

LOVE YOU FOR THE REST OF MY LIFE

Chapter 13 How Affectionate the Two Kids Are

Damn, is this guy a beast?

Gu Qibao flushed, recoiling from his intimidating presence, "Di, Di Mingjue, what are you trying to do? Stop messing around!"

Gu Qibao realized she was helpless under his domineering manner, she didn't even have the courage to push him away. His aura was too overpowering.

Qin Qian, standing by, was flabbergasted too. The third son of the Fang Hao family is really formidable!

Gu Qibao stared at the man in front of her, his frozen face was quoting a morose appeal, a feeling of uneasiness and coldness was pervading her, "We're at my place, and my mom is still here, what are you doing?"

"Lying without batting an eye, aren't you Gu Xiaoqi?" said Di Mingjue. His bottomless eyes were filled with chilling iciness that sent shivers down her spine.

Feeling guilty, Gu Qibao dared not defend herself and lowered her eyes in silence.

"If you have any ill intention towards my child, I'll kill you." His icy voice held a strange terror that made one's heart flutter.

"What gives you the right!" challenged Gu Qibao defiantly, "If you dare, kill me then!"

"Okay." Di Mingjue nonchalantly pulled at his tie, his expressionless face suddenly pressed against hers, pinning her forcibly against the door.

"Don't!" Gu Qibao was terrified immediately.

"Scared now?" Di Mingjue's lips brushed against her ear, his voice cold and sinuous like a snake, "As long as you disobey me, I have plenty of ways to deal with you, if you don't believe me, just try, let's see who can turn the capital upside down!"

"You!" Gu Qibao's face turned red with rage; his arrogance was beyond anything she had ever seen in any man!

Such blatant intimidation was totally outrageous!

This guy was certainly a battle-hardened freak.

But it all seemed perfectly natural coming from him.

It even felt indescribably cool; she couldn't even raise a finger in his presence!

In a rage, Gu Qibao pushed him away and ran off.

Di Mingjue blandly watched her retreating back; his eyes aglow spoke volumes. She needed to pay the price for provoking him.

Qin Qian gassed, "Oh-Em-Gee, he is so wild...."

How on earth did the third son of the Di Family turn out this way?

But strangely enough, Qin Qian was quite taken with him; she even thought their love story was quite cute.

The pairing of the jumpy Gu Qibao and the imperious Di Mingjue seemed delightfully perfect no matter how you look at it.

Ever since Gu Ruhai threw a punch at Di Mingjue, Qin Qian had admired him. Thought he was too MAN.

Making her daughter suffer was always Qin Qian's outstanding tradition.

"I have something interesting here to show you." Qin Qian could hardly wait to share the photos she had sneaked earlier.

Fang Hao was amused by the photo: a petite Gu Qibao, pinned against the door by Di Mingjue, looking rather shy with her eyes averted, while her son was gazing intently at Gu Qibao, his lustful eyes and their lips almost touching.

Such a lovely couple! Fang Hao, on the other end of the phone, chuckled, her hands trembling. "I told you two have chemistry, didn't I?"

Right, that is right, absolutely right!

Fang Hao insisted on getting Gu Qibao married to Di Mingjue, saying the two of them suited each other perfectly. Only it felt a bit awkward because they were too familiar each other, so Qin Qian should help them develop some interest.

So they joined hands to confine Gu Qibao for three days to make her unable to buy contraceptives.

The decision now seemed to be a smart move. Di Mingjue obviously didn't want her to take contraceptives. This kid, although seemed cool on the surface, was actually very thoughtful, right?