

Mana 1031

Chapter 1031 - Overwhelming Strength! II

[Cosmic Dao Essence Integration and Emergence]!

An ability that made him an extremely poor being as nearly all of the Skill Points that he gained from the conquest of two Universes were spent, but the results were stupendous as they brought to fruition a way for him to gain access to other Cosmic Daos!

Although the method of usage of this skill...was a bit unique as Noah had to take in the essence of the Cosmic Dao from others into his own Origin.

This method could be from a being willingly infusing the essence of the Cosmic Dao they studied to Noah, or it could be from an enemy that Noah faced who was throwing attacks that contained the Cosmic Dao he wanted to integrate!

He just had to receive the attacks of an enemy with a powerful Cosmic Dao as after he absorbed enough of the Cosmic Essence they threw out and integrated it- he would actually gain access to the very Dao himself. The skill mentioned that a certain "Value" had to be met before the essence of any Cosmic Dao could be fully integrated before Noah himself was given the comprehension of this Dao.

The restrictions of a cooldown were negligible, but the restriction on mana meant that aside from Noah...nobody would be able to utilize this Skill even if he put it in the [Library] feature of his Universal Core.. It needed the output of the full mana reserves of a Hegemony every passing second, such a thing being something that only a creature with endless mana could even dream of...or an existence of a much higher level than the Universal Realm that they could consider their mana reserves negligible!

WAA!

Mana began to swirl around Noah powerfully as from his throne, his golden flames locked onto the figure of Lich Emperor Agobo that he had subjugated first when he arrived in the Necrotic Universe.

He planned to test the [Cosmic Dao Essence Integration and Emergence] skill on this being first as the Lich Emperor had begun comprehending the Cosmic Dao of Necromancy! He would see just how fantastical the effects of this Cosmic Dao would be on the undead as the conquest of the Necrotic Universe would become an even smoother task.

"Agobo, come!"

He called out to the Lich Emperor that was moving just behind the Sins in the chaotic void, this being nodding and heading towards Noah as the first test of [Cosmic Dao Essence Integration and Emergence] was about to begin.

But...

THRUM!

A second later, Noah's body erupted with a flood of the golden essence of Destiny as far away from the Necrotic Universe, the vast seas of Universal Fortune above his main body churned!

His eyes released beams of golden light as he stopped his actions, knowledge coming to him that an even grander opportunity for [Cosmic Dao Essence Integration and Emergence] was coming on the horizon!

Ah!

It truly was on the horizon as an instant later in the Necrotic Universe, the Undead Legion of Trillions that Noah led came to a stop, sensing a horrendous wave of power appearing thousands of miles away as it was barreling towards them at insanely high speeds.

The wave of power was soon accompanied by another, and another...over 20 shockingly powerful auras that far exceeded any PARAGON appeared on the horizon, bringing with them waves of immense power as at the speed they were coming at, they crossed the few thousand miles in an instant as they appeared in front of Noah's Legions in a stellar fashion!

WAA!

20 figures appeared majestically in the deathly chaotic void of the Necrotic Universe as Noah's eyes began to shine brightly at them, the auras they gave off making the surrounding void shake as shockingly- it was 20 Undead Paragons that held various forms but were connected by a singular factor.

All around the bodies of these figures, the illusory outline of a certain expert Noah had seen before was convulsing in and out of existence constantly, this being the source of the immense power that these existences were currently releasing.

It was the form of a being that held a black hole for a head- the form of the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos!

RUMBLE!

Noah's eyes shined brightly as he utilized [Eyes of Truth], a set of details appearing in front of him that caused his bones to begin trembling in excitement!

[Lich Emperor Zadon](Incarnation of Chaos) :: A powerful Lich that has roamed the Necrotic Universe for half a million years, leading many Legions over the millenniums. This being has swallowed the Origin Essence of the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos and gained a portion of his power, being able to display great proficiency in the Daos of Extinction, Chronos, Purity, Annihilation, Necromancy, Phantasm...

"No way..."

Noah couldn't help but utter out loud as he looked at the beings releasing the terrifying essence of numerous Cosmic Daos from their bodies, each of them literally vibrating with power it didn't seem they could contain as their eyes were all locked onto him menacingly!

His heart was actually trembling in excitement at this moment as when he read over the details of these beings, he actually found that one of the most powerful beings of the Primordial Cosmos had given away a small portion of his Origin Essence that contained his comprehensions of his Daos...and he gave these to Paragons to come stand against him!

Paragons that exceeded all scales of power of such a level- beings that held a portion of power from a Hegemony.

And it wasn't just any Hegemony...but one of the strongest ones in the Cosmos!

All of these factors should have caused any being to shit their pants in fear but in front of Noah...his eyes were those full of joy as he stood up from his Throne.

"Ah...!"

The bright flames in his eye sockets raged powerfully as towards his joy, the 20 newly arriving Incarnations of the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos roared out.

OOOOOOH!

BOOOM....CRACK!

They roared out grandly as the surrounding chaotic void shattered apart, half of their figures beginning to move towards Noah as streaks of light while the other half raised their hands to the skies and summoned Legions of Undead.

The body of this powerful Sin shone with glorious golden splendor as it raised its enormous axe that carried the might of millions of exploding suns towards the rushing enemy, his expression that of utter arrogance and might as he uttered out.

"Who said you could make a move under my gaze?!"

RUMBLE!

A golden ?uster flashed across the deathly chaotic void as it signified the start of the first warfare that would involve the Incarnations of Universal Experts!

Chapter 1032 - Hit Me! I

"Who said you could make a move under my gaze?!"

WAA!

The bellow of Pride reverberated across the chaotic void as he appeared in front of a Paragon letting out horrendous waves of power, the essence of Extinction actually erupting from this Undead Lich Emperor as with a cold look, his bony fingers smashed onto the glimmering golden axe that carried the force of a million suns!

BOOM!

The strength of Paragons that had power far exceeding this level clashed as the result was horrendous, with the body of Pride actually trembling as the terrifying essence of Extinction threatened to tear apart his golden age and ravage his body, the void around him having already been ruptured.

Yet...

The body of Pride remained floating at the same position as he didn't even move a step back, his body glowing an ever brighter shade of gold as his expression was that of ardent superciliousness and arrogance as even while every part of this sin was trembling, he called out majestically.

"Did I give you permission to push me back?!"

RUMBLE!

Pride released a bellow filled with dignity and superiority while looking at the Undead Paragon, seemingly disgusted that such a creature had even thought of standing up against a being such as he! He released the golden axe within his hands to the chaotic void, the axe glimmering brightly as his body gushed out droves of golden essence that represented pure Pride.

An instant later, the released axe began to multiply until hundreds of golden axes filled the void, each of them 50 meters in size as they trembled with strength that could wipe out entire galaxy clusters!

THRUM!.

Pride glanced domineeringly at the Undead Paragon that was reflecting the golden gleam covering everything, his voice ringing out as it was nearly as arrogant as a certain Tyrannical Lich Emperor.

"I shall not let you have an easy death!"

WAA!

The myriad of golden axes were then commanded to come down towards the enemy whose body began to light up with the essence of many cosmic daos!

Daos of too high a stature could not be defended against unless a similar one or one even higher in ranking above it appeared.

The Primordial Dao and the Dao of Ruination stood at the very peak of all Cosmic Daos, so in terms of quality...it was above that of Daos like Chronos and Extinction!

The Oathkeeper had shown an example of this when he faced both Chronos and The Goliath at the same time in the Elysian Universe, and these beings had to retreat against him alone.

But currently, these same Daos were being used by existences that had become tainted with the origin essence of a Universal Realm Hegemony, the power they could portray against those in the same level being something that was actually very hard to quantify as it didn't exist before!

BOOOM!

An uncountable number of golden axes fell.

Each of them worthy of the explosive force of millions of suns caused the entire area of the chaotic void to melt and deform as the first battle of a shocking war started off with a bang!

When the 10 Incarnations of Chaos moved, Pride was able to stop one of them through sheer will power and strength as the 6 other Sins all stood against six enemies respectively, their bodies lighting up in a myriad of colors as after the strength of their sin was amplified, their bodies erupted with Ruination Essence to resist the terrifying Dao Essence of Chronos and Extinction.

SNORE

"Hrmm?"

The eyes of the Sin of Sloth slightly lifted as it looked lazily at the figure of an Undead Paragon that had its body still vibrating. Even the effort of raising its eyes seemed like too much as the chubby looking figure draped the blanket it had on to cover even its head completely.

But different from its lazy demeanor...tentacles of essence shot out of its sleeping body in a terrifying manner as they covered everything, a world of tentacles of Ruination blooming in front of this Incarnation of Chaos!

Off in another region, the entire area was dyed pink an amorous figure of the Sin of Lust showed off its extensive curves while blowing a kiss to an Undead that wouldn't even be able to do it if they wanted!

The powerful Incarnation of Chaos had its vigorous flames waver slightly, their figure coming to a halt briefly before the essence of Chronos and Extinction filled up its mind and it shot forth like a cannon ball once more.

In another region, Gluttony's many mouths spread throughout its body had tried to devour the enemy Paragon right away, this Incarnation sensing danger as it pulled back soon after, only to wave its skeletal hands above it and cause the appearance of a regal purple Clock that released waves of the essence of Chronos!

"Get over here!" Gluttony was maddened at the creature that seemed like the most enticing feast escaping, rushing towards it as it seemed to be returning to its old position a second later...as if it were placed on a time loop.

Shocking battles like this erupted in front of ever scene as the crimson figure of the Sin of Wrath and Sin of Envy faced their own Paragons, the areas around them colored red and green respectively as their own unique essence spread out on top of the support of Ruination Essence that Noah provided for them!

Atop each of them...a star of conquest shone brightly as the Sins moved to prove their worth!

Chapter 1033 - Hit Me! II

Many of the sins were capable of standing their ground against these terrifying Incarnations that held a portion of power from a Hegemony, but some sins were being pushed back from their immense might and usage of the Daos of Chronos and Extinction!

THRUM!

The Power that the Incarnations of Chaos displayed was extremely overbearing, where even as 7 were hindered by the Sins, 3 rushed towards Noah with wild abandon while 10 more stayed behind with their bodies glimmering with the essence of a myriad of Cosmic Daos, these beings calling forth Legions of Undead that pulsed dangerously.

But against all of this, Noah's mind only focused on the 3 Undead Paragons rushing towards him.

OOOM!

The Star of Conquest above his head glimmered pure white as the surroundings were brightened, his majestic figure put on full view as while he left his throne behind, the unseen essence of Ruination rose from him like waves- this essence currently masked to look like the essence of Annihilation.

With utter calmness, his eyes followed as the three Undead Paragons surrounded him an instant later, their figures becoming incomparably clear!.

All 3 towered over 10 meters in size as their bony exteriors were as black as night, bony wings being seen gloriously spreading out on their back. These were the race of Primal Winged Undead Emperors that didn't excel in the summoning of large legions of Undead, and they were instead extremely proficient in strengthening their own bodies to crazy levels as even the feat of shattering galaxies with a flick of their bony fingers wasn't an impossibility!

They were one of the strongest Undead Paragons one could come across in the Necrotic Universe, and each Primal Winged Undead Emperor was commonly referred to as a One Man Army due to their shocking close combat and body strengthening capabilities.

This was the identity of these three Paragons that released maddening attacks towards Noah as his response to all of it...was only an eruption of Ruination Essence to wrap around him protectively!

Their strikes released the bountiful essence of Extinction and Chaos as they shone with a distinct purple ?uster, the chaotic void being the first to give out.

BOOOM!...CRACK!

Space quaked and shattered as in the next second, only 4 figures remained floating in the rapidly healing void of the Necrotic Universe. A single being whose body was surrounded by a protective crimson shield, and three Primal Winged Undead Emperor that looked at the fact that their strikes didn't smash him to bits even with the use of high tiered Cosmic Daos!

The crimson light around Noah even shone brighter as he withstood the attacks with his bony exterior creaking dangerously, but his flaming eye sockets released a wondrous burst of light as the moment the attacks hit him...a prompt appeared.

[The user has been exposed to the Cosmic Dao Essence of Chronos, Extinction, Purity, Phantasm...which essence do you wish to integrate?]

"..."

A deep smile bloomed from Noah's skeletal structure.

'Integrate Chronos!'

WAA!

His command was received as the essence that should have been ravaging his body disappeared into his Origin, beginning the process of Integration as a Value appeared in the corner of Noah's eyes.

.1/100

His eyes shone ever brighter as their gaze fell upon the 3 Paragons that had their bodies still buzzing with power, his bony smile making these beings pull back a little as they scrutinized him carefully, his next words causing the Primal Winged Undead Paragons to move with even more care!

"You all...hit me some more!"

...!

WAA!

He was extremely ecstatic as it stemmed from the feeling of getting something you weren't even thinking of, and yet others handed it to you on a platter.

He was about to use his newly designed ability on his own Vassal and obtain the Dao of Necromancy, but his enemies just had to go ahead and scheme, one of the most powerful Hegemonies of the Primordial Cosmos utilizing his Origin Essence to create Incarnations of Chaos- existences that had swallowed the Origin Essence of the Goliath as they could display a semblance of his power and the Daos he comprehended for a short period of time!

Then...his enemies sent these terrific new existences to him as it was actually the most perfect gift that he didn't even ask for.

Yes, they were extremely powerful.

Even at this moment, the Sins were b?r?ly struggling with these Incarnations of Chaos that vibrated with the essence of Cosmic Daos like Chronos and Extinction, the only reason they could continue to stand against them being their unique nature and the fact that they were reinforced by Noah's essence of Ruination!

Similar to the battle between the Hegemony Chronos and Valentina's clone...there was an interplay with the quality of mana in use! But in Noah's case, the essence of Ruination stood at the same level as Primordial Essence, being even higher than Chronos and Extinction as against creatures utilizing these two types of essence...Ruination prevailed.

But there was still the newly gained force that contained strength from a Hegemony! From a being that had forged their own Universe! This was why the Incarnations of Chaos boasted such tremendous power that normal PARAGONS wouldn't even be able to stand against them.

Noah Osmont...was not a normal Paragon.

RUMBLE!

"Come on, hit me! Hit me!"

...!

Their deathly flames wavered when they looked at the enthusiastic bony expression of Noah before these powerful Incarnations felt the Origin Essence of the Goliath burn inside them, their Origins trembling as they moved their bodies as if they only had half control!

WAA!

In front of Noah's glimmering eyes, a deathly sickle that pulsated with Extinction bloomed from one undead Paragon and swung towards him, a dark purple clock appearing behind another Paragon as time began to be tampered with, and the last Primal Winged Undead Emperor simply threw out a fist filled with the essence of both of these Daos.

BOOM! BOOM! CRACK!

Pristine bones shattered as the sickle thundered down, the pure force of the Paragon paired with the force of Extinction breaking Noah's collar bones as a second later, the essence of Chronos pervaded towards his Origin to try and decimate him from the inside out!

THRUM!

A second later, a strong life force erupted from Noah as the broken bones healed, the essence of Chronos that had been trying to age his Origin inconspicuously disappearing into the same Origin it was trying to destroy as his devilish bony smile only deepened.

"..Ah!"

The Tyrannical Lich Emperor let out an eerie sound as he gazed towards the Undead Paragons with fervor, his eyes even honing in on the Undead Legions being formed due to the 10 remaining Undead Paragons that stayed behind- wanting them all to come towards him at once as he had goals that they couldn't even begin to imagine!

Chapter 1034 - This Paragon is Eccentric! I

As Noah got in contact with the Incarnations of Chaos for the first time, his Subordinates also met them instantaneously as the results here were slightly different in the Automaton Universe.

"Go for its core!"

THRUM!

Kazuhiko bellowed out loudly as his figure was a streak of dark light fighting against a gigantic mechanical race that were known as Automaton Sentinels- creatures with bodies harder than many known metals as they could only be defeated when the core hidden somewhere within their bodies was destroyed!

Above Kazuhiko's head, the Star of Conquest shone brightly as the Steel Mikhail was the one to answer his call and materialize behind the Sentinel, their attacks landing on this mechanical being from two sides as the hidden core within its body was destroyed.

BOOM!

A shower of scrap metal later, the two beings looked at each other and laughed as they glanced at the battlefield around them.

It was filled with Automaton Sentinel shooting of laser blasts and nuclear bombs throughout, while the existences with the stars of Conquest above their heads moved ardently to break apart as many of these Sentinels as possible!

They numbered in the billions as the area where most destruction was occurring was where Noah's summons were moving across, the figures of Tiamat and the twin Draconic Serpents Ava and Olivia wreaking havoc and ripping apart Automaton Sentinels at a shocking speed as above all of this, there was a singular figure that was drawing the eyes of many beings on the battlefield.

The figure held a bowtie as its golden beak shone in the light, its flippers flung back as it put on the airs of a sagely looking being while speaking out..

"Pledge fealty to the Tyrannical Emperor and you shall be saved..."

RUMBLE!

The clone of the Emperor Penguin acted like an apostle of a ridiculous false religion as the words reverberated out across the metallic battlefield that shone with a brilliant purple luster, with the reply normally being the intelligent automaton races with their own free wills choosing Fealty over death!

But this time...this time it was different as right after the call of the Emperor Penguin, a streak of purple light tore through the void and appeared in front of it an instant later, a fair hand being lifted as a terrifying plasma ray that contained the essence of a myriad of Cosmic Daos blasted right in front of the Emperor Penguin...eradicating its unprotected body as it couldn't even react at the shocking speed!

WAA!

A single attack...and the clone of the Emperor Penguin was erased.

The plasma ray filled with the essence of cosmic daos tore apart the chaotic void as the figure of the existence that shot it was revealed to all. A humanoid body that looked fair and slender, its palms showing a terrifying plasma gun receding into the hand as its whole body pulsed with immense power. With the same figure of a human but with significant modifications...it was the race of Androids that stood as one of the strongest forces in the Automaton Universe!

The vibrant essence of Chronos and Extinction radiated off of this Android in waves as it looked coldly and calculatingly at all the enemies, computing the best possible move before its figure disappeared again towards another direction.

It wasn't the only one as seconds later, similar terrifying auras that far exceeded what paragons could display began to appear en masse, the battlefield becoming tumultuous!

Noah's Animus Summons looked at this as they received an overabundance of information from Noah at the same time, their bodies lighting up with Ruination Essence as they were the first to rush towards the newly coming Incarnations of Chaos.

An innocent looking boy with a cerulean blue crown spinning atop his head licked his lips off to the side, his figure melding into the folds of space as his eyes were those that screamed intense hunger while looking at these exceedingly powerful Incarnations.

It had a hope and a dream of devouring Hegemonies in the future, never did the Blue Slime think bite sized portions of Hegemonies would actually come to him at such a stage as the aura of this creature disappeared entirely, just waiting to strike within the folds of space!

A terrifying battle would unfold here as the battle to follow would be the first one where the clones of Noah's subordinates would actually begin to fall as they fought terrifying battles with beings that exceeded all parameters of power!

Far off from the Automaton Universe and even the Primordial Cosmos in general, the figure of the main body of the Emperor Penguin was vibrating with a golden ?uster in the Universal Core of the Dark Universe, another clone being formed in front of him as his wrathful voice rang out.

"They dare to kill me first like some minor character? Me?! The holder of Pride?!"

RUMBLE!

The Manifested Sin of Pride in the Necrotic Universe and even the Emperor Penguin that held the abilities of this Sin himself were offended at such a reality, the battles to come being something they would shine in the most through the sheer uniqueness of the power they held!

The two Hegemonies were some of the beings Oathkeeper considered his strongest allies, their power just being a notch below Chronos and the Goliath!

One was a Hegemony from the Galactic Microbial Race- which were creatures the size of an unseen microbe that held power at the GALAXY Realm the moment they were born. Below the Goliath, this race was one of the most unique ones you could find across the Primordial Cosmos.

The other Hegemony was from the Chthonian Universe, and it was an existence that stemmed from the Amorphous Blasphemers Race that could move into horrifying monstrosities far larger than any planets seamlessly!

These two beings and Oathkeeper were watching the unfolding battles within the Necrotic and Automaton Universe that they didn't put too much emphasis on before, but they now scrutinized them with utter care as the appearance of the Incarnations of Chaos changed many things!

Chapter 1035 - This Paragon is Eccentric! II

"For the Goliath himself to do something like this...it means that what this Paragon mentioned before might actually be true- where the inhabitants of the Universes are closely tied with the efficiency of their Universal Constructs in achieving their goals!"

WAA!

The booming voice of the Hegemony from the Amorphous Blasphemers Race that was known as the Hegemony of Old Chaos reverberated out, Oathkeeper nodding with an impassive expression as he scrutinized the Incarnations of Chaos even more.

"Using his own Origin Essence and placing it in the body of Paragons...they are keen on stopping him!"

...!

"We can't let it succeed. If true, then this is the only method that has actually been working against them, and we brushed it off this entire time..." The Hegemony from the Galactic Microbial Race spoke out, this being holding the title of the Microscopic Hegemony..

Oathkeeper nodded at the words as he stood up, his golden hair waving gloriously as his voice resounded out while staring at the paradisiacal realm around him.

"They've managed to bypass the restrictions set up for this...and so can we."

RUMBLE!

The light of Destiny swirled around him as he raised his hands to the skies of the Elysian Realm, the sky freely splitting apart as Primordial Essence began to gush out and flow towards the Oathkeeper!

The Microscopic Hegemony and the Hegemony of Old Chaos looked at this scene with envious eyes as while surrounded by a swirling mass of pristinely white Primordial Essence, Oathkeeper spoke out with a mystical voice.

"I'll need some days to experiment and see if we can do what the Goliath did and its feasibility. Holding the Origin Essence of a Universal Real Hegemony in a small Paragon...it might have a disastrous cost!"

WAA!

The Primordial Essence flowed around him like mild rivers as this being let of tremendous waves of power, his eyes glimmering with light as the white essence only receded after a few minutes, his hands waving as he called forth the [Wings of Primordial Destiny] to communicate with a few certain beings while staring toward the illusory screens showing fighting scenes.

The Microscopic Hegemony and the Hegemony of Old Chaos also turned their eyes towards the scenes containing Noah. They focused on the Paragon in question, their expressions hardening as they saw the scene of this being screaming out grandiose words with a fevered expression as he faced the terrifying Incarnations of Chaos.

"Come on...hit me! Hit me!"

His expression didn't seem right as against the beings that held power far above any Paragons...he was bellowing out for others to attack him!

Oathkeeper and the two other powerful Hegemonies had no words as they observed and looked for solutions, a single thought crossing their minds as they paid attention to the unfolding battles in 2 Universes.

The singular thought was that this Paragon in question...he was a bit eccentric!

Meanwhile, the auras of Incarnations of Chaos were raging wildly in the Necrotic Universe, the 10 that had stayed behind to Summon Legions of Undead having called forth Billions of terrifying creatures that shone with flames containing hints of Cosmic Daos.

To call forth such armies, Noah could see that a huge strain was placed on the Incarnations, their Origins constantly creaking as they felt like they had swallowed something they couldn't digest!

The flames on their eyes were burning brightly, but they seemed to be the burning flames of a dying ember that could go out at any moment.

"I see."

Amidst his excitement, Noah spoke out slowly as the three Undead Paragons near him let off any reservations and continued to attack him with powerful skills.

"Eternal Death is guaranteed to you all after accepting this power into your bodies..."

RUMBLE

"Just be sure not to die before you give me what I want!"

...!

If they fought terrifying battles where their Origins were strained as they wildly used the unfamiliar power...they would be running towards death at an even quicker pace!

What would such beings even be thinking at this moment?

Beings that knew eternal death was coming for them, and they were doing it to themselves?

WAA!

It was only a thought from Noah, but he didn't truly care.

At this moment, there was an eruption of essence.

From Noah's body, demonic essence began to crawl out as he used a skill he normally had no need to use- an ability that vastly enhanced his defensive and attacking parameters when he faced truly powerful enemies.

[Arch Demon Lord Transformation].

BZZZT!

The essence of Ruination and Annihilation weaved into the cellular components of this new body as the base was built from the essence of Cosmic Daos, the power actually being something even more wondrous than what Noah could normally display when he used [Arch Demon Lord Transformation]!

...!

At the end of it, a glorious existence appeared.

Having grown over 100 meters in stature as he was slightly bigger than the Seven Deadly Sins, the skull being the only thing not filled with muscle as all portions of his body were covered with tough steel like muscles that seemed indestructible!

The skull...it took an entirely crimson color as golden flames still remained on its eye sockets, and there were now two demonic horns rising from the skull as they twisted and came close together, the moment they touched causing a spark of crimson flames to appear as this flame...went on to cover the entirety of the skull.

A titanous Undead with a crimson flaming skull and golden flames burning fiercely in its eye sockets...it was the first appearance of the Demonic Lich Emperor as his aura...nearly touched upon the same level as what the Incarnations of Chaos were releasing.

Nearly!

Without any need for him to swallow a portion of an Origin from a Hegemony!

...!

A golden light flashed onto the titanous figure of the Demonic Lich Emperor.

[Strength of the Weak]...[Envy the Mighty]...[Galactic Devastation].

RUMBLE!

Since the enemies he met were truly powerful this time around, Noah had no problem buffing himself to the extremes and somewhat going all out!

With such a transformation and overlaying of boosts...he could fearlessly take in all the coming hits of Incarnations of Chaos as he watched the Value of Chronos just climb towards 100..until he obtained this Cosmic Dao!

Chapter 1036 - I Won't Lift A Finger!

A titanous Demonic Lich Emperor with a flaming crimson skull.

This was the image that the 20 Paragons that had ingested the Origin Essence of the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos saw as all their eyes focused on it.

The 7 that were battling the Sins momentarily lost their focus as some suffered injuries, the three that were around the Demonic Lich Emperor feeling his aura the closest as the 10 that had stayed behind to summon Legions of undead also felt it very clearly!

They felt an aura...that was no less than theirs.

This naturally caused some heavy feelings to rise deep in the hearts of these Undead Paragons, the reality that a being had naturally reached the same stage of power that they reached through their own sheer strength alone- not having to do what they did and become Incarnations of another existence.

They weren't fools. These Paragons had lived for too many years, and even with the influence of the Dao of Necromancy that the Hegemony of Necromancy used when he gave them the Origin Essence for them to absorb, it was still their choice to do in the end..

First, they believed in themselves and their power, thinking that their origin would be able to handle the essence of a Hegemony if it was just a small portion of it.

Second was the fact that they knew sooner or later...the Tyrannical Lich Emperor that had its forces conquer over half of the Necrotic Universe would make its way towards them as well. When that time came, they would have to choose to either face eternal death or pledge their fealty to another being!

Instead of this...they chose another path as they ingested the origin essence for even greater strength, only for them to find out they truly were not able to handle this power within their Origins, and that in a matter of time, eternal death would come for them.

This was the price they had to pay to achieve a level of power no other Paragons could even dream of!

Yet...

RUMBLE!

The aura that the Demonic Lich Emperor released was no less than theirs, the flames within the sockets of these 20 Paragons waving somberly as they wondered.

Just how was he so different from them? What did he do differently that even without sacrificing his life, he could reach the same power as them?

No answer came.

Spatial essence wrapped around the figure of the Demonic Lich Emperor as he disappeared from the 3 Undead Paragons that were surrounding him, his terrific aura appearing behind the 10 Undead Paragons that had stayed behind to raise entire Undead Legions.

His flaming skeletal head seemed to forcefully pull the attention of all beings towards him as it held a sense of regality, his figure appeared in the middle of the vast armies of billions that the 10 Paragons had summoned, his voice coming out calmly.

"Let me measure the resolve of the beings that have subjected themselves to eternal death."

THRUM!

His hand that was wrapped with steel forged muscle pointed towards them as his finger beckoned for them to come, the flames on his head blazing calmly.

"I won't be lifting a finger. I'll just see what one can achieve by taking the easy way out and ingesting the Origin of a Hegemony."

WAA!

His words seemed to pierce into the only things that these Undead Paragons cared about now, their Origins flaring out with power as the Origin Essence they ingested churned out madly. Anger rose within the hearts of the Paragons that knew death was coming for them, the words of the Demonic Lich Emperor making them rush towards him as their bodies lit up with the essence of Chronos and Extinction!

Even the 7 that were facing the Sins had tried to bypass them and attack the majestic looking titanous Demonic Lich Emperor, but their enemies gave them no leeway as only 13 Undead Paragons made a beeline towards Noah.

The 3 Primal Winged Undead Emperors and the 10 Undead Lich Emperors all burned with power as their bodies lit up bright red and purple, 13 magisterial clocks appearing behind each of them as a bubble of purple clocks was soon created in the surrounding miles.

The clocks rotated wondrously around each other as they released a terrifying swirl of Chronos and Extinction to surge towards the lone figure of the Demonic Lich Emperor that at this moment, stretched his hands out and raised his skeletal head, merely waiting for the destructive burst of attacks to land on him!

His body that was reinforced mainly by Ruination Essence vibrated with power, the enhancements and boosts from many skills overlaid together causing his body alone to cause the surrounding space to tremble as a second later, the full power of 13 Incarnations of Chaos smashed into his body.

BOOOM!...CRACK!

The attacks were so potent and horrendous as even the void was shredded apart like paper, the two essences of Extinction and Chronos working hand in hand as their goal was to reduce everything they touched to ash where it was through the factor of time for Chronos or simply pure extinction!

But for Noah, none of this mattered.

For him, what mattered was just the reality that these attacks were filled with the vibrant essence of the Dao of Chronos.

WAA!

Amidst the raging flames of extinction that remained after the essence of Chronos was sucked up, Noah's bright eyes glanced at a certain number within his Status Panel.

[Chronos Integration Value] :: 17/100

The flames surrounding his head blazed every brighter as space began to stabilize.

The void folded and healed as the scene cleared, the flames within the sockets of the Undead Paragons blazing up somberly as after everything cleared, they still saw the scene of the Demonic Lich Emperor spreading his arms out as his body...was spotless.

...!

It actually seemed to vibrate with an immense amount of power that was nigh endless, the attacks of Incarnations that exceeded any Parameters of Paragons actually not being able to pass through him!

Only his voice rang out as it caused the minds of the Undead Paragons to buzz with activity.

"A few more minutes. I still won't lift a finger against you all."

RUMBLE!

His figure remained floating in the void as he spoke out domineeringly, the existences that had given away their lives just to reach the same realm of power as him bellowing out as they rushed towards him like flies!

Chapter 1037 - CHRONOS I

Outside of the boundary of the Necrotic Universe, there was first a single Hegemony watching the scenes of the shocking battles within and broadcasting them to others.

After a few minutes passed since the first appearance of Incarnations of Chaos, even more Hegemonies from the vast array of Universes within the Primordial Cosmos appeared outside the boundary of the Necrotic Universe, their gazes upon the new form of horrendous warfare they had not come across before!

Creatures ingesting the Origin of Hegemonies as their power far exceeded anything that the rank of Paragon had to offer!

Yet...

What about the Paragon that had not ingested any Origin Essence of a Hegemony and was somehow still releasing the same battle power as these existences known as Incarnations of Chaos?

What exactly gave him the strength to propel his power to a level no other Paragons in the Primordial Cosmos could reach?

The Hegemonies watching right outside of the Necrotic Universe looked at each other with somber expressions as they had no answer.

Those observing the broadcast from illusory screens in far away universes looked at those around them silently, not having the slightest idea why as one thing was confirmed on this day.

The Paragon that many had dismissed before or didn't give too much attention to in the past had stepped into their spot light today!

As Many Hegemonies looked at his regal figure that was taking in attacks from 13 Incarnations of Chaos, they couldn't help but burn this image deep into their eyes!

BOOM!

In the Necrotic Universe where the terrifying battle was taking place, 13 purple clocks were floating permanently in the skies as their purple aura covered the 13 Paragons, their bodies flitting through the river of time as they appeared to attack Noah from different time points with every single move..

It was extremely hard to describe the workings of the Dao of Chronos into words, but the Paragons were shuttling through time with a difference of a few seconds as from the current time, they appeared a few seconds in the past and released shocking attacks, and some appeared a few seconds in the future to release even more deadly attacks.

It meant that when time came together, the figure of the Demonic Lich Emperor would be receiving attacks from the past and the future as such attacks...were not ones that an existence could defend against!

That was... unless they had the dao of Chronos as well and they could also shuttle a few seconds in the future and the past to defend against attacks they didn't even know of.

It meant that with utter precision and accuracy, their deadly attacks all landed on the Demonic Lich Emperor as he could only take them from three different time points, with the only thing he was capable of doing being to just defend with his body!

This method...would have worked and worn down any Paragon as after just a few seconds of receiving unseen attacks from different times would have shattered their defenses and brought them that much closer to death.

But against Noah...it mattered not whether they came a few seconds in the future, past, or present as his Arch Demon Lord Form and boosts from a myriad of different skills were still active during this time as none of them could penetrate his defenses!

All that mattered to him was a certain value.

[Chronos Integration Value] :: 68/100

His eyes lit up with immense fervor every time this value rose, his body still feeling the tingling pain from the strikes of beings that were exceeding the Parameters of Paragons!

But he himself was already on the process of exceeding the power of Paragons long before them, as he was already connecting the galaxies within his Origin at a rate that they couldn't even begin to imagine.

The Conquest of the Necrotic Universe was already half complete as his subordinates had also covered a significant portion of the Automaton Universe.

He had left behind many Galaxy clusters with trillions upon trillions of Undead Clans that pledged Fealty to him, only taking a few Paragons to add to his Undead Legion as at this moment, all of them were still on stand by with the Legion that held a swirling Necrotic Ring of Death behind Noah and the Seven Deadly Sins!

The uncountable number of undead that had pledged Fealty had now also contributed to the Marks of Antiquity he formed, these Marks going on to create another 1.5 Billion Dao Galaxies as the total number now came to 3 Billion as they were still rapidly increasing.

His Origin was bubbling with power as this contributed to the reasons why he could withstand the incarnations right now- he was already making great strides towards forming his Universal Seed as he was 6% of the way there!

BOOOM!

Space twisted again as the purple clocks above the void circled endlessly, attacks seemingly coming from all sides at this moment as his body got thundered with them even more vigorously, his tough skin and muscle made from the very essence of Ruination beginning to crack and tear.

But even to this...he only smiled as he saw the essence of Chronos sink into him deeper!

[Chronos Integration Value] :: 81/100

The Value he was looking at so dearly continued to rise as he could almost taste a new Cosmic Dao, his flaming skull rising up jovially as during the magisterial scene of being swarmed by 13 Undead Paragons with the colorful waves of Cosmic Essence flying out all around him...he laughed boisterously.

KEKEKE!

The dreary laugh of the Demonic Lich Emperor rang out clearly as it caused the Origins of the 13 Incarnations to tremble with wrath, one of the Primal Winged Undead Emperors bellowing out as his body lit up brightly, the purple clock he controlled shining brightly as getting even larger as he was utilizing an enormous amount of mana for an ultimate skill that utilized the Dao of Chronos!

But...

CRACK!

A second later, a horrendous sound rang out that could be heard across all the explosions resounding across the deathly chaotic void.

It came from the Paragon that was just bellowing out and utilizing enormous amounts of mana, the flaming eyes of this existence looking down on its chest as it peered deep into itself and saw that its Origin...had an enormous crack bisecting it in half.

...!

The Incarnation had overworked his Origin until it could no longer handle the Origin Essence of the Goliath within him!

Due to his anger and wrath at the Demonic Lich Emperor that laughed at the face of their attacks, he had actually brought the death that was supposed to come a month later as it arrived on the same day, the strain on his origin being too much as this would be one of the first beings who would literally die from anger due to the words of a certain Lich Emperor.

CRACK...BOOOM!

With an expression of shock, the Origin of this Paragon imploded as the powerful Paragon was turned into countless bones shooting out everywhere, the center of explosion leaving behind a pulsing unstable obsidian mass that seemed used up and nearly depleted!

...!

All that he left behind was an unstable Seed of Chaos!

The other Incarnations of Chaos looked at this scene with somber expressions as their hearts trembled, seeing the fate awaiting them as the fast pace at which they churned their mana within their bodies were slowed down unconsciously.

As all of them merely stared at the unstable mass of Origin Essence that had imploded a Paragon apart, only a single being could still move with clarity.

WAP!

The figure of the cackling Demonic Lich Emperor appeared at the spot where a Paragon had just perished, his eyes shining brilliantly as his hands reached out towards the unstable and nearly depleted Origin Essence of a Hegemony!

He was moving naturally as he only had a single thought in his mind.

'This should work as well, right?'

Just an instinct...but he followed it to completion!

[Devouring].

...!

THRUM!

A black mass erupted from Noah as it took in the unstable Origin Essence under the ability of the Sin of Gluttony, very quickly breaking it down as a vast amount of differing Dao Essences within this unstable origin were broken down into pure mana and vitality.

All Dao Essences...except for the one that Noah was currently integrating!

It was seamlessly sucked into his Origin as under the shocked gazes of Paragons and Hegemonies, Noah alone saw two prompts appear in front of his eyes.

[Chronos Integration Value] :: 100/100

...[Commencing the process of the Emergence of the Cosmic Dao of Chronos.]

"..."

Noah's eyes glimmered with light as he felt as if all sound became blocked out at this moment.

As if he was alone in a world of silence, only a singular light beginning to bloom in his eyes!

At this moment...

A regal purple light shone!

Chapter 1038 - CHRONOS II

Across the Primordial Cosmos, there were three beings that had comprehended the Cosmic Dao of Chronos.

Each of them were stretched across the Cosmos but at this moment, all of them raised their heads towards a certain direction.

"What?"

In the Elysian Universe, the regal expression of Oathkeeper was replaced with shock for the first time.

"..."

In the Automaton Universe, the black hole taking the place of the head of the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos swirled with shocking power as he looked in the far away direction silently!

"Impossible!"

Only a single other being showed more emotion, and it was the one that was even given the title of the Hegemony of Chronos.

This being looked towards the direction of the Necrotic Universe where just like Oathkeeper and the Goliath, he sensed a blooming purple light that signified Chronos being comprehended by another being!

THRUM!

In front of the Universal Construct within the Animus Universe, Chronos rose up with a grim expression as he looked far away, his mind buzzing with activity as yet another thing that shouldn't have happened...was occurring.

In the many lifetimes he lived through, not once had another being comprehended Chronos. Not until many years from now when the situation within the Primordial Cosmos would be vastly different.

Yet...

WAA!

"Old Man, what's got your panties in a bunch?"

At this moment, the voice of valiant looking Valentina rang out as cosmic Dao essence spilled from her, the task of her clone continuing to descend down the Animus Universe continuing as even while she was defeated by Chronos multiple times, she never gave in as she continued to call forth more clones!

Chronos only gazed at Valentina's clone with impassive eyes that flashed with a purple light, a gigantic clock appearing behind him again as it shot out with a killing light.

Meanwhile, in the Necrotic Universe.

The dazzling glimmer of purple caused many eyes to turn towards it in shock, but this purple color eventually began to be tinged with red!

When Chronos and the Goliath utilized this dao, it was tinged purple with all of their attacks. When the Oathkeeper used the Dao of Chronos, the huge clocks he summoned were tinged gold.

Now that Noah was undergoing the process of emerging a new Cosmic Dao within him, it became his own as different from the purple or golden luster, it became a beautiful purple-crimson color that melded together into a beautiful picture!

THRUUUM!

From his body, waves of Cosmic Essence of Chronos began to leak out madly as they permeated throughout the chaotic void, a purple-crimson clock of ridiculous proportions beginning to form above everyone.

The aura caused every single being in its shadow to shake at its sheer power and majesty, the obtainment of this Cosmic Dao by Noah at this moment being something of great importance!

He of course held the Cosmic Dao of Ruination, a Dao that when he utilized it fully as he had hiddenly done so before- he could actually wipe out any creature on the same level as him in a matter of seconds.

But he didn't use it freely as until now, this was a card that would be kept secret as knowledge of it meant others also knowing he held a Cosmic Treasure of the directly opposing nature to the Primordial Disk that Oathkeeper held.

So the wondrous and overpowered Dao of Ruination wasn't utilized openly or frequently in Noah's battles.

Now, he had obtained the Cosmic Dao of Chronos. It was only a level below Ruination, but it was a Dao of ridiculous power that stood above many other Cosmic Daos, the power it could display being something only the three most powerful powerhouses of the Primordial Cosmos understood!

Since he obtained it in front of everyone's eyes, he would utilize it to its fullest possible extent as at this moment, the purple-crimson clock had stretched out for tens of thousands of miles as it passed the size of normal planetary bodies, and it was still spreading out.

RUMBLE!

At the center of it all was Noah Osmont.

He comprehended the pristine Dao of Chronos as knowledge of how he could very easily manipulate time filled his mind, numerous scenes flitting through his mind at this moment!

The scene of when he obtained his Cosmic Treasure.

The scene of him defeating Aldritch after he tore open the boundary of the Novus Galaxy and invited outsiders.

The scene of him obtaining the Rank S [Volcanic Eruption] in the Blessed Empire and using it to decimate a Mephitic Turtle as Elizabeth and other hunters watched in awe and shock!

The scene of him...obtaining a Rank F [Fireball] after he used up all of his savings, right before he awakened to see a blank value next to his [Focus]!

All of these scenes played out in front of Noah's eyes as he shockingly found that uniquely because of his Infinite Mana...he could actually return to any of these times!

...!

Chronos couldn't do this! Oathkeeper or the Goliath couldn't do this!

This was partly because they lived in the Primordial Cosmos as the most powerful beings, and any single one of them reversing time would mean they were not just doing it for themselves, but for the entire Cosmos they were in.

The essence required for this...was too much!

They could utilize the Dao of Chronos to jump back in time a few hours or a day at most, but their mana reserves wouldn't allow for anything more.

An example was when Noah had utilized the Dagger of Time to jump back barely a few days in when he was moving in the World of Cultivation and the Demon World. His mana was more than enough, and the affected area was very small.

Affecting an entire Cosmos...even for Oathkeeper and the others, it was too hard!

But the existence that held Infinite Mana could do many more things with time.

THRUM!

Even more mystical knowledge rushed into Noah's mind at this moment as the comprehension of Chronos settled in.

Time!

The abstruse and ridiculous concept of time!

Time actually didn't follow a linear path...!

It wasn't a straight forward concept of going from A to B as there was much involved with it!

Those capable of jumping through time held great power as the things they did could vastly change entire realities.

Even for Noah who was capable of jumping through time at this moment, even to the very point right before he awakened as a Hunter...at any point that he did something vastly different than what he did in the original time, things would be greatly changed as this would actually create a branch in time...it would create a whole new reality!

RUMBLE!

Chapter 1039 - Phenomenal Power! I

A single action different from the Original Timeline creating a branch in time that would bud into a whole new reality!

Such a concept caused Noah's heart to tremble as after the comprehension of Chronos, his mind could see a vast and endless River of Time that seemed to stretch endlessly. This river of time occasionally had smaller rivers stemming from it, and these were all points in time where beings utilized the law of time or the Dao of Chronos to do something.

But eventually, all of these small rivers of time merged back with the main one that churned endlessly forward.

The Original Timeline!

Noah looked at the image of the river of time, seeing the path of his current timeline of him growing up, of his parents falling to the first Beast Tides when the Apocalypse began, of him obtaining a Rank F Fireball skill book up until now when he obtained a Cosmic Dao.

It had many paths and possibilities, but they all led to where he was right now!

He...could not change this.

Any grand changes he made would only put him on another branch of time, something he still didn't understand the consequences of!

Even though he had the mana requirements to go back to even the point before he obtained the Rank F Fireball Skill Book, he did not do so as he still had not fully understood Chronos and Time! He didn't know the effects it would have on everything, and what would happen when he left the Original Timeline he was currently in, or what effects it would have on this timeline!

From his Novus Galaxy to the Dark Universe, and now to the Primordial Cosmos where 9 of its Universes were currently under lock in a process initiated by some of the most powerful beings within the Cosmos...and wherever this would lead.

Maybe when he had fully assimilated Chronos.

At that time, maybe he would understand more about branching timelines and realities, and whether he could truly move without shattering everything.

Maybe when he understood things even more after he obtained the Cosmic Dao of Reincarnation and how that was different from Chronos. Was the Hegemony of Chronos Reincarnating in the Original Timeline this whole time? What about the timeline before he reincarnated? What about..

BZZT!

Noah's mind buzzed with possibilities as he found no answer, only a single word permeating his mind as he calmed everything down.

Maybe...

RUMBLE!

His eyes twinkled with a purple crimson luster as he came out from his thoughts and glanced at the enormous purple crimson clock that his endless mana had created, this clock strengthening out for hundreds of thousands of miles as it caused the vast Legions of Undead and all their Paragons to look at it in awe.

This clock was the manifestation of Chronos, something that Oathkeeper and the others also called forth as they used it as a medium to affect anything to do with time. Now, Noah had called it forth grandly as he unreservedly let it grow with a constant input of mana, giving it its current size that even blinded the eyes of the faraway watching Hegemonies!

Noah stared at this vibrant clock as he thought about its usage.

He was filled with knowledge on how to manipulate time and could do so with a wave of his hands, but he didn't have established skills he could utilize to easily affect time at the utterance of a word.

He didn't have them, so he would just make them.

A few billion of his remaining skill points were used as a simple skill tree with five abilities that could utilize Chronos was created!

As for the name, Noah simply termed the skill tree [Wielder of Chronos].

[Wielder of Chronos] :: A skill tree geared towards a basic application of the Cosmic Dao of Chronos. Abilities include [Temporal Looping] (5/5), Instantaneous Age Regression and Progression, Temporal Manipulation Perception, Temporal Halt, Temporal Inversion

[Temporal Looping] (5/5) :: Depending on the mana used, the user can place a certain area or being on a temporal loop that is extremely hard to escape from. Only those capable of releasing strength to shatter the effects of time itself or beings proficient in the workings of time can seamlessly escape Temporal Looping.

Instantaneous Age Regression and Progression :: The user can cause the instantaneous age regression or progression in a selected target.

Temporal Manipulation Perception :: The workings of time are filled with mysteries, with this passive ability allowing for the user to sense when time has been manipulated and the exact point of its occurrence.

Temporal Halt :: The user can cause a temporal halt around a certain area or being, causing time to come to a stop. The larger the affected area of Temporal Halt, the greater the chance of creating a branch in time.

Temporal Inversion :: The user can inverse the time around a certain area or being, causing time to flow in reverse. The larger the affected area, the greater the chance of creating a branch in time.

"..."

Terrifying abilities that were all under the [Wielder of Chronos] skill tree that had the definition of basic application of the Cosmic Dao of Chronos!

Noah looked at the set of skills with careful eyes as when it came to Chronos, it was like someone had handed Noah a truly dangerous bomb that he could freely change the size of, the effects he could display being extremely terrifying as he himself had to be careful how he used it.

The [Temporal Manipulation Perception] ability was working passively so that he didn't need to worry when others manipulated time. So he himself...would begin slowly studying the Dao of Chronos with the active abilities he created!

His flaming eyes gazed at the 19 Undead Paragons below him that still glanced towards him with utter shock, his figure capturing the eyes of all as at this moment, he floated above everyone as a gigantic purple crimson clock rotated masterfully in the chaotic void above him.

They saw his eyes turn towards them as they shivered unconsciously.

They then heard his words ringing out clearly as to the shock of all, Noah began to use the essence of Chronos wildly for the first time!

[Temporal Halt].

BZZZZT!

The enormous purple crimson clock released a flood of essence of Chronos as it went to watch over just the 1 mile area where Noah, the Sins, and the 19 Paragons were fighting in.

Just a single mile.

But everything within this mile...came to a halt at this moment.

Everything but the terrifying figure of the Demonic Lich Emperor that floated serenely!

He had obtained what he wanted as he had not made a move all this time.

Under the shocked gazes of many beings, he now made a move!

Chapter 1040 - Phenomenal Power! II

[Temporal Halt].

The Hegemony of Necromancy was watching the appearance of the purple crimson colored clock that was hundreds of thousands of miles in diameter while shuddering with utter shock and stupor.

He had only utilized 20 of the 100 Seeds of Chaos to create 20 Incarnations of Chaos that he sent forward, but never would he have thought that the result of it was somehow their enemy becoming capable of utilizing the Dao of Chronos!

How?!

Could someone just comprehend a Dao as mysterious and abstruse as that so easily?!

Could someone do it just because they wished to do so?!

The flames on this Hegemony trembled with shock as a second later, he watched as a time stop was placed in a region of a single mile. But everything within this mile except the figure of the Demonic Lich Emperor had come to a stop due to his single command.

"..."

The Trillions of Undead Legions outside could move, and they even edged back from the frozen space temporarily as it seemed they didn't even want to be near it!

Within the frozen space, the 19 Incarnations of Chaos could consciously feel this Temporal Halt as they trembled with fear, but they held the essence of Chronos within them as well due to the Seeds of Chaos they swallowed, so the purple essence erupted around their bodies as they fought to move in the stopped time.

But...

In terms of the essence of Chronos, just who would be the winner?

Logically, even the Hegemony of Necromancy still in a stupor thought the enhanced Incarnations of Chaos would come out on top at the end of it, breaking past the Temporal Halt as they fought a life and death battle with the enemy that had somehow comprehended a Cosmic Dao that they could only utilize the essence of due to the Seeds they ingested.

Yet the 19 Incarnations seemed to be struggling as the purple essence of Chronos tried to protect their bodies, while the figure of the Demonic Lich Emperor had waves of purple-crimson essence still coming out front the enormous clock above the chaotic void endlessly as if mana was not a limited utility for him!

This...was actually the moment in time that the many watching Hegemonies would begin paying attention to Noah based on the amount of mana he was using, as many of them understood the reality of the Dao of Chronos and how much it would require of someone.

Yet the being before them...he was calling forth an endless amount of the essence of Chronos as even against 19 other beings that could utilize this essence as well, he overpowered all of them!

19 beings at the same stage as him, 19 beings that were actually Incarnations of the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos.

"..."

"The mana required for this...impossible!"

RUMBLE!

The Hegemony of Necromancy was the first to utter this as other Hegemonies followed. In the boundary of the Necrotic Universe, even more Universal Experts came to observe this shocking scene as before they could even get past the shock that a Paragon was seamlessly utilizing the essence of Chaos, they then saw his pure utilization of Mana as he called forth endless amount of this Cosmic Essence as if he had mana reserves of tens of Hegemonies.

The 19 Paragons were overwhelmed with the essence of Chronos Noah used to reinforce the Temporal Halt, none of them being able to move as a second later, this terrifying Demonic Lich Emperor called out another skill.

[Temporal Inversion].

Under a Temporal Halt, he actually tapped his fingers in the void carefully as the churning seas of Chronos essence rushing from the slowly rotating purple-crimson clock turned into rivers of light that only wrapped around the 19 Paragons.

The Time Inversion...was only focused on these beings themselves as Noah actually considered that he was doing something simple.

From the vast River of Time that he could now gaze upon, he was naturally able to see a few things. His focus on the 19 Paragons let him know that whatever grand change that had occurred to make them Incarnations of chaos happened not too long ago!

And this...was the target of his Temporal Inversion.

He was simply inverting the time of these Paragons, the state of their bodies and of their Origins- just an hour back!

An hour back before they became Incarnations of Chaos.

RUMBLE!

At certain levels of power, one didn't need to use brute force as many ingenious methods existed they could utilize.

Noah getting his hands on the Cosmic Dao of Chronos opened many methods for him as at this moment, many eyes watched in shock as the bodies of 19 Paragons became fully surrounded by the rivers of essence of Chronos as they formed into a bubble of crimson-purple light that swirled around them!

With this circular bubble of light, the bodies of the 19 Paragons were showing an eerie scene of twisting back and forth, their time of their bodies and Origin being inverted in a shocking fashion as those who didn't have deep comprehensions in the concept of time wouldn't even be able to understand what they were seeing.

THRUM!

A brilliant flash of light occurred after a few seconds from the 19 bubbles of crimson purple light, piercing screams ringing out from the Undead Paragons as they felt something overbearing be pulled apart from their Origins and Souls.

WAA!

Noah tapped his hands once more as the [Temporal Inversion] around their bodies was stopped, the scene around the Undead Paragons becoming clear for all to see.

Their bodies looked ragged and essence fluctuated around them weakly, but there was another thing beside their bodies that drew the eyes of all those watching. The Hegemony of Necromancy was one of the first to have their eyes drawn towards it, his body beginning to tremble as he waved his hands to observe the 80 Seeds of Chaos he still had with him as when he turned back to the 19 Paragons...he saw the same 19 Seeds of Chaos that he had induced them to ingest some time ago!

...!

"This...!"

An impossible scene!

A shocking reality!
