

Chapter 756 Eavesdropping

Above all, Gretchen couldn't help but feel a deep admiration for Tyson's skills and abilities.

In the younger generation of the Shaw family, there was no one who could match his capabilities. In truth, there was no one in the family who could bring the family to new heights.

It was uncertain what kind of impact Tyson's return to the family would have on the Shaw family's position and status, given his methods and ambitions. If he were to take charge, there was a possibility that the family's status would elevate among the four great families.

Noticing Gretchen's uneasiness, the butler hesitated briefly before suggesting a solution. "Madam, I believe Tyson is a good person. Would you like me to arrange a meeting between you and him? He is, after all, a part of the Shaw family. Additionally, his father is aware of his existence. You have had a good relationship with him for many years, but now your relationship is strained because of Tyson. Letting Tyson come back may lead to him forgiving you."

"Why do I need his forgiveness? Everything I've done has been for him. Out of all the children and grandchildren in the Shaw family, he is the most disappointing one. He even caused a huge fight with the entire family over a woman who was completely disgraceful!"

Despite what she said, Gretchen couldn't help but let out a sigh. The thought of her son's quarrel with her and his refusal to come home after learning about Tyson's existence left her feeling distressed and angry. She knew that he was currently living in a house in the suburbs of Captern.

Gretchen couldn't help but think that she must have had some karmic debt to her son in a past life. How else could she explain that she'd been constantly cleaning up his messes and supporting him throughout her life?

Gretchen thought for a moment before responding, "I'm not in any hurry. Let's see what happens for a while."

The butler did not press her further. "I understand. I won't tell anyone."

"You don't need to worry about keeping it a secret. The important thing is that you know what to do. The truth is, there's not one person in the Shaw family who is trustworthy and kind. They will investigate it themselves, regardless of whether you reveal the secret or not."

Neither of them noticed the figure standing at the door, as they were preoccupied with their own concerns. The person left silently after their conversation ended.

Shortly after, the same individual entered Isla Shaw's room, and quickly proceeded to lock the door behind them. Isla, Hendrix Shaw's wife was shocked by what she'd heard.

"Are you sure? Is it true that bastard is back?"

Isla's face darkened and her hand trembled as she held her coffee.

She pushed the coffee away and fixed her gaze on the servant who was bending before her. "Apart from this, did you hear anything else?"

The servant leaned in and replied softly, "It seems that your mother-in-law has developed some fondness for that illegitimate child. The butler suggested arranging a meeting between them, and though she refused, it appears that she wants him back."

Isla's face darkened once again with a hint of malice as she threw a wad of cash at the servant. "Continue to watch the old lady and let me know about any news at once."

The servant picked up each bill and then left hurriedly.

Isla's anxiety grew as she thought about the possibility of Tyson being recognized by the Shaw family. Being Hendrix's childhood playmate and wife, she was all too aware of his love for Tyson's mother. Hendrix had given up his inheritance rights just to be with that poor woman. If Tyson was accepted into the Shaw family, Hendrix would undoubtedly give everything to Tyson. Isla was now faced with a dilemma; what was she supposed to do? What would happen to her son?

Isla couldn't bear the thought of Tyson returning and claiming her son's inheritance. She was determined to prevent such an event from happening at all costs!

After Gretchen forced the separation between Hendrix and that woman, he was then forced to marry Isla. After that, that woman had been involved in a car accident, and died. Isla thought everything was settled after the accident, and that the Shaw family would accept only her and her son.

No one could have predicted that Tyson would return after so long!

Isla couldn't help but wonder why Tyson was fortunate enough to survive the car accident.

Even if Tyson had returned, what difference would it make? She would go to any lengths to ensure that nobody took anything away from her son, absolutely nobody!

As she raised the cup to take another sip of coffee, a subtle expression of cunning briefly crossed her lovely face.

Chapter 757 Targeted By Shaw Family

On the following day.

Tyson visited the Captern branch of Semshy Group to attend to matters. Prior to departing, he spoke to Celia. "Cece, there are several unresolved matters in the new company, so please don't hurry to begin working. Instead, take some time to relax at home until everything is sorted out."

Celia agreed with a sweet smile and gave Tyson a morning kiss as she stood on tiptoe.

"I didn't intend to avoid making love with you yesterday. I was just exhausted from an hours-long flight and spending the remaining half of the day unpacking. I will be sure to make it up to you later tonight."

As she was speaking, her face grew increasingly red. Her voice became so low that her last few words were barely audible.

Tyson found her adorable in that moment, so he cupped her face and planted a deep kiss on her lips.

After kissing for a few minutes, he released her and said, "I'm looking forward to your performance tonight."

He turned and left after that.

Celia walked towards the balcony and watched as he got into the car. She remained there until his car disappeared, and only then did she return to her room.

She began by opening the shopping application and purchased various supplies for their lovely home. Subsequently, she proceeded to the online supermarket to buy a vast selection of vegetables and fruits to stock the refrigerator.

As she completed her work, it was almost noon. Considering that Tyson might be fatigued on his first day at the new company, she decided to surprise him by sending him lunch.

She followed an online tutorial and began cooking. She took great care in preparing lunch for Tyson, then hailed a taxi to deliver it to his workplace.

In the meeting room of the branch company of the Semshy Group.

Tyson had a grave expression on his face as he listened to the report from the senior executives. "Sir, the company appears to be targeted lately. Some of our previous cooperation agreements have been unilaterally broken by our partners."

With caution, someone else spoke up. "Sir, I've heard that the Shaw family has announced that no one is allowed to engage in any business dealings with Semshy Group. If they do, it will be considered opposition against the Shaw family. Even though the Shaw family in Captern and the Shaw family in Hosworth are not closely related, they are still considered family. Is there any bad blood between you and the Shaw family here that would cause them to boycott us like this?"

Tyson remained quiet.

Another man whispered, "Sir, do you think it would be wise to arrange a meeting with the head of the Shaw family? Our branch company has only just been established, and we are operating in an entirely unfamiliar location. If we are sidelined by local businesses, our growth will be significantly hampered."

The words heightened the gravity of the situation in the meeting room.

All eyes were fixed on Tyson, waiting for his response.

Tyson reassured his colleagues. "Don't fret. I'll take care of it. The meeting is adjourned."

Upon hearing his statement, everyone fell silent and began to leave the meeting room one by one.

At this moment, Celia arrived at the office. As she stepped into the elevator, she overheard two employees quietly talking in the corner.

"What could our CEO have done to become a target of the Shaw family? I've been working in this city for years, and I've never heard of the Shaw family being so flagrant in their dealings with a company! I just landed a new job here. I've heard that Semshy Group has a bright future in Hosworth. I thought it was a good decision to join the company, but I never expected this turn of events. I'm worried that I might lose my job again."

The second worker expressed similar concerns. "I share your worries. As a foreign company targeted by the local Shaw Group, it might not survive for long. I have even more to worry about. I just purchased a house, and I still have an outstanding loan to repay. If my job fails, and I'm unable to repay the loan, I don't know what I will do."

After hearing their conversation, Celia couldn't help but feel worried about Tyson.

The receptionist greeted Celia with a smile as soon as she reached the top floor. "Mrs. Shaw, let me escort you to the CEO's office."

Celia was taken aback and inquired, "Do you recognize me?"

The receptionist acknowledged the question with a nod. "Yes, the CEO has mentioned in our group chat that you are his wife. Therefore, if you visit the company, we are obliged to grant you access."

Celia felt delighted as the receptionist led her to the CEO's office, which she arrived at quickly.

Celia expressed her gratitude to the receptionist and requested she leave before going into the CEO's office. As she opened the door, she overheard Tyson having a conversation on the phone. "We had a mutual agreement on the previous project. Why the sudden change of mind?"

The person on the other end of the phone replied, "I apologize, Mr. Shaw. It's not that I have changed my mind willingly. The problem is that the Shaw family holds immense power. All the companies, including mine, are afraid of having any business dealings with you. If you want to operate smoothly in this area, my advice would be to resolve the matter with the Shaw family first."

He hung up the phone. When Tyson noticed Celia's arrival, his dark expression softened into a smile as he greeted her. "Honey, what brings you to my office?"
