

Love Rats 71

Chapter 71

No matter how reluctant and disgruntled Angie and Freya, the students in Selena's class, were, they did not dare to openly refuse the investigation.

The scene was so loud that it was impossible not to cause a sensation, and under the astonished eyes of the university students, Freya and a group of student were taken to the police station with their faces pale with fear.

And soon, the story was buzzing around within Creephia University.

Inside the police station.

Four people from the student council were brought along as witnesses.

The four's expressions were unpleasant. Creephia University was, after all, their alma mater, and to have such a scandal and to think of the storm that would follow would not make anyone happy.

Zachary watched the gloomy faces of the other three and looked up at Selena.

Selena, the victim, sat lazily on a bench on the other side, her long hair spread over her shoulders, her beautiful face with an expression that could not be described as detached or warm.

He couldn't hold his tongue, moving to sit in the chair next to Selena, scratching his hair and saying faintly, "Sorry."

Selena tilted her head, her gaze puzzled, didn't seem to understand why he was apologising to her.

Zachary smiled bitterly and pointed to himself, "I am handling all the things of the medical school on behalf of the student council, and those two cheating incidents were me in charge."

The punishment was still received by him in person.

He vaguely remembered that Freya had reported it along with the note and the two incidents of cheating, saying that the evidence was overwhelming and that when it was discovered, the student refused to admit it and contradicted the teacher in an extreme manner, demanding that that student be withdrawn from the school outright.

It was only later that the other teachers in the department decided that this punishment was too much and decided to give Selena a second chance in accordance with the usual practice, before it became an expulsion from school and a major offence.

This means that Selena can get her diploma, but even if she manages to graduate, she will not have a degree.

Selena's gaze flickered and said faintly, "No need."

Selena was just a stranger to Zachary and he had no obligation to stand up for her.

She smiled lightly and asked with interest, "And, Senior, how can you be sure that I didn't cheat?"

Zachary was amused, "You have a genius face, plus, if you really cheated, how dare you call the police so righteously?"

On the contrary, Freya, hearing that Selena had called the police, was close to having her panic written on her face.

Selena gave a smile.

Zachary looked at her smile and was in a bad mood.

Even though Selena said it was not necessary, he still felt overwhelmed.

He was a bright and open-minded person, at a time when he was full of vigour, and what he didn't lack was blood and justice, but under their noses, in the most beautiful life in school, this kind of thing happened to bully the weak and wrong others. He felt ashamed about it and dare not look into Selena's eyes.

And group consciousness is almost an instinct engraved in his bones. He wasn't that angry when the medical faculty bullied Selena, but when the medical faculty joined forces with students from other departments and blatantly bullied his students, Zachary couldn't tolerate that!

Chapter 72

He racked his brains and couldn't figure out what was wrong with the students' brains.

He was chagrined and he suddenly heard Selena's voice from beside him, "Senior."

Zachary blinked, "Selena?"

Selena's lips curled up into a smile, "As I recall, the exams at Creephia University are monitored, right?"

"Yes." Zachary vaguely guessed what Selena wanted to say and immediately reassured, "Don't worry, once the surveillance is checked, everyone will naturally know that you were wrongly accused and the school will definitely return you to justice."

Selena shook her head, cold intent flickering under her eyes, smiling, "I can't rest assured, I'm afraid that if I go late, that surveillance section will be gone, or, it has actually disappeared long ago."

"Impossible!" Zachary subconsciously retorted, and when he met Selena's clear eyes, somehow a feeling of sitting on pins and needles arose, "I'll go back and find it right now!"

It so happened that Billy received a call from the school, the medical department had little to do with Kash, and the other three went back to school together.

It was left to the president of student council and Selena to stay in the outer room, while inside, the police were routinely questioning a group of students.

It was almost impossible to hide what gossip was happening in the school. Selena was considered a infamous in Creephia University, and her affairs were so widely circulated among the students that they even became the joke of the whole campus after dinner at one time.

These students are barely able to resist the pressure of a police officer who is all square and battle-hardened.

Once asked, they all-admitted it.

But after the admission, something went wrong.

In the interrogation room, Charlotte sat on the interrogation chair, facing the police's questioning with a cold smile, "So what if I did it? Selena was so shameless, seducing Leah's fiancé, I just locked her up in the classroom overnight, I didn't beat her, she didn't break her arm or leg, what's wrong with me?"

The policeman frowned, "You're so righteous bullying a classmate."

"That's because Selena is shameless, it's our fault for bullying her, why didn't you guys mind when she was bullying Leah? We just helped the bullied classmate to fight back, what's wrong with us?"

"Don't think we're scared just because she called the police! With her character and what she has done, she deserves to be bullied!"

The two interrogating policemen looked across at the student with a condescending face, who didn't feel the slightest bit at fault, and looked at each other, both seeing the gloom in the other's eyes.

In ten minutes, the doors of several rooms opened.

A group of police officers came out, all looking worse for wear, and sat in their offices, asking, "What's the situation on your part?"

One of the officers tightened his brow, "What's wrong with the students in this class? Primary school students know that it is wrong to bully their classmates, and what they should do is to reconcile conflicts between classmates, but they are helping one side to bully and isolate the other side harder, without feeling that their actions are wrong in the slightest, as if they have been brainwashed."

"What happened on my side is that they admitted they were wrong, but they just feared the police, and the look in their eyes told me that they didn't really realise that what they were doing was wrong, it felt like, they knew school violence was wrong, but they felt they weren't school violence, they were doing justice."

"My side is a bit more serious, they did not admit their mistakes, said that why Selena did not go straight to jump off the building, if she dies, the school will have less a scourge. Is this what a good college student should say?!"

Several people looked at each other and saw the gloom on each other's faces.

Outside the office, the president of the student council was sullen.

Chapter 74

Selena agreed and hung up the phone.

As she had just put her phone down, she looked up to see Dominic striding in with a chilly look on his face, his eyes falling on her face with anger.

Selena raised her eyebrows faintly.

Angie was emboldened at first, but finally realised the seriousness of the situation when she saw the group of parents' outrageous crusade.

Seeing Dominic, like seeing the backbone, she ran over in a panic, crying, "Brother, you teach Selena a lesson, she bullied me again, she let the police arrest me to the police station, and let them arrest Leah."

Dominic looked at Angie's face that was frightened with tears, his expression was cold, he turned his head to look at Selena's cloudy expression, the anger in his heart that had been lingering since yesterday had found an outlet.

He looked at Selena angrily and said in boredom, "Selena, you never have enough, have you?!"

The president of student council, who witnessed the whole thing, spoke coldly, "Dominic, don't you even need to ask about what happened before you just convict her?"

Dominic's eyebrows twisted and he glanced at president of student council. Although he did not sit next to Selena, Dominic could not see another man defending Selena, so he coldly asked, "Who are you?"

"Ronin Goodwill, the president of the Creephia University student council." Ronin's face and eyes were indifferent, "What happened today was that Angie ran to the medical department and brought a group of students from the medical department to inflict violence on Selena, and was ran into by members of the student council, which led to this scene, if I say this and you still firmly believes that it is Selena's fault, then I have nothing to say."

Dominic's face changed slightly and he looked at Angie in a flabbergasted manner.

Angie's tear-stained face showed a trace of heartbreak, she was crying sadly, "I taught her a lesson today, it's my fault, but brother, she slapped me twice yesterday, you saw it all, I just wanted to teach her a lesson."

Dominic's face turned sullen and he gave her a fierce glare.

Angie sniffled, tears falling down, heartbroken, "Brother, how can you blame me? Ever since I was little, you guys have never touched a finger on me, what is Selena? She dared to slap me, I was in so much pain, even if you didn't help me, you still lectured me, I'm going back to tell dad."

Dominic met her tearful face, and again spared no blame.

She is, after all, his biological sister.

Angie is always cute and well-behaved, pampered and lively, just spoiled to be a bit brutal. He thinks Angie will not lay any cruel hands on Selena.

He turned to look at Selena and chided, "Selena, Angie was just joking with you, she won't really do anything to you, do you have to make a big deal out of it and cause a stir in the whole city?"

After hearing Dominic's words, Ronin instantly felt that he was wasting his breath and inclined his head to not want to say anything.

Selena propped up his chin with one hand, her mood became better after she got a call from Osvaldo, and his tone was not as cold as before.

She tilted her head slightly and looked at Dominic, asking lazily, "Dominic, what qualifications do you have to meddle in my affairs?"

Dominic clenched his fists, his face was gloomy.

Before yesterday, he was Selena's fiancé, and it would have made sense for him to mind her business.

But they had already cancellation the engagement, and he was no more than a stranger to Selena at the moment.

As a stranger, what right did he have to meddle in Selena's affairs?

What Selena did with her affairs had nothing to do with him at all.

Chapter 75

Not to mention accusing Selena.

Angie was so angry that she stomped her foot, hating Selena with a passion.

She had been trying to kick Selena away from Dominic before, but she didn't expect that after Selena had left Dominic, she would become so radiant, beautiful and elegant, which stirred up her jealousy more and more.

In her vision, Selena should be in tears and worse than dead after being dumped by Dominic.

Dominic's face turned white, the haze on his face growing as he sneered, "If it wasn't about Angie, do you think I'd be happy to bother with people like you?"

Some upright parents couldn't stand it anymore and accused him, "I've heard for a long time that the young master of the Walson family is young and talented, but you don't lecture your sister, but blame the victim. What a kind of family of the Walson family?"

"When ordinary people encounter this kind of thing, they would have been unable to bear it and jumped off the building. Selena didn't die because she was lucky, things have become so big, and you still don't reflect on yourself, don't discipline your sister, but puts all the fault on others, the Walson family in Creephia is no better than that!"

"If it wasn't for your arrogant and domineering sister, how would things have come to this? The Walson family will not discipline their daughter, sooner or later someone will do it for you!"

These parents had just learned that their sons and daughters of excellent character had a problem with their psychological outlook, and originally each was heartbroken, and no one could go out of their conscience to blame Selena, a lone victim. These parents could no longer suppress the anger in their hearts when they heard first-hand what the Walsh siblings had done.

Those students, sitting next to their parents, heard these words and subconsciously wanted to say something bad about Selena, but after being glared at by their own parents, they had to lower their heads indignantly.

It was only when Dominic heard a series of accusations that he was suddenly shocked to realise that things did not seem to be as simple as he had thought.

He turned his head and was confronted by angry faces, the group of people glaring viciously at Angie as if she was a guilty sinner.

He looked at Selena's clear eyes and stared into Angie's eyes and snapped his voice, "What the hell is going on?!"

Angie cowered, lowered her head, her mouth flattened, about to cry, "Brother, it's really not my fault, it's Selena who's wrong."

"Still not admitting your fault?!" A parent shot up, "If you hadn't run to the medical school to urge those kids and twist the facts, how could they have done such an outrageous thing to their fellow classmate? If you hadn't called Olympus Group's PR department, how could this have happened today? This is the first time I've heard that it's the victim's fault for calling the police!"

Charlotte tugged at his sleeve and said indignantly, "Dad, don't just scold us, you have no idea what kind of person Selena is--"

"Shut up!" Her father gave her a cold glance, "I'm not so old that I can see who's right and who's wrong!"

Charlotte's eyes were red with aggression, holding back her tears, she sniffled, not daring to say another word.

Angie was taken aback and her face went white as she scrambled to hide behind Dominic.

Dominic stared down at Angie, his brows knitted together as he asked in a cold voice, "Why did you call Olympus Group's PR department?"

Angie flattened her mouth and sobbed, "School will start soon, I just want Selena to come back to class."

Dominic's face gradually turned somber.

Chapter 76

Even if he was being biased towards Angie, he knew that her dislike for Selena could not really have just let her come back to class, and she must have done something more outrageous later.

Dominic looked at the dozen parents present, took a deep breath, turned his head to the policeman in charge and was about to speak.

Suddenly Selena opened her mouth, her tone soft and faint, permeated with ice-cold coolness, "Dominic, Leah told the students in this class that you were her childhood friend, and it was I who relied on my status as the eldest lady of the Riddle family, saying that she was the daughter born of a mistress and was not worthy of you at all, and used despicable means to have Cyril forcefully set up a marriage contract for us, before snatching you from her.”

She looked straight at Leah, who had hurriedly arrived from outside the gate, asked with a smile, “Do you have anything to say about this matter?”

Dominic was suddenly stunned.

Leah, who had just received the summons call, could not catch her breath before she heard Selena’s questioning, and her face twisted.

She stared deadily at Selena, a cold venom seemingly seeping out from under her eyes, but that look of resentment only lasted for a few seconds, and in an instant, she was back to her delicate and haggard appearance.

She straightened her dress and walked over slowly, her voice neither too high nor too low, with the characteristic reserve of a famous family’s daughter, her head bowed, her posture looking extremely well-behaved, “Hello, I am Selena’s sister, Leah.”

The parents all looked at her coldly, their faces unabashedly displeased.

A mistress is personally repulsive, and although it is said that her daughter is innocent, if she is restless, it is no wonder that people do not like her.

Originally, Leah’s delicate and soft appearance could easily make people feel good about her, but with Selena’s stunning posture in the first place, there was nothing stunning about looking at Leah again.

Immediately, a parent asked in a cold voice, “Dominic, you still haven’t answered Selena’s question, is what Leah said true or not?”

Psychologists say that to turn their children’s thinking around, they must first be made to fundamentally realise that their perceptions are wrong.

Leah’s face changed as she clenched her teeth, her slender body trembling slightly.

Selena was just too fast!

Before she could even begin to figure out Selena’s sudden change and the change of Dominic and his mother, she had taken the school matter to the police station without giving her any chance to react or prepare.

Damn Selena!

She bit her lip and looked up at Dominic, her eyes covered with pleading, and shook her head imperceptibly.

Those students saw Leah walking with a limp and her face pale, who had never been dull and haggard before.

Thinking about what happened at the engagement party yesterday from Angie's mouth, the disgust in their eyes for Selena grew deeper and deeper.

"Leah, tell my dad how Selena bullied you at home."

"Tell my mother and the police how Selena slandered you for cheating."

"The police said that we joined forces to bully Selena and isolate her, we did wrong, but compared to what Selena did, we are already very nice. Leah, don't be afraid, we are still on your side, as long as you tell us those evil things Selena did, everyone will know that Selena is the one with corrupted character!"

Chapter 77

Leah bit her pale lips, her eyes filled with guilt and unease.

She looked at Selena, as if she felt afraid, her whole body trembled, choked up and said, "Selena, it is my fault alone, my existence makes you feel like an eyesore, I'm sorry."

There seemed to be a flash of pain on her face, and there seemed to be tears coming out of her eyes, such a look of aggression was so sincere that one could not bear to hurt her.

"But Selena, this is ultimately our family affair, there's no need to make such a fuss and drag innocent people into it, if dad knows about it..."

Leah clenched her red lips, her eyes were full of depression and sadness, she said in a dumb voice, "If you have anger, come at me alone, the students are innocent, we can't ruin their great future because of our sisters' grudges."

She sniffled, her eyes red, and looked at her pleadingly, seemingly heartbroken to the core, "Selena, please let them go, as long as you don't pursue this matter, I'm willing to do whatever you want me to do."

The corners of Selena's lips held an icy smile, she looked at Leah with a hint of playfulness, "Anything?"

Leah's heart tightened and cold sweat sprang up on her hands.

But she was well aware of how much this matter would affect her if it did get out of hand.

She was in a difficult position, and had to use a delaying tactic to pacify Selena first, and then-

A deceptively cold light swept across her eyes, but her expression was resolute as she looked at Selena, "Yes, as long as you can let go of this matter, I will promise you anything you want me to do."

Selena stared at Leah who was full of determination, cocked her head and smiled slightly, "What if I want you to voluntarily give up your right to inherit the Riddle family?"

Leah looked up at Selena, with a deadly stare.

Before she could say anything, Angie shouted in a spiteful manner, "Selena, don't go too far! The Riddle family belongs to Leah, who are you to compete with Leah?!"

Even Dominic paled slightly as he looked at Leah with worry, lest she might really agree to this excessive request because of her guilt towards Selena and her desire to clear the air with her.

Selena glanced at the tense and angry expressions of the two siblings of the Walson family, her eyes arrogant. She coldly smiled, full of disdain and mockery, "This is the first time I have heard that the daughter of a mistress has the qualification to squeeze out the eldest young lady born from the original spouse in an open and fair manner to inherit the family property. Miss Walson, are you out of your mind?"

Angie was extremely angry, her face was red, but she couldn't refute to refute Selena, she just coldly snorted in a petulant manner, "If the Riddle family is in your hand, it will be ruined by you. Do you have the ability to manage the company?! Leah can make the Riddle family better, the Riddle family should naturally be handed over to her!"

Selena's eyes were raised in a smile and her tone was clear and light as she let out a sneer, "The Riddle family was built up by my mother, and she, Leah, the illegitimate daughter of a mistress and the daughter of my mother's executioner, has the audacity to say that she wants to inherit the Riddle family? How can she have guts?"

Leah trembled heavily, a hint of sadness on her face.

Selena pulled up her hair, arrogantly justified, "I, Selena, am the only Miss of the Riddle family, born to inherit the Riddle family, as long as I am happy, even if I lose what belongs to me, play with it or give it away, that is still my pleasure. Furthermore, it is not the turn of an outsider like Miss Walson to dictate the affairs of my Riddle family!"

Chapter 78

Angie screamed in anger, wanting to pounce on Selena and tear her apart.

She was pulled back by Dominic.

Selena, no matter how unpleasant, was right about one thing, in the Riddle family's affairs, they, as outsiders at the moment, could never interfere openly.

It would raise suspicions that they have evil intentions.

He just looked at Leah with a worried and apprehensive look, his eyes full of guilt and helplessness.

Those students couldn't hold back any longer, and they spoke for Leah.

"Dad, you saw it? This is how Selena bullied Leah, she is such a vicious and unpleasant nature, we are right!"

That parent snorted coldly, "She is telling the truth. If I bring back an illegitimate daughter and stepmother, and give all your mother's hard-earned fortune to your half-sister and kick you out of the house, will you still be able to say that with a straight face?"

The girl's face went white and she was suddenly speechless.

That parent snorted coldly and looked at Leah, "Since you all defend Leah so much, I think her heart is truly good and beautiful, she should not covet what belongs to others. For the sake of your future and family harmony, I think she will definitely agree to Selena's proposal."

That girl said with certainty, "Of course, Leah has excellent character and education, is an internationally famous perfumer, always believes in independence. She knows her status and has never wanted to compete with Selena for anything, she even gave up the man she likes to Selena, naturally she won't lose her pride for the sake of the Riddle family's fortune! Without the Riddle family, she would definitely live an excellent life than Selena!"

The parent just sneered.

The group of students glared at Selena viciously with angry and irritated eyes.

Leah's usual image is really well maintained.

But there are times when this set-up for a perfect persona can turn her upside down.

Leah stiffened her body, her sharp nails embedded deep into her palm, her gaze staring straight at Selena, resentment covering her eyes.

Selena seemed not to see the scowl in her eyes, "This is the police station, there are ready-made lawyers and notaries, as long as you nod your head, someone will immediately send an agreement, as long as you sign on it, I will withdraw the charges and not pursue this matter anymore."

"And I will return to the Riddle family, as you have asked, and we will live together in peace as a family of four, and there will be no more conflicts."

"My soft and kind and righteous good sister, you are so excellent, and a genius and a perfumer, even without the Riddle family's fortune, you have no problem to support yourself, and perhaps you will become famous internationally.

The corners of Selena's lips hooked up with a hint of faint sarcasm, she asked, "A once and for all solution, good for everyone, Leah, do you agree or not?"

Chapter 79

Leah trembled heavily, biting her lips, seemingly holding back, or weighing, after a long time, before she squeezed out her voice with difficulty, "Selena, you know that the Riddle family's matters are not something I can decide."

Selena snorted faintly.

Dominic sighed with sudden relief.

Those students, however, were stunned and looked at Leah with an flabbergasted expression.

The parent who spoke just now seemed determined to educate her daughter, and coldly pursued her question, "Leah, it is true that the affairs of the Riddle family are not your decision to make, but this is not contradictory to you taking a personal stand and giving up the succession of the Riddle family. You are a grown-up now, as my daughter said, you are a talent, you can use your own talent to do justice to your birthright, rather than muddling through at will.”

“There’s no shame being a mistress’ daughter, what’s really shameful is that it’s bad from your heart.”

“If you don’t want to give up the Riddle family’s property, no one is in a position to blame you, after all, everyone has their own choice, but I wish you would tell the truth instead of having this specious attitude all the time and letting these children go on making mistakes again and again!”

Her tone had taken on a stern color by the end.

Leah trembled, seemingly stunned, and her face went white the next second.

Selena gave a faint laugh, “Leah, you always have to choose between fame and profit, you can’t have both!”

Leah stood shakily in place, a pair of tearful eyes looking forlornly at Selena, seemingly pushed to the limit, her expression somewhat desperate, her eyes holding a fierceness and threat that only Selena could see, “Selena, must you force me like this?”

Selena looked at the screen of her mobile phone, twenty minutes had passed since Osvaldo called, she didn’t have much time to waste with Leah.

She put the phone away and smiled towards Leah, no temperature at all in her eyes, “Since you don’t agree, there’s nothing more to say.”

She turned her eyes to Dominic with more than a hint of asperity and sneer, “Dominic, you haven’t answered my question!”

Dominic was abruptly stunned, suddenly remembering the question Selena had asked him earlier, only to be interrupted by Leah’s sudden arrival, but unexpectedly it was brought up again by Selena at this moment.

Selena smiled coldly, mockery showing in her eyes, “Leah said to the students in this class that you were originally a couple and that I was the third party who ruined your relationship, Dominic, tell everyone, is that really the truth?”

Dominic was horrified and raised his head to look at Leah, his eyes carrying a hint of complexity and some disbelief.

Leah wiped her tears from her eyes, seemingly too sad to contain herself, her soft body trembling lightly, her face full of fear and anxiety.

She glanced at Dominic, her gaze clearly mixed with some soft pleading, lowered her head again, standing there, her hair scattered, which looked inexplicably forlorn and lonely.

Although Dominic did not know what was going on here, Leah’s appearance at this moment was heartbreaking.

He had already aggravated her yesterday for the sake of Selena, she was injured, her reputation was ruined, she had just been forced by Selena, and was publicly accused by others of being of bad character. If he said wrong words, Leah, who was already exhausted, might not even be able to stay in school.

Selena was already notorious anyway, and there was little point in clarifying this or not.

Dominic took a deep breath to ease the almost suffocating feeling in his heart, threw away the trace of guilt in his heart and said in a deep voice, "I have long had a secret love affair with Leah, and if there was no that marriage contract, I would not have been an unmarried couple with you at all."

Chapter 80

When Dominic finished speaking, his eyes turned away in a panic, not daring to look directly into Selena's clear eyes for the first time.

Selena raised her eyebrows, her face not showing disappointment, her eyes covered with coldness and mockery. She lifted her hand and pressed it against her heart, soothing the bout of sadness coming from it.

When a man is scum, there is really no lower limit, even the last piece of pure land in Selena's heart, he can destroy it without mercy.

As soon as Dominic's words fell, Angie raised her chin and shouted in triumph, "I've already said it, Selena is a shameless bitch! She was angry that Leah's mother stole her father, so she used despicable means to steal my brother and wanted to take revenge on Leah. She doesn't really like my brother at all, my brother is just a tool for her to take revenge on Leah, she's a mean-hearted bitch--"

"Shut up!" Dominic interrupted her with a grimace

He could deny all, but he could not deny Selena's love for him.

He already had guilty for Selena, and at this moment, listening to his sister's nonsense, casually slandering and trampling on Selena's feelings for him, even he felt excessive, not to mention Selena who heard it herself.

There was not a single expression on Selena's face, she did not speak, frowning, her fingers resting on the position of her heart, seemingly uncomfortable, even her breathing was in disorder rhythm.

Ronin, who had been watching coldly, looked over with his eyes, "Not feeling well?"

Selena shook her head, staring at the two siblings of the Walson family, her face slightly white, "I will be fine in a moment."

Leah saw Selena's expression and lowered her head, suppressing a cold smile from the corner of her lips.

She thought she really didn't care anymore, but it was all an act!

Angie was reprimanded and tears fell down her face, "Brother, how can you be mean to me for that bitch-"

"Say one more word and you're out!" Dominic snapped. He had always thought that Angie was simple and that his relationship with Selena was a minor conflict between girls, but looking at Angie's expression at this moment, he suddenly realized that he had always thought things were too simple.

Seeing that he was really angry, Angie was so frightened that she covered her mouth at once.

Angie didn't say anything, but those students who disliked Selena were already provoked.

"Dad, you heard it all, Selena is a mistress, in order to get back at Leah, she even did such despicable things!"

"Mom, Leah is wrong about her origins, but Selena is corrupt in character, she not only used despicable means to steal her brother-in-law, she cheated at school and slandered Leah for cheating, she is the biggest disgrace to our Creephia University!"

"A third party who can destroy others, how good can her character be? Mum, you heard it all, Selena destroyed Leah's relationship, to use the person she liked to get back at her, it's really Selena's problem, we did nothing wrong!"

The group of people were shouting in anger, and a cold and suppressed voice suddenly rang out, "Selena is not the third party!"
