

Chapter 501 Afraid Of Socializing

Tyson refused Celia's request to see Brea again. His constant refusal bugged her and she couldn't help but ask, "Why are you always refusing to meet Brea? Are you hiding something from me?"

Alita also cast an inquiring look at him. "Is Brea your ex-girlfriend?"

Tyson was speechless by their accusations for a while. "Stop spouting nonsense. I don't know Brea at all," he hurriedly explained.

He cast a quick look toward Brea and quickly thought of a reasonable excuse. "Cece, don't overthink. I really have nothing to do with Brea. Look, since they are wearing their masks, I just think that Wayne and Brea want to avoid the needless attention that they would get if they were to be spotted by the others. It's better if we don't go over to greet them."

Celia was still unconvinced. She paused and pondered before retorting, "But Wayne and Brea are both our good friends. Wouldn't it be rude not to greet them since we are eating in the same restaurant? Besides, there are not many people here. We wouldn't draw a lot of attention even if we go over and have a chat."

While Tyson wanted to turn down Celia's request again, he was afraid that it would arouse her suspicion. In the end, he was left with no choice. He gritted his teeth and followed her to Brea's table.

Alita followed along and said with a smile, "I want to meet the Brea that has become so popular recently. You don't mind me tagging along, do you, Cece?"

Celia smiled and shook her head. "No, I don't mind."

Wayne turned his head and saw Tyson and Celia coming over with Alita following closely behind. With an embarrassed smile, he greeted Tyson and Celia. "Hello. What an unexpected surprise! No, it must be fate that we meet here."

Tyson felt a little awkward. He didn't look at Brea but gave Wayne a quick wink instead.

Having known each other for a long time, they developed a tacit understanding. Wayne quickly understood what he meant.

Tyson wanted him to take Brea away.

After winking at Wayne, Tyson turned to Celia and whispered, "Cece, I need to go to the washroom."

Celia was about to give a proper introduction of Tyson to Brea, but he left quickly before she could begin.

Celia couldn't help but sigh. She could only introduce Alita to them first. "Let me introduce her to you two. This is my best friend, Alita Dawson."

Alita initiated a handshake to the two and further introduced herself. "I also work in the entertainment circle, but I work behind the scenes. I'm Ronald's assistant."

The two shook hands with her and introduced themselves to Alita.

After the self-introductions, Brea surveyed Alita from head to toe and said nonchalantly, "So, you are that new assistant of Ronald. You are good-looking and appear to have a sunny personality. But I wonder how long you can work with him. Everyone knows that he is difficult to work with. You'd better be careful."

Hearing Brea's comment, Alita thought to herself that everyone knew Brea was also a difficult person to work with.

Of course, she could not voice her thought aloud. Instead, she just smiled and politely replied, "Actually, it's not that difficult to work with Ronald. I'm confident of my abilities, so I'm sure I can stick around for a long time."

Brea nodded, "Okay. But, he often changes his assistant and it affects our collaboration."

Seeing that they had warmed up to one another, Celia apologized to Brea, "I'm sorry, Brea. My husband went to the washroom. I will introduce him to you when he gets back."

"Is he really afraid of socializing? He escaped so quickly. Am I that scary?"

As she spoke, she unconsciously turned her head and looked thoughtfully at Tyson's back.

Somehow, she felt that he looked awfully like Nolan.