

Chapter 80 I will turn the council upside down and kill...

80

AUGUSTUS'S POV

She was gone. I couldn't even send her off or tell her to be careful on her way. Neither could I give her a glass of chocolate shake so that she could feel great during her tiresome journey.

I couldn't act like the caring friend I had thought about when I had proposed to stay together during the night.

Everything happened because my body thought it would be the perfect time to cuddle with our mate, relax in her embrace, ease all our tensions and enjoy being close to her.

'But you can't deny that it was the best sleep in your entire life. And I am sure something more romantic would've happened if I would've been in control,' Kyle suddenly said, and I rolled my eyes at him.

'It was indeed the best sleep. And I am so glad that our first sleep together was when I was in control of the body and nothing romantic happened, or I am sure she would've kicked us out of the room,' I said, and he scoffed before sitting back, making me sigh.

Looking at the note she left, I couldn't help but read her words with a soft stroke once again.

"I am off to my mission, Augustus. Sorry I didn't wake you. You are looking too adorable to disturb. Take care of yourself, and don't worry about me," the message said, and I ruffled my hair with a groan at her cute message.

How can a small bye note be so adorable and loving at the same time? I thought, flailing my legs before stopping and taking a deep breath.

Chapter 80 I will turn the council upside down and  +120 Points at most

I need to stop acting like a love-sick fool. It doesn't suit my image. I told myself to get my emotions in control.

Walking out of the room, I went towards my room to get ready.

"King, has Miss Amalthea gone somewhere? The gate guards are reporting she went out of the palace at 3 am. Did you know about it?" Jake said through the mind link, and I hummed.

"She has indeed gone somewhere," I said to dismiss the matter, not wanting to think about her when it's only been 4 hours.

"It's strange. Why would she leave so early?" Jake said, and I didn't comment on that.

"Jake, I have a new task for you. I want you to find out if someone from Amalthea's ex-pack is trying to harm her, follow her, or sneak on her. I want you to send one of our men to her pack to see what their thoughts are about her," I said, and he hummed.

"I will do that today itself, King. I was thinking about asking you something similar. I don't know if it's important, but I think I saw someone in the forest on the day rogues attacked her. I am not too sure because it would've been someone passing, but the guards who were with me said they have been seeing the same person in the market too. Initially, I thought he was a local, but that's not the case," Jake said, and I hummed.

"Look into it. Harry is taking over the council, and it would be a grand celebration. We might have to go there after four days. Take care of everything accordingly. Also, tell Alpha Cane I want to have a meeting with him, and he needs to clear his schedule around 10," I said before putting up the mind barrier as I took a shower.

As I stood in front of the mirror, I couldn't help but remember how flustered Amalthea was when she saw me in the bathroom that day. Honestly, I did not know something like that would happen, but it doesn't mean I didn't like that and acted mischievously on purpose.

It had taken a lot of patience inside me not to kiss her passionately and make love to her then and there. The way she was acting and moving was screaming seduction, not to mention how adorable she looked when

Chapter 80 I will turn the council upside down and  +120 Points at most she told me she didn't have her clothes and Charles was in the room.

I wanted to be mischievous, bring her to my room, and act romantic, but the thought of her feeling like I was taking advantage of her stopped me.

Maybe it's because I respect her and don't want to hurt her, but I still can not force anything on her.

'It was good that you controlled yourself and me both that day. I am sure my mate wouldn't have liked it if we had done something. Honestly, when you said you wouldn't do anything to her until she said so, she was taken aback and felt safe with us,' Kyle said, and I hummed.

'I know, right? I know how to handle the matters and pave a way for us in her heart better than you,' I said, and he hummed.

'Augustus, I understand all of it, but what was with you last night? I said nothing to you because I didn't want to spoil your mood or annoy you when you were so happy, but preparing a self-made dinner and acting so gently, isn't like you. I am sure you are still the same guy who doesn't like her and tolerated her because I said I would leave you if you did anything to harm or hurt her. What is going on with you?' Kyle asked, and I smiled.

'Don't you see? I tolerated her earlier because I was repulsed that we found our mate when I hate women and might have to reject her. However, things have changed now,' I said before sighing and wiping my body.

'Now, I want her or our mate to be more precise than ever. I don't want her to like us or accept us because she is our mate. From what I have judged, she doesn't really believe in true love or mates. If she had that deep faith in mates, then she wouldn't have married Blake as her chosen mate, and her faith in true love was shattered by Blake. She might accept us because of the pull of the mate bond, which we still don't know when it will start, but I want her to accept us because she is madly, irrevocably, and unconditionally in love with us,' I said, and he sighed.

'I know it sounds unrealistic, but I have fallen for her, Kyle. I know, I said I won't ever like a girl like that, but I couldn't help myself. She had characteristics and charm that I couldn't ignore. She entered my life like a tornado, shattering all my beliefs. However, now she is like the warm sunlight on a winter day and a shade of a tree on a summer day. She calms me and my heart. She tames the beast in me and makes me more Chapter 80 I will turn the council upside down and  +120 Points at most human than I ever was. I feel like I am also capable of those emotions, and I had never thought I would say this, but I like this feeling,' I said to Kyle, and he smiled softly at me.

'What?' I asked him when he kept looking at me.

'That line you mentioned just now. You want her to be madly, Irrevocably, and unconditionally in love with you, but I think you are in that kind of love, and from what I am seeing, it's only increasing,' Kyle said, and I rolled my eyes at him.

'Stop using my words on me,' I said, and he shook his head.

'I never thought I would be saying this, Augustus, because I am really happy that you have started to love our mate, but get a hold on yourself. Your love and the way it's increasing is starting to worry me a little. You are walking a path of destruction. You are in love, but you are walking a path of obsession, possession, and irresistible love. It will be good if she loves us back after knowing everything, but what if she doesn't?' Kyle said, and I didn't know why, but I growled at him angrily.

'Don't you care to mention something like that? She will accept us. I will make sure of it. She will fall in love with us because I will treat her well. I will get her, Kyle,' I said, and he sighed before shaking his head.

'I just hope for good. I know for sure, she is the only one who can tame this beast,' Kyle said, and I was about to respond to him when Joseph entered my room.

'Hey, I can't find Amalthea anywhere. Did she go somewhere?' He asked, and I raised my brows at him.

'Why?' I asked.

'You look grumpy. Has she left already? I thought I could talk to her about something before she left. Wait. Don't tell me she left for the council chambers alone, and you let her do it,' Joseph said, and I rolled my eyes at him, not wanting to go into details.

I am sure he is going to start with why I didn't go with her and why I am leaving her alone and not confessing my emotions. This guy can be persistent sometimes. It feels like he is more excited about our relationship than us.

Chapter 80 I will turn the council upside down and  +120 Points at most Turning around, I wore my coat before looking at the document file and picking it up.

"Brother, are you even listening to me? She hasn't gone to the chambers, right? Because if yes, then I must tell you that your affection is in deep trouble," He said, and I drank my coffee in a go before giving him the side-eye.

"What is this attitude? I am here worrying about your love life, and you are acting like it doesn't even bother you? Are you taking me for a fool?" He asked, and I sighed.

"Don't worry about my love life. I will handle it," I said, and he scoffed before shrugging.

Fine, I will not tell you that the council is thinking about the divorce of Amalthea and Blake," He said, and I looked at him, interested this time.

"Their divorce?" I asked, and he shrugged.

"Well, I should leave since someone isn't interested in hearing me," Joseph said, and I glared at him.

"Are you going to speak or not?" I asked, and he sighed.

"Well, it's meant to happen someday, no?" He said, and I hummed.

"That's good. Why are you acting so weird about it? Is there something else I should know?" I said and was about to leave my room when his words stopped me.

"Well, don't you understand? When did you get so dumb? Why are they suddenly talking about their divorce when Harry is about to take over the council? I am sure it's his plan," He paused.

"So that Harry could make his move on her and express his emotions," Joseph said, and I paused before turning around.

"What did you say?" I asked coldly.

"Well, she is such a brilliant girl. Most of the alphas are waiting to make a move on her. Do you think Harry would let go of the first opportunity? I am sure he will tell her what he feels for her right after the divorce or at Chapter 80 I will turn the council upside down and  +120 Points at most least hint to her. He will make sure he is the first on the list of eligible candidates whenever she thinks of settling down. There are chances she might even choose him. He is going to be the head of the council in five days, knows everything about the packs, her best friend of so many years, will help her in her revenge plan, and doesn't even have many enemies, unlike someone," Joseph said, making me look at him angrily.

"Joseph," I said.

"Yes, my dear king,"

"Do you believe I would strangle you right now if you don't stop praising him?"

"Yes, of course, my king," He said cheekily, and I grit my teeth.

"Then you should get lost, I suppose," I said, and he nodded before walking towards me.

"I am sorry for your unrequited love," He said, and I growled at him, making him smile as he patted my shoulder before exiting the room, making me want to smash something as I felt like killing people right now.

Harry would make a move on her? As if I would allow that. I would turn the whole council up and down and kill everyone if that's what it would take for her to choose me. I thought before shaking my head to remove the nasty thoughts that even shocked me.

Why would I think something like that? Is Kyle right? Is my love turning sinister? I thought, before shaking my head.

Author's Note- Please keep supporting with your comments.

Special bonus over 40%

Claim Now