

Mana 1541

Chapter 1541: The Progeny Of The Tyrannical Emperor Descends! LII

Adelaide couldn't help but utter out with utmost love and shock as she gazed forward, not even bothering to check the state of her body as she locked onto the bundle she held within her arms.

Even though it was newly born, the glow of shimmering half black and half blue hair could be seen draping over just the cutest baby boy, his fair face filled with innocence and purity as his bright jewel-like dark eyes were opened and staring into everything with utmost wonder!

A shocking thing that must be mentioned was the fact that above the head of this baby, one could barely discern a faint glow of a glimmering golden crown! The implications of this were unimaginable as one had to wonder how it was so!

The arms and legs revealed showed chubbiness and untold scales of adorable, the bright eyes of this boy that shockingly shone with intellect and reason gazing back at Adelaide and then soon after...they changed direction as they searched for a certain being.

To the side of Adelaide, these bright dark eyes very quickly locked onto Noah's stellar multicolored eyes as the cute small hands of this baby boy rose- one of them towards Noah and the other landing on the chest of the newly made mother as a shockingly sweet and innocent voice echoed out.

"Father, Mother."

...!

WAA!

A voice! A shockingly sweet and sonorous voice that caused bright gold essence to surge a moment after as the source of this voice had not even moved its lips to speak out these words! A voice that showed the shocking intellect and wonder of this existence that had come to be as the surprises were nowhere near done.

Noah's eyes flashed with splendor as Adelaide's mouth hung open in shock, locking onto the sparkling eyes of the baby boy in her arms as tears of joy began to flow on her face!

The dark eyes of the baby in her hands caught this as their turned back to the woman holding them, the soft arms reaching up and wanting to wipe the tears on Adelaide's face as when the baby found that it was still too small to reach...mana shockingly erupted around it in small waves as its figure began to float up!

Pristine essence from the surroundings was actually commanded under this being as this essence propped up its figure, its soft hands reaching Adelaide's face and wiping away her tears as the innocent voice filled with intellect continued to ring out.

"Sorry I took so long and kept you all waiting."

WAA!

Adelaide saw the scene before her with marvel as her eyes screamed of happiness, turning into crescents as her hands went to grab the bundle in front of her again tightly as if she didn't want to let it slip from her hands again!

With eyes full of love, Adelaide held onto one of the small arms of the being before her as she spoke out.

"You can talk as soon as you're born and your first words are Father? What about your mother that's carried you this whole time huh?" Words filled with love and teasing echoed out as the bright eyes of the newly born baby shone, an innocent smile forming on its fair and pure face as it called out.

"Mother. Mother. Mother."

WAA!

Three times, this sonorous voice echoed out as Adelaide couldn't help but bring it to her chest again and hug it tightly!

"My baby..."

Noah watched on beside her with a smile as even his trained bright eyes couldn't hide the joy he felt, his stable and overly powerful heart beating ever so faster as he felt a cluster of emotions he couldn't describe rise up!

"My boy..." He said these words he never expected to say in his lifetime as the baby within Adelaide's embrace turned towards his direction, his innocent eyes filled with love and respect as they spoke out with a shocking light of conviction.

"I understand my purpose and will do everything for your happiness. I only wish for my father to give me a name."

...!? ??? a ???e?

With his mother embracing him, the small hands of the baby reached out towards Noah as the fingers of this Tyrannical Emperor unconsciously rose up, only a single one of his fingers being able to be grasped by the hands of this radiant baby as father and son came in contact.

They looked at each other as waves of golden essence surged, the faint crown atop the baby spinning ever so slowly as the more prominent crown above Noah released wondrous waves of authority and light, his expression becoming distinguished and brilliant as his voice echoed out with power!

"Henry. Henry Osmont!"

RUMBLE!

Henry! A name that had the meaning of a ruler or leader!

Fortune surged and destiny overflowed.

? ?? ??-??? ??, ?,?,? The figures of the three beings were wrapped in waves of essence as the childish face of Henry released a smile that would cause the heart of any Existence to melt, his figure remaining in his mother's embrace as he called out his own name while his body began to glow!

"Henry..."

He called out his own name while shockingly, one could see the illusory light of nothing else but a...Cosmos actually rising on his chest which was covered by the soft white wrappings.

A Cosmos!

The newly born Henry Osmont was actually in the Cosmic Realm as his small body was covered with a pristine aura of gold that distinguished him as a Higher Existence!

At the moment of birth, this being was actually a Higher Existence at the Cosmic Realm as this...was just the tip of the iceberg.

BZZZT!

While in the embrace of his mother, the hands of this small figure began to move as shockingly, the Essence of Daos and Laws erupted from him!

They came together to shockingly form a Concept of an Edict as when one looked at it closely, they would stupendously come to realize that it was the Nomological Edict of Samsara!

It felt like the Essence of Samsara Noah was familiar with...but it was different at the same time under the hands of Henry.

"Father, Mother. Your child shall make a move first to help achieve your dreams."

WAA!

A scene of utmost majesty and wonder bloomed as the essence of Samsara from a single small existence went on to wrap around two others, the illusory light of a Reality blooming as while Henry grasped onto Noah's finger, his wide dark eyes shone with multicolored light as he grasped strings of destiny and time that a newly born existence had no business grasping- the glow of light around them only intensifying!

<The connection of Blood Lineage is something that far exceeds the relationship of the Vassals to the Tyrannical Emperor.>

Golden prompts began to flow over Noah's eyes as he witnessed an ecstatic sight.

<An existence of shocking destiny and fortune who has obtained a portion of your Traits, Abilities, and Concepts has been born.>

...!

Chapter 1542: Little Tyrant! I

The relationship of father and son was naturally something that exceeded the bonds of Fealty that Noah had with a vast number of existences!

Naturally, his son obtained something from him that no other existences could even come close to as the golden prompts listed that Henry obtained a portion of his Traits, Abilities, and Concepts. All of these things that Noah had...were not at all normal as just a single one of his traits was something ridiculous like Infinite Mana!

As for the concepts? He had things that ranged from Laws to Daos and all the way to Quasi-TABOO Nomological Edicts. Just what of his concepts did this small little being obtain? There were too many shocking possibilities as under the eyes of The Watcher Bloodline Noah was currently sporting, he could see that even though Henry was utilizing the essence of Samsara, it held differences from his own Edict of Samsara as it seemed like it was Henry's own spin on this concept.

Only just born...and he was already able to do what Noah was doing by making other people's Edicts be his own as if he was the Architect, with them having his own distinction and authority!

BZZZT!

Bedazzling light shone from the still chubby body of the little boy within the arms of Adelaide, looking like a precious gem was being held within her hands as the illusory light of Cosmos shining from his chest released waves of mana that with terrifying control...wrapped around each of their bodies and shuttled them through space and time.

Noah did not lift even an ounce of his mana.

He Origin was ready to move any microsecond that anything went wrong to intervene, but he found to his wonder that the control of essence all around them was impeccable, the luminous wide eyes of the small baby in Adelaide's hands leading the way without any problems as they traversed the river of time of their Reality under the lead of a newly born existence!

Eyes of utmost love and wonder were locked towards the half blue and half black flowing hair of this remarkable child that was currently adopting a cute expression filled with conviction, his dark eyes luminously searching the way forward as Little Henry was currently processing many things.

This was because as he was doing all this, golden prompts had been appearing before his own eyes in a stellar fashion as his earliest memory since birth were these exquisitely drawn text boxes!

[As the Progeny of the Tyrant, the concepts of your Lineage become available for you to learn and comprehend.]

[The Titles of the Child of Destiny, Miraculous Endeavor, Emperor of Fortune, Unparalleled Genius, and Little Tyrant have been granted.]

[The Bloodlines of Human, Samsara Cosmic Dao Origin, Samsara Universal Dao Origin, Prime Beast, Primordial...are free for you to access and change into.]

[Due to your Lineage, you have formed a connection to the Traits of Infinite Mana, Protagonist, and Samsara Universal Dao Origin within your Lineage...]

Prompt after prompt flowed over his bright eyes as he processed everything he saw, but there was only a singular goal within his mind at this moment as when his consciousness awoke within his mother's womb those many years ago, he had always felt her need and longing.

He had learned of his father's need and longing as at this moment, he would not rest until he completed it for them. Until he could work to repay the unpayable debt that he had towards his mother and father! For this, the first Nomological Edict he had chosen to put together from the many that he had access to due to the Lineage of the Tyrannical Emperor was Samsara.

During the short period of time that he enjoyed the splendor of Reality and greeted his mother and father, he pulled upon the strings of destiny and fortune that he had an overabundance of as he altered and did whatever was required of this Nomological Edict to make it possible for him to go back through time and bring the two people around him along!

Only in this manner could what his father sought for be achieved.

Henry believed this with utmost confidence for no other reason but the fact that his destiny said so. Now, all that was left was for him to put in the effort.

"Yi...!"

His jewel-like eyes released rays of luster as he let out a valiant shout, the starry rivers of time and space they were in constantly flashing behind them as in no time...

WAP!

Space fluctuated and crumpled as they appeared in a small park in an insignificant corner of a blue planet.

The park was filled with passersby as families could be seen walking around and playing, children on swingsets in the middle of this wide park and other families having picnics on benches or atop the verdant green grass.

Three new beings had appeared in such a populated location as all those around were extremely carefree, and this was the time right before the dungeons of the Beast World descended onto this blue planet.

Yet nobody saw them as they were covered by a unique essence that these normal human beings wouldn't ever be able to discern.

It was some time since Noah last came to see his mother when he utilized the Nomological Edict of Samsara for the first time as he told her this day was nearing, but she still wasn't able to leave the shackles that bound her to a certain man!

The three of them had appeared here as Henry pulled on every string of memory that his father had about his grandmother, knowing that she would be here at this point in time as this serene park of families gathering was a place she loved to come.

And it was so as not too far from them, there was a woman with a face full of love patting the heads of kids running around as she gave out pieces of chocolate. Henry's bright eyes locked onto this figure as the three of them began to walk forward, Noah's body flashing with light as dark jeans and a tucked-in white dress shirt appeared on him, his flaming hair turning dark as he came to look exactly the same as his mother remembered him!

Thereafter, the three of them gradually began to materialize and walk towards her as her attention was very quickly drawn over to the figures walking towards her.

For one, even though they hid everything glorious about them as much as they could, the aura of Higher Existences still pervaded over them as even the eyes of passersby were drawn towards them!

The figure of Amelia Osmont was situated on a bench calmly as her gaze locked onto Noah first, and it then shifted to the shy figure of Adelaide who thought with all her power that she could at least calmly stare at her mother in law, and then her gaze lastly shifted to the little baby boy within the arms of the blue-haired Adelaide who was looking towards her with his chubby arms outstretched!

"This..."

She was dazed at such a scene as she tried to rise up from the bench, Noah going forward and helping to support her as he called out lightly.

"Mom."

The domineering Tyrannical Emperor had his voice down and low as he delicately held on to his mother, her expression still dazed as she looked between Noah and the woman holding the most innocent looking child as she couldn't even find her words!

Chapter 1543: Little Tyrant! II

Henry's dark eyes shone with a light of intellect at this moment as his figure looked like any common baby, his expression innocent as he smiled foolishly towards his grandmother with his chubby arms trying to reach out towards her.

Only after a few seconds did Amelia Osmont regain her bearings as she trembled, her eyes getting wet as she held onto Noah's shirt while her gaze never left Henry and Adelaide, her voice echoing out.

"That is...your wife and child?"

Words that seemed absurd rang out as Noah nodded, almost saying the words that Adelaide was only one of many before he held himself back and answered lightly.

"Adelaide and Henry. I wanted to have them come meet you as you always talked about when I would stop playing around and give you a grandchild."

WAA!

His words caused Amelia's figure to tremble as gentle drops fell from her eyes, her hands motioning towards Adelaide as this Frozen Queen could barely keep herself together as she spoke in the lightest voice akin to a mosquito's buzz while she walked forward!

"Mother..." She called out lightly while many emotions surged in her mind, not many being able to understand the mind of a daughter in law and how they wanted to be perceived by the mother of their man.

She came close to Amelia until Henry was able to pull the locks of her hair with his chubby fingers, Noah's mother laughing with joy as she pulled Adelaide and Henry in for a light hug!

"Child, it must have been hard on you this whole time..."

Amelia's voice was filled with happiness as she hugged Adelaide who only nodded her head lightly, pushing her hands forward as Amelia looked between her and the baby in her hands before she reached out with wonder to put Little Henry in her own hands.

BZZZT!

Unseen waves of destiny spread out as Little Henry smiled innocently while his little fingers patted Amelia's face which was looking at him with utmost love.

"Henry...Henry...he has your face!"

Noah's mom called out lightly as she played with the tiny hands of the baby in her arms, Noah coming beside her as his voice rang out softly.

"We had him not too long ago, and I came this time for the same reason as a few days ago...but this time I need your help, mom."

...!

His words caused the eyes of Amelia to flash sharply as many emotions crossed through them, but her gaze couldn't leave Little Henry as she continued to play with his little arms!

As she did so, her voice came out lightly.

"What help could you need from an old lady like me?"

Her eyes flashed with a knowing light as she understood full well why Noah was here, but this time her heart was too far shaken with the baby in her arms as she could see an image over two decades ago of another baby that looked exactly like this!

"Of course I need help, does mom think I know anything about taking care of a baby?"

...!

A light of realization and shock seemingly hit Amelia after these words as she remembered just who her Noah was.

"Oh gosh, my Noah actually had a child..." She was hit with a grand realization as she recalled all the goldfish that had perished when Noah was growing up under his lackluster care, her mind playing a tug of war at this moment between two sides as she came to a crossroad!

She knew what her son wanted.

After all, it was only a few days ago for her when he appeared!

But at this moment, she truly could not find herself being capable of denying him.

"Do...do you really need this old lady?"

...!

She spoke as tears filled her eyes, Little Henry's smiling face turning worried as his little hands went to try and wipe the tears as it only made them fall even more!

Towards her question, Noah and Adelaide spoke at the same time.

"Always."

WAA!

Waves of destiny surged as a difficult choice was made.

Amelia wanted to lift her head and gaze in a certain direction where the man who she had spent a majority of her life with had probably begun another drinking session while waiting for her, but she couldn't find herself capable of gazing away from little Henry!

And she couldn't gaze away. Because if she lost focus of him once, she felt like she would make another choice entirely.

"Then let's go."

...!

She called out lightly as her tears dropped freely, Noah's heart also shaking as he placed his hands on her and Adelaide with haste as if he was afraid she would change her decision!

Little Henry's jewel-like eyes let shown with happiness as a light began to bloom around their four figures before soon enough, they disappeared from everyone's eyes in this calm park!

The eyes of those passing by were in shock and dazed as this incident would be drowned down by the shocking things that would soon unfold on the blue planet.

BZZZT!

Robust protective essence wrapped around four figures as they crossed through the folds of space and time. Amelia was only a normal human being as Noah covered her body on all sides with Authorities of Five Ascendancy Halos, the essence of Samsara resonating around them as only now was his mom able to raise her eyes to gaze at the stellar sight around them!

Amazement and shock couldn't describe what she saw as a shy Adelaide stepped up and spoke lightly.

"We'll have to get Mother used to all the fantastical things to come..."

She spoke with utter happiness as Amelia hugged the little body of Henry tightly while wiping her tears and gazing at Adelaide, giving her a smile as her voice echoed out in the tunnel of space and time.

"Yes, child, you will. Now, tell me about you. Tell me everything."

Four figures shuttled through space and time as untold brilliance and wonder surrounded them, an existence achieving his purpose just minutes after he was born!

As they crossed the river of their Reality and Amelia was acclimated more and more of what was to come, she couldn't help but finally focus on something else as she gazed above the head of Henry and Noah while speaking out in a questioning tone.

"...why is there a crown of light on my Little Henry and you, Noah?"

...!

The domineering crowns that were the authority and status of those with Bloodlines from Olden Times shone with splendor and couldn't be hidden as even though she had ignored it this whole time, Noah's mother couldn't help but ask!

Faced with this, Noah smiled wryly as with a face full of happiness, he felt their surroundings gradually change as they returned to the Cosmic Holy Land they had left not too long ago as he waved his hands to cause the appearance of an Existential Pearl.

"It'll get easier to explain soon, but we're here!"

Another existence that was connected to Noah by Blood had arrived into their current time in Reality.

The moment she did so...

BZZT!

Splendorous light surrounded Amelia Osmont as similar to Henry Osmont, those connected to the Lineage of the Tyrannical Emperor obtained fantastical benefits and boons that others could only imagine!

At this moment in time, a long time wish was achieved.

There were many women for Noah to introduce his mother to as he didn't know how she would react, and there was the Little Tyrant that Noah's eyes as The Watcher had seen the shocking golden prompts appearing over his face...there was this unique existence that he had to introduce to others!

Chapter 1544: Little Tyrant! III

There were those who were naturally curious for information and the wonders they had yet to come across, and then there were existences who craved for more information and sought to learn everything around them with great fervor.

The newly born Little Tyrant...he was more than curious as within just minutes after his birth, he had already achieved his purpose and allowed his parents to successfully bring a loved one to be with them!

His cute little figure was held in the hands of his grandmother as his dark eyes shone with a dazzling light, watching as the body of this being was changed throughout as she went from looking like a kind aged woman going past her 50s to a beautiful woman in her 30s!

Her dark hair unfurled behind her as her skin smoothed and shone with sparkling light, her eyes showing her great surprise as she felt things no normal human being could even imagine. But even amidst all this, she didn't lose herself in the reverie of power from whatever she obtained due to being part of the Lineage of the Tyrannical Emperor, showing her great mental strength as she only looked towards her son for answers.

Her son.

His father.

Little Henry gazed at Noah with his own dazzling eyes as when he looked at this being, he felt nothing but respect and adoration. As his mother was carrying him for over a hundred years, he had only felt her love for him as from the glimpses of memory he could obtain, he was only able to see the arduous past his father had gone through for all of them to be where they were now.

From a mere human being in small world, he had elevated himself and his family all the way to the point that Henry was born in his Lineage that actually controlled a Reality!

What a wonder this was! What an achievement that his father had forged! And all this...was just the beginning as with Henry holding the titles of Little Tyrant, Child of Destiny, Miraculous Endeavor, Emperor of Fortune, and Unparalleled Genius among others, he distinctly knew that his father was just starting.

Little Henry's destiny was vast and shocking, but his Father's? The wide eyes of this newborn had constantly been taking glances at his father as the Little Tyrant had yet to truly observe just how vast his Father's fortune and destiny was. Towards having such a Father, Little Henry only had a single thought rise whenever he looked at him and his spinning crown.

'I will not let you down, Father.'

WAA!

A strong sense of never wanting to disappoint this being that had built such a strong and pronounced foundation that Little Henry's starting point was that of a son of a Ruler of an Emerging Reality!

Noah's starting point was utterly nothing as he rose to where he was, so Little Henry's thoughts were that if he could not make something of himself when his Father had already built him such a steady foundation and pathway...then he didn't deserve his titles as an Unparalleled Genius or a Child of Destiny!

His dark eyes only shone with a dim luster as his thoughts were his own, his curious eyes craving more information and experiences as they curiously turned towards a certain direction while the transformation of his grandmother finished.

Noah had handed her an Existential Pearl along with a unique flow of essence that contained an abundant amount of basic knowledge and information, her soul being able to accept all this with ease at this moment after the feedback of strength from the Lineage of the Tyrannical Emperor.

Amelia's eyes had shone with dim splendor as her son did such mystical things, but she better grasped her surroundings thereafter as her new senses also picked up something and she quickly turned towards the direction that Little Henry was also looking at with great curiosity.

There, the figures of Barbatos, Halcyon, Anna, Valentina, Elena, Athena, and many others could be seen walking forward with a trace of wonder and shyness that these powerful beings never showed before, and there was a row of other existences behind them like the Emperor Penguin, Kazuhiko, Elizabeth, Steel Mikhail, the Sword Emperor, Springforge, and many others!

The shyness came as they gazed at Amelia while their wonder came when they all looked at the chubby body of Little Henry in her arms! Utter wonder and shock as the golden beak of the Emperor Penguin seemed to be shifting from Noah to Little Henry constantly as his eyes became brighter and brighter while comparing their faces. The others were all the same as powerful existences in the Universal Filament and Cosmic Realm were all rendered speechless at this moment.

Amelia saw the same shy gazes she had seen on Adelaide on the few women up front as her eyes opened in shock before she turned questioningly at Noah.

"You...you've actually been so busy?" Her tone was firm as it caused the Tyrannical Emperor to cough lightly, walking forward and motioning for Barbatos and the others to come forward as his voice echoed out.

"I'd like mom to also meet Barbatos, Valentina, Anna...."

...!

A woman after another was introduced as Noah's mom turned speechless at this time, Kazuhiko seemingly nodding his head with pride at his friend's accomplishments as the Imperial Phoenix beside him harrumphed, causing his nodding to stop as he straightened himself up and simply watched on!

Like polite daughters in law, Barbatos and the others were dressed in simple colorful dresses as they acted like their best possible selves, each of them knowing the importance of the Mother of the man they loved as none of the terrifying waves of power and valor they normally showed could be seen!

This was especially so for Barbatos as no foul words could be heard anywhere near her as she looked like the one who was shy the most with her head bowed down! Even such a dreadful Necromancer was reigned in by her mother in law as Amelia looked at all the women Noah had introduced and went on to embrace each of them.

Her son may be eccentric to make a harem for himself like this, but she would support him all the way as long as he took care of all of them!

'And...does this mean even more grandkids for me?!'

A terrifying thought crossed Amelia's mind as she acclimated to her new surroundings and learned about the distinguished existences within the Infinite Empire and the overall Reality her son reigned over!

Chapter 1545: Little Tyrant! IV

Amelia met the girls first before Noah introduced her to Kazuhiko and all the other important beings, but as everyone paid their respects to his mom, their fixation was very quickly onto the chubby baby boy with bright eyes filled with life and intellect that even now, Amelia had not let go of!

"This is..."

The resplendent Emperor Penguin came forward while his flippers reached out to Little Henry, Noah seeing his son still cuddling innocently within his grandmother's embrace as he smiled while proclaiming loudly.

"This is my only son...Henry Osmont!"

WAA!

All eyes became fixated on the Little Tyrant at this moment as his eyes blinked adorably, Barbatos and the other women looking between this baby, Noah, and Adelaide with dangerous eyes of wanting as they developed their own dangerous thoughts!

"Haha! The Prince of this vast Reality has been born! Little Henry, you can call me Uncle Kazuhiko..."

Vibrant congratulatory and introductory words erupted out from many beings as the surroundings were filled with an air of happiness and harmony, Noah letting the introductions finish as throughout, Little Henry remained clutched in his grandmother's arms as he continued to be spoiled.

When the introductions finished, his voice echoed out once more as he waved his hands and caused a portal to fluctuate behind him!

"Let's go show you around for a bit and even visit what used to be our little blue planet, and this time...I'll be cooking for my mom for the first time in a while!"

...!

The eyes of many beings turned excited at the mere mention of Noah cooking, none of them knowing just how close Noah was to making an Insuperable Nomological Edict just for his cooking side gig as they all looked forward to it!

Amelia only raised her eyes that were filled with happiness as she nodded, seeing how his son had surrounded himself with those who cared about him as she motioned for Adelaide, Barbatos, and all the other women that Noah had introduced to come along into the portal Noah had made.

Their bodies disappeared into the portal one after another as the dazzling eyes of Little Henry flashed, a small dot of golden light silently leaving his body and staying behind as some of the closest beings within the family went through the portal to get Amelia acquainted with everything!

SHAA!

The portal faded as Kazuhiko, the Emperor Penguin, and all the others stayed behind to let Noah and his family have their privacy at this juncture, their eyes very soon rising up as they saw one of Noah's True Sanguine Clones float down right where his True Body just left with his mother and newborn child.

He returned as his eyes were locked onto the spot in the air where a golden dot that others couldn't see was pulsing, everyone's eyes also focusing here as they noticed a golden light brightening up to gradually form a shape of a little being that should have just left!

BZZZT!

Waves of essence that were a fusion of laws and daos erupted out, the austere essence of an Edict being utilized as it formed into the vibrant form of a chubby baby boy with a head full of black and blue flowing hair, a white wrapping that only showed his chubby arms and legs being present as he appeared with grandeur.

His fair skin shone with wondrous luster as his dark eyes opened with regality, his body floating in the skies of the Cosmic Holy Land silently as when he saw all the Vassals of his father staring towards him in shock, a childish smile filled his face as he turned towards the True Sanguine Clone of his father that was looking at him with eyes of happiness.

"Father."

Little Henry called out as his little body floated effortlessly towards Noah in the skies, illusory crowns spinning around these beings in a shocking manner as Noah stroked his chin while he asked with a smile even though he knew exactly what was going on.

"This body of yours?"

"Formed from the essence of the Greater Nomological Edict of the Plasma King. It was the quickest concept I could forge in the last few minutes as it seems I will need a few hours to forge another version of your Quasi-Insuperable Nomological Edict of the Sanguine Emperor with myself as the architect."

WAA!

The hearts of Kazuhiko and the others shuddered as they heard the voice of the Little Tyrant echo out, the childish eyes of this being seemingly seeking approval when looking at his father while saying this!

"I didn't want to shock grandma too much until she adapted to all the craziness, and I followed your lead when I sensed your Clone nearby to form this body..."

Noah's own eyes released a bright luster as he nodded at his son's words, having many things on his plate for him to currently do but...he also wanted to spend some quality time with his son.

They couldn't introduce too many things to his mom in a short period of time as Father and Son wanted to spend more time with each other through their Clones while their main bodies spent time with the whole family!

But the two of them were far different from any father-son duo as how exactly would they spend time together? They couldn't just play catch or go to a game!

But instead, there was a wonder of Infinite possibilities for them to choose from as Noah's eyes shone sharply.

He had many things to do...but nothing prevented him from doing them with his son.

"You want to help with the continued fusion of the Cosmos of different Realities into our Infinite Empire and observe the birth of a new Primordial Relic?"

....!

A shocking set of words came out of Noah as Little Henry's eyes released terrific rays of light, his reply quick!

"Un!"

With eyes shining of child-like wonder, the Little Tyrant nodded with enthusiasm as what his father proposed couldn't be better than anything he could think of.

The Tyrannical Emperor gazed at his Little Tyrant as he nodded, his preparations already set in place during this time as his Infinite Lower Existence Clones were ready to aid in the fusion of Cosmos into the Infinite Empire at any time!

BZZZT!

He waved his hands as in the next moment, a shocking Primordial Relic appeared above them as it was the Serendipity of the Cataclysmic Reality, this illusory vessel shining with the glimmer of Reality adorned with a shocking array of weaponry and regality as essence wrapped around Noah and Little Henry, their figures going towards this transport type Primordial Relic while his voice rang out to the beings still watching them in a stupor below.

"You guys' Clones are already within those Realities so we'll see you there!"

SHAA!

Father and son landed on an ecstatic vessel that quite literally shone with the glimmer of Reality, the vibrant ship coming to life as essence surged into it from Noah...causing for multicolored flames to bloom at the bottom of the vessel as it looked like it was swimming in a dazzling sea of Flames.

With an incandescent glow, it flashed as it warped away instantly, leaving behind a trail of multicolored flames towards the Boundary Between Realities as a Tyrannical Emperor took the newly born Little Tyrant across the Realities to witness the birth of a Seed of Reality!

Chapter 1546 The Surging Will Of The TyrannicalEmperor! L

As Noah set off to obtain the achievement of forging a Primordial Relic that could heavily affect Realities with a True Sanguine Clone, the other Clone within the Forsaken Treasure Reality was still in the First Treasure Island with Natalya and the fantastical Vassal that was Foiddut!

His True Body has been in the Cosmic Holy Land while scaling the Firmaments from the fifth to Seventh, and barely any time had passed outside as at this moment, his ridiculous rise in power had yet to show itself.

After elevating the Nomological Edict of the Dictum Emperor to the Quasi-TABOO level, Noah had many things he could discern and see compared to before as he had to closely utilize the upgraded abilities of this Edict, and his foremost goal at this moment was to obtain more materials and loot from this Forsaken Treasure Reality and stack up what he needed to forge the Loot he received from the Resplendent Treasure Cache like the Olden Orb of Transmogrification!

But before they could set off from this Treasure Island and search all the others for however many Naturally Formed Primordial Treasures they held or Soul Crystals, or any other form of loot...Noah had to wrap up the eight Sixth Firmament Primordial Wolf Guards that were still trapped in the Mirror Reality with RUINATION gazing at them emotionlessly.

"Hmm..."

Foiddut was floating behind his new master respectfully as Natalya also followed his gaze towards the Mirror Reality, Noah's eyes flashing as his right hand opened its palm outward gracefully, a golden light flashing as the bright golden jagged Primordial Relic that the Gazer had been using shot towards him like a flash of golden light and was grasped within his palms an instant after!

BZZZT!

Incandescent golden splendor reverberated out as Noah grasped the <Firmament Derelictor> within his hands, his expression actually causing Natalya to blink with disbelief as she could see...he actually seemed dissatisfied when holding onto this Primordial Relic.

A Primordial Relic!

Even Eight and Ninth Firmament existences sought such weapons for themselves as wars could be fought over a truly mystical Relic.

Yet Noah's face was actually showing disdain.

And how could he not?! The Heartsplitter Primordial Relic he had forged could shoot homing arrows that could traverse across Realities to reach their targets while this jagged golden sword...its capabilities were close to it, but nowhere near up to par with the power and utility that the Heartsplitter Bow held, nor was it anywhere close to RUINATION!

He might just be better off handing this weapon as a gift to his son while he forged an attack-type weapon unique for himself.

, c`o`m With such a terrific thought, Noah turned his eyes towards the distraught Sixth Firmament Primordial Wolf Guards who could not break out of the Mirror Reality!

—

A being that could not be fully understood.

That was what Natalya thought when she looked at Noah, even though the two of them had just recently talked on equal terms about what their goals were!

She sought to understand more of this Peerless Forger as she would naturally learn more about him as they continued exploring this Forsaken Treasure Reality, with her gaps in understanding being more about how this being who had been at the Third Firmament of Ascendancy when she met him just over a day ago had now reached the Fifth, and at this stage...he was actually capable of utilizing a Primordial Relic and power it up with immense reserves of Essence of Reality and Mana that only those in the Seventh Firmament could afford!

The subject of him being a Peerless Forger she could just attribute to him being a ridiculous genius with immense fortune. But the scaling of the Firmaments of Ascendancy? These were sacred as nobody could just bypass through them.

'Could he be of a unique Bloodline with anomalous reserves of resources? Or an existence with a Bloodline on par with the highest Tiers of Cardinal Royal Bloodlines? He already has a Bloodline from the Olden Times...could that be it?' ~~てゐる~~

...!

Natalya was trying to figure out this being as her dark eyes released dazzling lights when she saw him drastically and show disdain towards a Primordial Relic, following his gaze towards the Sixth Firmament Primordial Wolf Guards he was staring at dangerously as she opened her soul wide to try and understand exactly how this existence would deal with these enemies.

After shooting out an attack that would have even drained Seventh Firmament existences, just how would he at the Fifth Firmament of Ascendancy proceed to attack 8 beings a level higher than him?

'At the Fifth Firmament, I wouldn't have even been able to provide the required mana for the Heartsplitter Pri-...!'

WAA!

Natalya's thoughts came to a halt.

This was because as she waited to see just how many more reserves of resources Noah held to utilize a Primordial Relic, her eyes blinked multiple times as she felt the aura this being released billow around him madly as it surged from the Fifth Firmament to the Sixth.

"Huh?"

Dazzling rainbow-colored waves of essence rose from him in fantastical arcs of lightning, his surroundings shaking as they released sounds akin to metals grating against each other!

His aura only continued to grow as from the Sixth, the level of power it released very quickly surged to the Seventh Firmament of Ascendancy as such an unbelievable scene caused Natalya's jaws to open wide in a stupor, her voice coming out incoherently!

"Huh?!"

The body of Foidduit trembled as he gazed towards Noah with fervor and reverence, the body of this Destiny Goblin getting on its knees in the skies as it gazed up at the primal being in the skies surrounded by arcs of terrifying multicolored light.

He didn't seem like someone that had his reserves spent after killing two existences at the Seventh Firmament of Ascendancy.

He in fact even seemed full of power and Essence as the question of how he would power up a Primordial Relic did not even need to be answered!

Yet his next action nearly caused the beings watching him to tumble from the golden shimmering skies as he wielded the <Firmament Derelictor>...and simply flung it over his shoulders as the wild power he released actually came to focus on his eyes.

For shredding apart Sixth Firmament existences, he didn't even need to utilize a weapon as he spoke in a Tyrannical fashion.

"Emperor's Haki."

BZZZZT!

The entire Treasure Island trembled as the will of the Tyrannical Emperor surgery out with utter majesty!

Chapter 1547 The Surging Will Of The TyrannicalEmperor! LI

Emperor's Haki!

An ability that carried +100,000,000,000% True Annihilatory Soul Damage and was reinforced by the 10 strongest Flames of Edicts under the Tyrannical Emperor.

This...now included two Quasi-TABOO Nomological Flames of Edicts!

BOOM...CRACK!

Akin to mirrors shattering, every single surface area before Noah's eyes shuddered and cracked as the power of his will and soul backed by his strongest Edicts surged out towards the eight Sixth Firmament Primordial Wolf Guards trapped in the Mirror Reality.

The surroundings changed color and were bathed with a Tyrannical golden hue wherever the influence of <Emperor's Haki> spread, the eyes of the Primordial Wolf Guards shuddering as they felt like a beast was making its way towards them, their bodies shining in intoxicating light to defend!

The will of the Tyrannical Emperor smashed down like an unquenchable hammer.

BOOM!

It smashed onto the bodies and souls of the eight existences after seamlessly passing through the Mirror Reality, the eyes of these beings turning a deadly red as an instant later...their heads wiggled and discombobulated like they had ravaging worms within them before...

POOF!

Golden blood bloomed in a glorious fashion as the heads of Sixth Firmament existences could not withstand the will of the Tyrannical Emperor, becoming pulverized from him just gazing at them and sending waves of his soul power mixed with his strongest flames of Edicts over!

"..."

Silence reigned on the mesmerizing surroundings of the depths of the Treasure Island.

Over Noah's head, golden prompts overflowed.

[+18,950 Cosmic Filament Cores obtained...] DING! The effects of Loot Multiplier are applied...[+1,895 Shards of a Seed of Reality are obtained.]

[+25,000 True Blood Pearls obtained...] DING! The effects of Loot Multiplier are applied...[+2,500 Existential Pearls are obtained.]

[+46,500 Runic Dao Line Enhancers obtained...] DING! The effects of Loot Multiplier are applied...[+4,650 Evolutionary Runic Lines of Ascendancy are obtained.]

[+75 Trillion Skill Points obtained...] DING! The effects of Loot Multiplier are applied...[+75,000 Cosmic Resource Points obtained.]

<The effects of Absolute Looter are applied.>

<The ownership of the Insuperable Nomological Edicts and Flames of the Guardian Emperor, Molten Will, Insurbodinator, Ultramarine Emperor, Iniquitous Emperor....have been granted.>...

...<35 Medium Tier Reality Crystals that contain the Essence of Reality have been granted.>

Notifications of 187 more Insuperable Nomological Edicts in total from the eight Sixth Firmament existences, 230 Quasi-Insuperable, and dredges of Greater and Minor Nomological Edicts flooded their way towards Noah as this time, he was prepared!

The third True Sanguine Clone was already in the Soul Library as the burst of concepts coming in were passed and collected here to be organized first, simply waiting for Noah to come choose which Nomological Edicts were worthy of him to add to his soul and forge even more Ascendancy Halos with!

All of this was taken care of silently as the reality of what he just did in the Treasure Island remained.

SHAA!

The set up mirror Reality turned into particles of light as RUINATION came to float beside Noah emotionlessly, this being the only existence to not even bat an eye towards Noah's actions as Foidduit and Natalya currently could not even express their shock!

The Blessed body of the blessed Primal Titan was shaking in awe and stupor as the ride in Firmaments of Ascendancy, the power displayed, the grandeur...it was all just so unbelievable!

"I..this...."

Rostova had no words.

She was speechless!

Her red lips parted up and down as she couldn't even get her words out at this moment!

—

"Do you know which concepts I've found to be most crucial?"

Atop a glorious vessel releasing a terrific aura of a Primordial Relic, a man adorned in a white robe with his hair flaming crimson and gold could be seen looking into the eyes of a small baby that was listening with rapt attention.

"Destiny. All concepts that deal with destiny are truly crucial as they can be the decider for fortune or disaster, with those who have stronger Tiers of Edicts routinely falling because they couldn't peer sufficiently into their destinies."

...!

Little Henry nodded his childish head with agreement as he listened to Noah, his eyes releasing a dazzling light as he voiced out cutely.

"I was going to start accumulating all the Edicts from you dealing with Destiny that I had access to in order to form a Quasi-Insuperable or an Insuperable Nomological Edict dealing with destiny, because I can't really replicate the Quasi-TABOO Nomological Edict of the Dictum Emperor at this moment..."

The eyes of the Little Tyrant were filled with helplessness as it looked at its chubby little arms, Noah letting out a smile at the shocking things the little guy was saying so freely as he patted his head reassuringly!

"It's just a Quasi-TABOO Nomological Edict. You'll be able to forge them in no time at the rate you're going."

...!

His words may have just seemed encouraging, but the talent that this Little Tyrant displayed was truly too terrific as Noah couldn't help but say this.

The Little Tyrant smiled sheepishly while taking his father's compliments, their surroundings fluctuating as the Serendipity of the Cataclysmic Reality came to a stop with an Emerging Reality at this moment.

, c`o`m Noah raised his head as he gazed outwards, seeing the cluster of Cosmos in the distance and the auras of the Emperor Penguin and others in his group that were in charge of overtaking this Reality as the Primordial Relic they were on floated forward calmly.

"The second Reality."

Noah's voice echoed out as he rose up, the Little Tyrant's body wrapping itself with essence as its head floated to be just a little lower than his father as he also looked out.

"Watch the flow of mana. The intricate connections all types of essence have and where Ruination and the Primordial essence come in to bind everything together..."

Noah's voice echoed out as Little Henry nodded, his jewel-like eyes watching with rapt attention as his father pulled on his connection to the Infinite Empire and acted as the intermediary to form connections with the cluster of Cosmos ahead of them, all Clones moving at this moment to bring every single Cosmos within this Reality and the Realities Noah would soon make his presence known!

Realities where in a single one in particular...a present was waiting for Noah as he could barely hide the devilish glint in his eyes when he thought about it!

Chapter 1548 A Celestial Vine Finds Its Target! L

A stellar transport type Primordial Relic appeared within a certain Emerging Reality as the conquered beings within felt their hearts shake, the cluster of Cosmos they were in receiving a dominating will from the vessel that shone with an illusory Reality as a Tyrannical Emperor turned his gaze towards them!

At this point, it wasn't even a communication with the Cosmos on whether they wanted to form a connection and be assimilated into the Infinite Empire or not, the will of the Tyrannical Empire rolled out with intention and command as it told the unconscious wills of these Cosmos that they would be assimilated whether they liked to or not.

BZZZT!

Arcs of multicolored light bloomed as among them, a wondrous white light was beginning to shine from the figure releasing his terrifying will as the images of two beings became clear to the most powerful existences at the levels of Universal Filament and the handful at the Cosmic Realm within this Reality. They saw the image of a white robed existence shining with the arcs of multicolored light as beside him, what seemed to be a glorious small baby boy floated beside him as each of these beings were adorned with illusory shimmering crowns!

At this moment, a white light began to rise up from the figure of the Tyrannical Emperor as this light...was the True Light of Conquest!

It moved with excitement and fervor as while the shocking scene of Noah's endless Lower Existence Clones teleported in with all the Cosmos within this Reality, this white light of Conquest pervasively spread out from Noah to link the Cosmos of this Reality only his one and only Infinite Empire!

OOOH!

Waves of essence surged out with splendor as the colorful seas of mana around Noah undulated with beauty, the eyes of the Little Tyrant watching and absorbing everything with wonder as his dazzling iris seemed to shine with a darkness that absorbed everything.

Like interlinking locks, the True Light of Conquest surged into and connected the cosmos as soon after, a pillar of white light began to coagulate above Noah's head as it shot up for countless light years!

It shot past the Primordial Sea and the Sea of Ruination as it went towards the edge of Reality, reaching Pandemonium itself as at such a junction...the light began to coagulate into the shape of a star!

A blazing, resplendent, glorious white star!

The True Star of Conquest rose over a Reality as Noah placed it under his banner, this star having great meaning as with it...many things became possible.

This was a feature under the banner of the Tyrannical Emperor where a conquered Reality could bloom a single True Star of Conquest, and under Noah's <Nomological Regime>, 10 True Stars of Conquest could elevate any Edict to the Insuperable level while 50 of them could elevate one psst this level into a Quasi-TABOO tier!

But there was also a usage past elevation as Noah could utilize the <Benevolent Light of Empowerment> while sacrificing a single True Star of Conquest- this act being capable of Empowering an Edict and making it unrivaled with any other Edicts of this level. Along with this, the definition of this ability listed that <...The Flames of these Edicts also undergo a fundamental change as in turn, so does the Ascendancy Halo they are fused into...!>

This was the usage of the white star forming over this entire Reality.

The Little Tyrant stared at it with eyes of longing as even though he was just born, he seemed impatient to be capable of achieving such a thing by himself as his small body was unconsciously wrapped up in glimmering golden waves of Destiny!

'This is my Father...' , c`o`m

His eyes locked on to Noah as he listened to his words and followed the path of mana and Essence seamlessly- something that other beings might be overwhelmed by! But Little Henry watched it all and learned as the approximately 4,000 Cosmos within this Reality were strung up together and connected to a Relic within another Reality entirely, the vast Seas of Ruination and Primordial essence bathed in the light of Conquest as thereafter...the Serendipity of the Cataclysmic Reality did not tarry.

SHAA!

The Tyrannical Emperor merely gave this Reality a glance as with his light recognition, essence sunk into the Primordial Relic as it turned the area around it into a sea of Flames and shot out to the Boundary Between Realities instantly...shooting towards yet another Reality.

Everything was set in place.

, c`o`m All that Noah had to do was link it all together as he could get it done in a short period of time!

He also couldn't tarry too long as there was an existence that had been lying in wait for him this whole time, and he had to make sure to meet them for the coming future!

—

When Noah took his first steps out of his Reality, he carried out actions that had caused three different Bloodlines to turn in his direction.

One was the Royal Blight Serpent Dragon Bloodline that had inadvertently caused his name to enter the Primordial Blacklist, the other was the Ender Bloodline of Primordial Beasts that hadn't borne any fruit, and then there was the Elder Primordial that had seen the Life Medallion of Cecilia shatter.

A Celestial Vine that had aided Cecilia of her own Bloodline into becoming a Primordial, and yet she had perished soon after as the first thing this Primordial did was focus on the Realities that Cecilia managed!

Out of all the beings that Noah had made enemies of, she was actually the one who had the most chance to locate Noah this whole time as she knew exactly where he was.

So she moved.

She searched!

And...she actually made more progress than most others as with the knowledge of exactly where Cecilia's managed Realities were, this Elder Primordial visited every single one silently as the things she saw were utterly shocking!

The things she saw caused her heart to turn cold as she observed silently...because she still had not found the culprit she was looking for.

Chapter 1549 A Celestial Vine Finds Its Target! LI

There were a few things that made this Elder Primordial cautious.

, c`o`m First was the fact that among the 6 Emerging Realities under the banner of Cecilia, she was only able to locate 5 of them.

This was baffling and utterly terrifying as not being able to find a Reality was akin to it having been destroyed...or something even more unimaginable!

What power was enough to destroy a reality, displace it, or do something even crazier?

This was the first point that caused this Elder Primordial to move with care as from the other 5 Realities that Cecilia managed, she only hid herself in the folds of Reality and observed the changes happening within since the day that she confirmed even though she knew where a certain Reality should have been, she couldn't locate it.

Of course, her failure had come just hours after Noah had utilized RUINATION to hide his home Reality!

Yet she didn't know this as to move with care, she observed the happenings of the other 5 Realities as there...she saw the shocking sight of many Lower Existences moving with great power as well as a few Higher Existences moving within- beings that had no business doing the things they were doing!

But to gather more information about this unknown enemy, she merely hid and watched.

Through the shock of Champions utilizing a Reality altering Construct that she taught Cecilia to forge being defeated.

Through watching creatures such as Penguins or tentacle stellar bodies looking very similar to those found in Apocalypse Realities somehow go from being unranked to then displaying power at the First Firmament, then Third...Fourth, and even exceeding fifth!

She saw all of these shocking things as she didn't make a move, lying in wait as she saw terrific beings conquering the strongest out of each of these Realities as thereafter...they seemingly calmed things down while waiting for further orders.

While waiting for someone.

This being...was the one that she sought for!

Seeing the extent of the mystery behind even the subordinates sent forth as many of them now displayed power within the scales of the Firmaments, she even sought help from a few beings close to her as at this moment, the auras of three Existences at the Seventh Firmament of Ascendancy were contained within a small pocket of space as the central one was an exceedingly beautiful woman- this being the Celestial Vine Elder Primordial that had begun this hunt, Elder Victoria!

To her right was a thin man with a long stature, his face carrying an effeminate charm as in his hands, there was a glimmering golden fan. To her left, a Beast in human form could be seen as her crimson tail was sticking out from her behind, her figure that of a curvaceous humanoid woman with a blessed chest and back as a sharp whip was tied around her hand.

"Victoria, let's just wipe up these little things right now. Many of them carry enough power to have killed your brethren...why wait for some larger culprit that might not ever come?"

The Primordial with a whip tied around her hand spoke as her crimson hair danced with wisps of Flames, Elder Victoria keeping her eyes towards a cluster of Cosmos where she could see a tentacled Chthonian releasing arcs of Aether and lightning watching over the Cosmos it had led to conquer.

She was about to reply about how she had to trust her gut when the events to occur in the next second made her not even need to!

BOOOM!

Like an explosive clap of thunder, a booming sound echoed out as the three beings nearly erupted out their auras to defend themselves, only for them to sense that many light years away from their position, a terrifyingly glorious vessel shining with the illusory light of reality tore through all barriers to arrive in this Reality, leaving behind them a trail of multicolored flames as they appeared with splendor!

"...!"

Elder Victoria and the two compatriots she brought were shocked as Victoria raised her hands with care, reminding everyone to rein in their auras as they watched from the hidden folds of space with care.

Abroad the vast majestic looking vessel, the figures of two existences could be seen as each of them were more shocking to see than the other as they both held shimmering illusory crowns above them with their eyes releasing lights of Tyranny!

The more shocking thing was the second figure that was merely a floating baby boy that one could still see the cute features of a newborn- such a scene causing Elder Victoria and those around her to blink a few times to make sure they were seeing correctly.

"That is a Primordial Relic..." The effeminate looking Primordial man spoke slowly as his eyes flashed with a sharp light of wanting, his Origin seemingly ready to go as Victoria turned to stare at him sharply to make sure their positions were not yet given away!

Her brain was surging within possibilities as the waves of destiny surrounded her, her heart telling her that the being atop this transport type Primordial Relic was the one she was looking for- his aura vibrantly showing itself at the Seventh Firmament of Ascendancy.

"Keep watching!"

She spoke in a low tone as their senses slowly picked up what was happening around the two incandescent beings, calm and composed words ringing in their ears.

"Destiny, my son...is indispensable. Today, I will show you exactly what I mean by that."

WAA!

The shocking words of this devilishly handsome existence could be heard as the crimson gold flames for hair above his head surged, his right hand rising up as from it, a golden light that eventually formed into a book bloomed!

While situated at the front most portion of the Primordial Relic and gazing at the cluster of Cosmos from far Away, the existence releasing an intense aura of Tyranny continued to speak.

"Across the Infinite Realities, every existence believes themselves to be the center of everything. As if the Realities are a blank canvas just waiting for them to step into the picture as they believe themselves to be existences who will become distinguished...as none of them ever have the belief that death could befall them at any second."

BZZZT!

Waves of destiny surged around his body madly as his starry eyes landed on the pages of the golden book within his hands, reading with a light smile.

"Even someone like me with all my assurances...I still know to be careful as there are those much stronger than me out there, but this concept doesn't prevent the hubris of others to take over their thought process as even when they're faced with unknown dangers, they will still move with unfounded confidence that they can overcome everything and take wondrous boons all for themselves."

WAA!

The golden waves of destiny around him turned massive at this moment as the book within his hands released dazzling rays of light, Elder Victoria's eyes squinting with sharpness while the effeminate Primordial and the one holding a spiked whip only gazed towards the fantastical Primordial Relic with a light of greed!

"They do not prepare, they do not have information, and they do not grasp enough about destiny to even know when their own demise is nearing. They will gaze at a dazzling Primordial Relic and think <...I will even break off our million year friendship if I have to, but that Primordial Relic will be mine!...>. They will gaze at a hidden danger they do not fully grasp and think <...He is merely at the Seventh Firmament. With Lucia and Raenor here, I am confident to have him answer for his crimes of killing little Cecilia...>. "

....!

In the hidden folds of space, the face of the Primordial holding a spiked whip who was known as Lucia trembled as Elder Victoria's eyes trembled even more with utter shock and incredulity as deep within...a trace of a long forgotten emotion began to arise!

This was because their own private thoughts...were just spoken word for word from the mouth of another being!

"Isn't that exactly what you are thinking...Elder Victoria?"

WAA!

The Eyes of The Watcher turned towards the direction where three beings thought they were hiding, the golden book still shining in his hands as these three Seventh Firmament Primordials felt their hearts skip a beat at this moment as an emotion that had been unknown and foreign to them for many years tumbled out of their hearts in fervor!

Chapter 1550 Merely Pieces Atop An InfiniteCanvas! L

Cecilia had a total of six Emerging Realities under her. She was a Primordial just beginning to accumulate her power as she had not gone too far, and yet she was further than most beings as those who didn't carry the Bloodline of Primordials couldn't freely Oversee even Emerging Realities.

Apart from Noah's home Reality, there were 5 others that became unclaimed after her death, and Noah had taken the Serendipity of the Cataclysmic Reality to four of these Realities with his son to link all their Cosmos to the Infinite Empire!

This made it so that Noah achieved the requirement of 5 Realities having all of their Cosmos linked to the Infinite Empire in order to proceed with its elevation and birth the Seed of Reality.

This fantastical process...Noah's main body was currently preparing to have his mom and the true body of Henry and others witness this sight from their home Reality.

But there was still one other remaining Reality.

This...was the location where a Celestial Vine Primordial had hidden herself with two supporting Primordials of the Seventh Firmament of Ascendancy!

This was the location that Noah had saved for last as even before Dictum Emperor was elevated to Quasi-TABOO, he knew that there was an existence sniffing around Cecilia's past Realities! But she never made a move and his destiny weaved in fantastical ways that told him there was even a play to be made surrounding this being.

After the advancement of the Dictum Emperor to Quasi-TABOO...the things Noah could see were utterly shocking, and this was especially so with the Supreme Bloodline of the Watcher that came with this Nomological Edict!

With it...he could truly see too much as the moment his Serendipity of the Cataclysmic Reality stepped into the Sixth Reality, the folds of space hiding three Primordials could not obscure his gaze.

He could see them as clear as day as not just that...one of the innate capabilities of the Watcher was being capable of seeing the Destinies of those he looked at as well as their information! Of course, it came in the form of a fantastical status sheet for him as he had already pulled up and analyzed the information on the four hidden beings even before they knew about him.

This was the terror of having a higher edge in destiny! This was the terror of the Tyrannical Emperor!

"Isn't that exactly what you are thinking, Elder Victoria?"

BOOM!

The moment his words had landed, it felt like a bomb had gone off in the minds of three Primordials as their eyes shook terribly while their Origins began to rotate madly!

Without a second delay and as if they were moving in conjunction, ten Ascendancy Halos bloomed from each of the Seventh Firmament Primordials as they shone with vibrant colors of white, Blue, and Purple- with Victoria's even being tinged with gold similar to Natalya as a dazzling light of multicolored Essence raged and exploded apart the folding of space they were in.

WAA!

With fervor and haste, they borrowed the undulations of power and burst of essence from their

Ascendancy Halos as each of these beings...shot out like streaks of light into separate directions!

Running!

They actually began a bid to escape even before a microsecond had passed as it was every man for themselves! And how could they not run?! They were powerful Seventh Firmament existences with millions of years of experience, and they just watched on as a being that had just arrived was capable of even speaking out their own thoughts. ~~7e0m~~

What type of concept was that?

They knew very well the intricacies of power as if they came across an enemy who could even peer into their minds and listen to their most guarded thoughts without them even knowing...they knew this enemy must be leagues above them in terms of Concepts as fighting such an existence would be an unwinnable battle!

If he could already peer into their thoughts, didn't he know everything about them?

There were names for existences like these as they varied in stages and power, but it was those that made everyone move with care. It was the type of existences known as Seers...and there were distinguished stages among Seers as those who could freely bypass one's soul protection and destiny to even understand the workings of the minds of others...these were the most terrifying.

ZAAA!

Three different streaks of light shot out in different directions as their auras tore out to break through the Boundary of this Reality and rush out, with the enemy they were running from still holding on to a golden book that had its pages flipping with an austere aura of power.

What was more terrifying was that as the three streaks of light escaped, Noah's eyes didn't even bat their way as they returned to the golden book within his hands, the figure of Little Henry barely following what was happening as his cute face opened wide with wonder- the Little Tyrant not yet being capable of sensing things at the level of Noah!

Noah's voice continued to echo out as he spoke while ignoring the three existences who were seemingly about to escape, his voice directed towards Little Henry as if he was still giving a lesson.

"After understanding destiny, the next concept to grasp is proper planning and action. Think of it as if we are small pieces atop an expansive and endless canvas, and we have to understand ourselves and the pieces around us as after that, we have to plan and push these pieces in the ways we want. If one can simply understand destiny and have immense knowledge about things but never take proper actions or pull the strings of the pieces around them...they will also achieve nothing."

BOOM!

A moment after Noah's words finished, Elder Victoria was the first one whose power ripped the fabric of Reality to step into the Boundary Between Realities, but when she did this...she felt like she had run into a viscous membrane that she was only able to move an inch through before in the next instant- she was bounced back from it!

...!

The other Primordials Lucia and Raenor were the same as their expressions turned drastic, their escape being denied by a viscous membrane they had not noticed before.

Planning. After one understood destiny, they had to know what path they should take and properly utilize their robust information!

"With my proper planning today, I have three rats trapped in a cage."

With a voice dripping of power and majesty, Noah finally gazed up as his hand went to close the golden book within it.

Little Henry watched on with awe as the three figures of Seventh Firmament Primordials materialized after being denied escape, their faces unseemly as they stared gravely towards the Serendipity of the Cataclysmic Reality!