

Love Rats 91

Chapter 91

Dominic's face was calm and his eyes were deep, but he did not accuse Selena as he had done before.

Not to mention that he is no longer Selena's fiancé and is not in a position to blame her, but in terms of those school matters alone, in the final analysis, it is indeed Leah and Angie who are at fault.

It was Leah's hidden intentions and thoughtless mistakes, Angie's pushing and deliberate targeting that caused Selena to suffer those injustices.

Especially today at noon, Selena's pale and beautiful face kept dangling in front of his eyes, and whenever he was quiet, those dark and sad eyes would come to his mind.

Dominic felt a deep pathos and condemnation in those eyes, which made him terrified, uneasy, and even inexplicably agitated.

He is a scum, but he has a heart. He has been distant and ruthless towards Selena in these years because he feels that Selena is evil-minded, always hurting Leah and doing things that displease him, so he feels justified even if he cheats on her and is called a scum by others.

But once the truth revealed and told him that Selena was actually the victim of certain things, and that the person who was really at fault was Leah, there was an extra crack in the pride and inquiring mind that he had always prided himself on in front of Selena.

Especially when Selena has just decided to cancel the engagement.

Dominic was in a complicated state of mind, with a worried frown, and he lost his usual enthusiasm for the maid's provocations. He looked upstairs and said to the maid, "Let Leah rest well."

With that, he turned and left.

Upstairs.

Leah was sitting at the dressing table when she heard the closing of the door, she asked out loud, "What did he say?"

The maid walked in, her pace hurried, "Master Dominic didn't say anything, he just instructed you to get some rest."

Leah's eyes instantly went cold.

In the bright light, she looked at herself in the mirror, soft and charming, with a soft smile tickling the corners of her lips.

A moment later, she smiled, hooking her scarlet lips, full of tenderness, "Selena thought that by exposing the truth, she could really get the so-called justice?"

She gave a disdainful laugh, "As stupid and naive as ever!"

She picked up a comb to brush her hair and said to the maid behind her, "Watch Weibo tonight and come wake me up as soon as the official website of Creephia University posts."

"Okay."

After the maid went out, Leah put down her comb, picked up the mobile phone on the table and dialed a number out.

Chapter 92

The phone was picked up, Leah smiled, warm and moving, but her eyes were sinister and frightening, "My stupid sister is still thinking of turning over the table, you have to do something tonight."

On the other end of the line, a gentle and innocent woman's voice came out, "Hasn't she been played to death by you? Why would she suddenly want to turn the tables? After being bullied for so long, it's not easy for her to finally plan to do so. But it better be a bit challenging, or else it's a waste of my time."

Leah narrowed her eyes, and had suspect about Selena's transformation, but she could not figure it out, so she could only put them aside for the time being.

She hooked her scarlet lips slightly and said in a cold voice, "She's not like before now, she has Luke to back her up, so be careful."

The woman's careless voice stalled abruptly, "Luke?!"

"Luke Jordan."

After a few moments, the woman let out a vicious laugh, her voice becoming gentler, "She is lucky! But didn't she have Dominic to back her up before? Now Dominic has become yours. Luke is my man, she can't get her hands on him!"

Did Dominic really become hers?

Leah lowered her eyes, hiding the resentment under her eyes, and said warmly, "I know you like him, that's why I called you, and you help me watch the Weibo's opinion."

"Don't worry," the woman sneered, "I guarantee that the entire internet is cursing Selena, and I definitely won't see a single shred of scandal from you, Miss Riddle!"

At nine o'clock that night, a notice was posted on the official website of Creephia University, in response to the year-long persecution of Selena, a student of the university, by campus violence, as well as the two unexplained cheating incidents, two major vicious cases, which the university said would be investigated strictly to the end, to give justice to the victims, and to punish the sinners severely.

School violence has been the hottest topic in recent years, and Creephia University is one of the biggest names in Creephia. Almost as soon as this announcement was made, media reporters were like sharks that had smelled blood and rushed to Creephia University that night to track down the interviews.

At the same moment, the announcement was forwarded by several vloggers and then, at a rapid pace, it was hyped up. Selena went to Olympus Group in the afternoon to continue her studies with the director. She returned to the castle at 9pm and had dinner before freeing up her time to follow the aftermath of the campus incident.

She sat on the sofa, her brow languid, one hand lazily propped on her forehead, the other clicked on Weibo.

As soon as she accessed, her attention was drawn to a few headlines on the hotspot and she raised her eyebrows. Selena's eyes flickered for a moment, and her finger tapped into one of the headlines titled "Campus Violence at Creephia University", and then saw a flood of bad comments, almost lopsided, all cursing her.

Student A: Selena is a famous fool in our school, raking the bottom in every examination. She cheated in the examination and got caught by the teacher, but refused to admit it, this is the fact that everyone in Creephia University is witnessed, disgraceful to Creephia University. The whole university, up and down, from teachers to classmates, even the old cleaner, no one likes her.

Student B: I'm a student who doesn't know her, but I'm furious when I read this announcement. Selena cheated and wrongly accused others of cheating, there is no such thing as a hidden agenda, as for the so-called school violence, it's even more ridiculous. If people don't talk to her and don't ask her to join them in activities, that's so-called school violence, then this charge is too wrong for the students in that class of the Faculty of Medicine. The whole class doesn't like her, why doesn't she look for her own problems?

Student C: Huh! Laughing at this announcement, Selena's foolishness and ruthlessness is well-known in the noble circles of Creephia. A woman who was kicked out of her family by her father says that she has a grievance and that the bystanders are coldly violating her? What a joke! Creephia University is too unlucky to be morally kidnapped by such a student of bad morai character to be in the hot seat and become the laughing stock of the whole of Creephia, being ridiculed by Olnrith University. It's ridiculous!

Selena casually flipped through a few comments, looking light, no emotion could be seen on her face, but the look under her eyes was a touch of extreme coldness.

She put the phone aside and just as she looked up, she saw a slender, upright figure walking in through the door, with a stunning aura and dark, awe-inspiring eyes, indescribably handsome and charming.

With one hand propped up on her chin and her long hair scattered over her shoulders, Selena surveyed the scene for a moment with a look of pure admiration, the corners of her lips curled and a smile of admiration unconsciously appeared on her face.

Osvaldo's eyes fell on her face and seemed to lag for a moment, after determining what was going on, the cold aura around him instantly dispersed a lot. He walked over to Selena, his slender figure squatted down.

Sensing the concern in his eyes, Selena looked into his dark, deep eyes and gently shook her head down, smiling slightly, "It's alright."

Internet violence was indeed very hurtful to the kind and innocent Selena of old, and even caused her to become depressed and self-absorbed for a while.

But to her, it was just the whining of a bunch of people who had achieved nothing by clamouring for attention, and it had no effect at all.

What's more, at the moment, those remarks, at a glance, were professional smearers that Leah had found, so there was even less need to care.

The long, slender hand of Osvaldo gently brushed her eyelids, and his dignified, handsome face was suffused with a faint concern, "Do you need my help?"

Selena was not used to being so close to people, her long eyelashes trembled, but Osvaldo was her nominal husband, he was genuinely concerned for her and did not force her to fulfill her obligations as a wife, which was already kind and understanding, if she showed resistance to even his obvious concern, it was a bit too much.

Selena felt that strong hand brush tenderly from her face, her delicate cheek pressed against his warm palm, bringing a tingle, she held back the sudden strange rise in her heart, slightly tilted her head, a smile came through on her delicate and pretty face, "No, three days at the latest, there will be more people to help me scold back."

She doesn't care, but that doesn't mean she won't fight back.

When Osvaldo felt her resistance, his deep black pupils suddenly flashed with a strange look.

He looked at her deeply, his wife was really not the least bit self-conscious of having to rely on him.

Osvaldo's eyes were unpredictable, and he lowered his long eyelashes, suppressing the real emotions underneath them as he stood up and walked to the other end of the sofa.

As soon as he left, Selena's stress dropped and she sighed with relief.

She frowned slightly and looked straight at the man's dignified back, somewhat confused as to why she was nervous, when it was clear that this man had no ill will towards her.

Unable to think of an answer, Selena raised her fingers and pressed her brow, she suddenly heard the man's low, sexy voice, "I'll send someone to follow you tomorrow."

Selena was stunned and put her hand down, smiling faintly, "No, I'll go to school tomorrow."

Inside the campus, the group of students who had the deepest malice against her had been temporarily dissuaded from going home, and those remaining students, even if they were unhappy with her, no one dared to do anything too much at this point in the storm.

Osvaldo cursed his lips faintly, quietly watched Selena for a few seconds, saw the girl dropping her eyes in deep thought, obviously thinking about something.

The following day, at the entrance of Creephia University.

As soon as Selena revealed, she was surrounded by a group of reporters who were waiting for her.

“Lady Selena, please give your testimonial about school violence and cheating!”

“Lady Selena, why did you cheat? And why did you choose to blow the story out at this time? Are those students who were caught by the police your revenge?!”

“Lady Selena, you’ve made such a big deal out of it, blatantly slandering so many students of Creephia University and your sister, are you sure that Mr. Jordan will definitely stand up for you?”

Chapter 94

“Lady Selena, may I ask what is your relationship with Mr. Jordan? Why on earth would he help you unconditionally? Is it true that you are now a mistress of Mr. Jordan, as rumoured outside?”

There were questions one after another.

The crowd of people scrambled to be the first to crowd Selena’s side, frantically shoving over microphones that nearly poked her in the eye several times.

Selena, wearing a long black dress and a black sun hat, raised her hands to protect her face as she was pushed and shoved backwards.

There were so many people, not giving her any chance to hide, not even caring if they hurt her, pushing frantically towards her, that she didn’t even have the chance to speak.

These reporters suddenly came out as if they were hungry wolves, their eyes full of greed, their faces fierce and ready to eat her alive.

There was a snort of laughter from the indifferent crowd that stood around the outside watching the show.

“Serves you right!”

“Wasn’t she rampant yesterday? Bitch!”

“How can she still follow us back after causing such a big disgrace to our Creephia University?”

Selena raised her head, her face cold, looking inside the school gate.

There, Leah, in a long snow-white dress, hid behind a group of students, her soft gaze hiding a deep sense of complacency.

When she looked over, she smiled and her lips twitched..

What she said was –

Selena, you’ve lost again!

Selena's gaze was icy, her face growing cold, her ears buzzing from the noise, and malicious accusations all around her. She regretted refusing the kindness of Osvaldo!

During the morning meal, he mentioned once more that she should bring her bodyguard to school, but she refused. She was pushed and shoved backwards until her back hit the wall and she could not retreat anymore.

The reporters, however, still refused to give up, rushing towards her with all their might, eager to pin her against the wall, holding up their cameras, taking pictures of her in all sorts of distress, and charging her with a few more charges of debauchery and viciousness.

Selena's eyes were full of anger, the corners of her lips curved up, and as she watched the fury around her about to spill out, ear-splitting brakes sounded abruptly in her ears.

A line of imposing sports cars sped by, stopping at the periphery like angry dragons with teeth and claws.

In a flash, it attracted everyone's attention, and they even didn't bother to pay attention to Selena, as shouts of surprise rang out from the scene one after another.

"Oh my God!"

"Bentley!!!"

"Why there are so many luxury cars?!"

Inside the school, Leah looked up haughtily and clenched her fists, a hint of frustrated anger swept across her eyes.

As everyone watched in shock, the black, shiny doors opened in turn and a group of imposing, black-clad men stepped out in a well-trained manner.

Chapter 95

They rushed behind the group of reporters and without saying a word, they swung their fists straight up, grabbed each other by the collar and beat them hard!

"Ah!"

"What are you doing? They are killing us!"

"It hurts! Call the police, help!"

There was a moment of horrified rage everywhere.

The group of black-clad men, who were extremely ruthless, knocked all the reporters to the ground in three or two strokes, with blood pouring out like a faucet.

The sudden scene of violence frightened the onlookers, with those close by clutching their heads and screaming in terror. The hostility that had just risen under Selena's eyes suddenly dissipated as her eyes fell on the group of black-clad men, her delicate red lips pursed, the expression on her face cold.

The man at the head of the group walked over to Selena, bent down and said respectfully, "Madam, Master Osvaldo is here." The high-profile sports car are parked at the school gate.

The sterling silver door was opened respectfully by a man in black.

Under the extremely frightened and curious eyes of everyone, Selena was invited to get into the car.

She sat in the passenger seat, a pretty face had rarely lost its smile and warmth, and had more than thin anger at being offended.

Creephia University is the largest school in Creephia, gathering a group of people of high quality in human society as a whole. Leah is really emboldened to use her unscrupulous methods at the entrance of this school.

She was really not afraid of being found out at all!

Osvaldo lazily sat in the driver's seat, his slender fingers brushed over her brow, putting a strand of black hair in front of her forehead behind her ear, some tenderness surfaced in his deep night-like eyes, "For a person who is bad from her heart, there is nothing at all that can stop her from doing evil except the suppression of power."

Selena's gaze flickered, she understood what Osvaldo meant.

It was she who had overestimated Leah, thinking that she at least retained a bottom line as a human being.

It looks like Leah's heart and methods are far more malicious than she shows.

Except for Leah, Selena has no grudge against those who bullied her and insulted her.

They hated Selena and hurt her because, apart from Leah's calculations, there was another reason: Selena had no one behind her!

Almost everyone in Creephia knew that the Riddle family had Leah, and her cheating father could never stand up for the notorious and unloved Selena.

All these media have the courage to bully her and insult her with such impunity.

If she had the background and strength to absolutely crush them, how many people would really dare to offend her? This was a deliberate attempt to back her up from Osvaldo.

Selena exhaled a breath, the hostility at her heart dispersed some, and smiled faintly at Osvaldo, her gaze filled with tender, "Thank you."

Osvaldo gazed deeply at her, his gaze introspective and deep, and let out a low laugh, "It's good that you're not hurt."

Selena was stunned by this smile, inexplicably distracted, and suddenly had a feeling that she might be moving in some kind of depraved direction.

Outside the car.

Chapter 96

Leah stared in disbelief at the suddenly appearing luxury cars and bodyguards, her sharp nails embedded deep into her hands, the deep colour under her eyes growing heavier and heavier.

She was certain almost instantly that the person who had come to Selena's rescue was not Luke. Rather, it was the man who had spent 500 million on the auction floor to buy diamonds for Selena!

That was the first time in her life that Leah had lost to Selena, and it was to be remembered vividly.

A man who can spend half a billion and buy a diamond for the woman he has his eye on, how much must he have?

She looked at the black-clad bodyguards who were beating the reporters without mercy. These men were professionally trained, quick and ruthless, and not at all afraid of getting people killed.

They were absolutely emboldened!

And any one of the luxury cars cost at tens of millions.

Leah remembered again the hand that she had seen resting on the railing during a glimpse at the auction site.

The man's hands were slender, he was dignified, with a heavy touch of demonic aura.

Leah's palms were hot and her heart inexplicably warmed up. She stood in place for a moment, a dark light flickering under her eyes, and then a moment later she suddenly lifted her skirt and ran towards Selena with an anxious face against the crowd.

Before she could run to the car, she was blocked by the black-clad bodyguards on the periphery.

Leah gasped and bit her lip, her eyes fell on the car where Selena was, her eyes soft and forlorn, but underneath they hid a sharpness that seemed to pierce through the glass to see what was inside.

Her pale face was covered with worry, her eyes were so soft that they could almost melt hearts, she seemed to hesitate for a moment before speaking in a low voice, "Selena, are you alright? The public opinion is so big, it's too dangerous outside, dad is worried about you, you have to have a limit to your temperament. Go home with me, okay?"

She speaks as if she is really a good sister, concerned about her rebellious and unruly sister.

Inside the car.

Selena slightly tilted her face and looked at Leah, who was standing a few meters away, the corners of her lips were slightly hooked, the words were addressed to Osvaldo, "You go about your business, I will go back early in the evening."

Osvaldo gently stroked her hair, his thin lips curled up slightly, and there were a hint of seeming doting under his eyes, "Call me if you need help."

The corners of Selena's lips pulled up in a touching smile, and she nodded in the end.

Leah, who was waiting at the car door, heard a low, pleasant voice from the car only after a while, "Clear the area!" Leah's heart was shivered tightly and she clenched her fists.

The students, staring at the row of luxury cars, were in intense shock, unable to return to their senses for a long time, but their feet, under the awe-inspiring aura of the group of black-clad bodyguards, spontaneously walked inside the campus. Leah was the last one to be “invited” to leave, and the moment she got away from the bodyguards, she looked back. Just in time, Selena stepped out of the car, standing in front of the door, leaning down and was saying something to the man in the driver’s seat.

The man had one hand caressing Selena’s face, his long, slender fingers got her attention.

Leah’s palms suddenly became sweaty, and her heartbeat was in chaos.

She stared at the hand, fascinated, imagining in her mind that the man’s face must be dignified and mesmerising.

That is a man far more dignified and good-looking man than Dominic!

Leah stared deadily at Selena, deep jealousy in her eyes, just as she had been jealous of Selena’s status as the eldest lady of the Riddle family when she first returned to the Riddle family many years ago!!!

Chapter 97

As long as it belongs to Selena, she will definitely do whatever it takes to snatch it.

Whether it is the status of the Riddle family’s eldest lady, the man she likes, or the things she likes.

Leah looked at the warm scene of Selena bidding farewell to Osvaldo, the corners of her lips raised in a warm smile, but her eyes sank deeply.

Only after Selena had sent off Osvaldo did she walk into the campus of Creephia University with an elegant and light-hearted pace.

Those who witnessed this grand heroic rescue scene with their own eyes looked at Selena once again with more shock and jealousy.

Everyone in Creephia knows that Selena has been kicked out of the Riddle family, her stepmother is in charge and her father has ignored her since she was a child. Although she is said to be the young lady of the Riddle family, she lives even worse than some ordinary students.

Even though it was later rumoured that she was involved with Luke, to others, it was probably because Luke took pity on her and saw her in pity that he took her to Olympus Group and gave her a job to make ends meet.

No one had expected that behind Selena, there would be such a large and deep background.

Although they did not see the people in the car with their own eyes, so many ten million luxury cars and a group of imposing and terrifying bodyguards far surpassed the platitudes of those gentry and aristocrats in Creephia.

Looking at the reporters outside the gate who were being thrown into the ambulance like rubbish by the black-clad bodyguards, some of them were jealous of Selena but at the same time, there was more than a deep scorn in their eyes.

The group gazed at Selena, no longer daring to discuss and humiliate her with impunity as they had done before.

When Selena walked into the campus in the silence, a group of students from the student union who had just received the news walked over, Ronin walked in the front, Zachary and Billy saw Selena and ran over at a faster pace. Seeing that Selena was not hurt or in pain, both brothers were relieved.

"Selena, are you alright?" Zachary asked with a frown.

Selena looked at him and raised her chin, a layer of ice formed on her face, "No, if the people protecting me hadn't arrived a step earlier, at this moment you would have had to go to the hospital to find me."

Zachary's face turned pale, and he rubbed his hair grumpily. How could he believe that in the midst of the storm of campus violence that had just erupted in Creephia University, someone would dare to openly run to the entrance of Creephia University to commit murder by virtue of his profession?

"Seniors, I think there's really a big problem with the ethos of Creephia University, just a moment ago, when I was cornered and almost seriously injured by so many reporters, these few students..." her slender finger pointed to a few students who had just humiliated her, she sneered, "stood on the aside and cursed me for deserving it, called me bitch, questioned the headmaster why he didn't kick me out of the campus."

Those few students whom she had named had their faces turned abruptly stiff and they subconsciously wanted to open their mouths to angrily rebuke Selena, but when they thought of what had happened to those reporters just now, those indignant words were swallowed.

The collective faces of the group of people in the student union sank.

Ronin sighted the students and asked coldly, "Why are you here?"

Creephia University has not yet officially started class and there are not many people on campus at the moment, especially since it is still early in the morning and most of the university students are not up yet, so this group of people seems to be waiting here on purpose to watch the fun.

"We..."

"Seniors, we were just passing by."

Billy sneered, his eyes filled with icy anger, "Passing by? Do we look that stupid?!"

Several students blushed collectively, but could not say anything in their defence.

They had indeed heard the gossip that was circulating around the campus and heard that the reporters were hiding outside the gate to block Selena, so they purposely waited here to see Selena's hilarity, but to their surprise, the hilarity did not come true and they were caught in the act instead.

Ronin's already cold face was now even colder than ever, "Those who spoke ill and humiliation will be given a major demerit, and those who watch the fun will be given a medium demerit!"

At these words, the faces of all the students in the audience suddenly changed dramatically.

Especially those who had been given a medium demerit, their faces panicked while their hearts rose with anger and they spoke out in accusation.

“On what grounds? We just said a few words, we didn’t hit her or bully her, and we have to be given a big demerit. That’s not fair!”

“Exactly! There are plenty of people in school who scold her, so why should we be the only ones to get a big demerit?!”

Ronin asked in a cold voice, “Do you know what period of time it is?”

A few students who had been sternly questioned stiffened abruptly.

The official start of the school year is just around the corner, and this is the time for the new students to come to the university. Yesterday, there was an incident of violence on the campus of Creephia University, and there are still so many hot searches on Weibo, and the eyes of the media from all walks of life are on Creephia University, so it can be said that this is a very sensitive and deadly period.

They knew it was inappropriate to humiliate Selena at this moment, but they just couldn’t resist their companions’ urging and really didn’t like Selena, so they came here early in the morning to wait to see Selena’s joke.

They didn’t expect to fail to see a joke, but they saw a heroic rescue play and were caught in public by the school.

They thought that even if they were caught, they would only be reprimanded, after all, there were many student had done something to hurt Selena, but to their surprised, they would be given a major demerit.

The girl who had just called Selena a “bitch” bit her lip, her eyes were red and her face was full of resentment as she retorted, “Even if we are at fault, we can’t be punished so severely.”

A major demerit means only a diploma, not a degree.

Billy smiled coldly, “Creephia University has been pushed into the limelight by public opinion because of the campus violence incident, the teacher and headmaster are trying their best to find out the truth and give justice to the victims, as a senior student of both virtue and merit from Creephia University, your schoolmate is being bullied by a group of media with evil intentions, yet you are standing by the side gloating and clapping your hands, hoping that she will be bullied harder. Are you guys worthy of holding a degree and diploma from Creephia University?”

His eyes glanced coldly over the group of students, and those he looked at all had red tears in their eyes, their expressions frightened and resigned, and some of them bowed their heads in shame.

Zachary’s face was filled with anger and disappointment as he gritted his teeth, “Creephia University is the largest medical university in the north, if word gets out about today’s incident, everyone will say that the top pillar of the titled medical university has taught such a group of cold-blooded student, who don’t even have the most basic medical ethics for medical practitioners, will they expect you to be able to save lives in the future? It’s a joke!”

The students’ faces were white, their hearts almost bursting with resentment and anger, but they could not find a reason to retort.

Selena's ice-cold eyes swept round, and Leah had long since disappeared from the crowd.

Chapter 99

When it came to using people as guns, Miss Riddle is always so devious and clever, always able to remove herself in time and get out of the way without anyone being able to catch her.

A dark light flickered in Selena's eyes, and gave a cold smile.

The students were punished by the Student Council in the name of the school, without any personal feelings, and even if the students reported to the teachers, it would not have helped.

Moreover, with such a serious precedent in front of them, it is estimated that no one will dare to openly embarrass or trouble Selena within the entire campus of Creephia University anymore.

The outcome of this matter is a warning and a purge, both for Selena's situation and for the school's reputation.

After dealing with the matter at the school gate, Selena followed a group of students from the student council and walked into the headmaster's office.

The office was filled with people and when they heard the door open, a line of eyes subconsciously looked over.

They were all familiar with the members of the student council, and after a quick glance, all eyes were focused on the only pretty girl who hadn't shown her face.

At first sight, everyone froze at the sight of Selena.

The rumours about this student, which they had investigated over the past two days, were really not very good. Before seeing her in person, everyone's mind spontaneously conjured up an image of a girl with a sullen gaze and an expression that was either fierce or timid, which was far away from the young girl with clear eyes who appeared in the meeting room at the moment.

During the interval when the crowd was gawking at Selena, Ronin told them what had just happened in front of the school, and after hearing that, the faces of the group, from the headmaster to the teachers, were collectively sullen.

"What is going on in your medical department?" Amber Prince the teacher looked at the group of leaders of the medical department with her hand propped up on her chin, "It seems that the students of that class are not the only ones with psychological problems, other classes are suffering from it, in the territory of Creephia University, allowing a group of bastards to bully their classmate, not only watching with indifference, but clapping their hands in pleasure. Tell me, guys, how are you going to blame the girl this time?"

The head of the medical faculty was in a cold sweat in the face of the headmaster's stern gaze, and when he heard the sarcasm, his face turned white.

The other teachers of the medical faculty looked very unpleasant. At this sensitive time, they were not united and loving, but they still watch aside. Are they brainwashed?

Amber gaze at Selena's face, smiling, "Look at how well behaved and pretty the girl is, I just can't figure out, how can you guys be cruel and unite from top to bottom to bully a pretty girl?"

A few substitute teachers in Class 10 were now desperate to bury their heads in the ground, trying to reduce their presence, lest Selena blame on them.

The previous Selena, with her heavy make-up and timid nature, always kept her head down and had little presence in the class, which was not pleasing to the eye. Plus there was Leah who was good in study and character in comparison with her, they are biased to Leah.

They just didn't expect that after just one summer without seeing her, Selena had suddenly become so elegant and looked like a completely different person.

Chapter 100

Of course, in this sensitive situation at the moment, no one dares to be the one to take the lead and speak out to question Selena's shift.

Selena stood graciously in the office, her eyes skimming over a group of people with different expressions, and smiled faintly at Amber, "Thank you, Ms. Prince."

Amber smiled, "What a polite child, but still, let's make things clear," her slender finger pointed at those teachers in the medical department, "These teachers firmly believe that you have bad character. You cheated in the exam, and wrongly accused the top student in your medical department of cheating, for this matter, do you have anything to say about this matter, Selena?"

Selena's cold gaze fell on a group of leaders of the Department of Medicine, coldness seemed to shroud her eyes, her voice was clear, though not loud.

"I have never admitted to the charge of cheating, let alone slandering Leah for cheating. It was the entire medical faculty, from the head teacher, to the exam invigilator, the class teacher, and the students from Class 10, who unilaterally pressed the stigma of cheating onto my head, without even giving me the chance to check."

At the beginning, Selena was ridiculed and ranted against by the whole campus, suffering all the aggression and humiliation, never admitted to these two charges from the very beginning.

Hearing Selena's forceful words, the office was abruptly silent.

No one expected that Selena would have the courage to publicly accuse everyone who had been involved in this matter without mercy.

"What nonsense? As a university student, don't you even know the most basic respect for teachers?" The head teacher of the medical department was unhappy at this.

Selena smiled, her face was icy cold, "I only respect real teachers."

She looked at the director, and her eyes skimmed over the teachers who had sullen faces, "When it happened, I cried out to each and every one of you, I didn't ask you to speak up for me, to help me check out the evidence, I just wanted to pull up the surveillance to prove my innocence, but do a few of you remember what you did in the first place? Either treating with indifference or impatiently reprimanding."

She sneered, her voice was extremely cold, "Since you have not done your duty as a teacher, how can you have the nerve to ask me to respect you at this time?"

The office fell into dead silence.

Selena lowered her eyes, her tone was full of sarcasm, her voice was cold, "In your eyes, I am just an insignificant "trash", being wronged is insignificant, how can I deserve the title of university student? Since you treat me as "trash", can you expect a "trash" to respect teachers like Leah, a student with excellent moral character?"

When those teachers heard Selena's words, they were so angry and ashamed at the condemning and discontented looks from the other teachers.

In their impressions, Selena was of an extremely timid nature, never participated in class activities, and when things broke out, they were ready to stand up and speak out.

In their expectation, if Selena really cheated, they were impartial, and if Selena was wrongly accused, they would at best have a reputation of being hoodwinked and not investigating, and when the time came, they said a few good words, so they would not be implicated.

No one had expected that Selena would dare to say such a thing in public.
