

Chapter 145

Penny couldn’t hold back anymore and yelled, “B*llshit! You said that you own eight houses in the Grand Pavilion? Why don’t you go all out and say that you even own a few villas in the Grand Garden? I don’t believe that you’re Stanley Carlson’s cousin. You’re just a liar, aren’t you?!”

Just then, a man sitting at a nearby table stood up and yelled, “B*tch! How dare you talk to Tiger like that? Everybody in South Street knows who Master Tiger is! How dare you call him a liar?! What nonsense!”

All of a sudden, everyone started discussing.

“He’s Master Tiger?”

“Which Master Tiger?”

“There’s only one Master Tiger in South Street. Who else could it be?”

“Oh my god! Is he the almighty, powerful man in South Street that always gets his way?”

“Who else could it be?”

“If he really is Master Tiger, I would believe him even if he said that the Grand Pavilion belongs to him, let alone a few houses!”

Everyone’s tongues were wagging and there was fear in their eyes as they looked at Master Tiger. After all, Master Tiger was notorious. With Stanley’s support, not even the Ten Greatest Families of Eastcliff dared to go against him. It was obvious that he was a really powerful man. Sasha was astonished as she never thought that the purchasing manager in her herbary company would have such a powerful identity. As for Penny, she was almost in tears because she had heard stories about Master Tiger before. However, she never thought that Tiger who treated Matthew respectfully turned out to be the Master Tiger! If she had known sooner, she wouldn’t have dared to be disrespectful!

“A-Are you really Master Tiger?” Penny asked in a trembling voice.

“What do you think?” Tiger asked.

Penny was shivering so hard, she couldn’t stand straight. “Master Tiger, I-I’m sorry that I failed to recognize you. P- Please have mercy and forgive me…”

Tiger didn’t say anything and turned to look at Matthew, waiting for an answer.

Matthew smiled faintly. At that moment, seeing Penny shivering in fear, all the anger that he had dissipated.

“Enough. Go and entertain your guest. This is President Cunningham’s best friend. Forgive her for my sake!” Matthew said with a smile.

“Okay!” Tiger quickly nodded respectfully and said, “Mr. Larson, Mrs. Larson, I’ll be leaving to entertain my guests now.”

Sasha hurriedly got up and said, “Goodbye, Master Tiger.”

Hearing this, Tiger felt a shiver down his spine and he quickly replied, “Mrs. Larson, please don’t call me by my nickname. I’ll feel ashamed! Just call me Tiger. I won’t be able to bear it if you call me by my nickname.”

Sasha was completely dumbfounded. This is the almighty Master Tiger. The whole pharmaceutical industry listens to him but why is he so respectful toward me?

With that, Tiger left and Sasha immediately turned to look at Matthew.

“What just happened?”

Matthew smiled and replied, “I saved his life!”

“You?” Sasha was shocked. “How did you save him?”

“Have you forgotten that I work in the hospital? He came to me to cure his illness and I cured him!”

Sasha was even more confused. It’s true that Matthew is working in the hospital but he’s just a cleaner. He never studied medicine so how did he cure people? Besides, there’s also the incident with Billy Newman.

At that instant, Sasha looked at Matthew suspiciously and had a feeling that he was hiding something from her. Meanwhile, Matthew looked calm and didn’t explain anything to Sasha.

After all, he had to take revenge and he hadn’t figured out why his family was murdered. For the time being, Matthew didn’t want to reveal his secrets. He didn’t even want to tell Sasha because he knew that once he shared his secrets with her, she might be dragged into danger.
