear on the outermost part.

Immediately afterwards, the golden luster began to spread wildly in all directions.

It was only five or six seconds before and after. Reck's piece was completely condensed by negative energy, and the black aperture used to counter the power of Eswinter turned into a brilliant golden light.

The next moment, Reck's roar came out from the golden light.

"You! What did you do!" Rick's voice was full of a mix of fright and anger.

The golden aperture, accompanied by the roar of Reck, began to break directly like porcelain falling on the ground.

And as the aperture broke, the one exposed to the air was the one summoned by Lake before, the white jade bone prison that was already covered with countless cracks at this time. The color of this bone prison is also fading quickly, the original jade-like crystal clear feeling has completely disappeared, and soon even the pure white now begins to become dimmed, revealing a kind of Grey feeling.

Sefanio, controlled by Eswinter, the long sword in his hand was finally cut on Rek's bone prison.

At this moment, the picture presented in front of Sean made a vocabulary emerge in his mind.

It collapses when touched.

Binglin's blade has not touched the bone prison, only the frosty air from the blade touched the bone prison. In the blink of an eye, the entire bone prison completely turned into a pile of shattered ice powder, flying away all over the sky, and then Bing Lin's sword edge continued to slash towards Lek's body without any loss.

The action seems unpleasant, but it is only because the surrounding space is frozen.

Actually, under this seemingly slow slash, even Lek could not dodge at all-the black negative energy, at this time, seemed to be out of control, completely erupting from Lek's body.

Especially in the position of his eyes and mouth, the negative energy gushing out turned into an energy flame nearly several meters high.

Faced with the continued slashing of Eswenter's sword, Rek finally had to stretch out his right hand, put his index and middle fingers together, using the posture of the sword to block Eswenter's blade.

Only heard a deafening blasting sound suddenly-this is the collision of the law and the field of the law.

But in the face of such a heavy blow, Rick still managed to capture without restraint.

He quickly condensed the negative energy he kept leaking out into his left hand, and then turned it into a black ball of light, and pressed it * Esther's body. It was just a contact in the blink of an eye. The flame armor composed of divine power burning on Xuefanio's body was directly shattered, and countless black negative energy quickly entangled Xuefanio's body, compared to the previous one. Entangling is obviously more difficult and troublesome.

Affected by the shock of this attack, Eswinter took a few steps back.

And every step of her retreat will form a shock wave. After she retreated a few steps, apart from forming a platform with a radius of about one meter from where she was standing on the ground, within a radius of 100 meters extending from the platform, there was a deep pit with a depth of tens of meters. .

On the other side, Reck, who fought head-on with Es Winter, was not in any better situation than Es Winter.

Although the black energy flames ejected from his head finally stopped leaking, he could clearly feel that his mental fluctuation was very abnormal, and the aura from his body seemed very weak.

If the previous Reck, although the realm of strength has been weakened to only the ranks of the superpowers of the seventeenth level, but still has the combat effectiveness of a plane powerhouse, then at this time Reck, no matter its strength or state, Or other, have been completely weakened to the level of fifteenth order.

Has been completely out of the ranks of the super strong!

"Do you think you can beat me with this method!" Rick no longer went to see Eswinter, but turned his head and glared at Sean. The information transmitted by the mental fluctuations fully indicated that the current situation Lake looked unusually furious, "Are you alone?"

Shaun ignored Rick, but looked at Xuefanio.

I saw that Xuefanio was already entangled with black negative energy at this time. Although Eswinter had completely covered and compressed these negative energies with divine power, her divine power consumption was also very huge. It is true that as Rek said, after being hit by Rek's final counterattack, Eswinter finally completely lost the ability to continue fighting, because her divine power consumption has been unable to continue.

"I'm fine." Eswinter glanced at Sean, and then said in a deep voice, "However, I can only help you."

"Next, leave it to me." Xiao En smiled slightly, "Thank you for this battle."

Hearing Sean's words, Lake laughed loudly: "Without the original aid of this native god, do you really think you can defeat me? That little girl over there doesn't have any fighting ability at all. Now you are afraid that even if you want to intercept me, it will be very difficult."

Shaun ignored Rick's clamor, he just summoned the hand, and Gulu flew back to Shaun's side.

It is Guru. Just now when the laws of Rek and Aswinter were impacting, they crashed into Rek's domain, and directly cut off Rek and his bone vault with its own unique force field. the relationship between. This ability to directly sever part of the laws of Rek's own soul is the core and key reason that really inflicted heavy damage on Rek and caused Rek's current strength to be greatly damaged.

Otherwise, even Es Winter's move of burning divine power would not be able to break through Rek's defenses and cause substantial damage to him, not to mention that he eventually cut off the two finger bones of Rek's right hand.

At this moment, Lake's eyes are firmly locked on Gulu's body.

It was this ball-like thing that caused him to suffer the biggest hit in history. Although he can perceive that his own skeletal vault still exists, he is completely unable to connect with his own skeletal vault. As a result, all the materials and negative energy stored in his skeletal vault are naturally He couldn't call it anymore, and with the suppression effect formed by the current light domain on him, he was able to maintain the legendary pinnacle level of the fifteenth order, which was enough to prove the terrifying and powerful Reck.

Looking at Sean and the strange pet next to him, Xuefanio didn't say anything, she only knew that she had completed Sean's request and successfully created a chance for Sean, so the next battle has been and She has nothing to do.

Therefore, she did not hesitate any more, but after compressing and sealing all the negative energy entangled in Xuefanio, she flew back to Hitley's side, nodded to Hitley, and motioned to her. After Hitley took care of Xuefanio, he immediately cancelled the state of God's surrender and returned to her own kingdom of God with the negative energy sealed from Rek.

Watching Eis Winterle leave calmly and unhurriedly, watching Sean's indifferent look, watching Hitley still locking the life sanctions on her body, the anger in Lake's heart grew stronger and stronger: "I didn't want to kill you so simply, but Sean... I have to admit that you really exceeded my expectations again. It seems that I can no longer continue to consume you slowly."

"It's a coincidence, I didn't consider spending time with you." Sean sneered. The 17th-order Reck may only be able to do some small interventions next to him, and he can't fight it at all, but only the 15th-order. Sean was not afraid of Laker, "Oh, I should say, from the beginning, I didn't plan to spend it slowly with you."

"You are indeed very smart. If you give you more time, then maybe I really can't help you." Rick shook his head slightly, and then said in a deep voice, "But it's a pity that you are only one person. You have worked hard. The situation created does give you the strength to fight me, but... with your current strength, you will not be my opponent at all. This... is the only flaw in your plan."

"Flaws?" Sean was suddenly happy, "Who gave you the confidence that made you think I would fight alone?"

"Huh?" The soul fire in Lek's eyes suddenly lit up.

Lake is not allowed to continue to guess, a loud dragon roar suddenly sounded.

The corner of Sean's mouth raised slightly: "The first round has just ended. Next, let's go to the second round."

Chapter 247: .Lake's Death

The loud dragon roar stunned the four wild people, and the black stone hiding in the distance finally carried Rina to the battlefield hurriedly.

Lake's soul showed incredible mood swings: "You actually played this method! You are domineering and proud of being an emperor!"

Xiao En chuckled: "Who knows the rules to deal with you? What's more, players are the group of people who do not follow the rules. As long as they can achieve their goals, they will try and use whatever means."

"Playing...home?" Rek's soul fire has a strong strange mood swing.

"That's not what you need to know." Sean shrugged, then moved his hands slightly, "Next, let's start the second round."

It's almost the time between Sean and Lake's words. Rina has been riding on the black rock to kill. The spear in her hand exudes extremely bright golden red light, just like a real sun gun. Thorek's face door.

Before the tip of the gun, the golden-red flames burst into fiery waves, burning Rek's skull with bursts of pain.

Light domain!

It is light domain suppression again!

Lake's heart was greatly annoyed.

If it weren't for the suppressive influence of this light field on him, how could he have not even noticed Rina who was hiding on the side?

You know, as a powerful person above the nineteenth level, his range of perception is completely beyond anyone's imagination. Even a bug tens of kilometers away can be easily caught. This is also the reason why the strong planes are not afraid of being attacked by others at all, because any trace of hostility will be completely captured, so that they can respond in advance.

But now, looking at the location where Rena just appeared, I'm afraid there is not even a kilometer away, but Rick has not found Rena hiding so close.

In addition to the big reason being the influence and suppression of the Utopian light domain on the formation of Rek, a more important reason is the angel outfit on Rina.

Seven angel armors, as artifact-level armors, these seven artifact armors of the same series have very unique divinities, and they are closer to light in attributes. This is also one of the core reasons why angel outfits will become the township-level artifacts of Chenguang Church. It is precisely for this reason that Rena, who has the Seraph suit, will become an indispensable member of Sean's battle plan against Lake this time.

Hitley and Xuefanio, both servants of the gods, can gain an increase in strength in the light domain, so there is no need to elaborate on this point. And Rina, herself is only a strong fighter of the rank of warrior, and she masters the fighting spirit of the fire attribute. Although she will not be restrained in the light domain, she will not have much ability to improve, but she can become The important combat power in Sean's plan is naturally not without reason.

At this time, the unprecedented brilliance erupted from the long spear in Rina's hand that was matched with the Seraphim outfit was enough to prove the correctness of Sean's plan.

At this moment, Rek, who only had the strength of the fifteenth rank, did not dare to make a head-on attack, and he lacked enough materials to deploy a defense that could withstand Rina's shot in an instant.

Therefore, he can only retreat quickly.

But for Rina, who has steadily gained the upper hand, how could she miss such a good opportunity.

Rena, who has been practicing with Alexis for a period of time, may not have learned much about Alexis's other skills, but in terms of being unreasonable, Rena can definitely be said to have learned a lot. Just because of that domineering style, Rena recognized herself as second in the entire void empire, and no one except Alexis dared to recognize the first. But what was a little helpless was that Rina's domineering style was usually only shown incisively and vividly in combat.

With a shot, Rina's offensive immediately became more fierce and fierce, and all the moves were full of a domineering and mighty aura of opening and closing.

At first, Rek, who just dodges and even plans to counterattack, quickly became surprised.

Because he was on Rena, he actually saw the figure of Alexis vaguely!

Alexis, is known for her amazing martial arts. Although she has a lot of skills, she is really good at swordsmanship and spearmanship. Her legendary domain ability is to create a unique space of nothingness. Everyone in this space can only fight with their own physical fitness and martial skills, and cannot use other abilities. It can be said to be a complete "nothing". space.

Because of this, in addition to killing Wu Ji, Alexis also has an nickname "Magic Scourge." This means that all the energy of magic, spells, etc., even including divine arts, cannot be effective in her domain space, so once people who do not know martial arts or have poor physical fitness will meet To her, even if she is a plane traveler, as long as she doesn't have the crushing strength that surpasses her, she can only end in hatred.

This is also the real reason why little Lucas almost died at the hands of Alexis.

Rina may not have such a powerful "law field" ability as Alexis, but she learned from Alexis's spear skills, that kind of domineering mighty momentum and exquisite and concise attack methods, but also enough to make She became a spear master. And Rick suddenly saw the shadow of Alexis on Rina's body, and he was a little bit astonished. The figure that could have been able to dodge calmly under the change and the growth, soon became embarrassed.

Of course, the main reason here is that Lake's own strength has been suppressed too much—even if he doesn't want to admit it anymore, the spatial connection with the skeletal vault is cut off, which indeed brings him very serious problems. Hit hard. This has greatly weakened his various ability levels. In addition, as a Lich King, Rek belongs to the existence of the mage system in his own rank, and fights head-on with monster-level warriors like Rina, unless The strength is completely crushed, otherwise it will not be an opponent at all.

A shot swept across, and the golden-red light shone a huge arc.

The halo of the arc light covers a huge area-originally there would not be such a large area, but after all, this is the scope of the light domain, and Rina's power can be increased to a certain extent here. Although this increase will not cause a qualitative change in Rena's strength, at least it can actually make people feel a certain degree of improvement in strength, so this arc range can be so large.

Although Lake was aware of these changes in the rules, and he had improved his threat assessment to Rina as much as possible, he still did not expect that the arc of light would be larger than he had imagined, and he was directly involved when he was caught off guard. in.

Not long, he let out a stern roar.

At this time, Xiao En, who had been waiting for the opportunity, suddenly opened his eyes, a bright light lit up, and the whole person swooped out like a vigorous leopard.

Lake's perception was weakened to a very bad degree. This was something that had never happened to him since he became the Lich King. In addition to the estimation error at this time, he was exploded by Rina's Seraph Gun. The arc light came out, and it just exited the coverage area of the arc light at this time. It was too late to judge the surrounding situation, but it vaguely felt that someone was approaching quickly.

He was very annoyed in his heart: the dignified Lich King, how has he been downhearted ever since!

"Sean!" Rick let out an angry roar. At this time, there were not too many people in the light domain. He had just fought against Rina once, and at this time, he was able to quickly rush to his side. Naturally, only Xiao was left. Yeah.

When the furious Rek roared, his movements were not slow, and a black light condensed in his hand.

He also knows that now his perception is weakened, and he only has a rough judgment about Sean's body shape, so this counterattack is not too precise attack technique, but a kind of one-sided coverage with huge coverage. Type attack: dark curtain of death.

This dark curtain of death gas is a poison gas that can cover a certain range. It is not too lethal, but it is extremely difficult. At least people who fall into this dead-energy range will be infected with violent corpse poison within a few seconds, coupled with the unique sense of confusing space in the dark curtain, if they can't break out within half a minute, they are likely to be in The flesh rotted in an instant, and eventually turned into an undead creature like a ghoul.

Lake knew that this spell would naturally not be able to completely trap Sean, and it might even be impossible to cause much damage to Sean. After all, in the light domain, any dark magic and power have been completely weakened or even nullified. If it wasn't for Rek to be one of the seven lich kings on the plane of bones, I'm afraid it would have been within this light domain. Lost the ability to move, let alone fighting Sean, Rena, Xuefanio and others.

only.

Lake had once again underestimated the strength of Sean.

The ability that Shaun now controls is the law of time and space, which is the double combination of time and space. For a person like him, even if he was thrown into the dark side of chaos known as the chaos of time and space, Sean could still easily establish an anchor of time and space. So this shadowy curtain of dead air was nothing more than a shadowy corner that suddenly blocked the sun to Sean.

As soon as he rushed into his figure, he had already rushed out of the coverage of the dark curtain of death, and Sean was already close to Lake's side at this time.

It wasn't until this moment that Lake realized that he had made a huge mistake.

It's just that he has no chance to change.

Shaun will never let Lake have any idea of counterattack again.

The Black King in his hand was pierced by Sean into Lake's eye sockets. The sudden pain caused Lake to roar wildly.

But Lake didn't stop there, but reached out and pierced towards Sean's heart fiercely, obviously wanting to dig out Sean's heart.

It's just that Sean didn't fight alone.

Rina on the side of rushed over with a stride, and suddenly picked the long spear in her hand, and missed Leike's left hand, making Leike's attack impossible. After turning the tip of the spear, he pierced into Rick's left eye socket, and the force was even far greater than that of Sean—of course, this was also due to the unique sacredness of the Seraphim's outfit, after all, the Black King. In essence, the artifact is actually a dark weapon.

Rek's head suddenly burst, and a strong black life gushing out continuously, which made Rek scream even more crazily.

and suddenly lost his eyesight, Lek's sanity was almost completely lost, his hands were frantically swayed and grasped, various negative energies and dark energies gushing out in all directions with Lek as the core. Only because of being suppressed by the light domain, the pollution and corrosion of these energies were not as great as imagined, but quickly disappeared in this light domain.

But even so, Sean and Rina did not dare to face these chaotic energies directly. After a hit and completely severely damaged Lake, the two quickly retreated and moved away from Lake's side.

"Do you think this can kill my body like this?"

Countless black energies are constantly flying out like black ribbons, but they have been suppressed and eliminated by the power of the light domain before they fly two meters away. But even if the power of the light domain can suppress and eliminate these dark energies at such a fast speed, when more and more negative energies begin to gush out, the unique sanctity of the light domain is obviously beginning to be a little overwhelming, so that these dark energies Even when it gradually pollutes and corrodes the surrounding ground.

"You... will never succeed!" Lake's roar continued, "I am the Bone Witch, you can only expel me this time! I will never die! I have already returned my phylogeny to the bone position. Now, you guys... wait! I will come back, and I will definitely come back here again to retaliate against you! I have already, remembered the coordinates of your plane!"

Listening to Lake's voice, Sean's face became unusually blue.

Because he knew that what Lake said was the truth.

If you want to completely eliminate a lich, you can only completely solve it by destroying his phylogeny. But Rick is not an ordinary Lich, but one of the Seven Lich Kings on the Bone Plane. An existence like him can put his phylogeny in the Bone Plane to prevent himself from fighting. Other planes caused death due to mistakes.

Furthermore, the resurrection time of the lich is shorter than the exile time of the demons and demons.

As long as the materials are prepared in advance, the lich only needs more than ten years to re-gather power to shape the body. After that, it only takes a while, maybe a few years or decades, but usually it will never exceed a hundred years, and then you can make a comeback to invade a world of planes. This is much shorter than the time it takes for demons and demons to come back hundreds of years and thousands of years once they are expelled.

Faced with such a rogue-like approach by Lake, Sean can't handle it better unless he can find Lake's phylogeny.

"No, you won't have a chance."

Just when Rick was still yelling frantically, a strong voice full of magnetism interrupted Rick's speech.

The voice of this voice is not loud, and the tone is not very strong, but it inexplicably possesses a unique power that cannot be resisted, which directly suppresses Leike's voice.

Shaun is no stranger to this voice, because he has heard it once.

But what really surprised him was that when this sound rang, the flow of time in the surrounding space was suddenly changed.

"Xu Qing?" Xiao En turned his head, looking at the plane businessman who did not know when and where he came out.

"Sorry, I changed the flow of time in this small area without your permission." Xu Qing smiled slightly and said politely to Xiao En, "But don't worry, I am here. I'm here to do you a favor... You don't need to pay the reward, someone has already given it to me."

"Someone gave it to you?" Sean raised an eyebrow.

"I made a deal with your boss." Xu Qing smiled, "Obviously, your boss knows the nature of this lich very well, so he found me and made a deal with me...I Help him, or help you eradicate this Lich King's troubles permanently, and he will give me a coordinate."

Speaking of this, Xu Qing blinked at Xiao En, revealing a meaningful smile.

Only seeing this smile, Xiao En already understood that Xu Qing already knew his connection with Andrew, and also understood that Xu Qing knew that he knew the whereabouts of Andrew and others.

"You...you are..." In Leike's emotions, a look of horror was conveyed, "You have his breath!"

"Of course there will be." Xu Qing didn't care about the black energy erupting from Leike's body, and walked in front of him easily, and then stretched out his hand to look forward.

In the space where Xu Qing's right hand protruded, there was a sudden wave of ripples, and then when Xu Qing's right hand retracted, there was a very beautiful women's brooch in his hand.

And Rick, when he saw this brooch, he roared out of control, and even began to struggle desperately. But all of this was under Xu Qing's deep shout, as if he was carrying a mountain on his back, completely immovable, and the whole space was filled with only Reek's deadly silence, despair, and horrified panic.

"This is..." Sean looked at the lack of women's brooches.

"Lake's phylogeny." Xu Qing said softly, but at the same time, the whole brooch was completely crushed with a slight force on his right hand.

Almost the moment the brooch was crushed, Rick let out a scream, and then a black flame burned from his body, but in just a few seconds, Rick's corpse had become A piece of black-gray powder was completely lost from the world.

"Is this solved?" Xiao En looked at Xu Qing in amazement.

"Lake's problem is solved." Xu Qing nodded, "but you'd better not be careless.... The bone plane is more complicated than you think. This time, two Lich Kings and a Thirteen Kings joined forces. Initiating an invasion of this plane, but the result was a failure, and Lake is still dead, this will only make this plane appear on the plane of bones, and there may be other Lich Kings who want to come and find out in the future. "

Hearing Xu Qing's words, Xiao En's face also became solemn.

"However, you can rest assured." Seeing Xiao En's face, Xu Qing smiled slightly, and then said, "Before the new Lich King is selected, the bone plane may fall into a turbulent period for more than hundreds of years. There will be absolutely no trouble in a short period of time....Of course, because the time flow rate of each plane is different, it is not clear how long the bone plane's hundreds of years is equivalent to your plane's time, but Calculated at a ratio of ten to one, you have at least a hundred years of preparation time.... But that's not sure, maybe the bone plane finds this plane too troublesome, and it's very possible that you don't want to come over."

"I see." Sean nodded.

"Okay, then the transaction between my boss and your boss is complete.... Then, let's leave it for now. I still have a lot of things to solve. If you have any items you want to trade, you can use the one I gave you. Call the stone to contact." Xu Qing smiled and nodded, and the next moment he only took a step back, and the whole person had completely disappeared.

With Xu Qing's disappearance, the flow of time that he had allowed this space to stagnate, also returned to normal.

Rina was still angry when the time was lagging, but now after the time flow was restored, her anger turned into a blank face, because in her perception, she seemed to be slightly different from God. , Lake is... missing?

"Lord Lord..."

"It's resolved." Sean took a deep breath, and then sighed softly, "Rake is dead, and...will not be a problem for us in the future. Let's go see Imoku and the others. ."

Chapter 248: .Ending

Lake's death was too abrupt and too fast.

The battle between super powers often takes a long time to be able to distinguish the winner and the loser. This is still in the case of a deadly battle that never retreats from each other. If one side has the heart to retreat, the time it takes to fight this battle will be even longer.

According to Alexis's words, she fought the little Lucas for several months, but he finally escaped.

At this time, with the death of Lek, Lucas and Rukas had already noticed something wrong, and the two naturally wanted to retreat by coincidence. Because, they have realized that Lake's death is not as simple as being expelled from this world, but the kind in which even his phylogenetic is completely destroyed, it is a true fall.

As a result, little Lucas was naturally surprised.

Imoku had received the order from Sean a long time ago, so he did not stop the little Lucas from leaving, instead turned around to join his other two brothers.

Kozilek's opponent is the Death Knight Ann, the strength of the two is almost the same, it is difficult to tell who suppressed who, but it is enough if it only acts as a delay.

Ulamor's opponent is the huge tentacle summoned by Lake. If the twelve touches of Cruise were combined, they could almost be equivalent to the strength of a super strong, but it's a pity that Sean was previously One was destroyed, and then a few were destroyed. Therefore, the Touch of Cruise, which had only nine of them, couldn't have the strength of a super power at all. It would be very easy if Ulama solved it.

So when Ulamog solved the Touch of Cruise and merged with Kozilek, Ann Lucas, one of the thirteen undead kings, naturally fell into a bitter battle. And when Imoku arrived, once the special attributes of the "Three Eldrazi Brothers" were activated, it was completely too late for Ann to leave. At this time, he wouldn't know Sean's strategic plan. .

Thinking that one of his two brothers would eventually be able to go back alive, An En's mouth only raised a smile, and then fell into a final battle with the Eldrazi brothers.

This battle resulted in a death spot with a radius of more than 300 miles in the southeast of the Millennium Covenant Empire.

But one of the thirteen kings of the bone plane, the death knight, Ann Lucas, was also buried here, and there was an army of more than one million undead.

The Bone Plane, under the guidance of Rek, launched a multi-year invasion to the Miracle Plane. However, this invasion ended in failure under the leadership of having two Lich Kings and an Undead King, and it also lost a Lich King and an Undead King. This is for the entire plane of bones. It was a shame, but the anger was far less than what Xu Qing said to Xiao En.

It can even be said that this is even good news for countless people.

Lich King, this title can be won by many people. For example, the most powerful lich in a certain plane can be called the Lich King if he has the influence of ordering other lich. But even if it is such a Lich King, it is very likely that it is just an ordinary Lich in the plane of bones, and it is impossible to carry this name to other places.

is recognized as the real Lich King, only the seven witches who won the title of "Lich King" in the plane of bones.

Although the earliest history of the Bone Plane is not the seven Lich Kings, but the seven powerful Lich Kings that have gradually emerged from the long history of development. The three undead kings are different. Although if the strength is strong enough to be recognized by all Lich Kings, he can become the new Lich King on the Bone Plane, but as the strength of the seven Lich Kings continues to accumulate, the unspoken rules of the Bone Plane have long evolved into In a way that can only be replaced similar to the undead king.

Therefore, the death of Lake, the vacant name of the "Lich King", will inevitably cause a huge chaos on the plane of the bones. In order to seize this name, countless witches will inevitably fall into a frenzied war. Under such circumstances, the death of Death Knight Anen, one of the thirteen kings, the undead king, will undoubtedly aggravate the chaos affecting the entire plane of bones.

According to Sean's speculation, there is no time for thousands of years, and the plane of bones probably won't quell the war.

In this way, the plane of miracle does not need to worry about any invasion from the plane of bones for at least the next thousand years. The only thing that needs to be guarded is probably the deceptive demons on the plane of hell-the plane of the abyss has completely disappeared since the last arrogant invasion failed. As for the fact that they closed the plane channel by themselves, they were still favored. Coss forcibly destroyed the plane channel, then it is unknown.

But these are not things that Sean needs to consider.

The heart disease that had been entangled with Lake for many years, at this time can finally be removed.

The death wave that broke out in the invasion of bones, at this time, it is finally over.

Soon, the millennium covenant empire, the Void Empire, and the major church knights jointly fought, and the news that the death wave was suppressed in one fell swoop spread throughout the Marvel Continent. Moreover, it is said that the death wave this time has been subdued. It is not the simple subduing of the past, but the real eradication of the death wave that erupts in the Southern Continent every few decades and hundreds of years. From then on, the Southern Continent will never again. There won't be any death waves.

Although many people are not sure how this thing is done, this does not prevent them from sending some congratulations.

Anyway, as long as it involves the mad dog of the Void Empire, they just need to praise it.

Especially the return of the emperor of the void empire, Sean Connery, after the entire void empire was completely united, this huge empire quickly revealed its terrifying strength that was not at all like a newly emerging empire. The entire empire entered into an unprecedented rapid development in an instant. The economic problems that could have restricted the development of the void empire, but also with the disclosure of the path of the abyss, the thorough integration of the major chambers of commerce in the trading capital quickly made The economy of the void empire has been adequately developed.

If we say, Sean has brought an era that belongs only to the strong for the arrival of the entire Marvel Continent.

So when Sean returned from the underground world, he brought a brand-new way of trade to the entire miracle continent: completely abandoning the trading capital to control market prices, and one party's dominant fair trade model. The market prices in various places will fluctuate with the long-term trade routes and changes in demand, and they will no longer be completely controlled by the major chambers of commerce in the trade capital, where they are free to set prices and have the final say.

This is true free trade.

Of course, the only thing that can accept the underground world races to enter the surface world and live in peace with humans is the void empire that has always been multi-racial and mixed. Other countries are still very repulsive to the inhabitants of the underground world, and this repulsion is even far better than the repelling of the orcs and the residents of other hostile countries.

However, Xiao En knew that this problem could not be solved in a short time. Even if he really wanted the entire Marvel Continent to accept the coexistence of the subterranean world, it would take decades or even hundreds of years.

This kind of problem is impatient.

But this question is not anxious, but there are other questions that make Sean very anxious.

Because Miss Cecilia is losing her temper.

"You are alone again, when I was not paying attention, you ran to the fight!" Cecilia was very angry, and she threw a pillow into Sean's face fiercely.

Perhaps because of the anger, this pillow has become a fireball when it leaves Cecilia's right hand.

Faced with the magic thrown by Cecilia, Sean didn't dare to pick it up with his face, so he had to dodge sideways.

This is the eighth day when Sean settled Reck and Ann. He had just returned to the Void Palace and had to face the anger of Cecilia who had just awakened.

"I..." Sean opened his mouth. Before he could say anything, another fireball pillow flew over.

"What are you! You are like this every time!" Cecilia's voice was a little bit crying, "You always take all the problems and troubles independently, and you don't leave it to yourself every time. Retreat....Yes, you now have super-powerful helpers like Imoku, Kozilek, Ulamog, and Alexis, but have you ever thought about what if something unexpected happens?"

"How can there be any accidents."

"You have been missing for three years!" Cecilia let out a roar.

Sean had to wither, he didn't dare to speak for any rebuttal, but still muttered quietly: "That was an accident."

"An accident!" Cecilia's voice increased a few points, "Have you never thought about letting other people help? Why do you have to solve it yourself? You said that you are not a material to be a lord. Okay, yes. William, with Neil's help, you can leave them political and military affairs. When your idle emperor, no one opposes, but you have to know whether it's William or Neil, or Alexis. , Rena, Alfred, everyone is united around you, if you are gone, then what will all this become!... You can be an idle emperor, even don't care about anything , But you just can't have an accident!"

"Isn't there you still there," Sean said.

"But what would be the point of being alone without you!" Cecilia was anxious, and in annoyance, she wanted to throw her pillow again, but there were only two pillows on a bed, these two I lost all of them, and couldn't find the pillow for a while, so I was so angry that I started planning to get other things.

With sharp eyes, Sean saw that Cecilia turned her head and started thinking about other objects, so he rushed up and hugged Cecilia: "Okay, I promise you, I will pay attention to it in the future. Yes. I won't... risk my life again."

Cecilia, who was hugged by Sean, lost everything.

In the more than ten years of wandering to stability with Sean, she has never been treated so intimately by Sean. She even wondered if she was dreaming the last time she was kissed by Sean. But this time, Cecilia finally calmed down when she was really held in her arms by Sean, feeling Sean's body temperature and that spacious chest.

It's like a cat with exploded hair, finally calmed down by being calmed down, too well-behaved.

"Really?" Cecilia asked softly.

"Yes." Cecilia, who was being held, couldn't see Sean's face. At this moment, there was a helpless wry smile on Sean's face. "Anyway, the big things that should be solved have basically been solved, and there are no more things now. Something can bother us, so even if I want to risk my life, I can't find a reason to go out."

As if she was amused by Sean's words, Cecilia struggled a little, got rid of Sean's hug, and smiled: "There is no war now, there is no trouble in the critical empire, what's wrong.... Now Chai The Nas Empire is now unstable internally due to the new emperor's suspicion, and there is no way to make our minds. On the Millennium Covenant Empire, Angel has returned to China, and preparations for the enthronement ceremony have begun. We have such a fight with them. Friendship is there, and because of the tide of death, the Millennium Covenant Empire has no reason or ability to trouble us. As for the other small countries around it, it either depends on us or completely depends on us. Isn't that good?"

"It's pretty good." Sean nodded, "This can provide us with a peace period for at least thirty years. Thirty years later... I am afraid that no empire will dare to attack us." , Sean remembered that the utopia was finally built and it had been handed over to William to send troops to garrison, but Cecilia didn't know about these things, so he spoke again: "I am going to move the capital."

"Move again?" Cecilia was taken aback, "Oasis City...isn't it? And there is also a Void Palace here..."

"Oasis City will be the economic center of our empire in the future." Xiao En laughed, "But as a real political center, it is not suitable here....Remember the utopia I mentioned to you?"

"The earthly ideal town?"

"En." Sean nodded, "I have regained the place. William is now setting up defense there. We will soon move over. There will be the true capital of our empire.... But Neil will continue to stay. On the Oasis City side, after all, this side is our true economic center, and the communication channel with the underground world is also here. We will develop a huge and prosperous city here."

Listening to Sean's words, Cecilia's heart surged, and she knew that everything Sean said was true.

Because today's Oasis City has all the factors that can make this city a prosperous city: the teleportation array that established diplomatic relations with the underground world was set up here, and a large amount of goods transferred from the trading capital are hoarded here. The headquarters of the Void Merchant Group formed after the integration of all the chambers of commerce in the capital is also established here, and the families of the leaders of the original tribes in the Wild Lands also live here. It can be said that the entire Oasis City can be said whether it is consumption power or trade power. It is the only one, and it can even be said to be the center of the entire southern continent.

And Cecilia believes that in the near future, this place will also become the center of the entire wonderland.

"But... Utopia?" Cecilia asked.

Shaun lost consciousness for a moment.

He recalled the process of struggling with the companions of Void Wings, which was a very hard but full of fun and fulfilling journey. Now, when the wish that he had persisted for many years finally came to an end, he found that he actually felt relieved, and the whole person didn't seem to be as tight as before.

"There is a holy place." Xiao En smiled, "In the future, it will become our political and cultural center.... I will open an academy there to teach military, economics, politics, culture, magic, martial arts, etc. Waiting for all courses, we will continuously export talents for our empire. All government orders, actions, appointments, diplomacy, etc. of the entire empire will also be released from there. In less than two years, utopia will become the entire void empire. Recognized as a central place, there will be countless people who want to live in this city."

Listening to Sean's description, Cecilia's eyes flashed brightly.

Void Empire, finally ushered in the rapid development of Guotai Minan.

The only thing to say is a bit of twists and turns, when Sean ordered the transfer of the empire's capital from Oasis City to Utopia. But this kind of twists and turns was only due to the grievances of the nobles within the empire. No one who really wanted to refute or resist would be stupid enough to do such a thing.

Especially, the surrounding conditions of the Void Empire are as Cecilia said.

The Chenas Empire in the northeast bordering the Void Empire because of the annexation of the Fascist Kingdom, because the new emperor is dissatisfied with the military * Jason, so all the affairs previously coordinated by Jason are gradually being returned and replaced by their own power. This rectification will take ten years at the earliest. If Jason's influence is included, it will be impossible to solve it without two to thirty years.

As long as the small principalities and kingdoms bordering on the east, as long as the Void Empire does not send troops to trouble them, they will thank God, how can they dare to trouble the Void Empire? In the same way, the kingdoms and mercenary groups that were farther south in the Wildlands had the same mentality. Even after hearing that the void empire had stabilized, they hurriedly sent special envoys to the empire to visit them and presented many treasures.

As for the north, that is the territory of the Kingdom of Lane, and this country is now seen as the leader of the Void Empire.

Similarly, there is the Western Millennium Covenant Empire bordering the Void Empire. However, the two parties had negotiated everything through Angel, a middleman when the death wave broke out. Now, with Angel's enthronement, the Void Empire and the Millennium The Covenant Empire is already a great alliance power that advances and retreats together. It is worth mentioning that, because Sean basically conquered the entire underground world, the Millennium Covenant Empire no longer needed to waste heavy troops to guard the abyss. After this combat power was completely liberated, the Millennium Covenant Empire also became a one-stop solution. One of the most powerful military empires in the entire Marvel Continent.

It is said that the Emilia Empire, which has long been in dispute with the Millennium Covenant Empire, also had to send heavy troops to garrison to prevent the Millennium Covenant Empire from retaliation.

But these things have nothing to do with Sean or the Void Empire.

The Void Empire, which ushered in a peaceful period, is also rapidly developing its own heritage. The potential accumulated due to Sean's disappearance for three years has finally exploded with the calming down of the tide of death and the recovery of Utopia. The entire void empire began to vigorously develop in accordance with Sean's vision.

Shaun has delineated a large area in the southeast of Utopia as the land of the future Void Academy.

The college that Shaun envisions will have four branches: military, government affairs, economics, and combat. There are other more detailed divisions inside. For example, there will be martial arts and magic related branches in battle. The same military will also have staff, Many more detailed small subjects, such as marching, formation and so on. Its main purpose is to send all walks of life and various talents to the Void Empire, even if it is not the top batch, it can send a large number of middle-level personnel, and it will meet the requirements of the Void Empire.

However, these things require a long time to prepare and replace, and they cannot be completed in a short time.

Fortunately, what Shaun doesn't lack now is time.

He is convinced that under his own rule, he will be able to witness with his own eyes that the entire void empire will eventually become a prosperous and powerful empire. Anyway, as long as he does not unify the entire Miracle Continent, the son of his plane can continue to serve for a long time, until...the world will see him not pleasing to the eye. However, according to Sean's estimation, if the world will start to train the next heir, let him be the watchdog, it will at least have a situation for several thousand years.

Before this, he was not in a hurry at all.

"Perhaps, is it time to get married?" Sean lay on a bamboo chair, looking at Cecilia who was playing in the lake outside Utopia, and then rubbed his chin and thought.

When Sean hadn't thought about this before, he didn't care much about Cecilia's feelings for him, but once he found out, he could no longer hide his inner feelings. So since he moved to Utopia, he has nothing to do with him. He will play around with Cecilia, which is a compensation for his regret of running around in the past ten years and not having much time with Cecilia.

As this period of time heats up, the relationship between the two of them naturally heats up quickly, so it is inevitable for Sean to have this idea.

After making a decision in his heart, Sean also stood up and walked towards Cecilia: "Cecilia, I will tell you something."

"What's the matter?" Cecilia turned her head, looked at Sean, and saw Sean's sturdy figure, her face flushed slightly.

Rina, Hina, Hela, Hitley, Xuefanio and others beside couldn't help but snickered, which made Cecilia feel embarrassed. Although the relationship between the two is much closer than before, it is not as much as others thought. No matter how open the world is, Sean has never done anything unusual to Cecilia. , Even the kiss only happened once in the Void Palace.

Sean walked up to Cecilia and said, "Let's... get married."

Bright sun shines on the land of Utopia.

This sanctuary completely repels darkness, so when the sun shines on the earth, the light here will show a holy halo.

The holy light is reflected on the lake, but the temperature of the lake water is constantly increasing.

Cecilia's brain seems to be down, and the only thing that can be clearly seen is her face that is as red as a ripe apple.

When Rena and others heard such bold words from Sean, they and Alfred, William, Neal, and others next to them also began to make noises. Of course, there were also a lot of congratulations.

Especially those old people who watched Cecilia and Sean walk through the ups and downs over the past ten years, even sighed.

It's just that no one noticed that the temperature of the lake was rising rapidly.

Until the lake water began to bubble, when Rena and others were scalded to scream, everyone found that the whole cool lake was no different from the hot spring at this time.

At the moment, there is naturally another rush of busyness and screams.

Enjoyed the scene of "Boiled Frog in Warm Water" with his own eyes. Naturally, he would not let such a good opportunity to laugh at him. But soon, these elegant ladies began to shift their targets, and they began to laugh at Cecilia. And Sean naturally didn't want to see Cecilia being ridiculed, so he naturally defended it.

Beside the lake, or the hot spring, the lively laughter spread far away.
