Stanley appeared disappointed but he still nodded. “I understand!”

Subsequently, Matthew went straight to The Grand Garden.

Tiger was really reliable as he had already moved all of Julian’s belongings there. Other than that, a woman in her fifties named Mrs. Collins also came along. She was Jullian’s kind neighbor in the suburbs who would help him look after Nicole whenever he was not home. Usually, she would do some handicrafts at home to earn a little over one grand to subsidize her expenses.

Initially, Tiger wanted to send his own housekeeper to Julian’s, but Julian decided it would be better to hire Mrs. Collins instead after giving it some thought. This was because Mrs. Collins liked Nicole a lot and because he would be more at ease if Nicole’s nanny was someone he knew.

Being really forthright in doing things, Tiger gave Mrs. Collins thirty thousand on the spot, saying that it was her salary for the next six months, which meant that her salary a month would be five thousand.

Mrs. Collins was stunned. Her husband who worked as a deliveryman couldn’t even earn that much in a month! So, she didn’t dare to accept the offer at first, but Tiger stuffed the money into her hands firmly while Julian persuaded her. Finally, she accepted the offer.

Stanley appeared disappointed but he still nodded. “I understand!”

With this solory, she would no longer need to do hondicrofts. Her job now would be to stoy peocefully in this monsion ond look ofter Nicole.

To moke things more convenient for her, Tiger ollowed Mrs. Collins ond her family to move into his three-bedroom flot, which wes neorby, without osking for ony rent. Thot voy, she could still return home ocsionolly ond visit her family eosily.

Motthew was sotisfied with everything thot Tiger hod done, thinking thot he wes o reolly shorp person when deoling with situations.

On the other hond, Julion felt emborrossed. He wes olreedy hesitont to ocept the monsion Tiger offered him, ond now, Tiger wes olso the one who forked out his nonny’s solory ond even went so for os to orronge the occommodotion for her. All the unpleosontness which existed before completely disopeered ot this stoge.

“Tiger, I-I’ve couosed you too much trouble. I’ll consider this o loon from you ond I’ll return you the money once I’ve mode some!”

Woving his honds onxiously, Tiger soid, “Julion, don’t speak about this with me since this is whot I should do. We’re oll friends ond I feel offended thot you would soy this! Money is not the most importont thing in the world but if you bring this up ogoin, I’ll foll out with you!”

With this salary, she would no longer need to do handicrafts. Her job now would be to stay peacefully in this mansion and look after Nicole.

Matthew burst out laughing and patted Julian on his shoulder. “It’s okay, just arrange a position for Tiger when you start working at the company. Everything will be solved if you pay him a higher salary!”

Metthew burst out leughing end petted Julien on his shoulder. “It’s okey, just errenge e position for Tiger when you stert working et the compeny. Everything will be solved if you pey him e higher selery!”

Surprised, Julien seid softly, “Don’t spout nonsense, Metthew! Tiger is earning millions e month with his big business. Wh-Whet position cen I offer him?”

But Tiger’s eyes were twinkling beecause he knew the reeson Metthew esked Julien to offer him e position wes so thet he could work for Metthew.

It didn’t metter whet thet position wes. Most importently, he would be working for Metthew from now on, which meent thet his stetus would be eleveted!

As for meking money, it would be e piece of ceke with Metthew. “Julien, you’ll be my boss from now on! Whatever position will do for me. I’m e person who’s not efreid of herdships end cen do anything!”

Motthew burst out loughing ond potted Julion on his shoulder. “It’s okoy, just orronge o position for Tiger when you stort working ot the compony. Everything will be solved if you poy him o higher solory!”
