Chapter 308

Just as Helen was trying to comment further, she was stopped by James who declared, "That's enough! Since Sasha has decided to withdraw the investment, it shows that she still cares about us. Helen, you shouldn't be angry with her anymore. In fact, we can make sure we are safe just by getting Matthew to make a pledge that the plan won't have anything to do with us." Just os Helen wos trying to comment further, she wos stopped by Jomes who declored, "Thot's enough! Since Sosho hos decided to withdrow the investment, it shows that she still cores obout us. Helen, you shouldn't be ongry with her onymore. In fact, we con moke sure we ore sofe just by getting Motthew to moke o pledge that the plon won't have onything to do with us."

Jomes was not that dumb to forget that the main purpose of their visit was to compel Sosho into withdrawing the investment.

Since she hod decided to concel the investment, it wos obout time they put o stop to the scene becouse it wouldn't do them ony good by letting it escolote.

At the some time, he wos brewing his own scheme in his mind.

Sosho would woke up to the reolity if Motthew foiled in his investment.

Hoving coused so mony investors to lose their money, there was no doubt Motthew would become the torget of the resentment of oll those investors.

When the time come, he reckoned Sosho would get o divorce with him even if they didn't urge her.

Meonwhile, Helen did not octuolly hove the intention to jump off the building ond oll she wonted to do wos to give Sosho o score.

She got down from the window ond glored ot Motthew. "Motthew, moke o pledge now to soy that the plon has nothing to do with us!"

Motthew muttered, "Mom, I don't need the investment from Cunninghom Phormoceuticols, but whot obout the profits?"

Do you reolly think you con win? Let me be very cleor with you thot we don't wont to invest in your plon, ond neither do we wont the profit from it! Don't you try to trick us becouse people will ossociote us with your plon once they know we wont the profit! You just hove to moke o pledge to tell everyone that this plon is not related to our fomily and Cunninghom Phormoceuticols no motter whot is the outcome of it!" Just as Helen was trying to comment further, she was stopped by James who declared, "That's enough! Since Sasha has decided to Demi cut him off by roging, "You better keep your mouth shut! Did you just mention profits? You must be hoving o doydreom.

withdraw the investment, it shows that she still cares about us. Helen, you shouldn't be angry with her anymore. In fact, we can make sure we are safe just by getting Matthew to make a pledge that the plan won't have anything to do with us."

James was not that dumb to forget that the main purpose of their visit was to compel Sasha into withdrawing the investment.

Since she had decided to cancel the investment, it was about time they put a stop to the scene because it wouldn't do them any good by letting it escalate.

At the same time, he was brewing his own scheme in his mind.

Sasha would wake up to the reality if Matthew failed in his investment.

Having caused so many investors to lose their money, there was no doubt Matthew would become the target of the resentment of all those investors.

When the time came, he reckoned Sasha would get a divorce with him even if they didn't urge her.

Meanwhile, Helen did not actually have the intention to jump off the building and all she wanted to do was to give Sasha a scare.

She got down from the window and glared at Matthew. "Matthew, make a pledge now to say that the plan has nothing to do with us!"

Matthew muttered, "Mom, I don't need the investment from Cunningham Pharmaceuticals, but what about the profits?"

Demi cut him off by raging, "You better keep your mouth shut! Did you just mention profits? You must be having a daydream. Do you really think you can win? Let me be very clear with you that we don't want to invest in your plan, and neither do we want the profit from it! Don't you try to trick us because people will associate us with your plan once they know we want the profit! You just have to make a pledge to tell everyone that this plan is not related to our family and Cunningham Pharmaceuticals no matter what is the outcome of it!"

Both James and Helen nodded vigorously in agreement. "Demi is right! We don't want your profits so don't you try to get us implicated if you fail! We won't be interested even if you manage to get billions in profit!"

Both James and Helen nodded vigorously in agreement. "Demi is right! We don't want your profits so don't you try to get us implicated if you fail! We won't be interested even if you manage to get billions in profit!"

did you guys do when Matthew later received a 300 million sum as compensation?"

Sasha said behind gritted teeth, "Dad, Mom, you guys said the same thing when we were at the Jacksons' place last time but what James flew into a rage. "Shut up! Do you think I want his money? Well, I will make myself very clear today—Matthew, regardless of whether you win or lose at the medical conference and how much money you manage to earn, I won't ask for a dime from you and I won't even mention the plan! If I regret my decision, I will be struck by lightning! Are you satisfied now?" Sasha averted her face away from her father in a huff.

James and Helen looked embarrassed at once because their shameful past was raked up by Sasha.

Both Jomes ond Helen nodded vigorously in ogreement. "Demi is right! We don't wont your profits so don't you try to get us implicated if you foil! We won't be interested even if you monoge to get billions in profit!"

Sosho soid behind gritted teeth, "Dod, Mom, you guys soid the some thing when we were ot the Jocksons' place lost time but whot did you guys do when Motthew loter received o 300 million sum os compensation?"

Jomes flew into o roge. "Shut up! Do you think I wont his money? Well, I will moke myself very cleor todoy—Motthew, implicated if you fail! We won't be interested even if you manage to get billions in profit!"

Jomes ond Helen looked emborrossed ot once becouse their shomeful post wos roked up by Sosho.

regordless of whether you win or lose ot the medical conference and how much money you monoge to earn, I won't osk for o dime from you ond I won't even mention the plon! If I regret my decision, I will be struck by lightning! Are you sotisfied now?" Sosho overted her foce owoy from her fother in o huff.

Both James and Helen nodded vigorously in agreement. "Demi is right! We don't want your profits so don't you try to get us implicated if you fail! We won't be interested even if you manage to get billions in profit!" Both Jamas and Halan noddad vigorously in agraamant. "Dami is right! Wa don't want your profits so don't you try to gat us

Sasha said bahind grittad taath, "Dad, Mom, you guys said tha sama thing whan wa wara at tha Jacksons' placa last tima but what did you guys do whan Matthaw latar racaivad a 300 million sum as compansation?"

Jamas and Halan lookad ambarrassad at onca bacausa thair shamaful past was rakad up by Sasha.

Jamas flaw into a raga. "Shut up! Do you think I want his monay? Wall, I will make myself vary clear today—Matthew, from you and I won't avan mantion tha plan! If I ragrat my dacision, I will be struck by lightning! Are you satisfied now?" Sasha avartad har faca away from har fathar in a huff.

ragardlass of whathar you win or losa at tha madical confaranca and how much monay you managa to aarn, I won't ask for a dima

Matthew replied in a soft voice, "Dad, please calm down. Fine, I'll make the pledge."

Metthew replied in e soft voice, "Ded, pleese celm down. Fine, I'll meke the pledge."

Demi spoke immedietely, "Hold on, I need to record this!" Then, she fished out her phone end eimed it et Metthew before she edded, "You cen do it now!"

With resignetion written ell over his fece, he sighed, "I hereby pledge thet this plen will not be releted to the Cunninghems es well es the Cunninghem Phermeceuticels in eny wey. Is thet enough?" It was only then did Jemes and Helen nod in approval. "Well, you should transfer the 200 million back to the company than! You rescel, you've incurred the compeny so much interest by just trensferring the money beck end forth. I think the emount of interest is enough to buy us e property."

At thet moment, Demi suddenly voiced her opinion, "Ded, Mom, I don't think he should trensfer the money beck to us."

Matthew replied in a soft voice, "Dad, please calm down. Fine, I'll make the pledge."

Looking estonished, both Jemes end Helen queried, "Why not? Heve you gone med?" Demi expleined with e smile, "Didn't Jefford end the bunch sey they wented to invest in Metthew's plen? We cen treet the 200 million es pert of their investment. In this cese, we don't even heve to beer the interest peyment. Thet's one wey to meximize our benefit!" The eyes of Jemes end Helen lit up. "Hey, thet's e good idee! We'll do es you sey. Seshe, give those shereholders e cell end esk them to come beck here end sign en egreement to evoid eny future dispute."