

Mana 431

Chapter 431 - World Engine

Noah's Ancient Blood Clone appeared serenely back in his homeworld, above the wide blue seas as he took a deep breath and glanced towards his surroundings. He took in the calmness as his body began descending down into the sea, moving at such a speed that in only a matter of seconds, he could already see the shining lights of an underwater continent that was the New Atlantis.

He observed the unique futuristic mixture of magic and technology that the Atlantians and Merfolk showed, the appeal of such structures returning to him as he made a mental note to have an entire area in the Spiritual World built similarly.

His presence was already sensed the moment he neared the underwater continent, the being that he had sent a telepathic message some time ago already floating in the lit-up sea with a party of Atlantians and Merfolk to welcome him.

"O Great Benefactor, we have everything ready."

The one at the forefront, the being that continued acting as the Ocean Master these past few months, bowed towards Noah while pointing to a huge square compartment that shone with blue and gold runic lines.

Before he teleported here, Noah had sent a telepathic message to the Ocean Master to have one of the World Engines that had finished being created ready for him to take away for his own use, and the Ocean Master had delivered as Noah could sense the pristine fluctuations of something powerful in the square compartment!

He nodded towards the Ocean Master while speaking.

"May I?"

"Why of course. This is one of our most recent ones that runs even smoother, a few changes made to the rune overlays that allows the flow of mana to be evenly distributed and even faster, achieving the result of spatial warping in a much shorter time frame."

The Ocean Master spoke with a confident expression as Noah went forward, waving his hands and opening the square compartment as a circular treasure that seemed to constantly have runic lines moving over it shone resplendently.

{World Engine} :: A unique treasure that was created by the combination of technology and magic by the Atlantians. It allows for the spatial warping of an entire world, and requires the permission and cooperation of the will of the world itself before it can be operated. The user must be standing with the World Engine in the innermost core of the targeted world before it can be activated.

A description that foretold exactly what to do with the world engine floated in front of his face as he nodded, waving his hands as the entire square compartment containing the World Engine entered his [Expansive Space].

"Amazing work as always. I can't wait to see what other innovations you come up with."

He gave a light smile to the Atlantians that could sense the overwhelmingness of his power, the Ocean Master bowing again as he spoke out.

"Whatever we can do to help. Please let us know if we can be of use at any time."

Noah nodded towards the Ocean Master as he gave another glance to the continuously expanding futuristic underwater world around him, his figure disappearing thereafter as he made his way to the Magus World!

The moment he left, huge sighs and breaths of relief as bubbles from the Atlanteans and Merfolk as it felt like they could finally breathe after an instance of meeting that powerful figure. One of the Merfolk turned towards the Ocean Master as he asked with an ashen expression.

"Sire, are you sure that is the same Benefactor?!"

The Ocean Master had a relaxed face as he glanced at his subordinates and nodded, even he not being able to completely withstand the overwhelming aura the being that had just disappeared released!

It wasn't that his rank and power were overflowing freely for all to see, they actually could not even guess what realm their Benefactor was at as his body did not release any essence fluctuations. What filled them with the overwhelming sensation was his eyes! Whenever he glanced at them, they felt like his eyes could see through everything they had, having a level of power capable of decimating them in an instant.

The relaxed expression on the face of the Ocean Master only increased as he affirmed that they had allied themselves with a powerful being, his forces never having to fear for their lives again!

"Let's go. I want to see if we can finish the Plasma Warship in the next few weeks. As soon as we are able to get the inscriptions correctly, we can produce many working ones quickly!"

The innovators of Atlantis returned to their underwater kingdom as they went about their work, their Benefactor appeared on the surface of the Magus world silently, his body not releasing even an ounce of energy.

The Magus World was a huge Prime World that held billions of powerful Magi, their power being something that many forces feared in the past. But this power would forever remain in the past as their strongest organization had gotten decimated some time ago!

Currently, the Inhabitants of the Magus World felt a sense of loss as even though their lives were gradually returning to normal, they felt a stifling sensation in their hearts as they never became able to reclaim the sense of identity as beings of a powerful Prime World.

This was especially so when the Celestials, those responsible for carrying out the decimation of their strongest forces in the first place, were freely descending on their world as they seemed to be helping the many scattered forces and organizations come together and bring back an ordered Prime World.

A few days ago, a Celestial Warship that was a level lower than a Prime Warship had docked on the central lands of the Magus, a Grandmaster that brought along a few Celestial Disciples just beginning in the study of the Law of Fate coming along as he also monitored the evolving situation of the Magus World.

This Grandmaster was a fairly powerful Celestial at the Domain Expansion Realm, his power ranking around the middle when looking at the larger forces that held the Title of Grandmaster among the Celestials.

He was meditating serenely in the Celestial Warship as golden essence surrounded him, <<Herald of Fate>> being used slowly as he tried to decipher his own fate and of those around him. At this moment, his eyes shot wide open as out of nowhere, he found that his fate had turned dark and murky, something he never expected!

A quizzical expression passed through his face as he calmed down and tried discerning fate again, thinking it was some sort of mistake.

Unbeknownst to him, an Agent of Chaos had silently begun drilling towards the core of the Magus World, the next few hours being something that all the beings in this Magus World would never be able to forget!

Chapter 432 - The Magus World

Noah's clone was covered with the aura of [Unique Origin] as well as the concealment techniques of <<Herald of Fate>> and <<Herald of Chaos>>. He was covertly moving and hidden so well that nobody could find out anything about him, whether they were looking for it or not.

His body seamlessly pierced through the layers of earth in the Magus World as he went deeper and deeper, his abilities being so adept that he seemed to be flitting through the grains of sand. A few minutes passed as he streaked through the earth, soon breaking past numerous layers as he entered the innermost layer of the Magus World and came face to face with the core of the powerful Prime World.

The World Core was unexpectedly taken aback and did not even speak, Noah being the one to take the initiative as he glanced at the circular rotating mass of mystical essence that stood as the center of a Prime World.

"I apologize for intruding, but I came to reclaim something that I made possible to still be living today."

He spoke out curtly as he neared the World Core, the immense mystical power that was bound by universal laws which it released not affecting him one bit as he heard the reply of the World Core.

[What exactly are you talking about? Do you even know what you are currently standing in front of-]

"Yes yes, it will be easier if I simply share something with you. Can I get some help?"

Noah spoke nonchalantly to the core of the Magus World as his last sentence was directed to his Planetary System. From Noah, a manifestation of lights that were actually memories were released, nearing the mass of rotating core as a surprised voice came out.

[Such a thing should not be possible for an entity like you, what is-]

The information that was uniquely passed from the Planetary System and onto the core of the Magus World as a shocking level of silence followed, an entire 5 minutes passing as Noah stood calmly in front of the core that did let out any more words!

This was because the information that was just passed to it was about the plans of the Celestials to fully destroy the Magus World, and the intervention of Noah that allowed for this world to continue living, even though it had to lose its most powerful forces!

[It is you that massacred the beings I raised for so long.]

"Yes."

[It is you that saved everything else, even me.]

"Yes."

[...What do you want to do?"]

A sly smile appeared on Noah's face at these words, giving a speech he had given to many worlds before as this one did not hold any sort of threats.

[A connection?]

After a while, the core of the Magus World ascertained while thinking carefully, voicing out something that would be the biggest worry for the undertaking that Noah was about to carry out.

[If everything you say is correct, you would be putting yourself and this entire world into even more danger, as Celestials can simply come and do what they wish even if this connection is successfully established. There are also a few on them on this world at this very moment.]

"Let me worry about that, I have your agreement?"

[...Yes.]

With the agreement of the World Core of the Magus World, Noah's eyes shone as he stretched his neck and prepared to begin!

The first thing he did was use the abilities of <<Herald of Fate>> and <<Herald of Chaos>> to discern his own fate and the fates of the many beings in the Magus World. A large inflow of information rushed to his brain as with the use of both absolute skills that involved the Supreme Laws of Fate and Chaos, he felt like he was seeing even more, the simile of seeing both sides of the same coin appearing in his mind as he sensed the bright fate and chaos auras located in the Magus World as many plans flowed in his mind.

He also pulled out the Dagger of Time as it rotated rapidly in front of him, using the ability of [Insight] as he foresaw many possibilities of the next few minutes, nodding his head as he breathed out slowly, getting himself in the right mindset as he was about to pull off a bold heist!

"Let's do this silently, why don't we?"

He sent his thoughts to the Planetary System and the core of the Magus World as a bright light that signified a connection shot from him and into the core of the world, a fantastical process beginning as from Noah himself, a beautiful circle of blood began to spread out with him at the center.

Both [Blood World], [World Veil], and [Unique Origin] were cast simultaneously as powerful covert techniques went on to begin wrapping around the entire Magus World with extreme speed and precision!

The beings on the world felt only a slight tremble at first, and the more powerful ones felt an overpowering essence pass through them as the cast Blood World and World Veil very quickly covered the entire planet.

The Grandmaster that was meditating with a troubled expression shot up rapidly as he looked to the skies, noticing a color red overtake it as his warning bells rang, finding that much of his connection to the outside world and his fate abilities were being hindered!

He took out a medallion as he prepared to recall the Celestial Disciples currently moving in the Magus World, realizing that what he discerned before might not have been a mistake as something troubling was occurring.

"Get back to this Warshi-"

SHAA! BOOM!

Silently and explosively, right behind the Celestial Grandmaster, the expressionless figure of Noah's Ancient Blood Clone appeared as the Domain Expansion Realm was hit with a sneak attack!

[Void of Impending Doom].

RUMBLE!

Overpowering darkness, terribly blazing flames, meteors, and chaos erupted out and closed in on the Celestial Grandmaster as the ability Void of Impending Doom from the [Agent of Chaos] and Armageddon from <<Herald of Flames>> were cast for the first time.

Chapter 433 - Assassinating a Grandmaster!

Grandmaster Luo had been meditating in the Celestial Warship with a troubled expression when he first felt the waves of chaotic power pass through his body.

He did not even have a chance to react as a second later after he realized the passing energy was a technique that cut off communications from the outside world, an enemy appeared to attack him out of the blue!

RUMBLE!

The skies cried and the earth rumbled the moment this being rushed towards him, teleporting extremely closely as the whispers of two skills, [Void of Impending Doom] and [Armageddon], were heard.

It was an immensely dangerous situation for the Grandmaster as he felt the weight of the entire world falling towards him, numerous chaos essence converging all around him as he saw the formation of dangerous chaos spears from all directions. This wasn't all as below him, the ground was bubbling and melting as fiery eruptions occurred, his senses indicating to him that above them, there were also numerous terrifying meteors raining down that were already ripping the Warship apart!

"FIEND!"

The face of the Celestial Grandmaster was filled with immense anger and slight fear as the golden aura of fate erupted from his body, choosing to release the power of his Domain right away in order to escape this dangerous predicament.

BOOM! CRACK!

The impact hit, the collision and repulsion of fate and chaos spreading out, debris from the shattered warship smashing to the ground as the fiery earth continued to bubble forth and meteors smashed down, it was exactly a scene of what the skill described as for miles around, it was the scene of Armageddon!

The Celestial Grandmaster himself had blood leaking from his right shoulder as the Void of Impending Doom ability had not been completely evaded, even his spread out Domain of Fate could not completely prevent the destructive chaos elements.

Grandmaster Luo looked at the enemy that was now under the oppression of his domain as his eyes shone with splendor, feeling the chaos elements tearing apart his shoulder as he winced and spat out wrathfully.

"You dare to sneak attack a Grandmaster of the Celestials?!"

His words rumbled with power as he increased the output of energy towards his domain, numerous Fate Lines appearing on his body as they thrummed with power. On his body, one could count the swirling Fate Lines to tower over 200,000!

He glanced at the attacking enemy who was being pushed down by his Domain of Fate, his surroundings lighting up with numerous Empyrean Guards that soon became streaks of light and rushed towards him speedily, transforming into a golden armor, hammers, and wings!

The enemy looked towards the Grandmaster's bleeding shoulders with an expressionless face as he uttered simple words.

[Chaotic Mandate].

RUMBLE!

A field of chaos particles first became apparent as it began spreading out wildly, trying its best to fight against the overpowering Domain of Fate as a glistening armor of darkness enveloped the expressionless being.

The armor shockingly shimmered in darkness as in his hands, two long serrated blades that released chaotic energies stood dangerously! On his back, wings of devouring darkness erupted out in grandeur as a tug of war between two supreme laws went underway!

In the air, the opposing battle between the Domain of Fate and the released Chaos Field continued, the much greater strength of the being releasing the Domain exceeding in pressure, but the newly armored enemy whose body palpated with dangerous chaos particles was holding off the pressure as he stood strongly.

Noah glanced at the Grandmaster that had evaded his attack with a heavy injury, the 200,000 Fate Lines thrumming with power making him feel slightly suffocated, but that was all!

This was because he himself had more than 100,000 Fate Lines, and also had Chaos Particles that passed that amount as well.

His figure held on tightly to the dark serrated blades as he streaked forward like a streak of light, the blades going for the head of the Grandmaster!

"Vile creature that has fallen in the hands of chaos! PERISH!"

An enormous Blade of Liberation pierced through the skies of the now apocalyptic landscape, numerous spears of Judgment also descending towards Noah as he weaved in and out them expertly.

It seemed like it wasn't chaotic enough as his eyes rapidly followed the trajectory of the golden spears and the Grandmaster that was gradually healing with a golden aura, his thoughts moving to cast even more terrific skills as he tested what it would take to bring down a Grandmaster.

[Portals of Terror]. [Portals of Terror]...

RUMBLE!

A terrible skill was cast multiple times, this skill being made even more terrifying by the [Triple on Cast Support] that caused the blooming portals releasing immense destruction to come in numbers of three, quickly increasing in number in the surroundings as more than 50 Portals of Terror soon occupied the Grandmaster that was at the very center!

His gaze was ashen as he stared at the overwhelming number of pulsing Portals of Terror that he felt a foreboding feeling from, his heart tightening as he felt like he was standing in the direct center of an explosion.

BOOOOOM! RIIP!

The portals released their numerous varying disordered and destructive elements as the being shining grandly in gold on the middle was quickly overshadowed in a colorful yet deadly array of colors.

OOOOM

The space cracked and reformed as things gradually calmed, Noah walking forward while adorned in the powerful [Chaotic Mandate] that let each part of his body act as a weapon that released Chaos Essence.

He walked towards the center of where the numerous portals had congregated as he observed space to reform, revealing the disfigured Celestial Grandmaster within as his Empyrean Armament was tattered and broken, half of his right hand missing as he looked toward Noah with a terrified gaze.

"You..!"

ZING!

Noah wasted no time as he cast [Sever], the skill now supported by [Multiplicative Ray Support] releasing numerous rays of Aether that went on to pass through the body of the Grandmaster and cut it up into pieces.

Noah Ancient Blood Clone remained impassive as he neared the mass of flesh that remained, his gaze watching shattered Fate Lines that were rising from the body of this powerful being and coming towards him because of the effect of a particular skill.

[Fate Stealer] (5/5) :: A support ability that is only activated when an enemy that is proficient in the workings of fate stands against the Unruly Guider and faces their death. 12% of the Fate Essence that they have collected over the years will be absorbed by the Guider.

He watched with cold eyes as more than 25,000 Fate Lines raised from the body of the dead Celestial Grandmaster, the death of this being only bringing one thought in his mind as he prepared to hunt any other Celestials on the Magus World before he did something even more spectacular.

He used [Devouring] on the body of the dead Grandmaster just by habit, swirls of information crossing through his mind as he moved forward, but he had to come to a stop as while the life of the Grandmaster Luo was playing out in his mind, he actually came across information that pertained to someone he never expected, the War Princess- Athena!

He stopped briefly as he glanced over this information, his eyes shining as he unexpectedly got his hands on something good. He put this information in the back of his mind for now though, the task in front of him being crucial and time sensitive, so he continued forward, not even paying heed to the fact that he had just taken down a Grandmaster at the Domain Expansion Realm, a being that had over 200,000 Fate Lines!

Dead, and in under a minute!

The terror and immensity of the constantly enhanced abilities in the numerous Skill Trees he held were only now beginning to show their capability, their possibilities for the future being something that even Noah did not yet fathom...

Chapter 434 - A Prime World Disappears

The instant the Grandmaster on the Magus World perished, any other Celestials on the Prime World faced similar fates as Noah wordlessly located their positions and took them down.

He was keeping emotions out of it as he moved with a single goal that was extremely time sensitive!

The few powerful beings of the Magus World at the Soul Rank that still remained alive already felt the shocking waves of power spreading out where the Celestial Grandmaster was located, their figures only appearing thereafter as they saw the scene of destruction.

Noah had already teleported back to the inner layer where the core of the Magus World resided, his sight faced with the newly established connection as the Will of the Magus World underwent a similar process to the past worlds. From shock at their boldness to violating universal laws to acceptance as they were now all on the same boat, this process went by quickly as Noah pulled out the compartment containing the World Engine.

"Ready?"

He sent his thoughts towards the world core as the mystifying World Engine began floating in front of Noah, taking a position in the middle of him and the core of the Magus World.

[Let's do it.]

An affirmation came from the core of the Magus World as pure world essence began to leak from it and into the World Engine, Noah simply watching as he did not really need to provide any energy, this planet now connected to the reserves of many and having more than enough! Still, his mana flowed towards the World Engine as the treasure still needed the location of where it was warping this Prime World if they did not want a random movement of the star.

RUMBLE!

His eyes closed as he thought back to the void of space not too far from his home world, the World Engine that was receiving enormous amounts of essence having blue runic lines seamlessly moving across it as it expanded and released a unique energy that began spreading throughout the inner layer of the Magus World and further out!

It was a new type of energy that Noah was not entirely familiar with, only noticing the spatial essence within it as this energy went on to wrap around the entirety of the Magus World, a few quakes spreading out as the inhabitants felt an enormous change occurring.

If a being that could pierce through a [World Veil] and a [Blood World] were to be standing in the void of space watching the Magus World at this very moment, they would notice an eerie spatial energy wrapping around the entire world as it began to look as if it was folding in itself, and then instant later it fully disappeared from the location it was at!

Seamlessly!

Silently!

Powerfully!

An entire Prime World had disappeared out of nowhere, powerful beings only finding out about this shocking information some time later...

On the 7th Celestial Star, the being that oversaw a majority of the operations on this star, Grandmaster Ramiel, shot up from his meditative position as his eyes shone dangerously.

An overabundance of Fate Lines erupted on his body as his eyes shone gold, his usage of <<Herald of Fate>> that was exceedingly done in an expert fashion confirming the shocking revelations in his mind as his face turned sour. He opened his mouth as he released a powerful voice that rolled throughout the 7th Celestial Star.

"A Grandmaster has been murdered in the Magus World! Leave all tasks behind and get there as soon as possible. Be prepared for battle!"

WAA!

A shocking command reverberated in the ears of every Celestial Grandmaster of the 7th Celestial Star as many golden figures of Grandmasters moved without a second of delay, their bodies either teleporting onto huge Warsh.i.p.s that were powered up instantly and began shooting from the shimmering star, or others jumped onto established portals that connected to worlds near the Magus World that the Celestials held sway over.

From the 7th Celestial Star, numerous golden lights shot out as Prime Warsh.i.p.s of varying sizes erupted out with maximum speed, Grandmaster Ramiel being the first one to move the moment he finished his rallying call as he was shockingly moving through the void of space alone and without the use of a Warship, but his speed was multiple times faster as he shot through at speeds that seemed to be surpassing light! In the void of space, ruptures continued to spread out as he shot forward.

This monstrous Grandmaster was shooting through the void of space so speedily that in only 10 minutes, he had traversed from the far away 7th Celestial Star and at the exact location where the Magus World was...or where it used to be!

His face was colored black as he swept his energy all around, turning even darker when he found that where the Magus World used to be, fluctuations of spatial energies were freely flowing, but the world itself was missing. It was missing along with Grandmaster Luo who was stationed here a few days ago with a few disciples.

His gaze became sourer and sourer as golden waves of fate began spreading around the area, his essence utilizing <<Herald of Fate>> even more a monstrous number of fate lines rolled around his aged body. They seemed insurmountable as one could barely make out that their number most definitely passed a million, if not higher!

He utilized the Absolute Skill to try and decipher exactly what had happened here and who was involved, but he shockingly found out that he could not get even a semblance of knowledge on the being involved, nor could he locate anything about their fate.

All that met his peering gaze was a void of darkness, where he also saw spurts of shining light!

His gaze continued to get more and more chilling as the time passed, soon enough sensing the arrival of numerous Prime Warsh.i.p.s and other Celestial Grandmasters as they all surrounded where the Magus World used to be, their eyes almost popping out of their eye sockets as the location where one of them had fallen...was actually missing.

They glanced towards the leading Grandmaster Ramiel as they did not know how to move, because simply, something like this had never happened before!

In the past 1000 years after the War of the Righteous, not a single Grandmaster had fallen to enemy forces, much less assassinated.

So who exactly was bold enough to kill a Grandmaster, and how powerful were they that this entire group of Celestials could not find out anything about them?!

Chapter 435 - A Declaration!

Grandmaster Ramiel floated in the void of space as he stared at the empty plot where the Magus World used to be, numerous thoughts floating in his mind as a few stood at the forefront.

As he looked at the situation in front of him, multiple things came to his mind, but the biggest one was a similar occurrence of such an event when it pertained to a Large World that was already destroyed in the past, and by their commands as well!

A Large World that had the capabilities to warp across space, holding a Cursed Item that defied the universal laws and increased Chaos! They had sent the order down for this world to be destroyed long ago, so this occurrence should not be connected to it, but the cursed treasures of that world might have just fallen into some else's hands.

He continued to think as his expression was that of wrath, but it wasn't for the reason that many were thinking of. The death of a Grandmaster was a big loss, yes. But the even bigger loss was the slap in the face as an enemy actually targeted the Celestials.

The eyes of Grandmaster Ramiel twinkled as he combined the many thoughts in his mind, thinking of ways to bring about the best results from this event. He looked towards the surrounding Celestials as he thought about the recent state of affairs, a dangerous gleam appearing in his eyes that nobody could foresee as he spoke out with a rambling voice.

"This...is an affront to the honor of Celestials, as cowards actually think they can target and take the lives of our people!"

His gaze was cold as he stared at the Grandmasters on Prime Warsh.i.p.s and others that were floating angrily in the void of space.

"Those who did this are enemies of Celestials, and in this wide Novus Galaxy of ours, we only have a single enemy!"

Shock coursed through the minds of the listening Grandmasters as they soon caught wind of where the words of this leading Grandmaster on the 7th Celestial Star was saying.

"Our enemies are the cowards hiding in the Dark Expanse, and those slumbering in the Letalis Expanse!"

RUMBLE!

Fate Lines that crossed the 1 million point thrummed strongly on the body of the Grandmaster as his body adopted a holy aura. Outwardly, he had a wrathful holy expression while inwardly, he was smiling at having found the perfect way to bring about immense results in the form of increasing their power and influence, as well as be the one to earn the most influence and increase in Fate Lines at the end of it all.

"Today, from their cowardly actions here, they have effectively declared war!"

OOOM!

Essence of fate rumbled out a singular event that would propel a sequence of events towards a terrible future began, the surrounding Grandmasters watching the play that Ramiel was acting out as their eyes twinkled, getting on board of the train instantly.

"A declaration of war!"

"We must avenge Grandmaster Luo!"

"We must bring Order to all of this chaos!"

"War!"

"War!!!"

RUMBLE!

A wide smile appeared over Grandmaster Ramiel's face as he watched this scene. He cared not whether the killer of this Grandmaster was a being that had obtained the Cursed Weapon from a world they destroyed long ago. He cared not whether the little mice in the Dark Expanse were involved or not. All he wanted was to use this event to increase his influence and the influence of Celestials the most, sparking the conflict they all knew was coming, but had not found the right spark for it just yet!

The assassination of a Grandmaster...was all he needed to use as an excuse to paint the beings of Dark Expanse as their enemies once more, and begin the gradual process of a war that would influence the lives of trillions.

The skies shimmered gold as Fate Lines had already begun descending onto Grandmaster Ramiel even before he moved to further propagate his own campaign. His face shone with the splendor of a holy aura as he spoke out towards the watching Celestials.

"For the Order and Balance of our Novus Galaxy, let the war against these savages begin!"

OOOOOOH!!!

Resounding roars of affirmation met him as in the location where a Prime World used to be, one of the initiators of a terrible war began.

In another location, a Prime World had seamlessly warped across vast distances and appeared near a blue panel, a splendor of essence still apparent around the world.

Noah, who was standing within the world, felt the descent of numerous Fate Lines and Chaos particles, his eyes shining as it seemed his actions had brought about something even bigger than he thought.

He held no worries though, as he planned to do what he did today multiple times over the span of the next few days.

He planned to expand the connected worlds from the low number that was still under 10 and multiply that as much as possible as he trained in two Supreme Laws, while his main body moved in the Celestial Realm to obtain even more treasures.

[When do we begin the process of Realm Creation?]

A question that would have scared any knowledgeable being was heard in Noah's mind, the Planetary System bringing the topic of something that it was very much looking towards to as Noah had a thoughtful look.

"As soon as we have the proper requirements to create something at least on par with the Infernal Realms. For now, we can steadily build up to it!"

Noah replied calmly as he himself was looking forward to this event, the information he gained from the Infernal Lord title letting him know exactly what he had to do in order to uniquely achieve the goal of making a Realm, something that rarely occurred, and especially rare for there to be a singular being that caused it!

But for now, he enjoyed the achievement of connecting to the Magus World, his gaze on the inhabitants in this wide world that would soon join his forces as he prepared to send some beings down to properly manage this world.

The one at the forefront that had been moving tirelessly the past weeks was the Guardian of Blood that continued to oversee the Ancient Blood World and monitor the progress of the Vampyres that Noah made, but this Guardian was versatile in its abilities and should have no problem looking over a few other worlds!

The clone's figure disappeared as he went off to repeat what he did just now to a few more worlds, staying true to his goals of simply attaching more worlds to retain his supremacy over mana!

Chapter 436 - Rapid Breakthrough

As his clone moved to increase the connected worlds, Noah's main body was currently in an expansive training room of the Celestial Watch Tower that stood between the border that left behind Fire Behemoths and had the Chaos Behemoths that were located further out.

The aura of fate was abundant in the room they were in as Grandmaster Vredral stood in front of them, his hands releasing warm essence of fate as he calmed the unstable aura around Noah and Athena.

That's right! The power leveling that the Grandmaster was putting Noah and Athena through was finally coming to fruition, as these two beings that continued to be given materials and cores from Chaos Behemoths were finally forcefully breaking through to the Domain Expansion Realm!

The resources and treasures that would have gone to multiple Elite Exploration Teams and Celestial Grandmasters were given to the two beings with Noble Fates, their strengths being raised at a rate rarely seen as they broke through ranks that would normally take even geniuses years to break through.

Grandmaster Vredral would not have proceeded to continue pushing their realms up forcefully if their bodies showed any instabilities from not being able to handle the rapid rise, but Noah showed no issues while Athena only showed slight instabilities! After putting through numerous battles against Chaos Behemoths, their rapid rise only became solidified as they were now breaking through into the next rank with ease.

In their hands, the last Domain Expansion Realm Cores faded away into dust as both of their bodies rumbled with power, the unique strength of a Domain that was only present in this realm beginning to wrap around their cores as touched upon a level that would have taken them a significant amount of time to achieve with normal means.

"Good, keep it steady and manifest the domain around your origins, this will allow you to stably step into the Domain Expansion Realm!"

The Grandmaster said gravely as his power continued to descend onto their bodies and aid them, another few minutes passing before a change began to occur on Athena first, a golden glow surrounding her as she turned into a being clad in golden light!

An ecstatic expression appeared on the Grandmaster, the smile becoming even wider when the exact same situation happened to his other student, the two successfully establishing domains in their origin as the powerful aura at the Domain Expansion Realm began to leak out from them.

"Haha!"

A prideful look was on Grandmaster Vredral as he stared at his terrific students, Noah returning an excited smile as he laughed in his mind, these Celestials not knowing exactly who they just helped advance the realm of!

He and Athena had been given so many Domain Cores that he could have reached the reached a few days back because of the smoothness that the Planetary System allowed him to absorb cores, but he waiting until the Senior Sister that had always been ahead of him to break through before he did it himself.

At this moment, he had to give heartfelt thanks to the Celestials that had granted him such a large amount of treasures and brought up his rank rapidly. For the first time in a while, his rank had advanced first before he upgraded his skills.

Much of his skill trees currently remained at the soul rank, which will need the clone to spend some time out of its planned schedule in the Time Space raising the proficiencies of the skills before they could advance forward. This would be for later though, his attention currently turning towards the joyful Grandmaster that he stood on the same Realm as. The only thing missing being a few hundred thousand Fate Lines that he saw himself reaching not too long from now.

"Hmm, terrific geniuses indeed. You'll work to stabilize your new realm the next few days before we can set off again. I wanted your power to be as high as possible before you began joining any skirmishes of the coming war, but..."

His gaze of joy turned difficult as he continued.

"...I just received word that Grandmaster Luo of our 7th Celestial Star has been assassinated, and the Dark Expanse is to blame. This...is a Declaration of War!"

Noah's eyes opened wide as he heard this, his clone that was already locating another world to form a collection to also pausing in surprise as it heard the shocking results of its actions. Noah had known that at most, the Celestials would connect the disappearance of the Magus World to the technology of the Lost World of Atlantis they destroyed long ago, but they would never be able to find out exactly who was involved, as he was expertly guarded by both Fate and Chaos techniques!

Yet somehow, the Grandmasters had attributed the death of their own to the Dark Expanse in an effort to use it as one of the excuses to start the war.

A war between such huge forces did not begin and end in a day, where even the campaign of war that the Celestials carried in the War of the Righteous more than a thousand years ago, the war had lasted tens of years as the Celestials gained more territory and power.

This war that was about to begin would not end in a few days or a few months, the beings involved being too many and too powerful, where even Noah knew after he gained his burst of new knowledge that it could take years! But, this was all without him in the picture. If he actually had a hand to play in this war as he increased his power....

He kept his thoughts to himself as he looked towards Athena, the memories of Grandmaster Luo letting him know that there was a connection between them! Athena looked towards the Grandmaster with an angry expression before being the one to speak out.

"Grandmaster, I know our rise in strength has been going against the natural order, where the rate simply does not conform to the norm! But since our strength will allow us to bring forth even more order, I will gladly continue raising my power, and I know Junior Brother Crixus will do the same!"

She had a valiant look on her face as she continued speaking.

"In this large scale war, beings at the Domain Rank will be of great use, but those of higher levels will be the true decoders of the war! What can we do, Grandmaster, in order to attain such strength before the conflicts begin?"

Unexpectedly, Noah did not see the reaction he expected from Athena as she straightforwardly asked Grandmaster Vredral how to further increase their power, the old man looking towards them with shining eyes and replying.

"I was going to mention this to you after you had stabilized your realms and were ready to move forward, but..."

"...as there are numerous powerful Celestials that are special existences or those with Noble Fates, resources have been equally decided so far and are getting scarcer. This is even more so for resources that are useful to beings at the Domain Expansion Realm!"

The Grandmaster spoke seriously as Noah considered his words about resources that could help someone at the Domain Rank. One must know, the Grandmaster was at the peak of this same rank, and even he had not broken through. Whatever resources that would be useful to him and Athena, they would also be useful to the Grandmaster! But this aged man did not even mention this as he seemed to focus his entire attention on the two of them.

"The resources to help a being in the Domain Expansion Realm are scarce, but it does not mean they do not exist. But because of their rarity and the fact that there are so many qualified beings in this realm that desperately need such treasures to increase their power...something has to be done to determine which Special Existences or being with Noble Fate is holding more potential and more deserving of such treasures!"

The words of the Grandmaster were explosive, Noah and Athena listening closely as they waited to hear exactly what the Celestials had in store. How would they be determining who is more deserving of treasures that were useful to even the most powerful of Grandmasters?!

The answer was in the form of battle!

Chapter 437 - To Be Matched Against Special Existences

"The deciders of the direction of the war are the strongest beings, with players at the World Rank or the ranks above being the ones that will ultimately decide which battles we win or lose "

Noah listened closely as the Grandmaster continued, his mind going towards the cultivation ranks the Grandmaster mentioned as he already knew what was above the rank of World.

After a being established a Domain to cover their origin, the next stage was the World Realm as they fused their Domain to their core, being able to bring out power that could destroy Small or Large Worlds!

After the world stage, one would embark on the path to strengthen their origin as if they were forming a world itself at their very center, the realm above this being called the Star Forging Realm!

Experts at this realm legitimately had the force of a star thrumming at the very center of their strength, Noah knowing that the middle ranked Infernal Lords occupied this level, as well as some of the more powerful Grandmasters.

Above the Star Forging Realm was the realm that the experts standing at the top of power in this expansive Novus Galaxy, it was the realm where one had to shatter the very Star they forged which stood at the center of their origin, allowing the explosion of the dying star to form what was the next stage after this- Nebula!

A Nebula was a giant cloud of dust and gas in the vastness of space, and it was this cloud of dust and gas where new stars formed. Experts at the Nebula Realm were those standing at the peak of power as any one of them could have a Nebula that already birthed multiple stars, the levels of strength being wide ranging as the fire power of such a realm was shocking to even understand.

As far as Noah knew, the strongest First Infernal Lord was at the Nebula Realm, along with the Founders that stood atop the Celestials!

But this was only what his knowledge led him to, he could always be wrong. He stopped dwelling in his thoughts as he continued to listen to the Grandmaster before him.

"Celestials at the World Rank or higher are held with great esteem, being one of the powerful weapons that could even match against the weakest Infernal Lord if multiple of them work together. Thus, any treasure that can possibly help a Celestial step towards the World Rank is treated with utmost importance!"

"Such a treasure...does exist in our hands. It is something that is completely out of my reach, and will only be given to the most promising Special Existence or a Celestial holding the title of Noble Fate. This treasure is something that we found in the southern region of the Spiritual Land where Fate Behemoths are abundant, a treasure that I only know by the name- Luminescent Rainbow Dew!"

The eyes of the listening students shone as a treasure was mentioned, something that even Grandmaster Vredral himself could not get his hands on.

"You two have the chance of obtaining this Luminescent Rainbow Dew, but only if you can prove that your potential and power is greater and more deserving than the other beings at a similar standing as you. The way to do this is simply...through battle. In order for you all to experience a rapid rise in strength similar to the past few weeks and enter a Realm that will grant you the power to make a difference in this war, you will have to fight for it."

Noah thought of many possibilities as the abundant treasures of the Celestials continued to help him greatly, and this treasure that was being hyped up by the Grandmaster was one that could possibly bring him to yet another stage that would allow him to catch up to some of the monsters he was facing.

"Who do we expect to be facing, Grandmaster?"

Noah replied with the conviction that seemed to say they would do whatever it took to increase their power, the Grandmaster nodding with a received smile as he continued.

"In a soon to be specified location, a Battle of Geniuses will be held where those joining will be faced with beings holding Noble Fates and Special Existences that have immensely powerful innate abilities. Coming out on top of this tournament will grant you some of the most valuable treasures that we have collected over the last thousand years!"

A resounding reply rang out in the training hall they were in as they received the information on just how they could advance their strength further, Athena turning to look towards her Junior Brother with a determined look as the both of them nodded towards each other, turning their gazes to the Grandmaster as they replied.

"We will not let you down, Grandmaster!"

Noah continued to play the part of a genius disciple well as even more opportunities landed on his lap. As the cultivation and information session with the Grandmaster was coming to an end, he looked at the change that had appeared in the Stat Panel after he stepped into the Domain Expansion Realm.

[Noah Osmont][Title(s): Infernal Lord(Variant)]

[Bloodline(s): Vampyre Progenitor(Awakening)]

[Fate Line(s) : 162,735]

[Chaos Particle(s) : 135,234]

[Origin Core(s) : Fire-2]

[Domain(s) : Water, Space, Fate, Fire, Chaos]

[Vitality: DOMAIN]

[Focus: - ]

[Strength: DOMAIN]

[Law(s) : Water-11, Space-8%, Fate-1.6%, Fire-14%, Chaos-1.3%]

Among the many additions that continued to be added over the last weeks, there now stood another one that was titled [Domain(s)]!

Included in it, the laws that Noah was currently cultivating were available, meaning that if he so chose, he could release a domain of any of these laws to pressure his enemies. The higher his percentage of the laws increased, the more powerful the domains would become. For now, all he had to do was continue the monotonous work of cultivating Fate and Chaos, as well as have his clone move in the Celestial Realm once more to look for an Inheritance that dealt with the law of water.

This was because normal universal laws like water and fire were much easier to raise up, and Noah knew if he could repeat something similar to what he was currently doing by dual cultivating both fate and chaos, raising the laws of water and fire should be even easier!

Chapter 438 - Atop a Dragon Searching for Treasures

Noah glanced at the Grandmaster that gave him and Athena more information of the Battle of Geniuses where they would have to face the terrible power of Special Existences and being similar to them with noble fates in order to get his hands of treasures that could help those in the Domain Rank.

For now, his main body would participate in this tournament seeming event as his clone continued to do the brunt work. At this moment, his Ancient Blood Clone had formed a connection with a Large World that Noah found viable in his memories, the beings within not having too many connections and not being of high strength.

Much of these types of worlds came from the memories of the Demon Emperor Baal who was very active in targeting middle and large worlds as he expanded his forces. This recent world achieved Noah's goal of passing 10 connected worlds, the most recent ones being brought near his homeworld through the use of World Engines, with Noah casting a [World Veil] thereafter to hide all of them from prying eyes!

These newly added worlds did not even need to be identified by name or unique qualities, as none of that would matter in the coming weeks as he soon planned to carry out the grand plan of a Realm Formation. Such a plan...would make the identities of worlds null.

His eyes shone with splendor as the meeting with the Grandmaster moved along, thereafter obtaining more information on the recent events where Grandmaster Luo was assassinated and the resulting actions that came thereafter.

The leading Grandmaster on the 7th Celestial Star, Grandmaster Ramiel, had already formally filed for permission to move his Battalion that was made of numerous Prime Warsh.i.p.s and Celestials towards the border between the Dark and Light Expanse, sending them as the preliminary force as they initiated what would be a long period of war.

Some Celestials were opposed to this as they wished for a longer preparation period to orderly move all forces, but even more were for it as it meant they could begin their conquest that would lead to more influence over many beings' fates much sooner!

The request of Grandmaster Ramiel would most likely soon be given a green light after it was passed to the Founder, what happened thereafter only being etched in history.

Something new that came at the center of this was the prepared command that would be given to the powerful beings of the Prime Expanse that were moving in the Celestial Realm. They would be told that for them to continue exploring and enjoying the boons of the wondrous realm, they had to send a specific number of beings from their worlds as soldiers to fight alongside the Celestials! They had to fight for the peace and order of the Light Expanse that was being disrupted by the Dark Expanse!

This command would cause for the influx of millions of beings to be in the front lines in the coming war, this conflict of attrition eventually benefitting the Celestials as they would be losing very little of their own forces as time passed.

Thus, many waited for the okay to get things started, Noah absorbing all of the information himself as he continued preparing in his own ways. The Spiritual World continued to bubble with essence, numerous things being accomplished every day by the System that stood as the center of the Spiritual World.

The building of the Water Law Space had already been completed on one of the four continental landmasses of the Spiritual World, Noah actually choosing to reduce the Fire Law Space to cover half of the Continent, and for the Water Law Space to cover the other half. This created the unique environment where two opposing Law Spaces had an inch of a barrier that stopped them from flooding into the other. This was all in preparation for the obtainment of a new inheritance in the Law of Water that would allow Noah to perform Dual Cultivation with these two laws as well!

The Ancient Blood Clone finished forming the connection of another world as he sent numerous telepathic messages to his competent forces to handle this transition, Steel Mikhail and even Kazuhiko that seemed to never want to leave the Time Space that he was using with extreme efficiency to raise his skill proficiencies being put to use.

The clone moved without rest as he reappeared back into the Celestial Realm, his body currently pulsing with power as his main body had stepped into the Domain Expansion Realm. When this was paired to his continued advancement in two Supreme Laws, many beings would feel their souls shaking if he didn't cover up the pressure of power that he released.

This time, the clone had appeared in a region not too far from the Sanctum, his gaze going towards a certain direction. This time, it wasn't the North where the Fire Behemoths and Chaos Behemoths resided, but the South where one could find Water Behemoths and Ice Behemoths, his goal being to look for the treasures and inheritances here as he increased the efficiency of his cultivation even more!

His rapid rise in Chaos Particles and Fate Lines was going in the right direction, but his Fire Origin Core had remained with a slow progression where even the Supreme Laws could soon surpass it.

"Draco, come back."

He sent a telepathic message to the Draconic Fire Behemoth that was moving in the First Infernal Realm to pass through the portal there and return to the Spiritual World, the huge beast materializing in front of Noah a few seconds later as he came out from the miniaturized world.

RUMBLE!

"Master!"

The voice of the humongous beast reverberated as its head that was now multiple times larger than Noah went forward to nudge him, the clone smiling as he got on its wide back, and the dragon took off into the skies!

Its size now towered close to 40 meters, Noah already pulling out numerous Cores from his [Expansive Space] to begin power leveling the rank of this beast towards the Soul Forging Realm.

Then, he took out the wondrous miniaturized Spiritual World as he activated [Treasure Hunter], an eruption of essence coming out as a direction was picked.

He sent his thoughts into the ability to try and steer it towards what he wanted, but this would only steer it towards a certain direction, where the actual results would be hard to know.

SHAA!

The figure of an enormous dragon shot through the fantastically glowing trees and vegetation around the Celestial Realm as Noah's clone continued on towards the South fearlessly, his heart looking forward to whatever treasures or inheritances waited for him there!

Chapter 439 - Growth, Treasures

As Noah made his way south, his forces propagated various areas of the Celestial Realm as their increased power only allowed for more efficient and effective cooperation that took down behemoths with ease.

Not to mention their own recently upgraded ranks and cores from Soul Rank Behemoths continued to flow towards their hands, the boon from the [Golden Guider] skill was so overpowered that when they faced the Fire Behemoths to the north, they could take them down much faster as each of them held a hint of the law of fate in their attacks.

Most of the forces were now actively moving as the things around Noah became more and more expansive, even the lazy Barbatos joining the Order of Blood Exploration Team as her own specialized legion of undead joined the fights.

Others were either put on tasks to manage the newly added worlds or hunting Behemoths for their resources, with these resources being transferred into the Spiritual World through the Emperor Penguin that held ever so powerful spatial skills.

These abundant materials would then be processed by the System at the center of the Spiritual World as they were forged into Items in the Blacksmith's Forge, powerful Sets of armors and weapons that had overwhelming effects being created with ease.

Currently, the number of Blood Stained Infernal Oath Sets made from the bodies of Infernals were the most numerous as Noah had simply hunted too many of them to obtain his Infernal Lord title. The Incandescent Flameborn Set was next in production as more and more materials from Fire Behemoths were obtained, these powerful Sets that had a 6 piece bonus of an Immolation ability that allowed the wearer to deal 1000% more damage being something extremely deadly.

As Noah's forces gradually became equipped with these terrifying Items and the boosts from the Golden Guider, their power was spilling upwards exponentially as they were growing to become a powerful force!

It was not just Noah that was currently rapidly advancing through ranks, his forces were also following along!

His Ancient Blood Clone continued flying through the mystical forest of the Celestial Realm, the young dragon Draco enjoying the return to the overflowing essence of the realm as it broke the sound barrier to shoot towards the direction that its master directed it towards at high speeds.

"Slow down."

Noah sent his thoughts forward as he felt the golden arrow from the Spiritual World beginning to blink, the dragon slowing down and reducing its altitude as Noah came to view the environment to the south of the Celestial Realm with more clarity.

Huge ancient trees with blue colored leaves were abundant, with numerous lakes that sparkled clearness and serenity spread out all around. As he spread his senses further out with the dragon slowly moving forward, he could see rushing rivers, and even further locations being areas of frozen lands where he even spotted an Ice Behemoth.

In the South of the Celestial Realm, one could come across Behemoths proficient in the law of water, whether they were plain Water Behemoths or the specific Ice Behemoths.

ROAR!

The arrival of a Draconic Fire Behemoth in the skies drew the attention of a nearby Ice Behemoth, but Noah ignored it as Draco continued towards a certain location, Noah following the blinking arrow closely as it pointed towards a sparkling and expansive lake that was surrounded by trees.

Draco hovered over the pristine lake as Noah saw the arrow to be pointing down, sending his thoughts to his pet as Draco was transferred back into the Spiritual World, the figure of the clone shooting down towards the clear lake speedily as it went to see just what exactly the [Treasure Hunter] feature had found now.

SHAA!

His body pierced through the waters with ease as he began descending down, the lake being very deep as he spent a few minutes diving down and watching the area around him.

His body was filled with covert skills after he sent Draco away so that he did not get discovered too easily if there was something powerful down the lake, and his senses already caught one Water Behemoth happily swimming a few miles away.

After achieving the Domain Expansion Realm, Noah felt an astounding level of control of his energy as the Domain that wrapped around his origin allowed him to feel a sense of stableness that he never came across before. He saw that his progress in the Fire Origin Core even increased after achieving the Domain Rank, seeing that higher realms held their own secrets and surprises to unfold as he continued on in the future.

His figure continued shooting down the lake for another few minutes before he neared the bottom the area around him becoming colder as his eyes came across a cold hard floor that shone with a blue crystalline l.u.s.ter!

His senses tried spreading through this layer of earth to see what lied below it, but he surprisingly found that he could not spread his aura past it, whatever the Spiritual World was pointing down towards still not known.

His fingers tapped onto the earth as he found it to be extremely hard material, but its uniqueness lied in the fact that even a being at the Domain Rank could not spread his aura past it. Noah chose the less destructive way as he became extremely small and minute through [Unique Origin], using his very small size and immensely boosted strength to drill through this unique earthen layer.

It wasn't even that thick, his body being able to pierce through the other end in a matter of minutes as he entered into the hidden space that lied below the frozen floor at the bottom of the lake.

His eyes looked around as they shimmered a color of blue, this color being reflected by everything he was seeing as the place he had entered...looked to be a huge stalagmite mine!

Numerous Crystals littered the area, his eyes seeing that the space was not even that huge, maybe the size of a football field. But this space held an array of Crystals Stalagmites that shone with a deep blue hue, Noah sensing a congregation of the Law of Water deeply entrenched into every single one of them.

Though the blue crystals were many, they were not the most eye-catching thing in this hidden cavern. The most eye-catching thing was that at the center of this place, there laid an even more enormous crystal in the shape of a spiked crown, most of the energies around this place congregating towards it! Noah's gaze landed on this vibrantly dense blue crystal as a few words popped up in front of his eyes.

[Unique Material- Aquamarine Mesrandite].

His eyes shone with understanding as he laid his eyes upon the first-ever Unique Material that he came across, his goal of searching for an inheritance leading him to another treasure entirely as he actually came across something which could be used to refine Supreme Treasures, or even possibly create one!

Chapter 440 - Materials

In a brightly blue lit up underground area, sparking crystal stalagmites exposed the brilliance of the area as the brightest one that stood at the center had more descriptions rise up gradually in front of Noah's eyes.

[Unique Material- Aquamarine Mesrandite] :: A material that has collected an abundant amount of the essence of the law of water, granting it the unique title. Can be used to refine Supreme Treasures or in the creation of one in the Blacksmith's Forge of the Spiritual World.

Noah's Ancient Blood Clone had actually come across a material of great value in his search for an inheritance, something that thrummed with the power of the Law of Water, a material that he could use to either refine the Trident of the Sea, or possibly create another Supreme Treasure!

His eyes shone as he waved his hands towards this enormous [Unique Material- Aquamarine Mesrandite], watching it disappear from his eyes as his gaze turned towards the numerous other crystals that weren't nearly as bright as the one he had just pocketed.

[Water Crystal] :: A crystal holding the essence of the Law of Water, can be used as a material to refine normal Items or further refined with the locked feature of the Spiritual World, [Alchemy Hall], into Soul Jades.

The less bright crystal stalagmites were Water Crystals that were similar to the Fire Crystals he had obtained as materials before from his first Fire Behemoth, but he noticed the additional descriptive words added to the item as the Planetary System hinted to a feature he could not even use yet.

"You are able to foresee the possible uses of the future features of the Spiritual World already?"

He asked the Planetary System as a reply came a millisecond later.

[The veils of secrecy for the natural order and existence of things is gradually becoming thinner as we gather more information and connect to more worlds, your elevation to an Infernal Lord granting us access to a profound bank of knowledge that allows for fairly accurate possibilities.]

Noah's clone nodded as he was reminded of the information that would make many tremble to their cores, the powers of the beings standing atop this Novus Galaxy being so terrifying that nobody would ever think of matching themselves against them.

When faced with beings that had established a Domain and then entered a realm where they could destroy worlds, and then they went even further ahead to forge an entire star at their core before they shattered this star to form a Nebula that could birth even more stars...many would simply run away!

But Noah received this knowledge as it made his fear at first, yes! But he reminded himself of his own power, and just how rapid he could rise through the ranks compared to anyone else.

An example was how in just a period of the past few weeks, he had gone from the Void Realm and into the Soul Forging Realm, and just now he had stepped into the Domain Expansion Realm!

What speed!

What genius!

With such an overpowering power behind him and his own confidence for the future, he saw himself in no way lesser than the beings that already stood near the top.

He shook himself out of his reverie as he glanced at the many Water Crystals around him, waving his hands as the wide expanse that was the size of a football field began to be emptied until the brightness was gradually gone. Every single shining crystal that had even the tiniest l.u.s.ter was taken into the Spiritual World as the place where a treasure trove had been laid barren, Noah's figure bringing out the Spiritual World thereafter as he used [Treasure Hunter] once more, another golden arrow appearing as he was led to another direction once more!

He disappeared from the barren underground area as he teleported to the skies, having finally attained the Domain Expansion Realm that allowed one to fly freely in the Celestial Realm. But, he liked the feeling of flying on an enormous Draconic Fire Behemoth even more, so Draco reappeared in the skies with a shaking presence as Noah landed on its head, a slight smile on his face as he patted the enormous dragon that began leaving embers of flames as it began shooting through the skies!

In another location, his main body was in an expensive lodging of the Celestials in the Sanctum, having returned from the far region where Chaos Behemoths were abundant in order to consolidate his realm and in preparation for the battles between Special Existences and beings similar to him who held noble fates, or so the commands from Grandmaster Vredral stated.

His main body was planning on how to best move within the ranks of the Celestials to maintain the most benefits, especially this treasure known as Luminescent Rainbow Dew that even Grandmasters at the peak of the Domain Expansion Realm wished for. He was thinking of how to move while gaining all of these benefits, but he was also thinking of the overall results he wanted to obtain from this organization!

His thoughts went towards Athena, another figure that would play a central role in the events to come as at this moment in time, he saw her as a viable scheme to play. He had already placed himself in the War Princess's life until her guard was completely down around him, and he recently obtained even more information that pertained to her from the Grandmaster Luo that he took down in the Magus World.

The information was something that was only a bit of history, but it could be used to create an amazing opportunity for the future. So while his clone continued to move in search of treasures and the continuing cultivation of laws, Noah was currently scheming, and at the heart of the scheme was the valiant War Princess!

In the expansive room he was in, Noah turned his head towards the door as he waved his hands to make the Dagger of Time that was slowly rotating in front of him disappear. The past few hours, he had been using the [Insight] feature of the Dagger to look at a few possibilities of how his plan could play out, and was confident in it somewhat as he heard a knock on his door soon after.

He went over the plan a few times, changing what he was wearing as he also used [Unique Origin] and then walked towards the door and opening in as in front of him was the War Princess herself, her face holding a vibrant expression as Noah saw on her body, she was adorned by a unique golden robe that only signified one thing, and it was a type of status that very few Celestials held in the Light Expanse.

"Senior Sister, they've already given you a title of Grandmaster?"

Noah smiled as he spoke to the War Princess in front of him, a scheme that would be one of the deciders for a few major events in the future beginning to play out at this moment. He had not done anything these past weeks as he was around this Senior Sister, but he would be making his move today!
