

Chapter 76 Smelling his scent and the new found desire

CHAPTER-76

AMALTHEA'S POV

'Amalthea, Stop. You will mark him at this rate,' Crystal said with a calm voice, and as if someone had slapped me, I paused in my actions, my breathing evening as my canines went back to normal, making me lick his neck one last time before I looked into his eyes.

This was something new even for me. I don't know what was happening to me. If Crystal hadn't stopped me just now, then I would've bitten Augustus. I don't know if I would've marked him or not, but the bite would've been deep.

Taking a deep breath, I looked at him apologetically, not because I was carried away with my emotions, but because I was about to bite him.

I thought he would get angry because of what I did, but rather than that, he just smiled before tucking my hair behind my ear.

"Is my little tiger getting anxious now? Do you want it so bad? Tell me, Amalthea. Is the new need to do it increasing, and it's aching down there?" He asked me in an extremely sexy voice before traveling his hand downwards, making me widen my eyes when his hand stopped right above my core. The only hindrance between his hand and my pulsating core were my clothes, and as much as I hate to admit it, I wanted to remove this barrier.

"Augustus," I said to warn him, but it came out more like a moan, and he hummed before grabbing my lips between his as he kissed me, taking my mind away from everything as the only thing going inside my head was how good his lips were feeling.

"Stop feeling embarrassed of your increasing emotions, my love. I am Chapter 76 Smelling his scent and the new found 🎁 +120 Points at most yours to please and tame. You can think anything about me and do anything with me as long as it gives you pleasure," He said, making my heart beat faster.

However, the lingering feeling of wanting more than what he was giving me was still there, and I pressed myself closer to him involuntarily, making him chuckle.

"Amalthea, aren't you being too naughty right now? It's taking every ounce of patience inside me to not jump your bones. I respect you and don't want to rush you into anything, but you aren't making it easier for me. Tell me, love. Should we continue the rest in our room? I won't want to rip your clothes here and then bring you back to your room in my shirt only," He said, and I blushed before standing from his lap.

Feeling embarrassed and shy about how my thoughts and emotions were going haywire today, I was about to blame him by telling him to stop playing with me, but he pulled me towards him, making me stand between his legs as he hugged me.

Kissing the area between my chest, he drew circles on my waist, making me smile at his sweetness.

"Are you by any chance trying to kiss my bre*sts by pretending to kiss my heart?" I asked, and he chuckled before looking up, his chin pressing between my breasts, and I sighed at our intimate position.

"I think you should wear skirts too. I mean, only when we are alone. It will be easier next time when we are having a slip of emotions," Augustus said, and I pressed my lips into a thin line helplessly at his innuendo.

"Shut up, Augustus," I said, and he chuckled.

"I have come a long way from Mr. Dominic to Augustus. Now you have said that yourself, I hope you can keep calling me by my name. Mr. Dominic looks too formal and distant. You can also call me baby, babe, any nickname you want, or even hubby?" He said, and I raised my eyes at his hidden meaning.

"Don't worry. I am just kidding," he said with a dismissing gesture, but I didn't miss the helpless look that passed through his eyes for a minuscule second.

Chapter 76 Smelling his scent and the new found  +120 Points at most

Every cell in my body was asking to make him happy by calling him hubby or baby, but I knew to control my emotions if I didn't want to give him false hopes about our future together.

However, seeing him faking this smile, I couldn't help but feel the pang in my heart.

"I will think about it. For now, I'll call you Nic. Does that sound good?" I asked before bending to look into his eyes, and he smiled at me with a genuine smile before taking my face in his and kissing me passionately.

"It's the best till now," he said, and I smiled at him before squealing when he stood and picked me in his arms, raising me in the sky.

"Put me down!" I said, and he chuckled.

"Call me by my name first," he said, and I rolled my eyes at his childishness.

"Put me down, Nic, please," I said, and he smiled with a twinkle in his eyes, making me smile in return.

I have got to be the most confused girl in this whole world. I don't want to give him hope for the future because with the missions in my hand, I might not even live for long, but I want to do everything to keep him Happy. I want to run away from him because we might not have any future together, and I have a mate out there, but I want to have a world with him that I don't want to leave. I don't want Blake to know I found a man, but I can't resist Augustus even for a second.

I don't even know if I am the same girl who used to take a decision and stick to it no matter what.

'Huh, love makes you do things,' Crystal said in between, and I rolled my eyes at her.

'Yeah Yeah. As if I am the only one. Don't think I am a fool to not know you were the one who planted 50% of those things in my head,' I said, and she chuckled mischievously.

'But you love me,' Crystal said, and I shook my head.

'That I surely do undoubtedly,' I said before looking back at the man in Chapter 76 Smelling his scent and the new found 🎁 +120 Points at most front of me.

"Let's go before everyone thinks their Lycan King is getting all hot and naughty on the conference table or probably on the window glass," I said, and he chuckled.

"I am sure you know how much of an effect you have on me. Don't you? You deliberately do this to tease me," He said before looking away, and this time it was me who chuckled as we walked out towards the door.

"It looks like it is going to take a long cold shower to calm my nerves this time," He grumbled under his breath, but I still heard it, feeling hot all over again.

"Are you sure we can go out? I mean, you don't need to adjust?" I asked mischievously, and he pushed me on the door before bending down with his lower body touching mine and his lips only an inch away.

"Why are you so worried about it? By any chance, do you want to help me or adjust it for me?" He asked, and I raised my eyes at his innuendo.

"You!" I said, and he pulled my cheeks.

"Don't play with fire, baby. You won't be able to take this beast right now," he said challengingly, and it took all the patience inside me to not say, 'Unleash the beast. I want to see it too.'

Shaking my head at him, I bit his lower lip before releasing it.

"According to my resources, Blake will complete his mating with his mate, and I think this mark will become void after that. Let's explore each other even more after this full moon," I said with a suggestive smirk, and I thought he would be happy, but rather than that, all I saw was the crease of concern on his forehead.

"He will mate? It will practically bring a hell of a lot of pain to you. How will you be able to cooperate with it? How can you smile and joke about such severe things? A heated makeout from him can send you through so much pain. Think about what it will do to you when he'll have s*x with his mate. Not only will it break you emotionally, mentally but physically too," He said before placing his hand on my cheeks, and I smiled at him.

"Don't worry about it. It will be a one-time pain. Let's hope this mark Chapter 76 Smelling his scent and the new found 🎁 +120 Points at most becomes void after that," I said, and he pressed his lips into a thin line.

"I will be there the whole night, no matter what. Don't worry. I will control myself and won't do anything that you won't approve of. Let me take care of you," he said, and I smiled.

"Let's talk about it later, lover boy," I said, and he sighed before placing his forehead on mine.

"I know you love me, Augustus, and don't want to see me in pain. Don't worry. I'll be alright. Besides, I have you. If things go out of my head, I can take a little help from Kyle, right?" I said, and he nodded before hugging me tight to his body, making me feel safe and at peace.

Smelling the same intoxicating scent coming from his body, I felt my canines hurting again as they started to elongate, making me grumble.

"F*ck!" I said, and he chuckled.

"Gladly, baby. Tell me when you are ready," he said, and I roamed my tongue over my canines to calm down before kissing his neck as I drew long whiffs to smell him even more.

"Augustus, you smell so nice. It's making me go crazy. Did you always smelt this nice, or is it something new? Are you wearing any cologne?" I asked, and he pushed me away a little before widening his eyes.

"You can smell me?" He asked me, shocked, and I realized that today was indeed the first time I was able to smell him.

"I can smell you,"

"You can smell me,"

We stated at the same time, and before I could ask him how this was possible, as I always thought he was wearing some kind of spell that rendered people unable to smell him, he hugged me tightly before kissing my cheeks and releasing me.

"Don't think much of it. I think your nose that was defected earlier has started to work again," he said, but I didn't miss how happy he looked just now.

Chapter 76 Smelling his scent and the new found 📺 +120 Points at most

"What else do you want to do to me now that you can smell me?" He asked, curiosity written all over his face.

"I want to kiss you, su*k you, keep smelling you, bite you, and fu* -" I paused before coughing.

"Let's go. I remember I have a call to make," I said before practically rushing away from him as I realized what was going through my head for him, and I didn't miss his chuckle, making me even more embarrassed.

Author's Note- Please keep supporting with your comments.

Special bonus over 40% 🔥

Claim Now