Chapter 1311 - Not Worthy To Stand Up For! II

A Cosmic Resource Point!

Noah didn't look at the description of the [Resplendent Shards of a Cosmic Core] or the [Transcendental Runic Dao Line Enhancers], and he instead focused on this new concept within the passage of a mere millisecond that was akin to the outside world not even moving.

At this time, the battle in the Cosmic Battlefield was like it was paused as Noah's thoughts were moving so fast that he could loot at the loot he was receiving and formulate a myriad of grand plans without the passage of even a millisecond!

[Cosmic Resource Point] :: A Unique accumulation of essence in the form of an Authority. A single resource point allows one to gain the complete comprehension or assimilation of any Dao, or the advancement of a single percentage of any Minor or Greater Edicts. A single resource point can also be used to fully upgrade a single skill tree and all of the skills contained within to a numerical cap of 50/50 Resplendent Skill Points. Improbable and reality-bending skills can now be made from [Skill Creation] through the utilization of Cosmic Resource Point. If consumed, a resource point will grant +1,000,000% to All Parameters permanently. Current Cosmic Resource Points: 15

A fantastical new concept born from Skill Points being enhanced multiple times by Increased Loot Quantity and Rarity!

A single point could increase a percentage of an Edict or fully comprehend or assimilate any Dao, but Noah already knew he would be using the Cosmic Resource Points to get his Edicts to 100%- and he would be beginning with the only GREATER Nomological Edict he held. Then there was also the birth of new skills that would have been impossible to bring forth with mere skill points alone, and this was another avenue Noah had to explore.

Of course to strengthen himself even further, some Cosmic Resource Points would also be utilized on skill trees in the future to come. He only held 15 at this moment, but when every single enemy from the House of Stormdust fell, this number should shoot up many times over!

"And the two other Loot..." His gaze then went over to the Shards of a Cosmic Core and the Enhancers that had gained the moniker of [Transcendental]!

[Resplendent Shards of a Cosmic Core] :: A unique portion of a Cosmic Core born under special circumstances. The absorption of a single one can grant 10,000 normal Universes. Current Resplendent Shards of a Cosmic Core: 144,000.

[Transcendental Runic Dao Line Enhancers] :: The elevated version of the amalgamation of branded Runic Dao Lines that normally fade back into nature after the death of their owner, but the unique power of Noah Osmont has pulled upon this cycle of return and caused the formation of Dao Lines that can enhance the power of branded Daos to form. The Transcendental Dao Line Enhancers will elevate the base effect of a selected branded Runic Dao Line that stems from Lesser Daos by 60%, Grand Daos by 40%, and Cosmic Daos by 20%. Currently owned Transcendental Runic Dao Line Enhancers- 60,500.

Transcendental Enhancers that elevated his base percentage of Cosmic Dao Lines by 20%!

Then there were Shards of a Cosmic Core that with the death of a portion of the army from the House of Stormdust, Noah gained enough to obtain 1.4 Billion normal Universes!

Of course with the Duplication under RUINATION that was already beginning in Noah's origin, the actual result would come out to be close to 3 Billion normal Universes. And this...was just the beginning.

His thoughts moved swiftly as he ascertained everything he could, his focus fully returning back to the Cosmic Battlefield where his subordinates and summons in the form of the terrifying Primordial Centurions continued to constrict their circle around the army, Forefathers trying to fight back in a futile manner as more and more fell every millisecond!

Noah stared at all this as he sat upon his throne, everything proceeding as he had read about as his cold gaze locked onto the figure of Stormdust that was coming out of his stupor.

"Impossible..."

The words of this Family Head echoed out in a raspy voice as his Origin began to tremble in an unstable fashion!

"How can you...how can you have such a Destiny? What are you?!"

The scene Stormdust saw was shocking enough that it stopped him in track as thereafter...he only held disbelief as he could truly not understand why.

Try to cut Osmont's String of Destiny? That was practically suicide as it was even larger than the golden scissors he could utilize with <Destiny Cleavage>!

'No...' Stormdust's heart froze over amidst his confusion as his thoughts eerily turned crystal clear.

'My goal was Aegon. My aim was Aegon. He is the one I have to surpass! This existence before me...'

THRUM!

"Must die no matter what."

...!

His thoughts finished out loud as wrathful resonant words that reached the Throne of Tyranny that was far away.

His crimson hair waved slowly as his eyes attained a strong resolve even after he saw the unbelievable destiny of the enemy before him!

"If he cannot be defeated through Destiny, that he will be destroyed through pure force...is that what you are thinking?"

WAA!

The domineering voice of a Tyrant rang out in Stormdust's ears, Noah's words actually whispering what his own thoughts were as the eyes of the Family Head constricted in shock amidst their resolve!

"No need to forge another resolve or boost up your confidence. I passed your stage of power days ago as your mere half a billion Universes cannot even make me rise from my throne to take care of you."

Not a threat or a promise, but a mere statement of the current Reality!

Stormdust gazed towards the being situated upon the Throne of Tyranny with blazing crimson eyes as his muddled mind intensified in power.

"The Family Head controlling over 1,000 Cosmos...reduced to a mere coward that cannot even move another step against his enemy."

The taunting words of Noah echoed in his ears over and over again as Stormdust's eyes fully turned red! He saw nothing but red within his eyes as deep within his Origin, the hidden blood provided by a terrifying existence began to leak out like an endless sea to fill his Origin!

After such a significant psychological damage with the Edict he believed in so much being nullified into nothingness as he saw the Destiny of his enemy be something that even a being like Aegon could not compare to, Noah's words were sharper and deadlier than anything that Stormdust could hear at this moment.

His heart and origin screamed out unfairness as a beam of white-gold light shot forth with him at the center, a unique aura permeating the surroundings as an unresigned bellow of frustration and disbelief echoed out grandly.

OOOOOH!

Chapter 1312 - The Tainted Defenders Of Reality! I

On the Throne of Tyranny, Noah looked as the stationary Stormdust began to leak out a shockingly unique aura, his hand cradling his chin with a light smile while looking at the change of this Family Head.

"That was all it took to get you to change?"

A devilishly dominant smile appeared on him as from his Throne of Tyranny, he watched as the aura of a Primordial Beast began to bloom from the body of Stormdust before everyone's eyes!

Everything...was proceeding as he expected.

He had allowed the gaze of others to be able to discern a portion of his Destiny- a Portion! His Primordial Eye could hide anything about the Origin of a being, and this included more than just masking the essence of Daos or Edicts or changing one's form.

One could hide their destiny and fortune from being discerned by others just as easily, and Noah had allowed a portion of his destiny to be seen by Stormdust and the existence that could see from the eyes of this Family Head for the purpose of enticement!

The unique existence that was Hyperion...that was what this show was all for! There were many layers of things to look out for in this ongoing event, but one of the main players was not actually present in the Cosmic Battlefield as Noah had to draw him in.

As he watched the maddening aura that one would only come across from Primordial Beasts leak out from Stormdust, Noah bid his time as he waited for the rest of the spectacular events to unfold!

'Then...we have Aegon and his backstory, don't we?'

He sat on his Throne of Tyranny imposingly as he didn't even continue staring at Stormdust, his illuminating gaze going towards another existence situated on a similar throne that was staring emotionlessly towards Stormdust's position!

Aegon's Primordial Eye gazed towards Stormdust with a deep sense of disappointment among a myriad of emotions, the essence being leaked from the body of his old friend being something he knew all too well.

He knew that this friend of his was looking for other sources of power as he had closed off any other possible paths with the limited number of Daos and Laws he had to forge any more Edicts. He knew that Stormdust was chasing after him and the power he held...but Aegon knew this was an impossibility as nobody could reach the level he had reached!

So even when he found out that Stormdust turned towards the machinations of the vile Primordial Beasts for a bid of power, he let it slide as he considered their old friendship. As he considered the past Stormdust that even he used to look up to.

'You were a shining beacon of light I could never reach before...and look at you now.'

WAA!

A beacon of light that Aegon looked up to!

This was the past Stormdust who was leading Aegon, Havenbreaker, and Springforge to help others and conquer Universes under their feet.

A strong leader who had the most beautiful woman by his side...Aegon looked up to him as the prime example of what he wanted in life. And he got the chance to do so when the Primordial appeared before them and chose him to be the Champion.

Not Stormdust who was leading their party- it was his that was chosen to be the Champion of Reality!

The dynamic of their group had gradually changed as Aegon obtained the position of leadership he always admired...and he even took the beautiful woman that was by the side of the person he admired. He achieved everything he wanted even though the one he looked up to fell behind him, he still promised himself to take care of him.

'So I let you play your game with the Primordial Beasts, and I wouldn't have done anything to you had you just continued to try doing it in secret. Yet now...'

Why was he falling under the influence of a small enemy and getting so worked up that he would resort to using the strength of Primordial Beasts in the depths of the Bastion of Reality?

The gaze of the Champion of Reality was heavy as he looked at his old friend, and then also at the existence on top of a purple gold throne that had been the cause of all this.

'And you...just who do you think you are to cause all this?'

Destiny weaved and flowed as events continued to unfold.

The moment that Stormdust erupted with the aura of Primordial Beasts, a large majority of the Forefathers, Daolords, and many of the Antiquities encircled by Noah's forces in the Primordial Centurion forms also began to release bursts of light as at this time...the figures of Tainted Ones began to bloom.

Existences that had devoured the Origin Blood of Primordial Beasts to achieve a new stage of power- such beings rose up in open as their forms were laid bare for all to see!

"What is this..."? In the edges of the Cosmic Battlefield, existences from the different houses rose up in shock as they tried to comprehend the scenes they were watching. On the center of the verdant seats, Springforge's eyes flashed with a cold light as by her side, Halcyon voiced out calmly as her golden eyes shone with a lustrous light.

"Now, there is no going back."

An irrevocable action had occurred!

In the center of the Bastion of Reality, a portion of its own defenders were releasing the aura of the enemies that sought to destroy Reality!

The one to cause this all calmly remained situated on his Throne of Tyranny, watching calmly as Stormdust's body ballooned out while morphing into a fantastical creature.

Brilliant golden wings bloomed from his back as his body turned bestial, his body expanding to be over a million light years in diameter as his face became pristinely draconic while still holding the features of Stormdust!

To the sides of the draconic jaws, menacing golden tusks rose in a shocking fashion as elephantine features similar to a certain existence bloomed- this mixture of Primordial Beast and human releasing a dark crimson aura as its jaws opened while bellowing out gloriously.

"ROAAAR!"

A roar that shook the entire Cosmic Battlefield.

Power that even caused Springforge and Halcyon to frown as Forefathers in the surroundings felt an oppressive pressure!

Yet towards this, Noah's kingly figure only rose his head higher as with a devilish smile, his Throne of Tyranny floated forward while his voice echoed out grandly.

"Let's go!"

WAA!

Chapter 1313 - The Tainted Defenders Of Reality! II

Inside the Ruination Realm.

Noah's Universal Body had entered this unique space that had a 1000:1 time ratio in order to fully utilize the crazy efficiency he had under his belt. With his thoughts and actions being able to move in terms of milliseconds, he had many things he could do within the Ruination Realm as thousand milliseconds in here was a mere single one in the outside space!

Currently, he had already utilized RUINATION to duplicate his newly gained [Resplendent Shards of a Cosmic Core], his Universal body beginning to crazily devour them as his power would increase in real time in the outside world.

The Resplendent Shard of a Cosmic Core looked like a multicolored hexagonal cube that constantly released rays of light, Noah calling them out like a mountain around him as he devoured them in exchange for hundreds of thousands of normal Universes blooming in his Origin every millisecond!

His body released a bright glow of power as the runic dao lines stretching across his body only enhanced the aesthetic of an ancient being.

As he did all this, he monitored the situation in the Cosmic Battlefield as his other body held a golden book within his hands, constantly trying to discern what was coming and the result of Noah's actions in real time!

Now that Stormdust had changed into a wondrous Tainted One with the similarities of the Draconic-Elephant Primordial Beast, how would Aegon react? How would Hyperion react?

Noah's main focus wasn't even Aegon amidst all this as it was the existence known as Hyperion!

With the robust and ever expanding reserves of fortune and destiny paired with the fact that his regeneration of this resource was now happening at an extremely fast rate, Noah was bolder with the subjects he focused on when he utilized Reader's Foresight.

From this, he had at times peered into the character that was Hyperion as he was exposed to the true nature of this being that didn't even bother to speak to him before!

"A Cosmic Primordial Beast that does not want to do the job it was born to do..."

Yes!

Noah had found out the true nature of Hyperion as an Ender of Reality that didn't actually wish to perish with its Reality! This being had achieved the Cosmic Realm a long time ago as he could have chosen to decimate every single Cosmos out there...

"And yet he didn't..."

He had veered off the path of normal Primordial Beasts as he looked closely at the different races across the vast Reality while directing his terrifying attention to the Primordials that his kind were battling to this very day.

This was why Noah had changed his stance from hiding from this existence to showing him a glimpse of what he was as he drew in its attention, with his foresight looking at something very far off in the distance that stemmed after he saw the figures of Undead Primordial Beasts under Eckert's Supreme Necromancer System.

He was bold enough as he thought...how great would it be if he could bring an Ender of Reality under his banner?!

WAA!

Had it ever been done before?! Could he even entertain such an idea at this time? The answer was that...anything was possible.

"Curious, ruthless, and also having access to a terrifying power that has reached out to him outside of this Reality...let's see which one of us will trump over the other!"

As he absorbed the Shards of a Cosmic Core crazily, Noah's eyes shone with light as his Runic Dao Lines pulsed with power! At this moment, he had broken over the 5 billion mark for his Universes as he was 5% closer towards the Cosmic Realm, his eyes also turning to the [Cosmic Resource Points] as he watched while they slowly grew.

From the past 15 in the last few milliseconds, they were now already at 23 as existences continued to die from the Primordial Centurions basked with the essence of his Nomological Edicts, the number of Resplendent Shards of a Cosmic Core and the Transcendental Runic Dao Line Enhancers also continuing to increase!

The Cosmic Resource Points allowed Noah to ponder what would happen when he fully progressed through an Edict?

"Let's find out!"

BZZT!

His body shone with abstruse colors of light as he began to utilize the Cosmic Resource Points that similar to skills were a type of quantified essence that weren't a duplicable concept by RUINATION. Their target...was the GREATER Nomological Edict of Samsara!

<Nomological Edict of Samsara> :: A Nomological Edict is a form of undeniable truth.....granting them an increase in the speed of their Realm Progression by +3,300,000%, an increase of +33,000,000% to All Parameters, and increases the chances of Fusions of other Laws and Daos by 33% for the production of other Nomological Edicts. Current Rate of Progress: 33%

From a mere 10%, the rate of progression rose to 33% as Noah's chances of forging Edicts was elevated by this same percentage, along with a boost to his Parameters and increase in the rate of Realm Progression that he felt the changes of right away!

His Universes that were already in the process of being forged came to be much easier, a single Shard of a Cosmic Core doing more than just granting him its base 10,000 Universes as this number was elevated due to the stat of increased Realm Progression.

"Good, keep them coming!"

His Origin continued to hungrily forge new Universes as he imposed more of his essence and will onto the Primordial Centurions in order to take down the currently morphing Forefathers, Daolords, and Antiquities from the House of Stormdust as these were the main source of loot at this moment in time!

With their help, he expected enough Cosmic Resource Points to complete a single Edict if not more and for him to shoot part the 10 Billion Universes point as he chased the wondrous Cosmic Realm that only two other beings had reached in this Reality.

His eyes that were filled with the light of millions of Universes shone as they reflected the scene of the chaotic Cosmic Battlefield and the audience that had risen up in somberness and shock.

Shock at the reality that a Family Head had morphed into a terrifying form similar to a Primordial Beast. Shock at what such an action meant as they...were the defenders of the Bastion of Reality!

If the strongest among them that led an entire faction was like this as many of his forces showed the same changes, what exactly did it mean for their unshakable Primordial Empire?!

Chapter 1314 - The Tainted Defenders Of Reality! III

Stormdust knew very well the meaning of his actions, and yet his rage and unwillingness at the sight of destiny he saw from this existence before his eyes moved past any reservations as he did it anyways.

Hundreds of thousands of years that even stretched over a million years of hard work...he could feel as they all slowly evaporated before his eyes!

All from a single existence that when he arrived in the Primordial Empire, his Nomological Edict of Burning Destiny had alerted him and told him this being would be a source of danger! And Stormdust had moved to take care of this possible source of danger, but he now knew he should have moved with utmost conviction.

He should have taken the life of this being when he still showed battle power before a Forefather, before he seemed like the unshakable existence that he was currently looking at right now!

But there was no time for regrets. He could not turn back time, not with the beings and destinies involved.

"I can only keep moving forward."

His voice echoed out grandly and loudly as it stretched across the Cosmic Battlefield.

It reverberated in the minds of all those in the edges of the Battlefield as Stormdust intended it this way, different beings getting this message and interpreting it very differently!

Havenbreaker heard this as her cold eyes nearly betrayed deeply hidden emotions, his words reminding her of something he had told her many years ago when she chose to go to Aegon and part from him.

She recalled falling in love with the crimson haired hero that let nothing stop him, and she even resonantly recalled how for the sake of power, she had taken the olive branch Aegon was extending as she left behind her first love! After all, how could one put a mere emotion on the path of power?

When she did this, he told her the same words that he vibrantly spoke out at this very moment.

He would only keep moving forward!

Then, there was the verdant Family Head whose body was already palpating with the essence of a Nomological Edict. Springforge heard the same words as she thought back to the valiant leader that controlled their team, her eyes being lost in distant memories.

Then, there was the Great Conqueror! Aegon heard this as it seemed like a proclamation- as if Stormdust was stating loudly and clearly at this moment that he had done what he did as he did not want any pity or looks of disappointment, that he had chosen his path that as of now...he would not turn back on.

Stormdust's eyes turned entirely cold and emotionless as he cut off anything holding him back- as he cut off the first love that was stolen from him, as he cut off any and all reservations as a human being...fully falling into the path that would grant him any power he had as at this moment, he only wanted a single thing- and that was destruction!

WAA!

Destruction of this existence before his eyes that had played the largest hand in what was occurring here today! His crimson eyes locked onto this being as his Nomological Edict erupted out gloriously, his Origin churning out even more power as when he gazed at the existence sitting upon a throne that seemed to have a calm smile as if he was looking at the tantrums of a mere child...Stormdust's heart turned even colder as he couldn't help but call out.

'Hyperion...'

He wanted more power. He wanted to wipe the confident smile off the face of Osmont and rip him apart from his throne! He wanted...more strength.

BOOM!

His body exploded with even more waves of power as his call was answered, the chilling voice of another apathetic being with their own aims ringing in his mind.

"Do not worry, Betrayer. I will forge you into a sharp weapon that can cut apart even the Champion of Reality."

With such words, a beam of crimson golden light shot into the vast space of the Cosmic Battlefield as the waves of power were enough that even the apathetic figure of a Conqueror sitting upon his throne began to rise.

"Fantastic..." Noah voiced out silently as his bright eyes watched everything occurring with his heart beating excitedly!

He entirely liked this unique feeling where he felt like he was pulling the strings of beings little by little to achieve the results he wanted, where he didn't just have to resort to brute force to get what he wanted!

His surging seas of destiny surged brilliantly as he saw the figure of Aegon rising up from his throne, this terrifying existence more than likely rising to put a stop to what was happening as on his chest, Noah could see a bright Cosmos lighting up in a wondrous fashion.

When the Great Conqueror acted, things would come to a stop as there was nothing that could stand in his way!

'But what if there is an existence even more terrifying than you? An existence that reached the Cosmic Realm far before you!?'

Noah's Throne of Tyranny rumbled with waves of golden purple essence as such a thought rose in his mind, his aura and perception thinly spread out as he managed to be one of the first to see Stormdust's body leak out three vast blobs of golden blood.

These blobs of golden blood released an illuminating sheen as they rapidly expanded to form three vast doorways over a million light years long, brightening up and stabilizing in the current space as they anchored in an unbreakable fashion!

From these three doorways that had Stormdust as the source, three maddening auras of ridiculous power stepped out along with the terrific forms of the Grand Primordial Beasts they belonged to.

Primordial Beasts that even Noah couldn't instantly wipe out with the essence of the Nomological Edict of Cessation- beasts that had comprehended Edicts themselves after they devoured enough Cosmos and built up the Essence of Reality within their bodies!

ROAAAR!

They arrived in a grand fashion as the horrific beasts that looked like ancient combinations of the most regal animals had their golden eyes locked onto the rising figure of Aegon that wanted to put a stop to everything that was occurring at this moment.

Behind these powerful Grand Primordial Beasts, the aura of a sea of other Primordial Beasts could be felt behind the golden doorway!

"Good...!" Upon his Throne of Tyranny, Noah watched the results of his actions as he saw countless paths of possibilities!

Chapter 1315 - An Uprising! I

The beginning of untold chaos.

This was the sensation that Destiny told Halcyon as she looked at the unfolding scenes in the Cosmic Battlefield. The Edict she had managed to put together under his help unfolded before her eyes as it showed her unique things even at this moment in time.

Kairos. It held a meaning akin to 'a fateful moment' or 'a critical point in time', being something abstruse to understand unless one already had experience in seeing unexpected things like Halcyon!

At this moment, the essence of Kairos weaved in her eyes as when she looked at the scenes of unfolding chaos, she saw a different sight compared to everyone else.

As different existences moved, she saw golden illusions of all of them moving- these illusions being things that were going to occur in the immediate future! Her Edict could show her all of this as she could utilize the information she was receiving to enact her own critical moment if she chose to act!

This was just one of its many abstruse uses, and Halcyon could see that from the enacted golden gates that had bloomed from the blobs of blood released by Stormdust...multiple golden illusions of Primordial Beasts bloomed out of them after the entrance of three powerful Grand Primordial Beasts.

Illusions of dozens of Primordial Beasts that flooded out in a constant fashion from a vast hidden Primordial Sea!

'Is this what is required to stop the Enemy of Reality?' She found herself questioning what she saw as the image of her own father appeared in her mind, a myriad of emotions crossing her heart when she thought of this being!

Her fear and hesitation towards him was evident as it had strained their relationship, but this man was still one of the reasons why she was here today. Now, she was fully standing against him and working with the unique being that might actually be an answer for the tumultuous chaos to unfold.

'Yes. There can be no hesitation!'

RUMBLE!

Her eyes shone a light of affirmation as she rose just like Springforge beside her, their bodies erupting with the essence of Nomological Edicts as these two women and all the powerful existences in the verdant green seats at the edge of the Cosmic Battlefield rose for battle!

Far from them, a sharp light crossed the golden eyes of Havenbreaker as she looked towards their direction and noticed the profound aura of an Edict around her daughter, her eyes shining dangerously as her body also rose with no hesitation.

"To arms!"

WAA!

Against the three auras of Grand Primordial Beasts that had stepped out from the three golden gates, the reaction of the Protectors of the Bastion of Reality was instantly to be ready for battle. Some of those situated in the red seats of the House of Stormdust were in an awkward position as those who did not know in depth information questioned everything they knew!

But time waited for no one. Chaos was chaos because during it, many things were undecipherable for others! So while the majority of existences rose the moment they saw the appearance of three Grand Primordial Beasts, these existences actually did not bother with any of them as they turned into blurs of golden lights towards only the glorious figure of Aegon.

BZZZT!

Vibrant bursts of color erupted out as following them, dozens of titanic Lesser Primordial Beasts and even slightly weaker Grand Primordial Beasts compared to the first three erupted out!

What increased the level of chaos was that all of these Beasts shot out in different directions, going towards the edges of the Cosmic Battlefield while not throwing out any true attacks, but they instead released a form an even deadlier attack as these existences opened their wide jaws...and began to suck in the surrounding layers of space.

They began to use their unique trait as Primordial Beasts to devour the pieces of the Cosmos they were in, with many of them still being bursts of light as their aim was to break out of this Cosmos and wreak havoc outside of it!

For Primordial Beasts to truly bloom out from the center of the Primordial Empire as they laid out a devastating attack!

Towards such a sight, the Defenders of the Bastion of Reality moved as momentarily, the shock of the Writ of Challenge that had bloomed all of this was put on hold.

"YAA!"

Halcyon and Springforge flew out as they shone with scintillating gold and green light, forging a path as Forefathers and Daolords followed their lead and erupted out with power!

Amidst all of this...

"You all actually dare?"

RUMBLE!

A voice akin to a clap of thunder erupted out across the Cosmic Battlefield.

From his pristine white gold throne, the grand figure of the dark haired Aegon rose. His face held a trace of anger as his cold and imperceptible eyes shone with utmost dignity!? He stared at the three blurs of light that represented Grand Primordial Beasts as his chest lit up brightly.

BZZT!

The light silk shirt he had on was ripped apart as his prominent muscles filled with Runic Dao Lines bloomed out gloriously, these Dao Lines uniquely snaking across his body as they lit up brightly and even spread to his face!

An ancient and primal aura leaked out from him as primal tattoos settled terrifyingly on his face, his chest shining brightly as there, in all of its wonder and glory...was a Cosmos filled with multicolored 100 Billion Splendiferous Universes.

A Realm that outclassed all other beings here!

"It seems I have to remind you all what the Cosmic Realm means." The space around Aegon cracked and splintered as he spoke, his left eyes swirling in a dazzling fashion as his aura overtook everything in the Cosmic Battlefield.

Higher than Noah. Higher than Stormdust.? Higher than the Primordial Beasts!

It was the aura of the Great Conqueror, the aura of the Champion of Reality.

"Let me show you all...the concept of Invincibility."

Chapter 1316 - An Uprising! II

Invincibility!

Such a word was called out as Aegon's body flickered and it turned into multicolored light, shooting towards the three blurs of golden light that were heading towards him in a fearless fashion!

The eyes of these Grand Primordial Beasts swirled with the light of Edicts as they were truly powerful, but they couldn't be more powerful than an existence in the Cosmic Realm. So what exactly gave these existences the confidence to face Aegon?

Unless they held multiple GREATER Edicts or one ranked even higher, what gave them the confidence to stand against the Great Conqueror?! The answer was simply the existence behind them as if one were to look closely at the bestial eyes of these Primordial Beasts, they would be able to notice the light of countless golden swords shining within.

Golden swords that uniquely bore the structure of a unique type of Primordial Eye that only one existence had in this Reality!

The golden swords reflected in their eyes hummed as they released a unique power that surrounded the bodies of the three Grand Primordial Beasts along with the essence of their Edicts, and they fearlessly went to clash against Aegon as the impact was something that even the supernova of a Universe could not replicate.

BOOOOM!

An ecstatic battle unfolded in this corner as back in the center of the Cosmic Battlefield, the aura of Stormdust finally stabilized as it released waves of unbelievable power. His form was that of a titanic Dragon with distinct elephantine features like golden tusks on either side of his spiked jaws, pairs of colorful wings on his back as his eyes shone with a similar light that was present in the eyes of the three Grand Primordial Beasts!

The influence of a certain existence was very much presently inserting itself at this moment as amidst the chaos, Stormdust shot towards Noah while his body became suffused with dangerous lights.

"Whether real or false, there is one thing that will always remain true about destiny." Stormdust's voice echoed out brutally while the vast new and dangerous aura emanating from him clustered onto his crimson gold claws that tore across the boundaries of galaxies and universes towards the figure of a single situated being.

"Destiny is not always guaranteed...it is something foretold as before it has come to be, anything can happen!"

WAA!

"Even those with grand Destinies can fall! Even promised Champions can fall!"

Stormdust's voice seemed to be filled with booming emotions as he accepted his new situations while getting used to the ever expanding sense of power! He said these words with conviction as they had to be true. As he had to believe them if he wanted to overcome the huge walls before his eyes.

His newfound power carried his words forward as instantly, his humongous form appeared above the existence sitting on the golden purple throne, his now draconic claw thundering down as it contained the compression of not just his Edict of Burning Destiny- but also another power that he borrowed from none other than Hyperion!

The claw carried his hopes for the future as he wanted to see it rip apart the smug gaze of this single being at least!

Yet...

BZZZZT!

An impact of indescribable waves of light erupted out the moment that his claw neared the Throne of Tyranny, being stopped by the appearance of an illusory golden shield that seemed to be capable of withstanding even the ravages of time.

From the Nomological Edict of Bulwark, it was the Shield of the Bulwark that granted +50,000,000% Increased True Defense, blocked 50% of All Incoming True Damage, and had a Thorn effect that returned 100,000,000% of all received Damage back to the enemy!

It shone with utter splendor as it was filled with a unique array of swirling runic lines, and behind it...the Throne of Tyranny could now be seen shining with multiple colors as beside this unbreakable shield, the [Aura of Vigor], [Aura of Defense], [Aura of Mana], [Aura of Grace]...all of the auras contained in the <Aura Master> ability from the Edict of Bulwark were displayed gorgeously.

On top of all this, the <Warder> ability was cast as Noah encased all of the few hundred Primordial Centurions closing in on Stormdust's forces and the now blooming Primordial Beasts- all of the damage they received being taken by him as he could release this in the form of an attack whenever he wished!

Abilities like these and others from the Edict of Amelioration and other Edicts bloomed, surrounding Noah in a glorious fashion as he gazed up at the stopped claw of Stormdust that held terrific power that might have injured him just days ago...but not today!

"Others with astounding destinies may fall..but not me."

While surrounded by the incandescent glow of multiple stacked defensive auras that made him look like an ancient existence surrounded by primal circular veils of light, Noah spoke domineeringly.

"This is not hubris or pride, little Betrayer...but it is fact!"

WAA!

Others can fall, but not him!

These words rang out for all to hear as they caused their Origins to tremble from the sense of surety the being that said them had!

Amidst the chaotic battle, the eyes of others could not help but lock onto him as they saw the majestic image of this being situated seamlessly on a throne with waves of colorful circular auras surrounding him, and yet his eyes and the strength they released seemed to be the most illuminating thing stemming from him.

OOOH!

Essence surged around him as while situated on the throne of Tyranny, Noah raised his right hand.

A mere raise of his hand while gazing up towards the figure of Stormdust...and he then called out four words in a magisterial fashion!

"Hammer...of Cosmic Glory!"

The only offensive ability from the Nomological Edict of the Forgemaster was utilized.

The profound space of the Cosmos tore and sundered.

From the cracks, something terrific formed as a fantastical scene worthy to be inscribed into the annals of history bloomed!

<New Daos gained from the influx of different existences in the ever expanding Infinite Cosmos>

<Grand> :: Grand Dao of the Doppelganger, Grand Dao of Sound, Grand Dao of Wandering, Grand Dao of Gold, Grand Dao of Oscillation, Grand Dao of Zephyr, Grand Dao of Barmecidal, Grand Dao of Malleability.

<Cosmic> ::? Cosmic Dao of Catastrophe, Cosmic Dao of Atramentous, Cosmic Dao of Biosphere, Cosmic Dao of Purgatory, Cosmic Dao of Permafrost.

Chapter 1317 - A Show Of Invincibility! I

In the glimmering Primordial Sea, the figure of the grandiose Draconic-Elephant Cosmic Primordial Beast that was Hyperion could be seen!

His three eyes swirled with the light of mysticism as he oversaw many scenes, his current focus in this millisecond being a scene not within the depths of the Primordial Empire, but outside of it.

At this moment in time within the Cosmic Battlefield that was located in the depths of the Primordial Empire, Primordial Beasts had bloomed as they would ravage and begin to fracture the vast cluster of Cosmos from within. But this was just a single factor in Hyperion's eyes.

If he was going to make a move, he would make it in a grand fashion as he wouldn't just stop there!

"Move from the Clusters of Pandemonium..." His dominant voice echoed out as it rang into the minds of a number of beasts located differing distances away from the Primordial Empire.

Some were billions of light years away or even trillions, but a flood of dozens of Beasts erupted from Clusters of Pandemonium as they made a beeline towards the grandiose Primordial Empire! Grand Primordial Beasts led the way from each cluster, their eyes hungry for the allure of Universes and Cosmos as their jaws already pulsed with the Cosmic Essences of Ruination and the Primordial Dao. Their aim was the vast Empire before their eyes as it revealed one of the many issues such a conglomeration of Cosmos had.

The Cosmos within the Primordial Empire were many as even though it was labeled the Bastion of Reality, it was also a location that was widely known by the existences that devoured Cosmos! They didn't attack under the orders of a single being- not because the Great Conqueror of this Empire was too strong for them to handle.

Aegon was a fantastic deterrent for any normal Primordial Beasts as they would not dare to approach his Bastion of Reality, but it was not a strong enough deterrent for the existence that had reached the Cosmic Realm before him!

So this being plotted and planned as he installed many Clusters of Pandemonium that held a number of his pieces, and this occasion today was one of the many that Hyperion planned to use these pieces!

Apart from peeking into the existence that had reality bending abilities apart from the Champion of Reality, Hyperion used this juncture to do nothing else but cause a single action that was always planned for the advancement of his future plans.

"Chaos...let it bloom and muddy the waters. It will make it all that much easier to set a stage for the fall of a Primordial...all that much easier for the Edict of Anarchy to elevate me to even greater levels."

WAA!

A terrific set of words left Hyperion's mouth as from this Chaos, there was much for him to benefit from! As the holder of the Nomological Edict of Anarchy, any destruction and chaos caused by him elevated his levels of power tremendously, the destruction of many Universes and Cosmos placing him where he was today.

This was just a part of his power, and it was now being elevated with every passing millisecond as from his actions, Anarchy unfolded in a glorious fashion.

His third eye that split apart his forehead swirled with intense light as it reflected the figure of a certain battle blooming in the Cosmic Battlefield- the scene of the figure of Aegon clashing with three Grand Primordial Beasts as the result...actually wasn't the decimation of the defenses of these beasts!

The three Beasts at the Universal Filament Realm actually withstood the Champion in the Cosmic Realm, and the billions of Splendiferous Universes within the Origins of these Beasts were not enough to explain it. It was the protection and effectiveness of a unique authority that stemmed from the unique Primordial Eye that held an immeasurable number of swords circling its iris!

"The Primordial Eye of the Kaiser..."

Hyperion uttered such a grand name as this fantastical eye released a cascade of deadly light, a light that was enough to support three Grand Primordial Beasts proficient in Edicts to momentarily withstand an existence in the Cosmic Realm!

The light of the Primordial Eye of the Kaiser remained on Aegon for a few more seconds before its focus shifted to another existence.

"As for you..." Hyperion's gaze turned towards the image of Osmont sitting upon a throne with one of his arms raised, a glorious golden hammer the size of multiple galaxies forming above him in a stellar fashion.

This hammer bloomed from the sundered cracks of space as it blazed with a scorching golden light that melted the boundaries of broken galaxies and universes, being inlined with red pulsating runic lines as it bordered over dozens of billions of light years in size, being larger than any of the currently moving figures in the Cosmic Battlefield!

This terrifying Hammer formed as it then thundered towards the roaring figure of Stormdust, the Primordial Eye of the Kaiser within Hyperion flashing once more as a unique light went on to wrap around the body of the Betrayer.

Hyperion stared at this unfolding scene as his eyes flashed with a sharp light, his words coming out slowly.

"To display this power, I feel like you are hiding things from me and intentionally making me see others...for you to be able to do that, you would have to have that, hmm?"

...!

The intuition of this Cosmic Primordial Beast was terrifying as a possibility closer to the truth popped up within his mind!

"Intriguing...let's see what this chaos shall call forth."

With a domineering light of sharpness, the Origin of this existence vibrated strongly as scintillating waves of light erupted all around him!

In the Primordial Empire, its defenders rose in valiant fashions as they sought to stop the rampage of Primordial Beasts that seemed terribly more powerful than normal, a large majority of these defenders being stuck in the depths of the Empire that was filled with a cluster of Cosmos as at this moment...even more Primordial Beasts began to appear from the tumultuous Ruination Seas that surrounded the vast Empire.

Just who would there be to defend against this multi-pronged attack?!

Chapter 1318 - A Show Of Invincibility! II

"Why did the Master have us wait here? Isn't most of the fun being taken by the others in the Cosmic Battlefield?"

The voice of a vibrating Obsidian Panther echoed out as this existence didn't know how to sit still, its body brimming with waves of power as it was a mere blur of light to the eyes of many normal Existences.

"You dare to doubt him?!"

BZZT!

The resonant bellow of a Ten-headed Dragon Queen rang out as Tiamat gazes towards the flashing Obsidian Panther coldly, and one could see a bobbing Blue Slime on one of the heads of Tiamat that was shining with palpable excitement, its voice ringing out to relay such excitement!

"Master said I can devour the Primordial Beasts this time around! I wonder what I'll get..."

The figure of the Blue Slime couldn't keep down its excitement as apart from these three, the figures of the Twin Draconic Serpents Noah had contracted as Animus Summons along with the Colossal Helios Leviathan, Galaxy Devouring Serpent that had now been elevated to a Universal Devouring Serpent, the Golden Crow, Variant Oculothorax, Calamity Bear...all of Noah's Animus summons were here as they didn't just have one body present, but they had multiple of their clones stretched out across the bounds of the Primordial Empire!

Yes! Noah's Animus Summons! With him rising exponentially in power, he could forge the strength of these unique contractually bound existences differently than any others, with him being capable of using his ridiculous Infinite Mana to allow them to birth a crazy amount of Universes like him through the Animus Summoner Trainer abilities.

But because the forging of Universes dealt with such a high tier of power, the effect of the abilities were reduced as Noah couldn't bring his Summons to the same number of Universes like him from merely spamming [Animus Growth Empowerment]!

Currently, he found that he could forge one fourth of the current number of Universes he held within his Origin onto his summons, and it was normal Universes of course as at this moment, each of the Animus Summons had more than 1 billion Universes roiling madly within their Origins.

From all those around Noah, these existences were the strongest as the power they could release and borrow from their Master was utterly ridiculous.

BZZT!

At this time, the light of Primordial Beasts began to appear at the edges of the Primordial Empire as the Universal Devouring Serpent Jormungandr raised its head, the crimson eyes the size of galaxies flashing sharply as an ancient voice erupted out.

"Master never lies...let us see who will eradicate more of them!"

RUMBLE!

Waves of gorgeous essence of Nomological Edicts suffused the body of the colossal Serpent and the rest of the Animus Summons, battle cries echoing out as many of their clones stationed around the Primordial Empire moved out to hunt the coming Primordial Beasts!

Noah had thought multiple steps ahead on what would be happening as he worked to procure the most amount of loot, his Path of Victory showing him a glorious possibility of billions of Universes that would get him closer to the Cosmic Realm to bring themselves onto his lap.

In the center of the Cosmic Battlefield.

The Hammer of Cosmic Glory sundered down as the figure of Stormdust roared out madly, his figure actually sinking its claws into the vast space around him as his wings- what should have been one of the weaker points of his body- were actually the ones to meet the descending hammer!

The glory of a Cosmos in the form of a hammer smashed into the wings as shockingly, they didn't deform or rupture as they blazed with unique white flames of an Edict.

White flames that Noah had seen before from a particular Cosmic Primordial Beast!

BZZZT!

A blaze of scorching red light mixed with pristine white flashed out as the attacks actually canceled each other, a glow of colors dancing around the figures of Noah and Stormdust as the support that the Betrayer was receiving was entirely thorough.

Noah's Edict of the Forgemaster was actually dispersed by whatever essence of Edict had bloomed from the pairs of wings, the might of this Edict seeming a notch higher as it caused Noah's eyes to shine with interest. He gazed at Stormdust and the consciousness slowly stemming from within this existence with rapt attention as he didn't want to miss anything!

From him, the Nomological Edict only Hyperion could utilize actually bloomed as the features of Stormdust became more Elephantine, the will of Hyperion sinking into it more and more as his battle power rose!

"I will not be pushed back ever again. I will not stop!" The bellow of Stormdust echoed out as he was bolstered in confidence from being capable of withstanding Noah's attack, his draconic-elephantine body erecting waves of attack to try and break past the many Auras gorgeously surrounding the throne.

Yet his rising dominance was brought to a halt when Noah adopted a smiling expression a moment later while he called out continuously.

"Hammer of Cosmic Glory. Hammer of Cosmic Glory...Hammer of..."

The starry space filled with ruptured broken boundaries of galaxies and universes stalled.

They became filled with the dazzling light of maddeningly ancient Hammers millions of light years large, the breathtaking sight taking the attention of everyone that could still spare any amidst the chaos as they were introduced to the concept of spamming with the highest level of abilities!

None of them saw the meaning of many other actions currently taking place in the Cosmic Battlefield- one such action being the silent but thorough destruction of the forces that Stormdust had brought with him for the now forgotten Writ of Challenge.

Tainted Ones with terrific power had risen from their ranks as the Forefathers and Foremothers put up a battle, but nothing could withstand the terror of the Primordial Centurions that were fully utilizing the set effects of the Primordial King Set while being bathed in Noah's essence of Nomological Edicts.

Their deaths occurred quickly and efficiently as they weren't even spared too much attention, but Noah had gained a significant amount from these existences as in the Ruination Realm only he could access, prompts of wondrous loot continued to appear before his eyes!

[+1,935 Universal Filament Cores obtained...] DING! The effects of the Cosmic Dao of Loot are applied...[+967,500 Resplendent Shards of a Cosmic Core obtained.]

[+342 Runic Dao Line Enhancers obtained...] DING! The effects of the Cosmic Dao of Loot are applied...[+171,000 Transcendental Runic Dao Line Enhancers obtained.]

[+88 Billion Skill Points obtained...] DING! The effects of the Cosmic Dao of Loot are applied...[+88 Cosmic Resource Points obtained.]

Prompts of Loot that showed him a potential gain of 20 Billion more normal Universes among other things bloomed as Noah continued to collect and benefit the most out of the chaos currently occurring, and he was just getting started!

Chapter 1319 - A Show Of Invincibility! III

Invincibility.

A word that couldn't be used lightly, and the Champion of Reality did not use it lightly in any way!

He told the three Grand Primordial Beasts that he would show them what this word truly meant, and he wasn't playing when he said so.

THRUUM!

His body lone released terrific waves of power after the initial impact, where during the time when a certain enthroned Tyrant was spamming down Hammers of Cosmic Glory, Aegon gazed at the three Grand Primordial Beasts surrounded by the aura of Edicts as his eyes flashed with arrogance and power!

His hands spread out to his left and right as his Cosmic Origin vibrated, white smoke coagulated from extreme heat and temperature rising from his body as when paired with his Runic Dao Lines, he looked utterly primal and ancient of an existence.

He didn't speak a single word as he actually had his authority blocked by the first attack, his second one being something utterly monstrous as with arms outspread, his figure flashed and disappeared!

SHAA!

Faster than speeds that even Noah couldn't achieve at this moment, his grand figure appeared behind one of the Grand Primordial Beasts as his vast hands reached out and grasped onto its vibrant wings.

BZZT!

The protection of an Edict suffused over the Primordial Beast as even though it couldn't react to Aegon's speed, its base defenses were still there to protect it! Yet...

RIIP!

A golden light covered Aegon's hands that wriggled with ancient Runic Dao Lines. This golden light utterly ignored the protection of an Edict, and it went even further as it shattered a vibrant light of protection that stemmed from the Primordial Eye of the Kaiser!

His vast hands were able to bypass the defenses of the Beast as with a cold expression, he held onto and pulled the pair of wings within his hands apart as golden blood flew out to cover everything in the surroundings, even the bodies of the other two Primordial Beasts.

"ROAR!"

A maddening roar echoed out as with the time lapse of less than a millisecond, the Grand Primordial Beast tried to react, but it did not need to!

This was because the moment that Aegon came in contact with the golden blood of the Beast, he called out lightly.

"{Immolate}."

A single word that seemed like a command.

A command...that was terrifically followed as in the next second, the golden blood that Aegon was in contact with began to burn with golden flames and disappear, this burning traveling to the surging blood within the body of the beast as in the next second- all the blood circulating within this creature began to burn in golden flames while its body twisted and turned like a balloon before...

BOOM!

It exploded in a shower of blood and golden flames that remained burning, a terrifying scene of immolation playing out as time resumed to normal once more!

The figure of Aegon was bathed with golden burning flames as he looked extremely terrifying, the chunks of the immolated Grand Primordial Beast around him that he caused to perish in less than a millisecond trying to come together to form its Primordial Heart!

Invincibility. This was a sense of it as he ripped apart a Grand Primordial Beast with an Edict in less than a millisecond! As for the other two beasts? Their Origins vibrated madly as Splendiferous Universes in the millions began to burn to grant them even greater power, the essence of their Edicts surrounding them in fervor as they moved with even greater hatred against the only enemy they had in this Reality.

The Champion that would always stand in their way!

Yet this being gazed at them impassively as while still surrounded with the golden burning blood of the dead Primordial Beast, he called out lightly.

"You two are already dead."

A fantastical statement was made.

The 2 Grand Primordial Beasts paid no attention to it as their Origins continued to churn wildly, but they inadvertently found their bodies coming to stop in the next second as before they realized it, their Origin and blood began to burn with pristine golden flames!

Golden flames that caused their bodies to balloon out and immolate into chunks of explosive flames a millisecond later as even while they perished, they were asking themselves how?!

During this whole time, Aegon had just ripped the wings of a single beast as its golden blood flew to cover everything, and he then called out the word {Immolate} as the first beast did just that, and two more followed moments later.

It was terrifying as one didn't know exactly what Aegon had done to cause this.

All that was left was his figure as he ridiculously wiped out 3 Grand Primordial Beasts with Edicts and the support of a unique authority of a Cosmic Primordial Beast!

This was Invincibility!

Others didn't have to understand how he did it, he would just show them a performance worthy of the Champion of Reality.

While surrounded by the immolated remains of three Grand Primordial Beasts and their remains, Aegon's dark eyes turned towards the direction of Stormdust- his gaze filled with a shocking light as he moved!

What had Aegon actually done? This question plagued two beings mostly, and one of them was Noah who had been keeping a close eye on everything occurring around this time!

The blood of a beast had flown out as Aegon had commanded a single word, and this was followed by the fall of three powerful existences. Others may not have seen, but Noah saw that Aegon's attack had been released even before he uttered out {Immolate}. The moment that he ripped apart the wings of one of the Primordial Beasts and its blood flew out everywhere, Noah saw a silent essence leak out from Aegon and attach to all the three Beasts through the expanding golden blood- this essence being the reason why he effortlessly reaped the lives of these existences back to back thereafter.

What was unique about this hidden essence was that Noah could tell it wasn't that of a Dao nor Edict- but something far more unique that when he thought of Aegon's words, a single thought popped in his mind.

'A capability of the Invincible System?'

A grand possibility, but he wasn't the only one that was thinking of it!

Opposite him, another existence that was seeing through the eyes of Stormdust who faced a barrage of spammed Hammers of Cosmic Glory saw things much more clearly.

"The power of the Systems of Primordials truly is a bit much."

RUMBLE!

These shocking words resounded in the mind of Stormdust as they seemed to contain disdain for this power and carefulness towards it as well!

"Alright little Betrayer, let me take over for a bit."

The voice of Hyperion echoed out grandly.

Along with it came a unique authority as the consciousness of a terrific existence thundered down soon after!

Chapter 1320 - The Flames Of Samsara! I

Atop the Throne of Tyranny, Noah oversaw everything with stellar eyes as a hidden golden book was on his left hands as he spammed <Hammer of Cosmic Glory>.

'Stormdust is kept at bay while Aegon shows off a glimpse of his System, and the Hyperion shows his might as his vast consciousness descends onto Stormdust!'

Such a terrifying thought crossed Noah's mind as he smiled devilishly, things so far going according to plan even though there were a few surprises.

The golden book within his hands had given him an overabundant amount of information, but it didn't tell him everything as he still had to prepare and be ready to react to any unexpected situations!

And when it came to existences like Aegon and Hyperion...they always came with unexpected situations.

Aegon's power- or how it actually worked was a mystery as he used a terrifying power that wiped out heavily fortified Grand Primordial Beasts in an instant, and Noah wanted to know more about this and the extent of strength from Hyperion- these two Cosmic Rank existences unwittingly telling Noah about themselves as the battle unfolded!

At the same time, his people were finishing off Stormdust's forces as the unique loot he was receiving from existences that were Primordial Beasts continued to roll in- and he now also began to take it Primordial Hearts after the appearance of the Beasts themselves being taken care of multiple clones of his summons.

To top it all off, the figures of Halcyon, Springforge, and Havenbreaker were leading their forces to also stop the rampaging Devouring of the space and boundaries of Cosmos by the Primordial Beasts- significant damage being dealt to the Empire at this time from this surge of terrifying existences!

Yet amidst all of this struggle, Noah was experiencing something entirely different in the Ruination Realm as after he duplicated the constantly rushing in Shards of a Cosmic Core, he continued to absorb them as the number of normal Universes exploded entirely past 10 Billion at this moment, and this number was still rising.

One-tenth of the way from the Cosmic Realm, and this was still in the middle of the battle as Noah expected to be rushing towards a third if not half of the way there from this single Nexus Event!

While he continued this accumulation of Universes, his eyes also turned towards the blue panel that showed the Nomological Edict of Samsara.

In the past recent seconds, dozens of billions of skill points had fallen into his lap as they were turned into Cosmic Resource Points- enough Points that he could now fully elevate the Progression of an Edict into 100%.

The result for one to reach such distinction was something that Noah looked forward to greatly, and he now had the chance to do so as his eyes flashed while giving the command for the newly incoming Cosmic Resource Points to surge into the Nomological Edict of Samsara!

WAA!

His destiny surged madly as he reached this critical juncture, his mind watching with rapt attention to the changes on the description of the Nomological Edict of Samsara as it went towards 100%!

<Nomological Edict of Samsara> :: A Nomological Edict is a form of undeniable truth.....granting them an increase in the speed of their Realm Progression by +10,000,000%, an increase of +100,000,000% to All Parameters, and increases the chances of Fusions of other Laws and Daos by 100% for the production of other Nomological Edicts. Current Rate of Progress: 100%. The completion to the rate of progress has allowed for the Flames of Samsara to bloom within the Origin of the user.

RUMBLE!

As if an explosion had torn apart his very Origin.

As if something much bigger than him bloomed, and it superseded everything he knew as it shone brighter than any of the billions of Universes within his Origin!

It was...a terrifying white flame that came to settle in the center of his Origin- this flame releasing a mysterious sense of power that caused Noah's eyes to raise with slight alarm.

Something new appeared within his mind as he came in contact with these Flames. A shocking amount of knowledge and power about things he had no knowledge of before being laid out clearly in a wondrous fashion, his focus being these dancing white flames that colored his multicolored origin with a blaze of white!

<Flames of Samsara> :: The Flames of Samsara bloom in your origin as they usher in an inclusion into the Bloodline of Samsara. As a follower of this Bloodline, you are granted +500,000,000% to True Defense, +200,000,000% to True Annihilatory Damage, the ability to escape True Annihilation of Origin and Soul is generated to be utilized once, and your Origin begins to produce a nanoliter of the True Blood of a Higher Existence within your body daily.

The full completion of an Edict granted one unique flames that gave them access to a unique Bloodline of this Edict that held its own unique and wondrous perks!

In the case of Samsara, one actually had a single chance to escape True Annihilation in their lives along with terrific percentage boosts majorly on defense with some on offense, but the other thing that caught Noah's eyes was the mention of the production of a nanoliter of the True Blood of a Higher Existence.

The chance of elevation from a common Existence and into a Higher Existence actually lay in Edicts, Noah's heart trembling as he called upon the pristinely raging flames within his Origins and watched as they appeared mesmerizingly over his palm!

They were fantastical to look at, but they also reminded him of flames he had seen on a particular being days ago. White flames that had danced off Hyperion's Elephantine limbs, and other colors of Flames that had appeared around this existence that at that time- Noah simply thought them to be terrifying Edicts.

Now he knew.

They were an indication of a wondrous achievement, and also an indication of an existence making their way to be elevated onto a whole other stage entirely!

Ah!
