

A Man Like None Other Novel Chapter 5906

Full Read Online Chapter 5906 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5906

The three deputy hall masters were all stunned: "What does the hall master mean..."

"Don't you find it strange?" Zhan

E slowly said, "The power of chaos, the bloodline of the golden dragon, the true scripture of earth fire... these three powers correspond to three different supreme laws, and David can fuse all of them."

"When we sacrifice David, perhaps the one inside the gate of reincarnation will achieve immortality, and then we can achieve immortality together."

"What?" The three were shocked.

Fanaticism flashed in their eyes at the same time.

Immortality!

This is the realm that all cultivators dream of!

"Pass down the order,"

Zhan E said in a deep voice, "Don't go to the Eleventh Heaven for the time being. David will come to you on his own!"

"Immediately order everyone in the Evil Path Hall to speed up the collection of divine souls. I want to resurrect all the Heavenly Venerables and Ancestors of the Evil Path Hall!" "

Yes!" the three responded in unison. Zhan E looked at the Gate of Reincarnation, a complex emotion flashing in his eyes.

What exactly is that being behind the gate...? Can he truly grant eternal life? Or... is this so-called eternal life just another form of imprisonment? He didn't know. But he had no way out. From the moment he first opened the Gate of Reincarnation and made a deal with that being, he had embarked on a path of no return. Either succeed and gain eternal life, or fail and be annihilated.

There is no third way.

...

The forbidden area of the Earthfire Pavilion. Chen

Ping suddenly opened his eyes, a hint of unease flashing in them.

“What’s wrong?” Huo Ling’er asked with concern.

“Nothing.”

David shook his head, suppressing his unease, “I just have a bad feeling.”

He looked at the Demon Suppression Tower: “Ancestor, when the Gate of Reincarnation opens... will there be any signs?”

The voice of the Earthfire Ancestor came from the tower: “When the Gate of Reincarnation opens, all living beings within a radius of ten thousand miles will feel unease and anxiety, as if something terrible is about to happen.”

“Moreover... those who are resurrected will carry the aura of reincarnation. That aura has a natural suppression effect on living beings.”

David’s heart stirred.

That momentary unease just now... could it be a sign that the Gate of Reincarnation has opened?

Those three deputy hall masters... were they really “resurrected”?

“Ancestor, how much time do we have left?” David asked in a deep voice.

“Three days at most,”

said the Earth Fire Ancestor. “After three days, my physical body will be restored. At that time, my strength will be restored to the first rank of the Upper Immortal Realm. Although it won’t be as strong as in my prime, it should be enough to hold off Zhan E.”

“Three days...” David took a deep breath. “Then three days it is.”

He looked at Huo Ling’er: “Ling’er, in these three days, I will do my best to help the Ancestor rebuild his physical body. The defense of the Earth Fire Pavilion is entrusted to you and your father-in-law.”

Huo Ling’er nodded emphatically: “Don’t worry, we will guard it.” Chen

Ping then looked at the Crimson Cloud Demon Lord: "Senior, please protect me. In these three days, no one can disturb us."

"Don't worry, kid," the Crimson Cloud Demon Lord grinned. "With me here, not even a fly can get in."

David nodded, said no more, and stepped into the Demon Suppression Tower.

Time flowed a hundred times faster inside the tower; three days outside was equivalent to three hundred days inside.

In these three hundred days, he had to master the ninth level of the "Earth Fire True Scripture" and help the Ancestor rebuild his physical body.

Time was of the essence, and there was no time to lose.

In these three days, David's strength broke through to the third rank of the Heavenly Immortal Realm, and the Earth Fire Ancestor's physical body was fully restored.

Seeing David and the Earth Fire Ancestor emerge from the Demon Suppression Tower, everyone was overjoyed!

Especially Huo Ling'er, now that the Earth Fire Pavilion had the Ancestor in charge, they were invincible in the eleventh heaven.

David put away the Demon Suppression Tower, and the group left the forbidden area and went to the Earth Fire Pavilion!

Huo Fentian was also recuperating with everyone.

The battle with the Evil Path Palace had caused significant losses to the Earth Fire Pavilion.

"Ancestor, you...you've really recovered?"

Upon seeing the Earth Fire Ancestor, Huo Fentian excitedly rushed forward, intending to hug him.

However, the Earth Fire Ancestor blew a breath, instantly stopping Huo Fentian in his tracks.

"We're all men, if you're excited, just be excited, don't hug and cuddle," the Earth Fire Ancestor said calmly .

Huo Fentian was somewhat embarrassed, but also shocked by the Ancestor's strength.

He himself was at the peak of the ninth rank of the Heavenly Immortal Realm, yet the Ancestor had stopped him with a single breath.

It seemed that the gap between the Heavenly Immortal Realm and the Upper Immortal Realm, even by one major realm, was still quite large.

“Father-in-law, have you heard anything from the Evil Path Palace these past few days?”

David asked.

“The Evil Path Palace has summoned all its disciples from the Eleventh Heaven back to the Twelfth Heaven these past few days,” Huo Fentian said.

“What’s the Evil Path Hall up to?”

David frowned.

“Perhaps they’re waiting for you to go to the Twelfth Heaven before dealing with you!”

Huo Fentian analyzed.

David nodded; that was very likely!

“Boy, where are you going next? Straight to the Twelfth Heaven? I can go with you!”

Earthfire Ancestor said.

David shook his head: “Ancestor, I need to get the Earth Core Jade Marrow Milk first, and then I need to find someone.”

“Who?” Earthfire Ancestor asked.

“The Soul Devourer, I chased this guy all the way from the Ninth Heaven to here.”

David said.

“The Soul Devourer?” Earthfire Ancestor frowned slightly: “This demon actually came to the Eleventh Heaven?”

“He seems to have been out of contact for ten thousand years; I didn’t expect him to still be alive.”

David recounted to Earthfire Ancestor how the Soul Devourer had been suppressed, leaving only a wisp of his soul, and had survived for ten thousand years.

The Earthfire Ancestor nodded slightly: "This demon is truly lucky, but he'll likely have nowhere to stay in the Eleventh Heaven. It shouldn't be too difficult to find him."

"However, don't let him escape to the Twelfth Heaven. If he allies with the Evil Path Palace, it will be troublesome."

"I understand. If I encounter him again, I will definitely kill him!" David nodded. "Please tell me the location of the Earth Core Jade Marrow Milk, Ancestor." "I do know the location of the Earth Core Jade Marrow Milk," the Earthfire Ancestor slowly said. "It's in the Lava Heart at the deepest part of the Earth Core Demon Abyss. But it's fraught with danger there; even in my prime, I wouldn't dare venture deep in."

David's expression was resolute: "No matter how dangerous, I will go. Senior Crimson Cloud's woman needs this to save her life; this is a promise I made to him."

Upon hearing this, a trace of gratitude flashed in Crimson Cloud Demon Lord's eyes.

A Man Like None Other Novel Chapter 5907

Full Read Online Chapter 5907 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5907

"Good, loyal and righteous, truly worthy of being the son-in-law of my Earthfire Pavilion."

The Earthfire Ancestor nodded approvingly. "Ling'er, you should go with David. These years of cultivation within the pavilion are well worth the experience; it's time to go out and gain some experience."

"Yes, Ancestor!" Huo Ling'er's eyes lit up, and she replied excitedly.

"Fen Tian,"

the Earthfire Ancestor then looked at Huo Fen Tian, "send people to find the whereabouts of that Soul Devourer. Although he is a remnant soul, he is still a demon from ten thousand years ago and should not be underestimated."

"Disciple understands," Huo Fen Tian replied respectfully.

“Furthermore,” the Earthfire Ancestor pondered for a moment, “mobilize all of Earthfire Pavilion’s intelligence networks and closely monitor the movements of the Evil Path Hall. Their sudden withdrawal to the Twelfth Heaven must be for a purpose.”

“Yes!”

After making the arrangements, the Earthfire Ancestor took out a crimson jade slip and handed it to David: “This is a map of the Earth Core Demon Abyss, as well as the exact location of the Lava Heart. Some dangerous areas and precautions are marked on it; study it carefully.” Chen

Ping took the jade slip, probed it with his divine sense, and immediately a large amount of information flooded into his mind.

The Earth Core Demon Abyss is located in the far south of the Flame Domain, a bottomless, enormous fissure.

Beneath the fissure lies churning magma and terrifying Earth Core Demon Flames.

The deeper one goes, the higher the temperature and the greater the pressure, and various ferocious beasts adapted to this environment appear.

The Lava Heart, located at the very bottom of the Demon Abyss, is a lava lake with a diameter of a hundred feet.

In the center of the lake is a piece of ten-thousand-year-old cold jade, upon which the Earth Core Jade Marrow Milk is condensed.

“Earth Core Demon Flame...”

David frowned slightly. “That’s something even Upper Immortal Realm experts fear.”

“Indeed.”

Earth Fire Ancestor nodded. “Earth Core Demon Flame has an extremely high temperature and contains Earth Core Poison Fire, which can erode immortal power and corrode the soul. However... you have Chaos Immortal Power and Golden Dragon Bloodline, so you should be able to withstand it to some extent. In addition, with the control over flames from the ‘Earth Fire True Scripture,’ you might have a chance.”

“I understand.”

David put away the jade slip. “Let’s not delay, let’s set off now.”

“Wait.”

Earth Fire Ancestor called out to him, taking out a crimson-gold token. "This is the Earth Fire Token of the Earth Fire Pavilion. With this token, you can mobilize all the resources of the Earth Fire Pavilion in the Flame Domain. If you encounter danger, you can also use this token to ask nearby forces for help."

David took the token and carefully put it away: "Thank you, Ancestor."

"Go, and come back soon." Earth Fire Ancestor waved his hand.

David, Huo Ling'er, and Crimson Cloud Demon Lord left the Earth Fire Pavilion and headed south.

...

Three days later, at the edge of the Earth Core Demon Abyss.

Standing at the edge of the Abyss and looking down, one could see a colossal fissure, a thousand feet wide and bottomless, stretching across the earth.

Within the fissure, crimson magma flowed slowly, emitting terrifying heat and a pungent sulfurous odor.

Deeper still, dark red demonic flames could be faintly seen churning, unlike ordinary flames, radiating a chillingly malevolent aura.

"Such a terrifying temperature..."

Huo Ling'er wiped the sweat from her brow, "The temperature here is even higher than the Heart of the Earth Fire." The Crimson Cloud Demon Lord frowned, saying, "The Earth Core Demon Flame... truly an extremely evil thing. Even my demonic arts are somewhat restless."

David unfolded the map given to him by the Earth Fire Ancestor and studied it carefully: "According to the map, the Demon Abyss is divided into three layers. The outer layer has a lower temperature and only some low-level fire beasts; the middle layer has a higher temperature and fire beasts at the Celestial Immortal level appear;

the deep layer is the truly dangerous area, containing not only the Earth Core Demon Flame but also various strange traps and formations."

He pointed to a red dot on the map: "Our destination is here, the Heart of Lava. We need to pass through the outer and middle layers, enter the deep layer, and then find this hidden passage."

“Then let’s set off,” said the Crimson Cloud Demon Lord.

The three of them leaped into the Demon Abyss.

As soon as they entered, a terrifyingly high temperature rushed towards them.

David circulated his Chaos Immortal Power, forming a layer of grayish-brown protective shield on his body to insulate against the high temperature.

Huo Ling’er also used the “Earth Fire True Scripture,” and a crimson flame shield enveloped her.

The Crimson Cloud Demon Lord’s demonic energy surged, forming a black protective shield.

The three descended slowly.

Although the temperature on the outer layer of the Demon Abyss was high, it was still bearable for them.

Occasionally, some low-level fire beasts attacked, but they were easily dealt with.

Half a day later, the three reached the middle layer.

The temperature here suddenly rose, and the color of the magma changed from crimson to dark red.

The air was filled with a dense fire poison; inhaling too much would damage one’s meridians.

“Be careful, something’s coming.” David suddenly exclaimed.

As soon as he finished speaking, three enormous creatures suddenly sprang out of the magma ahead!

They were three lizard-like monsters with wings, their bodies covered in crimson scales, spewing dark red flames from their mouths.

Each one possessed the aura of a fifth-grade Celestial Immortal!

“Crimson Flame Flying Lizards!” Huo Ling’er exclaimed, “They are social beasts, usually appearing in groups of dozens or even hundreds!”

Sure enough, as these three Crimson Flame Flying Lizards appeared, dozens more emerged from the surrounding magma, completely surrounding the three.

“Roar—!”

The lead Crimson Flame Flying Lizard let out a piercing screech, and all the lizards simultaneously spewed flames!

Dozens of dark red flames intertwined to form a large net, enveloping the three of them!

“Ling’er, protect yourself. Senior Chi Yun, let’s finish this quickly,” David said calmly.

Before his words even finished, the Dragon Slayer Sword was already drawn.

“Dragon Slayer – Breaking Army!”

A golden-gray sword aura swept across, tearing a gap in the net of flames. David moved with the sword, instantly appearing in front of a Crimson Flame Flying Lizard, and slashed down with his sword!

“Pfft!”

The lizard’s head rolled off, and its massive body plunged into the lava.

The Crimson Cloud Demon Lord was not to be outdone; with three heads and six arms moving simultaneously, six demonic weapons were unleashed at the same time, instantly smashing two lizards into a bloody pulp.

A Man Like None Other Novel Chapter 5908

Full Read Online Chapter 5908 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5908

Huo Ling’er formed hand seals, unleashing the fire control technique from the Earth Fire True Scripture. Crimson-gold Earth Fire True Flame condensed in her palms, transforming into dozens of fire snakes that coiled around the surrounding flying lizards.

Earth Fire True Flame was far superior to ordinary flames; the flames spewed by the flying lizards, upon touching it, retreated like subjects before a king. The fire snakes seized the opportunity to burrow into the flying lizards’ bodies, burning them from the inside.

In a short time, dozens of crimson flame flying lizards were wiped out.

“Not bad, Ling’er’s Earth Fire True Flame is becoming increasingly proficient,” David praised.

Huo Ling'er's pretty face flushed slightly: "I'm still far behind you, David."

"Let's continue," said the Crimson Cloud Demon Lord.

The three continued their descent.

Deep within the Earth's Core Abyss, the temperature had risen to an alarming level.

The surrounding rock walls were no longer simply dark red, but had taken on a near-molten, translucent state, like the slowly writhing entrails of a colossal beast.

The air was thick with the stench of sulfur, almost tangible, making each breath feel like swallowing flames.

The faint, lingering smell of decay further unsettled the mind, as if countless eyes were watching from the shadows.

David and his companions had just dealt with the seventh wave of Fire Poison Spiders.

Each of these spiders was the size of a millstone, entirely crimson, with strange black patterns covering their carapaces.

The silk they spit out was not only incredibly tough but also contained potent fire poison; once touched, one's immortal power would be rapidly eroded.

Even David had struggled to remove them all.

Now, the three of them rested briefly on a relatively flat black platform formed from cooled lava.

Huo Ling'er sat cross-legged, took out a cool blue pill and swallowed it, her pale complexion improving slightly.

She wiped away the beads of sweat that kept seeping from her forehead; the sweat almost evaporated in the high temperature.

"David, since just now, I've felt... like something is watching us."

"That feeling... sticky, very uncomfortable,"

Huo Ling'er said.

The Crimson Cloud Demon Lord didn't sit down, but warily surveyed his surroundings, three pairs of eyes scanning every corner that might be hiding danger.

His heavy demonic body seemed somewhat sluggish in the high temperature. Hearing this, he nodded, his voice low: "I feel the same way." "

And this aura... I feel like I've encountered it somewhere before, cold, greedy, like a venomous snake lurking in the shadows."

David didn't speak.

He stood at the edge of the platform, looking down at the rolling dark red river of lava below, his brows furrowed.

After breaking through to the third rank of the Celestial Immortal Realm, his divine sense underwent a qualitative change, not only covering a wider range, but also becoming more acute and refined in his perception of energy and aura.

At this moment, he quietly circulated his Chaotic Immortal Power, his divine sense spreading outwards in all directions like countless invisible tentacles, penetrating every inch of the rock wall, every crack, sensing the subtle fluctuations masked by the high temperature and chaotic energy.

The roar of flowing magma, the subtle cracking sounds of rocks expanding due to the high temperature, the occasional roars of unknown ferocious beasts from the depths... countless sounds and energy fluctuations were filtered and analyzed by him.

Suddenly, his divine sense detected an anomaly.

About three hundred feet to his left, behind a seemingly ordinary rock wall, an extremely subtle yet vast and chilling energy was slowly awakening.

The nature of that energy was very familiar to him; it carried a hatred and greed originating from the depths of his soul.

"There really is something..." David suddenly opened his eyes. A sharp , razor-sharp glint flashed in his deep eyes, as if it could pierce through thick layers of rock.

"And...it's an old acquaintance of ours."

As soon as he finished speaking, as if to confirm his words,

"Crack...crack crack..."

The rock wall he had locked onto with his divine sense suddenly emitted a strange sound.

The originally hard, dark red rock, covered with melting marks, now seemed to have gained life, unnaturally writhing and undulating!

The patterns on the rock surface twisted and rearranged, the color deepened, quickly outlining the contours of facial features.

In a few breaths, a huge, twisted, and ferocious human face grew on the rock wall!

That face almost occupied half of the cliff face, its eye sockets being two bottomless black holes.

At this moment, however, two eerie green flames suddenly ignited, leaping and flickering like will-o'-the-wisps.

A bizarre, exaggerated grin spread across its lips, revealing jagged teeth, also composed of rock.

It was the signature face of the Soul Devourer!

“Hehehe...”

A piercing laugh, like the scraping of rusty iron or countless sandpaper scraping against one's ears, emanated from its massive maw.

The laughter echoed in the narrow abyss, adding to its sinister and terrifying atmosphere.

“David... what a coincidence!”

“I didn't expect to meet you again so soon.”

“It seems even the Heavenly Dao is favoring me, delivering this great gift to my lips.”

Huo Ling'er and the Crimson Cloud Demon Lord instantly felt their hair stand on end, immediately shifting from a resting state to maximum alert.

Huo Ling'er drew her crimson longsword, its blade igniting with scorching earth fire.

The Crimson Cloud Demon Lord roared, his demonic body expanding, his ferocious three-headed, six-armed form reappearing.

The demonic weapons in his six hands hummed, their demonic energy surging.

Only David remained standing, not even drawing his sword.

He merely tilted his head slightly, calmly gazing at the enormous ghostly face on the rock wall with a scrutinizing, even slightly mocking, look.

His gaze didn't seem to be looking at a demon lord who had struck fear into the hearts of ten thousand years ago, but rather at a clumsy actor's performance.

"Soul Devourer," David spoke, his voice low but clearly piercing through the grating laughter.

It carried an icy chill: "Your life is indeed tougher than a cockroach's."

"You fled from the Ninth Heaven like a stray dog to the Tenth Heaven, and then fled here in a panic."

"What, this perpetually dark, magma-filled, poisonous abyss of the Earth's Core Demon Abyss, does it suit your status as a ten-thousand-year-old wandering ghost?"

"It seems your taste, like your appearance, is utterly unappealing."

A Man Like None Other Novel Chapter 5909

Full Read Online Chapter 5909 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5909

"You sharp-tongued little beast!" The face on the rock wall twisted violently.

The eerie green flames flickered wildly, revealing the fury of its master.

"If I weren't still seriously injured and less than one-tenth of my strength, I could have crushed you to ashes and extracted your soul back in the Ninth Heaven!"

"How dare you spout such nonsense here today!"

"Still seriously injured?" David's lips curled into an undisguised sneer.

The smile was full of contempt: "I see you've been hiding in this Abyss of the Earth's Core for quite some time now, absorbing the fiery poison and yin energy here. You must have recovered quite a bit of your strength, haven't you?"

“Indeed, this place is scorching hot lava, permeated with fiery poison. It’s perfect for something as sinister and filthy as you, something that can’t stand the light, to eke out a living. It’s quite a feng shui treasure land.”

The Soul Devourer’s giant face fell silent for a moment.

The two eerie green ghost flames stared intently at David, as if they wanted to devour him alive.

Then, the giant face made of rock slowly stretched into an even more bizarre and chilling smile.

“Clever...you guessed right.” The Soul Devourer’s voice became sinister and dangerous.

“The Earth Core Demon Flame, supremely yang and intensely hot, is unparalleled in its domineering power, truly the nemesis of you self-proclaimed righteous cultivators.”

“But all things carry yin and embrace yang; in the core of this supremely yang land, the purest ‘yin energy’ will be generated.”

“This energy is an unparalleled tonic for nourishing the soul, especially for someone like me whose soul has been damaged.”

“I have been lying in seclusion here for three months, absorbing it day and night... Now, I have recovered seventy percent of my strength.”

His words were filled with undisguised pride and the satisfaction of impending revenge: “David, tell me, isn’t this the cycle of heaven, retribution is inevitable?”

“You chased me to the ends of the earth, leaving me nowhere to run, yet you personally delivered me to this treasure land.”

“Today is the day I will repay everything, with interest!”

Before he finished speaking...

“Boom!!!”

The rock wall bearing the giant face suddenly exploded!

It wasn’t ordinary shattering, but rather as if a giant creature had burst forth from its shell.

Countless fragments of rock, imbued with scorching energy, rained down in all directions, striking the surrounding rock walls with a crackling sound and sending sparks flying.

Amidst the billowing smoke and lava steam, a chilling figure slowly emerged.

Standing about two zhang tall, its entire body was covered in grotesque black and red scales, seemingly formed from congealed lava and blood.

A pair of curved, dark red horns sprouted from its head, with faint, dark red energy flowing across them.

Behind it, six broad, fleshy wings slowly unfurled; the wing membranes were neither skin nor flesh, but rather a mixture of some kind of energy and matter.

Faint black and red flames burned at the edges.

Its face was clearer and more distorted than the illusion on the rock wall.

Those signature eerie green eyes were now like two bottomless, chilling pools of ghostly energy.

Just a glance from them sent chills down one's spine and made one's body stiffen.

A terrifying, solid, and seemingly weightless pressure from a celestial being swept over the entire area like a tsunami!

"First Rank of the Upper Immortal Realm!" The Crimson Cloud Demon Lord gasped.

The demonic light on his demonic body dimmed by three-tenths, his voice filled with disbelief and horror: "This old demon... he actually recovered to the Upper Immortal Realm!" Huo Ling'er groaned, feeling as if a boulder was pressing on her chest, making it difficult to breathe.

Her hand gripping the sword trembled slightly, and her pretty face drained of color.

Instinctively, she used all her strength to tighten her grip on David's hand beside her, as if it were her only support.

Facing this terrifying pressure, enough to make even a peak Celestial Immortal cultivator lose their composure, David stood unmoved like a mountain.

The hazy, seemingly thin chaotic immortal power surrounding him flowed silently like the most flexible yet strongest barrier, quietly dissolving and dissipating the overwhelming pressure.

He even had the leisure to gently squeeze Huo Ling'er's cold hand, conveying a sense of reassurance.

Then, he raised his head, his gaze calmly meeting the Soul Devourer's eerie green eyes burning with resentment and killing intent.

The mocking curve at the corner of his mouth remained unchanged.

"First Grade Upper Immortal?" David's voice remained calm, revealing no emotional fluctuation.

"No wonder your arrogance is worse than athlete's foot."

"However..."

He paused, his contempt almost overflowing: "You think that just because you've recovered to the Upper Immortal Realm, you can put on airs in front of me?"

"Soul Devourer, have you been underground for too long? Has your brain been damaged by magma?"

"Or is it that your Upper Immortal Realm cultivation was inflated like a balloon by absorbing the toxic gas of the earth's fire, all show and no substance?"

"Insolence!!!"

The Soul Devourer was furious, his roar like the wailing of thousands of wronged souls, echoing throughout the abyss!

When had he ever suffered such humiliation?

Especially from a junior whose cultivation was far inferior to his!

"David! Today, I will show you the difference between immortals and mortals, and what absolute power is!"

"I will tear you apart piece by piece, extract your soul, and roast it in demonic flames for ten thousand years, making you wish you were dead!"

His six wings suddenly flapped!

“Boom!”

The black and red demonic energy spread out like an explosion, and the terrifying pressure of the Upper Immortal Realm surged once again.

The materialized pressure made the air groan under its own weight.

The relatively calm lava river below instantly surged into towering waves.

The rock walls on both sides cracked and splintered, revealing countless spiderweb-like fissures.

Huo Ling’er and the Crimson Cloud Demon Lord could no longer withstand it and were forced back several steps by this aura.

Their blood and qi churned within them, and they were almost about to vomit blood.

David, who was at the very center of the pressure, had his blue robes fluttering and his black hair dancing wildly in the violent airflow, yet his figure remained as steady as a rock.

He didn’t even frown, only the chaotic immortal power around him circulated slightly faster.

“That’s it?”

David even tilted his head and asked in an almost innocent and curious tone.

His eyes held an unyielding contempt: “The pressure of a first-grade Upper Immortal? It feels... weaker than the wind from the stove in the Earth Fire Pavilion’s kitchen.”

“Soul Devourer, you didn’t buy your Upper Immortal realm, did you? How many Soul Coins did you spend?”

A Man Like None Other Novel Chapter 5910

Full Read Online Chapter 5910 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5910

“You little beast...you’ve utterly enraged me!” The Soul Devourer’s eerie green eyes practically spit fire.

His reason was almost completely consumed by rage.

He had never seen such a reckless and provocative opponent!

Before his words even finished, his six wings flapped violently, and his figure vanished from his spot in an instant!

Not high-speed movement, but near teleportation!

His initial mastery of spatial laws at the Immortal Realm allowed him to almost ignore the distance between them.

A flash of black and red light, and the Soul Devourer's massive body, covered in ferocious scales, appeared less than three feet in front of David!

This distance, for cultivators of their level, was practically face-to-face!

“Soul-Devouring Claw!”

A claw larger than David himself tore through the air, accompanied by a piercing ghostly howl, aimed directly at David's face!

Even before the claw arrived, the dense aura of death and the power of soul corrosion already assaulted him.

It seemed to want to crush his life force and soul together!

The black and red demonic light swirling around the claw tip subtly distorted the surrounding space.

This was the full-force claw strike of a first-grade Upper Immortal!

Its power was enough to instantly kill any peak Heavenly Immortal cultivator, scattering their soul!

“David!” Huo Ling'er's heart leaped into her throat, and she cried out in alarm.

However, David's reaction once again exceeded everyone's expectations.

He did not panic, did not dodge, and did not even make any defensive stance.

He simply stood there quietly, watching the demonic claw, powerful enough to split mountains and shatter rocks, rapidly enlarge in his pupils.

Then, just as the claw was about to touch the tip of his nose

, he slowly raised his right hand.

His five fingers spread, his palm facing the terrifying claw.

His movements were casual, as if shooing away an annoying fly.

“Chaos Fire Domain.”

These four simple words, like an ancient, forbidden proverb, were calmly uttered by him.

“Buzz—!”

Centered on David’s palm, an invisible yet immense wave instantly spread out!

Within a radius of a thousand feet, space suddenly distorted strangely!

Light bent here, sound became blurred, and even the churning magma below seemed to freeze for a moment.

The hazy, primordial chaos, like the very beginning of creation, mingled with the scorching, domineering, all-consuming crimson-gold true flames of the earth.

Two completely different, even conflicting, forces intertwined and merged perfectly, forming a strange domain unique to David!

Within this domain, the original laws of heaven and earth were interfered with and suppressed.

They were replaced by a new set of rules, chaotic and unclear, yet encompassing all things. At this place

, the Law of Fire roared and cheered, while the Law of Space twisted and submitted.

The Soul Devourer’s determined claw crashed into this chaotic fire domain!

The next moment, something happened that made the Soul Devourer’s pupils shrink drastically.

His demonic claw, capable of shattering even high-grade immortal artifacts, seemed to sink into an endless quagmire the instant it entered this gray domain, its speed decreasing by more than tenfold!

Not only its speed, but the terrifying demonic energy, the Law of Death, and the power of soul corrosion condensed on its claw, upon contact with the gray chaotic energy and crimson flames, actually emitted a hissing melting sound!

Like a red-hot iron inserted into snow, or like thick ink dripping into clear water.

The power he was so proud of, the power that corroded everything, was being rapidly decomposed, devoured, and annihilated!

He could even clearly feel the emptiness of his power draining away!

“What...what the hell is this?!” The Soul Devourer’s ferocious smile instantly froze.

Instead, he was filled with extreme shock and a barely perceptible panic.

He had lived for ten thousand years, devoured countless cultivators, and witnessed all sorts of strange and wondrous techniques.

Yet, he had never seen such a bizarre power!

This power seemed to be the natural nemesis of his Soul-Devouring Demonic Art!

“Break.”

David remained expressionless, but his outstretched fingers gently clenched inward.

The movement was gentle, as if plucking a flower.

“Bang—!!!”

A muffled sound, not earth-shattering, yet it sent a jolt through the Soul-Devouring Venerable’s heart!

His enormous demonic claw, starting from his fingertips, shattered and disintegrated like a rock weathered for billions of years!

Fragments of black and red scales mixed with strange demonic blood were rapidly vaporized and vanished in the Chaotic Fire Domain.

Not even a trace remained!

The Soul-Devouring Venerable groaned, his massive body staggering uncontrollably backward three steps.

Each step left deep cracks in the hard rocky ground.

He looked down at his bare wrist, dripping black blood.

His eerie green eyes were filled with horror and disbelief.

David slowly lowered his hands, placing them behind his back.

His green robes fluttered gently in the breeze stirred by his domain, his posture exuding an indescribable ease and grace.

He looked at the Soul Devourer, his gaze calm and unwavering, as if he had merely dusted off some dust.

“You overestimate your meager skills,” David’s voice carried a condescending indifference.

“The power of chaos can create all things, and it can also encompass and decompose all things.”

“Your so-called Soul Devouring Demon Art is only good for devouring ordinary souls; before me, it’s nothing but a worthless chicken and a dog, utterly vulnerable.”

“Your so-called Immortal Realm cultivation is, in my eyes, only slightly more conspicuous than roadside weeds.”