

Lord of War Vol 4-41

Chapter 41: .It's just that there is a war

Wild fortresses are built on the mountain, on both sides are high mountains and ridges, not to mention that it is absolutely impossible for someone to sneak up on the mountain, but it can definitely prevent a large number of people from sneaking. Before the wild fortress completely fell, this fortress usually has a legendary strongman and two or three sanctuary strongmen in charge of taking charge of the fortress, in order to resist some possible strong sneak attacks and surprise attacks.

So the entire wild fortress, no matter how large it is, there are only two walls at the front and back.

The original front city wall was the one facing the Barren Land, which was used to prevent the Barren Land from attacking the empire by the wild tribe, which was used as a back garden and hunting ground by countless people. But as the wild land was unified by Sean, the main function of this city wall became the void duchy to prevent entering the wild land. Immediately after the wild fortress changed hands twice, the front wall naturally became the back wall, and the wall that was originally at the back turned into the front wall.

Although the wall of the wild fortress is very long, it is more than enough to place the entire steel wings on the wall.

Today's steel wings are much larger than when Anno was in command.

One of the earliest veterans who followed Sean, used his own life to create a tribe's prosperity, and thus forged the powerful military soul and pride of today's steel wings. Since Anno's death in battle, Steel Wings has elected Abaza as the commander. After three expansions, it now has a scale of 50,000. It is currently the most famous force in the Void Principality-sufficient troops and the largest scale. The combat power is prosperous.

Unlike the Lion of Thunder and Cecilia's Guards, although the former has a certain degree of assurance after the inclusion of the various tribes in the Wildlands, it usually requires a recovery period of several months; while the latter If the battle damage reaches a certain level, it is basically certain and the next battle will be missed, because the current source of the Cecilia Guards is sourced from the defeated army.

Only steel wings, as the Void Barbarian grows larger and larger. The development has become more and more stable, and the training camp of Steel Wings has always had a steady stream of recruits entering training. To a certain extent, this not only ensures that even if the steel wings are damaged in battle, they can be replenished in the first time, and the combat power will not drop too ridiculously. You only need to experience one or two more actual battles to make The combat power of the entire army was completely restored.

A full fifty thousand soldiers with steel wings. At this time, nearly two-thirds stood on the wall.

The current standard configuration of steel wings. It is a heavy armor and an impact shield, and the weapon is a steel spear or a wide-back slasher, and a war bow or a throwing spear. It is precisely because of this double strike method that combines long-range attack and close combat that the steel wings completely get rid of the style of work that was originally positioned to only fight defensive warfare. It can adapt to more combat situations, and due to the expansion of the scale, it is even more effective. Became the most important one of the three trump cards under Sean's command.

Alfred and Clover stood beside William. Looking at the steel-winged soldiers divided into three columns on the city wall. They looked at each other and smiled: "Abaza, this kid, is getting better and better now. If the steel wings can be rectified by him, Anno must have laughed badly."

"Blocking the first wave of attacks is not difficult." Klov looked forward and his voice was calm, "but after the second wave, the necromancers should have entered the attack range, and casualties will begin to occur. ...Impact shield is good. Unfortunately, there is no magic resistance."

"It will be up to you and me then." Alfred chuckled lightly, without the slightest pressure of facing death.

"Haha. Don't die." Clough smiled and patted Alfred on the shoulder.

"This is what I want to tell you." Alfred smiled heartily, "I'm still waiting to drink with you tonight."

"Hey."

No longer than the conversation and laughter between Cloff and Alfred, William's face was as silent as ever, and he did not even see the excitement of the previous battlefield. He slowly retracted his gaze from the invisible distance-on that further battlefield, Kozilek and the death knight had already fought together. Although he couldn't see the specific situation, he could see the air from time to time. The flashes of red, white, black, or gold show how fierce the battlefield is.

Kozilek has indeed worked very hard to destroy the enemy line, but the death knight obviously cannot allow Kozilek to run around like this, so he has changed his tactics and strategy. As long as Kozilek tries to leave the main battlefield, he will start charging towards the wild fortress. . As a result, it actually restricted Kozilek's activities, forcing Kozilek to stop the death knight.

After all, this army of undead is just a cannon fodder for the entire bones, but what is gathered in the wild fortress is the true elite of the entire void duchy.

William no longer pays attention to the battle between the two super powers.

The undead army on the left and right wings has bypassed the battlefield of the two superpowers in the middle, began to converge and continue to advance.

These skeletons are not advancing fast, but the ocean of bones that can be seen from afar does put a lot of pressure on all the troops stationed in the entire fortress. The dull atmosphere spread throughout the fortress. Even for the elite legions that have fought countless blood and death battles in the fortress, this pressure is still very stressful for many people, not only holding the weapon's hand. He got tighter, and even his breathing became heavy.

"It's just another battle."

Just then, William's voice sounded.

William is not a strong person, not even the first-order level, just a very ordinary person. His voice was not loud, and there was no such hysterical roar or generosity, and some were just a very calm sentence.

The sound is not loud, so not many people can hear it.

But those who hear will pass William's words over and over to the people next to them.

Soon, the whole fortress began to reverberate with a sentence: "It's just another battle."

The tense atmosphere in the original wild fortress was quickly dispelled, and the rest was calm.

"In the past few years, have we experienced fewer battles? ... Not to mention the  battles we experienced when we followed Grand Duke Sean all the way south, just before the establishment of the Principality. The war with Dabion, I believe you should have heard of it even if you have not experienced it or witnessed it. Then do you know how many troops were there in the entire Void Territory at the beginning of that national war? Less than 50,000!"

"Yes. At that time. We were not a Void Principality, nor did we have the prosperous situation we are today. We were just a small baronial, and the total force? It was only 50,000. But at that time, we faced it is the hundreds of thousands of troops deployed by the Kingdom of Darbion in the south. It only takes one group to encircle and fight, and we will die.... But the result?"

"we won."

Four simple words. But it made everyone feel as if they were holding a fire in their hearts.

Alfred, Clough, Cecilia, Chefano, Dwight all laughed.

Many soldiers and officers who survived that war and survived to this day also laughed.

Yes. Among all the people present, only they are qualified to give out such a bright and comfortable smile and laughter.

In the southern battlefield that was not favored by everyone in Darbion's national war, the void leader won.

"That war was a battle for the founding of the Void Duchy, and it was also a battle of fame for the Lion of Thunder, the Iron Wings, and the Cecilia Guards."

The three legions that had been named all smiled, and their faces were full of pride.

"Then? Then we were targeted. We were targeted by some conspiracy careerists who were disregarding the overall situation and serving only their own interests.... That time. I almost died. If there was no steel-winged former commander, Anno. Nor would it be. There will be me who can still stand here today. Therefore, we launched a vengeance war against those careerists, and it is also a blood-flag war that belongs to our Void Principality."

"This war is to deal with those nasty villains who dare not fight against us on the frontal battlefield. Let the entire Southern Continent know that our Void Principality is not easy to provoke, and any conspiracy against us will cost us ten times. , Hundreds of times! That time, the enemy had support, alliances, complex interest groups that belonged to them, and countless more targeted actions that were hostile to our actions! And what about us?"

"At that time, did we have support?" William turned around and stood on the wall, looking down at the many soldiers standing in the city, "Tell me, are there any?"

"No!" The flame that squeezed in my heart burned more and more vigorously.

"But we still won." William once again narrated the fact very calmly, "At that time, we came and went across the country, and there was more than one ancient family that was annihilated by us? Then? Our enemy finally knows that we The most powerful legions are not only the Iron Wings, the Cecilia Guards, and the Thunder Lions. We also have the Crimson Knights, Conviction Wings, Jet Black Wings, the First Cavalry, and even the First and First Cavalry that are not present today. The Second Infantry Regiment, the Mobile Infantry Regiment."

This time, everyone present laughed.

Whether they are high-ranking generals, middle-level commanders, or the most basic-level soldiers, their faces have smiles from the heart.

"This is just another battle." William said softly what he said at the beginning.

But different from the calm before, everyone's eyes became brighter, and the flames in their hearts almost burned through their chests.

"Who are you? Are the elite of the Void Principality! Also the pride of the Void Principality! It is the strongest shield and the sharpest sword of the Void Principality!" William said softly, without the excitement, intoxicating and charming red face, nor indifference. The indifferent and solemn sullen face only reveals calm and bright eyes, "And our enemies? They are just the bones of a group of dead people who gave up their lives and helped torment them!"

"They are just a bunch of scum, a bunch of dead waste!"

William's voice is not passionate, but it is full of unspeakable charm: "After experiencing so many wars and facing so many powerful enemies, we still won. Those who have never been optimistic about us before We have already used the facts to make faces severely. Those who once looked down on us now also need to look up at us. And those enemies who were against us in the past are now completely history!"

"After so many years, we are still standing here, becoming a new power and a new strong. Now, a small group of bone scum says that they want to take our fortress and turn us into the same bone scum. Can you agree?"

"No!" All the soldiers roared deafeningly.

"Yes, I can't agree." William nodded, "It's a shame. If so, I don't have the face to see Grand Duke Shaun. Especially, I still have such pride of your void duchy. Circumstances... To be honest, I, William, have never done such a shameful thing."

"Haha!" Everyone laughed, and the pressure enveloped in the entire fortress completely disappeared.

William scanned all the soldiers in front of him. His eyes were slow and firm, and he swept one by one from left to right: "So, tell me now, who are you?"

"We are the elite of the Void Principality! We are also the pride of the Void Principality! It is the strongest shield and the sharpest sword of the Void Principality!"

"Who is our enemy?"

"A bunch of scum, a bunch of dead waste! A bunch of bones of dead people who gave up their lives and helped them to abuse!"

"Then tell me now, are you still scared? Are you still shaking?"

"No! We are not afraid!"

The flame burning in the chest finally melted the mental pressure and shackles imposed by the arrival of the undead army. All the soldiers uttered their loudest roars, and the entire wild fortress even produced an earthquake-like illusion.

"Full string benchmark." William turned around and said slowly.

Abaza let out a "hey", then took off the bow on his back, pulled a full string, let go and shot an arrow.

The arrow draws an arc in mid-air, and then falls hundreds of meters away.

"Two-thirds string benchmark."

Abaza fired an arrow again. This time the arrow fell closer to the wild fortress than the position where the first arrow was shot before, only about three hundred meters.

"Half-chord benchmark." William ordered for the third time.

Abazar shot the third arrow, which was only two hundred meters away from the fortress.

At this time, the skeleton soldier at the front line of the Undead Army is less than a kilometer away from the wild fortress.

William glanced at the undead army in front of him, and then showed a smile. His face quickly turned red, and this time William was really excited. The body began to tremble faintly, but it was not a tremor of fear and worry, but a tremor of excitement that was uncontrollable.

"The enemy is close to the full string!" Abaza shouted in a deep voice, then turned his head, and after seeing William nod his head slightly, he shouted again: "All archers of steel wings listen to my orders!"

The steel-winged soldiers standing in the front row of the first row quickly took off their bows, then drew arrows from their quiver, and placed them on the bow.

"Full string!" Abaza shouted again.

All war archers quickly opened the bow in their hands, and the full-stringed arrows directly tightened the bow.

"The first arrow, let me do it." Levi chuckled suddenly, then stepped forward, looking at Abaza and asked.

"Yes!" Abaza smiled and nodded, and handed the bow and arrow in his hand to Levi.

After the latter took over, he immediately opened the full string, and pulling the full string of this bow with his power was simply a breeze. He even directly covered the vindictiveness on the arrow, making the entire arrow bright and transparent.

At this time, in Levi's eyes, there was only one undead with the most deadly spirit among the undead army at the front line.

Without the slightest hesitation, Levi quickly released the bowstring pinching the arrow tail feathers.

The next moment, the arrow flew out like a bolt of lightning, directly smashing the head of the undead targeted by Levi, and then smashing the heads of dozens of undead behind. At the same time, Abaza also shouted the command to shoot, and immediately saw arrows like a torrential rain of locusts. Thousands of undead at the forefront of the undead army were immediately struck into pieces of bone dregs by these powerful arrows.

"This is just another war." With the rain of arrows, William said this for the third time, "And we will eventually win a new victory."

"Victory! Victory! Victory!"

Chapter 42: .Offensive and defensive

In the first round of arrow shooting, thousands of skeleton soldiers were eliminated on the spot.

But this number is a trivial number for the undead cannon fodder of more than 300,000. It can even be said that it is simply a number that can be ignored, especially the skeletons that were crushed into bone fragments on the spot are just the most ordinary skeleton warriors.

Although there are more detailed divisions of skeleton warriors, they can basically be classified into three types: skeleton swordsmen with swords, skeleton pikemen with spears, and skeleton archers with bows and arrows. They can be summarized as close range and middle range. And three types of long distances. Because it is a unified form of resurrection undead, so there are relatively consistent configurations in body shape and weapons, and there are rarely too special situations. After all, they are only second-order undead creatures, and it is not very worthwhile for those necromancers to waste their minds.

However, only skeleton swordsmen and skeleton archers appeared on the battlefield at this time. Perhaps because they knew that they were going to attack the city, they did not see the skeleton spearmen.

In the field, the spearman's lethality is much higher than that of the sword soldier. However, in a siege, unless it has entered a battle for occupation and conquest of the city wall, the spearman is not suitable for the environment of a siege war at all.

After the first round of arrow rain covering blows, soon more undead creatures stepped on their companion's corpse and continued to charge.

And this time, the real war begins.

The undead army spread out is exactly the same length as the entire fortress wall, but unlike the wall, they have a greater thickness. Moreover, after suffering from the loss of the first wave of arrow rain covering blows, the Undead Vanguard has undergone some subtle changes-this change does not seem to be special, but the one that rushes forward is no longer Skeleton swordsman, but a lower-level skeleton soldier.

This is a first-order skeleton creature. Their body bones look a little gray and yellowish, as if they are severely deficient in calcium, and there are even cracks in some places. Even the weapons in his hands were rusty, and it seemed that they couldn't kill people at all. But on the contrary, they have equipment that other undead creatures don't have—shields. This round wooden shield, which doesn't even have iron skin, may not be able to block a powerful arrow shot from the steel-winged soldiers, but it is used to weaken the arrows. The arrow covers the power of the blow. But it is enough.

"Don't worry about those skeleton soldiers!" Although Abaza has not entered the golden realm. But he is no longer the stunned green back then. He can tell at a glance that these skeleton soldiers pose no threat at all. If it weren't for the location of the undead creatures of the skeleton system, he didn't even want to waste precious arrows on them. Those skeleton warriors.

"No." This time it was Levi who spoke against it.

He slid the bow and arrow in his hand back to Abaza, and explained: "In other places, we may be able to ignore these skeleton soldiers. But in the city defense battle, it is absolutely not possible. Because these guys are the attack of the undead army. The city ladder. Once these guys are allowed to build a road against the city wall, the skeleton cavalry behind can charge once."

"Charge?" Abaza was taken aback, then laughed, "Then let them come."

Then, the entire steel-winged soldiers laughed.

Levy is a newcomer who has just joined the Void Duchy, so he didn't know that Iron Wing's most famous record was blocking the group charge of the most famous cavalry regiment in the Kingdom of Darbion. Maybe other enemies will let the steel wings throw the rodents, but only the cavalry charge that has made countless infantry armies distracted. But it is the method they least need to worry about.

Levy didn't understand why these people laughed so happily.

Alfred stepped forward and patted him on the shoulder: "Iron Wings. It's called steel. Do you think it's just nice? The most feared thing in their army is to charge. Whether it's a cavalry or a knight, For them there is no difference."

Just as Alfred was talking to Levi, the steel-winged archers had already fired two more rounds of arrow rain. But after all, they did not completely let go of the skeleton soldiers, but began to restrict their offensive steps in a targeted manner. However, the main attack coverage is still slightly further behind, and the undead creatures are the real main combat forces of this vanguard. .

"Two-thirds benchmark!" A scout issued a warning.

The leading force of the Undead Army is close to the position of two-thirds of the benchmark.

"The second and third rows of the bow troops alternately cover shooting!"

Abaza raised his right hand, and with a sudden wave, the archer in the second column no longer shoots at full length. Instead, he and the archer in the third column alternately cover and strike the undead creatures that are close to the second marker line. Only the archer standing in the forefront still kept shooting at the farthest undead creatures in a full-stringed state, but because the second row that was supposed to shoot alternately gave up the farthest shooting, so in combat efficiency Naturally, it is no better than before.

But this time, all the steel-winged archers standing on the city wall started shooting, and the coverage area was naturally wider, and the threat to the undead army was naturally increased a lot. Almost every moment, there are thousands of undead being hit by powerful arrows into pieces of bone fragments, most of which are directly shot through the skull with an arrow, extinguishing the fire of the soul.

But even so, as far as this undead army is concerned, it is still completely unable to shake it.

And as more undead troops rushed to the front, skeleton archers also began to appear in the sight of the steel-winged soldiers.

But in the face of these skeleton archers, no one took them seriously.

The Void Principality may not have a special understanding of the information and materials of the undead, but it still understands the most conventional undead knowledge: the skeleton archer, the second-order undead creature, the effective shooting distance is less than 100 meters, and the best killing distance is 30 meters. To sixty meters. In other words, the so-called skeleton archers are not much more threatening than an Orion holding a hunting bow.

While standing on the 30-meter-high city wall, it is the defender of the city. The skeleton archers are even 300 meters away from the city wall. In the eyes of the steel-winged archers, these skeleton archers are no different from living targets. So there is almost a tacit understanding, all the arrows of the steel-winged war archers avoid these skeleton archers. Because all the Void

Barbarians, including Abaza, thought it was a problem with the commander of the Undead Army, and they used the Skeleton Archer so quickly.

If the undead army attacked the city wall, and then let these skeleton archers advance under the city wall, then it might pose a certain threat to the defender.

As for now?

No one cares at all.

The distance between the two-thirds mark and the half-chord mark. Only about a hundred meters.

So when the undead army crosses the two-thirds benchmark. Naturally, he quickly pushed the front line to the half-string benchmark position, which was only about two hundred meters away from the city wall. If it is a real siege war, then the offensive team will generally start desperately forward after reaching this position, and then try to start fighting on the city wall and the defending army-everyone who has fought a city war offensive and defensive knows that, the more It is close to the city wall, especially at the distance of the last 100 meters, this kind of fighting between offensive and defensive sides will be more * and tragic.

But when facing an unconscious army of undead. The situation is naturally very strange.

All the undead creatures did not make any final crazy charges. Instead, they kept their tepid rhythm slowly advancing. The defenders of the steel wings naturally wished that the undead army would continue to do so, because they had more time to shoot. This may not be able to truly eliminate the undead creatures siege to the city, but it can at least weaken the number of these undead army to a certain extent.

Facing these undead army that has entered the half-string benchmark, Abaza didn't say anything, just made a tactical gesture.

Soon, several messengers began to wave command flag signals.

At the next moment, the other third of the steel-winged soldiers who had not boarded the city wall also began to take down their bows and arrows. Then hit an arrow. Under one command of the command flag, all the Void Barbarians immediately released their right hands. Throw out the arrow on the bow.

The dense cluster of arrows draws a parabola from the fortress, and then shoots at all the undead army that crosses the half-chord pole. Under the double force, these undead soldiers quickly received a more deadly blow than the fortress wall-although the coverage of this wave of arrows was much smaller, and even the accuracy of the head was much worse, but in terms of penetration strength, It was an attack far beyond the city wall defenders.

The continuous arrow strikes, under normal circumstances, are long enough to make the enemy's morale close to collapse. Even a general death-wave war or a skeletal invasion war is enough to let the undead commander know how difficult the fortress is. It is definitely not so small that a cannon fodder can be swallowed. The best option is to retreat and reformulate. Strategy: Or change a place to attack, or mobilize the undead regular army sequence.

But this army of cannon fodder in front of him, it seems that he doesn't understand the truth of war at all, and it is still just a brain attack, completely ignoring the casualties and consequences.

In just a few minutes, from the advancement of the undead army to the present, although the skeleton army at the front line is only a hundred meters away from the city wall, the casualties of this undead army are also from the beginning. Thousands of skeletons have suffered more than 30,000 damages.

Even the entire Skeleton Sea can feel its obvious weakening and reduction.

"The situation is not right." William frowned slightly.

"Undead cannon fodder, it is impossible to have such crazy aggressiveness." Levi also found the problem, "We have used up tens of thousands of arrows. Even if we can only solve one skeleton every three arrows, the enemy is at least More than 30,000 were killed in battle."

"This is not an ordinary temptation, but a consumption of our strategic materials!" William said in a deep voice, "If this is the case..."

"Wow!"

A sharp arrow made of polished arm bones suddenly strikes William Breaking the air!

I saw a silver light suddenly lit up in the air-Levi reacted in the first place, and swung his sword to intercept the arrow.

But in the next moment, the sharp sound of breaking through the air sounded one after another.

In an instant, the steel-winged soldier at the forefront fell down like a harvested wheat. Many of the unlucky ones are directly planted directly from the 30-meter-high city wall to the ground; while most soldiers are directly hit on vital parts, such as the throat, eyes, etc., only a few of the steel-winged soldiers are lucky. Escaped this sudden wave of catastrophe, but suffered a little injury.

"Bone Archer!" Lay defended William and quickly retreated to the rear.

"Leadun!" And Abaza's voice sounded at the same time as Levi's shout.

Without any hesitation, the steel-winged soldier standing in the forefront gave up and continued shooting, and then quickly picked up the impact shield next to it. Protected in front of him. This method of not hesitating in order to save the soldiers of the steel wings from the next disaster-the clanging collision sounded at a speed that was not inferior to the previous arrow rain of the steel wings.

"Damn it!" Abaza let out an angry roar, "When did the undead become so cunning! Those bone archers are actually hidden among the skeleton archers, the number is at least 20,000!"

if we assume. Skeleton archers are just the words of the most common archer in the human army. Then the bone archer can be regarded as a strong archer with the upgrade of the archer arms. In terms of shooting strength, penetration or range, the bone archer is much stronger than the skeleton archer. Such undead creatures that reach Tier 4 already have a shooting distance of more than two hundred meters, and the arrows they use are special bone arrows, which allows them to enjoy a certain degree of damage bonus.

If Levi was not with William just now, it is very likely that the wave of conspiracy attacks will cause the entire fortress to lose its supreme commander.

But the current situation. There is not too much advantage for the side of the steel wings.

More than 20,000. Perhaps more skeletal archers, when they came to the half-string benchmark position two hundred meters from the fortress wall, began to launch a fierce counterattack. But in this kind of counterattack, they did not stop, but continued to advance toward the front of the line. With the advancement of these bone archers, their attacks became more and more fierce, and it could even be said that they were completely suppressed. Live the steel wings on the city wall and shoot.

They are not afraid of changing lives with steel-winged soldiers. But Abaza couldn't give this kind of brainless order that was basically a death-death behavior. He could only take advantage of the momentum of these skeletal archers to pause slightly, and then ordered the second and third row of war archers to launch a counterattack. Although he already knew it. They couldn't stop the undead army from advancing without caring about loss, but when they were really suppressed and could not slow the progress of the undead, Abaza still felt very angry.

While the skeletal archer launched a counterattack, it seemed to be an offensive signal for the entire army of undead.

The skeleton mage, who had stayed in the distance without any movement at all, finally started to move forward again at this time. Every time their staff suddenly fell on the ground, a black ball of light would shoot to the ground in front of them, and then soon, those skeletons that were not badly damaged would be reorganized again.

Although this spell has a big flaw, it can only make these skeletons the lowest level of skeleton soldiers, but when everyone on the wall saw these skeletons that had been wiped out once again, they got up again. Still feeling depressed in his heart for a while.

Alfred squeezed the battle axe in his hand, his face looked very gloomy: "These * bones.... William, let me attack!"

"Go to die?" William sneered mercilessly, "This level of scale, even if you, Clover and Abaza all rush up, it won't help. The enemy is just forcing us out of the city. Why do you want to satisfy the opponent's tactics? No matter how many of these skeleton soldiers, they will not be able to play any role in the battlefield. They really attack the city wall and they will be broken with a single shot, so they are just material consumables."

"Summoning skeleton soldiers in front of the battle is just to weaken our confidence and morale." Levi also added that in dealing with the undead army, Levi from the floating island can definitely be regarded as a professional scientific personnel. They are just materials used to build the ladder path.... The real trouble is the skeleton mages. I bet there must be bone mages mixed in them."

"Abaza, order all steel wings. Except for the reserve team to maintain coverage strikes, the war bow troops on the city wall don't care about other undeads. If they want to build a ladder, let them build it. You just need to find the right opportunity to give the opponent's skeleton mage. Come and be cruel." William said faintly, there was no eagerness on his face, some were just calm and calm. If the redness on his face hadn't completely faded, I'm afraid no one would believe that he is still excited now. Status, "Since these skeleton mages dare to enter our attack range, then there is no need to be polite with them."

"I see!" Abaza's voice was a little excited.

He couldn't figure out too much truth, but he knew that skeleton warriors and skeleton soldiers were not worth any money at all. If they could shoot arrows at those * skeleton mages, then the value would be great. But for those bone archers who had killed many of his brothers, if given the opportunity, he didn't plan to let it go.

Soon, Abaza found an opportunity to shoot an overly forward skeleton mage on the spot.

This caused a panic in the entire group of skeleton mages, and many skeleton mages stepped back and did not dare to step forward. And such a move undoubtedly annoyed the bone archers, and their attacks suddenly became more fierce.

But this time, no one was worried. Instead, there was a burst of laughter.

The morale that had been slightly low, was soon promoted again and restored.

However, the skeleton soldiers who rushed forward finally arrived under the wall.

Chapter 43: .Intend

A skeleton stood close to the wall of the fortress, bending the entire body against the wall, and then raised the shield in his hand and placed it on his skull. Immediately afterwards, a very unique bone material was sprayed from its body and stuck to the walls around the city wall, forming a solid bone layer, which looked like bones stuck to the wall.

Immediately afterwards, the second and third skeletons quickly followed.

They are very close to the first one, and the round wooden shields in the hands overlap each other to avoid the exposed gap.

As more and more skeleton soldiers approached the city wall, a layer of wooden shield stairs was quickly built up along the edge of the city wall.

As more and more skeleton soldiers flocked to the city wall, the scale of the formation of this ladder became faster and faster. And with the gradual formation of the first ladder, more skeletons began to be no longer satisfied with the construction of the first ladder, but began the construction of the second ladder.

I saw a skeleton soldier jumping on a wooden shield, repeating the previous action, leaning his body against the wall, and then began to stick to the city wall. But compared to the bottom "staircase" as the foundation, the height of the second skeleton is obviously not high. It looks like it is squatting, but its firmness is not necessarily inferior.

And with the gradual formation of the second level of stairs, a new batch of surging skeleton soldiers no longer climbed to the third level, but approached the first level, and then penetrated the rust sword in their hands through the first one. The skeleton soldier's body, the whole arm directly followed through the ribs. The wooden shield in their hands is placed on the front wooden shield, not simply against it, so that the wooden shields of the second row of skeletons will not create gaps.

As the two skeleton soldiers approached, the powdery substance secreted by the bones of them quickly adhered tightly.

The area of the stairs has been enlarged.

The person standing on the city wall can see this scene clearly as long as he lowers his head a little.

This is the unique war art of the undead family-the ladder of bones.

As the area of the stairs expands, new skeletons will soon climb to the third floor. Then began to build the third level of the ladder.

In this way, every time the height is built one floor, the steps of the next floor will follow and expand immediately.

It only lasted more than ten minutes. Under the entire fortress wall, a six-story bone ladder had been built. The stretched out range is even more than 20 to 30 meters away. And this is not the end, there is still a steady stream of skeleton soldiers rushing towards the wall. The bone archers still hid in the group of skeleton archers and shot those bone arrows against the city wall. On the contrary, because of the accidental death of one of the skeleton mages, they did not dare to step forward at this moment.

Compared with those that can be sacrificed and consumed, even if the skeleton mage is only Tier 3, it is very difficult to summon the materials-not all the undead summoning magic can summon the skeleton mage, and certain auxiliary materials are required. , And the deceased must possess a certain magical talent before his death.

if not. Even magic apprentices or magicians who have stepped into the silver realm. Still can only be ordinary skeletons or undead like corpses.

This vanguard force can gather such a large number of skeleton mages, and there are even many bone mages among them, which may have occupied a quarter of the entire southern undead army. And such a huge scale, just used as cannon fodder to consume, this is simply an incredible thing. If it is a unit that cooperates with the undead regular army sequence, it is enough to destroy the entire first-class kingdom.

No one knows what these undead creatures are thinking.

The only thing that can be known. That is, the construction speed of the white bone ladder is getting faster and faster, and it only relies on steel wings less than 20,000--the regular army formation of steel wings has 50,000. However, there are less than 20,000 people who specialize in bow shooting skills. Others or cameo archers are only responsible for blind shooting of covered strikes. But if you really want to shoot accurately, it is obviously impossible— It is impossible to control the construction speed of the ladder.

"Their speed has increased." Abaza wiped the blood from his left face.

Because he was going to pay attention to the construction speed of the White Bone Cloud Ladder just now, his body protruded slightly, but he was wiped from his cheek by a flowing arrow, and a blood mark was drawn. Although the injury was not very serious, the white bone arrow shot by the bone archer contained a certain amount of toxins. Although emergency treatment had been carried out, Abaza still felt a little numbness in his cheeks.

"If they continue to lose like this, they will use the skeletal unit." Levy glanced through the gap in the impact shield, then said, "Shall we just let them build the bone ladder like this?"

All eyes are on William.

But there was a fascinating smile on William's face: "Let it go? How could it be possible.... It's just that there is not much effect yet, wait a minute. Let the main combat force of the bow troops be placed on those archers. On the body, whether it's bones or skeletons, all give me volleys."

Although Abaza didn't understand the reason, he nodded, and then began to order.

Soon, the center of gravity of the counterattack from the steel wings was adjusted. Originally, the bow and arrow shooting of the bow troops was to find bone archers as much as possible, and then a few people next to them worked together to solve it directly with a powerful shot, but now, because I don't care about which skeleton archers are in their hands anymore. , So the dense rain of arrows covered the blow, and these skeleton archers soon suffered.

For a while, the undead army that had already suppressed the arrow rain in the city was immediately suppressed again.

But what everyone did not expect was that after the undead responsible for long-range operations were suppressed, the construction speed of the Bone Ladder was much slower. In the previous ten minutes, a six-story staircase was built. At this time, more than twenty minutes have passed, but only two floors have been built again.

Alyssa's eyes lit up, and her gaze at William looked bright.

"This is, suppression tactics, right?" Levi asked in a low voice.

"En." Alyssa nodded, "And it is a very precise strategic push-type suppression.... I have been observing the key points of the other party's white bone ladder. Originally, I thought that the key should be those skeleton mages, as long as they can Limit their summoning speed, and the construction speed of this white bone ladder will be slowed down. But I didn't expect that the most critical place is not here."

Levy nodded, already understood what was going on.

But Abaza didn't understand. He touched his head and asked humbly: "His Royal Highness Levi, why is this?"

The powerhouse of the legendary realm. All are called His Royal Highness. To distinguish the huge gap between Sanctuary and Legend.

Of course, this is because they are not very familiar with each other.

Like Rena and Xuefanio, although they are also true legendary powerhouses, generally no one calls their Highness. Dwight, who came from the cavalry regiment, still called their head and envoy or saint, while Alfred and other old people called them Rina and Xuefanio.

"Because of the offensive." Levi said, "The previous offensive was suppressed. So the skeleton soldiers can charge without scruples. But now the opponent's offensive is suppressed by our counter-suppression. Therefore, they have to withstand more force. Damage. But those skeleton mages did not dare to go forward, so once the skeleton soldiers at the front of the front were lost, they could not continue to summon because of the cast distance."

"To put it simply, it is the general trend." Alisha added.

Abaza nodded, seemingly understanding, he really didn't understand the key here, but it didn't matter. As the smartest and witty person of the Void Barbarian family, Abaza has always liked thinking, so when he has free time, he will go back and think about the key to it.

"Then. Can we hold it?" Abaza asked again.

"Can't hold it." This time, it was Alfred who answered the question. Even he can clearly see the crux of the problem.

Perhaps the construction speed of the White Bone Ladder has been restricted now, but it is only restricted. The number of the 300,000 undead army is not a joke. Perhaps others don't know it, but Alfred, as a senior commander, knows that the strategic reserves in the fortress are not particularly sufficient today, although the rear is already in emergency. Mobilization and transportation, but before these logistics units actually arrived, there were only about 500,000 steel arrows in the fortress after all, which is still the number of materials counted after the assembly of many troops.

But war is not a digital game. It is impossible to say that a steel arrow can solve a skeleton, and the physical exhaustion and muscle strain of the soldiers must also be considered. Combining various factors, even if these 500,000 steel arrows can really be consumed in this battle, as long as they can eliminate 100,000 skeletons, they can already be regarded as a major victory.

"Ten floors." After such a brief exchange, the construction of the White Bone Ladder suddenly increased a lot.

For more than an hour of continuous shooting, no matter how high the endurance of the Void Barbarian is, the strain on the arm muscles will almost reach the limit. Many of the Void Barbarians' fingers had blood stains worn out by the bowstrings, while the forearms of a larger portion of Void Barbarians were already swollen and red.

"When will Hitley's priestly troops arrive?" William also saw the problem.

"It is estimated that there will be more than a week of travel at least." Alfred replied, "However, when the war broke out, Dwight had already led the Scarlet Knights out of the city to greet him. It is estimated that the travel time could be shortened to about three days."

"Can't wait." William shook his head, "Abaza, let the steel wings stop shooting. If you continue to fight like this, your unit will be completely abolished."

Abaza gritted his teeth, his face looked a little ugly: "Stop shooting!"

"Master William, we can still hold on!" A soldier with steel wings roared, but he refused to put down his bow and arrow, but shot another arrow.

"Yes! Lord William!"

"Let's continue!"

The steel-winged war archers clamored, but no one was willing to put down their war bows.

"Your value is not just in this long-range suppression." William said in a deep voice, "The enemy will soon finish building the bone ladder, and they will surely attack the city wall by then. Now you are the only one who can engage in hand-to-hand combat against the city wall. , The black wings, the lion of thunder, and the four legions of the Cecilia Guards. Oh, yes, Miss Angel's Frost Legion is also possible, but... do you want a group of women to protect you?"

"No!" Many people made rejection sounds.

"Our Void Principality does have a strong military capacity. But our founding time is too short, so the army is not strong enough." William said lightly, without ignoring his shortcomings, "The troops gathered in the fortress are indeed The pride of our Void Principality, but how many people are there after all? Not counted as Miss Angel's Frost Legion. We are even less than 100,000. But in front of us is just a cannon fodder Legion of the Undead Army. There are already more than 300,000. Ju, do we have a lot of people?"

Everyone is silent.

"So, I have to treat each of you as three people, or even five or ten people." William said in a calm tone, but the content of the words once again made everyone's hearts look uplifted. "I want to use you so vividly. The only thing I can think of is to keep you all in the best condition.... Now let you put down your bows and arrows. Not to stop you from fighting, but to prepare you for the next Fight to the death."

"I have said before, we have no reinforcements." William said in a deep voice, "Why? Because the guys from the wild tribes have not been reorganized until now, Hela is still sitting there, and there are even many scumbags. I plan to make trouble while our elites gather on the front line.... I am here, I can only tell you that since you are all the pride of my Void Principality. Then even if you all die here, I will keep you up. proud!"

Soldiers with steel wings. Finally slowly lowered the bow.

But their morale is not low in the slightest, but like a volcano about to erupt.

Thinking of the people in the wild tribe, William also has a wicked fire in his heart.

After feeling the danger of Sean before, William and Xuefanio dealt with a large number of people ruthlessly, which really shocked many people. But they didn't expect that when the troops began to set off, the people of these wild tribes began to make trouble again. As a last resort, William could only ask Hela to rush over from the canyon fortress to sit in town, and leave Noro and the Silverside Legion to be responsible for protecting Hela's safety.

William knows the murder of Alexis, and the old people in the inner circle who have followed Sean for a long time also know it.

Ke is also clear, so they all know that even if Hela really rectifies the wild tribe, they must beware of careerists from other forces who are disregarding the overall situation. The most typical idea of these lunatics is that even if there is no Void Principality, they can defend this bone invasion. Therefore, they should take advantage of the Void Principality's weakest time to divide the Void Principality's interests and reintegrate the entire wilderness. Their control has once again become their back garden for whatever they want.

This is why William said they will not have reinforcements.

Being able to arrange Hitley, the saint of the Temple of Life, to the wild fortress is already the biggest fight.

What's more, even if Hela really ignored the rear and forced all the Legions of the Wild Tribe to come to the Wild Fortress to support, it would take nearly a month at the earliest. If it is really unreasonable and can only give up the wild fortress, William of course will not be so mindless. He would choose to stick to it now because they and Sean have been out of touch for a long time. Although I don't know where Sean went, it is certain that Sean will return to the Wild Fortress in the end.

Therefore, regardless of the consideration, William must guard the wild fortress, at least for a month.

But he also knows very well that these troops in the fortress are the real confidence of the Void Principality, so even if the Void Empire is greatly injured by this, it is impossible to let all these troops be buried here. As long as these troops are still there, then the Void Principality will eventually be able to become an empire. But if all the confidence and strength are all buried here, then the void empire plan is really just a joke.

If the undead army's offensive strength remains unabated, it can only last for one month.

William's heart already had a plan: if he gave up the rear, he could send reinforcements immediately, which might last three months. But if it is flanked back and forth, I am afraid it will really fall.

Alas, I hope Sean will come back soon.

Chapter 44: .Corruption

For the undead, the breath of life is like a beacon in the dark, you can't even see it.

For those undead with only biological instincts, once a living person enters the dead place, all the undead will be instantly alarmed, because the breath is too obvious. For this reason, once the breath and aura of a living person changes, it is naturally the easiest to feel for the undead.

So when the guards of the wild fortress changed their momentum and began to truly regard death as home, the breath of life they burst out was naturally dazzling. This caused a commotion in the entire undead army. If it weren't for high-level undead pressure, this seemingly ordinary undead army would be in chaos.

Without him, instinctively makes chaos.

But the defensive force becomes stronger, and the undead on the offensive side naturally becomes extremely manic. It does not even require the commander to order and command. The undead who follow their instincts will attack more quickly.

However, no matter how fierce and frenzied the battle ahead becomes, there is still a large-scale undead army behind the big formation that has not moved the slightest. Even if the defensive army became more vigorous and more attractive, they only rioted for a while before returning to normal, without causing the entire army to be completely chaotic.

And in this army, which can truly be called the headquarters of the vanguard, there are two figures standing.

One of them has a strong aura, no matter how much control is converged, the breath that leaks out inadvertently still looks terrifying.

The other way is the opposite. Not only is there no aura from the body, but even in the entire army of the undead, it seems that there is no such thing. If it is not for the other party, it will stand next to the first imposing figure. When it does not exist at all.

"It seems that your tactics are not good." This ordinary figure that has no sense of existence said, "Can't lure the enemy."

It's such a simple, peaceful sentence. However, the death inspiration with the fierce aura next to him was shocked. However, his horror was restrained in his heart, and his expression reflected a gloomy and hideous look on his face, and his hand bones were snapped.

As his mood changes, its body has undergone a strange change.

was originally the appearance of a skeleton, but at this moment, there were waves of phantom shaking. A burly figure over two meters tall was revealed.

This figure is wearing a black armor. Behind him is a black cloak hunting and hunting, but if you look closely, you will find that this cloak is not black at all, but soaked in so much blood that it is completely black. The burly figure did not wear a battle helmet, so he could still see the skull, but the flame burning in his eyes was not the faint green of ordinary skull cannon fodder, but a brilliant red that was almost purplish.

This kind of soul fire. Only the undead who has reached the eleventh rank can have it.

Once it turns purple. That is the symbol of the legendary ghost fire, which means that the undead is a true legendary creature.

is just an army of undead like cannon fodder, how could there be such a powerful undead?

"Are you going to ruin me?" The inexistent skeleton spoke, but such a plain sentence caused the death of the next person who was already equivalent to the upper sanctuary realm to be frozen for a while. Yin and cold.

"Subordinates don't dare." The undead who hides his identity said with a respectful tone.

refers only to subordinates, not subordinates.

This shows that this undead is not a subordinate of another undead, but a subordinate of another undead army that has an equal and opposite relationship with it. Only because of his own status and rank are lower than the other, so he called himself a subordinate.

can make the undead of Tier 11 claim to be subordinates. If you still show such a respectful attitude, you can naturally imagine the strength of the other person.

After saying this, the momentum of the undead body was full, and the state of the unstable illusion revealed on the body was finally slightly stabilized, and there was no longer constant change and repetition. But even in this way, the strands of powerful coercive death energy can hardly be completely suppressed, and there is still a strong death energy permeating the entire ground. It's just because the undead army is relatively large, so the dead spirit that escapes can be regarded as an explanation.

Of course, this is also the reason why the undead army in this headquarters does not dare to go too far forward.

With the perceptual power of this undead powerhouse, it is natural to know that there are two legendary powerhouses in the fortress ahead, and they are not ordinary legendary powerhouses, they belong to the kind of relatively powerful combat power, the aura of the power of law. Fluctuations can be felt. However, these two people are not within his scope of response, but the real powerhouse next to him is responsible for solving them. There is only one real goal of his trip, and that is to capture this fortress.

Except for a woman named by her own master, she must stay alive, other people in the fortress live or die.

Of course, if he can leave more and more perfect materials, then he will naturally be praised. And it is for this reason that he adopts this kind of disguise tactics that are rare in the undead army.

In fact, this undead general is not the undead pulled from the plane of bones by Rick, but a native product produced after the southern territory of the Millennium Covenant Empire was captured. Before his death, he was a powerful and outstanding general. He was especially good at war. He was one of the three pillars of the previous Golden Thirteen Provinces. He was also the only fallen undead who immediately surrendered to Lake after seeing the general situation is over.

Fallen are human beings who surrender to demons, demons, and undead. According to different belief goals of surrender, there are demon fallen, devil fallen, and undead fallen. The nature of these fallen people is still human, so they retain all the instincts and memories that belong to human beings, but because they are limited by fallen beliefs, they will be planted with special operating methods, and their physical appearance will be somewhat different. Variety.

The price Edroso has to pay is to peel off all his flesh and blood and become a skeleton. But because he endured this intense pain, he also gained the great benefit of improving his strength-as a human, he only had the realm of the lower sanctuary, but after becoming a fallen one, his strength increased to that level. The upper sanctuary can become a legendary powerhouse only with the last kick of the door.

The original him. Don't even think about becoming a legend after exhausting your life, but now he suddenly has the opportunity to become a legendary powerhouse. What is his dissatisfaction? It's just that Edroso didn't know that even if he died, he would never become a legendary powerhouse in his life, and he would always be the only thing left for him-from the moment he became a fallen one. It is no longer possible for him to have the ability to advance in strength. So how much his strength can be improved at the moment when the flesh is peeled off, it will only stop here in the future.

But Lake didn't tell him, so he didn't know it himself.

"The enemy has stopped shooting." The skeleton standing next to Edroso, looking at the bone ladder that was built up frantically after losing the arrow rain cover, suddenly said. "The White Bone Ladder is about to be completed...how is your Black Death Army prepared?"

"Just wait for the bone ladder to be built." Edroso replied in a deep voice.

The fallen. It is a man who surrenders to the dark creatures.

But even if they surrender because of this, they are "non-self races, and their hearts must be different" for dark creatures, so they will generally not be reused at all. If they want to be reused, then they must develop their direct line of troops themselves, and then use their military exploits to speak for themselves. However, they are only qualified to speak, and the demon kings, lords, and princes who accept their surrender will never let these fallen ones rule their own troops.

Because of this, all the fallen will have a skill similar to the natural ability: transformation. This ability is also called demonization and pollution. But no matter what it is called, there is only one essence. That is to develop the deployment of the army for themselves, and to strengthen the combat effectiveness of their corps, nothing more. Of course, there are also some powerful and powerful fallen men. Their ability is not to lead soldiers in battle, but to be strong like Lone Rangers.

But those demon kings, lords, and princes don't care about them. You can do it yourself or lead the soldiers to fight. Anyway, as long as you can complete the task.

The Black Death Army is the troop transformed from Edroso's pollution, which is the troop standing behind him at this moment.

This is a corps of skeletal cavalry with more than thirty thousand people, in addition to nearly one hundred thousand skeletal infantry armed with various weapons.

In fact, this large-scale undead army is the true headquarters of this undead vanguard, and it is also Edroso's direct line of troops. This army of 130,000 people is not a skeleton creature, but his deployment before becoming the Fallen. It's just that after he became the Fallen, this army failed to escape the doom, and all were killed by his demons. Pollution, becoming a half-human and half-undead army of fallen.

Of course, what the skeleton looks like now is just caused by the blessing of illusion like him. In fact, the combat power of this army is no less than that of the sixth-level army of the human empire. Even because of being completely demonized, the combat effectiveness is much stronger than the average level 6 army, and may not reach the standard of the real level 7 army, but the difference is not too far, and there must be a quasi-level 7 army.

This undead vanguard is indeed a pioneer, but it is not cannon fodder.

Levy didn't know this, but just judged it by ordinary logic, so it was inexplicable to think that this army of cannon fodder had tens of thousands of skeleton mages.

But it's no wonder that Levi didn't understand. It was that the knowledge base he had contacted had not been updated for a long time. He didn't know that there is a special existence of the so-called "fallen" on the earth nowadays, let alone a person himself. A fallen man who is good at military strategy. In this kind of war situation where the intelligence is completely unequal, it is not surprising that Levi did not see through this inferior tactic, and even William did not find anything wrong.

After all, no one would have thought that there would be undead who know how to disguise, disguise or even show the enemy's weakness.

A total of 350,000 undead, except for the main force of 130,000 and tens of thousands of skeleton mages, the remaining 200,000 are real cannon fodder, which can be sacrificed at any time, and they are only materials used to build the bone ladder.

However, the Bone Ladder has not been completely constructed at this moment, so Edroso still stays still.

He was still waiting, and when the bone ladder was completely completed, he immediately led the cavalry unit to launch a charge raid. As long as he cuts a hole, the infantry of the Black Death Army behind him can take advantage of the situation to enter, and then expand the results of the battle, gain a foothold on the wall-as a fallen man whose predecessor is a human, of course Edroso Knowing what is the most important point of a city siege, if you can't stand a firm foothold on the wall, don't even think about breaking the city.

At this moment, a new defense method suddenly appeared in the wild fortress that had been quiet for a long time.

Countless huge boulders as big as millstones were lifted up the city wall, and then they were thrown straight down toward the bone ladder built against the city wall.

One or two grindstones may not be able to smash the bones under the shield that are already stuck to the city wall, but a large number of grindstones fell, but they were enough to cause cracks in these bones. Once cracks occurred, the degree of firmness was naturally not as strong, and after a few more shots, these white bone ladders naturally produced a lot of collapse. And the threat of these millstones is far more than that. After smashing and smashing the bone ladder, the millstones rolling down the stairs naturally caused heavy losses to the skeleton soldiers behind.

Before they were completely turned into bone piles to stick to the walls or their companions, these skeleton soldiers were only first-order undead creatures. They were not much better than an adult, so they were smashed and hit by a huge boulder and many skeletons. It is simply crushed directly. Of course, most of them are not crushed by this, but it is normal to lose one or two parts of the body suddenly, and naturally it will no longer be the material for building the bone ladder.

"Dying struggling." Seeing new defenses in the fortress, the undead standing in Edroso sneered.

This defensive method is indeed a dying struggle in the eyes of the undead. After all, how many millstones can a fortress have? Smashing this piece down may be able to slow down the construction speed of the Bone Ladder, but it still doesn't help the general situation, they are just being built a little slower. But there are a total of 200,000 road-building materials. To the undead, there is no difference between being quicker and fuller.

However, that undead creature whose strength is absolutely above the legendary, obviously did not want to waste time any more, so he took a big step forward, the soul fire hidden deep in his eye sockets suddenly lit up for a moment, and tens of thousands in front of him The skeleton mage immediately divided into two columns.

The front row was all stepped forward, and soon entered the full range of the steel-winged war bow unit. But this time, even if they were shot and killed by several steel-winged soldiers, there was no commotion or retreat. Instead, they started to use magic power to operate magic. A large number of dead skeleton soldiers were summoned out, and those who lacked arms The skeleton soldier with a broken leg was also restored by undead magic and quickly recovered.

Not only that, these skeleton soldiers, whether they are newly summoned or repaired, even seem to be assisted by some magical power, rushing towards the bone ladder like crazy, and then turned into materials for building roads.

For a time, the construction speed of this ladder is not slow but fast.

While the skeleton mages in the front row stepped forward and summoned, the skeleton mages in the back row also stood in formation, and a huge amount of magic power quickly condensed in the formation of these skeleton mages, and then projected into the sky. Soon, huge dark clouds gathered in the sky of the entire fortress. These were dark clouds condensed purely by magic. These dark clouds floated towards the fortress and immediately blocked the golden brilliance emitted by the guru inside the fortress. It suddenly became dark clouds.

But Cecilia, standing on the city wall, felt that the powerful magic power was condensing at this moment, and the entire black cloud sky seemed to be brewing some powerful magic attack.

This made Cecilia's expression extremely solemn.

Chapter 45: .Acid rain

The dark clouds in the sky give people a very strong sense of oppression.

Even if Cecilia didn't remind him, everyone present knew that this must be a huge spell bombardment.

The light radiated from Guru really couldn't hold the cover of this dark cloud, and at this moment could only descend back to Cecilia's side. It can only be regarded as a small animal in the growth period, let alone an adult. If it is calculated according to the age of human beings, I am afraid it will be four or five years old. It is no small thing to be able to have three natural abilities, but if you want to If you expect Guru to help in the war, it would be better to expect reinforcements from the sky.

Cecilia carefully put away Gollum, looking up at the black thunder and lightning that shines from time to time in the dark clouds.

"Can you see what magic it is?" There was no panic on William's face.

"It should be acid rain." Cecilia said, "The Skeleton Mage is only Tier 3 after all. He doesn't know a lot of undead magic, and it's only three. There is only one skeleton for summoning, and one for bone recovery. Now summon it. Such a large area of dark clouds should be acid rain."

"When the undead creatures are gathered together, there will be a power bonus of death, and the strength of acid rain will be increased." It was Alisha who spoke. Her abilities are rather strange, and the weapons she uses are also unprecedented wizards. Guns, but in essence she is more inclined to magicians, "It is likely to be a kind of strong acid rain."

"But their magic power cannot be infinite forever." Cecilia said softly, "This rain depends on whether it is urgent or slow."

"What do you mean?" Although William has a lot of knowledge about magic, he has never had a wizard group under his command. Therefore, many whimsical tactics have no place to be practiced, and naturally they lack a certain degree. Cognition.

"Miss Cecilia means that if the rain is too fast, then the power will increase again. But it can't last too long." Alyssa explained, "If the rain slows down, it will probably last for a long time, but In terms of power, it is weaker than the rain.... But whether it is slow or urgent, according to the magic damage standard. Strong acid rain can reach the damage standard of the third level of magic."

"If it's urgent. It's the quasi-fourth standard?" Alfred asked.

"At least level four." It was Cecilia who answered, "But the time will not exceed ten minutes."

"A level four magic attack lasting ten minutes?" William's face finally changed.

If it is a second-level or third-level magic, it can be resisted with the latest type of impact shield. After all, as the Void Duchy becomes stronger and stronger, some of the more important materials have begun to be mixed with rarer anti-magic materials. Although these anti-magic materials are not the top ones, and the amount is not particularly large, they are used to resist second and third level magic. Still no problem. Even level 4 magic has certain resistance and immunity.

But a level 4 magic attack that lasts ten minutes, this length of time cannot be stopped unless it is made of anti-magic materials of level 3 or higher.

"Acid rain magic is different." Alyssa said, "The damage of this magic is accumulation type. That is to say, we have stood in the range of acid rain magic for long enough before we have this powerful damage. And if it is in it If you find a place to hide when it rains, then the power and damage of this magic is actually not high."

"So. As long as we use the impact shield to cover and combine with each other, can we survive this acid rain?" William asked humbly.

"It can be done." Cecilia gave a positive answer. Because she knew what William meant, "but we can't afford it."

"Why?" William puzzled.

"It's not difficult to stay in the torrential rain for ten minutes, but the shield is changed almost every minute." Cecilia said, "I have calculated it. Ten minutes will take just the whole steel. The shields of all the soldiers on the wings came to block. And this acid rain is very destructive to the impact shield. Basically, the shields that support the shield to block the rain can no longer spread the nail piles."

Speaking of this, the meaning is very clear.

The bone ladder was built to give these undead the opportunity to rush up to the city wall for hand-to-hand combat. Looking at the formation of the skeleton cavalry, you can know that once the bone ladder is completed, the cavalry must start the charge as soon as possible, trying to make a hole for the bone infantry behind to attack the city wall.

This is also the reason why Levi kept reminding the danger of the Bone Ladder.

And Abaza, but he said that these steps are not to be bothered at all. Levi doesn't understand why, but everyone else knows, because they have an impact shield—as long as the pegs of the impact shield are driven down to form an array, unless it is a cavalry army of level 7 or above charging and attacking, they don't even want to break through the steel. Feather's line of defense. This is also the fundamental reason why the steel wings can become the disillusionment of all cavalry legions in the entire southern continent, and it is also the reason why countless enemy nations want to steal the blueprint for making the impact shield.

But now, if you want to resist acid rain, you must sacrifice the impact shield. Even if the acid rain is blocked, how can the enemy's skeleton cavalry charge?

Unstoppable.

can only be filled with fate.

William's brows were frowning. Even if he was one of the top ten famous generals in the world, he was good at conspiracy and marvelous soldiers, but he could not do the work of "a clever woman could hardly cook without rice." Of course he believes that even if the steel wings do not have an impact shield, it is not a problem to block the Skeleton Cavalry's charge. After all, the Skeleton Cavalry is only a Tier 3 undead, and at best it is a Tier 4 army. , It is not a problem to stop with the steel wings that have now reached the level five level.

However, this is a cavalry charge after all. Without the special ability of the impact shield, there will be casualties.

Will be willing to have casualties when casualties can be avoided.

But before William and others came up with a good solution, the skeleton mages who gathered together started the acid rain magic.

In the dark clouded sky, green rain began to fall.

"Hide!" William roared in a deep voice.

The steel-winged soldiers standing under the city wall immediately looked for buildings nearby to hide.

The wild fortress has been empty since the first time the city was broken. Although Cruise's touch destroyed one-third of the fortress, there is a place to rest in this uninhabited city, so even if it comes to nearly 100,000 The army is not afraid that there is no place to rest. At this time, except for the 30,000 steel-winged soldiers on the wall of the fortress, the remaining legions were resting and preparing for the next battle, so when the acid rain came, it had no effect on them.

What's more, at this moment, William's order has been received, and these people will not come out to make trouble.

The thirty thousand steel-winged soldiers standing on the city wall also began to arrange ten small steel-winged formations in accordance with the urgent order issued by Cecilia.

Three thousand people in each formation, gather their shields and stand side by side against each other, with only 800 shields.

The impact shield is a heavy tower shield. One shield can accommodate three to four people to hide together. The coverage area formed when eight hundred shields are lifted together is naturally not small. Four hundred people are enough to hide three thousand and six hundred people. It's enough. However, the way of lifting the shield of the Steel Wing Array is not to fully deploy the heavy shield, but similar to the construction method of the bone ladder: shield stacked shield, so that although the scale will be smaller, the scale of 3,000 people is still sufficient. NS.

And this way of stacking shields can naturally ensure that one shield will suffer only a part of the impact each time. You only need to adjust the angle of lifting the shield and the overlap place, and one shield can be used repeatedly three or four times. Even if it is counted three times, this small steel wing array can resist for up to nine minutes. As for the last minute remaining, it can only fight to completely wear out the 800-sided impact shield.

As for Levy and many other powerful players, naturally they are not afraid of this acid rain magic. Although William is just an ordinary person and does not have any self-protection ability, there are many strong people around him, and he is more than enough to protect him.

Due to the falling of acid rain, the defensive ability of the entire fortress wall was almost completely destroyed.

However, the damage of this type of large magic does not distinguish between the enemy and the enemy. Therefore, the attack range of the spell is only limited to the fortress wall and the entire fortress, and the range is not expanded to the bone ladder that is being constructed.

Therefore, without any interference and obstruction, the construction speed of the bone ladder will obviously become faster and crazier. Almost every minute you can see that a new layer of the bone ladder is built. At this time, the height of the entire white bone ladder has reached 20 floors, and the height is almost 17 meters, and the length of the spread is more than 30 meters. Except that there is no construction at the gate, it surrounds the two sides of the gate. The bone ladder built by the city wall already has a very complete embryonic form.

I am afraid that it will not take long before the 30-meter-high city wall will be unable to block the undead army outside the fortress.

But soon, the undead army hardly gave the fortress defenders to observe the progress. In order to block acid rain, the steel-winged defenders raised the impact shield high, and the ones that were not held high were also closed in the formation, like an eagle with constricted wings, so the bone archers have a higher chance of attacking freely. . In order to avoid losses, William could only order Abaza to retreat the steel wings on the wall, not too close to the edge of the wall.

Seeing that there was an offensive and defensive war situation, because the undead army had a skeleton mage group, the great situation was completely suppressed and subverted, and even a counterattack could not be achieved. William's heart was simply aggrieved. Almost vomiting blood.

Since he became the military commander of the Void Principality, he has never fought such a useless war!

William's teeth are almost crushed!

Chapter 46: . Attack of the Undead Army

"Your method has failed again." The powerful but completely unknown skeleton spoke coldly again.

This time with the fallen, disguised as a vanguard cannon fodder, the tens of thousands of skeleton mages who helped in the battle are all under this skeleton, so only he can control these skeleton mages. Therefore, he stepped forward before and gave all the skeleton mage a formation combat command: summon skeleton soldiers to make the way at all costs, and cast all the magic power to gather acid rain to siege the city.

Although skeleton mages are mages, they can be formed into a group of mages after they are formed, but they are only third-order undeads. Not only are there only a few undead spells that can be used, but their own magical powers are also limited.

Summon skeleton soldiers. Although the magic power to be consumed is not very large, a skeleton mage can easily summon four or five times. But just four or five summons, what good is it for building a bone staircase that can pass through the 30-meter-high fortress wall? So at least there must be a 20,000 skeleton mage focused on this, not to waste, but must build the bone ladder successfully.

This is the core goal of this vanguard force.

But the defenders on the fortress will definitely not let the undead army build them. Through the previous offensive and defensive operations, whether it is Edroso or this powerful skeleton, it can be seen that the bone ladder will definitely be able to build successfully in the end. , But the time they need to consume is certainly not short, and the loss will be huge. This is not what they want to see. What's more, they don't know what the plans of the Void Principality are going to be. In order to avoid night long dreams, it is natural to shorten the time as much as possible.

Therefore, when playing, Edroso prepared two tactics.

The first one is to constantly summon skeleton soldiers, which puts tremendous pressure on the enemy and dampens their morale and confidence. Force the opponent out of the city to fight.

Unfortunately, this tactic was seen through by William, so Alfred's invitation to the battle was naturally not approved, but a few words from William stabilized the military.

The first tactic failed, so naturally the second tactic can only be used.

The skeleton next to Edroso ordered the Skeleton Mage Corps to make an all-out effort. Recklessly summoned all skeleton soldiers. Then quickly build the bone ladder, and at the same time let another part of the skeleton mage who mastered the acid rain magic form a large magic circle, and the magic power is formed into a magic chain to share with each other, and the strong acid rain that can cover the entire fortress is displayed. The purpose is also very simple, that is, the opponent can only watch the construction of the bone ladder but is unable to stop it, and the cast range of the acid rain cloud is limited to the fortress, and will not spread outside the fortress.

Although the tactics are different. But the goal was the same: to force the defenders out of the city.

pity. The result still failed.

William still has no plans to let the Legion go out of the city to fight.

"Even if there is no way to force them out of the city, it can still damage their morale, and even cause a certain degree of damage and weakening to the defenders in the fortress." Edroso said in a cold voice, " Besides, when your strong acid rain magic is over, the bone ladder will naturally be completed. At that time, I have also smashed the city wall to fight the enemy.... Anyway. We are all on the victorious side."

"It's best." Skeleton replied coldly, "It's too late to suppress the heavy rain. I ordered slow rain. After about 20 minutes, the bone ladder is completed and you can start preparing."

As the skeleton said, the dark clouds in the sky are not rainstorms, and the rain curtain is not big, but it is more continuous and continuous, which is in line with the rainy season of the southern continent. However, this kind of continuous drizzle has always been the most annoying to the people of the southern continent, because this kind of weather will increase the humidity of the air, and there will be a lot of cloudy and rainy days, the clothes are difficult to dry, and there is a lot of mold. taste.

At this moment, the steel wings and others in the fortress are very angry.

Although the rain is not strong, the damage to the impact shield is not obvious and serious, but it will undoubtedly delay this almost tortured time, and the morale will be consumed and blown more severely than the next torrential rain.

However, the armies of the Void Principality are strange freaks, such as Iron Wings, Thunder Lions, Cecilia Guards, etc. It is very difficult for them to lower their morale, and even the Serb commanded by Clover Celia's Guards would never be defeated even if there were only a few hundred men left in the end of a war.

This kind of elite army almost only exists in those empires and super-class kingdoms, but the Void Principality has it.

But no matter how you say it, the appearance of the wizard group is indeed a very terrifying strategic weapon. As long as they appear on the battlefield, they can often directly reverse the situation of a war, but not everyone can afford to raise a wizard group-the so-called wizard group, at least there must be hundreds of official magicians. OK, and then connect the powers of all magicians through a special magic chain to be able to display powerful battlefield-level or even strategic-level magic.

Therefore, the battlefields where wizards generally appear must be first-rate kingdom battles.

In the battlefield between the Principality of Llane and the Kingdom of Darbion, there was no intervention and participation of the wizards in any of the three battlefields. Although there were magicians on the local battlefields to join the war, they could not form a scale that could directly reverse the situation of the battlefield. .

The background of the Void Principality is still insufficient after all, even if it has a level comparable to a super-class kingdom or even an empire in all aspects, the wizard group still does not have it. Even though Sean came up with the priest battle group instead, but the priest battle group can only carry out some magical auxiliary blessings to make the war regiment stronger, facing the powerful war magic formed by the real wizard regiment. Attacks cannot produce enough anti-magical damage.

The construction of the White Bone Stairs has been getting faster and faster. In a blink of an eye, it has climbed from a height of 17 meters to 24 meters, and another 6 meters can be equal to the height of the entire wild fortress wall.

"It's a pity." Watching the bone ladder gradually form, Edroso sighed softly in his heart.

Cavalry's charge is at the height difference advantage when it is the most powerful, that is, when charging from an uphill road to a downhill road; the next is a frontal charge with sufficient distance, such as the plains 100 meters away. However, the structure of the white bone ladder is a reverse charge from bottom to top, which requires twice as much damage for the cavalry charge as usual. Even the strength of the charge will be inferior.

It's just that Edroso has no chance to choose.

He has already seen that the defender standing on the wall is very powerful. If he hadn't transformed and forcibly enhanced the forces deployed under his command through demonized means, he would have encountered such an army at other times. It will only be himself who will be defeated. Therefore, he could only let his cavalry unit take the lead in the charge. Only in this way is it more hopeful to be able to open a hole, and then tear a wound, so that the subsequent troops can continuously attack the city wall and gain a firm foothold.

This is war.

If he can operate slowly, he certainly hopes that the Bone Ladder can build a platform with a length of 100 meters, which is more suitable for his army to play.

But it's a pity. He does not have such a platform.

Insufficient material is a factor. Another factor is that he doesn't think this "companion" around him will help him in this way.

A skeletal cavalry came out of the cavalry formation with a horse.

This is a skeletal horse with a horse skeleton, but like the whole army, it is also an illusion shield. In fact, this is a war horse with all four hooves burning with black flames. The horse's body is as black as ink, and the eyes have bright red rays. It looks particularly ferocious and hideous. The horse is not wearing a vest. It's not that there is no preparation, but it is not needed.

This is not a horse from the plane of bones. It's a horse-type warcraft unique to the local world-Firehoof.

This kind of beast has strong impact ability and speed. It only grows near the Millennium Covenant Empire in the Southern Continent. It is the favorite mount of many knights and an important economic source for the export and sales of the Millennium Covenant Empire. Originally, Edroso's firehoof beast was only Tier 6, but after Edroso became a fallen one, his mount also gained strength. Now it has the strength of Tier 8. Coupled with some special features given by the undead clan, it is not an exaggeration to say that it is a ninth-order beast.

Edroso turned on his horse, and then held a spear in his right hand, staring at the fortress wall indifferently.

At this time, the height of the bone ladder has been built to 29 meters, and countless skeleton soldiers are climbing up frantically, preparing to transform into the last one-meter ladder.

With the wave of Edroso's hand, the entire undead cavalry phalanx immediately formed two rows: one left and one right.

At this moment, a fiery red tornado suddenly broke through the city wall.

Bright red, blazing, and violent, this is how this huge flaming red tornado with a diameter of five meters gives everyone present.

When this tornado rose up, pierced through the dark clouds in the sky, and began to spread quickly, and the sky began to dye the color of a burning cloud, the acid rain that fell from the dark clouds also began to gradually diminish. . As for those areas that were affected by the flame tornado and turned into burning clouds, the acid rain stopped falling, leaving only a bright color.

In a split second, among the group of skeleton mages who used acid rain magic, a piece of white mist exploded.

These are skeletons that were directly blown to death because of the impact of the flame tornado, which caused acid rain to devour magic power.

However, these dead skeleton mages only occupy a very small part of the entire huge group of skeleton mages, even less than a thousand. Although the explosion is still continuing, but this is because Cecilia is taking advantage of the danger-the mana consumption of the skeleton mage is close to the end of the crossbow, even if Cecilia does not cast this tornado, the acid rain will soon end. It's just that she was unwilling to be unwilling to be crushed and beaten in this way and could not cause some losses to the undead army, so she chose to take action at this moment.

"Humph." The mysterious skeleton didn't seem to care about the constant sacrifices of his skeleton mage. He still let out a sneer, "Struggle, despair, unwilling... the more you are, the more your soul is. It's delicious!"

As the skeleton's words fell, the last one-meter white bone ladder was finally completed, and the soul fire in its eye sockets suddenly lit up a few times.

All the skeleton wizards who were casting the spell immediately stopped, and quickly withdrew to the left and right sides, giving way to the middle of the road leading to the bone ladder. And those skeleton soldiers who have not had time to turn into bone ladder materials, simply rush to the city wall, quickly board the city wall, they will be the best bait to create chaos. This is also the conventional method used by the undead army after creating the bone ladder: use the skeleton soldiers that have not been exhausted to go to the city wall to create chaos, provide better fighting space and occasions for the subsequent undead army, and occasionally even be able to board the subsequent army. Take down the city wall smoothly before going up to the city wall.

However, facing the elite army of the Void Duchy of Steel Wings, it is obviously impossible to do this.

Edrozo let out a roar, and the two skeletal cavalry units on the left and right sides slowly began to run forward.

Chapter 47: .Unexpected and unexpected

Thirty thousand skeleton cavalry, under the order of Edroso, surged forward like water that broke a dyke.

The billowing white tide splits into two, and then rushes towards the bone stairs built on the wall on the left and right, just as the rushing river encounters an obstructed reef and flows to both sides. However, the meaning of desperate, devouring, and destroying everything has not diminished in the same way.

All the skeleton mages, all evacuated the attack route of these skeleton cavalry. Only those skeleton archers and skeleton archers still stood in front of the front line, always maintaining the suppression of the fortress wall, but also stood on the route of the skeleton cavalry charge.

Without the slightest hesitation or pause, all the skeleton cavalry slammed directly from these skeleton archers.

In other words, run over.

A large number of skeleton archers were immediately smashed into countless broken bones, splashing everywhere. And even the skeleton archers end up like this. Those skeleton soldiers and skeleton warriors who were only consumed as materials, not to mention, almost everything that the skeleton cavalry went along the way was hit by the violent impact. Become countless bone fragments.

Fortress, everyone can clearly see this scene.

"The charge has begun!" Levi let out a soft drink.

"Injury." Abaza was still so calm and ordered all the steel-winged soldiers to return quickly and report the damage to the impact shield.

"A total of four thousand shock shields cannot be activated." The steel-winged soldier on the left defensive line quickly said, "The defensive line can still be maintained."

"My side is the same. But it is still okay to maintain the defensive line." The steel-winged soldier on the right defensive line also said.

Because acid rain is not torrential rain, the damage to the impact shield is not particularly troublesome. This also makes the impact shield that resists does not need to be replaced frequently all the time, and can maintain a longer combat time. In addition, in the end, Cecilia used her personal magic to forcibly counterattack, interrupting the operation of the entire acid rain magic circle, although this made her wear and tear not light. But it did reduce the damage to the entire steel wing.

Afterwards, Abaza quickly issued a series of combat orders. Eight thousand steel-winged soldiers who had lost their impact shields withdrew directly to the rear and were quickly replaced by another eight thousand steel-winged soldiers under the city wall. The 20,000 steel-winged soldiers in the rear also returned to the temporary quarters to replace their equipment, and then came back to stand by. Ready to go to the front line for replacement work at any time.

Because after the charge of thirty thousand skeleton cavalry. It was the attack of a whole hundred thousand undead skeletons. These were real skeleton soldiers who had reached Tier 4 and Tier 5, not just Tier 1 or Tier 2 anymore. In terms of combat effectiveness alone, these skeletal warriors and skeletal warriors are equivalent to the real fourth and fifth ranks. They can basically be counted as standards such as steel wings and thunder lion, especially the enemy has a quantitative advantage. . This had to make all the legions of the entire fortress begin to mobilize.

More than 20,000 other steel-winged soldiers. Even the Lion of Thunder, Cecilia's Guards, Jet Black Wings, etc., were ordered by William to be mobilized, ready to go up to the city wall to confront the enemy at any time. The only ones that did not receive the mobilization order were the four legions: Rina's First Cavalry Corps, Angel's Frost Legion, and the Conviction Wings Corps and the priest regiment brought by Xuefanio that Levi is now in charge of.

The First Cavalry Regiment was too small in number, with only a small number of 1,000 people. The two sides can be said to have directly invested nearly 250,000 on the battlefield. This number is simply a wave. The Frost Legion is because it belongs to Angel's private legion, William is not qualified to give orders, even if there is William, he does not want to take over the command. Because Angel is also an excellent general, she knows the Frost Legion far better than anyone. Therefore, she knows more about the best time to fight for the Frost Legion.

As for the Wings of Conviction, this is a very unique army.

Although his organization scale is only 10,000, the source of soldiers is composed of real elite soldiers from the Iron Wings, Thunder Lions, Jet Black Wings, Silver Temple Legion, and Cecilia Guards. This is an already infinite force. A truly elite division close to the standard of the sixth-level legion. They are good at a wide range of combat fields, but as the only trump card legion of the Void Principality, William has extremely high expectations for this legion, so he does not want to waste it in this war.

The priest battle group is the same: the strength of the priests is not particularly strong, they are also uneven, and the number of them is only a hundred or so. So they are also arranged at the end, ready to cooperate with the Wings of Sinning. After all, the recovery of divine power is no better than the spirit and magic of the magician. It only needs meditation. The divine power needs to be slowly restored through continuous prayers. of.

Based on Levi's understanding of the Undead Army, he clearly told William that in the forty-eight hours after the appearance of the Undead Vanguard, at least one undead army with a regular army combat sequence must have arrived on the battlefield. The so-called regular army sequence refers to those undead legions composed of black warriors, black knights and other non-skeleton cannon fodder, and the complete organization will definitely have at least 100,000 cavalry, more than 300,000 infantry, and a large scale. There are even hundreds of thousands of ghoul-level cannon fodder in the Necromancer regiment.

In the absence of reinforcements, to defend the wild fortress with the current size of the defender in the wild fortress, even William felt a little weak.

But no matter how weak, he has to guard this fortress.

Therefore, as much as possible to ensure that there are available soldiers under his command, and then rely on the geographical advantage of defending the city to stick to it, this is the only plan William can think of. It can even be said that after listening to Levy's description of the regular army size of the Undead Army, all the generals can only come up with the same combat methods as William.

The regular army combat sequence is completely different from cannon fodder.

There were three legions sent to the Golden Left Road before, but the regular army deployed only one, and it was not a complete organization. It was just a remnant. The other two legion chiefs were only temporarily ahead of the front army, mainly collecting materials and rushing to the battlefield. .

But unfortunately, because of Sean's troubles and miscalculation of the foundations of the Millennium Covenant Empire, all three legions have been buried-the soul of the legion commander is not an ordinary soul, death is complete annihilation, and it is not necessary to add it. An easy thing. Even Lake. The bone invasion brought only the souls of twelve legion chiefs. Three were destroyed in the previous World War. Although Lek did not say anything, Lucas and Bigger knew very well that Lek was really distressed.

William didn't know this. I didn't care about that much. His idea is very simple, the Wings of Conviction is the final trump card, to be put on the final stage. If you can prevent the Lion of Thunder from the Lion of Thunder, if the steel wings can really block it, let them all block it.

Just look at it now.

William shook his head helplessly. He knew that steel wings would definitely not be able to stop him. He probably had to pull another unit into battle.

The replacement of troops on the fortress wall has been completed. The skeleton cavalry in front has also formally stepped onto the nearly fifty-meter-long bone ladder. Maybe in a few seconds, the two sides will start a real hand-to-hand battle.

But as far as the current situation is concerned, the defenders still have a big advantage.

The skeleton cavalry is a thrusting force, which doubles the amount of power and danger it needs to face; while the steel wings also have an impact shield specially designed to deal with the cavalry.

Abaza gave a grin: "Stand up!"

All the steel-winged soldiers immediately raised their shields in front of them, and slammed their shields to the ground. Then they heard a sound of "click" and the pegs hidden in the shields immediately hit the city wall. This means of building a shield. I don't know how many times Steel Wings have trained, so it is obvious that 30,000 Steel Wings soldiers stand up against them. But the sound of the pegs hitting the city wall seemed to be only one sound, and the only constant was the earthquake-like vibration.

If you want to build a fortress, you don't just need to talk about it. It usually requires very special materials. At the very least, the walls of the fortress cannot be built with ordinary materials. After all, there is an eight-level earth-based magic in elemental magic: a big earthquake. This magic can simulate a tenth-magnitude earthquake by stimulating the ground veins. If the fortress wall is not mixed with special materials to build against it, a big earthquake is enough to destroy a fortress.

So for the construction of fortresses, the city walls are among the most important, and the selected materials must be the best and the most stable. As for the destruction of other buildings in the fortress, it does not matter, as long as there is a geographical advantage to defend.

And like the Tonys Fortress, through the special layout of the fortress, the architectural pattern is arranged into a magic circle, so that the entire fortress and even the entire mountain range are not shaken by the earth magic. At present, there is only one in the entire Marvel Continent. .

Yes, the impact shield pegs of the steel wings will cause some damage to the fortress wall, but at least it will not damage the foundation of the entire wall. Unless the undead army has some powerful siege equipment to destroy the city wall through physical means, it will not be so easily destroyed for a while.

After the pegs were laid, the real trump card of Steel Wing was finally revealed.

Continental barrier!

A vigorous aura like a solid wall, rising from the Iron Wing Legion.

That is the power of the law.

That is a rule of law.

A special law that shouldn't appear in the legion, it actually took shape at this moment.

For ordinary people, they may not see much at all. But for those who have already stepped into the realm of the sanctuary, it can be seen at a glance that the so-called aura rising from the body of the steel wing is basically the addition of the power of the law.

But only the legendary powerhouses who can really sense the ownership of this law.

Sturdy.

belongs to the laws of guarding and sheltering, and is one of the core laws of the world, and belongs to the same level of laws as the laws of time and space.

In the eyes of the legendary powerhouse, a diamond-shaped crystal barrier appeared on the body of the steel wings, one grid after another quickly pieced together into a huge barrier, with a bright brilliance shining on it.

This is the power of the law of realization that only the legendary strong can see. But only Xuefanio, the direct blood of the god, knows where the projection of this crystal-like barrier comes from-that is the plane that protects the entire plane from the power of the void storm. Crystal Wall!

Before the impact shield was turned on, the steel wings were only a level five army.

But after the impact shield is turned on, the Iron Wing is a pinnacle level six army, even a quasi-level seven.

The only flaw is that after the impact shield is turned on, the steel wings cannot move at all.

"Impossible!" Edroso might not be able to see the projection of this plane crystal wall, but he can feel the power of the powerful law of protection, but he can't think of why this one is in front of him. The ordinary army can actually spur the power of the law, so he exclaimed.

"Impossible!" It was the skeleton who was far away from the main battlefield, but he was not as surprised as Edroso, because he had already seen that the changes in the steel wings came from them. The black shield in his hand, and the pride of his own, "Unexpected. It's a pity...it's a pity..."

What a pity this skeleton is, no one knows.

But Edroso knew very well that at this moment he had no way to order the whole army to stop charging and retreating.

Once the cavalry charge begins, it is like sailing against the current, but once it stops moving forward, it is not retreat, but death.

As a fallen man, Edroso desperately needs a victory to prove his worth and ability. That's why today's war has come. And now, the enemy suddenly had something beyond his expectation. Despite the horror, Edroso still had no thoughts and thoughts to retreat.

The charge of the skeleton cavalry is even more fierce.

30 meters.

Ten meters.

In a short distance, it was only a moment for the cavalry in the charge.

The next moment, like a waterfall against the current, the skeletal cavalry on the left and right slammed into the front of the steel-winged army's defense line that was added by the projection of the power of the crystal wall of the plane.

Unsurprisingly, the cavalry that crashed into the front was unable to break through the line of defense at all.

Not to mention breaking the line of defense, it is impossible to even make the lineup of Steel Wings retreat half a step. But the role of force is mutual. Since you can't successfully break the formation, the force you exert will naturally come back. As a result, almost without exception, the skeleton cavalry at the forefront of the charge were all shaken out of piles of shredded meat, and black blood and stench were permeated.

The only exception is Edroso.

Although he took the lead and led the charge, he didn't die from this charge, but he was injured a little bit, but it was not serious. However, the cavalry behind him who was constantly impacted did not have such good luck. They almost died with the charge. At least more than one-third of the cavalry were buried directly under the charge, and the rest Two-thirds of them are already dizzy even if they are not dead, and they can't continue to charge at all.

As a result, the disguised illusions imposed on these fallen ones naturally cannot be maintained.

In front of everyone, the figures of these cavalry soldiers were quickly exposed: they were all black armored and black knights, armed with black spears and black knives on their waists, but their facial features were hideous and painful, and their eyes were desperate. Unwilling.

"Not a skeleton cavalry!"

"This is...what the hell!"

"Are these the black knights?"

"Isn't the black knight a regular battle sequence for the undead army?"

In the crowd, there were exclamation sounds one after another. No one expected that these skeleton cavalry who came to attack were not skeleton cavalry. And different from the previous cavalry enemies, after the failed charge of these black armored cavalry, only one-third of the deaths due to the shock force were unexpectedly. It should be known that once the steel wings put down the impact shield, then how many cavalry came to charge would have to die. How many cavalry.

The result like this is the first encounter in this life, but soon everyone reacted again. This cavalry unit is very powerful. It can fight against the steel wings with the impact shield. This legion has at least the level of strength. Is it flat?

Unexpected, really unexpected!

Chapter 48: Stupid

"It's the fallen!" Levi exclaimed, "Undead fallen! These cavalry have been transformed into souls!"

Demonization, transformation, death, etc., all have the same meaning.

All the people present are smart people, so naturally they know what this means. This powerful cavalry corps was transformed by the corrupted by special means. Therefore, their strength has been improved, and they can compete with the steel wings. I'm afraid that at least two-thirds of this cavalry will be destroyed or even buried here in the assault battle just now.

And William, at the moment Levi exclaimed, figured out everything.

The army in front of me is not an army of undead cannon fodder at all, but a real army of vanguards.

The man in command of is the undead fallen who has infected and transformed the entire army.

He deceived everyone with a disguise illusion, even including the magician Cecilia, and then launched this war against the wild fortress. No matter what he thought before and what he planned, but now, all his plots are meaningless: the identity has been seen through, everyone has been guarded, naturally there will be no more thoughts of contempt.

A fine-iron spear, quickly pierced out of the eye of the impact shield that opened the battle.

Those riders who were still in front of the impact shield array and were not killed by the charge, but were also dizzy due to the shock force, were all stabbed to death by these steel-winged soldiers. And if they couldn't directly stab the rider to death, they would simply stretch out the gun and stab the horse, but the effect was not as perfect as they had imagined. The rider fell over with pain.

But a wave of chaos like people turning their backs on horseback is also inevitable.

However, the cavalry's charge attack may not be able to break the impact shield. But in the past, there was no cavalry that could survive the charge on the steel wings. After suppressing the shock of internal organs and various dizziness, many cavalymen quickly abandoned their guns, drew their long knives and rushed up, using their own strength to chop the bumpy impact shields and pierce the shield eyes. Notch location. Try to pry open these shock shields. Fight with the soldiers behind the shield.

Once the impact shield is unfolded, the shortcoming of being unable to move is finally exposed at this moment.

more importantly!

In the enemy's formation, there is also a high-ranking sanctuary powerhouse who can reach the legendary realm: Edroso!

He also abandoned his gun and drew his sword, and then smashed a steel-winged soldier with one sword.

With only one sword, he directly smashed the impact shield in his hand, and then showed a wrong look on the opposite side. It was another sword to behead it.

In the cavalry regiment. There was a burst of cheers.

Only one person died, and it had no effect on the entire shock shield formation.

The minimum requirement for this dressing skill is 500 people, which means that as long as the scale is more than 500 people, the barrier will never be broken once it is activated, unless it is not successfully activated at the beginning, or directly by the enemy. Broke out. At this moment, the steel wings guarding the city wall were more than five hundred people, so even if one died. Even a small gap was slightly torn because of this, but it still has no effect on the overall situation.

On the contrary, it was because of Edroso's appearance. Levy and others were eyeing him immediately.

"The undead fallen one has been found!" Levi let out a soft drink, and immediately drew out his sword, and a bullying leap flew towards Edroso.

When the barriers were unfolded, the cavalry regiment would not want to leap over the array of steel wings. The restriction and suppression from the force of law was enough to make all the horses of the charge cavalry lose the courage to jump and could only make a head-on collision. The power of the law. But if he jumped out of the formation and rushed towards the enemy, the legal power possessed by the earth barrier would not be limited.

As everyone knows, the Legion of the Fallen is a terrible existence, but all the Legions of the Fallen that are involuntarily fallen but are transformed have a fatal weakness: that is, the fallen ones who are transformed by pollution. As long as this fallen one is killed, then the fallen demon army controlled by him will be completely disbanded-of course, this disbandment does not mean that these people will still survive, but at least their souls will be freed and returned to their respective ones. Believe in the kingdom of gods.

Levi, who knows the content very well, will attack at the first time after discovering Edroso.

Seeing Levi's movements, Rena, Xuefanio, Alyssa and other three attacked at the same time, attacking Edroso from all directions.

The four legendary powerhouses shot together, especially Rina and Xuefanio are not ordinary legendary powerhouses. Not to mention the other, the momentum and pressure alone has forced Edroso to be completely immobile and soulful. Fear and trembling directly caused him to lose the ability to resist together.

But!

Before these four's ultimate move attacked Edroso, a terrifying tremor that also came from the soul rose in the heart of these four, making them clearly aware that if they wanted to forcibly attack and kill Ai As for DeRozo, I am afraid that their fate will immediately follow in Edroso's footsteps.

Because of this terrifying soul pressure, Rena and the other four immediately stopped the attack.

The four black beams suddenly trembled in the air. The first three slid around Edroso's side. These three positions happened to be those of Rina, Xuefanio, and Levi. Offensive route-if they did not stop, then the three black beams would directly tear the heads of the three of them.

And another black beam collided with the red firelight that Alisha shot from the magic gun. There was no brilliance and sound of the explosion, just a faint halo that was not too bright, and then the red light or the black light disappeared, as if it had never appeared from the beginning.

It was a silent and far-reaching, yet full of horrible annihilation.

However, while these four beams emerged, Alisha, who was standing at the farthest point, suddenly flew to the side to dodge, as if she was evading some terrible disaster. Almost when she flew back and dodged, the fifth black beam flitted out from where Eliza was originally standing, and it also disappeared in a flash, but at the moment she was standing relatively close. So Alyssa clearly saw the real body of the black beam.

That is not a beam at all!

Instead, a gap was directly torn open on this material plane, and there was an endless void in the gap!

What a terrifying power this is!

Alyssa, Rena, Levi, and Xuefanio, at the moment when this powerful force began to kill, they completely locked the enemy who used such a secret killer.

is the skeleton who stood at the farthest point before and commanded the action of the Skeleton Mage Corps.

It's just that he barely leaked any presence. So that his existence was ignored by everyone. Until now after the shot. He never concealed his aura anymore, and was finally completely exposed to everyone's perception-and what is especially frightening is that the stronger the person, the stronger the perception aura he exudes. Like Rena and Xuefanio, the aura from this skeleton is almost simply a lighthouse that illuminates the front in the dark, and it is impossible to ignore it.

The expressions of Rena and Xuefanio suddenly changed.

Almost no hesitation. Rena took a deep breath. Directly activate the angel outfit Michael's power and enter the awakening state. With just a single flap of the huge golden wings, Rena slowly floated into the air, rising to the level of the opponent's skeleton, and the silver-white spear that she was holding tightly in her right hand also began The purest silver light appeared crazily.

And Xuefanio did not hesitate at all. Her pupils turned inferior to white, as if they had no pupils. There are only white eyes, but if you look closely. You can find that the edge of Xuefanio's pupils has a very light and very thin light blue luster. The cold breath slowly diffused from her body. She didn't take off. She just stood on the spot and pulled out the god-given saber Frost, but the surrounding ground slowly began to show frost, appearing The performance of freezing; and the brilliance of divine arts began to flash on Xuefanio's body continuously-this is the sign that Xuefanio has entered the winter fighting state.

If you say that Rina's personal strength is only Tier 12, but after the power of Michael is fully activated, she can step into the standard of Tier 13. So once Michael is completely awakened, she will even be able to possess the fifteenth-level strength of the legendary pinnacle, and she will be able to enter the ranks of super powers only a little bit.

In terms of personal combat effectiveness, Xuefanio is weaker than Rena who put Michael into the awakening state.

After all, Xuefanio entered the winter state and applied all the blessings of divine arts to himself, it was only equivalent to the strength of the fourteenth step, and it was still far from the fifteenth step. But once the * descends, Xuefanio is a well-deserved super powerhouse, perhaps less than the seventeenth level, but there is definitely a sixteenth level.

Before Shaun summoned Kozilek and Alexis, Xuefanio in the descent state was the strongest under Shawn.

However, whether it is Rina, who has almost entered the ranks of super strong, or Xuefanio, who has the strength of super strong after God descends, the vision of these two people will never be weak at least. And through the aura and sense of existence revealed by this strong skeleton at this moment, Rina and Xuefanio would naturally not fail to recognize the power limits of their opponents.

This is a real super power!

"Is it little Lucas or Lake?" Xuefanio asked in a deep voice.

Her voice is not loud, but on this battlefield it is truly like thunder, resounding a dozen miles around.

Not only the defenders in the entire fortress were shocked, but even Edroso, who was an undead fallen man, was equally surprised.

He knew that the person next to him who set off with him was a very powerful person, but he never thought that this person was actually one of the three commanders of this undead catastrophe. It's different from the situation where the death knight Grand Lucas was hidden in the team before, because according to intelligence, there is at least one super strong in the wild fortress. Therefore, when setting out, Edroso will ask Rek for a super strong. 者 JOIN.

After all, the super strong can only be dealt with by the super strong.

So when Kozilek attacked and Grand Lucas made an interception, Edroso did not panic at all, but continued to order the entire army to move forward step by step, without even a trace of chaotic influence and loss. But when he now knew that Lucas was also hidden in the team, Edroso finally knew that things were different, and he even felt a little bit of anger in his heart.

However, he just dared not speak.

From the moment he surrendered to the undead army, he could no longer be considered a human.

"You are Xuefanio?" Little Lucas stared at Xuefanio, and the divine breath emanating from the opponent, he naturally knew the identity of the other party, "I am the little Lucas, undead pedantic , One of the seven great witches on the Bone Plane.... Your strength is good, but even if God descends, it will not be my opponent."

"Then add me." Rina said coldly, and the spear in her hand swept lightly, and then a white flame was drawn in the air.

"Rena?" As for the intelligence of the strong under Sean, it is obvious that these undead creatures have done a very careful investigation, "It is still not enough.... But you can rest assured, whether you team up or not, it doesn't matter to me. Any difference, because I was here to kill you from the beginning. I need some powerful materials, and you just can serve as my materials, so I am here."

"Heh." Rina let out a sneer.

Little Lucas ignored Rina and others, but turned his gaze to William: "You are great. If you are willing to surrender, then I can give you a higher status and corresponding power than Edroso. ...You know, I still appreciate people like you."

William ignored Lucas Jr., and just assumed that the opponent was completely non-existent. However, as an ordinary person, he didn't have such good eyesight to see little Lucas. He probably only knew that a figure soared into the air from the enemy's formation.

After waiting for a while, without waiting for William's answer, little Lucas was not annoyed: "It doesn't matter if you don't agree. After I kill you, I will retain your instincts and memories, just erase your humanity. Maybe I You can also be implanted into other powerful material creatures, so that you can even have a strong personal combat effectiveness... For my surgery, you can rest assured that I have had many successful experiences."

This time, William smiled, and then he spoke.

is only two words, but the depressive atmosphere on the entire battlefield caused by the sudden appearance of little Lucas suddenly disappeared once again.

The two words that William said are: "Stupid. Forced."

Chapter 49: .Study of the Undead

In the hollow skull eyes of little Lucas, the burning soul fire suddenly jumped.

Obviously, he was really angry.

The legendary realm is already regarded as the top group of powerhouses in the world, so as long as they are the strongest of the legendary realm, they are worthy of being called "His Royal Highness", which means that they have only half the money than the king. Status. As for the super powers, this realm is not something that any country can have. Only the top batch of super-class kingdoms can have this terrible strategic deterrent.

Therefore, the importance of the status and status of super powers is completely conceivable, and their dignity and glory are not allowed to be offended.

But before little Lucas did anything to stand up to his power, a howling of wind and thunder suddenly sounded in the air.

Rena has already launched an attack on the little Lucas!

A fiery red flame swept across the air, and the high temperature directly burned the air to be distorted, just like a pair of scissors across a piece of cloth.

Rena's offensive is always so upright and generous—even if it is a sudden trouble, her offensive is so direct and straightforward, it completely makes people unable to bear the feeling of being attacked.

It was just a blink of an eye, and Rina had already killed the little Lucas, and the spear in her hand pierced towards the face of the little Lucas.

A terrifying scream suddenly sounded, and the ripples visible to the naked eye quickly spread out in the air.

Fear of death!

The ranks of magic, warrior, priest, etc., have very obvious professional system distinctions before Sanctuary, and the boundaries between them are extremely obvious. However, after entering the sanctuary, in addition to the profession of the priest system, the profession system between the magician and the warrior has begun to become a little fuzzy. After all, the understanding of the law and the use of the domain will lead to the difference between the two. Produce a lot of common ground.

After reaching the legendary realm. The professions of the two systems of magician and warrior will even more or less produce some fusion phenomena. Just like some warriors who understand the power of the law of elements, they can achieve and achieve some attack methods and phenomena that only magicians can make through legendary abilities; and in the same way, if magicians are comprehending the methods and rules of use of the laws. Some of the methods are similar to those of fighters, and they are often able to engage in close-range combat.

Not to mention the ranks of super strong.

They all have a set of extremely proficient modes and methods in dealing with the assaults of the warrior system.

so. Facing Rina's surprise attack. Little Lucas' response is to use the fear of death.

This is a magic with power equivalent to the legendary level. It is considered an enhanced version of the "fear technique". People with weaker minds will even be directly scared to death under the impact of this death fear. However, Rina's strength is not weak, and she still has a real dragon bloodline, not that kind of hybrid dragon bloodline, so she has a relatively high saving effect in the face of magical methods such as sonic waves and illusions. However, because this magic was performed by a super-powerful lich, even though Rina has a strong immunity. But it was still affected to a certain extent.

Rena's eyes. Under the impact of the sound wave of fear of death, it became dull and lustrous, as if the soul had been separated from the body.

However, the time of loss was not long, almost not even a breath time. Just a moment later, Rina's eyes recovered, and the look on her face was very angry. The blazing flames radiating from the angel gear almost turned into a real cloud of fire.

but. What little Lucas wants is just a buffer for this moment: taking advantage of the moment when Rina is absent. He had already opened a long distance with Rena.

The black lifeless spirit spewed frantically from the ground, turning into a thick black tornado, completely enveloping the little Lucas.

Countless spear tips surrounded the black malicious deadly bone spears, one after another, appeared in the air. With the appearance of these bone spears, the black deadly tornado that enveloped Little Lucas was also fast. Zoom out. However, this reduction does not mean that this dead energy is being rapidly consumed, but that it is continuously absorbed and condensed by the little Lucas, so this reduction has occurred.

Undead pedagogy. Lucas, one of the seven lich kings on the plane of bones, is not good at war or undead magic, but research.

If among the seven lich kings of the Bone Plane, who is the best at developing new magic, or has any outstanding and significant research results in biology and anatomy, then this person is definitely not the little Lucasmo Genus.

The countless black gas-surrounded bone spears in the sky are the undead magic created by Lucas, which belongs to him independently.

Rina charged forward with anger, but although she was angry, she did not lose her mind.

Faced with the little Lucas who was already prepared, Rina suddenly stopped in mid-air. But her momentum came too violently, and seemed to have touched the little Lucas's counterattack, and these bone spears immediately rushed towards Rina.

The white bone spear does not seem to be very sharp. After all, the white bone spear is not too advanced undead magic. Each bone spear is at best a third-level magic, and may reach the level of fourth-level magic after strengthening its power. But that's it. But when Rina faced these white bone spears, she did not dare to look down upon her. The black death entwined at the tip of the spear was filled with an extremely terrifying aura of death.

I saw the long spear in Rina's hand, and the tip of the spear was pointed on one of the bone spears. The silver-white sacred fire touched the black air at the tip of the spear, and there was a faint "zi" noise, as well as grayish white. The breath rose from the bone spear.

Rena's face changed suddenly.

"boom!"

With a loud noise, the entire bone spear was instantly blown to pieces.

The black death air entwined around the tip of the spear also exploded, divided into countless smaller black filaments, and then attached to the broken bone fragments. These bone fragments suddenly seemed to be drawn by some kind of traction, and after being exploded, they were attracted to each other in the air, like stars dotted in the sky.

Rena didn't pay any attention at all, and her figure suddenly retreated. She didn't touch the other bone spears that had been shot by her. But even so. But there is still no way to avoid it. Almost all the bone spears that were touched by the spear in Rina's hand, all exploded, leaving only the bone fragments that were cut into black death like light spots and hovered in the air. .

The next moment, these cracked bone fragments shot frantically at Rina.

The number of bone fragments is extremely large. A bone spear can explode two or three hundred pieces of bone fragments. It seems small and harmless, but every piece of flying out is accompanied by the roar of wind and thunder.

Rena didn't dare to insist on it, because she couldn't understand the mystery of this magic at all. But although she can't understand the mystery of this magic, she knows that every piece of bone fragments contains power that belongs to the law, which belongs to the law of death beloved by the wisdom of the dead, and the specific effect should be death. Power, because Rina had felt similar power on the body of the death knight.

Rena launched a surprise attack on Little Lucas. But after the storm failed. She naturally has to bear the ensuing counterattack.

A bone fragment, breaking through Rena's defense, affixed to Rena's angel outfit.

The movement of the bone flakes flying in was really just lightly pasting it. Although there was the sound of howling wind and thunder, it did not seem to be violent at all.

However, after being posted by this fragment of bone, Rina seemed to have received a heavy blow, and her whole body suddenly stiffened in mid-air. The blazing flames also flickered suddenly, as if they were going to be extinguished at any time. Although it was only a blink of an eye. But it was also clearly presented in the vision of everyone in the entire fortress, and countless people suddenly felt worried about Rena's situation.

After all, this seemed to be a momentary shaking, but what followed was the flying shots of countless bone fragments approaching.

At this moment, between Rena and countless bone fragments and bone spears, a layer of pale white mist was immediately filled. The cold air filled with this white mist can be clearly felt by all soldiers standing on the fortress hundreds of meters away from this battlefield.

It is a kind of extreme coldness, as if even the soul is frozen for it.

This is Xuefanio's shot!

All the lifeless bone spears trapped in this icy mist, and the bone fragments after the explosion of the bone spears, were all covered with a layer of frost. But just ice frost can't freeze these bone spears and bone fragments. After all, the power of the law is opposed to each other. In the same rule contest and resistance that also upholds the power of the law, the competition is not only the power of both sides, but also Have the understanding and use of the law.

In the perception and use of the law, Xuefanio, who has drawn on the power of the world's gods, is obviously better than little Lucas.

The world plane is different, in addition to the core laws: time, space, guardianship, etc. are fixed, according to the birth and development of the plane, the laws of the plane will also have different changes. For example, some planes do not have the concept of laws such as ice and snow, and some planes do not have the concept of laws such as metal. In this way, plane travelers who understand such laws will travel through the planes. Entering this type of plane will reduce combat power.

However, the strong planes who can travel through planes must understand the power of many laws, and even the existence of the main core laws. The probability of this kind of situation is extremely small, but it is not ruled out in case.

Similarly, depending on the birth and development of the plane, even if it is the same plane law, there will be some deviations, and even different classifications. For example, in some planes, the law of death is classified into the law of time, rather than as a separate superior law. In this way, once a strong person who understands the law of death encounters a strong person who controls the law of time, it will naturally be in battle. Will be at a disadvantage.

On the plane of Miracle Continent, the law of death is regarded as a higher-level law, and the law of death derived from it is regarded as its lower-level law. The two laws of ice and snow and winter can be categorized together in a strict sense to form a superior law. It is only because of the fall of Aswinter that the priesthood was robbed, and now they cannot be completely classified. In essence, it is only It's just at the same level as the law of death.

The reason why was able to overcome the law of death in the power of the law was because the current Aswinter was already a high-ranking * who was about to return to higher powers again. If it was just after waking up in the first place, let alone resisting it as it is now, I am afraid that he would not even have the ability to block it.

However, as far as the algorithm is concerned, it can be suppressed in strength, but Xuefanio's strength is only the fourteenth step after all, which is much worse than the seventeenth step of the little Lucas.

Therefore, even if the bone spears are almost frozen into icicles, they cannot completely destroy the bone spears, but only slow down the speed and power of the bone spears.

Although it can only play a slowing role, it is enough for Rina.

After she evacuated a safer distance, she let out a roar like a dragon, and the flames burning on her body suddenly burned more violently. Others may not see much, but Levi, Alyssa, and Xuefanio, who are legendary powerhouses, can see that there is a black spark on Rina's body, which she has forced out of her. .

The black spark exudes a strong breath of death and death.

After being forced out of the body by Rina, it gradually dissipated in the air, and then went out. However, the terrifying power that it radiates makes everyone understand that if anyone in the room is stuck by the dying breath on the bones, I am afraid that they will peel off if they die-and this is still The power that the legendary strong can withstand. If other sanctuary powerhouses are glued to it, severely injured and undead will have the best end, as for non-sanctuary powerhouses, it is impossible to survive.

Is this the power of undead scholarship?

Everyone's heart was suddenly shocked, and it was only at this moment that they really realized the power of little Lucas.

They have heard of the little Lucas's name, and naturally they also know what the four words "dead pedagogy" mean. It's just that they haven't paid attention to the word "learning" all the time. Perhaps in their opinion, Little Lucas is the weakest Lich King on the plane of bones—in fact, Little Lucas does. He is the weakest Lich King on the Bone Plane, but his weakness is only compared to other Lich Kings.

Is there any weak person who can get the title of Lich King on the plane of bones?

Even if he is really weak, he is also a veritable 17th-order super strong, far from being able to stop the 15th-order Rena and the 14th-order Xuefanio. Not to mention that there are only Tier Twelve Levi and Alyssa, and others who have not even reached the legendary level.

"Boom!"

With a loud explosion, the dead black tornado finally disappeared from the sky.

was replaced by a skeleton in a black robe.

It wears a black crown on its head, the black robe is painted with grey and white complex fringes, and it holds a tall black scepter in its right hand. The color of the whole body is either black or white, but there is an extremely terrifying aura of coercion in the sky, as if the king is truly standing.

This is the true aura possessed by the Seven Liches on the Bone Plane.

Chapter 50: .Who do you say is looking for death!

In the sky, the black pressure of death fell like a substance.

All the defenders in the wild fortress looked very ugly at this moment. Even Rina, Xuefanio, Levi, Alyssa and other four people are no exception at this moment, because the momentum revealed by little Lucas has completely surpassed what they can handle.

Super strong, the reason why the word "super" is added to the front of the strong is because they are no longer bound by the laws of this world plane, and they truly have the power to compete with the world. They represent the peak combat power of the entire plane, and they are terrible existences that can truly destroy the world on their own - of course, the premise is that no one prevents them.

That's why the super strong is the most deterrent strategic level existence in the world.

For this reason, there is such a sentence: Only the super strong can deal with the super strong.

To become a super strong, there are two paths.

The first is to accept the assimilation of the world law and become a part of the world law. For those who choose this path, their maximum growth limit in the future will be limited to the eighteenth level, and they will never be able to surpass this class. Moreover, if they want to become a powerful person of the eighteenth level, they must have enough power of belief and be affected by it. The devout worship of countless people can have this kind of power. However, this power is largely restricted by believers. Once believers no longer believe in it, then the power will begin to diminish.

People call this road of becoming a super strong, the road to becoming a god.

Although the path to becoming a * has too many limitations, the power of a person who becomes a * cannot be underestimated. In the face of the power of the rules they represent, their power is almost invincible, basically there is no way to use the power of the laws represented by their gods to kill the gods. Of course, gods are not so easy to die, because the only way to kill a * is to enter its kingdom. Only by killing him in the kingdom of God, this * will truly die.

However, according to the power given by the law, in the kingdom of God, the power of the gods can be raised by one level.

in other words. If it is in the kingdom of the gods of higher divine power. The power of this * will be the nineteenth order, not the eighteenth order. However, if the * descends the avatar will on the world's material surface, then the power has to drop by one level; if the apostle descends, it has to drop by two levels. If you want the strength not to be damaged at all, then you must descend on the descendants of the gods who have a strong direct bloodline through the method of * descending.

The only person in the world who has been confirmed as a child of God is from the goddess of ice and winter. Descendants of Aswinter: Xuefanio.

And the second way. Compared with the road to becoming a god, it is much more difficult.

Without enough talent, savvy, hard work and excellent blood, it is impossible to cross the limit of the fifteenth level. Regardless of the entire world, there seem to be many legendary powerhouses, but many of these legendary powerhouses will be intercepted for the entire life of the fifteenth-order legendary pinnacle, which is only equivalent to the gods of weak divine power. Only those who are less than one-thousandth of the strong have the opportunity to peek through the secrets of the rules and become a super strong.

Become a super strong through your own efforts. They will not be limited by the power of the laws of the world, and can grow all the way to beyond the eighteenth order. Even stepping onto the nineteenth and twentieth steps, and even reaching the limit of strength that the world plane can withstand. They have the power to truly shake the entire world with their gestures, and unlike gods who are bound by laws and planes, they can move freely in the material world.

This road of the super strong is called the road of the strong.

Only the truly strong who set foot on the path of the strong can truly be regarded as a strategic weapon in this world.

Science of the undead, little Lucas is the real strong man who embarks on this road to the strong.

Moreover, it is not an ordinary super-powerful person, but the kind of over-plane traveler who has torn apart the plane barrier and freely shuttles between different planes and voids. Existences of this type, without exception, are all existences that have reached the twenty-first rank or even higher, and their combat power cannot be simply calculated numerically.

But fortunately, the little Lucas at this moment, because he was defeated by Alexis thousands of years ago, suffered a very serious injury. Even though he has been recuperating and recovering for all these years, and after he came to the plane of the miracle continent, he was funded by Reck and quickly regained his vitality, but at this moment he only has the strength of the seventeenth rank, which is more powerful than his peak combat power. In other words, it's not worth mentioning.

However, no matter how little Lucas recuperates and quickly restores his strength through killing, he can only restore his strength to the eighteenth rank at most. The world will that has completely formed self-awareness is not joking. He has strong restraints and restrictions on such hostile outsiders, unless Lucas can kill Sean and directly absorb the origin of the world plane. The strength of, then it is possible to break through the eighteenth-order will yoke.

Otherwise, as long as Sean does not die in one day, then the little Lucas and the big Lucas will always be confined to the eighteenth order.

The only difference is Lake.

He is the initiator and ruler of this Bone Plane invasion. He forcibly connected with the will of the world by opening the Bone Gate, creating a loophole, but this loophole can only be exploited by him alone. But at most, he can only make Reck's power play to the twentieth level. If he wants to break through, he will also kill Sean to seize the power of the world's origin.

However, starting from the eighteenth level, the re-enhancement and recovery of strength is not as simple as one plus one equals two, but the essence and death energy extracted from an extremely large number of deaths is needed to help Rek recover. .

This is the reason why Lake did not come in person this time.

It can even be said that little Lucas didn't intend to restore his real body. His initial purpose was to contain the four legendary strongmen in the wild fortress by sneak attack, and help Edroso win the wild fortress. If he can leave one or two of the legendary strongmen behind It couldn't be better, it doesn't matter if it doesn't work, anyway, as long as the fortress defenders are defeated, there are some advanced materials.

When the wild fortress is captured, he will help his brother solve Kozilek and cut off Sean's left and right arms.

But I didn't expect it. The plan can't keep up with the changes.

Impact shield with steel wings, this is one of the changes that little Lucas did not expect. Secondly, both Rina and Xuefanio are stronger than the intelligence information shows, especially Rina actually has the real ancient dragon bloodline. This is another change that little Lucas hadn't anticipated before—— The ancient dragon bloodline is more advanced than the giant dragon bloodline, and it can even be traced back to the power before the gods. People with this kind of blood will have more keen intuition.

This is also how little Lucas was identified when he shot. The reason why I had to deal with the strength of the real body-facing Rina who broke out with all his strength, if the young Lucas dares to have reservations, the end of the game that was pushed by Alexis in the past, I am afraid it will be repeated again. .

Under the aura of little Lucas, the combat effectiveness of the Black Death Army under Edroso's command has been greatly soared in an instant. Fortunately, once the cavalry unit loses the power of the charge, its combat power will indeed drop significantly. Therefore, the combat power of the Black Death Cavalry will increase for a while. It still failed to cause excessive casualties to the steel wings. And Edroso obviously knew this. Therefore, orders have been made to exchange the black death cavalry with the 100,000 army in the rear.

Originally Edroso's idea was to let the Black Death Cavalry rush through a gap, and then the infantry corps from the rear would fight and stand firm.

Although the current situation is slightly unexpected, but fortunately, after the small Lucas gas field broke out, the situation has gradually begun to develop in the direction that Edroso had previously estimated. Although the casualties of the cavalry were larger than he thought, it was not a problem for Edroso, who was already a fallen one. As long as he has enough material, he can continue to carry out pollution transformation.

Levy let out an angry shout. Then he continued to rush towards the front line, he would never sit and watch the fortress being captured in this way.

The appearance of the super strong has already meant that the wild fortress cannot be defended-only the super strong can deal with the super strong, this sentence is not a joke. Perhaps the legendary powerhouse of Tier 12 may defeat the legendary powerhouses of Tier 13 and Tier 14, but even if the legendary powerhouse of Tier 15 can deal with ten and ten legendary powerhouses of Tier 14 alone, It is absolutely impossible to be the opponent of the super power of the sixteenth rank.

This is an insurmountable gap!

There is no possibility of any reversal at all.

Originally, Shaun was to prevent Rek from possibly shifting his focus to the Wild Fortress, so he made Kozilek stand by here. Therefore, when the Grim Reaper Grand Lucas took action, Kozilek intercepted immediately so that Grand Lucas could not cause any damage to the wild fortress, and even actively restricted the battlefield to more than ten kilometers away from the wild fortress. area.

But what everyone didn't expect was that there was not only one super strong who attacked the wild fortress, but two!

So when little Lucas appeared, everyone in the room knew that the Wild Fortress could not be defended.

However, unlike the performance that little Lucas expected, everyone in the fortress did not show the slightest negative emotions such as anger, dissatisfaction, or fear. Instead, they looked calm and taken for granted, as if they had completely accepted it. This fact is the same. Of course, they were not so calm as to accept their death numbly. Instead, they burst out extremely passionate and high-pitched emotions, completely looking like death at home.

This is also the reason why Levi knew that he could not hold the fortress, but he still tried desperately to shoot.

He just wanted to kill more enemies before he died. If he could kill the fallen undead, it would be even better.

"You are looking for death!" Seeing Levi's behavior, little Lucas let out an angry roar, and the wand in his hand quickly pointed toward the front.

A black bone gun suddenly appeared in the air, and then shot at Levi.

At the same moment, all the dead bone spears floating in the sky burst open, turning into countless bone fragments, and then flying toward the entire wild fortress in dense like locusts. The target of these bone fragments completely covered the entire wall of the wild fortress, and did not mean to distinguish between the enemy and the enemy, but even the Black Death Army of Edroso was also shrouded in the attack range.

Faced with such a powerful attack, Edroso was extremely angry, but he did not dare to say anything.

Little Lucas is one of the three commanders of this skeletal invasion, and he is just a small soldier who surrendered to Lake, so he is not qualified to say anything. And not only did he dare not say anything, he also had to order the soldiers to take this opportunity to attack, and must cooperate with the offensive of Little Lucas to take down the entire fortress wall in one fell swoop, and he himself took this opportunity to secretly retreat and choose to avoid.

But Edroso wanted to avoid it, and Levi would not let him leave.

Just as the strong at the pinnacle of the legend will never be the opponent of the super strong, the strong in the upper sanctuary will never be able to beat the legendary strong-or in the upper sanctuary with some special abilities and strong combat effectiveness. The strong has the possibility of being able to escape from the legendary strong, but this possibility will never appear in Edroso's body. After all, his true strength is only the lower sanctuary. Now this power realm is forcibly forced. Lifted up.

Levy, completely ignored the black bone spear that shot at him.

His gaze was locked tightly on Edroso's body.

Above the sky, Rina also did not catch her with her hands. Instead, regardless of the bone fragments that were flying towards her, she rushed towards the little Lucas, just as crazy as she led the soldiers on the battlefield. overbearing.

The red flame rushed straight away like a raptor.

Except for Levi and Rena, Xuefanio is also not idle.

She knew that if it was only in the Winter mode, it would never be the opponent of Little Lucas, so she did not hesitate to turn on the goddess. The icy breath that no one else should enter, spread from Xuefanio's body, and then enveloped the entire length of the city wall, but it was different from the attack of little Lucas that did not distinguish between the enemy and the enemy, and the icy mist filled with it. But it was a good way to avoid his own soldiers, especially the steel-winged soldiers who believed in the goddess of ice and winter, and felt that their body was full of infinite vitality.

It's just that Xuefanio knew very well that the descent of God was over at this time.

Because the range of the super-powerful's shots is extremely wide, from the moment they let the little Lucas approach the city wall, the wild fortress cannot be defended. Even if today's Xuefanio can obtain a combat power close to the seventeenth order after passing through the gods, as long as he can't repel the little Lucas, the little Lucas insists on fighting here on the fortress wall, then the entire wild fortress will be included in the battle range of the two super powers.

"Very good! Very good!" Seeing the reactions and actions of everyone in the wild fortress, especially Xuefanio's request for surrender without hesitation, little Lucas sneered sharply, "Since you are all anxious to find death, Then I will fulfill you!"

"Who did you say is looking for death!"

A thunderous roar suddenly sounded.

Like thunder on the ground!