

A Man Like None Other Novel Chapter 5741 |

Full Read Online Chapter 5741 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5741

“The Tenth Heaven... the Myriad Souls Demon Sect...”

David repeated the name softly, his eyes flashing.

He knew that the Tenth Heaven was far superior to the Ninth Heaven, a place teeming with powerful figures, numerous sects, and far more ruthless rules.

Shen Zhiyan looked at David and said in a deep voice, “Mr. Chen, the Tenth Heaven is no small matter, far surpassing the Ninth Heaven.”

“It is filled with countless powerful figures, and Celestial Immortals are everywhere.”

“The Myriad Souls Demon Sect doesn’t sound like a benevolent place. If the Soul Devourer goes there, he will likely thrive. This matter needs careful consideration...”

Liu Xue also looked worried and grasped David’s hand: “The Tenth Heaven is too dangerous. I’m worried about you going alone.”

David was silent for a moment, his gaze sweeping over everyone, finally becoming unwavering.

“Senior Shen, Liu Xue, my mind is made up.”

David’s voice was calm, yet carried an undeniable resolve. “That Soul Devourer is a vengeful and treacherous villain. He has already declared that if I do not go, he will return one day, and the Nine Heavens will be devastated. This scourge must be eradicated!”

He paused, then continued, “Moreover, my path is not limited to the Nine Heavens. Higher worlds and stronger opponents are what I pursue. I must go to the Tenth Heaven!”

He looked at Shen Zhiyan and Yan Nantian: “Senior Shen, Sect Master Yan, the Nine Heavens have just been established. They appear to be subjugated, but in reality, undercurrents are surging.”

“The Yama Heavenly Sect and the New Heavenly Gate both need your presence to stabilize them.”

“The Dragon Clan army also needs time to recuperate and digest what they have gained. It is more important for you to stay than to come with me to the Tenth Heaven.”

He then looked at Liu Xue and said softly, “Xue’er, the Heavenly Gate has just been established, and everything needs to be rebuilt. You are the Lord of the Heavenly Gate, and we cannot do without you.”

“Besides, the future of the Tenth Heaven is uncertain, and I can’t let you risk your life with me. You stay in the Ninth Heaven, develop the Heavenly Gate, and wait for my return.”

Finally, he looked at the eager Old Black and the concerned Cen Biqing: “Old Black, Little Qing, the Dragon Clan army is in your hands. Assist Liu Xue in guarding the Ninth Heaven, and at the same time, strive to improve your strength. Once I have a firm foothold in the Tenth Heaven, I may need your help.” David’s arrangements were clear and well-thought-out. Although everyone was worried, they knew it was the best choice at present.

Shen Zhiyan sighed, knowing that dissuasion was useless, and could only solemnly instruct, “The Tenth Heaven is not like here. Be careful in everything, and don’t be a hero in any situation. Protect yourself first.” Yan

Nantian patted David’s shoulder: “Mr. Chen, take care! Yama Heavenly Sect will always be your support.”

Liu Xue’s beautiful eyes were filled with tears, and a thousand words were condensed into one sentence: “You must come back safely.”

Old Hei said in a deep voice: “Don’t worry, Mr. Chen, with me here, the Nine Heavens won’t be in chaos! You should establish a territory over there as soon as possible so we can come and enjoy the good life with you!”

Although Cen Biqing didn’t say much, her cold eyes were full of admonition.

David kept everyone’s kindness in his heart and nodded heavily.

He didn’t delay any longer, took a deep breath, and his immortal power surged up.

He slowly moved his hands in the void. His understanding of the laws of space far surpassed that of his peers. At this moment, he exerted all his strength and drew upon the power of the void.

“Buzz—!”

A distorted void passage, radiating unstable fluctuations, was forcibly torn open before him!

At the other end of the passage lay a chaotic, blurry world, exuding an aura far more vast and dangerous than the Ninth Heaven—the Tenth Heaven!

“Awoo!”

The little fire qilin on his shoulder seemed to sense something, letting out a low growl that was both excited and slightly tense, its tiny claws gripping David’s clothes tightly.

David turned back one last time, taking a deep look at his companions and the world he had fought for, his eyes resolute, devoid of any lingering attachment.

“Everyone, take care!”

Before his words had even finished, he took a step forward, his figure disappearing into the turbulent void passage.

The little fire qilin followed closely behind.

After he entered, the void passage flickered violently a few times, finally slowly closing and vanishing.

Inside the Burial Soul Abyss, only Shen Zhiyan and the others remained, staring silently at the spot where David had disappeared

A Man Like None Other Novel Chapter 5742 |

Full Read Online Chapter 5742 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5742

The moment David stepped into the void passage, a force far more violent and chaotic than any previous spatial traversal swept over him!

This passage to the Tenth Heaven was extremely unstable, seemingly on the verge of collapse. The surroundings weren’t tranquil darkness, but rather filled with multicolored, yet incredibly dangerous, void turbulence.

These turbulent currents, like invisible blades, frantically cut and tore at David’s protective immortal aura, emitting a teeth-grinding hissing sound.

David's expression was grave. He channeled his immortal power to its fullest extent, creating layer upon layer of defense around himself, while simultaneously pushing the laws of spacetime to their limit, attempting to find a relatively stable path within the turbulence. The Dragon-Slaying Sword was gripped in his hand, ready to cleave open a fatal spatial rift at any moment.

However, the solidity and chaos of the Tenth Heaven's barrier far exceeded his expectations.

A deep purple spatial storm, resembling a colossal dragon, formed without warning, carrying an aura of annihilation, and descended upon him!

"Not good!"

David's pupils constricted sharply. He unleashed his power to the limit, and the Dragon-Slaying Sword erupted with a dazzling sword light, slashing fiercely at the storm!

"Boom—!"

A violent collision erupted within the passage. David felt an indescribable force surge through him, a sweet taste rising in his throat, and blood spilled from the corner of his mouth again.

He struggled to steady himself, but the passage became even more unstable due to the impact, and the surrounding space shattered inch by inch like a mirror!

"Crack... Bang!"

Finally, in a dizzying, out-of-control sensation, David's protective immortal aura shattered completely, and he was thrown violently out of the collapsing void passage by an irresistible force!

It felt like a long time had passed, yet it also felt like only a moment.

"Bang!!"

With a muffled thud, David's body crashed heavily to the ground like a meteorite, creating a deep crater in the hard rock.

The violent tremor made his vision go black; it felt as if his internal organs had shifted, and his bones groaned under the strain.

He lay at the bottom of the pit, coughing violently, each cough bringing up crimson blood.

After a while, the dizziness and excruciating pain subsided slightly.

He struggled to lift his head and looked around.

What came into view was a completely unfamiliar scene. The sky was a deep azure, appearing exceptionally high and distant .

The air was filled with an almost impenetrable spiritual energy of heaven and earth, mixed with the fragrance of various plants and trees, and... a faint, savage, and fierce aura.

He was atop a towering mountain peak, looking down at the vast, undulating forest stretching to the horizon.

Ancient trees reached for the sky, vines intertwined, and various exotic flowers and herbs vied for attention, all radiating extraordinary energy fluctuations.

The aura of laws here was completely different from that of the Ninth Heaven, much heavier, more ancient, and more active.

The spatial structure was also astonishingly stable. David felt that tearing through space here would be several times more difficult than in the Ninth Heaven.

“Is this... the Tenth Heaven?”

David wondered, a hint of uncertainty and wariness in his heart.

He struggled to climb out of the deep pit, but the movement aggravated his internal and external injuries, causing him to groan again.

Subconsciously, he instinctively tried to call out the voice of his mentor and friend in his sea of consciousness: “Senior, Senior Chiyun, where are we...”

His words trailed off.

His sea of consciousness was empty.

Apart from the quietly floating Great Luo Golden Scripture and the Demon-Suppressing Tower, there was no longer that familiar, slightly demonic soul flame.

An indescribable sense of loss overwhelmed David like a tidal wave.

All along, no matter the danger or predicament, the Chiyun Demon Lord had always been there to remind or help him at crucial moments; that silent companionship had become a habit.

Now, with the Chiyun Demon Lord restored to his physical form and gone to find his Lingyue Fairy, this empty sea of consciousness made David truly feel what it meant to be alone for the first time.

A Man Like None Other Novel Chapter 5743 |

Full Read Online Chapter 5743 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5743

He took a deep breath, forcibly suppressing the hesitation in his heart.

He had chosen this path; no matter how difficult, he had to keep going!

“Awoo...”

A weak cry from pulled him back from his thoughts.

He saw the little fire qilin also poking its head out from the edge of the pit. It seemed that because of its small size, it had been protected by the aftershocks of David’s immortal power; its injuries weren’t serious, only a little dizzy.

At this moment, it was licking the bloodstains on David’s face with its little tongue, its big eyes filled with worry.

David felt a warmth in his heart and stroked its little head: “Little guy, I’m alright.”

However, this tenderness didn’t last long.

A foul wind suddenly swept in from his side and behind! Accompanied by a low, violent roar!

Although David was severely injured, his fighting instincts remained. He whirled around!

There stood a giant ape, over three zhang tall, covered in jet-black, stiff fur, its muscles bulging like boulders.

It glared with scarlet eyes, opened its blood-red maw, and brandished its massive claws, powerful enough to split mountains and shatter rocks, lunging fiercely at David, who had just managed to get up and was in dire condition!

This giant ape exuded a ferocious aura, possessing strength equivalent to about the third rank of the Celestial Immortal Realm!

It was clearly the overlord of this area, viewing David's fall as an invasion and prey!

"Careful!"

David tried to draw his sword, but his internal energy surged, slowing his movements for a moment!

At this critical moment!

"Awooo—!!"

The little fire qilin that had been perched on David's shoulder let out a roar, completely disproportionate to its size, filled with majesty and fury!

Its small body instantly erupted with a dazzling crimson light, like a small sun, leaping from David's shoulder to meet the enormous giant ape head-on!

It opened its mouth and spewed out a condensed crimson flame, small yet containing pure Qilin True Fire, scorching towards the giant ape's face!

The giant ape clearly hadn't expected this tiny creature to dare attack first. Its fur was singed by the flame, and in pain, it roared, its attack slowing slightly. Its giant claw changed direction and struck the little fire Qilin!

"Bang!" Although the little fire Qilin was agile, the difference in strength was too great. It was struck by the gale -force wind generated by the giant claw and let out a mournful cry. Its small body flew backward like a kite with a broken string, crashing into a large tree and falling to the ground. Its aura immediately weakened, and its beautiful crimson scales dimmed considerably. "Fire Qilin!" David's eyes widened in fury!

The little fire Qilin was injured while protecting him! A surge of anger instantly dispelled the pain and weakness in his body! His companion's injury ignited the ferocity within him! "You beast! You're courting death!"

David roared, ignoring his injuries and forcefully activating the remaining immortal power within his body! Sensing its master's rage, the Dragon-Slaying Sword hummed, its cold sword light gleaming once more!

"Five Elements Sword Domain, open!" Although its range was only a few feet, the five-colored sword domain instantly expanded, enveloping the giant ape! Sword energy crisscrossed, its power greatly reduced, yet still sharp! Trapped within the sword domain, the giant ape's movements faltered.

Sensing the sword energy cutting through its skin, a hint of surprise flashed in its crimson eyes, but more so, ferocity! It roared, swinging its giant claws, attempting to tear apart this hateful domain with brute force! "Time Slowdown!" Despite the piercing pain in his soul,

David activated the Time Law once more! The giant ape's movements visibly slowed for a moment! Now! "Die!" David moved with his sword, becoming one with it, transforming into a streak of light tearing through the sky!

The Dragon-Slaying Sword, imbued with his unwavering will and chilling killing intent, pierced with pinpoint accuracy towards the giant ape's relatively vulnerable throat! "

" Blood spurted out! The giant ape's massive body stiffened abruptly. It looked down in disbelief at the cold sword piercing its throat, letting out a hissing sound. The ferocity and crimson in its eyes quickly faded, replaced by fear and despair.

A Man Like None Other Novel Chapter 5744 |

Full Read Online Chapter 5744 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5744

Finally, its mountain-like body crashed to the ground, shaking the earth.

David, leaning on his sword, knelt on one knee, panting heavily, cold sweat beading on his forehead. This sword strike had almost drained the little strength he had just recovered, and his injuries seemed to have worsened.

He disregarded his own condition and rushed to the little fire qilin, carefully picking it up and channeling a surge of pure immortal energy into it.

Fortunately, the qilin, being an auspicious beast, possessed remarkable vitality; merely injured, it quickly recovered under the nourishment of David's immortal energy, affectionately nuzzling David's palm, though its spirit remained somewhat weak.

Looking at the giant ape beneath his feet, David's heart stirred.

He was new to the place, knew nothing of it, and was still recovering from his injuries, desperately needing a guide and transportation.

This giant ape was quite powerful and should be familiar with the area.

He tried to communicate with it using his divine sense, conveying his intention to subdue it.

However, although the giant ape was near death, its eyes still held a defiant arrogance, and it emitted a low, threatening growl, clearly determined to die rather than submit.

David frowned slightly, then a golden glint flashed in his eyes.

He no longer suppressed the divine dragon power within him, originating from the blood of the dragon emperor. A vast, ancient, and supreme dragon's might, like a sleeping emperor awakening, slowly emanated from his body!

This pressure wasn't directed at the physical body, but directly affected the soul and the very source of his bloodline! It was especially intimidating to demonic beasts!

The once arrogant giant ape trembled violently the moment it sensed this dragon's might!

It was an absolute crushing force on a life level, the instinctive fear of a lower being facing a higher ruler!

The ferocity in its eyes vanished completely, replaced by boundless awe and submission. It struggled to lower its head, emitting mournful whimpers to show its surrender.

David dispelled his dragon might, walked to the giant ape's head, placed his hand on its forehead, and transmitted the command through divine sense: "Submit to me, take me away from this forest, and I will spare your life."

The giant ape showed no further resistance, obediently lowering its head in acceptance. David breathed a sigh of relief, sealing the wound in the giant ape's throat, saving its life. He flipped over and mounted the giant ape's broad, platform-like back, placing the little fire unicorn in front of him.

"Let's go!" the giant ape growled, stood up, and began its arduous journey through the vast primeval forest. Sitting on the giant ape's back,

David finally had the opportunity to carefully observe this unknown land. The forest was unimaginably ancient; some ancient trees were so thick that dozens of people would need to encircle them, their canopies blocking out the sky.

The forest was dimly lit, filled with the damp scent of decaying leaves and a rich aura of wood spirit, but also concealing countless dangerous omens.

Sure enough, they hadn't gone far when a venomous crocodile, its body covered in slime and scales, suddenly leaped out from the swamp, its massive jaws, filled with fangs, lunging at the giant ape's foreleg.

This crocodile was roughly at the first rank of the Celestial Immortal realm, and its venom was extremely potent. Without David's command, the giant ape beneath him roared, raised its other massive foot, and stomped down with immense force!

"Bang!" The earth shook, and the crocodile was instantly crushed into a bloody pulp. With a wave of his hand, David used his immortal power to extract the relatively pure essence of flesh and blood from the crocodile's body, along with an inner core containing both poison and water spirit power, and offered it to the little fire qilin.

The little fire qilin's eyes lit up, it cried out joyfully, and devoured the energy. The luster of its scales seemed to return slightly, and its spirit invigorated considerably.

This was just the beginning. This vast forest of demonic beasts is fraught with danger. They encountered packs of Bloodfang Wolves with sharp fangs, which David swept away with a wide-range sword rain. The wolf king's inner core and essence blood became nourishment for the little fire qilin;

A Man Like None Other Novel Chapter 5745 |

Full Read Online Chapter 5745 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5745

They disturbed a swarm of ghost-faced bees capable of spraying paralyzing stingers. David used fire magic to create a vacuum, collected royal jelly, and fed it to the little fire qilin.

They also encountered a phantom leopard skilled in stealth and soul attacks, extremely troublesome. David went to great lengths, using a trace of the Demon-Suppressing Tower's aura to intimidate it before finally killing it. The essence of its soul power greatly benefited the little fire qilin.

Along the way, David, like a top-tier hunter, used his rich combat experience and powerful application of laws to command the giant ape, slaying one powerful demonic beast after another.

The inner cores, essence blood, and soul fragments of these demonic beasts became the best food to feed the little fire qilin.

The little fire qilin was growing at a visible rate.

Its size had increased slightly, its crimson scales were more vibrant and dazzling, shimmering with a faint light, and the Qilin True Fire it breathed out was increasingly condensed and scorching, its aura already approaching the level of a Human Immortal.

It seemed to enjoy the process of fighting and devouring, and its cooperation with David was becoming increasingly seamless, often providing early warnings or assisting in attacks.

David himself, amidst this high-intensity battle and constant internal energy cultivation, was slowly recovering from his injuries, gaining more refined control over his power, and gradually increasing his adaptability to the new environment.

He was like a young dragon venturing into the wilderness, beginning to use his claws and teeth to carve a path to survival for himself and his companions in this forest where danger and opportunity coexisted.

The giant ape carried David and the little fire Qilin, traveling for an unknown amount of time through the dense, primeval jungle.

The surrounding trees grew increasingly tall and thick, the dense spiritual energy almost condensing into a tangible mist, but this also meant that the level of hidden danger was constantly rising.

David remained highly vigilant, his divine sense spreading outwards like an invisible spiderweb, sensing every rustle of wind.

Suddenly, the giant ape beneath him let out a low, excited roar, its pace quickening noticeably, even bordering on urgency, as it charged headlong in one direction. The giant ape

's thick arms parted the layers of massive, wall-like vines and ferns, as if rushing towards a specific target.

David's heart stirred slightly; had this giant ape discovered some rare treasure?

He patted the giant ape's rough neck, signaling it to calm down, while simultaneously becoming even more vigilant.

The little fire unicorn also seemed to sense something, waking from its slumber, perched on David's shoulder, its nostrils flaring slightly, its crimson eyes gleaming with curiosity.

Passing through the last natural barrier of thorns, the scene before them suddenly opened up.

This was a small basin located in the heart of a valley, where sunlight could filter through the sparse canopy of trees.

In the center of the basin, the soil was a strange dark red, as if stained with blood. And on that dark red soil, several strangely shaped plants grew!

The plant was entirely blood-red, crystal clear, as if carved from the finest red jade. Its canopy formed a perfect cloud shape, layer upon layer, emitting an extremely rich life essence and a unique, bloody fragrance.

Just smelling that aroma made David feel his blood and qi slightly boil, and even the healing of his injuries seemed to accelerate slightly.

“This is... a Blood Spirit Mushroom? And it’s at least ten thousand years old!”

David’s eyes instantly lit up with surprise.

The Blood Spirit Mushroom is a top-tier natural treasure used to temper the physical body, replenish blood and qi, and even repair soul injuries. It’s extremely rare even in the Nine Heavens, and unexpectedly, he’d encountered several in this unfamiliar forest!

For him and the little fire qilin, who were still recovering from serious injuries, this was like a godsend!

A Man Like None Other Novel Chapter 5746 |

Full Read Online Chapter 5746 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5746

He couldn’t help but look at this seemingly clumsy giant ape with newfound respect, never expecting it to be so intelligent, able to find such a treasure trove.

However, just as David leaped off the ape’s back, preparing to pick the tempting Blood Spirit Mushroom ,

“Roar—!!!”

A roar from , even more ferocious and filled with boundless rage and killing intent, exploded like thunder from the dense forest on the other side of the basin!

Immediately afterward, the figure of another giant ape, equally enormous but with dark gold fur and an even more ferocious and violent aura, crashed through the trees like a moving mountain, bursting forth!

This newly appeared dark gold giant ape was even more robust than the one David had subdued, its eyes blood-red.

Staring intently at David and his giant ape mount, especially upon seeing the blood-red spirit mushrooms, the black-haired giant ape beneath David's mount was practically bursting with fury!

“Roar!!!”

The black-haired giant ape beneath David was equally defiant, rearing up and pounding its powerful chest with its thick forelimbs, producing a thunderous roar like war drums.

Its scarlet eyes glared back, a terrifying killing intent emanating from its body.

The two colossal creatures faced off across the distance, their violent auras clashing, stirring up withered branches and leaves, creating small whirlwinds.

At this moment, how could David not understand?

This wasn't a friendly gesture from his giant ape mount leading him to find treasure; it was clearly using him as a tool to seize the territory and ownership of the blood-red spirit mushrooms!

This black-haired giant ape and the dark-gold giant ape were obviously sworn enemies, and the blood-red spirit mushrooms were the focus of their struggle!

“What a cunning beast!”

David was both amused and exasperated, but now that things had come to this, he couldn't possibly give up those few Blood Spirit Mushrooms that were so crucial to him.

Moreover, the hostility emanating from the dark golden giant ape had already enveloped them all.

“Little Qilin, prepare to attack!”

David let out a low shout, and the Dragon Slayer Sword was drawn again, its cold blade pointing at the dark golden giant ape.

Since they were now embroiled in this territorial battle between demonic beasts, they decided to finish it quickly! The little fire qilin let out a roar full of fighting spirit, its body radiating crimson light, eager to fight.

“Roar!”

Almost as soon as David finished speaking, the dark golden giant ape couldn't hold back any longer and launched its attack!

Its massive body displayed agility disproportionate to its size, like a golden lightning bolt, rushing straight at the black-haired giant ape, its enormous fist slamming down with a piercing shriek that tore through the air!

The black-haired giant ape roared in response, and the two giant fists, like battering rams, collided violently!

“Boom!!!”

A visible shockwave exploded in a ring, cracking the ground and sending sand and stones flying!

Both giant apes were power-type demonic beasts; each collision shook the earth, a pure battle of physical strength, full of the most primal and savage violent beauty.

Without hesitation, David moved with the speed of a ghost, entering the fray.

He didn't choose to clash head-on with the Dark Gold Giant Ape, but instead used his speed and exquisite swordsmanship to specifically target its relatively vulnerable points such as joints and eyes.

Multicolored sword light swirled, and the Time-Slowing Domain occasionally enveloped the Dark Gold Giant Ape, causing it considerable trouble.

The Little Fire Qilin circled the perimeter, seizing opportunities to spew forth scorching Qilin True Fire.

Although it couldn't inflict fatal wounds on the thick-skinned Dark Gold Giant Ape, the constant burning of its fur and interference with its vision greatly annoyed it.

Despite its strength, the Dark Gold Giant Ape was quickly overwhelmed by the combined attack of a human, a Qilin, and another of its own kind, especially David's elusive swordsmanship imbued with the power of laws.

New wounds continuously appeared on its body, bleeding profusely, and its movements became increasingly sluggish.

Finally, after David unleashed a sharp sword light infused with the power of spatial cutting, severing the tendon of one of its legs, the Dark Gold Giant Ape let out a mournful cry of unwillingness, and its massive body crashed to the ground.

