

Love Slave 255

255 Taking the Lead

I turned my head back and his lips were immediately on mine. My lips automatically parted to grant his hot and wet tongue access to the cave of my mouth. His tongue was impatient when it met mine as our kiss deepened. I could feel his desire as he entwined his tongue with mine in a fervent dance that told me better than words could ever describe how much he wanted me. My tongue moved against his as I kissed him back eagerly.

His hand stroked its way down the curve of my body from my chest along my waist before he began stroking the side of my hips. I moaned into our kiss as I let him freely devour me. His kiss was so aggressive, but I didn't mind it at all, in fact, I thoroughly enjoyed his impassioned kiss. I made small whimpering sounds in my throat as our tongues continued moving against each other.

"Ahh..." I moaned loudly when Ace's lips finally parted from mine.

I was panting hard by that time as I struggled to catch my breath. Ace's hand slipped between my thighs and began stroking its way upwards toward the heat in between my legs. My pussy twitched and clenched in anticipation of his touch. I wanted him to touch and pleasure me down there. My pussy ached and throbbed with desire.

Ace didn't give me long to catch my breath before his lips captured mine in a smoldering hot kiss again. I gladly offered my lips to him and soon I was kissing him back with wild abandon. His hand moved upwards along my inner thighs and urged my legs to part for him. My legs felt so weak as I willingly bent my legs and spread my thighs wide apart.

"It's so slippery..." Ace murmured seductively before he chuckled teasingly.

I looked away in embarrassment when he broke our kiss. My hips betrayed me and began moving, thrusting my pussy upwards against his exploring fingers as he stroked the slippery wet slit in between my thighs. His caresses along the outer folds of my pussy lips felt so amazing and made me want more of him.

"Ace...please..." I pleaded sweetly as I tried to spread my legs even wider apart.

"Are you horny, Rina?" Ace asked in a low whisper.

.....

I knew that he was teasing me again and just how merciless he could be. His fingers stroked my wet opening without entering me the way that I wanted him to. I knew that it would be useless to lie to him at this point. My pussy quivered as it starved for more of his touch. I wanted to feel his fingers inside of me and then something much bigger, hotter, and thicker.

"Y-Yes..." I admitted in a weak whimper as I nodded my head.

His fingertips moved up along my wet slit until it reached the small sensitive little pleasure nub at the top of my love entrance. I cried out when he suddenly pinched that nub in between his fingertips before twirling it around. Jolts of mind-numbing pleasure exploded throughout my body from his fingers playing around with my ultra-sensitive clit. My clit felt so hard and swollen as he continued stroking it. I could feel my pussy getting hotter and I knew that I had gotten wetter down there.

“Do you want me to finger your pussy?” Ace asked in a seductive whisper close to my ear.

My body shivered at his tempting tone as his fingers moved to stroke my wet opening teasingly. Of course, I wanted him to insert his thick and long fingers inside of me and I was more than certain that Ace knew that as well.

“Don’t tease me...please...” I murmured in embarrassment as I felt heat rise to my cheeks.

“Fine. I won’t make you say it today...” Ace said before he placed a kiss on my earlobe.

I closed my eyes and let out a sigh when I thought that he was finally going easy on me. Not a lot of time passed by before I found out that I was very wrong. His fingers stopped stroking my pussy and my eyes snapped open in confusion.

“I’ll make you do it instead, Rina...” Ace whispered into my ear.

What does he mean by that?

My eyes widened as I turned around to face him. Ace’s hazel brown eyes stared down into mine as our gaze locked. I could sense the mischief in his eyes as his beautiful full lips curved into a smirk. My heart leaped in my chest and I wasn’t sure what I should be feeling as I found myself getting lost in the depth of his passionate eyes.

“What?” I asked in a breathless whisper.

“I’m tired, Rina. Why don’t you take the lead for tonight?” Ace suggested before he smiled innocently at me.

I stared at him with widened eyes, and he grinned at me in return. He did not just tease me until I wanted it and then left me hanging, right?

“Ace...” I murmured his name before I realized that I wasn’t sure what I wanted to say.

What am I supposed to say?

I turned back away from him as I let my mind and body debate with each other about what I wanted to do. Logically, I should just stop this and retire to bed. However, the fire of desire that was still burning so hot and bright inside of me refused to calm down. My body wanted him and to a certain extent, my heart needed to feel his love and passion as well.

He’s such a mean and selfish person...sometimes...

“What should I do?” I asked in a soft and shy whisper.

“Take my hand...I’ll let you borrow it...” he coaxed suggestively as he took my hand in one of his and placed my hand over his other one.

I bit down on my lower lip when I realized where this was going...

My body stiffened against him as I froze from my own hesitation. It was just too embarrassing, and I had never done something like this before. It drove me crazy just thinking about it.