

LOVE YOU FOR THE REST OF MY LIFE

Chapter 5 Hear Me Out

The doorbell rang suddenly, as urgent as the call of death.

The one who opened the door was Zhang Mama, the Gu family's old nanny.

"Third Young Master?" Zhang Mama bowed respectfully, "Why have you come?"

"I'm looking for Gu Xiaoqi." Di Mingjue intruded.

"Third Young Master." Zhang Mama followed him, unable to keep up with Di Mingjue's pace. He moved very quickly, and each step was filled with an intimidating aura that even scared Zhang Mama.

"Where is Gu Xiaoqi?" Di Mingjue turned his head, clearly out of patience.

"Miss Qibao is upstairs." Zhang Mama pointed, unable to suppress a shudder. The third young master's demeanor was really terrifying!

Seeing the sisters discussing enthusiastically, Gu Qibao finally breathed a sigh of relief, interjected them, and pleadingly bowed, "Elder sisters, since you know that Di Mingjue is no good, you must help me. If I marry him, my life will be ruined."

"But I still can't completely believe it." Gu Mian, being the eldest sister, had a deep understanding of Gu Qibao's nature.

"It's true!" Gu Qibao gestured excitedly, "He is only this, this...."

Just as she was pleased with her successful persuasion, she noticed a change in her sisters' faces.

Suddenly, she felt a chill on her back.

Who turned up the air conditioning that high? Gu Qibao turned her head and was instantly taken aback.

Standing behind her was Di Mingjue, his coldly handsome face filled with an unspeakable darkness, as if he was owed a fortune by someone!

His oppressive height made Gu Qibao instinctively shrink back, with an urge to flee.

Di Mingjue stretched out his long arm and lifted her up directly.

"You've got to listen to my explanation!" Gu Qibao's voice was filled with fear and desperation.

"Help me! Eldest sister, third sister, fifth sister!"

The sisters of Gu family looked at each other and nodded in mutual agreement.

Gu Qibao, may you rest in peace!

Who dared to mess with the youngest of the Di Family? Simply his cold face was enough to scare off anyone, let alone his methods. Just thinking about it made them shiver with fear.

"Di Mingjue, let me go!" Gu Qibao was cursing her sisters' lack of loyalty while struggling with all her might.

However, her petite stature and feeble strength were no match for him.

"You're hurting me!" Seeing that physical force didn't work, Gu Qibao switched to a softer approach, blinking her grape-like eyes. As she spoke, two golden teardrops fell from her eyes.

Her fair face tinged with pink and the silent fall of the golden teardrops would melt any man's heart.

But not Di Mingjue. His deep eyes were filled with only one word, danger.

"Hey, where are you taking me?"

"Damn you, you beast, let me go!"

The feisty little wildcat began to make threats again. Di Mingjue cast a glance at her, his dark eyes filled with frosty coldness. He flicked his thin lips and uttered a sentence, "Shut up, or I'll bend you."

Upon hearing this, Gu Qibao quivered and immediately shut her mouth, whimpering, "Why are you so fierce."

The moment she finished speaking, she was thrown into a car by Di Mingjue.

"Damn it!" Gu Qibao felt dizzy from the impact, rubbing her aching head. This guy was beyond rude.

When Di Mingjue got into the car, the temperature seemed to drop several degrees.

"What, what are you going to do?" Gu Qibao, frightened, quickly sat up, involuntarily moving to the side.

The back seat of the business car was very spacious, like a small business compartment, completely isolated from the front seats. Even if Gu Qibao screamed for help, it would be of no use. And trying to escape would be even more futile.
