Tiger immediately nodded. "You got it, Mr. Larson. We'll teach them a lesson."

"Alright, men. Break these b*stards' arms and legs. I want them to kneel on the side of the road for the rest of their lives begging for food!"

Everyone at the scene was dumbfounded. Were Tiger's lessons so severe?

The security captain and the rest of the security guards almost cried and knelt down on the ground in panic, begging for mercy. "Master Tiger, please forgive us!"

"Master Tiger, this has nothing to do with us. We were just deceived by Liam Hayes."

"Master Tiger, please just give us another chance! We were wrong!"

Sasha grew anxious. "Mr. Tiger, this... Isn't this a bit too much?"

However, the security captain and the rest were grateful. At this point, even if they were asked to give up all their family's assets, they would be willing, let alone deducting three months of their wages. Of course, everyone was extremely grateful to Sasha. She was their savior!

The security captain nodded quickly and repeatedly gave his thanks. "Thank you, President Cunningham. Thank you, Mr. Lerson. Don't worry, I will work hard in the future. You've given us back our lives, President Cunningham and Mr. Lerson. If anyone troubles you in the future, all of us will fight!"

Tiger pointed at the security captain. "You bastard, consider yourself lucky! Since President Cunningham has personally spoken for you, I'll let it slide. But if you ignore the rules again, I swear that no one will be able to save you!"

The security captain shivered and replied respectfully, "Yes, Master Tiger! I will definitely listen to President Cunningham and Mr. Larson's orders from now on."

Tiger nodded in satisfaction and looked at Matthew with a smile. "Mr. Larson, President Cunningham, I'll be heading back first. The construction site is undergoing exterior decoration recently, so I have to go take a look."

Matthew smiled and nodded while Sasha said gratefully, "Alright. Thank you, Master Tiger."

"Please, there's no need," Tiger replied quickly.

Sasha came back to her senses and laughed. "Oh, alright. Thank you, Tiger!"

Tiger smiled after hearing that. "Alright, President Cunningham. I'll leave you to your work."

Tiger led his people away. Meanwhile, Smith and the others bolted away in a panic.

They were very fortunate they weren't involved in this matter!

The security guards stood fiercely at the door, holding their batons and staring unflinchingly at the Cunninghams.

The Cunninghams looked at each other. In the end, they didn't dare to go any closer.

They didn't have a choice. These security guards just escaped from death, so they were very resentful toward the three of them.

Besides, Seshe had made her point clear too. They wouldn't care what kind of relation they had with Seshe.

If James and the other two really tried to go into the building, the security guards would definitely beat them up!

In the end, the three of them left bitterly.

The security captain rushed to Seshe's office. He tidied up his uniform and knocked on the door respectfully.

"Come in!"

It was only after he received permission did he enter Seshe's office, and he bowed as soon as he entered. "President Cunningham, Mr. Lerson, thank you for saving my life. Chapter 693

Sasha didn't say a word and just looked at Matthew next to her.

Even though she was the president of the company, she would let Matthew call the shots most of the time when he was around.

This was her way of showing respect toward her husband as his wife, and her way of telling everyone else her stance.

She wanted everyone to know that even though Matthew was a live-in son-in-law, he was very important to her.

Moreover, Matthew was also the one who made decisions on family matters!

Matthew stared at the security captain, Pete Rivers, making him break into cold sweat.

Although Matthew kept a low profile most of the time, judging from the way Tiger treated him, he knew that this person was not to be taken lightly.

After a long while, Matthew spoke softly, "Pete Rivers, if we let you be in charge of the company's security, would you be able to handle it?"

Pete was overjoyed. "Mr. Lawson, President Cunningham, don't you guys worry! I'll definitely handle the company's security well! If anything happens, you can have my head! From now on, I'll only follow you and President Cunningham's instructions. I won't listen to a word from anyone else! If you two need me to climb a mountain of swords or plunge into a sea of flames, I won't even frown!"

Matthew nodded in satisfaction. "Alright, you don't have to say such scary things. There's not too much to worry about. The most important part of your job is to ensure the president's safety, as well as to prevent people causing trouble at the company."

Sasha didn't say a word and just looked at Matthew next to her.

Pete was overjoyed. "Mr. Lawson, President Cunningham, don't you guys worry! I'll definitely handle the company's security well! If anything happens, you can have my head! From now on, I'll only follow you and President Cunningham's instructions. I won't listen to a word from anyone else! If you two need me to climb a mountain of swords or plunge into a sea of flames, I won't even frown!"

Matthew nodded in satisfaction. "Alright, you don't have to say such scary things. There's not too much to worry about. The most important part of your job is to ensure the president's safety, as well as to prevent people causing trouble at the company."

Sosho didn't say a word and just looked at Matthew next to her.

Even though she was the president of the company, she would let Matthew call the shots most of the time when he was around.

This was her way of showing respect toward her husband as his wife, and her way of telling everyone else her stance.

She wanted everyone to know that even though Matthew was a live-in son-in-law, he was very important to her.

Moreover, Matthew was also the one who made decisions on family matters!

Matthew stared at the security captain, Pete Rivers, making him break into cold sweat.

Although Matthew kept a low profile most of the time, judging from the way Tiger treated him, he knew that this person was not to be taken lightly.

After a long while, Matthew spoke softly, "Pete Rivers, if we let you be in charge of the company's security, would you be able to handle it?"

Pete was overjoyed. "Mr. Lawson, President Cunningham, don't you guys worry! I'll definitely handle the company's security well! If anything happens, you can have my head! From now on, I'll only follow you and President Cunningham's instructions. I won't listen to a word from anyone else! If you two need me to climb a mountain of swords or plunge into a sea of flames, I won't even frown!"

She wanted everyone to know that even though Matthew was a live-in son-in-law, he was very important to her.

Moraovar, Matthew was also the one who made decisions on family matters!

Matthew stared at the security captain, Pata Rivals, making him break into cold sweat.

Although Matthew kept a low profile most of the time, judging from the way Tiger treated him, he knew that this person was not to be taken lightly.

After a long while, Matthew spoke softly, "Pata Rivals, if we let you be in charge of the company's security, would you be able to handle it?"

Pata was overjoyed. "Mr. Lawson, President Cunningham, don't you guys worry! I'll definitely handle the company's security wall! If anything happens, you can have my head! From now on, I'll only follow you and President Cunningham's instructions. I won't listen to a word from anyone else! If you two need me to climb a mountain of swords or plunge into a sea of flames, I won't even frown!"

Pete nodded repeatedly. "Don't worry, leave it all to me!"

Pete nodded repeatedly. "Don't worry, leave it all to me!"

Matthew continued, "I don't know what's your relationship with Liem, but since you've decided to stay and serve in the company, then make sure you do your job properly. You now work in security, but our company will not stifle a capable person. As you know, our company has invested into a lot of new businesses, and we have opened up a lot of new branches too. All these branches need someone who can be trusted to manage them. Do you get what I mean?"

Pete was overjoyed. Of course he understood what Matthew meant.

Matthew was telling him that if he did a great job and could earn his trust, he might be able to get a position as one of the higher-ups or even as an executive in the future.

To put it plainly, if he did a good job as a security guard here, he would have the chance to earn a big fortune!

After having such a narrow escape and being given such a promise, Pete really was grateful to Sasha and Matthew.

"Mr. Lerson, President Cunningham, don't you guys worry. I... I swear with my life today that I'll do my best and be absolutely loyal to you!" Pete's voice was trembling.

Matthew nodded. "Alright, as long as you can handle it. Oh yes, go look for Tiger and apologize to him. We will all work together in the future, so there is no need to hold a grudge against anyone or small matters!"

Pete nodded repeatedly. "Don't worry, leave it all to me!"

Matthew continued, "I don't know what's your relationship with Liam, but since you've decided to stay and serve in the company, then make sure you do your job properly. Matthew nodded. "Alright, as long as you can handle it. Oh yes, go look for Tiger and apologize to him. We will all work together in the future, so there is no need to hold a grudge against anyone on small matters!"

Pete nodded repeatedly. "I will!"

Pete nodded repeatedly. "I will!"

Walking out of the office, Pete took in a deep breath and was looking bright.

Besides apologizing for his mistake and pledging his loyalty, he had originally intended to thank them for saving his life. He didn't think he would gain such an unexpected windfall.

As for apologizing to Tiger, even if Matthew didn't ask him to do so, he would have gone to apologize to him too. After all, him grabbing Tiger by his neck wasn't a smell matter.

However, with Matthew personally giving the order, this matter had become simpler because Tiger would have to give face to Matthew and not make things difficult for him. Without it, him apologizing to Tiger wouldn't be as easy.

Walking out of the Cunningham Pharmaceuticals, Pete drove to Tiger's place as fast as he could.

Tiger was at the construction site office. As soon as Pete walked through the door, he directly knelt down. "Master Tiger, about today, I was too blind to realize who you were. Please forgive me for my offense. I'm here to make amends!"

Tiger didn't even look at him. He had seen too many examples of people begging for mercy.

Pete nodded repeatedly. "I will!"

Chapter 694

Pete didn't dare to speak, so he just knelt on the ground and waited.

Only after Tiger had dealt with all his work did he glance at him. "Mr. Larson asked you to come here?"

"Mr. Matthew mentioned that I should come and learn from Master Tiger," Pete quickly replied. "If I make any mistakes in the future, please instruct me!"

Tiger nodded. Since this was Matthew's orders, he wouldn't make things difficult for Pete.

"Alright, get up," Tiger said. "Since we'll be working together in the future, I will forget about petty grievances. If there is anything you can't deal with in the future, just give me a call."

Pete was overjoyed. With Tiger's words, not only was his problem resolved, but he also gained Tiger's support, which was the key thing.

Tiger said that if there was anything he couldn't deal with, he could contact him. To put it simply, it meant that if he faced any problem outside in the future, he could use Tiger's name to get things done.

In a word, this incident was a blessing in disguise for Pete.

Of course, he was even more thankful toward Matthew and Sasha now.

If it wasn't for Sasha pleading on his behalf, he didn't know what state he would have been in now. Tiger was not someone to mess with!

"Thank you, Master Tiger! Thank you!" Pete thanked him repeatedly and bowed as he backed out from Tiger's office.

When he got out, Pete felt refreshed. All of his worries and fears disappeared.

When he got out, Pete felt refreshed. All of his worries and fears disappeared.

As he drove out of the construction site and reached the entrance, a BMW Series 7 drove over.

Pete took a glance and his gaze turned fierce immediately.

The one driving the BMW was Liem. Ever since Liem became the general manager of the construction company, he had been driving the BMW Series 7.

He had long forgotten that this BMW was something that James had promised to give to Matthew.

Liem drove this BMW Series 7 every day to show off to his friends, and he kept boasting about his business that was worth billions of dollars.

During this period of time, Liem had a lot of people gathered around him.

Those who used to be better than him also started to flatter him.

Liem's ego was greatly satisfied by all this!

Pete stepped on the accelerator and stopped in front of Liem's car, blocking him.

For this period of time, Liem had been swaggering around with his nose up in the air, and no one would dare to do something like this to him.

Liem instantly rolled down his window and swore. "Are you f*cking blind? Can't you see that I'm driving here? If you scratch my car, I'll kill you!"

Pete didn't waste his breath replying. He just opened his car door and stomped toward Liem.

Liam smiled when he saw that it was Pete. "And here I was thinking who would dare to do that! What's up, Pete? Oh right, about my in-laws visiting the company, how did it go? How about we call the others out for a meal tonight and have a feast? It'll be my treat."

Liem smiled when he saw that it was Pete. "And here I was thinking who would dare to do that! What's up, Pete? Oh right, about my in-laws visiting the company, how did it go? How about we call the others out for a meal tonight and have a feast? It'll be my treat."

Liem didn't know what had happened at the company.

Pete's face was dark and when he reached Liem, he opened the car door roughly. Then, he grabbed Liem by his collar and pulled him out of the car.

"Pete, what are you doing?" Liem exclaimed in shock.

But Pete didn't reply to him. He punched Liem directly in the face and kicked him in the stomach.

Getting kicked to the ground, Liem was furious. "Have you gone crazy? I'm Liem Heyes! How dare you hit me? Do you know how much the business I'm in charge of is worth? Billions! If I want you dead, it'd be as easy as crushing an ant." You f*cking—"

Pete didn't wait for him to finish talking and kicked him in the mouth.

Liem's nose and mouth started bleeding instantly, and his words were kicked back into his throat too.

Liem pointed at Pete while muffled cries escaped his mouth. He looked a mess.

Pete then picked up a brick from the floor and pointed it at Liem. "On your knees!" Pete yelled angrily.

Now that Liam was cursing Matthew in front of Pete, wasn't he looking for trouble?

At once, Pete rushed toward him and punched him in the face a few more times.

At once, Pete rushed toward him and punched him in the face a few more times.

Liam was beaten black and blue and his face was swollen. "Pete, I-I just wanted to help you get revenge. Isn't that what you wanted?" he asked tremblingly.

Pete gritted his teeth. "You f*cking listen to me carefully! From now on, Mr. Lerson and President Cunningham are my benefactors. If you dare to disrespect them, even a little, I'll fight you with everything I have! My life was saved by Mr. Lerson and President Cunningham anyway, so I don't mind giving it back to them! If you don't believe me, go ahead and try!"

Liam was stunned. He didn't understand why his friend would be so loyal toward Matthew!

At that moment, a few security guards at the construction site intervened to stop them.

Liam saw them and his eyes lit up. He quickly stood up and yelled, "Hey, you guys, come over quickly! This b*sterd is causing trouble and even dared to hit me! Come here now and hold him down. I'm going to hit him to death!"

The few security guards looked over, then glanced at each other. One of them suddenly shouted, "Oh gosh, there is a thief in the construction site!"

"Hurry up, let's go catch the thief!"

The security guards then turned and ran away, leaving Liam dumbfounded.

Chapter 696

Liam was stunned. He never thought that the security guards would run away.

Of course, he didn't know that those security guards were all Tiger's men.

Normally, those men wanted nothing more than to beat him up themselves. Now that they saw him being beaten up, who would want to help him?

Liam didn't manage to get anyone over, but he made Pete mad.

Pete gave him another beating. He only stopped when he had beaten Liam to a pulp and his face was swollen, and Liam had knelt down on the ground begging for mercy.

"You better behave yourself! If not, I'll beat you up every time I see you!"

After he said that, Pete drove off angrily.

Liam lay on the ground for a while before standing up with difficulty.

Enduring the pain, Liam walked into the construction site and looked for Tiger. "Master Tiger, what's with those security guards you hired? Don't they know how to do their jobs? I was getting beaten up at the entrance of the construction site just now, and they didn't even bother to help me! What kind of security guards are they?"

Tiger put both his legs on the table and said slowly, "Those security guards are my men. Are you trying to say that I'm not doing things right?"

Liam almost jumped out of his skin.

He would usually act arrogantly in front of Matthew, but he didn't dare to act this way in front of Tiger.

Matthew had to respect James and Helen, but Tiger didn't.

Matthew had to respect James and Helen, but Tiger didn't.

Besides, he knew Tiger's reputation well. Provoking Tiger would be no different than suicide!

"I-I didn't mean that. I-I was just saying... You continue with your work, Master Tiger. I'll leave first."

Liam scurried and bowed, then left the room. When he got out of the room, the expression on his face turned cold.

He gritted his teeth and growled to himself, "Matthew, this isn't over!"

He could only contain his ire at Matthew.

But after some thought, he called the police to file a report.

No matter what, he should first have Pete caught before anything else.

Soon, the police arrived, and Liam told them about what happened earlier.

The police chief ordered some of his men to apprehend Pete while he questioned Liem. "Are there any witnesses to this incident?"

Liem quickly nodded. "Yes, yes. A few security guards on our construction site saw everything. Also, our construction site has CCTV cameras. There are cameras over there too. That's solid proof!"

The police chief nodded. "Alright, there shouldn't be any problems if there are witnesses and surveillance footage. Please get the security guards to come over here. We need to ask them a few questions too."

Liem hurriedly told the few security guards to come over.

The police chief then asked, "Did anyone see him being beaten up by a man called Pete Rivers just now?"

Matthew had to respect James and Helen, but Tiger didn't.

Besides, he knew Tiger's reputation well. Provoking Tiger would be no different than suicide!

The security guards looked at each other and replied at the same time. "Officer, we saw him being beaten up, but we don't know the name of the guy who beat him up!"

The security guards looked at each other and replied at the same time. "Officer, we saw him being beaten up, but we don't know the name of the guy who beat him up!"

Liam instantly spoke up. "That person is Pete Rivers. You guys don't know him, but I do!"

The police chief nodded. "How did Pete Rivers beat up this gentleman just now?" he asked. "What was the situation that you guys saw?"

One of the security guards replied immediately, "This is what happened. At that time, we were patrolling at the back end and saw someone suspicious. It seemed like he was stealing something from the construction site so we chased after him, but we didn't succeed. We turned around and ran to the back, and saw Mr. Hayes getting beaten up by that man. We quickly ran toward them, but that person ran away. We couldn't catch up to him."

The police chief frowned. The situation was different from what Liam had told him.

Liam was dumbfounded and hurriedly said, "What-What are you guys talking about? I was blocked by Pete and beaten up at the entrance. What thief are you talking about? I wasn't at the back. You guys... Are you guys crazy?"

The security guard said sincerely, "I'm telling the truth. We really saw him being beaten up at the back."

"Officer, all of us can testify to this!"

The security guards looked at each other and replied at the same time. "Officer, we saw him being beaten up, but we don't know the name of the guy who beat him up!"

Chapter 697

The police chief frowned and glanced at Liam, displeased.

Liam panicked. “Officer, they are lying! I was beaten up right here at the entrance! They are in cahoots with the guy. They’re lying!”

The police captain waved his hand. “Enough! After we check the footage, we’ll know what happened. But I’m warning you guys; giving false testimony is against the law. You’ll pay if you really did give a false testimony!”

The few security guards nodded at the same time. “Officer, we are telling the truth. We didn’t give false testimony! From how I see it, he’s deliberately trying to frame people!”

Liam was so angry he almost went crazy. “You guys are accusing me! Don’t you have a conscience? Why won’t you tell the truth?”

No one paid attention to him.

The security guards all worked for Tiger, and Tiger had already given them orders on what to say.

Liam gritted his teeth. “Fine, you guys sure are ballsy! But let me tell you guys that there’s no use lying. We have CCTV cameras all over this place. That there is solid evidence! When we get the evidence, I’ll make sure you guys face the consequences of lying!”

The head of the security guards replied slowly, "Mr. Hayes, we are telling the truth. You, on the other hand, lied to the officer. This is not a small crime!"

"Still being stubborn, I see!" Liam said angrily. I'd like to see how long you guys can remain stubborn!"

Not long after, the person who went to get the footage returned.

Not long after, the person who went to get the footage returned.

"Did you find anything?" the police chief asked.

The person shook his head. "The CCTV cameras had malfunctioned and didn't record anything today. They've already called for repairs."

The police chief frowned. "Is this a coincidence?"

Liam was dumbfounded. If he didn't have the footage and those witnesses didn't want to help him, how was he going to sue Pete?

"Officer, they did it on purpose! They lied and broke the CCTV cameras on purpose because they went to frame me! Officer, you have to help me!" Liem said with a crying voice.

The police chief glanced at him. Although he didn't know what was going on, he could see that Liem was not welcomed here.

Otherwise, why would no one speak up for him?

"We'll look into this matter and get to the bottom of this! But before that, I hope everyone will cooperate! If in the end, our investigation leads us to discover that you lied to us, you'll have to bear the legal responsibilities!"

With that said, the police chief led his men away.

Liem was frozen in place, completely stunned, whereas the security guards laughed while walking to Tiger.

Otherwise, why would no one speak up for him?

"We'll look into this matter and get to the bottom of this! But before that, I hope everyone will cooperate! If in the end, our investigation leads us to discover that you lied to us, you'll have to bear the legal responsibilities!"

With that said, the police chief led his men away.

Liem was frozen in place, completely stunned, whereas the security guards laughed while walking to Tiger.

Not long after, the person who went to get the footage returned.

"Did you find anything?" the police chief asked.

That person shook his head. "The CCTV cameras had malfunctioned and didn't record anything today. They've already called for repairs."

The police chief frowned. "Is this a coincidence?"

Liam was dumbfounded. If he didn't have the footage and those witnesses didn't want to help him, how was he going to sue Pete?

"Officer, they did it on purpose! They lied and broke the CCTV cameras on purpose because they want to frame me! Officer, you have to help me!" Liam said with a crying voice.

The police chief glanced at him. Although he didn't know what was going on, he could see that Liam was not welcomed here.

Otherwise, why would no one speak up for him?

Chapter 698

Liam let out a long sigh and told them how he had been beaten up.

The three of them flew into a rage after hearing the story.

“Damn it, this is absurd! These b*stards, how dare they? You are the managing director of the company and I was the one who sent you there, yet they dared to treat you like that! This is like a slap to my face!” James roared.

Demi looked at Liam in distress. “Hubby, how do you feel? Does it hurt? Don’t worry, I will definitely get revenge for you! This time, I’ll personally deal with Matthew!”

Helen’s expression darkened too. “Matthew has gone too far! We’re family after all, so is it necessary to be this ruthless? Look how badly Liam was beaten up!”

Liam said pitifully, "Dad, Mom, I have been working so hard at the construction site all for our family. This is Matthew taking his revenge. He wants to chase me out of the construction company so that he can monopolize it. You guys have to help me!"

James slammed the table with his hand. "Don't worry. This time, I'll make him suffer! Just you wait! I'll ask him to come home right now!"

James gave a call to Matthew angrily, but Matthew didn't answer the call.

He then called Sasha, but she didn't answer either.

James shouted at the secretary, telling her to have Seshe answer the call, but the secretary rejected him directly. "I'm sorry, Mr. Cunningham. President Cunningham has given instructions. If you or any other family members call her, she will not answer! I still have something else to deal with, so goodbye!"

The secretary hung up the phone right away, not giving James a chance to speak.

James was enraged and called again.

Just when the call was connected, James started swearing. "Who do you think you are? You're just a dog for our company! When will you bet that I'll fire you immediately? You b*tch! How shameless! Are you this rude because your parents died early and didn't teach you any manners?"

The secretary replied calmly, "Mr. Cunningham, let me remind you that calls to the company are all recorded. I can hold you legally responsible if you slander and insult me on the phone!"

"Who the f*ck do you think you are?" James shouted furiously. "You went to talk to me about legal responsibility? F*ck you! Don't you know that the company belongs to my family? You are just a dog! A dog, understand? If I wanted to kill you, it would be as easy as turning my palm. You f*cking—"

The secretary only hung up after she finished speaking.

Meanwhile, James was dumbfounded.

He didn’t expect this secretary to be this bold, and that she would really call the police.

The others beside him had heard her too. Helen said panickily, “Honey, what should we do? They called the police. Will this turn into a big issue?”

James’s face was dark. He didn’t know either.

Demi pursed her lips. "Mom, what's there to be afraid of? The company belongs to our family, so what can she do? She's just scaring you. What's Seshe going to do, send dad to jail? Let's just wait at home. I don't think they will have the guts to report this to the police!"

James and Helen breathed out a sigh of relief.

But after a while, the police really came.

"Which one of you is Mr. James Cunningham? We received a report stating that Mr. Cunningham defamed and insulted a lady. We would like him to come with us to the police station to assist in our investigation!"

Chapter 699

The situation made everyone in the room dumbfounded as they didn't expect her to actually call the police.

Moreover, they had arrived so quickly!

"Officer, this is a family matter!" Demi said anxiously. "My father is the boss of Cunningham Pharmaceuticals, which belongs to our family! That secretary is just one of our employees. Is this really necessary?"

The police chief glanced at her. "So what if she's your employee? Does that make her less than human? So just because she is an employee, it's okay for you to insult her all you want? We are all equal. What right do you have to insult her? If you guys can insult your employees whenever you like just because you're their boss, what do we need the law for?"

Demi was rendered speechless.

The police chief was not happy with this family and waved his hand directly. "Take him away! And cuff him!"

James was handcuffed and taken away in a police car.

The others in the house panicked.

Helen sat on the ground with a thud and started wailing. "Oh, what should we do now? What was this for? James only said a few words! Was it necessary to take him away? What on earth is happening? What are we going to do now?"

Demi had a look of hatred on her face and she gritted her teeth. "Sasha, you sure are vicious! To send your own father to jail! Mom, let's go make a scene at the company! This time, even if they beat us to death, she has to give us an explanation! Let's see if she has the guts to have the security guards beat us to death in public!"

Pete smiled. "President Cunningham just happened to have something to deal with! If you don't believe me, you can go upstairs and check. Oh right, I almost forgot to tell you. President Cunningham and Mr. Larson forgot to bring their phones with them, and the phones are with me. Oh dear, now you can't even contact them. Whatever shall we do?"

As he said this, Pete showed them two phones. The phones were indeed Matthew and Seshe's.

Demi was dumbfounded. She could tell that Matthew and Seshe were hiding from them on purpose.

The longer they hid, the longer James had to suffer.

Seshe and Matthew didn't even have their phones with them, so what could they do?

This time, they really dug a hole for themselves.

"You are lying! There's no way these are their phones!" Demi continued to deny till the end.

Pete laughed. "If you don't believe me, you can call them yourself."

Demi gritted her teeth and took out her phone to call Seshe's number.

One of the phones in Pete's hand rang.

Demi quickly dialed Matthew's number, and the other phone rang.

This time, they were completely stunned!

Chapter 700

In one of the best private rooms on the second floor of Shanghai Nights restaurant, Matthew and Sasha were sitting having their meal. Sasha's eyes were red and swollen. It was obvious she had just finished crying, but the look in her eyes was firm.

Matthew and her were the ones who arranged for James to be arrested. This time, she wanted to teach James a lesson. She wanted him to know that there was a limit to causing trouble! As for Matthew, he didn't speak up for James this time either. After all, James had crossed his bottom line with what happened.

Usually, the Cunningham family could treat him however they liked at home, but they absolutely couldn't upset Sasha. That was his bottom line and also his principle! Of course, this matter wasn't over yet. Matthew had decided to fight Sam White, as well as the White Family, to the end.

That night, Sasha didn't go home and stayed over at the company. Although she felt bad, she needed to teach James a lesson this time round.

Meanwhile, Matthew went back to Lakeside Garden, where the servant had already prepared the various herbs. Matthew had the servant go rest while he took everything out and started refining the herbs.

He had tried refining the Thousand-Year Snow Lotus before, but the container he used at that time couldn't handle high temperatures, so he failed in the end. But with this pill furnace, it would be different. This pill furnace was made of iron from a meteorite. The tempering method was also extremely special, so this sort of high temperature wouldn't be a problem.

Matthew controlled the temperature and gradually added in the herbs. This time, he was extremely careful. The Thousand-Year Snow Lotus was extremely rare, so he couldn't afford to make any mistakes. After three hours of hard work, the medicine was finally refined!

Matthew opened up the pill furnace to find one pill inside. He had done this on purpose as he wanted the essence of all the herbs condensed into that single pill. Not only could this pill cure Netelie, but it could also cause her to be reborn, where her physical fitness would be far better than ordinary people. The reason he did this was because Netelie had been sick for years and her body was really weak. Even if she really was cured, her physical fitness would still not be as good as anyone else. Matthew didn't just want to cure Netelie; he wanted her body to be stronger than anyone else!

Taking a deep breath, he fed Netelie the pill. Then, he sat next to her and waited anxiously.

After a while, Netelie started sweating. Matthew knew that this was due to the pill being too strong. A normal body wouldn't be able to handle it, and it would be fatal for a weak person to be given too much nourishment suddenly. But he was there, so there wouldn't be a problem.

He took out his silver needles and used acupuncture to guide the medicine to nourish Natalie's body slowly, not letting the medicine take effect all at once. He had used this method on Billy's daughter before. The effects on Natalie's body would be the same this time as well, but Matthew was even more cautious. After all, he only had two family members left in his life—one was his wife, Sasha, and the other one was his sister, Natalie. These two were the ones he would protect with his very life. He would never let anything bad happen to them!

It took three hours for Natalie to completely absorb all the medicine. At that moment, Natalie's pale face regained some color. Before this, Natalie had been lying on the bed in a coma. She looked withered and didn't have any life in her. But now, Natalie seemed full of vitality. She looked as if she was just a normal person who was asleep, and she didn't appear sick at all.

Matthew saw all of this and let out a long sigh of relief. He had finally cured his sister!
