Chapter 421 - Cultivating

Noah glanced at the results of the Division feature of the Spiritual World as a fantastical sight of four huge land masses that could be considered Continents separated from the central landmass that held the Time Space and the Blacksmith's Forge.

The continents were mostly filled with a similar type of essence and environment, the only thing different being the one in the North that was slowly turning fully into a fiery continent that was filled with the Law of Fire.

Many possibilities lied in front of him as he sent a message to the Spiritual World System.

"You can handle the farming of the new plants and designing architecture and layouts of these continents?"

[Yes. Just let me know which style of architecture you wish for, as well as any ideas you have for Recipe Design and the building of new Law Spaces. Anything you need, I can handle.]

An extremely competent reply came from the System as Noah nodded, seeing that he had placed a significant amount of time in this particular task that an entire day had passed.

He currently looked at the passing of days as extremely crucial, as his mind had calculations of what he could possibly achieve in a single day in terms of Fate Lines and Chaos Particles. If he was doing anything else and a day passed, it felt he missed out big in advancing his power forward!

The upgrade of the Spiritual World was more than worth it, as he left things in the hands of the Spiritual World System and glanced towards the few beings he had in the Spiritual World.

There were a large majority of Spiritual Beasts populating the central landmass, with other clusters in the risen continents aside from the fiery ones the current beasts were still major of the Ice Element.

When he came to this thought process, he couldn't help but ask something that was on his mind.

"The beasts that were born in this Spiritual Land were always of the Ice Type Element. If the convergence of essence in the continent that is covered by the Law of Fire births new Spiritual Beasts, will they be of the Fire Element?"

Noah's mind was already thinking in this manner, simply wanting a confirmation at this wondrous possibility.

[Yes. When the Earth Law Space or Fate Law Space or Chaos Law Space are established in the future, beasts of those respective elements will also have probabilities of being born.]

A spectacular affirmation came as Noah shook his head at the wonders of the Spiritual World, looking towards the Harbingers and other beings that were looking at him with reverence and a tinge of fear.

Some understood his power and knew him for a long time, others only heard stories as they now came face to face with him and looked at him in an entirely different manner.

The beasts of the Spiritual World like Emperor Penguin simply looked at his figure with shining eyes filled with strength and trust, making his heart settle with ease as the more he rose in power, the more alone he felt.

Even with the company of women like Adelaide and Barbatos, he only had a chance to be around them briefly as he was constantly moving, his heart settling down when he was around them and had a chance to relax, but most of his time was divided into adventuring into new lands or facing powerful enemies, with him doing almost everything alone.

It was a unique feeling that those on the path of power would occasionally find themselves in. A position where they seemed to be forging ahead while others were just trying to keep up!

It was the solitude one felt when they were in a position that others could not come close to! Even someone like Prince Cassius who Noah could talk freely with in the past, he could not do so anymore. The moment the prince moved together with her aunt and saw the actual picture of Noah's true strength, a change occurred as he knew they weren't even remotely close to the same positions, not looking at Noah the way he used to before.

Noah sighed as he sent telepathic commands to the Emperor Penguin and Elena, as well as the other major figures that over the worlds he was connected to as he cast one more skill before he disappeared from the skies of the Spiritual World.

He cast [World Veil] that now applied to this unique treasure of his, letting it stay in this expanse of space for now as he prepared to come in contact with powerful laws.

He would set no time for celebration or anything like that for this amazing upgrade that had turned the Spiritual Land into a Spiritual World, teleporting away from it as he appeared tens of thousands of miles away from the junction of the Light Expanse and the Dark Expanse where he would leave the Spiritual World briefly, letting those within cultivate as others could use the portals in the Central land mass to head back to their respective worlds whenever they wished.

His clone appeared far away in the void of vast space, feeling his eyes close as he enjoyed the weightlessness and power because of the [Child of Space] ability from the Lesser Cthulhu Skill Tree.

He felt extremely safe and content when he floated in this dark expanse of space, his heart already looking forward to when he would soon upgrade the skill tree of the Lesser Cthulhu along with Fate's Guardian.

If one could place the things he had to do on a plate in the form of food, they would overflow as there were truly too many of them.

Skill trees, Laws, Celestials, Infernals, Ancients, the Spiritual World...there were so many things that he wished his Blood Lord ability could grant him another clone for him to do all of them!

His main body had been spending the last day with Athena as they continued their cultivation session that pushed Noah's Fate Lines from 26,000 over 27,000 in the span of a day, this being an amazing number in the eyes of the Celestials.

But...he planned to start a cultivation session now where he would condense double the amount of fate lines that he and Athena condensed in a day...in just the span of an hour!

He looked forward to seeing the future results of obtaining close to 50,000 Fate Lines in the span of a day as he comfortably got in a seated position in the void of space he was in, clearing his mind as he initiated {Fate's Disciple} first this time around, watching as a golden line of fate began falling down. His body pulsed as he shone gold and brought to surface the hidden Fate Lines already in his body, covering his surroundings with the aura of fate as he then slowly began also activating {Disciple of Chaos}, commanding just a few Chaos Particles to come to light as the golden aura of fate felt like it had found its biggest enemy, going forward and overpowered the few Chaos Particles as they were quickly wiped away and purified into nothingness.

This reaction of purifying pure chaos elements was rewarded with multiple Fate Lines that then went on to descend and attach to his body, this session being one where he increased the number of Fate Lines while Chaos Particles stalled, his heart at peace as he repeated the process and began wildly burning his mana as it poured endlessly into two techniques which cultivated two Supreme Laws!

Chapter 422 - One Cultivates, One is Showered with Treasures.

In the wide expanse of space, some stars shimmered brightly while others were dull. There were millions of these stars littered across this wide space as in a particular location, a being was floating peacefully in this terrifying void that many would not make as their home.

There was a splendor of golden color as around this being, one could see numerous lines of fate descending down consistently, the truly observant ones being able to notice the formation of a few Chaos Particles that were quickly purified by the intense aura of fate that was in the surroundings.

A calm expression was apparent on the being, Noah's Ancient Blood Clone, as he continued to make rapid progress in the Law of Fate, and this time there were no limits!

The process had already been going on for more than half a day, the area of space he was in being filled with an aurora of golden colors that spread throughout the blank void beautifully. In this span of half a day, he had already amassed more than 24,000 Fate Lines, obtaining the same amount of Fate Lines that he had spent the past weeks collecting after he first received the unique skill of {Fate's Disciple}.

The number of Fate lines he currently had was actually over 56,000 in total, his main body that was being spoiled with numerous materials and cores filled with the Law of Chaos adding on to the progression.

His Ancient Blood Clone continued the project of amassing fate lines as the plan was to complete a full day of cultivation before he moved on to do anything else. In the Celestial Realm, his main body was moving yet again through the fantastical and essence filled forests of this expansive realm. He was accompanied by the valiant Athena to his side as the Righteous Fire Exploration Team he was a part of was moving again towards the direction where the Elite Chaos Behemoths were located.

After spending a significant amount of time freely purifying the chaos materials and absorbing cores in the Celestial Watch Tower, the regiment of the Grandmaster was for them to head out once more to take down Chaos Behemoths.

This would allow for a rapid increase in their Fate Lines while giving them battle experience and the consolidation of their power that was being forcefully raised up through treasures.

With the abundant Soul Rank Cores that Noah and Athena continued receiving, Noah did not doubt that the Celestials were confident in forcefully pushing the levels of the beings they knew to be of Noble Fates to the Domain Expansion Realm soon enough!

This was a type of treatment that would normally draw in jealousy, as even the powerful Boru felt the strength of Athena nearing his while Noah was not too far away. But these beings that were following the lessons of Celestials did not show any outward signs of discontentment as they even volunteered their own materials, attributing this all for the cause of reducing Chaos and maintaining Order!

ROAR!

Yet another powerful Elite Chaos Behemoth fell in the hands of the Righteous Fire Team that was led by the returning Grandmaster Vredral, the beast holding enormous chaos essence slumping down unwillingly as the Domain of Fate that the Grandmaster Released had only gotten stronger.

This powerful Grandmaster was receiving a higher level of treatment than many others, his power also continuing to rise rapidly as he acted on a grand scale to influence the fates of beings in the Light Expanse. He was also the one that had initiated the campaign to allow the inhabitants of Light Expanse to enter the Celestial Realm, much of the influence obtained from this event also coming to him as his Fate Lines continued to increase!

Grandmaster Vredral cut through the body of the Chaos Behemoth as he pulled out a shimmering dark Chaos Core, the powerful chaos essence sizzling as it floated a few inches from his hands.

ZING!

A golden glow shined out as the powerful Domain Rank core was cut into pieces, each of them floating towards an out of breath Athena and Noah that were leaning on each other's backs as they recovered their energy after the tough battle.

They reached out to grab the pieces of Chaos Cores as the Grandmaster spoke.

"What we are currently doing can be considered violating the natural order, rapidly enhancing the rate at which you two increase your power. But the two of you are those with Noble Fates, having a big hand to play in the future which will go on to reduce an enormous amount of chaos! So the price we pay to achieve this is very small."

His voice was filled with conviction as the two beings with Noble Fates looked at each other with determination. As they continued to train and move around each other, the Junior Brother and Senior Sister had gradually gotten closer, the impassive mask of Athena ever so slowly breaking down in front of Crixus as the battle driven War Princess was even leaning on the back of her Junior Brother to recuperate.

"Since we are raising your power speedily, your realm and handling of essence will be very rough once you reach the Domain Expansion Realm. So for your next mission as you near this level is to handle an Elite Behemoth yourselves while I oversee things!"

Stern expressions covered Noah and Athena's faces as the members of the Righteous Fire Exploration Team also looked forward seriously. With the abundant treasures and Cores that Noah and Athena continued to receive, they would undoubtedly be able to reach the next realm soon enough! With this knowledge, the Grandmaster wanted to use the opportunity to further stimulate their breakthrough as he wanted them to conduct a hunt against a Behemoth by themselves.

"This will be one of the prices to pay for pushing your realm up so quickly, where we can at least stabilize your power as time goes on. Come, let us move on to the next one!"

The Celestial Grandmaster waved his hands righteously as he pushed the Exploration Team to continue, an amazing event currently playing out in the Celestial Realm!

Those with Noble Fates had the full backing of this powerful organization, the abundant treasures they had collected over the years being something they could use to push the realm of whoever they wanted higher at a rapid rate. This time around as the war approached, the Celestials were focusing their resources on beings with Noble Fates like Noah and Athena, with others holding the same title not appearing in front of them yet as they were under the leadership of other Grandmasters!

Aside from those with Noble Fates, Grandmasters with high comprehension in the Law of Fate were also favored as resources continued to be taken from the vaults of the Celestials and spent wildly, leaving no risk for the coming war as they prepared.

Although just as quickly as they were depleting their treasure vaults, even more materials and cores were coming in from the half tax imposed on all the beings they allowed to move in the Celestial Realm.

Although unknown to the Celestials yet, a stable spatial connection was on the process of being established between the Celestial Realm and the Dark Expanse through the use of unique skills of certain beings from the powerful Scholar's Guild as the side they were fighting on also began getting their hands on the share of resources!

Chapter 423 - A Vast Number of Abilities

In the Southern Region of the Celestial Realm where Behemoths proficient in the Law of Water resided, the powerful beings from the Scholar's guild had gathered into a nondescript area underground as they finalized their spatial connection and made sure that nothing was out of place!

"Agrus, you are sure that even with the Celestial's method in the Law of Fate, they would not be able to discern what we are doing here?"

Malthus, the Spatial Magician from the Scholar's Guild asked Agrus, the 'Walking Library', who was relaxing in the cold underground area without a worry. The relaxing Malthus replied while stretching his hands, his eyes gazing upon the structures that a few figures had already begun building in the wide space they were in.

"Just as the Celestials have their own mysterious abilities and means, increasing their power over the last thousand years- so have we!"

He spoke with a slightly passionate expression as he pushed the glasses on his face up, his hand reaching into his robe as he pulled out a dark pulsing object that caused the expression on Malthus to change.

"That is...the Chaos Wand?!"

"Sadly no, just an imitation of it. But this is more than enough for our uses to evade the eyes of the Celestials as we build a connection that will be able to stably transfer both materials and eventually beings to our nearby bases that aren't under the gazes of Celestials."

Malthus's gaze was still on the glowing dark stick as he asked once more, knowing full well the history of such an object that his partner held!

"What did you say to the Elders for them to hand you a Chaos Wand, even if it is an imitation..."

His gaze was that of envy as he looked at this powerful weapon, Agrus chuckling as he replied.

"The Scholar's Guild is one that operates on knowledge and power. After those old Wizards were hit with such losses from being utterly unprepared to counter attack the techniques of Celestials in the past war, they have been dutifully moving, this time associating too much with the Infernal Lords as they have been gaining large benefits in knowledge and items such as this..."

Argus revealed secretive information as Malthus nodded his head unwillingly and sighed, knowing the treasure in his friend's hand was something extremely valuable, actually being the main thing that would render the eyes of the Celestials and their powerful techniques powerless in this region they were in!

This was a weapon that was simply an imitation designed from the knowledge that the powerful Scholar's Guild had been collecting since their defeat a thousand years ago, working closely with the beings proficient in Chaos, the Infernal Lords, to get to a new level of power that gave them a level of confidence against any future wars!

This was the level of power of the Scholar's Guild, one of the forces besides the Vampyre Clans holding the Alliance of the Dark Expanse together.

Those that were knowledgeable called the powerful beings in the Scholar's Guild Magicians, some called them Warlocks and Witches, with others even calling them mages! But those truly knowing the truth behind the scenes would know them as those with Blessed Knowledge, beings that were extremely proficient in magic as they used powerful weapons to channel the universal laws to their will!

This Chaos Wand that the 'Walking Library' Argus held was one of these powerful weapons that was drenched in the Law of Chaos, granting a shade from the powerful skills under <<Herald of Fate>> that the Celestials could use.

Agrus had a profound expression as he continued to reply to Malthus.

"There is a great deal of things in this wide Galaxy of ours, and Celestials do not hold all of them. There is a vast abundance of abilities that even they do not know. What the old fogeys at the top of our Guild are trying to do now is prevent the further advancement of these Celestials to the point that even with our knowledge, we will not be able to compete."

Malthus nodded as his body glowed with a silver light, continuing to layer more and more runic signs onto a huge portal as he completed their project with ease.

"Our entrance into this Celestial Realm that I suspect to be near the center of our Galaxy is one of them, with many other projects that even I do not know."

"What about the being moving with Elena, the one known as Noah Osmont?"

Malthus asked the Walking Library more questions as he wondered of the being they had knowledge to have entered the ranks of Celestials as he slowly moved. Agrus thought of this for a bit before he replied.

"He is just one of the cards that the Vampyres Clans are playing, with their aim being a special being that is locked within the 7th Celestial Star. But he is surprisingly rising fast within the ranks of Celestials that now his name has even reached the fogeys at the top of the Scholar's Guild, working hard to discern how they can use him after he also made our entrance into the Celestial Realm even easier."

A shocking reply came from the Walking Library as he talked about someone that not many beings fully understood yet!

Agrus had a careful expression as he continued.

"Though I feel there is something else with him. Elena is too careful when it comes to any information about him, and she is the one that has direct contact with him."

"Oh? You think the Silver Beauty has fallen for the charms of this upcoming genius?"

Malthus asked with a smile as Agrus continued to lazily stare at the completed connection in front of them.

"Who knows. She hasn't even been replying to my communications these past few days after letting me know she would be busy. Come on, let's focus on completing our work, we already have too many Behemoth materials to transport."

The beings of the Dark Expanse continued moving as more and more entered the Celestial Realm, beginning their own search and collection of the treasures in this wide realm as they also planned for the future!

Within their discussions was a being they considered a minor figure, someone they knew to be called Noah Osmont and also had the secret identity as Crixus the Destroyer! Very few higher ups in the Vampyre Clans and the Scholar's Guild knew of this information, but they simply placed this being a small piece to be played in the much grander puzzle that was chaotically moving all these years!

Many of them were very wrong on exactly what level of a role this being would play in the months and years to come!

Chapter 424 - Just a Glimpse of True Genius!

Noah's Ancient Blood Clone opened his crimson eyes in the void of space, his figure's devilishly handsome look being enhanced in this environment as he floated in darkness and had an aurora of golden colored lights and fate lines all around him.

His dark hair that had streaks of silver was growing ever so larger, nearing his shoulders once more as it shimmered with its own essence! He got up from his seated position in the void of space as he stopped burning enormous amounts of mana into {Fate's Disciple} and {Disciple of Chaos}, the overflowing golden color brought about by the Lines of Fate beginning to die down as he finished the second cultivation session while using the method that was unique only to him.

After half a day, he had added another 24,000 Fate Lines as he brought his full amount to just over 81,000! This number already neared those who would cultivate for years, and he has achieved it in the span of a day!

At this moment in time, his Fate Lines were leading once more as the Chaos Particles remained at around 50,000, his next cultivation session would be to burn fate lines and increase the Chaos Particles as he expected them to break over the one hundred thousand milestone.

Breaking the 100,000 milestone would allow one to begin using Fate Lines and Chaos Particles in a new way, granting them the ability to release pure Fate and Chaos Energy in their attacks that were even deadlier to the opposing element!

The War Princess Athena would soon break past this point, but Noah would not be far behind as he would soon even surpass her at a rate that would shock them if they knew.

Noah's goal was to still appear as a genius in the eyes of the Celestials, and he would expose this genius some more over the next few days as he slowly revealed his rapidly increasing fate lines at a rate that would make them think he was a terrifying genius, yet not treat him like an anomaly to be researched. But whatever he showed them would simply be just a glimpse of what he could truly do!

His expression was determined as he glanced around the void of space around him, the golden light having died down majorly as things went back to normal. His figure turned into particles of light as he disappeared from the location and returned to the Spiritual World.

He appeared above this massive and fantasy like treasure that looked like a huge landmass which was connected to four shimmering floating continental landmasses as he took in the magnificence before his energy began to flow over, activating the [Size Regulation] feature of the Spiritual World as then enormous star sized treasure began shrinking rapidly!

RUMBLE!

The essence required to use features like Size Regulation were increased by an enormous amount as the tier of the Spiritual World increased, but this meant nothing to Noah as the large treasure continued to shrink in his eyes until it was a few inches, his mind never being able to understand how the spacial mysteries worked with this feature that effectively meant he could have an entire world be the size of his thumb, yet when he entered it, it would still seem like a massive world in his eyes! It was a scene of fantasy that made one suspend their beliefs and simply enjoy the brilliance of such a treasure!

The Spiritual World was then anchored to his body as he disappeared from the junction of Light and Dark Expanse, returning to the Ancient Pedestal below the volcanic mountain as the next plans were to let the powerful beasts and Elena return to their exploration of the Celestial Realm as they increased their power, the Fire Origin Cores and powerful abilities from the Inheritance of the Disciple of Fire being put to full use as they continued their advancement.

Elena's figure appeared in the lava filled space as she looked towards Noah with an expression of infatuation, the Emperor Penguin and others also appearing as their forces prepared to move out.

"Master, the forces of the Dark Expanse were successful in setting up a spatial connection, and they should be able to freely collect the treasures of this realm as they increase their power as well."

Elena sent a telepathic message towards Noah as his eyes seemed to be asking for praise as she continued to reveal secrets about the forces that still thought she had her allegiance with. Noah nodded towards the curvaceous woman as he patted her head full of silver hair, an expression of happiness spreading out as Noah talked while glancing at all of them.

"Be careful as you move, and if you run into any Elite Behemoths, call me right away."

His forces nodded with seriousness as they began to move out, their bodies equipped with powerful Bloodstained Infernal Sets from the materials of millions of Infernals that Noah had hunted while he was bringing the percentage of Infernal Lord to 100%.

He had saved an enormous amount of the bodies of Infernals as he left the job of crafting them to the Spiritual World System over the last day, many of his forces being armed with the powerful items that protected them against Flame Behemoths!

A few of them were even wearing completed Incandescent Flameborn Sets, two more sets being able to be completed as Noah used the material that his main body had received as well as Behemoths that Elena and the others had hunted. Their bodies shone with strength and power as he expected them to be able to handle Normal Fire Behemoths with ease, and this was especially so for the Emperor Penguin and Elena that held the Incandescent Flameborn Sets!

His clone had yet to begin crafting the materials of Elite Chaos Behemoths that he was slowly collecting, his heart set on collecting all materials and completing a full set instantly some time soon.

As for the next task of the clone, it was to oversee the upgrade of another skill tree as his main body continued to use it while fighting alongside Celestials, the powerful skill tree that was [Fate's Guardian] being the next one that was ready to be upgraded!

The clone glanced at the panel that showed the information of the possible advancement paths as he began choosing which of the many Void Rank skills he had obtained as loot to sacrifice.

Fate's Guardian :: As a beginner just learning the workings of fate, the role of a guardian that protects the weak and eviscerates evil is given to you. Abilities include Emyrean Guards(5/5), Emyrean Armament(5/5), Smite of Liberation(5/5), and Judgment(5/5). Two Skill Trees for evolution are possible once sufficient points and a base requirement of two equivalent level sacrificial skills are reached: >> [Devout Follower] :: A follower on the path of fate, grants the user protective abilities that will enhance their power and those around them. >> [Unruly Guider] :: A path of one that questions and forms their own rules, using immense offensive power to guide lost beings.

The two choices of advancement for [Fate's Guardian] was either [Devout Follower] or [Unruly Guider]! The impassive gaze of the clone already knew the choice he would make as unimportant skills were sacrificed, a light of brilliance shining out as a tinge of gold covered the blue stat panel, another skill tree advancing silently!

Chapter 425 - Unruly Guider!

The eyes of the Ancient Blood Clone shone with splendor as he watched one skill pathway disappear and another one fully settle in under [Fate's Guardian]. The one to disappear was Devout Follower, with the one he chose being [Unruly Guider]!

The stat panel shone as new words and abilities were shown to Noah's eyes, the skill tree going on to add four new abilities as he glanced at their descriptions.

SOUL Fate's Guardian :: As a beginner just learning the workings of fate, the role of a guardian that protects the weak and eviscerates evil is given to you. Abilities include Empyrean Guards(5/5), Empyrean Armament(5/5), Smite of Liberation(5/5), and Judgment(5/5). >> [Unruly Guider] (0/60) :: A path of one that questions and forms their own rules, using immense offensive power to guide lost beings. Additional Abilities include Empyrean Ruler (0/5), Liberator (0/5), Fate Stealer(0/5) Golden Guider(0/5)

A new set of abilities were shown strongly on the skill tree of [Fate's Guardian]. Noah glanced over at the skills as he began putting in skill points right away, wanting to see the full uncovered potential of these abilities right away!

[Empyrean Ruler] (5/5):: The number of Empyrean Guards that the Unruly Guider can summon is increased to 12.

[Liberator] (5/5) :: The Blades of Liberation feel the strong will of the Unruly Guider, gaining their own will as they stay alongside you to bring Judgement to your enemies. +180% Physical Damage, +180% Soul Damage, and +180% Attack Speed to the [Sword of Liberation] ability.

[Fate Stealer] (5/5) :: A support ability that is only activated when an enemy that is proficient in the workings of fate stands against the Unruly Guider and faces their death. 12% of the Fate Essence that they have collected over the years will be absorbed by the Guider.

[Golden Guider] (5/5) :: All the beings that are following the rule of the Unruly Guider are blessed with his source of strength as a portion of the user's aura of fate surrounds them. To those classified as Subordinates of the Unruly Guider: +120% Physical, Soul, and Elemental Damage, +120% Cast and Attack Speed, +120% All Element Resistance, +120% Defense.

Clear and crisp descriptions that made Noah's eyes shine were laid out in front of him, a spectacular set of abilities being added to his arsenal as he went through them slowly. [Empyrean Ruler] and [Liberator] were geared towards strengthening the skills under Fate's Guardian, with [Fate Stealer] being something unique that would most likely allow him to increase his percentage in the Law of Fate faster if he took down beings also proficient in it.

The last skill [Golden Guider] was a particularly interesting one, as it actually granted fairly huge boosts to those following him. He didn't have even a slight worry of the mention that a portion of his fate would surround them as he had long since used the abilities of <<Herald of Fate>> when he first received them to hide his own fate, the world's he was connected to, and all the beings around him!

This Absolute Skill was just another one of the skills that Noah had active at all times which continued to suck mana to remain this way, but it gave him boundless benefits of moving covertly with his forces while holding no worries.

Even if a Celestial were to be standing right next to someone like the Emperor Penguin and glance at his fate, all they would see would be a normal fate of a unique beast that had the bloodline of a Vampyre!

So Noah himself held no worries, with the only thing he wondered being exactly what classifications there were on who was considered his Subordinate. As his thoughts wondered, in another location in the Celestial Realm, the Order of Blood with Elena at the lead had already found and were hunting another Fire Behemoth when they felt an ecstatic feeling of strength wrap around their bodies silently.

The first one to notice things was the Kraken, as it had cast its [Sea Ray] ability and was releasing powerful destructive rays of light from its reddened eyes when it suddenly noticed its output increase instantly, the rays doubling in size as they shot forth with even more vigor, and it also discerned a golden aura now moving along with these destructive rays as they actually pierced the hide of the Fire Behemoth they were fighting and caused it to release a pained scream!

ROAAR!

The surroundings shook as the skill of the Kraken was the first one to hit the beast the moment after Noah obtained the [Golden Guider] skill and placed 5 Skill Points into it. The ability had turned especially deadly as it now carried Noah's aura of fate, which provided the abstruse Soul Damage that very few could defend against!

The others very quickly noticed the changes as they felt their bodies to be lighter and faster, using their essence to check their bodies as they felt the appearance of a warm and powerful aura enveloping them.

"Master!"

"Ahh, Progenitor!"

The Emperor Penguin was the first to attribute the change to the only person responsible, with Elena hugging her body tightly as she felt the warm aura surround her and enhance her strength.

RAA! RAA! RAA!

The Emperor Penguin waved its flippers as it released numerous [Spatial Blades], this time they were covered with a tinge of a golden aura that went on to pierce through the defenses of the Fire Behemoth easier as it let out another pained roar from the soul damage that came with it!

This stupendous situation was occurring in multiple places, as those who were labeled as Noah's subordinates were truly too numerous to even count!

In the Spiritual World, those remaining in the Time Space to max the proficiencies of their skill trees felt this powerful aura wrap around them. Those in the First Infernal Realm of Hell like the young dragon Draco felt their bodies gain a power that allowed them to take down the Infernals with even greater ease!

Going even further, in a random created Dungeon in Noah's home world where a Rank B Hunter had recklessly dived into a dungeon by himself and was about to die, his body felt an abundance of strength as his low ranking iron blade gained a tinge of a red aura that went on to actually defend against the blow of the troll in front of him, his gaze looking at his sword in shock as he then moved at a speed he had never moved before and slashed towards the beast.

SHAA!

The weak iron blade cut through the defenses of the troll like nothing as the hunter that had overestimated his abilities and was about to lose his life looked around in shock, not understanding what was happening as a unique thought passed through his mind.

'Was I actually born with an unknown power and am meant for great things?!

To go even further, a man that had just become a father was playing with his child who could barely form words yet in a small city in the United Federation of Noah's home world.

"Say papa, say papa my little boy!"

The father was cradling the boy in his arms with his face full of joy, the child amused by the expressions as random sounds left its mouth.

"aha, da..da!"

The joy on the father's face only increased as he repeated his words, and it was this time that the unique energy of the Golden Guider wrapped around the both of them.

"Say papa...!"

The words of the young father stopped midway as he felt the foreign energy, his joyful expression that was observing his child seeing it adopt a never before seen serious expression as a word actually came out of the child's mouth!

"Papa."

Numerous situations like these continued to play out across an expansive array of places as the [Golden Guider] skill that granted boosts to the beings considered to be Noah's subordinates were shockingly applied to every single being on the many planets he was connected to!

Chapter 426 - Crixus Shows Off

A unique phenomenon spread out across a few stars as the beings within unexpectedly came in contact with something the vast majority of them would have never had the chance to even glimpse nor understand.

A distinct aura of fate wrapped around them as they felt their bodies strengthened and reinforced, those that were actively dungeon diving or fighting seeing this strength increase first hand.

Because of this, shockingly something that was a norm on Prime Worlds was occurring throughout the planets that Noah was connected to. This phenomenon was the one where a vast majority of the beings on Prime Worlds would be considered 'Awakened' individuals in the terms of the Planetary System, where a vast majority of beings on Prime World would have a tinge of essence running throughout their bodies that granted them a longer life span and the possibility of getting stronger in the future.

This was only possible because of the powerful atmospheric essence that was abundant in Prime Worlds, making most of the beings in it be considered Awakened. Such a phenomenon was actually occurring right now in the numerous Planets that Noah was connected to, where those that could be considered normal beings were slowly awakening because of the powerful energy of fate that wrapped around them!

In a small apartment located at the banks of the cities in the Blessed Empire, a young man was watching the TV with shining eyes as he saw the scene of Rank S Hunters valiantly fighting against each other in the Coliseum. A thought was running through his mind as he looked at this scene longingly.

'When would I be able to cast a skill or do anything remotely as powerful as them?'

It was the thoughts and gazes of longing that many felt when they watched their phones and TVs while observing powerful hunters obtain riches beyond their wildest dreams! This young man had the same, but he shook his head as he placed his focus back on the TV, when he suddenly felt a unique energy wrapping around his body, this energy going on to unlock something within him as it directly made him awaken, his shocked eyes finding themselves watching a materializing blue stat panel in front of his eyes there after!

Shocking scenes like these continued to occur wide and far as a spectacular phenomenon continued across the few connected worlds, bringing immense joy to unsuspecting beings as this was only the beginning of it all.

Noah himself had no knowledge of this yet, until a few seconds later he heard the words of the Planetary System ring in his mind.

[That Golden Guider ability is more ridiculous than you expected it to be.]

Noah, who had already begun moving forward to another task heard the occurrences around the planets he was connected to as he glanced at the description of this skill in shock. Those considered his 'subordinates' were simply too many...right?

Realizing the extent that the effects of this Golden Guider traveled, a variety of thoughts passed through his mind as the Planetary System affirmed and voiced out his thoughts.

[If there are other Guider type abilities in the future Skill Trees, the effects are bound to be something unique.]

A shocking thought passed through the mind of one being and the Planetary Systems of a few worlds as countless possibilities lay for the future!

Noah shook his head at this ridiculous boost that almost every being on these stars had received and what it could mean for the future, his main body that was moving with the Righteous Fire Exploration Team and Grandmaster Vredral continuing to move as they had located yet another Chaos Behemoth.

He would observe the full effects of the Golden Guider ability later as he focused on what he was about to do currently in front of these Celestials. After the upgrade of the [Fate's Guardian] skill tree that granted him the advancement of [Unruly Guider], he planned to 'show off' some of his genius in the next hunt for the Chaos Behemoth!

Grandmaster Vredral was slowly pulling back in the fights more and more to have Noah and Athena work together with the Righteous Fire Exploration Team to stand against these Elite Behemoths, their bodies that continued to receive numerous Origin Cores of Behemoths and their materials making them near the peak of the Soul Rank in just a matter of days.

The hand of the Grandmaster moving in front of them came up as they received the signal to stop, his voice ringing out thereafter.

"A fairly average Elite Chaos Behemoth lies in front of us. Crixus and Athena will lead the charge, with the rest of you backing them up. I will jump in if any life threatening situations occur!"

The calm voice of the Grandmaster allowed them to nod with serious faces as the War Princess and the Destroyer took the lead, their bodies beginning to light up as they cast [Empyrean Guards] and [Empyrean Armament].

ROAR!

Their use of these skills caught the attention of the Chaos Behemoth as the earth below them began to tremble, the mountainous beast most likely reaching their positions in a matter of seconds!

4 Empyrean Guards appeared around Athena as they soon turned into streaks of light and gave her the usual golden armor and two golden hammers with shining light wings.

Around Noah, a similar scene repeated, but the summoned Empyrean Guards did not stop at 4, or the normal 6 that the Celestials had seen him use before!

With the addition of [Empyrean Ruler] from the Unruly Guider skill tree, he could summon an additional 12 Empyrean Guards! What exactly would come out of him absorbing this many Empyrean Guards?

Grandmaster Vredral watched carefully as his eyes began to shine an intense light, watching the appearance of exactly 12 Empyrean Guards around Crixus before they all turned into streaks of light and rushed to attach to his body.

A blinding light shot out as a brand new transformation came from doubling the amount of Empyrean Guards, Noah not even using the extra 6 that he could as he only portrayed 12 overall to the Celestials around him!

ROAR!

The Chaos Behemoth broke through the resplendent foliage of the Celestial Realm as the blinding light that was Noah moved to clash with it first, his spectacular adorned figure finally appearing in front of the eyes of the Grandmaster, Athena, and the members of the Righteous Fire Exploration Team as they stood with agape expressions, Noah himself clashing with the Chaos Behemoth head on!

BOOOOM!

Chapter 427 - Shimmering with Splendor

BOOM!

The impact sent shock waves of Chaos and Fate elements as Noah's figure was pushed back slightly, the Chaos Behemoth being stopped in place as in a particular portion on its body, a burning mark was left behind, the strong aura of fate burning into its touch skin as the beast stared at the party of Celestials. In front of Noah's eyes, a crystal clear name floated atop it.

[Chaotic Zygosaurus]

This Chaos Behemoth held qualities reminiscent of ancient carnivorous dinosaurs, standing powerfully on four legs as it had a huge extended jaw and dark scaled skin, towering over 60 meters!

Yet this huge beast's onslaught was brought to a halt from a Soul Forging Realm being as his new form made itself clear for all to see.

In his left hand, a huge pristine white tower shield protected his body entirely, his right hand holding a weapon that could closely be described as a flail! The flail hung on a clear white chain as it had golden spear protrusions that shimmered dangerously. His body was wrapped around tightly with a golden robe that pulsed with power, one barely being able to discern a passive golden barrier of light being given off by this robe!

To his back were spectacularly erupting white feathered wings, but what was more shocking were the three objects rotating in a circular motion behind him. Similar to the hammers that Athena was currently wielding, three resplendent golden hammers were rotating in a circular motion behind Noah's back as they pulsed with power! The scintillating of Fate Lines visibly showed on his body as the Celestials watching were able to count more than 40,000!

WAA!

An air of regality spread out as Noah breathed out, wielding the golden flail in his hands as his entire figure released waves of golden essence. The three golden hammers that rotated behind him also vibrated as they shot out, moving as if they were extra hands while they targeted the enemy.

"Haha, a genius indeed!"

Grandmaster Vredral howled by the side as the rest of the watching members were returned to attention, the War Princess Athena looking towards Noah with sharp eyes as the Junior Brother of hers had inadvertently had another breakthrough and even unlocked another way to uniquely use the techniques of Fate's Guardian!

Noah was not done as he pointed the golden flail forward, the [Chaotic Zygosaurus] gritting its teeth threateningly as he cast another skill, the clouds in the skies being split apart as five large Blades of Liberation descended down.

"Haa!"

Noah himself moved as he was joined by Athena and Boru, the other members sniping the beast from a far distance as a battle without the help of the Grandmaster against a Domain Expansion Realm Chaos Behemoth began!

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

The Blade of Liberation smashed towards the beast as it dodged and absorbed some of the attacks, the watching Grandmaster and the fighting members of the Righteous Fire Exploration Team being surprised yet again when the normal scene of these Blades of Liberation disappearing into particles of light did not happen, and instead, they strongly remained in the air and began moving on their own again, chasing the Chaos Behemoth down as it was cornered in all directions!

The Grandmaster looked at this with a quizzical tone as this scene even left him too curious to understand exactly how this genius did it.

The Blades of Liberation that now moved with autonomy under the effect of the new [Liberator] ability had increased damage and speed as they weaved across the field of battle and kept the Chaos Beast fully occupied, the other members of the Righteous Fire Exploration Team being given a breather of moving around and dodging the terrifying attacks that the beast released. Huge golden blades chased it down on all sides, powerful golden hammers that were palpating with the aura of fate rotated around him to protect him and also move on their own to dish out even more damage!

"Watch out!"

The warning came from Athena as her unique power told her a huge skill was coming, the ferocious Chaos Beast in front of released a dark wave of power as it cast its Domain of Chaos!

"Hmph!"

A golden wave released from the Grandmaster as he pushed back the Domain with his own Domain of Fate, the two canceling each other as the battle continued with the beast slowly gaining more injuries as 5 huge Blades of Liberation sneaked in attacks at all times, while Noah himself moved with his powerful flail to land attacks and then defend with the huge tower shield the beast swiped its claw forward.

When this was paired up with Athena's directions, the Righteous Fire Exploration Team was actually handling an Elite Behemoth by themselves under the watch of the Grandmaster, neither of them at the Domain Expansion Realm as they battled a beast that was!

ROAAR!

The battle would go on to continue for another half an hour as the defenses of the Chaos Beast were slowly ground down, this time around Noah and Athena stably leading the pace of the battle as even Boru was left behind in how much damage was dealt. The three hammers floating around Noah as well as the Blades of Liberation that seemed to have their own wills dealt even more damage over the course of the battle, the Chaos Behemoth not being able to handle the onslaught of attacks on all sides.

A wide smile was apparent on the face of the Grandmaster as his thoughts were affirmed!

This was why they used so many treasures to train those with Noble Fates! Their power simply could not be compared as they came with their own genius that could surprise the most powerful veterans!

He looked forward to when these two beings would soon break into the Domain Expansion Realm, their rapid rise in ranks that should have been causing them slight destabilization in their essence being solved very quickly as they continued to battle powerful Elite Behemoths to get their power under control.

Grandmaster Vredral planned to ask for even more materials for these wonderful disciples of his, which would shockingly soon be able to get a similar title as him at the rate they kept going. Athena was infinitely close as her Fate Lines were about to spill over 100,00, the barrier that anyone that passed would be granted the title of Grandmaster!

'Grandmaster Athena and Grandmaster Crixus...Haha, that doesn't sound so bad at all!'

The Grandmaster thought wildly as he could tell, with figures like these on the rise, the future of the Celestials was one that would be filled with splendor!

Chapter 428 - Fame

Among the networks of the Celestials moving in the Celestial Realm, two names had begun popping up and shining with vigor as the days passed.

The Normal and Elite Exploration Teams had been passing around the names of the two newly arriving Celestials with Noble Fates that were rising rapidly through the ranks, their names now being placed in the same places as renowned Celestials that were moving in Elite Teams!

"They aren't the only ones with Noble Fates though. There are others that shine even brighter like Grandmaster Xander and Grandmaster Lila."

Two normal teams were enjoying a feast of simmering behemoth meat as they talked within the special locations that were exclusive to Celestials in the Sanctum.

The beings they mentioned as Grandmasters were not some old fogeys that had been living for thousands of years, but young and upcoming Celestials that had passed the point of 100,000 Fate Lines and obtained the title of Grandmaster!

They were beings that were similar to Noah and Athena, holding the title of those with Noble Fates.

"Well, I know we place a lot of importance on those with Noble Fates, but what about the Three-Eyed Fate Child and Grandmaster Light? They don't hold such titles, but because they are unique existences in our galaxy, they hold tremendous power!"

A burly celestial took a large bite of the glistening meat that shone with essence as he spoke out, the topic of conversation not disparaging any of the powerful beings they were talking about, where they were simply sharing their opinions on who else was out there.

This was the atmosphere of Celestials, who were under the doctrines of maintaining Order and Balance, and thus were happy as long as powerful figures were growing in ranks to be able to better reduce the ever so increasing Chaos!

The two other beings they mentioned as the Three-Eyed Fate Child and Grandmaster Light were not those holding powerful titles, but simply beings born in unique environments which gave them innate strength that was one of a kind in the Light Expanse.

The Three-Eyed Fate Child was the last of its species, a being that was found by a roving Grandmaster in an uninhabitable planet that was filled with destructive storms. This Three-Eyed Fate Child had been able to survive alone in this star for years before the Grandmaster found him, his unique Three Eyes giving him immense talent in the Supreme Law of Fate and the Supreme Law of Time-Space. This gave birth to a being that was proficient in two Supreme Laws!

The other was a Celestial known as Grandmaster Light, a being that was born on a planet made of light, this planet going on to shatter the moment that Grandmaster Light was born. She was an existence that held a unique composition, with much of her body being made up of particles of light! There were rumors that only her heart was the same as everyone else, possibly being her only weakness as well.

As she was a being of the Light Element, she had been able to cultivate the Supreme Law of Light and Supreme Law of Fate with ease as she moved through the ranks of Celestials over the years.

Now, each of these figures were moving on their own Elite Teams as they sought to increase their power and be the ones that brought down the most order and balance.

"Our organization is extremely united, but I feel like there will be some rifts and competitiveness soon as the number of beings with powerful talents appear. We have large amounts of treasures, but is it enough to raise multiple beings with Noble Fates and even Special Existences to the peak levels of power before the next war begins?"

A low voice erupted from the corner of the table, a fairly intelligent robed Celestial speaking out as he caused a silence to descend onto the area, those that heard his words being made to think.

The words of this wondering Celestial were actually fairly spot on though, as when the moment that Grandmaster Vredral applied for more materials and Cores for the powerful students under him that he knew to be showing immense promise, he was soon faced with an awkward situation where he was told to wait, as much of the other resources were already diverted to other beings holding titles of those with Noble Fates or Special Existences!

This caused the Grandmaster a bit of unhappiness as he knew that the disciples he had were extremely talented, knowing they would be able to bring them the most help when standing against the coming chaos in the future.

Grandmaster Vredral had thought about this issue as he went ahead and contacted his connections in the Sanctum and the 7th Celestial Star, letting his thoughts be known similarly to when he brought forth the idea of influencing the beings of the Light Expanse more by letting them into the Celestial Realm.

Because of his recent contributions, his words held a significant influence and value as even though he did not stand near those that would be considered at the top of power when observing the large scale of the Celestials, his influence was still wide as he helped oversee a significant portion of the Light Expanse with other Grandmasters in the 7th Celestial Star.

He had sacrificed his rise in power in the past as he chose to leave the Celestial Realm and take part in the overseeing mission of the Light Expanse, where the friends he knew and had in the past who had remained in the Celestial Realm were powerful Grandmasters that had already entered the World Rank, with some of them even having the task of looking after Special Existences or those with Noble Fates!

His influence over some of the regions in the Light Expanse allowed him to easily amass hundreds of thousands of Fate Lines even while he wasn't actively hunting Chaos Behemoths as the other Grandmasters over the years.

Thus, his words were taken seriously as the names Crixus and Athena were brought forward to the upper echelons of power of the Celestials, these two beings being put on the list among the brilliantly shining Celestials that were being groomed with the most resources for the war to come.

But this brought the problem where the exceptional Celestials were too many, with the materials and treasures needing to be spent very carefully as they were only focused on to beings that had the ultimate potential to create powerhouses that could sway the direction of the war in the future.

So how would those that were truly deserving and with most potential be chosen among the geniuses in their organization as they neared the precipice of a war?

This question would bring forth a spectacular event in the near future, an event that would be a show for the ages!

Chapter 429 - Shooting Past the 100,000 Barrier

Grandmaster Vredral glanced at Crixus and Athena as he had a carefully pondering expression on his face, turning to the disciples who had just taken down another Chaos Behemoth and were steadily purifying the Domain Realm Origin Core before they began absorbing its powerful essence for themselves.

He knew that the forced increase in the realms of these beings was not necessarily the best, but their bodies seemed to be able to particularly handle this ordeal as they continued battling with the powerful Behemoths!

He expected these two students to soon enter the Domain Expansion Realm themselves, but this was where hardship would begin, as treasures to push the power of those at this realm were exceedingly rare, causing the situation that had occurred when he requested more resources and actually could not be provided with any.

A solution was under way, but his students would have to work hard to get through an ordeal before they could continue advancing at such a rapid pace again.

His heart was at peace as he thought about the other beings considered Special Existences and those with Noble Fates. He truly believed in his heart that Crixus and Athena had the most potential and stood above them all! Now, the only thing for them to do was to show this to the higher echelons...

As events continued to be propelled forward around his main body, Noah's clone was the one being the most productive these past few days.

His main body continued to move with the Righteous Fire Exploration Team as they went deeper in the Northern Region of the Celestial Realm, coming face to face with powerful Domain Expansion Realm Chaos Behemoths.

Since they were at the Domain Rank, each time they faced a Behemoth, the Grandmaster had to be present to cancel the powerful Domain they could cast, otherwise Noah and the others would fall into a Domain of Chaos as the fate energy in their bodies became restricted, eventually falling into the deadly hands of the beasts.

Though at the rate they were going, Noah knew he and Athena would reach the Domain Expansion Realm soon enough and be able to provide their own Domains!

A majority of the materials and Cores from the defeated Behemoths continued to be distributed to him and Athena, their titles continuing to benefit them greatly, even though he knew a limit for the benefits of these titles was soon coming. As for what would happen after that? He would take it as it came.

While his main body continued to build up his Rank and get used to the spectacular new abilities of the next stage of [Fate's Guardian], the path of the [Unruly Guider], his clone had been using the Dual Cultivation method the past two days to break past the barriers of one hundred thousand in both the Supreme Laws of Fate and Chaos!

Noah had noticed that ever since the initiation of the Golden Guider ability that influenced the beings in the world he was connected to even more closely, he had become able to gain more and more Fate Lines at a rapid rate.

The effects of [Golden Guider] did not just extend to increasing the power of the multitude of beings he was connected to, but it went even further to increase the rate he improved in the law of fate as his influence over these many beings increased by a huge factor!

This effect was slowly causing a trickle of Fate Lines to converge towards him constantly, with him believing that it would gradually even increase over time as the beings he affected increased their strength and propagated throughout the worlds in the future.

This boost of Fate Lines from multiple sources and the Dual Cultivation method allowed for him to break through the barrier of 100,000 milestone with ease.

The benchmark that marked a Celestial as a Grandmaster, and the place which allowed him to see a 1% next to the Laws of Chaos and Fate on his stat panel.

His Chaos Particles were hanging slightly over 104,000, with his Fate Lines shooting further ahead as even though he divided his time equally in increasing both the laws, he was originally ahead with Fate Lines by almost thirty thousand and now gained a greater amount because of the effects of [Golden Guider], which put his total number currently at 130,000 Fate Lines.

Such a number could only be achieved by tens if not hundreds of years by heavily dedicated practicing Celestials, and he had gotten it done in a few days while also keeping himself busy with other tasks.

His forces had entered a period of rapid strengthening because of the boost of [Golden Guider], the addition of the aura of fate on their bodies granting them a level of damage that decimated their enemies.

Even Noah himself thought he was still underestimating the effects of the Guider skill as it seemed like the stage of strength of many beings across the Worlds he was connected to were being boosted to a whole other level.

In the Spiritual World, the beasts were moving with vigor as they enjoyed the resplendent farmlands across the continental landmasses, many of the Spiritual World Beasts leaving lives of luxury as they cultivated and enjoyed essence filled fruits and medicinal herbs.

The paradisiacal looking Spiritual World that had four floating continents on top of the enormous central one was an environment that even the richest kings would not be able to come across, the levels of atmospheric essence in this world being off the charts. This wasn't to even mention one of the continents now being fully changed to a land of fire, coagulation of fire elements being abundant as it was fully turned into a Fire Law Space.

This allowed for the birth of new Spiritual World Beasts that were not of the Water Element, the advent of fiery beasts coming to be in the expansive Spiritual World!

There always seemed to be new and exciting things to observe in this Spiritual World as Noah unlocked more and more of its secrets.

There was also the recently unlocked plants which granted boosts to the Law of Fire and the Law of Water being already planted in the Time Space of the Spiritual World, Noah moving to use his Budding Farmer skill as he reduced the growth and maturing rate of the plants by a large margin, expecting them to be ready for consumption in a matter of weeks and not years!

On the side of the Blacksmith's Forge, he had already collected more than enough Chaos Materials, being able to craft a full Set Item from the Chaos Element. He planned to craft a full one some time later, and for now, he was going to upgrade a skill tree he looked forward to seeing the next stage of for a while.

That's right, the Lesser Cthulhu skill tree was ready for an advancement to the next stage!

The ability that made it possible for him to gain the qualification of an Infernal Lord in the beginning, the one that seemed to be surrounded by mysteries- its advancements were slowly opening themselves up in front of his eyes.

Chapter 430 - [Kin of Terror], Bold!

Noah's clone was currently in a random location in the void of space, his gaze looking over the stat panel that showed two possibilities of where he could take the Lesser Cthulhu skill tree.

[Amorphous Space Beast] (15/15) :: Abilities- Spatial Cage(5/5), Destabilize(5/5), Shattered Star(5/5), and Miniature Space(5/5). >> [Lesser Cthulhu] (45/45) Additional Abilities- Morph(5/5), Child of Space(5/5), Portals of Terror(5/5), and Sever(5/5). Two Skill Trees for evolution are possible once sufficient points and a base requirement of two equivalent level sacrificial skills are reached: >> [Void Colossus] :: A pathway geared towards enhancing the control of space, granting a form deserving of the name. >> [Kin of Terror] :: A fledgling of a powerful existence with unique traits. Its true value lies in its future possibilities.

Two possibilities lied in front of his eyes as he read over them carefully, understanding that his choices would determine whether he reached a stage of something he had gained an insignificant amount of knowledge about so far.

The pathway of [Void Colossus] seemed to provide more battle power, especially the mention of having a form deserving of the name. The [Kin of Terror] pathway was worded similarly to the upgrade of the Blood Lord that led to the Kin of Ancients, making Noah lean more towards this choice, along with the glaring shining words that read 'Terror'!

He chose the [Kin of Terror] pathway right away as the words in the stat panel shone, an additional set of abilities being added. He briefly glanced over them with shining eyes before he placed all the Skill Points into the abilities, wanting to see their most powerful versions right away.

SOUL [Amorphous Space Beast] (15/15) :: Abilities- Spatial Cage(5/5), Destabilize(5/5), Shattered Star(5/5), and Miniature Space(5/5). >> [Lesser Cthulhu] (45/45) :: Additional Abilities- Morph(5/5), Child of Space(5/5), Portals of Terror(5/5), and Sever(5/5). [Kin of Terror] (60/60) :: Additional Abilities- Aether Reinforcement (5/5), Multiplicative Ray Support (5/5), Triple on Cast Support (5/5), Lunacy Inducement (5/5)

[Aether Reinforcement] (5/5) :: All of the abilities preceding and following the Kin of Terror Skill Tree will be reinforced by the power of Aether passively. +300% Aether Damage, +100% Aether Penetration, +60% Fate and Chaos Damage Reduction.

[Multiplicative Ray Support] (5/5) :: Laser-based abilities similar to [Sever] will be further enhanced, the released rays of Aether increasing to 6 as their power is tripled.

[Triple on Cast Support] (5/5) :: The [Portals of Terror] ability is further enhanced, where there is an 80% chance to triple the appearance of portals of terror on cast, bringing the possible maximum cast portals to 54.

[Lunacy Inducement] (5/5) :: Those with weak minds cannot stand against the Kin of Terror. Lunacy Inducement allows for the user to bring their enemies into a negative mental state as they are slowly left defenseless. The effectiveness of this ability depends on the Soul Strength of the target as well as the user.

The additional abilities under the Lesser Cthulhu skill tree were proudly showing themselves in front of Noah as he read them over a few times. There were a few differences compared to previous additional skills as two of the new ones were called support skills that simply enhanced the previous skills to an insane degree.

[Multiplicative Ray Support] and [Triple of Cast] support effectively made the Sever and Portals of Terror abilities nonsensical at this moment, even Noah himself not being able to understand the extent until he tested them out himself. Even without having tested them though, their usability already seemed ridiculous! He wiped non-existent sweat off his forehead as he thought about any pitiful enemies that would have to face such terrifyingly enhanced abilities.

[Aether Reinforcement] was straightforward, and the only one that would need more time and a closer look in was the [Lunacy Inducement] ability which seemed to have its own terrific uses.

He wanted to test these abilities right away, and would very likely have the chance to in the next task that he had the clone lined up to do!

The Ancient Blood Clone that was still floating peacefully in the void of space got ready as his body rippled with power. For his next task, it was considered something bold as while his main body continued to move through the ranks of Celestials and got stronger in the Celestial Realm, the clone's task was to increase the number of connected worlds amidst the training of skills and amassing of Chaos Particles and Fate Lines!

It was a very busy and non-stop past few days for his clone, but not even an ounce of tiredness could be felt as he always looked forward to the next steps.

For the first world in mind, and this was also the reason why he called the next set of events bold- it was to form a connection with the Magus World that he had personally taken the lives of its strongest forces, this world now currently having celestial disciples moving within as from the words of Grandmaster Vredral, it was being used as a place for them to hone their skills in fate while influencing the lives of the beings in it.

This meant that in the Magus World, there was a high chance of there being a Grandmaster that was overseeing the operations for the world that had the massacre of its strongest forces broadcasted, and his plans of forming a connection with the world would undoubtedly cause him to come in contact with whatever force the Celestials had stationed there!

Thus, he would have to move covertly in order to establish the connection, clear out any Celestials he found there, and then do something even crazier as his teleportation currently was leading him towards his homeworld where he would be picking up something the Celestials called a Cursed Treasure, something that they used as the reason to destroy an entire world.

He considered this next venture bold as he would ultimately be pulling off a disappearing act for an entire Prime World by the end of it...
