Chapter 371 Insult

As soon as these words were spoken, an aura of death immediately filled the spacious presidential suite!

Chad had originally planned to drive Jeff out of this place in order to quell the anger of Donovan and others.

However, this ignorant creature had the audacity to insult Donovan's esteemed guest.

If the Williams family didn't pay some blood price today, they probably wouldn't have been able to get through this hurdle.

Donovan's face was terribly gloomy, "You bastard, what did you say?"

A colonel guard instantly made a gesture of drawing his gun.

As soon as Mr. Donovan gave the order, he would shoot Jeff without hesitation!

A general of the nation's caliber, how could he tolerate such baseless. humiliation from such a petty person!

Jeff was blind and didn't realize the severity of the situation.

But. Noel knew!

Donovan, the great general who once made significant contributions to the country.

Even when he was out of power, he still held the authority to decide life and death.

Moreover, Jeff was challenging his authority.

Noel was trembling all over with fear, wishing he could kill this rebellious son.

“General Finley, this beast knows no fear of death, I... I apologize to you, I apologize to you!”

Before the Finley family could react, Jeff’s next move almost drove Noel mad.

“I didn’t lie!” Jeff sprang up from the ground, screaming.

“Last week, it was this disgusting pretty boy who took our Hashville Airlines flight to Farmere. I saw him with my own eyes, together with a wealthy old woman in her sixties!”

“Dad, Mr. Ethen, think about it, what right does this scum, who mingles with the lower class, have to play chess with my master!”

At that moment, there was a deathly silence in the presidential suite!

Noel was numb, momentarily at a loss.

Did Jeff actually say that Mr. Donovan’s esteemed guest was low-class trash?

He didn’t know where his son got the courage to say such words!

Such behavior could have gotten Mr. Donovan shot by his guard at any moment.

Chapter 371 INSUIT

The reason why no action had been taken yet was because today was Mr. Donovan’s recovery celebration.

If he didn’t learn to restrain himself, no one could save him!

“Heh!” Chad kicked Jeff to the ground with one foot and shook his head speechlessly.

Ethen’s face also darkened, “Noel, your son is not only insulting Mr. Bruce, but also cursing the Finley family!”

“Mr. Bruce was a distinguished guest of the Finley family, the savior of my father’s life. He dared to insult Mr. Bruce like this, is this also your intention?!”

Noel had already come to his senses by this point, kneeling on the ground: “Mr. Ethen, Mr. Donovan, this rebellious child has gone mad! I... I will take him back right away and give him a severe lesson!”

“I will certainly have him visit and apologize to Mr. Donovan and Mr. Ethen in the future.”

Donovan laughed in anger, “Ha! Noel! I’ll remember you, the Williams family. Get lost...”

Originally, he didn’t want to bother with such trash and it ruined his mood, so he told Noel to take Jeff and get lost.

However, at that moment. Jeff suddenly jumped up, pointing at Robin and continued to rant, “Mr. Donovan, Mr. Ethen, are you saying this lowlife is your esteemed guest?”

“Wouldn’t it be a huge joke if everyone knew that this gigolo, who pleases old women by relying on rich women, was a distinguished guest of your Finley family?”

Upon hearing this. Noel almost died.

This bastard actually directly insulted the Finley family. How much did the Williams family want to die to be so crazy?

Noel jumped up, grabbed Jeff’s hair, and pinned him to the ground, “Have you gone mad, you beast? Beg for Mr. Donovan’s forgiveness immediately!”

“I’m not crazy!” Jeff roared.

“I knew that bastard Robin was a fraud the moment I laid eyes on him!”

“He schemed to swindle those old women out of their money, dressing himself up like a successful person. In reality, his behind-the-scenes dealings were utterly disgusting!”

At this point in Jeff’s speech, everyone in the room had been rendered speechless.

Was this guy trying to force Mr. Donovan to issue an execution order?

Noel was on the verge of tears.

Such a son screwed over his father, screwed him over completely!

Robin wiped the three black chess pieces in his hand with a wet wipe and started to laugh.

“Jeff. I’ve never been able to understand, we were complete strangers, with no connection at all, what exactly touched that dark heart of yours, causing you to hate me so much?”

“You repeatedly humiliated me, slinging mud at me. I couldn’t be bothered to argue with trash like you.”

“The first time, I let you go. The second time, I still didn’t want to bother with an ant like you. I was afraid that touching you would dirty my hands.”

“Today, this was the third time they provoked me!”

“Did you think humiliating me was a very enjoyable thing?”

“I wanted to tell you, humiliating me, that was a matter of life and death!”

Robin shook his head, tossing three impeccably clean black chess pieces into the air.

In an instant, a scent of death enveloped the presidential suite!

Three black chess pieces traced a graceful arc in mid-air, falling one by one onto the damp chessboard.

“Bang! Bang! Bang!”

Three crisp sounds, like the tolling of the death knell, trembled the hearts of everyone in the room.

At that moment, everyone was as if turned to stone.

Jeff pointed at Robin and laughed hysterically, “You, you’re playing mysterious...

09:18

As the last chess piece fell into the board, Jeff collapsed to the ground, coughing up blood.

“Jeff, what’s wrong with you?” Noel cried out, holding Jeff.

“He’s dead!” Robin said indifferently, tossing the wet cloth onto the chessboard.

09:18

Chapter 371 Insult

A spurt of fresh blood sprayed out.

As the last chess piece fell into the board, Jeff collapsed to the ground, coughing up blood.

“Jeff, what’s wrong with you?” Noel cried out, holding Jeff.

“He’s dead!” Robin said indifferently, tossing the wet cloth onto the chessboard.

Chapter 372 Who Is He?

As Robin’s words fell, the entire room instantly quieted down.

Immediately after, everyone instinctively looked at Jeff, only then noticing that he seemed to have really stopped breathing.

For a moment, Nia hadn’t realized what was going on.

Robin just said harsh words, and Jeff died?

Could there really be such strange things in this world?

She quickly ran to Jeff’s side, pressing her fingers against his carotid artery, there was no sign of life at all.

Based on her knowledge of battlefield first aid, she judged that Jeff had most likely died from a ruptured heart!

She rose and nodded at Donovan..

Confirmed Robin’s statement.

Although Randall and Chad remained calm, what was happening before their eyes was extremely shocking to them!

Chad cast a nonchalant glance at Robin, at that moment, his heart was pounding wildly.

The gaze of this young man was too similar to someone!

Chapter 372 Who Is He?

Randall was even more overwhelmed with emotions.

He was quickly sorting through all the information he had gathered in Hallcester during this period in his mind.

He felt that the goal he had been tirelessly pursuing for twenty years was getting closer and closer.

Noel screamed in breakdown, rushing madly towards Robin.

Donovan's guard stopped him.

Noel roared in fury, "You... you killed my son, I'll fight you to the end!"

"Presumptuous!" Donovan snapped coldly.

"Which eye of yours saw Mr. Bruce kill your son? Dare to spout nonsense again, and I'll blow your brains out with one shot!"

No sooner had Donovan finished speaking than the guard immediately pulled out his gun and pressed it against Noel's head..

Noel collapsed on the ground instantly, "He killed my son! Yet you openly shield him!"

Donovan shouted, "Noel, if you dare to slander Mr. Bruce again, there will be no Williams family in Hallcester. Get out immediately!"

Ethen walked up to him, "Noel, mourn! Submit your resignation at the city hall tomorrow, let this matter end here! Otherwise, the Finley family means what they say!"

Two plainclothes guards dragged Jeff's body and carried Noel out of the tavern through the private passage.

09:18

Chapter 372 Who Is He?

Several service staff quickly cleaned up the dirt in the room.

Inside the vast presidential suite, it was as quiet as if nothing had ever happened.

Randall looked at Robin's profile without any expression.

His heart was pounding violently.

At that moment, all he could see before his eyes was the scene from that night, when Tony, the head butler of the Lynch family, had died coughing up blood.

The night of the day Tony was preparing to kill Robin.

Randall's black-clad guards were virtually monitoring every move of Robin and Tony.

From the moment Tony and Robin appeared, there was never any sign of Robin making any movement throughout.

Tony's bizarre death still felt strange to him to this day.

Afterwards, Tony's autopsy report revealed that he had died due to a ruptured heart.

The heart ruptured without any external force.

Unless one situation, that is, the legendary Acoustic Attack.

As for whether this world actually has such a skill, no one could confirm.

The circumstances of Jeff's death were identical to Tony's.

Chapter 372 Who Is He?

If it really was Robin's doing.

So, how did he kill Jeff from a distance?

Randall pondered for a good while, then suddenly remembered the three chess pieces that Robin had previously thrown into the air.

Could the sound of a chess piece hitting the board kill Jeff?

It sounded too fantastical when spoken of

If that was indeed the case, such a method of murder was too terrifying!

Even the Lord Wyvern whom I followed back then, had never revealed such a technique.

Robin... Who exactly was Robin?

While Randall was shocked, Chad was also terrified.

He had witnessed such a scene twenty years ago in Dragon Chaining Prison.

Back then, the top three guards from the Londraland Court of Censors in the Dragon Chaining Prison also died of heart rupture!

He clearly remembered, the deathly appearance of those three expert guards was exactly the same as Jeff's.

At that time, the case was concealed by the Londraland Court of Censors.

In the Londraland Court of Censors, aside from him and the then dean, no one knew the truth about the deaths of the three expert guards of the

09.19

Chapter 372 Who Is He?

Londraland Court of Censors.

This secret had been hidden in his heart for twenty years.

Seeing such a scene suddenly today, Chad was breaking out in a cold.

sweat

Could there actually be identical methods of murder in this world?

"Mr. Ethen!" Outside the presidential suite, a guard from the Finley family respectfully said.

Something happened in front of the hotel."

Ethen was slightly taken aback, "What matter?"

“Mr. Ethen, fifty co-developers of the Eastern District Development Corporation were collectively clamoring to immediately re-sign an investment contract with the Huber Group.”

“They claimed that if they could not modify the contract for cooperative development today, they would terminate the contract with the Huber family!”

Ethen exclaimed in surprise. “Fifty developers want to terminate their cooperative development contract with the Huber Group for the Eastern Business District?”

If so, the Huber Group would likely have suffered a devastating blow.

He looked up at Robin, “Mr. Bruce, did you know about this?”

Robin nodded. “Understood.”

“Mr. Bruce, how had you decided to handle this matter?”

Robin said directly, “You have fifty investors elect two or three representatives to come up to the third floor, and we can talk while we

Ethen nodded. “Alright, Mr. Bruce, I’ll arrange it right away.”

Robin looked up at Chad, “Mr. Jensen, let’s call it a day for the chess game. Til seek your guidance again when there’s a chance.”

Chad gave a bitter smile, clasping his hands together, “Mr. Bruce, after today, I dare not falsely claim to be a Go Grandmaster anymore!”

Robin gave a nonchalant smile. “Mr. Donovan, let’s go down and see what these developers really want to do!”

Chapter 373 The Distinguished Guests

Robin and Ethen walked out of the presidential suite together.

Nia followed them for a couple of steps before suddenly stopping, turning around, and returning to Randall and Donovan,

“Randall, Grandpa, I wanted to ask, was Jeff’s death related to Robin?”

Randall nodded. “Somewhat related!”

Nia was taken aback, “You mean Robin killed Jeff by some extreme means?”

Randall shook his head, “How can you say that? Did you see Robin start a fight?”

Nia shook her head, "I didn't see it."

"Isn't that just right?" Randall said indifferently.

"I said Jeff's death was related to Robin because he was so envious of Robin's talent that he was extremely frustrated and died of a heart attack."

"There were people in history who were literally angered to death!"

"With such a narrow mind, it's a wonder they didn't die!"

Nia looked at Randall's calm expression, unable to decipher his true intentions.

She held Donovan's arm and asked, "Grandpa, is that so?"

Donovan nodded, "Yes. You're right, Randall."

"Let's go, we should head to the banquet hall on the third floor, they were still waiting for me."

Nia was skeptical, always feeling that the way the two old fellows spoke was a bit strange.

Knowing that no further questions would yield any results, I had no choice but to turn around and walk away.

"Mr. Jensen, wait a moment." Randall stood in front of him.

Chad suddenly looked up, "General Allen, do you have any questions?"

"Mr. Jensen, I wanted to ask, what was your view on the matter with Robin today?"

Chad gave a bitter smile, "Such a talented young man! Even if I studied chess for another twenty years, I wouldn't be as good as him. I'm truly ashamed!"

"If I hadn't played a game with it today, it would have been a regret in my life!"

"Even, we didn't know that we had such a Go genius in Londraland."

Randall shook his head, “Mr. Jensen, that’s not what I meant. What I meant was, what is your opinion of Robin?”

“Very good! Absolutely a talent!” Chad praised.

09:19

“Despite being ostentatious, he was truly talented and knowledgeable.”

“It’s normal for a young man like Robin to have such a proud personality. because he has the capital to be proud!”

Randall shook his head with a smile.

He exchanged a glance with Donovan, knowing he couldn’t possibly ask anything.

Chad, the old fox, was too tight-lipped.

***

The recovery celebration for Donovan was on the third floor.

The guests who entered this floor were the highest-ranking guests at the banquet.

There were three dining tables in the banquet hall on the third floor.

One table was occupied by the top ten tycoons of Hashville.

President of Elliott Realty, Brendan Elliott, Warren Howell of the Howell Group.

Cesar Sims of Sims Realty, Leo Alvarado of the Alvarado family, and others.

The table next to several tycoons from Hashville was occupied by several major families from Hallcester.

Harold, Nathen, Conway, Cecilia were the four major wealthy families.

09:19

Chapter 373 The Distinguished Guests

And the President of the Thompson Group, Crystal, who later entered the top ten in Halleester.

Albert Joan and his son Krish from Joan Real Estate..

Also present were Hallcester's wealthy individuals like Ryan Wilde from the Wilde family.

The innermost table was arranged for Donovan and his son, along with several officials from the political and military circles of Hallcester.

The three tables of guests on the third floor could be said to be of the highest level in Hallcester.

Robin came to the third floor hall with Ethen, Nia and others.

Devin stood up to greet, "Mr. Bruce, please sit here."

Robin was invited by Devin to the table where the military and political figures of Hallcester were seated.

Immediately attracted the attention of all the guests.

In their view, anyone who could receive such courtesy from the Finley family must have had a very powerful background.

The heads of the families in Hashville, each worth billions, were not qualified to sit at Mr. Donovan's table.

This young man actually had the qualifications to sit there, they began to inquire about information concerning Robin.

"Was this the young master from a wealthy family in Draccastle?"

09:19

Chapter 373 The Distinguished Guests

"I don't know. I've never heard of any wealthy scion from a prominent. family in Hallcester."

"Look, Mr. Donovan and Mr. Jensen, as well as General Allen, all seemed to hold this young man in high regard."

"With such a posture, it's estimated not to be the young master of an ordinary wealthy family, but must be the son of a top-tier wealthy family."

"Wait a moment, we were going to pay a visit."

Elsie and Nathen, who were sitting at the Hallcester family's table, were also bewildered by the scene before them.

It was originally thought that Robin, given his identity, could not possibly enter the banquet hall of the tavern.

However, Robin not only attended the banquet, but also sat at the highest seat of the feast.

What was even more surprising was that after Mr. Donovan took his seat at the head of the table, he actually pulled Robin to sit next to him.

The other side was Mr. Jensen and Randall.

Such a scene inevitably led all those present to start speculating.

Who exactly was Robin, and what kind of impressive background did he have that he could be on par with Mr. Donovan, General Allen, and Mr. Jensen?

For a moment, in the third floor banquet hall, dozens of pairs of eyes

09:19

simultaneously sized up and speculated about this handsome and elegant young man

Donovan and the others had just settled down when the Finley family's guard arrived at the third floor reception area with two middle-aged men, "You guys wait here for a bit."

After hearing the report from the guard. Ethen went to the reception area.

"Why did you fifty developers have to bring up the contract dispute between you and the Huber Group at the Finley family's celebration banquet?"

"Was it an attempt to deliberately cause trouble and embarrass the Finley family?"

Chapter 374 Fifty Developers Challenge the Huber Family

The two representatives of the developer cooperating with the Eastern Business District.

They were Gerardo Meyer of Meyer Development Corporation and Edwin Cruz of Cruz Constructions.

The two people, sensing anger and a hint of threat in Ethen's words, immediately stood up.

"Mr. Ethen, we also had our unspeakable secrets."

"If we hadn't brought up this issue at Mr. Donovan's celebration, the Huber family wouldn't have even considered negotiating with us directly."

Ethen frowned, asking, "What's the matter?"

Gerardo immediately said, "We, the fifty developers of the Eastern Business District, unanimously believe that the contract originally signed with us by the Huber family was entirely fraudulent and coercive."

"Therefore, we demanded that the Huber family must sign a new contract with us, changing the stipulated investment projects in the original contract to our independent investment projects."

Ethen gestured for the two to sit down.

"To the best of my knowledge, at the beginning of the cooperative development of the Eastern Business District, the investment cooperation contract between the Huber family and you was entirely established according to the overall framework planning document for the Eastern District development by the Merchants Bureau and the Department of City Planning."

"The Huber Group also submitted the cooperation contract you signed to the city government for record."

"After the review by the relevant departments of the city government, there were no issues."

"There was absolutely no contract fraud as you claimed, nor any violation of the city government's planning and development guidelines."

“What did it mean when you all gathered together and caused trouble for no reason?”

“Besides, you didn’t raise any objections when you first signed the contract with the Huber Group.”

“You all have already started undertaking the project in Eastern District for three months, each of you has invested a large amount of money.”

“Not only was there a huge amount of capital invested by you, but the Huber Group also devoted all its efforts to the industry in the Eastern District.”

“The city government and various financial institutions also provided. strong support.”

“Did you fifty collaborating developers suddenly make a move? Is this a challenge to the city government’s overall urban planning?”

16.03%

09.19

Gerardo, the president of Meyer Development Corporation, gave a bitter smile.

“Mr. Ethen, you were the parent official of Hallcester, you were right. the city government did plan it that way.”

“However, reality was not as simple as you from the Department of City Planning and Merchants Bureau sketching charts on paper.”

“The market was ever-changing, and we, as developers, collaborated with the Huber Group for the sole purpose of making money.”

“Now, this contract with the Huber Group severely limited our own development. It was very difficult for us to continue.”

“We had just united to demand that the Huber family renegotiate the contract changes with us.”

“They said it was a change, but it was just a modification of one clause.”

“However, the Huber family repeatedly refused our requests, leaving us with no choice but to demand an explanation from the Huber family at Mr. Donovan’s banquet today.”

“Otherwise, how could we have had the ability to compete with a powerful family like the Huber family?”

“They were the wealthiest group in Hallcaster.”

“We had no choice but to offend the old man. We hoped Mr. Ethen could stand up for us.”

Gerardo’s words immediately sparked a discussion among the Hashville elites.

35.79%

“They were right, the Huber family was a colossal presence in Hallcaster. Trying to reason with them was not an easy task.”

“The contract for the development of the Eastern Business District, they only signed it after negotiations, isn’t it a bit unscrupulous to back out. now?”

“True, but the law does not punish the many. The Huber family had invested hundreds of billions into the Eastern Business District. If all fifty investors fail to fulfill their contracts, the Huber family might be dragged down by them.”

Harold and Karina got up and walked to the reception area.

Karina said coldly, “Mr. Meyer, Mr. Cruz, originally the Huber Group invested hundreds of billions into the Eastern Business District, aiming to create a green living and leisure shopping center in Hallcaster.”

“The overall planning of the business district aimed to benefit the people of Hallcaster and fully met the requirements of the city government.”

“Back then, you saw the Eastern Business District as a big piece of fat meat, and you were desperate to cooperate with the Huber family to share this cake.”

“The Huber Group, in order to give back to the elders and folks of Hallcaster, rejected more powerful investors nationwide and chose to collaborate with you, sharing the wealth of the Eastern Business District together.”

“You all knew in your hearts, what kind of return you would get from the investment in the Eastern Business District.”

“The initial cooperative development contract was voluntarily signed by you, no one forced you. Where do the allegations of fraud and coercion come from?”

Gerardo and Edwin, faced with Karina’s indifferent words, suddenly didn’t know how to respond.

Nathen stood up and said, “Ms. Huber, it’s not fair for you to speak like this. Mr. Meyer and Mr. Cruz worked hard to earn their money, it wasn’t easy for them.”

“Unlike you, the Huber family, who had a substantial fortune, could afford to play.”

The Huber family invested in the Eastern Business District, keeping all the highly profitable projects for themselves, and left the less profitable, even loss-making projects to others.

It was also stipulated in the original contract that they could never alter the investment development of the original project.

“Everyone, think about it, was this equal cooperation? Was this sharing the cake of the Eastern Business District with them?”

“This was entirely about having these fifty developers pave the way for the Huber family.”

Nathen’s words sparked a murmur of discussion within the banquet hall on the third floor.

“Looking at it this way, the actions of the Huber family were indeed quite unscrupulous. They were clearly throwing their weight around due to their wealth, bullying those businesses with weak capital. This was not cooperation at all. it was completely bloodsucking.”

74.64%

“If it were me. I also wouldn’t be willing to accept such a method of cooperation.”

Inside the banquet hall on the third floor, several major families of Hashville, including some merchants from Hallcester. had all turned their spears towards Harold and Karina.

Chapter 375 Conflict

Harold coldly looked at Nathen standing in the banquet hall.

Understood the underlying reason.

Why had the fifty investors of the Eastern Business District repeatedly requested the Huber Group to change the cooperation contract recently?

Moreover, they collectively pressured the Huber family at Mr. Donovan's banquet today.

Turns out. Nathen was the one pulling the strings behind the scenes.

Today. Nathen finally stood on the stage..

This was a joint effort by fifty developers, leveraging the power of numerous top-tier families in Hashville, to force the Huber family into making concessions and compromises.

Nathen had planned this for a long time, he came prepared!

Karina sneered, "The cooperation investment in the Eastern Business District is a holistic operational model."

"In the plan developed by the Huber Group in the Eastern District, the aim was to create a win-win ecological business district."

"There simply wasn't an issue of which project was profitable and which was losing money."

0.00%

"There was even less truth to the claim of profiting massively by stepping on the corpses of fitly cooperative developers.

"After the Eastern Business District was established, it faced the market as a whole commercial environment. Was there ever a distinction between good and bad projects?"

"The projects owned by the Huber family were all massive investments. "

"The projects allocated to the other fifty partners were some smaller, scattered projects."

"This allocation was also to take care of the capital strength of these development partners."

“Mr. Meyer. Mr. Cruz, which one of you has the financial capacity to take on the project being planned by the Huber family?”

“I had clearly told you when we initially signed the cooperation agreement!”

“Now you suddenly demand to change the cooperation contract, don’t you think this is a joke?”

“You all are adults, and also leaders who manage your own businesses. With such inconsistency, I want to ask, where is your spirit of contract?”

Gerardo and Edwin immediately stood up from the sofa, awkwardly unsure of how to respond..

Nathen started to laugh.

“Karina, you’ve spoken so many grandiose principles, they seem quite

15.79%

night Hehe

“Actually, you were worried that the hundreds of billions of funds invested by the Huber family would turn into nothing!”

“You had others pick up the tab for the Huber family, the Huber family’s calculations were too cunning.”

Nathen said this and walked over to the dining table where Mr. Donovan was sitting.

“Ladies and Gentlemen, the Huber family, for their own selfish interests, did not hesitate to sacrifice the interests of many businesses. This kind of single monopoly–style development would make it impossible for many small businesses to survive.”

Continuing in this way was extremely detrimental to the overall development of the market economy in Hallcester.

“I thought there was no problem with Mr. Meyer, Mr. Cruz, and their fifty merchants requesting changes to the investment project provisions. in the cooperation contract.”

“Today, right at Mr. Donovan’s banquet, let’s bring up this matter. Let’s see if the Eastern District Development Corporation has distributed this cake fairly?”

“We couldn’t possibly let the Huber Group be the only one to make all the money in Hallcester, leaving others with nothing but scraps, or even less than that.”

“The Huber family dominated the economic market in Hallcester, how could other small businesses possibly survive?”

33.89%

09:20

Donovan, Ethen, Devin, and others did not express any opinions.

Nathen then turned to the table of the several prominent families in Hashville.

“All of you are the top representatives of Hashville’s economy, and also the economic pillars of our Hashville State.”

“From your perspective, was the Huber family too domineering, too extreme, and too unscrupulous in their actions?”

“Was it wrong for Mr. Meyer and Mr. Cruz to band together to fight for some benefits from the Huber family, as they struggled to survive and earn a living?”

“So it’s just about changing the category of each company’s investment projects in the Eastern District, why must the Huber family force them to only invest in one type of project? Isn’t such a cooperation contract too arbitrary?”

The heads of several prominent families in Hashville also nodded in agreement.

“Mr. Reynell was right,” said the Huber family, “we’re making money, but we can’t just ignore the interests of others, can we? There’s enough for everyone to earn, isn’t there?”

“You couldn’t just rely on the fact that you controlled some resources and not give others a way out!”

“Doing business wasn’t easy for people like Mr. Meyer and Mr. Cruz. The little money they earned was hard-earned. The Huber family was so big, why did they have to be so ruthless?”

“Be more generous, the contract was changed, allowing these small businesses to make some profit too.”

“All the money can’t go to the Huber family!”

A crowd of people were echoing Nathen’s accusations against Karina and Harold in a cacophony of voices.

They had evidently become the target of everyone in the third floor banquet hall.

Karina sneered. “Your purpose is too obvious!”

“Nathen, ever since the Huber family won the bid for the development rights of the Eastern Business District, you’ve been scheming to sabotage it.”

“At that time. in order to balance the interests of the Eastern Business District, the Huber family generously shared a portion of their development rights with several major financial groups in Hallcester, and your Reynell family was also a beneficiary.”

The part developed by the Huber family was later evenly distributed to some investment developers, namely Mr. Meyer, Mr. Cruz and others. allowing them to share the future development benefits of the Eastern Business District.

“And yet, you were always stirring up trouble behind my back!”

“Even if the Huber family shared most of their profits, you were still inciting them to cause trouble!”

“Nathen, your way of doing business was too unsightly!”

Karina looked coldly at Gerardo and Edwin, “And you two!”

“Do you still remember how much you longed to share this piece of cake with the Huber family before the contract was signed?”

“The Huber family gave you such a huge discount, yet you repaid their kindness with ingratitude, swayed by Nathen’s malicious instigation!”

“The Huber family truly experienced the saying, ‘A favor is repaid with a bushel of rice, a grudge is repaid with a stone of rice!’” f the city.

As of now, all the invested liquid funds had not yet started to be withdrawn.

Once the EBD project was stalled, if no stronger partners intervened in time, the Huber family’s financial chain would quickly collapse.

Such a situation was foreseeable, the Huber family’s empire could collapse overnight.

“Did you guys plan this against the Huber family?”

At that moment, Gerardo also went all out, saying righteously, “Mr. Huber, we are also risking our lives! This is a move of desperation!”

“We didn’t want to work for you, the Huber family, for nothing!”

“Let’s lay our cards on the table with Mr. Huber! Mr. Huber, if you give a little, we can continue to work together.”

“If the Huber family insisted on adhering to the original contract, we would have no choice but to take the step that no one wanted to see!”

38.85%

“Mr. Reynell also told us that with this kind of echoic contract, even if we go to court, we wouldn’t necessarily lose!”

Harold suddenly paused, he certainly understood Gerardo’s meaning!

If it came to court, even if the Huber family could ultimately win the lawsuit, the lawsuit would still be indefinitely prolonged.

At that time, the Huber family’s investment in the Eastern District was going to reach a deadlock.

A project with legal disputes, during which no investors were willing to cooperate with the Huber family.

According to the current volume of the Huber family's liquid capital, it was simply impossible to support the entire Eastern Business District.

Moreover, once a lawsuit was initiated, the projects undertaken by the fifty companies could not be recovered temporarily.

Fifty cooperative investors couldn't wait, and the Huber family couldn't wait even more.

At that time, their termination of the contract with the Huber Group also foreshadowed the bankruptcy of the Huber family.

Unless the contract was terminated, miraculously, over a hundred billion in funds were directly injected.

Such a situation, it was minuscule!

Harold began to weigh things intensely in his heart.

09:20

Chapter 376 Terminate the Contract with the Hu...

This was a life-or-death decision for the Huber family!

Nathen stepped forward, smiling and said, "Mr. Huber, it's always better to do business in a friendly manner."

"Since both Mr. Meyer and Mr. Cruz mentioned amending the treaty regarding the change of investment project categories, the collaboration could continue."

"What I meant was, if you guys took a step back and agreed with Mr. Meyer and his team, everyone would be happy!"

The major families in Hashville also echoed Nathen.

The president of Elliott Realty, Brendan, stood up and said, "Mr. Harold, you've made so much money in most of your life, it wouldn't hurt to let a little profit go. Don't be so stingy, haha..."

Warren from the Howell Group also nodded, "Ms. Huber, it's been years, and you're still as stubborn as ever. As the saying goes, 'take a step back and the sky's the limit.' What's the big deal in agreeing to their demands?"

Cesar chuckled. "Harold, even if you gave them the entire EBD project, the Huber family could handle it. Just agree to this small matter, why make it so unpleasant?"

Chapter 377 I Unconditionally Agree to All Your Decisions

Everyone in the third floor banquet hall had realized that Nathen had already arranged this charade with several major families in Hashville.

Their purpose was clear, it was to target the Huber family.

At that time, this trend was preparing to put the Huber family in a deadly situation.

Harold suddenly felt dizzy.

The project of the Eastern Business District could have potentially plunged the Huber family into an abyss.

Karina glanced around the banquet hall at the hungry wolf-like gazes, and gave a cold smile.

If the Huber family had fallen today, they would have pounced without hesitation to tear and bite.

She looked coldly at Gerardo and Edwin, "Were you serious about what you just said?"

"Did all fifty of you unanimously request to terminate the contract if the Huber family did not agree to the terms of changing the investment project category?"

Gerardo hesitated slightly, "Ms. Huber, please understand our difficulties..."

Karina interrupted his explanation, coldly questioning, "I'm asking you, if the Huber family doesn't change the contract, are you absolutely certain you want to terminate the contract with the Huber family?"

"This..." Faced with Karina's indifferent questioning, Gerardo broke out in a cold sweat for a moment.

"Answer me!" Karina commanded coldly.

In an instant, the banquet hall on the third floor fell silent.

Everyone looked at the young lady of the Huber family.

This president of the Huber Group, known as the first goddess of Hallcester, was as domineering as Harold was in his time!

Gerardo and Edwin were completely overpowered by Karina's aura.

Seeing this scene, Nathen laughed, "Mr. Meyer, could you have survived if you hadn't terminated the contract?"

Gerardo and Edwin suddenly gained confidence.

Nathen had promised them before.

If they could successfully pressure the Huber family to change the specificity clause of the investment cooperation project, or even facilitate a collective termination, forcing the Huber family to abandon the EBD project.

He would help them share this big cake of the Huber family.

Gerardo wiped the sweat from his forehead, mustered up the courage and said. "Ms. Huber, please also consider the issues we have raised seriously."

"If you, the Huber family, insisted on not changing that clause of the investment project, we, the fifty of us, decided to terminate the contract!"

Upon hearing Gerardo's words, Karina suddenly became a bit nervous.

Despite Robin having told her before that she could cancel all contracts with them.

However, when she truly confronted the issue, she began to hesitate.

She understood, once she terminated contracts with fifty investors.

If a huge amount of capital had not intervened in time, what would the Huber family have faced!

Karina looked up at her grandfather.

At that moment, Harold's expression was extremely solemn.

This decision was a matter of life and death for the Huber family!

Nathen laughed out loud, "Mr. Harold, Karina, do you still need to consider such a simple question?"

"Mr. Meyer and his team had already proposed a solution, either to modify the contract or to terminate it..."

"Let's terminate the contract then!" Robin interrupted Nathen, pointing at Gerardo and Edwin.

"Since fifty partners had already decided to terminate the contract, there was no need for further discussion."

The banquet hall fell silent once again, with everyone turning to look at Robin.

Harold's eyes were also sparkling!

Robin actually wanted to terminate the contract directly?

The tycoons of Hashville were quite puzzled.

"Who was he to represent the Huber family?"

Under the gaze of everyone, Robin walked to the center of the banquet hall on the third floor.

Nathen was stunned for a while, he didn't expect Robin to step up at this time, helping the Huber family make such a decision.

He burst out laughing. "Robin, this is the Huber family's business, who do you think you are?"

Robin chuckled lightly. "The President of Eastern District Development. Corporation, the largest shareholder of the Huber Group, is this onion. big enough?"

“Regarding the project collaboration issue of the Eastern Business District. I was the final decision maker.”

Nathen shook his head with a smile, “Mr. Harold, Robin will wipe out the Huber family completely.”

“If, initially, you had agreed to me being with Karina, I would have helped the Huber family handle this issue without hesitation, instead of rashly terminating the contract with Mr. Meyer and his associates.”

Karina snorted coldly, “The Huber family, no matter what situation, will never cooperate with a beast like you!”

Robin looked indifferently at Harold, “Mr. Harold, do you have any objections to my decision?”

Without a second thought, Harold immediately responded, “Mr. Bruce, whatever decision you make, I, Harold, will unconditionally agree.”

“If the contract was really terminated, it could possibly lead to the Huber family losing everything. Would you not regret it then?” Robin said indifferently.

Harold shook his head, “No regrets!”

“Mr. Bruce, without you, the Huber family would have been wiped out six months ago. Everything we have now is thanks to Mr. Bruce. How can we even talk about the Huber family losing everything?”

“I said, everyone in the Huber family would abide by Mr. Bruce’s decision!”

“Since Mr. Bruce mentioned terminating the contract, we could terminate it immediately!”

Robin gave a casual smile, “True! The wealth in this world, if it’s yours. no one can take it away. If it’s not, even if you scheme and plot, you won’t get it.”

“Alright, since Mr. Harold agreed, let’s terminate the contract!”

“Karina, notify Ms. Croft to handle their contract termination on site.”

“From today, these fifty merchants would never be able to share any dividends from the Huber Group again.”

Karina nodded and picked up her phone, “Ms. Croft, have you arrived?”

Karina’s phone was on speaker.

Everyone in the banquet hall heard her conversation with Karsyn.

Based on the content and tone of Karina and Karsyn’s conversation.

It could be inferred that the Huber family had already prepared to terminate contracts with fifty partners before the banquet.

At that moment, Gerardo and Edwin saw a hint of indifference on the faces of Karina and Harold.

They suddenly had a bad premonition.

Did the Huber family have any more tricks up their sleeve?

If so, they were finished.

In this high–stakes gamble, fifty investors were going to lose everything!

After a slight shock, Gerardo and Edwin calmed down again.

Despite Robin stepping forward as the President of Eastern District Development Corporation to demand a contract termination.

However, they would absolutely not believe that Robin truly had such great power to attract nearly 200 billion in capital investment into the Eastern Business District project after terminating the contract.

“Hahaha...”

Suddenly, a mocking laughter echoed in the silent third-floor banquet hall, startling everyone.

Elsie stood up and walked to the center of the banquet hall, mocking, “Karina. I really can’t understand, how could a lady like you entrust the fate of the Huber family to a loser?”

“I just found out, a lowlife thug who was dumped by the Brown family, was actually being treated like a treasure by you, hahaha...”

“What on earth did you, the Huber family, take that made this confused?”

“Did you not only give him an identity, shares, but also obey his every word. letting him mess with the Huber family’s property? Are you out of your mind?”

Karina ignored her.

With Nathen by her side, Elsie pointed at Robin and continued, “Robin, you’re really something! A low-level thug like you could actually play the Huber family around in circles! Haha...”

“Your comeback could almost make a book, I’ve even thought of a title for you. ‘The Road of a Loser’s Comeback! Hahaha...”

“What are you, daring to insult Mr. Bruce?!” Cecilia said coldly, “Livia, slap him!”

There was a gasp in the banquet hall.

“You... you dare to hit me!” Elsie, her vision filled with stars from Livia’s slap, took a moment to catch her breath before pointing at Livia and screaming.

Nathen’s face suddenly turned gloomy.

After all, Elsie appeared in the third floor banquet hall as his girlfriend.

When Livia hit Elsie in public, it was as if she had slapped Nathen in the face.

“Ms. Decker, Elsie is my girlfriend. You’re really not taking me, Nathen, into consideration with your actions!”

“No matter what, you couldn’t have laid a hand on Elsie out of respect for the Reynell family.”

“The Reynell family is worth nothing!” Cecilia said coldly.

“Control your wench, if she dares to offend Mr. Bruce again, I will kill her today, and you too!”

Cecilia’s words rang out like a thunderclap in the third floor banquet hall, causing everyone to hold their breath.

“Who was this woman, so fierce?”

Several bigwigs of the Hashville clan looked at Cecilia, whispering among themselves.

“She was Cecilia, known as the Purpeak Queen in Hallcester!”

Despite not yet understanding Randall’s identity.

However, judging by his imposing demeanor that commanded respect without anger, and the tone he used when speaking with Donovan.

Clearly, Randall’s status was no less than that of a figure like Donovan.

Moreover, he was a high-ranking military figure!

Even if Nathen was extremely wealthy, he would never dare to offend anyone in the military.

Those warlords, they wouldn’t reason with you.

Nathen took a deep breath, glared at Elsie, “Go back to your seat and shut up!”

He turned to Ethen, “Mr. Ethen, I want to ask, if all fifty investment partners of the Eastern Business District terminate their contracts, the Eastern Business District project will face a capital deficit of nearly two hundred billion. How will the Huber family manage the Eastern Business District?"

"To the best of my knowledge, the Eastern Business District was one of the most important development projects in the city government's five- year plan. If this were to delay the overall development of Hallcester, no one could bear such responsibility."

"If the Huber family was unable to continue carrying the production development project in the Eastern District, who would take over?"

Nathen mentioned that this issue was indeed imminent.

Ethen didn't know how big of a hand Robin actually had in doing this.

He glanced at Robin, who was expressionless at the moment, and said indifferently, "Mr. Reynell, it seems a bit too early to bring up this issue. Let's discuss it after the Huber family has finished dealing with the termination of the contract."

Nathen shook his head, "Mr. Ethen, it would be too late to deal with it by then."

"Not only would the Huber family disappear, but it would also bring many negative impacts to the EBD project."

"The Eastern Business District was likely to be stranded because of this, becoming a ruin."

"It was like a war, when the army was defeated, it was like a mountain. collapsing, the situation was already lost."

"In that case, no investor would be willing to initiate such a project again."

Ethen said in a deep voice, "What do you mean?"

“From your tone, can the Reynell family afford to inject nearly two hundred billion into the Eastern District?” Ethen asked with a sneer.

Nathen slapped his chest, “Of course I can!”

Ethen was immediately shocked, the Reynell family could come up with two hundred billion?

This was impossible!

Ethen snorted lightly, “Mr. Reynell, this isn’t just talk, investing isn’t about bragging!”

Nathen confidently said, “Wait a moment, you guys verify the opening...”

Ethen waved his hand and ignored him.

It was difficult for the Reynell family to come up with tens of billions of capital, let alone two trillion?!

He then turned to Robin and the others, “Mr. Bruce, Mr. Harold, Ms. Huber, how will you address the capital issues following the termination of the contract?”

Robin gave a faint smile, “Mr. Ethen, wait a moment. Let’s finish the matter of the termination contract first, then we can discuss the next issue.”

Ethen nodded.

“Ms. Huber, the termination contracts have been brought.” two guards from the Finley family, along with Karsyn and five legal personnel from the Huber Group, arrived at the third-floor banquet hall, carrying fifty termination contracts.

Robin pointed at Gerardo. "Sign it. Before you sign the termination contract. let me remind you that the original partnership project with Eastern District Development Corporation is legally binding."

"Even though you referred to them as additional contracts, it wasn't up to you to decide."

"At the time the contract was initially signed, it was not printed out. All the evidence was present, and it was after negotiations with the legal personnel of the Huber Group and your fifty companies that this contract was signed."

That is to say, the contract you had with the Huber Group, once breached, required a hefty penalty to be paid.

"Don't worry, the Huber family had been determined to keep fighting this lawsuit."

"Starting today, the Huber Group will establish a legal advisory group, recruiting the world's top professional economic contract dispute lawyers. This lawsuit will continue indefinitely, until all fifty of you have paid the penalty for breach of contract and project loss costs."

"A cooperative partner without a spirit of contract had to pay the price for this!"

09:26

Chapter 379 Why Should I Help Him?

"This lawsuit would absolutely not settle, until it was finally closed!"

What Gerardo and Edwin heard made them break out in a cold sweat

They understood what Robin was saying.

If the Huber family really could survive this financial crisis, they would have taken their fifty businesses to court.

Even if they lost everything, they still couldn't repay this amount of money.

This life was destined to end in endless debt!

They looked at Nathen, "Mr. Reynell..."

Nathen started to laugh.

“Robin, you’re overstepping with your words. How could the Huber family have initiated the EBD project in the Eastern Business District without a capital injection of two hundred billion?”

“Two hundred billion, where did you get that from? Hehe...”

Crystal, who had been sitting there without any expression, stood up.

“Ms. Huber, all our business came from you. As of now, the Thompson family can still muster up fifty billion in liquid assets. Starting today. I will have the corporation concentrate all its cash on EBD, which roughly adds up to nearly sixty billion.”

Karina and Harold nodded, “Thank you, Ms. Thompson, the Huber family will remember this favor of yours.”

51.14%

Cecilia said expressionlessly, “I offer seven billion.”

Conway thought for a moment, “Mr. Bruce, can I offer eight billion? If that’s not enough, I’ll find another way.”

Devin furrowed his brow

The contributions of these individuals were almost like a drop in the ocean for the massive project in the Eastern District.

He glanced at the table of the top families in Hashville, stood up and said, “Mr. Elliott, Mr. Howell, Mr. Sims... You should still have a lot of surplus capital in your hands. You should be clearer than me about the future development benefits of the Eastern Business District project.”

“I thought, at this time, if you were willing to step forward, the Huber family would never shortchange you on the profits from this project.”

“I was prepared to invest 10 billion, and for several of you, if you invested in the Eastern Business District at my scale, the capital issue of the Eastern Business District would be resolved.”

Brendan sneered, “Mr. Finley, we are not as wealthy as you, we are helpless in this matter.”

The head of the Howell family also shook his head: “Mr. Finley, I’m really sorry, but I’m currently very tight on funds. I just took on an overseas project, so I won’t be getting involved in this business of the Finley family and the Huber family with the Eastern District Development Corporation.”

Several other families also waved their hands, firmly refusing to participate in the investment cooperation with the Huber family.

Devin was suddenly stunned.

It was clear that they had teamed up with Nathen, intending to put the Huber family in mortal danger.

He sneered. “Mr. Elliott, are you really going to stick to your previous ideas?”

Brendan started laughing, pointing at Robin, “I initially thought he was some esteemed guest of the Finley family, a young master from a wealthy family? I just found out he’s a loser who was dumped by that minor clan, the Brown family.”

“The Huber family, oblivious to their folly, actually took in a lowlife. who was rejected and divorced by a second-rate family.”

“Ms. Huber is so blind, falling for this low-class nobody. Why should I help him? What is he worth?”

Chapter 380 Are You Rich?

As Brendan’s words fell, a few people at the Hashville noble’s table burst into laughter.

Warren from the Howell Group looked at Karina and Robin with a mocking gaze, shaking his head with a laugh.

“Mr. Elliott, you certainly spoke the truth. At first, I thought you were some rich family’s young master, haha, turns out you’re just a loser, hahaha...”

“Those poor souls nowadays really know how to present themselves. With only three thousand dollars to their name, they act as if they’re. earning three hundred thousand a month! Hahaha...”

“What a pity for the young lady of the Huber family from Hallcester, a beautiful flower stuck in cow dung!”

“The Huber family must be blind! I wouldn’t dare to collaborate with such a barefoot loser.”

Brendan slapped Warren on the shoulder, laughing so hard he was bending over backwards: “The poor loser at the bottom sure is cunning!”

“They schemed to win the favor of the rich young lady, all in the hope of getting something for nothing.”

“Every day, he was scheming about how to effortlessly leap into high society. I found such trash utterly disgusting.”

“The lowly mutt, no matter how luxuriously it dresses up, can never become a human, hahaha...”

Brendan’s mocking laughter was particularly grating in the silent third- floor banquet hall.

Devin’s face gradually darkened.

Cesar hastily pulled Brendan, “Mr. Elliott, sit down and have a glass of water.”

It was only then that Brendan noticed that Devin’s face was extremely embarrassed.

Despite the strong background of the Elliott family, they were not afraid of the Finley family.

However, characters at this level, no matter what grudges they might have against each other, rarely showed it openly.

He gave a dry laugh, “Devin, don’t overthink it, I was just casually expressing my opinion.”

“You know, I despised and hated those poor souls who had no ability, yet always thought of stealing from others!”

Speaking of this, he seemed to have more to say. He stood up, "Mr. Donovan, Mr. Devin, speaking of this, I would like to say a few more words, is that okay?"

Devin had wanted to stop him, but Donovan just nodded expressionlessly, "Go ahead, say whatever you have to say today! After this, there won't be a chance for us to sit together anymore."

Devin was slightly taken aback, he knew, the old man was already angry

Robin saved the old man's life.

According to the old man's principle of life, even if it meant exhausting all of the Finley family's resources, they had to repay Robin for saving their lives.

It was bad enough that Brendan was unwilling to lend a hand.

Incredibly, in front of everyone, Robin was repeatedly humiliated.

How could the old man tolerate his such insolence?!

Afterwards, all connections would definitely be used to suppress the Elliott family.

Brendan mistakenly took Mr. Donovan's words as an agreement with his views.

So, with even more arrogance, he got up from his seat, pointed at Robin and mocked.

"A few days ago, I heard Mr. Reynell say that some lowly creature popped out of nowhere, turning Hallcester into a complete mess!"

"So it was you, this loser! I thought it was someone really awesome!"

"Seeing you today, it really disappointed me, haha..."

"Kid, the circle of the rich is not something trash like you can trample

“Here’s the deal. let your granddaughter be my concubine, and I’ll pull out a billion or two to help you out! Hahaha...”

Brendan burst into hysterical laughter.

“Damn it!” Harold roared.

“Brendan, at your age, have you no shame at all?”

“Care about face?” Brendan sneered.

“Harold, do you have the nerve to face me? You’re about to become. penniless, what right do you have to discuss matters of face in front of

“You should still be considering how to convince me to accept your granddaughter’s company for a few days! Hehe...”

Nia wanted to stand up, but Ethen held her down.

Conway slammed the table. "Brendan, you're so shameless!"

The banquet hall fell silent in an instant, with everyone turning their gaze towards Hallcester, the Underground Demon King.

"Brendan, could you please do something good for yourself? Isn't it too disgraceful for someone of your status to say such things?!"

Brendan snorted, "Conway, you might be someone in Hallcester, but in all of Hashville, you're nothing. Believe it or not, I could kill you with my money!"
