Chapter 351 Stella

Freddie shook off Marilyn's entanglement and quickly left the tavern with Robyn.

Freddie stopped after leaving the Zephyr Hotel.

He looked at the complexly expressive Robyn and asked, "Robyn, may I ask you something?"

"What's wrong?" Robyn was taken aback, having never seen her uncle speak to her so seriously before.

"When I introduced you to Mr. Bruce today, I noticed a detail, he seemed quite indifferent to you, even appeared as if he didn't want to bother with you."

"Tell me, did you offend Mr. Bruce?"

Robyn nervously avoided Freddie's gaze.

Her father passed away when she was ten, and she lived with her grandmother.

Back then, Freddie was not yet married, and most of the time it was her uncle who was with her.

For many years, it was her uncle who had been supporting her education until she graduated.

She regarded Freddie as a father.

Facing Freddie's questioning at that time.

Robyn hesitated for quite a while before revealing the misunderstanding between Farmere and Robin.

However, she didn't dare to utter a word about Dreamland Bar and the things that happened at the film festival.

After hearing this, Freddie, furious, slapped Robyn across the face, "You fool!"

"How could Mr. Bruce possibly do such a disgraceful thing! Who told you this filthy stuff?"

It was the first time Robyn had seen her uncle so furious, her eyes full of tears, "It was... it was a security officer named Jeff on my flight."

Freddie scoffed, "His words? You believe him just like that, don't you have a brain of your own? Can't you discern right from wrong?"

"Moreover, what the hell does other people's business have to do with you!"

"What right did you have to judge Mr. Bruce's life?"

"Did you know about Mr. Bruce's background and experience?"

Robyn recalled the way those big shots from Farmere acted in front of Robin, and nodded bitterly.

In her eyes, Robin had now become an insurmountable mountain.

"I knew I was wrong, Uncle..."

"Robyn, how are you?" Jeff, with a bruised and swollen face, limped after her from behind.

Freddie pointed at Jeff and asked, "Is your name Jeff?"

"Who are you..." Jeff glanced at Freddie, then at Robyn, her eyes full of tears.

Freddie said coldly, "I am Robyn's uncle, stay away from our Robyn in the future!"

"Uncle, what happened to you guys?" Jeff asked, puzzled.

"What's wrong? Do I need a reason to forbid you from dating her? My Robyn would never fall for a piece of trash like you!"

"You... How do you talk?" Jeff was instantly furious.

"How I speak, is it any of your business? Get lost!" Freddie pointed at Jeff, took Robyn by the arm, and walked out of the tavern hall,

The two rode Robin's electric scooter towards the Eastern District Development Corporation.

Just hitting the road, Robyn pointed at a Mercedes passing by her and said. "Uncle, it seems... it seems like I saw Auntie sitting in that car."

Freddie looked in the direction of Robyn, Mercedes had already sped past.

"Your aunt? She said this afternoon that she was going to accompany the child to a parent-child intellectual activity and wouldn't be back until very late. How could she possibly be in the car?"

"You were mistaken! Let her accompany you for some fun tomorrow."

Robyn frowned, murmuring to herself, "It was clear, I saw it very clearly,"

"Alright, stop being so suspicious, let's go." Freddie patted Robyn's head and rode his bike towards the Eastern District Development Corporation.

Robin, Karina, and Karsyn drove to a barbecue restaurant on Sunlight Street in Hallchester.

Originally came out to eat something casually.

Karina told Robin that she hadn't had barbecue for a long time.

The last time I had barbecue was two years ago.

Since the Huber Group had been involved in the development project of the Eastern Business District.

There was rarely a chance to have a decent dinner with such leisure.

Three people arrived at this newly opened barbecue restaurant.

The restaurant was already packed with people.

This was a large buffet restaurant, and all the barbecue techniques reached the standard of a star-rated hotel.

All the barbecue dishes were fresh, hygienic, and delicious.

The head chef of this restaurant was a professional barbecue master who was all invited from overseas.

Since its opening, this BBQ World was packed every day.

During this period, the first floor was already full.

Robin pointed towards the second floor, "There should be some space up there, it's also quieter."

Just as she stepped onto the staircase, Karsyn tugged at Karina, whispering, "Ms. Huber, I think that's Mr. Strickland's wife, Stella Fernandez."

Karina looked in the direction Karsyn was pointing: "I haven't met Freddie's wife yet. Is she pretty? She looks about ten years younger than Freddie."

Karsyn said with a laugh, "Stella was actually younger than Mr.

Strickland, she used to be an employee at his company, she should be around thirty now..."

At this point, Karsyn suddenly stopped speaking.

The next scene left her and Karina utterly astonished.

A man next to Stella was laughing and holding her in his arms, and moreover, his hands were extremely dishonest on Stella's body.

The way those two people were acting was extremely ambiguous!

Karina quickly averted her eyes, "Karsyn, you might have mistaken me for someone else, let's go quickly."

"I didn't see it wrong, Ms. Huber!" Karsyn explained.

"Alright, stop talking about others, we're here to eat," Karina tugged at Karsyn.

"You remembered, don't talk about other people's business!"

"Especially the matters of the company executives' homes!"

"Do your own job well and mind your own business."

"I understand," Karsyn hastily replied, continuing to follow Karina and Robin up to the second floor.

Karsyn took two steps, subconsciously glancing back at the woman.

She was certain that the woman was Freddie's wife, Stella.

At that moment, Stella was nestled in the man's arms, laughing in the most flirtatious manner.

She was completely different from the Stella she had seen last time!

The relationship between Stella and that man was absolutely not normal.

Karsyn shook his head, following Karina and Robin forward.

The three of them each ordered their favorite food and chose a table closer to the window to sit down.

The customers on the second floor were not too many, it was quieter than the first floor.

Karina picked up a piece of medium-rare beef and took a bite eagerly, "I'm really a bit hungry today."

Robin watched Karina eating, coupled with her drab outfit today, and laughed, "Were you hungry today?"

Karina swallowed the beef in her mouth and took another bite, "Aren't you hungry? It's so late and you haven't eaten, aren't you hungry?"

Robin shrugged and said, "I am hungry. You shouldn't be, didn't you go looking for motherly love today? Can you still be hungry with motherly love?"

Karina paused for a moment, shaking her head, "Screw you! What are you talking about!"

Robin looked at the somewhat bitter expression in Karina's eyes. "You've been preparing all day and the result is far from what you expected, are you a bit disappointed?"

Karina pursed her lips, "I was a bit disappointed."

"But that's fine, seeing the truth means no more expectations. Let the past be the past, let's not talk about this now, let's eat!"

She thought for a moment, muttering. "If I had known it would be like this. I wouldn't have changed into these clothes today."

"If I had revealed my identity as soon as I entered the door, perhaps I wouldn't have witnessed that disgusting scene, and remained ignorant of the truth, which might have been better."

Robin laughed, "That's true!"

"Let's not talk about this anymore, the barbecue in this restaurant is indeed very good, eating more will make you feel better. Would you like me to get you some red wine?"

Karina waved her hand. "I never drink alcohol. I went to the service desk to ask for a glass of water."

"I'll go then. Ms. Huber, you must be hungry, you eat first." Karsyn put down her fork and stood up, heading towards the service counter.

I picked up two cups of water from the service desk, turned around and bumped into a man and an extremely fashionable woman.

Karsyn paused, spilling the water cup in her hand all over the floor.

The woman subconsciously looked at Karsyn.

The man beside her also noticed her, exclaiming in surprise, "Karsyn?"

A glint of sadness flashed in Karsyn's eyes as she quickly walked past them to her seat, holding a glass of water.

"Stand still!" the woman said, pulling the man beside her.

"Kenneth, did something unspeakable happen between you and that woman?"

The man named Kenneth Pittman, twitched his mouth and said, "Elsie, what nonsense are you talking about?"

"No, stop right there!" Elsie Sherman, pulling Kenneth, quickly caught up with Karsyn.

At that moment, Karsyn had already hurried back to his seat at the dining table, not expecting that the man and woman would actually follow him.

Robin noticed that Karsyn looked very pale.

Before I had a chance to ask about the situation, I looked up to see a man in a suit and leather shoes and a fashionably dressed woman storming towards me.

"Stop right there! I was calling you just now, why were you running so fast? Have you been flirting with Kenneth?" Elsie stormed to the dining table, pointing at Karsyn and scolding angrily.

Karsyn said coldly, "You're sick!"

"What? You dare to say I'm sick?" Elsie glanced at Karsyn and Karina.

Seeing their attire, contempt flashed in her eyes, "You low-class person, dare to curse me!"

He picked up the water cup from the table and threw it directly.

Kenneth urgently pleaded, "Elsie, don't do this..."

Before the words had even fallen, a full cup of hot water had already been splashed on Karsyn's face.

Karsyn stood up angrily, "What on earth do you want to do?"

The noise over here immediately attracted the attention of many people.

Karina was also confused by the scene before her: "What are you doing? Karsyn, what on earth happened?"

The woman pointed at Karina and said, "Shut up! Mind your own business!"

Robin, on the other hand, was leaning back in his chair, looking up at Elsie and Kenneth.

Karina saw Karsyn's eyes brimming with tears of sorrow, a surge of anger rising in her heart: "Karsyn, what on earth happened, tell me?"

Elsie glared at Kenneth, "You two must have something going on!"

"She was my classmate in high school, and back then, she already liked me."

"But, you know, too many people were chasing after a man like me, I never paid attention to her."

"It was this kind of lowlife woman who clung to me, as you've seen. Several years have passed, and she still holds a grudge against me."

"I swear to God, I have never liked her!"

"Just this little matter?" Elsie frowned.

Karsyn sneered, "Kenneth, your shameless behavior is truly disgusting!"

"During our senior year of high school, you wrote me a love letter every day. You told me that you were full of ambition, that you were going to do great things in the future, that you were determined to achieve something big!"

"But, your family was poor, you couldn't afford to go to school, you told me, asked me to pay your tuition first, so you could go to college while I worked."

"Then, after you graduate, you can earn money to support my studies."

"I really believed it!"

"Seeing you in such pain, crying as if life and death depended on it, I gave you the tuition money my family had given me."

hapter 353 What a Jerk!

Upon hearing this, a glint of coldness flashed in Robin's eyes.

Glancing up at Kenneth's disgustingly pale face.

Bullying a woman who bared her heart to you.

This was damn awful!

Karsyn sneered, staring intently at Kenneth, and continued, “Those years, I worked alone to earn your tuition, to make sure you could eat better at school, giving you almost all the money I made each month.”

“I only had a very small amount of money left, surviving on three baked buns a day.”

“It was to save money for you, hoping that one day you could return after completing your studies, and live a happy life with me!”

“But, the year you graduated, you told me you needed a lot of money for a project, so I borrowed 100,000 from online loans for you.”

“After giving you 100,000 dollars, in less than three days, you told me that you had fallen in love with someone else.”

“Back then, I finally understood, there are ungrateful wretches like you in this world! Beast!”

“Later, it took me a long time to pay off a 100,000 online loan!”

As soon as Karsyn spoke these words, everyone in the restaurant looked at Kenneth with anger in their eyes.

Was this even a human?

This was simply a living, breathing beast!

Elsie also realized that she had become the focus of the entire restaurant, subconsciously keeping a distance from Kenneth.

Karsyn sneered, continuing, “I called to ask you, where is the promise you made to me?”

“You told me, you found a wealthy girlfriend, and also told me that if you truly love someone, you should wish for their happiness.”

“You said, once you found this woman, you could save half a lifetime of struggle, and realize your life’s ambitions earlier.”

“After hearing these words, I finally understood. I had become a joke!”

“I actually worked for three years for a beast!”

“Later. I came to understand. I’m truly grateful to that woman for taking you, this beast, in.”

“If I’m not mistaken, it’s this uncultured woman beside you.”

Elsie pointed at Karsyn, “Were you cursing me?”

Karsyn laughed. “Do I need to repeat whether there is any etiquette or not?”

“All the owners of this restaurant have already realized it. ‘Birds of a

“I should have blessed you two, a pair of beasts!”

Everyone in the restaurant was pointing at Kenneth and Elsie, cursing them.

Elsie and Kenneth realized that their actions had provoked public anger.

“What...what...what nonsense are you talking about?” Elsic instinctively looked at Kenneth.

“Kenneth, you told them it wasn’t like she said it was!”

Kenneth raged, “Karsyn, you shameless woman!”

“Back then... back then I said, ‘Lend me money for three years, and I will pay you back after I finish college.””

“I never said I promised you anything.”

“Also, you working to earn money for me, that was your own wishful thinking!” This is

“You poor woman, how could I ever want you!”

“Back then, all those words I told you were lies. I deceived you just because I thought you were foolish!”

“You believed it, which only proves you’re stupid! Can you blame me?”

“Elsie, don’t listen to her nonsense. In high school... we had nothing.”

“Back then, I had no idea what love was.”

Chapter 353 What Jerk!

Karsyn laughed. “What about the money I gave you? The money I provided for your education, why didn’t you pay me back later?”

“Do I need to put all the procedures of the money I sent to you, and the letters you wrote to me on the internet for everyone to see, to show everyone what kind of person you, Kenneth, really are!”

Elsie was about to strike Karsyn’s face when Karina slapped her across the face, “You’re addicted!”

The corner of Robin’s mouth twitched, he had never seen Ms. Huber lay a hand on anyone before.

Elsie, seeing stars from the blow, stammered, “You... you dare...”

Then, she cried out, “Kenneth, did you see? They were bullying me!”

Before Kenneth could even speak, Robin pointed at them, “So what if they bullied you? Two lowlifes, kneel down and apologize to Karsyn immediately!”

Robin stood up, picked up a napkin and handed it to Karsyn, “Wipe your face, how could this world be unreasonable?”

In the midst of speaking, a slap landed on Kenneth’s face. “Trash! Kneel down!”

Kenneth was slapped on the shoulder by Robin, forcing him to kneel on the ground.

“Deceive someone who truly cares for you, and you should never stand up again for the rest of your life!”

Chapter 353 Whata Jerk!

Elsie hadn’t expected Robin to take action, she roared, “You... you dare... you dare to hit him?”

“Not only did I hit him, but I’m also going to hit you!” Robin said, half- smiling, as he slapped Elsie across the face. “You uncultured thing, kneel down!”

With a reprimand, Elsie felt a tremendous force pressing her hard onto the floor.

She covered her swollen face and cried, “You wait, you wait, when my dad comes, he will definitely kill you!”

“Did you know who my father was? My father was the major shareholder of the Huber Group, Shawn!”

“You few can just wait to die!”

Chapter 354 I Don’t Care Who You Are!

“Shawn?” Karina gave a cold laugh.

“No wonder you raised such an ill-mannered daughter, do you know who I am?”

Elsie paused for a moment, sizing up Karina’s outfit.

Guessing that the other party wouldn’t have any significant background, he glared at her maliciously, “I don’t care who you are!”

Karina shook her head.

When the Huber Group was operating land in city south, Shawn, along with a group of shareholders, was sabotaging their efforts, attempting to seize the Huber family’s control over the Huber Group.

Now reduced to a homeless cur, I had sought refuge with Nathen.

Grandpa had not yet freed his hands to deal with this treacherous bastard.

Otherwise, the Sherman family would have long ceased to exist in Hallchester!

“Back then, call him over!”

Elsie glared fiercely at Karina, took out her phone and cried out, “Dad, I’m at the barbecue restaurant on Sunlight Street, Kenneth and I have been beaten up, come quickly!”

He shouted loudly, "Where is the owner of this restaurant? We were beaten by this thug, doesn't your hotel security care?"

"I told you, my girlfriend's father is Shawn. If he saw you all being so unproductive after he arrived, in a fit of anger, he could tear down the entire restaurant!"

At that moment, a short, chubby man quickly ran down from the second floor, followed by a dozen or so security guards.

The owner of this barbecue restaurant was named. Amos.

Just now in the office, I received a report from the service staff below, saying that the daughter of the Sherman family and her boyfriend were beaten up.

This was serious!

Back then, Shawn was the second largest shareholder of the Huber family.

Even though they had already withdrawn from the Huber Group, the Sherman family's influence in Hallchester was not to be underestimated!

If this matter was not handled properly, the consequences would truly be unimaginable.

However, according to the reports from my subordinates, the three people who beat them seemed to be quite impressive.

Although I didn't know the identities and backgrounds of the three people, it would be troublesome if I happened to encounter a tough one.

Therefore, we could only wait and see how things developed before taking action.

"What...what is going on here? You guys, help them up," Amos stepped forward and said.

However, a few security guards were holding them down, Kenneth and Elsie couldn't stand up.

Elsie cried out. "I told you, my dad is Shawn."

“If...if you severely punish them, my father will never let it go once he arrives!”

Amos wiped the sweat off his forehead, “Ms. Sherman, please wait a moment, I’ll handle it right away, right away.”

Then, turning to Robin, Karina, and Karsyn, he said, “How could you hit people? Hurry up and apologize to them, let’s just let this go, okay?”

Robin burst into laughter, “Apologize to them? You ask, do these two beasts deserve it?!”

Seeing Robin in such a posture, Amos couldn’t figure out the other party’s details and didn’t dare to act rashly.

For a moment, I was so anxious that I was sweating profusely, not knowing what to do.

Just as Amos was in a dilemma, the roar of motorcycles came from outside the barbecue city.

A middle-aged man and a dozen bodyguards quickly emerged from three off-road vehicles.

“Elsie, what’s going on?” Shawn went upstairs and immediately saw Elsie and Kenneth kneeling on the ground.

“Tell me, who did this to you?”

“It was those three bastards!” Kenneth and Elsie pointed at Karina and Robin simultaneously.

Shawn looked up in the direction of Karina and Robin.

Hadn’t recognized them at first glance.

Just as I was about to lose my temper, I realized, it was Harold’s granddaughter, Karina!

“Karina...uh...” Shawn blurted out.

Just in the next moment, I immediately realized that I was no longer the major shareholder of the Huber Group, “Uh... Ms. Huber, Mr. Bruce, uh, Ms. Croft, why is it you guys?”

“Hehe, why couldn’t it be me, Shawn?” Karina sneered.

Shawn was addressed by his first name by Karina, and he understood that Ms. Huber had completely kicked him out of the Huber Group.

Shawn wouldn’t dare to challenge Ms. Huber!

Over the years following Harold, he knew all too well that it was a terrifying tiger.

Chapter 354 1.Don’t Care Who You Are!

Offending his granddaughter was not a good thing!

Shawn hesitated slightly, then turned around and slapped Elsie across the face, “Beast! Do you think you can offend Ms. Huber and Mr. Bruce? Apologize to them immediately!”

“Dad?” Elsie looked at Shawn in surprise, then at Karina, “Let me... let me apologize to her, who does she think she is?”

Shawn slapped him again, “She is Mr. Huber’s granddaughter, the president of the Huber Group, Karina. Is that enough? Apologize immediately!”

After Shawn understood what had happened before, he kicked Kenneth.

“You penniless wretch, I’ve been fed up with you for a long time! Remember this, if you dare to bother Elsie again, I will make you pay with your life!”

Shawn took a deep breath, “Ms. Huber, Mr. Bruce, can your anger be quelled?”

Karina waved her hand, “Take your daughter and get out!”

“Yes, yes indeed.” Shawn quickly left the barbecue restaurant with Elsie.

Kenneth watched their receding figures in despair.

He understood, he could never step foot in the Sherman family’s door. again.

Robin shook his head, “A perfectly good dinner ruined by this trash!

Chapter 354 1.Don’t Care Who You Are!

Let’s go, I’ll cook for you guys when we get back!”

The three people headed towards the outside of the restaurant.

Kenneth pleaded, "Karsyn, I... I was wrong, I let you down. Could you forgive me one more time?"

Karsyn stopped in his tracks. .

Robin casually picked up a bottle of red wine and handed it to her.

"Ms. Croft, this wine bottle was very handy to use."

Karsyn took the bottle and walked up to Kenneth, smashing it down on his head.

"Beast! Forgive you? If I forgave you again, I would be the biggest fool!"

Chapter 355 What a Coincidence

Left the barbecue restaurant.

Karsyn was still in a state of anger.

In those years, we were young and naive, unaware of the ways of the world.

I didn't know that pure kindness and selfless giving could leave oneself bruised and battered.

In this world, there were many scoundrels and beasts that could not be treated as good beings.

Either crush him, or stay away from him.

Never should he be pitied or indulged because of his momentary weakness and pitifulness.

Because a venomous snake was always a venomous snake.

Even if it was frozen stiff, you could have saved it with your own body heat.

After awakening, it still continued to harm people.

People were the same.

Just because he was poor and disadvantaged, it didn't mean he was a good person.

Chapter 355 Whara Coincidence

Good and evil were not distinguished by differences in wealth and status.

Often times, the poor people at the bottom were worse, more ruthless, and more vicious!

Entering the parking lot, Karsyn took out Freddie's car keys and pressed the remote from a distance.

A harsh unlocking sound suddenly rang out in the silent parking lot.

The pair of man and woman, who were embracing each other in the shadows, were startled.

The man and woman frantically tidied up their clothes.

Because the space in this parking lot was very crowded.

Stella unavoidably ran into Robin, Karina, and Karsyn.

Karsyn was instantly stunned, this woman was actually Stella!

Stella pried the man's hands off, hurriedly struggling to free herself from his embrace, wanting to duck and hide.

It was just that Robin, Karina, and Karsyn were walking side by side. and for a moment, they couldn't make room.

Stella could only laugh awkwardly, "Yes... yes, Ms. Croft, what a coincidence, you're parking here today too?"

Karsyn was already in a bad mood.

Seeing Stella again, who was already a married woman.

Chapter 355 What Coincidence

She was actually flirting with another man behind Freddie's back.

It was so late, yet they were still in the parking lot, doing such disgusting and indecent things.

The anger in Karsyn's heart surged even more!

She gave Stella a cold glance and said in a frosty voice, “Is there a rule that we can’t park here?”

After speaking, he didn’t want to deal with Stella anymore. He went straight to the car, opened the door, and quickly started the vehicle.

Stepped on the gas pedal.

The aggressive roar of the car engine made the silent parking lot tremble and shudder.

“Ah!” Stella exclaimed, instinctively grabbing the arm of the man next to her.

After a brief moment of panic, calm was quickly restored.

Nodded awkwardly at Karina and Robin, quickly walked towards the outside of the parking lot.

“Get down and sit in the back!” Robin ordered, opening the car door and pulling Karsyn out.

Karsyn took a deep breath, realizing that she had lost control of her emotions. She lowered her head and said, “I’m sorry, Mr. Bruce, I lost my composure.”

“Alright, if you’re feeling upset, just let it out.” Robin started the car and

Chapter 355 Whats Coincidence slowly drove out of the parking lot.

Passing by Stella and the man, Robin mischievously honked the high- pitched horn.

“Oh my goodness, you scared me to death!” Stella almost fell to the ground, and the man was so frightened that his legs gave way and he jumped to the side.

Robin rolled down the car window, flashed them a playful smile, “Sorry guys, didn’t mean to scare you.”

Drove away in a car.

Karina and Karsyn laughed in the car.

Stella stood dumbfounded on the pedestrian walkway of the parking lot, staring in shock at the car driven by Robin and its license plate number.

"They were driving our Freddie's car?!"

Stella nervously gripped the man's hand, "Terry, what are we going to do?"

"Just now... among those three people just now, one of them was Freddie's colleague, I've met her once before..."

Terry Jones paused for a moment, then, he hugged Stella and began to laugh.

"Why were you nervous? They didn't see us do anything."

"If Freddie asks, just say it was the kid's school teacher. What can he say?"

Chapter 355 What a Coincidence

Stella thought for a moment, only then did her hanging heart relax.

She kissed Terry on the face, "Terry, just in case... just in case one day. we are really discovered by Freddie, I will have to follow you."

Terry slapped Stella's perky butt, thumped his chest and said, "Of course! But, you need to move faster. Once we get the money, we're leaving Londraland. Then, we Avon't have to hide anymore!"

"Um! Darling, I'm in the process of doing it. Be patient, in another six months, I will be able to transfer all the money from Freddie's Southern District Development Corporation."

"Darling, let's go to the car, we didn't have enough fun just now."

Terry picked up Stella and quickly dove into the car...

The next morning, at the President's office of Eastern District. Development Corporation.

Robin had just turned on the computer when Karsyn hurried in.

Robin looked up at Karsyn, his gaze steady and his complexion calm at that moment.

This woman should have adjusted her mood to a normal working state.

"Mr. Bruce, there's something I need to report to you, the investment partner of Eastern District Development Corporation..."

Karsyn was halfway through when Robin waved his hand, "There's no need to tell me about this, you should go directly to Ms. Huber."

Karsyn hesitated for a moment, then continued, "Mr. Bruce, it's Chapter 355 Whaen Coincidence

necessary for me to report this matter to you."

Seeing the serious look on Karsyn's face, Robin could only ask, "What happened?"

"Nearly 50 partners who collaborated with the Huber Group in developing the Eastern Business District recently collectively requested the Huber Group to change the provisions about investment projects in the previous cooperation agreement."

"They threatened that if the Huber Group was unwilling to amend the contract, they would rather pay the penalty for breach of contract than terminate it!"

"Based on the information I knew, these 50 investors wanted to invest in their own development projects, most of which were being invested and developed by the Huber Group."

"If these investors were allowed to proceed unchecked, the entire operational order of the Eastern Business District would have been severely disrupted, and the hundreds of billions of investment in the Eastern Business District project would have ultimately collapsed."

"The Huber Group would al

Karsyn said up to this point, then dared not express any more opinions.

Robin frowned slightly, "There was such a thing?"

"I see, did you report this matter to Ms. Huber?"

Karsyn nodded, "Ms. Huber was also informed about this matter."

"Robin, do you know about the matter of the investment partner in the Eastern Business District?" Karina rushed into Robin's office with a report in her hand.

Robin nodded, "Ms. Croft was speaking," he said.

Karina sat in front of Robin, "What do you think about this issue?"

Robin was rhythmically tapping his fingers on the table.

“It was quite evident that someone was maliciously manipulating behind the scenes, with the sole purpose of disrupting the overall investment layout of the Huber Group’s Eastern Business District project.”

“In this way, the huge investment of the Huber Group would have been wasted.”

Karina frowned tightly, “I’ve calculated, even if we take legal action against these defaulting merchants, we would still end up at a loss in the end.”

Chapter 356 The Huber Group’s Crisis

“However, without legal means, we would be extremely passive.”

“The hidden hand behind this contract termination incident had a clear purpose to destroy the Huber Group.”

“Who exactly was this black hand, and why did he direct his spearhead towards the Huber Group?”

Karsyn placed another report in front of Karina and Robin.

“Another piece of news indicated that Nathen’s World Real Estate was rapidly expanding within the borders of Hashville State.”

“In just ten days of this month, World Real Estate was involved in nearly 132 investment and acquisition projects within the province, the speed of its expansion was incredibly astonishing.”

For this reason, the Business Strategy Department of the group conducted an in-depth investigation and analysis of this expansion by World Real Estate..

Roughly estimated, the Reynell family had to mobilize nearly two hundred billion in capital to complete such a major move in just ten days.

“The investment projects of the Reynell family in the Eastern District Development Corporation, which had been stalled for a while due to a lack of funds, were all restarted this week.” This is “Another important piece of information was that the 50 investors who forced the Huber Group to modify the cooperation agreement had been in frequent contact with Nathen recently.”

Chapter 356 The Huber Group’s Crisis

The Business Strategy Department believed that the issue of contract termination for the collaboration project of the Huber Group in the Eastern Business District was likely due to Nathen’s behind-the-scenes manipulation.

Karina nodded, “I think so too, it’s just that, such a guess, still needs further verification.”

“I was very clear about the capital strength of World Real Estate of the Reynell family.”

“Despite claiming to be on par with the Huber Group in Hallchester, there was a strong momentum to surpass the Huber Group.”

“However, their own capital was extremely weak, and the scale expansion in the past two years had led to a large deficit for them.”

500

“Once there was a problem in any link of the capital operation process. the Reynell family would instantly fall apart.”

“With their current capital volume, even with bank financing and private loans combined, it was still less than 30 billion.”

“I just couldn’t understand, how could they manipulate over a hundred projects in Hashville?”

Robin pointed at the report in Karsyn’s hand, “Put it here, let me take a look.”

“Also, could the investment development department further investigate the current status of these 50 companies?”

“If they wanted to terminate the contract, let them do it immediately today and get the penalty first. With such a good project, are we still worried about not having a cooperative developer?”

“Altering the treaty was impossible.”

Karina also agreed: "Yes, even if we temporarily stop, we cannot disrupt the entire investment plan for the Eastern Business District project."

"Once the overall layout was disrupted, the Eastern Business District would face severe loss of control."

"This project had cost hundreds of billions, representing the entire fortune of the Huber Group."

"The project failed, and so did the Huber Group."

"Ding—a-ling..." Karina's phone rang.

She apologized, "Robin, I need to deal with some group matters first, I'll come over later."

"Right, I forgot to tell you. Mr. Donovan's celebration will be held at the Hallchester seaside resort tomorrow. We will go together then."

"Alright. You all go ahead with your work." Robin said with a faint smile.

Watching Karina's beautiful silhouette, I remembered the feeling of reaching out to touch her that night.

It was truly silky smooth, with an excellent touch.

Karina suddenly turned around, only to see Robin looking at her with great enthusiasm.

Her cheeks turned red instantly: "Are you looking at me?"

"Hmm? Hmm!" Robin mumbled, unable to help himself, "Indeed, she has the figure of a top-notch goddess..."

"Huh?" Karina hadn't expected Robin to say something so blunt, and she quickly ran out of the office in embarrassment.

Returned to their own room and immediately shut the door.

Recalling Robin's gaze and words, the cheeks were burning red.

Thinking back to that night... I covered my face and started to laugh secretly.

After Karina and Karsyn had left, Robin sent out a message –

Just after sending the message, Crystal's cheerful face suddenly popped up on the mobile phone screen.

A flirtatious ringtone sounded.

Robin stared at Crystal's smiling face on the screen, had this woman changed her ringtone again?

Pressed the answer key.

"Robin, hahaha." Crystal's joyful laughter came from the other end of the phone, "Guess where I am now?"

Robin checked the time, "At this hour, where could you be if not at the office?"

"I was outside accompanying your former fiancée to buy an engagement gift before I was with you."

"Get lost! If there's nothing else, I'm hanging up right away."

Crystal hurriedly said, "Wait a minute, let me call you and chat, I haven't seen you for several days, I miss you, haha..."

"I was too busy then, and didn't have time to invite you for a meal. Let's do this, we'll meet and talk at Mr. Donovan's celebration tomorrow."

"After these busy days, I'll treat you...uh, no, you treat me to a good.

Chapter 357 The Finley Family's Banquet

It was nine o'clock on Saturday morning.

The largest leisure resort in Halleester, the seaside resort.

Flowers were blooming brightly, luxury cars were gathered in abundance.

Today, a recovery celebration for Ethen's father, Donovan, was to be held here.

This time, the Finley family invited many prominent families from Hashville to celebrate Mr. Donovan's recovery.

The entire seaside resort village was booked by the Finley family.

The center of the banquet was a five-star hotel in the resort.

Due to the large number of guests who came to congratulate Mr. Donovan on his recovery.

The Finley family arranged banquets on the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd floors of the large restaurant respectively.

The fourth floor was the banquet area where Donovan entertained important guests.

The Presidential Suite on the fifth floor, which was equipped with a VIP room, was the place where Mr. Donovan conversed with important guests.

Chapter 357 The Finley Family's Banquet

Such a grand family feast.

On the surface, it seemed like all newcomers were treated equally.

Actually, there were many tricks in it.

Such a banquet had strict distinctions of status and rank.

The first floor lobby was essentially a banquet venue for second and third-rate families.

Even second or third-rate families needed an invitation from the Finley family to enter.

Therefore, the second and third-rate families who were able to attend such a grand banquet felt greatly honored.

In terms of financial status, the families sitting in the first floor lobby were all at the level of tens of millions.

Millionaire families didn't even have the privilege to come in for a meal. they could only wait on the outskirts of the resort, without a seat.

Even so, many millionaire families preferred to send valuable gifts and wait outside the door.

Perhaps they could make connections with some top-notch wealthy families, and from then on, they soared to great heights.

The second floor was occupied by billionaires, along with some low- level politicians and organizations like sects.

The third floor, it could be said, was home to the top ten elites of Hashville State and high-level politicians.

Chapter 357 The Prmley Family's Banquet

There was only one dining table set up on the fourth floor, for the most esteemed guests personally invited by Donovan.

For the order of the banquet, the dining list and seating of guests on the first three floors were all listed in the restaurant's main hall.

The list for the fourth floor was not made public, and there was a private entrance.

When Robin and Karina arrived at the resort, it was already packed with people.

Many guests were waiting at the door early.

The vehicles coming to attend the celebration banquet had already lined up from inside the resort to outside the resort.

Karina and Robin walked towards the door, attracting the attention of many people.

This handsome man and beautiful woman quickly became a stunning sight in front of the door.

"Hi, Robin, Ms. Huber," Crystal came from behind.

Crystal grabbed Robin's arm, her eyes fixed on him as she looked him. over and over again, "You seem to have become more handsome since I last saw you a few days ago."

Robin snorted lightly, "I've always been this handsome, okay!"

Crystal laughed, "Well, men should be this confident, I like it!"

In the midst of their conversation, he noticed Karina laughing at them, his cheeks turning red. "Ms. Huber, your long dress today is really beautiful. Everything looks good on you!"

Karina's face turned red, she sneakily glanced at Robin and laughed, "Ms. Thompson, you're—such a smooth talker, your figure is the one that's truly great."

Crystal said happily, "Ms. Huber, the last time I was at Armani, I saw a beautiful violet dress. Maybe one day we can go see it together..."

Robin pursed her lips, women together, without saying a few words, started talking about clothes, cosmetics, and beauty.

This thing seemed to have a natural excitement point for them.

"Hello, Mr. Bruce, Ms. Huber!" Freddie came quickly from behind.

Accompanied by his wife Stella, daughter Flora Strickland, and niece Robyn.

"Oh, Ms. Thompson has arrived too." Freddie nodded at Crystal.

"Stella, let me introduce you, this is Mr. Bruce and Ms. Huber."

Stella was immediately stunned.

She hadn't expected that the three people she saw in the parking lot of the barbecue restaurant the night before last were all from the Huber Group.

What was even more troublesome was that they were actually Robin and Karina!

Clearly, the way Terry and I were at that time had already been seen by them.

For a moment, I was somewhat flustered and stood still.

"Stella, what's wrong with you?" Freddie asked, noticing Stella's absent-minded expression.

Stella shuddered suddenly, "Mr. Bruce...uh, Ms. Huber, hello."

Stella extended her hand, trembling.

Robin chuckled, hands in his pockets, showing no intention of shaking hands with her. He gave her a nonchalant smile, "Hello."

Karina merely gave Stella a slight nod.

Seeing this scene, Freddie furrowed his brow

He noticed that Robin and Karina were quite indifferent to Stella.

However, I didn't think much about it.

In his view, the thoughts of a character like Robin and Karina were not something he could fathom.

Then, leading his daughter forward, he said, "Flora, come and call uncle and sister."

Crystal, who was next to Robin, looked at Flora and started laughing. "Mr. Strickland, your daughter is nothing like you."

Freddie paused slightly, laughing as he said, "If my daughter looked like me, wouldn't she be quite ugly? Hahaha..."

"Hahaha... Thank you for the compliment, sister-in-law!"

Crystal laughed like a blooming flower, looking at Stella nestled gently and against Freddie at that moment, she admired, "Mr. Strickland, you your wife have such a great relationship!"

Freddie shyly chuckled, "Ever since Stella married me, she has been staying at home, taking care of our children. We are indeed quite happy."

Stella clung tightly to Freddie's side, her virtuous demeanor attracting many envious glances

Robin shook his head at Stella's pretense of affection.

Exchanged a glance with Karina, and started to laugh with profound meaning.

He patted Freddie on the shoulder, "You guys take your daughter around, we'll go in first."

Freddie nodded, not making any further attempts to keep them.

Given his status and position, he could only be in the first floor lobby.

Robin and Karina were definitely among the second and third floors.

They were not on the same level.

Robyn, trembling, walked over to Robin and whispered, "Mr. Bruce, I misunderstood you before. I'm sorry..."

Robin laughed, "The past is the past, there's no need to keep bringing it up. Besides, I never cared at all."

Robyn bit her lip, not knowing how to continue the conversation.

"Robin, stop!" At that moment, Miranda and Jacob came up from behind.

“Did I just see you in front of the resort a moment ago? Were you trying to avoid me, is that why you left so quickly?”

Miranda glanced at Karina, respectfully saying, “Ms. Huber, hello.”

Karina looked at her blankly, as if looking at a fool, without responding.

Miranda gave an awkward laugh, “Ms. Huber, I need to speak with Robin for a moment.”

Karina didn’t respond.

Miranda continued, “Robin, have you thought about what I told you at the airport that day?”

“Tomorrow I was going to have my engagement ceremony with Jacob, and there would be many distinguished guests from wealthy families. Weren’t you the least bit curious?”

Robin gave a slight smile, “It’s just an engagement, not cross-species. breeding. What’s there to be curious about?”

The corners of Karina’s mouth lifted slightly, she looked at Miranda with great interest.

She didn’t understand, were such women blinded by snobbery, or were they just naturally stupid?

Almost all of the people in Hallchester knew about Robin’s strength.

Miranda had a natural sense of superiority and constantly sought to belittle and humiliate Robin..

This was really not just ordinary foolishness.

“Couldn’t you just bless me and Jacob with a heart full of blessings?”

“Haven’t you ever heard of this saying, to truly love someone is to make her successful, bless her, not just to possess her?”

“We were absolutely impossible already. With your status. I would not be with you.”

“I knew you were upset, but we were not on the same level, it was impossible in this lifetime.”

“You had to accept reality, not live in an imagined world.”

“Did you think that by avoiding it this way, you could change the facts? Impossible!”

“So, you had to see my lavish engagement ceremony with your own eyes, put an end to your hopes, and sincerely wish me well.”

“When you realized that I was a woman you could never attain, you would completely abandon the idea of wanting to have me.”

“I said and did all these for your own good. I didn’t want to see you go astray just to win me over!”

Robin shook his head helplessly. “Miranda, you’re seriously ill, you need treatment!”

“I kindly invited you to my engagement ceremony, intending to help heal your emotional wounds through this form of shock therapy, yet you didn’t appreciate it!”

Sensing the change in tone, Crystal quickly asked, “Miranda, what are you doing?”

“Robin had long abandoned that idea, why keep harping on it over and over again!”

“Didn’t you say it yourself, that you two were over a long time ago? Can you stop bringing up those meaningless things, please?”

Miranda sneered, “I just wanted to tell him, don’t think that showing off with the power of some women is of any use, it’s useless!”

“Robin, you’ve been showing off for so long, relying on a woman’s money and status. Don’t you think I, Miranda, still look down on you?”

“Those were ultimately not your abilities and family background.”

“Without them, you were still a loser!”

“With the wealth of the Brown family, how could they be interested in a low-class man like you?”

“Robin, I knew you were very upset.”

“Considering the connection we once had, I advise you, stop making things difficult for yourself.”

Freddie frowned, “Ms. Brown, today is the Finley family’s celebration, are you planning to cause trouble at the Finley family’s celebration?”

“Do you know what the outcome was of causing trouble at the Finley family’s celebration? Even ten of the Brown family wouldn’t be enough to extinguish it!”

Chapter 359 He’s Your Grandpa, Not Mine

Upon hearing Freddie’s words, Miranda rolled her eyes and dared not. speak again.

She believed that what Freddie said was not false at all.

If it really was because of their own argument with Robin here that annoyed the Finley family, they would definitely kick the Brown family out.

Even, it could have caused the Brown family to suffer huge losses.

“Miranda, did you see Mr. Powers? He just said on the phone that he had arrived at the entrance of the resort,” Bradshaw came trembling from behind at that moment.

At that moment, Miranda was just stepping down a stair, she turned around and said, “Grandpa, I didn’t see Mr. Powers. Could you come over here?”

He pointed at Robin, “Grandpa, this is the Robin I broke off the engagement with.”

Bradshaw looked up at Robin and laughed, “Oh, you’re still in Hallchester?”

“Robin, my Miranda just didn’t fancy you, there’s nothing we can do about it.”

“Back then, the marriage arrangement your grandfather and I made for

“If you had any difficulties in Hallchester, you could have come to me.”

“It was understandable, the way you were.”

“My granddaughter, she is both beautiful and talented. The wealth of the Brown family, it must have been somewhat tempting to you.”

“I also knew what you were thinking. In your situation, you wanted to marry our Miranda so you could skip decades of struggle and immediately enter high society.”

“However, such things couldn’t be forced.”

“It’s okay, even if Miranda doesn’t like you, if you need money, I can give you a few thousand dollars. I can still help with this.”

“You saw it too, my grandson-in-law Jacob, his family is a big clan in Hallcester, you could never catch up with him in your lifetime.”

“Just like Miranda said, if you truly liked her, you should have wished.

them well.”

“Young man, work hard. Perhaps in a few years, you could have your own business. By then, you could be earning three to five thousand a month, and wouldn’t need my help anymore.”

Robin glanced at the foolish-looking Bradshaw, gave a slight smile, and prepared to turn around and leave.

Miranda stepped forward to stop him: “Hold on! My grandfather is talking to you, why aren’t you responding? Robin, call him grandpa quickly.”

Robin chuckled lightly, “He’s your grandfather, why should I call him? Who does he think he is?”

Bradshaw was taken aback, “Hey, kid, back in the day, your grandfather and I were good buddies.”

Robin said with a laugh, “My grandfather is blind!”

“You child, how could you speak about your grandfather like this?”

“I said Grandpa was blind because he mistook a beast for a human.”

“If I could see my grandfather again, I would definitely say, ‘How could one re

Bradshaw trembled with anger, “You... you... you insulted me?”

“I didn’t curse at you, I just wanted to say, there are many people in this world who are worse than animals!”

Miranda bounced in front of Robin: "Robin, you... you're so rude, how could you curse my grandfather?"

With a crisp "smack", Livia slapped Miranda across the face.

"Miranda, I warned you long ago, dare to disrespect Mr. Bruce again, I'll kill you!"

Cecilia cast a cold glance at Bradshaw and Miranda, icily saying, "Livia is absolutely right! Mr. Brown, do you think I, Cecilia, still have this kind of strength?"

Bradshaw paused for a moment, snorted coldly, and turned to leave.

Miranda and Jacob also fell silent, following Bradshaw inside.

"Mr. Powers!" Bradshaw lifted his head, saw Raymond, and shakily ran over.

"Mr. Powers, hello, hello, I was just looking for you."

Raymond nodded with a smile, "Mr. Brown, how have you been feeling these past few days?"

Bradshaw coughed twice, "After drinking the medicinal soup made from Licorice Herb, I feel much better than before."

However, after drinking Licorice Herb soup, for the first few days, one could maintain a very good physical condition for 24 hours.

"However, as the days went by, it seemed that the duration of this comfort in my body was decreasing daily, and currently, it could only last for six to seven hours a day."

Raymond also frowned and said, "Mr. Brown, to be honest with you, this Licorice Herb can only maintain your body's normal function in the short term, and there will be no complications for the time being."

“However, as time went on, this Licorice Herb gradually stopped working on your body’s ailments.”

“Mr. Powers, do you mean that... that expert could also be present today?”

Bradshaw stepped forward and asked in a low voice, “Mr. Powers, what is the honorable name of that distinguished person?”

Raymond blurted out, “That gentleman’s name is Robin.”

Upon hearing this name, Bradshaw’s legs went weak and he almost sat down on the ground: “Robin?”

Chapter 360 No Way

Upon hearing Raymond’s words, Bradshaw experienced a severe mental block in an instant.

Robin?

The respected figure that Blaine, the president of the Londraland Traditional Medicine Association and Master of Traditional Medicine, admired was actually Robin?

Was this Robin that Robin?

It took Bradshaw quite a while to clear his thoughts.

He remembered that Robin’s grandfather indeed knew a bit of medicine back in the year.

Back then, it was told to him that there was a hidden risk in his health.

This hidden danger wouldn’t have caused any significant problems at that time.

However, as age increased, the body's functions declined day by day, and this potential risk would gradually become apparent.

Once discovered, it would be incurable.

However, only he could cure this disease, no one else could.

At the time when Robin's grandfather mentioned this matter, Bradshaw did not pay much attention to it.

It was just a casual remark made offhand.

Five years ago, this hidden danger really erupted.

However, Grandpa Robin had left Hallchester for many years and there had been no news of him.

Later, after consulting renowned doctors both domestically and internationally, they all said it was incurable.

All doctors determined that he could only live for another five to six years.

Five years have passed now, my health deteriorating day by day, suffering from insomnia and unable to sleep all night.

After taking his pulse, Mr. Powers informed him that his time was running short.
an

Unless a miracle occurred, and there truly was a divine doctor in the world, he could be pulled back from the gates of death.

Rumors had it that Master Bruce had saved Donovan and Camdyn, who were almost dead.

If Robin truly had such ability, both the Finley family and the Huber family should have treated him as an honored guest.

According to the seating arrangement rules of the Finley family's invitation. Robin should have been seated at least on the second floor.

Bradshaw furrowed his brow, intensely pondering the problem in his mind.

Quickly took two steps, arrived in front of the seating arrangement signboard in front of the restaurant square.

On this sign, names were densely arranged.

It was the seating list of the heads and key members of numerous families in Halleester.

Bradshaw carefully searched for Robin's name.

I searched for the seating list from the first floor to the second floor three times, but I didn't see Robin's name.

"Grandpa, what are you looking for?" Miranda and Jacob came over.

"Our home was in the middle of the first floor, Grandpa, your name was right there."

"The seating for the Walsh family was on the second floor, I sat there on behalf of Jacob's fiancée. Look, here are mine and Jacob's names.

Bradshaw ignored her, still searching among the many names for the two he didn't want to see.

Had been looking for quite a while, but still hadn't found it.

15:28

Chapter 360 No Way

Worried that his old eyes had deceived him, he pointed at the sign and said. "Miranda, can you check if Robin's name is on there?"

Miranda paused, "Grandpa, what are you talking about?"

"Today, anyone who had a seat at Mr. Donovan's banquet was of family background and social status."

"The seating area at the banquet had a strict hierarchy."

"The attendees of the banquet were divided into four groups: the military, the political, the business, and a small portion of people from the underworld."

"People from the military and political circles had very high statuses."

"In the business world, only families with tens of millions were eligible to enter the restaurant with seating arrangements."

"Besides the leader of the powerful Laurel Sect, those without status in the Jianghu had no right to enter the tavern."

"What the hell was Robin!"

"How could a rootless grass with no identity, no status, and no family background have the qualifications to be on the seating list in the restaurant?"

"Even though he had a title as the President of Eastern District Development Corporation from Karina, he was still a worker."

"Are you sure he's not up there?" Bradshaw still wasn't reassured, urging Miranda to check again.

Chapter 360 No Way

Miranda had no choice but to go through the staff list on the signboard, from the first floor to the second, and then from the second to the third, reading out each name one by one, but still couldn't find Robin's name.

After checking back and forth twice, she was sure that Robin was not there, and she breathed a sigh of relief.

I was really worried a moment ago that Robin's name would be in it.

That was something she couldn't tolerate!

In her heart, the person who was abandoned by her, Miranda, absolutely could not get better!

Only by seeing Robin living more miserably after she broke off their engagement would she be happy. That was the outcome she wanted to sec.

“Hahaha...” Miranda laughed excitedly.

“Grandpa, you’re confused,” I said. “What status does Robin have? He’s nothing but a low-level scoundrel. There’s absolutely no way he could be on the guest list for the banquet.”

Upon hearing this, Bradshaw finally let out a long sigh of relief, “That puts my mind at ease! What a false alarm!”

Upon reflection, it was absolutely impossible given his status!

“Regardless, he could not possibly have been that godlike figure.”

“If that’s the case, I’d rather be an old... old dog! Hahaha...”

After Bradshaw finished speaking, he laughed in self-amusement.
