

Chapter 741 The Intimate Night

Tyson leaned forward and wanted to kiss Celia.

Celia was a little shy. She gave him a gentle push and said, "Stop. Someone might see us. Let's first go home."

Tyson gave up kissing her. He quickly started the car and drove back home.

Once inside the house, Tyson carried Celia back to the bedroom and passionately kissed her.

When Tyson bit Celia's red lips, she was in a daze. She briefly experienced an all-over sweetness.

They hadn't shared such intimacy in a very long time. Celia had almost forgotten how much joy and satisfaction the deep kiss brought her.

"I really love you, honey. I believed my love for you outweighed yours. Although I was happy with that, when I heard you defend me in front of Alec today, one thought came to my mind."

His passionate kiss overwhelmed her. His whispered words were so romantic that they made her heart flutter, and she felt like she was in a dream-like state.

With her arms around his neck, Celia looked at him and asked, "What thought?"

Tyson didn't say anything. His heated stare, combined with the intimate pressure of his knees against her legs, stirred a physical and emotional reaction within her. She felt a warmth spreading through her body, her breath quickening, and her heart pounding in her chest.

"How I will fuck you to oblivion!"

Celia felt her heart racing and her face flushed as the words resonated within her. She felt a surge of anticipation.

It was more unbearable than ever.

Her cheeks were flushed with excitement. A light sheen of sweat was on her forehead, and her lips were slightly parted. Her entire being was obviously focused on the prospect of what was to come.

"I... I..."

Celia struggled for a while to finish her sentence. She could only pull Tyson close. However, she couldn't resist releasing alluring moans.

Her actions spoke louder than words.

Tyson held her tightly as if trying to absorb her into himself, and his lips moved passionately against hers. His hands moved slowly, caressing her skin and exploring her curves. He wanted to savor every moment with her.

While restlessly twisting, Celia brought their lower abdomens together.

She indulged in it while enduring his thrusts one after another, hoping that this moment would alleviate the loneliness and emptiness she had been feeling for so long.

They felt a deep connection and held each other tightly as they expressed their love. The physical intimacy was intense, and when it was over, they both felt a sense of calm and contentment as they embraced one another in sleep.

The next day, Celia slept in until noon.

She massaged her sore legs. The entire crazed sex session from last night flashed through her mind. She couldn't help but feel shy.

Even though they had been married for a long time, it wasn't easy to satisfy the needy man.

The phone on the nightstand started to ring. She quickly picked it up after looking down and realizing it was from Brea.

"Cece, I'm so sorry. I failed to convince Nora. She is still furious. She did not blacklist me, but she also did not respond to any of my messages."

Celia was sad, but she knew Brea had done her best. She said, "It is okay. Thanks for the help. Don't worry. I'll figure out how to make her forgive me."

Brea comforted her, "Cece, I'll continue to help you. By the way, there is a fashion event today. Nora will be there, and the brand owner has invited me. If you don't mind, I can take you there so you can see her and talk to her in person."

Celia paused and looked at her calendar.

It was the weekend. Since she had nothing else to do, she agreed, "Brea, thank you. Send me the address, and I'll meet you."

After the call, Brea sent her the address. Celia read the message and immediately got dressed.

Tyson was in the kitchen preparing lunch. When he saw how stunning she was dressed, he took her in his arms and asked, "Honey, where are you going?"

Celia said, "Today, Brea and Nora will both go to the same fashion event. I want to talk to Nora, so I asked Brea for the address."

Tyson didn't object because he understood that if Celia didn't resolve the conflict with Nora, she would carry that guilt with her for the rest of her life. He just said, "Before leaving, eat something. Don't hurt yourself, and take good care of yourself."

Chapter 742 Meeting Nora

Tyson returned to his study after Celia left.

He got a call from Briar as soon as he turned on the computer.

"Sir, I've discovered that the Shaw family in Captern was indeed connected to your mother's car accident, and someone has been obstructing my investigation and even attempting to kill me."

When he heard this, Tyson growled, "Be careful!"

Tyson was about to go to Captern, and before that, they revealed themselves out of their eagerness to cause trouble. For him, it was advantageous.

He continued, "How is the company faring?"

Briar replied, "Everything is good there. You are always welcome to go there and oversee the overall situation."

In fact, Tyson had planned to go to Captern to build his career there before learning that his mother's death was related to the Shaw family in Captern. Knowing the truth, he asked Briar directly to begin a thorough layout and establish a branch there.

It was time to introduce himself to the people of Captern.

In the meantime, Celia arrived at the event in a well-groomed outfit. Brea had been waiting for her at the door. After spotting her, she brought Celia inside the venue.

The decorations included intricate flower arrangements, expensive lighting fixtures, and various furniture pieces that aligned with Orchi's signature style. It was clear that a lot of effort had gone into making the event look luxurious and unique.

While walking, Brea explained to Celia, "Cece, take care not to wander. This time, a big shot came. She is a member of the Carter family, one of Captern's four largest families. I've never met her before. You should exercise caution because I don't know what sort of person she is."

Celia nodded. "Be at ease. The only reason I came here is to see Nora. I'm not going to wander."

Brea took her to one of the lounges and said, "I need to socialize with some people, but taking you with me is inconvenient. More so, I think you detest interacting with these people. Please feel free to take a rest right here. Later, I'll take you to meet Nora."

Celia smiled and replied, "You are right. You can go. However, you can tell me where Nora is. I can find her myself rather than just sit here."

Brea had no choice but to tell Celia where Nora was.

Celia sent Brea on her way and then went in search of Nora.

As soon as Celia approached the door, which was only partially open, she overheard a quarrel from inside.

"What are you doing here?" Nora asked.

She was perched on the sofa and was glaring at Aubrey Carter.

"You are not welcome here!"

Since she was young, Nora had detested Aubrey's affectation. Due to the situation involving Tyson and Celia, Nora was recently in a foul mood, and as a result, she was rude to Aubrey.

Before Aubrey could respond, her follower Alicia Archer snarled angrily on her behalf, saying, "We came to see you out of kindness. What's wrong with your attitude? It makes sense why Nolan dislikes you."

Nora despised Alicia even more. Aubrey used Alicia without her knowledge, and she followed her blindly.

Nora became even more incensed upon hearing Alicia demeaning her. Nora reprimanded, "Out of kindness? There won't be any wicked people in the world if you are kind-hearted. You don't need to act polite in this place. Get out! I'd prefer not to see you!"

Pointing at the door, Nora shouted, "I'll say it just once more. You're not welcome here! If you're wise enough, leave immediately. Otherwise, I'll call security."

Observing that the two of them were not planning to leave, Nora added, "There are so many people outside, and the security guards don't know any of you. You will be the one embarrassed if you are dragged outside!"