Chapter 501 Three is Better Than One!

In front of Noah, a drop of blood revolved rapidly before it soon bloomed into the bloody image of himself, a brand new presence appearing as a devilishly handsome face soon reflected on his eyes.

He smiled while looking at the face of someone that was becoming more and more mature as the months passed, always gaining extra charms aside from the effects of [Unnatural Beauty] from the Vampyre Progenitor passive abilities.

The clone breathed out while glancing around the Time Space, this being the place that this second Ancient Blood Clone would spend the most time in as he did something shocking.

For now, Noah would have this clone remain in the Time Space as he maxed the proficiencies of his other skill trees while also training in the four laws he currently held inheritances of!

One must know that the significance of this additional clone was not just to further accelerate his rate of growth, but it effectively meant another combatant at the same level as himself that he could choose to deploy on the battlefield.

When the time came that he was standing against a truly powerful enemy, what would this enemy do when two more of him appeared to join the battle?!

It was a thrilling scene to imagine as Noah grandly looked forward into the future! His main body teleported out of the Spiritual World as he anchored it to himself and disappeared from the Celestial Realm, briefly leaving this wondrous place for the first time with his main body as he reappeared in an empty expanse of space. He needed this level of privacy as he was about to do something that was simply too big!

His clone remained in the Time Space as he was about to begin the task of laws and raising proficiencies of skill trees. Even though he could not use the loophole of the Time Space to quickly master the laws, his regular rate of growth for Chaos Particles and Fate Lines was already crazy, being able to amass more than 25,000 of each in a single day, or 50,000 if he focused on just one.

If one did the math, this meant that even if Noah chose to do nothing else and just simply brought up the percentages of laws, he would be able to master the Law of Fate to 100% in just 9 months, and add more than 7 million Chaos Particles around that same time period!

This was plainly ridiculous, rule breaking, and something that would make the hard-working beings comprehending laws for hundreds or thousands of years simply go mad.

Yet he would not be sitting still while this clone worked on increasing the percentages in Laws and upgrading the skill trees. He would embroil himself in battles that granted him a stupid amount of Fate Lines and Chaos Particles, as well as numerous other things that would each have their own effects.

The future seemed even brighter as Noah's main body left the Time Space right away, the new clone sitting down as it sent words to the Spiritual World System.

Soon after, in a small area of the Time Space, a portion of the surrounding land turned fiery and another turned into a sparkling blue sea- the Water and Fire Law Spaces being built in a small area of the Time Space as the clone sat at the junction where they met and began cultivating.

Water and Fire Elemental particles began rushing towards him, while the appearance of thin Fate Lines and Chaos Particles expressed themselves in the air. At the same time, golden swords of liberation, spears of judgment, and the reappearance on an Arch Lich Ra'Zan took place as the clone trained the proficiencies of the next skill trees for an upgrade at the same time!

It was multitasking to an insane degree, but Noah still felt in his heart that something was still missing. The missing piece was naturally the fact that he could train in a Fire and Water Law Space, but the more crucial Fate and Chaos Law Spaces had yet to be unlocked.

Thus, after letting the Spiritual World bloom freely to its full size in the starry expanse of space he had teleported to in the Light Expanse, his main body appeared above Central Continent of the Spiritual World, glancing at the four surrounding floating continents as he waved his hands and caused the appearance of enormous World Core.

That's right! His first clone had already obtained the core of a Large World as he connected more and more planets, taking the time to locate a fairly weak Large World that had a few billion creatures occupying it. It was nearly impossible to find a Large World that was uninhabited, or it would even make more sense to say that a world could not get to the 'Large' stage if it did not have any beings dwelling in it.

This world had contained in it humanoid and beastmen creatures, Noah simply conducting mass teleportations as he painstakingly moved all the beings of this world into the wide Ancient Blood World where they were placed under the care of the Blood Guardian.

His heart had not yet grown so ruthless as to cause the deaths of billions just to obtain his own aims, only using [Devouring] after every single creature was transported away and watching the crumbling of this world thereafter. His heart had to be cold at this as the only victim was the entity that was the core of this world, but even that he had no need to do as this consciousness would simply get assimilated into the Spiritual World System!

Thus, while his first clone continued to move and add more world connections from the abundant memories of the dead beings he had obtained at the Verittas Fortress, his main body waved his hands as the Large World Core placed in the [Expansive Space] appeared, this core trembling instantly thereafter as it shot down towards the Central Continent.

This was the last requirement for an upgrade from the 9th tier and into the 10th, a tier that would unlock the Fate and Chaos Law Spaces, as well as numerous other functions!

RUMBLE!

The many beasts, humans, and any other creatures living in the Spiritual World felt the fluctuations once more as they opened their eyes wide and spread out their auras to observe.

The Central Continent of the Spiritual World, as well as the enormous four connected floating continents, had begun to tremble as essence was washing over them freely, the knowledgeable beings shocked senseless once more as they realized the already wondrous Spiritual World was getting yet another upgrade!

Chapter 502 The Tier Right Before a Realm!

With his second clone stably training in the Time Space and his first clone continuing the immense project of more world connections, Noah's main body was overseeing the advancing of the Spiritual World from the 9th tier and into the 10th!

All the requirements were set as the luminescent Large World Core pierced through the layers of earth of the Central Continent of the Spiritual World and rushed towards the core of this unique treasure, the advancement beginning right away as essence was pulled on all sides of the starry expanse of space that Noah had placed the Spiritual World to float in.

Most of this pulling sensation of essence was towards the core of the Spiritual World, with the remainder of the colorful and vibrant essence washing over the lands of all the continents as the atmospheric levels of mana rose crazily once more.

The requirement of mana from the Spiritual World Master was met with ease as essence leaked from Noah without reservation, the congregation of all of these sources of essence causing a layer of glimmering colors to permanently lay over the lands of the expansive world and its connected continents as a beautiful scene played out in front of Noah's eyes.

He observed the many occurring changes as he saw the maximum size of the Spiritual World expanding once more, the Central Continent and the four connected floating Continents vibrating as they absorbed large amounts of essence and enlarged.

This phenomenon of essence absorption continued for another half hour as Noah observed things carefully, the advancement coming to an end only then as a flash of a ringed blue light erupted from the Spiritual World and spread out hundreds of miles in the void of space it was in.

The wild mana and essence calmed thereafter as a more massive Spiritual World showed itself in front of his eyes, the atmospheric mana rising to extreme levels again as one could almost physically discern it!

The upgrade to the 10th tier was completed without any issues, Noah placing his eyes on the Spiritual World Management ability to observe the detailed changes.

Upgrade Conditions: 10+ Spiritual Land Beasts at the World Rank, 5 Prime World Cores

The shining blue panel showing the ability was being filled with more and more words as it displayed itself beautifully, Noah noticing how the numbers of Spiritual World Beasts just continued to explode upwards as time passed.

If the number of such beasts continued to increase in such a manner while their ranks climbed higher as well, he saw himself releasing the more powerful beasts to participate in the coming wars as they gained more experience!

His eyes went further down as he saw the newly added plants, Fate's Orchard and Chaotic Amaranth. The names of these plants brought a smile to his face as with their appearance, the introduction of plants abundant in the Fate and Chaos Essence were born.

His wide smile was because these plants would be extremely helpful to him, but their appearance also meant that the Law Spaces for Fate and Chaos were also unlocked!

He affirmed these ideas as his eyes traveled further down the panel and focused on the feature of Law Space, seeing the addition of Fate and Chaos in a spectacular fashion.

[Law Space] :: Fields containing a higher concentration of particular laws can be created, granting increased comprehension speed to all that cultivate within. Currently unlocked spaces: Water, Fire, Earth, Air, Time, Space, Light, Dark, Fate, Chaos. Locked spaces: Aether, @##@#...

After he saw this, his thoughts were instantly relayed to the Spiritual World System as in the underground space of the Central Continent where the Time Space resided, the location where his clone was training in began trembling as Noah sent the command to create the new law spaces right away!

The second clone was already training in the junction of the Fire and Water Law Space, but now he would be standing in the junction of four different Law Spaces created in a square formation, their corners meeting in an area where the elements of Fire, Water, Chaos, and Fate would vibrantly gather together.

RUMBLE!

The creation of the Fate and Chaos Law spaces was just as eye catching, golden essence covering one side and a starry darkness covered the side of chaos, the environment and vegetation that matched these respective elements sprouting at the second clone continued his training without a second of delay, the beauty of the area he was in only reflecting for a second!

Above the skies of the Central Continent of the Spiritual World, Noah was no glancing at the unlocked feature after entering the 10th Tier, the feature of [Alchemy Hall].

[Alchemy Hall] :: A unique area where varying alchemic innovations take place. Capable of creating medicinal concoctions of the highest quality. Currently capable of creating Health Potion, Mana Potion, Strength Potion, Defense Potion, All Element Resist Potion...

[Health Potion] :: When consumed, revitalizes 20% of total health in 10 seconds. Required ingredients to craft: Athramire, Regal Flora, Fire Starter. Additional materials that would double the efficacy of the potion: A drop of blood from the Vampyre Progenitor.

The details of the newly unlocked feature that contained a vast array of possibilities showed itself in front of his eyes. This supposed [Alchemy Hall] was capable of creating numerous different potions, giving Noah the image of letting the Spiritual World System craft tons of potions for him to buff himself to even greater heights, or the even better way of boosting the strength of his subordinates during battle.

He glanced at the details of the [Health Potion] that had the plants he already unlocked in the Spiritual World as the requirement to craft the potion, with its effectiveness being doubled if he added his own blood!

This was only made possible due to the trait of [Blood Panacea] that stemmed from his Vampyre Progenitor Bloodline.

The other potions had similar descriptions, their ingredients being the only thing that changed. But they were all things which could be found in the Spiritual World!

Noah nodded as he looked at this new feature, glancing further below the Spiritual World Management skill panel as he saw the requirements for the upgrade to the next tier. His eyes blinked rapidly as he wondered whether he was seeing things, the required number of World Cores making him do a double take. His thoughts were affirmed when the voice of the Spiritual World System rang out in his mind.

[The requirement for the next tier really is 5 Prime World Cores. As you know, under special circumstances, this is the least possible number required before a realm can come to life.]

Noah's eyes squinted as he stared at the panel closely while listening to the Spiritual World System, not thinking that the 10th upgrade he just conducted would actually be the tier right before the World became a Realm!

Chapter 503 Realms 101

A Realm!

The next tier of the Spiritual World was not anything simple like going from a Large World and into a Prime World. Similar to the past upgrade where it went from needing the Core of a Small World to needing the Core of a Large World for the upgrade he just conducted, the next rank did not just ask for a Prime World Core, but 5 of them in order to take the Spiritual World into the stage of a Realm at once!

This stage was something very few Worlds were capable of achieving, there needing to be numerous qualities that had to be met before such an event could take place.

An example was something like the Ancient Blood World where the Vampyre Progenitor left behind. That enormous world had become a Realm in the past, but it had downgraded over time and returned to a Prime World as nearly all of its people were gone from it, the essence and status of the world gradually declining until it returned to a Prime one.

But this also meant that with enough essence and status, a world could be raised to the level of a Realm depending on what beings, treasures, or other unique factors that surrounded it!

The Celestial Stars where numerous forces of Celestials were clustered could be considered one such case, where they were larger than most Prime World and on their way to becoming Realms, the status of the world and the beings within it growing ever so larger as time passed. Such worlds were on the cusp of becoming a realm just from status alone, but what prevented it was the essence required which continued to be absorbed from the starry void of space for hundreds of years.

When it came to Noah, he had his own plans of the formation as a realm, as such a task became particularly easy for him in terms of essence. This was because he had the essence of numerous worlds, and he even more recently attached himself to tens of Prime Worlds all across the Light Expanse!

His first clone was still steadily continuing on this task even now as he fully had the requirement of essence down, with all that was left being the status of the world, which was affected by the beings dwelling in it. There were numerous Realms spread out across the Novus Galaxy, some known and some hidden, and each with their own unique features.

The feature that unified all of them together...was the fact that every established realm had its own independent space!

Its own spatial territory that one could not observe unless they used the only thing shown to the outside world- an entrance. This was why the Infernal Realms had huge gates floating in space, and also the same reason for the golden gate leading to the Celestial Realm.

These gates could not be destroyed, nor could they be moved. Such a thing made it so that destroying a Realm was nigh impossible, as it first existed in its own independent space, and the only place leading to it was indestructible!

This was something that Noah badly wanted- a place that would be very hard for others to destroy, something that could act like a stronghold! He looked forward to the future where he could establish his own realm, his own hidden spatial realm where the worry of its destruction or his own would never weigh down on him so heavily.

His eyes shone as he looked at the first possibility of a realm opening itself up in front of him, the worlds he was connected to not yet achieving the required status, but this unique treasure bypassing all of that as it showed a path never before followed.

In his heart, there was already a plan of using simple brute force and essence on the worlds he was connected to in order to form a realm that actually combined many of them to quickly achieve the required status, but he would test things out with this method the Spiritual World provided as he gained the smooth experience without the danger of the unknown!

He glanced at the Spiritual World that continued to surprise him as he checked out the rest of the features, sending many commands to the Spiritual World System for renovations and places to set up the newly unlocked Fate and Chaos Spaces aside from the small areas in the Time Space where his clone was training in.

In the clear blue sky in a certain paradisiacal clearing of the Golden Bastion, Athena was sitting down with a pleasant expression as essence vibrated around her. There was a gold light slowly flowing in the area she was in as her body was lifted off of the floor and floated in the air. Her eyes opened sharply as she felt the vibrant strength at the World Realm strongly bounce off around her!

Unexpectedly, this War Princess had actually broken through in a matter of days after she utilized the treasures handed down to her along with her own unique genius as she combined valuable materials and treasures that very few could enjoy along with sheer willpower of strength to break through.

The weakness she felt when looking at the dominating scenes of a particular Infernal Lord faded as she clenched her fists and felt the feeling of power, knowing that she now stood on the same realm as that being.

At this stage, she should be able to handle someone of that caliber with her unique abilities, right?

"Athena."

Her questioning thoughts came to a stop as she heard a telepathic message call out to her, the voice of Grandmaster Vredral ringing in her mind as it called for her to come towards the central area of the Golden Bastion.

She was not the only one receiving such a message, as Noah who was floating in the Spiritual World and marveling at the new upgrades and features received the same message, calling him back to the Golden Bastion as something grand was about to occur!

Chapter 504 Radiant Protector , A Call to be a Commander!

Noah heard the message of Grandmaster Vredral ring out in his mind as he finished relaying his commands to the Spiritual World System. Many of his commands were for designs of the enormous continents of the Spiritual World, making the addition of Fate and Chaos Law Spaces in wide regions on the four floating continents surrounding the Central one.

He wanted to create this wide array of spaces that were filled with Fate and Chaos Essence as beasts of those elements would be born in the places thereafter, granting an increased quality of powerful beasts rising in the Spiritual World.

Aside from that, the production of numerous Potions from the Alchemy Hall were underway as the vibrant medicinal herbs and plants needed were plucked from the many fields and began being processed, Noah himself producing a few gallons of his blood that was a [Panacea], healing himself thereafter as his main body turned into particles and disappeared from the Spiritual World thereafter.

His main body would head back into the ranks of the Celestials as his two clones continued advancing forward, his second Clone that was training the laws and proficiencies in the Time Space already making progress as the skill tree of [Fate's Guardian] was currently being advanced forward, a new addition being made!

DOMAIN Fate's Guardian :: As a beginner just learning the workings of fate, the role of a guardian that protects the weak and eviscerates evil is given to you. Abilities include Empyrean Guards(5/5), Empyrean Armament(5/5), Smite of Liberation(5/5), and Judgment(5/5). >> [Unruly Guider] (60/60) :: A path of one that questions and forms their own rules, using immense offensive power to guide lost beings. Additional Abilities include Empyrean Ruler (5/5), Liberator (5/5), Fate Stealer(5/5) Golden Guider(5/5) >> [Radiant Protector] (75/75) :: [Bright Absorber] (5/5), [Smiter] (5/5), Aura of Fate, [Golden Decree] (5/5)

[Bright Absorber] (5/5) PASSIVE :: The essence of Fate easily draws towards you, granting you 50% Increased comprehension in the Law of Fate.

[Smiter] (5/5) PASSIVE :: Any cast Blades of Liberation are enhanced, their power quadrupled as their size becomes no less than 25 meters.

[Aura of Fate] (5/5) PASSIVE :: The distinct aura of fate wraps around the body of the Radiant Protector and allows for all cast abilities and skills to be layered with the essence of fate. +100% Fate Damage to all utilized abilities.

[Golden Decree] (5/5) ACTIVE :: A decree erupts out from the Radiant Protector, affecting the surrounding miles as a golden star that releases a resplendent light shines over the user and their allies. Grants the Enhanced All Element Resistance, Rapid Healing, Bolster Defense, Sharpened Attack, Clear Mind, and Light Feet skill effects.

In the Time Space of the Spiritual World, the second clone had already begun showing the rapid progress that would soon be made as a skill tree was already advanced in a short period of time.

Now at the Domain Rank, the [Fate's Guardian] skill tree had another subset abilities under the pathway of the [Radiant Protector]!

Two passive abilities contained within, one of them granting him even faster progression in the Law of Fate, and the other boosting the attack power of [Smite of Liberation] heavily as any cast Blades of Liberation would now be no less than 25 meters.

This was half the size of an Elite Behemoth, and yet he would be able to cast many of them down towards his enemies, and with their power quadrupled at that!

Putting aside the ridiculousness of this ability, the passive [Aura of Fate] ability simply layered fate essence into any and all attacks he cast, while [Golden Decree] was an area of effect ability that would immensely boost himself and his subordinates whenever they faced large amounts of enemies.

His abilities just continued expanding, his clone only sparing them a glance before he moved on to training other skills, his task continuing methodically as the main body neared the Golden Bastion in the Celestial Realm.

Noah followed the directions of the message as he went further into the Golden Bastion that was unusually boisterous, numerous Warships entering and moving as the golden figures of Celestials frolicked quickly back and forth.

The words of Grandmaster Vredral led him towards an enormous dome shaped building that looked like a cathedral, this location being one where the Grandmasters with high status and roles gathered!

He opened the large doors as he felt the auras of Athena and Vredral further inside, surrounded by numerous other Celestials with world shaking power. The inside of the cathedral looking building was an expansive rectangular hall, many figures moving within busily as Noah noticed a few at the forefront.

The Three-Eyed Fate Child, Light, and Athena were standing next to Grandmaster Vredral, Noah noticing the auras of Athena and the Three-Eyed Fate Child actually fluctuating strongly at the World Realm, Grandmaster Light being the only one that remained in the Domain Rank!

His eyes squinted as he expected the Three-Eyed Fate Child to break through into the next rank as he received the same treasure as him, but Athena was unexpected as even with lesser quality treasures, she had somehow used them to effectively break through into the World Rank.

Noah's entrance brought a few looks as he nodded, smiling towards Athena who had a valiant look as the voice of Grandmaster Vredral rang out.

"The last of you are here, so I will begin."

The voice of the aged Grandmaster was excited as he glanced at the four of them, the surrounding Celestials taking a pause as they looked forth as well.

"Using the little authority I still have as your teacher, I am happy to relay the command that the four winners of the Battle of Geniuses will each be given a Celestial Legion to lead and foster, with the four of you gaining a unique title that very few Grandmasters have a chance to!"

The surrounding Celestial stopped their tasks in the hall as they glanced up towards the four figures and Vredral with shining eyes, the excited Grandmaster waving his hands as four dazzling medallions appeared in the air and floated towards Noah and the others.

"I am proud to complete my work as a teacher and be the one to award you with the Commander's Golden Medallion, the four of you effectively gaining the title of Commanders that will lead your own Legion into battle against the wretched creatures of the Dark Expanse!"

RUMBLE!

A golden air of regality and majesty erupted, lines of fate swirling around from just this simple declaration, cheers resounding in the hall thereafter as four new Commanders entered the ranks of Celestials.

Chapter 505 A Prison Break

The area around the cathedral styled building turned even more vibrant and busy after this news spread out, the crowning of four new Commanders that would each lead their own legions spreading out across the Golden Bastion.

One was Commander Crixus, the Destroyer!

Another was the War Princess, Commander Athena!

You then had the terrifying Commander Three-Eyed, and the vivacious Commander Light!

Four new commanders, two holding titles of Noble Fates, the other two being Special Existences. With such new additions to the fighting force of Celestials, many stopped the inner worries when they recalled of the battle power of the briefly appearing 9th Infernal Lord that had defeated an entire Celestial Legion, their preparation continuing as the entirety of the explored regions of the Celestial Real became increasingly busy.

In the Golden Bastion, Noah was flipping the Commander's Golden Medallion as he recalled the words of the Grandmaster.

He would lead a Celestial Legion in the coming weeks towards the Dark Expanse as he gained experience and amassed more Fate Lines from defeating Infernal and those residing in the Dark Expanse, and depending on his performance and leadership, there were many opportunities to advance in the future!

If his genius was as exemplary as many believed, then he would not just stop at leading a single Celestial Legion, but would instead be a Commander that led many into the battlefield, amassing even more power as time passed.

It was a powerful rank that very few Celestials could achieve, and Noah had arrived here!

"You weren't in the lead for too long, Junior Brother."

A bright voice rang out behind Noah as he turned to see Athena, his lips curling in a smile as he tried to take her in his arms, the War Princess dodging him with a smile as she continued

"There will be a time for celebration later. Why don't we go spar now that we are in the same realm again? I am itching for a good match before we get assigned a legion."

"As you wish, my dear Senior Sister."

The War Princess was looking for another spar as Noah agreed while keeping his hidden smile with him, knowing his plans with the War Princess were still heading in the proper direction!

This being that was now a Commander of a Celestial Legion was already slightly under his influence, and he would increase this influence rapidly in the coming weeks before he used this piece whenever an opportunity for it arose in the future.

For now, he continued moving in the Celestial Realm, gaining the title of a Commander while awaiting his own Celestial Legion!

Far away across the starry expanse of space, his first clone that had been forming connections with planets and had been able to add many to his collection, giving this task a rest for now as tens of Prime World were added without any issues.

News of the disappearing Prime Worlds had already began to make waves among the power of the Light Expanse, putting many beings on edge as the Celestials were also notified of this. But in this tense period right before the full explosion of war, there were too many things to handle as this issue of disappearing worlds was just one among the many!

The abundance of all of these newly added Worlds only propagated the status and rate of advancements of Noah's homeworld and any other worlds that weren't at the stage of a Prime World, their path towards such a level becoming smoother and smoother as the Worlds only acclimated to the ever so increasing essence and broke through to higher stages.

This task of World connections was given a rest as Noah followed the third thing aside from upgrading the Blood Lord skill tree and upgrading the Spiritual World- it was finally the task of freeing the being dwelling in the 7th Celestial Star!

This Celestial Star was among the many that were currently filled with activity, Prime Warships rapidly moving in and out as preparations were underway.

The mountain that was under the control of Grandmaster Vredral was fairly empty, leaving a few disciples to take care of the wondrous medicinal gardens and other tasks since the departure of the Grandmaster. The brilliance and beauty of the area he was in did not even register in Noah's mind as he carefully moved.

He crouched down among the thickets of trees of this mountain as he took out the vial containing a starry dark mixture, it being something that was handed down from the forces of Vampyres, but it's true source was actually from the 2nd Infernal Lord that was working closely with the Grand Mage Edrusim!

When Noah first got it, he could not discern its identity, but it was clear as day to him now as he glanced at its description.

[Pestiferous Chaos] :: A unique chaos essence that originates from the source of a powerful Infernal Lord at the Nebula Stage, and is capable of interfering with chains of Fate. This particular essence has a designated target on the 7th Celestial Star.

A vial containing a liquid deeply entrenched in Chaos Essence, something that was actually specifically manufactured under the wishes of the Grand Mage Edrusim from the 2nd Infernal Lord that stood at the peak of the levels reached in the Novus Galaxy!

This vial was then passed to the Vampyres until it reached Noah's hands, where he now took it out and actually popped the stopper.

RUMBLE!

Weak waves fluctuated as Noah quickly reigned them in, the liquid from the vial flying out as if possessed and beginning to drill down towards the earth below his feet. His figure miniaturized to follow the rapidly moving chaos essence as it went deeper and deeper underground, his body following along as a few minutes passed before they broke through numerous layers and reached a wide cave filled with vibrant crystals.

The most eye catching thing in this cave was also the location where the chaos essence was shooting towards, the singular place that held an enormous golden cage, this cage having protruding spears that pierced into the body of a single being!

OOOM!

The chaos essence latched on to the cage filled with glistening spears as it began its job of quickly eating away at them, the unique energy of a stage Noah had yet to reach leaking out as the creation of an Item made by a Nebula class expert proceeded to do its job of freeing a certain being.

Noah's figure broke through the clearing as he came to float in the air, his eyes looking into the rapidly dissolving spears of the cage as they connected with the prisoner contained within.

A wide but tired smile was on the prisoner's face as he glanced at Noah, speaking out in a clear voice that Noah was familiar with!

"It's been a while, Noah Osmont."

Chapter 506 Steal and Run!

"It's been a while, Noah Osmont."

Noah glanced at the aged figure of a face he was familiar with, the being that appeared before him in the past as the Karmic Sect Leader Inuit fitting the face of the imprisoned figure that was currently pierced through by multiple golden rods.

The chaos essence backed by the power of a Nebula class being ate away at these golden rods rapidly as blood ruptured out freely from where the disappearing spears were piercing, Noah looking at this scene as he sent forth a golden essence to heal this being!

Noah's figure went forward and clasped onto the body of the aged being as the last spear piercing him faded, the voice of Inuit ringing out once more thereafter as he glanced towards Noah with a smile.

"You do not seem all that surprised?"

He posed a question as Noah continued to wash his body over with radiant essence, stopping blood from leaking out of the many holes, but that was all his energy did! The injuries did not heal anymore than this as he finally spoke towards this old benefactor of his.

"I theorized multiple possibilities for your identity, being a prisoner from the last war and the target of the mission given to me weeks ago was one of them."

"I have to thank you once more for saving my life in the past, and I have even more questions I want to ask you before you fade away again, but we might have to move fast to leave this place."

Noah said this as he glanced at the chaotic essence that had chewed through the cage completely, knowing that some kind of signal could be sent out as a consequence, and he still had something to do on this Celestial Star before too many powerful Celestials were alerted!

"Oh, we have less than 3 minutes. If you planned to do anything grand like massacre everyone on this Star before we leave, it might not be too advisable as an old friend is quickly going to descend, and I don't think you're a match for him yet."

"An old friend?"

Inuit had a calm expression as Noah helped him up, replying to his question as he tried to move the joints of his body that had been stuck in place for hundreds of years!

"Yes, someone you know as the Founder."

Noah paused as he looked at the old man that just dropped a bombshell, his mind already having calculated a lot about this mysterious being he was rescuing, but he wasn't privy to the information that he was connected to the Founder of the Celestials!

His mind worked rapidly as he heard this new information and the limited time they had, changing the plans of taking down the powerful Celestial of this star for Fate Lines as he moved on to another objective that he should be able to complete in time.

"Go on and do what you need to, nobody else will be coming down here in the next 3 minutes. I'll use the few minutes to stretch my legs."

Inuit spoke out with a smile as he raised his body by himself, stretching his imprisoned limbs as Noah saw there was no time to waste and nodded, moving on to try and complete at least another part of the objective.

SHAA!

His figure descended further down into the earth as he drilled rapidly, his goal actually being the core of this brilliant Celestial Star that was bigger than most Prime Worlds and infinitely neared the stage of a realm!

He originally planned to release a Blood World and a World Veil to take down everyone in this star first before plucking away its core, but after getting the knowledge that the Founder would be coming in a matter of minutes, he was only confident in taking away the Core of the Star within that time period.

OOOM!

His figure broke through the inner layer of the luminous world as a golden rotating core laid in front of his eyes, his hands waving forward rapidly as he cast [Devouring], leaking mana senselessly to steal a peak Prime World Core in less than a minute!

RUMBLE!

[A being of your stature should not be violating an entit-]

The voice of the World Core had already begun to ring out in Noah's mind, but he ignored it as he continued to release his mana even faster, the entire golden core soon becoming fully wrapped by the darkness released from [Devouring] as Noah began the process of swallowing!

It was a race against time as he counted down every passing second, his mind working rapidly as he saw the progression of Devouring get faster and faster!

CRACK!

A disconnect was soon felt between the planet and its core, Noah spending enormous amounts of mana to completely devour it as it went into the [Large Stomach] of the Sin of Gluttony.

The moment he finished this, his figure teleported back to the location he had left the aged Inuit as he found the old man to be calmly stretching and then voicing out to him.

"Ready?"

RUMBLE!

The earth around them had begun to shake as the star lost its core, its destruction and implosion not too far away as Noah expected many Celestials on this 7th Celestial Star to actually lose their lives from the implosion of this star, only the truly powerful ones being able to survive the implosion of a Prime World!

His hand grasped onto the body of Inuit as he instantly began teleporting away with him, but not before his eyes caught on to the appearance of a powerful being materializing into the underground space as he and Inuit were teleporting away from it.

As if time had slowed down, the clear eyes of Inuit and the squinting eyes of Noah were able to lock on to the materializing particles of light that was actually the Founder himself, his face still apathetic as his eyes held a trace of anger!

A single glance between the three of them...and that was it!

Noah and Inuit's figure completely disappeared in the underground space, the alerted Founder missing them for less than a millisecond...

Chapter 507 The Destruction of a Celestial Star!

The Founder stared coldly as the world around him shook, fissures beginning to spread out as an immensely destructive shattering of a star was about to occur and take the lives of all that lived on the 7th Celestial Star!

The many powerful Grandmasters had sensed the powerful fluctuations seconds ago, but they could not do much besides save their own lives from the force of the coming explosion as those that were powerful enough to react went ahead and reacted.

RUMBLE!

But at this moment, a unique golden glow erupted from the body of the Founder that went on to rapidly cover the destabilized and imploding star, the planet that was heading towards destruction actually being brought to a halt as all movements ceased!

The many Celestials that felt the aura of death coming for them breathed out as they heard commands ring out in their minds soon after, and they came from a voice that could not be denied!

"Quickly evacuate all forces and treasures."

The first command was given to all the beings in the 7th Celestial Star, another command ringing out to the powerful Grandmasters that resided on this dying Celestial Star as it also spread out to the minds of the presiding Celestial Grandmasters on the rest of the remaining Celestial Stars.

"Deploy sentries to spread out their aura over the entirety of all Celestial Stars. If they feel the intrusion of anything that should not be there, act to destroy and call for reinforcements right away if it cannot be handled."

The apathetic face of the founder released numerous telepathic commands as his eyes held a trace of anger, overlooking the destroyed golden cage where a prisoner used to be as he released numerous commands to make sure that nothing like what occurred would repeat again.

The defenses of the many Celestial Stars would be fortified even further after this, not even a rat being able to escape through the auras of Celestials that would be rotated to observe every corner of the Celestial Stars 24/7!

The immense essence that released from the Founder continued to keep the dying star that had lost its core together as the Celestials were evacuated, numerous Warships leaving the planet as it only took minutes for the powerful Celestials to get everyone and everything valuable off of this star.

At this point, the golden glow the Founder released receded into his body as the dying planet trembled again, streams of lava seen erupting soon thereafter as immense heat energy from the unstable core of the world was freely contracting and expanding, an explosion at the level of supernova forming as one could observe large cracks appear on the Celestial Star if they were looking from the void of space!

The Founder actually remained still in the underground area of this star where much of the force was gathering, his figure stable amidst the chaos as he wanted to ingrain this image into his mind. His robes fluttered as they were the only thing moved by the destructive energies, his body remaining unbothered by the force of the exploding star.

CRACK! CRACK!

The cracks only continued as the force of the star folded onto itself before it rapidly exploded outwards, releasing waves of destructive energies that could be felt by all the Celestials that were either floating far away in the void of space or in numerous Warships.

Silence erupted out as bursts of wrath and anger filled the minds of the Inhabitants of the dead star, their hearts feeling pain as they watched the place where some of them had spent hundreds of years in be taken away in a flash!

In the middle of the debris and the center point of the explosion, one could notice the unbothered figure of the Founder floating peacefully as he glanced at the pieces of the shattered star, numerous thoughts swirling in his mind as his apathetic expression remained the same. Numerous lines of fate swirled towards him as he had just saved and changed the fates of many beings, his image shining resplendently amidst the destruction.

'You want to play like that? I'll play like that.'

A deadly thought filled with anger passed through the mind of the Founder, his emotions actually being moved for the first time ever as the event which had occurred now involved a being he used to call a friend, someone he could not bear to bring himself to kill and had locked away in the 7th Celestial Star.

Yet, he remembered the distinct face of the same Infernal Lord that had appeared before him not too long ago appear again, and this time he took something that actually had a level of care in his heart, and right in front of him at that!

It was a face that actually looked at him without an ounce of fear or respect, their eyes that locked gazes in the millisecond before the teleportation showing the Founder the attitude of this being as he marked him for death right away.

His figure began gaining a luminous glow as the millions of angry Celestials focused on the being that had saved them, the Ruler of the organization that held full control of the Light Expanse and was now on track to expand his rule. The voice of this Founder rang out in the void of space as he looked around at the beings full of anger.

"This is the type of future we can look forward to if we leave the Dark Expanse alone."

RUMBLE!

Waves of power traveled with his voice as this message was not just being passed to the nearby watching Celestials that used to reside on the 7th Celestial Star, but a video feed of the destroyed star was being shown to all the Celestials in the numerous Celestial Stars in the Light Expanse as well as the Celestial Realm, his voice reaching the ears of all that needed to hear his message!

"It is lawlessness, chaos, and disorder. As practitioners of Fate, it is our duty to bring order and balance across our Novus Galaxy and bring a stop to such chaos that the savages dwelling within cause!"

OOOOH!

Rousing shouts erupted out as the hearts of the inhabitants of the 7th Celestial Star especially felt strong emotions, their hatred and resolve for the coming war only being steeled as time passed.

In the perspective of these beings, they were practicing a Supreme Law to bring order into the Universe, and they just saw first hand the need for their power and conquest over the Novus Galaxy as their own home was attacked and destroyed by the beings called savages!

Those watching also felt the strong emotions as hatred and alienation continued to develop, the feelings of war only expanding as the words of the Founder rang out in their minds.

"This is why we go to War. Not because we want to, but because we need to! It is for Order and Balance."

OOOOH!

"For Order!"

"For Balance!"

RUMBLE!

Waves of fate rolled out as the significance of the releasing of a certain prisoner and the destruction of a star spread out, the Founder doing what he did best as he led his people and used the chance to reinforce and steel their resolve for the atrocities that would soon be committed at the level not seen before!

Chapter 508 Unveiling Secrets

Noah reappeared with the aged Inuit on one of the floating continents of the Spiritual World where he had designed for the Fate Law Space to be, the arrival of this being that was caged beneath the 7th Celestial Star being a wondrous land that was filled with plants and vegetation that held a tinge of gold in their green.

Inuit looked around him as he discovered small beasts that held ounces of the essence of fate moving around, their eyes sparkling with curiosity as they looked at their appearing figures and then moved away.

The aged being saw that this area that was brimming with overwhelming fate essence was wide, his eyes using the little strength left in him to observe 3 other floating continents from the one he stood on, and a single larger continent that stood at the center which brimmed with life!

Noah on the other hands had a troubled expression as he heard the strong words of the Founder through his main body in the Celestial Realm, his mind only being pulled back as he heard the voice of Inuit ring out beside him.

"A truly wondrous place you made for yourself here."

The aged old man took Noah out of his thoughts as he bent to smell the flowing leaves and flowers around them, his body still seeming feeble as Noah assessed him fully.

Being a bit less than 2 meters, Inuit was clad in white hair that dropped to his shoulders, his facial expression sunken as he looked extremely malnourished, his eyes actually gleaming with a silver light as the injuries on his body were serious, Noah's awareness catching that the many holes which the golden spears had dug through were not healing.

RUMBLE!

He waved his hands as he pulled out numerous Supreme Behemoth materials and meat from his [Expansive Space], sending word to the Spiritual World System to send him the newly created [Healing Potion] as he also cast one of his newly gained abilities from the Fate's Guardian skill tree, it was [Golden Decree]!

[Golden Decree] (5/5) ACTIVE :: A decree erupts out from the Radiant Protector, affecting the surrounding miles as a golden star that releases a resplendent light over the user and their allies. Grants the Enhanced All Element Resistance, Rapid Healing, Bolster Defense, Sharpened Attack, Clear Mind, and Light Feet effects.

A shimmering golden star appeared above them as waves of gold washed down to wrap around his body and the body of Inuit, his voice resounding thereafter as he looked at the old man that did not look bothered by the injuries, his gaze continuing to look around the luminous area of the Spiritual World with a smile.

"How should I address you, benefactor?"

He was wondering which identity to use when it came to this being, a light laugh and a reply coming to him soon after.

"Old Man Inuit is fine. I am after all just an old man at this point, a dredge still hanging on in the river of time."

The resplendent light from [Golden Decree] washed over his body as he seemed visibly brighter, Noah beginning to cook the many Supreme Behemoth portions of meat that he took out as he also added his blood that had the qualities of [Panacea] to heal Old Man Inuit faster. This was because this time, he wanted to begin by finally probing for answers from this being!

"As we get your health back, would it be ok for me to ask you to unveil some of the mysteries?"

Old Man Inuit smiled as he turned to the skies to watch the glimmering star brought forth by [Golden Decree] as he voiced out.

"You've come along far and deserve some answers, that is if you are willing to listen to the ramblings of an old man."

Noah nodded his head as he waved his hands and used the [Architecture] feature of the Spiritual World, a regal and immaculate outdoor dining area forming in front of their eyes as he invited the old man to comfortably sit as powerful waves of essence bore towards him to try and heal his body, the food that Noah was cooking also soon being ready as he would have food to enjoy for the first time in hundreds of years!

What followed after that...was a story.

A story of the past, of the events that took place in the War of the Righteous, and of the reason as to why the three Founders of the Celestials had fractured in that single war more than a thousand years ago!

"It all began with the three of us, three friends looking to increase their power, but each of us found something entirely different..."

The gaze of Old Man Inuit was reminiscent as he began weaving his story, beginning with how the three of them had first come in contact with the golden doorway that led into the Celestial Realm as well as their exploration.

"From the Inheritances that gave us immense strength all the way to the treasures we found, each of us believed that we were meant for great things, our futures shining brightly as they called out to us!"

They saw a grand future ahead of them, but for them to actually achieve this future, they had to resort to unsightly means in order to progress even faster. This was the source of the creation of the Celestials, as well as their conquest for the Light Expanse and the War of the Righteous that followed.

"Aldrich, the one you know as the Founder, was a very straightforward man that only saw a singular goal and did anything to achieve it. This trait was the one that propelled him to the stage he is at now, where his mission for strength and what he considered freedom...has only grown stronger as time passed."

Noah listened carefully to the unfolding story, already finding the name of the being all Celestials referred to as the founder to be Aldrich!

"Then there was me, and another friend that you have yet to meet, the one that is most likely still exploring the entirety of the Novus Galaxy at this moment...Fritz."

"The three of us had differing personalities and ideals, which is why during the War of the Righteous, we all took very different paths. As we saw the atrocities and destruction we committed, as well as the response- Fritz became disillusioned, Aldrich only saw the rise in his strength as he affirmed his power, while I...well, I fell in love."

The gaze of Old Man Inuit was cloudy as he continued, revealing the hidden history that very few beings had the knowledge of in this Novus Galaxy!

Chapter 509 Love!

Love!

During the War of the Righteous, Inuit had actually fallen in love, and it was one of the major reasons for the rift that occurred thereafter!

"It was a unique being that joined the War after some time, a being that actually came from the Ancient Races of beings in the Letalis Expanse. It was the person that you actually carry the bloodline of right now...the Vampyre Progenitor."

A forlorn and longing look appeared on Old Man Inuit's face as he spoke out, Noah's eyes nearly bulging out as he asked while surprised.

"How? You were both on opposing sides..."

"I met her on the battlefield and fell in love on the battlefield. I used my skills in the Law of Fate and Karma to discern that my future lied with her...but even I was wrong."

Yes! Even though fate led him towards the Vampyre Progenitor, it was not to grant him a happy life with a being he could be happy with, but it was simply the hands of fate steering events to a certain direction as even someone that had millions of Fate Lines like Inuit read his Fate wrong!

"Aldrich very soon found my connection with her, with Anna...and he wrathfully set out to extinguish this being that he considered to have made his friend weak."

"She showed me a different world, a different path to follow that was not just for the sake of power and conquest. I looked at her as my future, so when Aldrich set out to destroy it...I fought back."

During the War of the Righteous, a rift had occurred between the leaders of Celestials that nobody knew of, a rift that resulted in one of the Founders being pitted against another, a rift that eventually went on to cause the death of the Vampyre Progenitor!

"He moved to target Anna and her forces as they rested from a recent battle, and I arrived just in time to stop him from taking her life. But at that point, she had suffered severe injuries that had damaged her Origin too greatly, and I saw the fate of death soon coming for her."

As he spoke, glistening tears fell from the sunken eyes of this formerly powerful being had his gaze lost in time as he thought back to a long forgotten era!

He had held off Aldrich as the Vampyre Progenitor went to go find safety, eventually returning to the Ancient Blood World as her forces faced defeat after defeat thereafter, some surrendering in the Light Expanse as others retreated into the Dark Expanse.

In the Ancient Blood World, she had used her remaining Origin to set up the Inheritance of her bloodline, the few remaining Royal Vampyres being able to come into the world to awaken bloodlines of Vampyres for the future.

"Even as she spent the rest of her days thinking of her Race, I could not be with her as it was this time that Aldrich saw my heart was completely set on something else, and he saw this as a great betrayal as he actually went on to shatter the source of my power...directly injuring my Origin as he stripped me of all my Fate Lines, and all of my power."

A somber silence came between them as Noah processed these words, hearing the terrible power of the Founder, Aldrich, who had simply shattered the power of someone at the same rank as him and then kept them as a prisoner for hundreds of years!

"He was ruthless, cold, but most of all calculating. He would not allow anything to stand on his path, and he became even more isolated after Fritz, the only other friend between the three of us- saw what he had done."

"Near the end of the War when we witnessed the terrible power of the Terror, one of the beings that rules over the Letalis Expanse that gave me my Anna...this was when Fritz ended up leaving Aldrich as well."

At the end of the War of the Righteous, the three Founders of the Celestials were no more as one was stripped of all their power and jailed to a certain star, another became disillusioned on their mission and left to do what his heart desired, and the only one that remained was Aldrich- the one currently known as the only Founder!

The defeat of the Celestials by the hands of the Terror in the last war dealt heavy tolls, but Aldrich only grew stronger from it as his mission was now all that existed, and he would stop at nothing to achieve it.

During all of this time, Old Man Inuit remained bound and chained on the 7th Celestial Star, where for hundreds of years he was searching for a way...a way to achieve the dream of peace that Anna, the Vampyre Progenitor- had told him!

"It was only a few decades ago when I began hearing whispers of a name in the river of fate which I then connected to the Law of Karma, and I was able to get a few distinct clues of the rising of a being that could make a dying dream a possibility."

The gaze of Old Man Inuit glanced deeply at Noah when he reached this point, his eyes that looked to be filled with pain and wisdom locking with Noah's eyes as he continued.

"I tried to gleam of this bright future and saw many ways it could be snuffed out, and I used whatever remained of my power to try and steer it towards the proper direction. Saving you in the Lost World, guiding you to the World of Cultivation, the journey from there that led you to the Infernal Realm..."

Old Man Inuit continued to talk more and more as Noah continued to listen gravely, the sequence of events being too wondrous to follow as he continued!

From the Lost World to the World of Cultivation and then into the Infernal Realm, to then being noticed by Celestials as he came upon the same star that Old Man Inuit was chained in...until where he was right now!

There were many steps, but they all seemed to be leading to a singular destination.

Was this...fate?!

"I tried my best to steer fate in towards the optimum result, giving you some techniques and treasures that I thought would be of use, even advising to be careful of women and love as it was exactly what brought me to my current fate."

"Sometimes I was right, other times I was wrong. Some advice I gave you and you didn't even need it, even some items that you have yet to use to get to the stage you're currently at."

Old Man Inuit was stroking his beard mysteriously as he let out a light laugh, Noah waving his hand as he looked at [Lawful Nourishment] that he had received from Inuit in the World of Cultivation.

The treasure also had the attribute of increasing the comprehension of universal laws, and he was already refining Soul Jades in the Spiritual World as he planned to layer the uses of this treasure to the vibrant Law Spaces and many more things.

"This is the problem with Fate...we can only be right about it so many times! But ultimately, here we are. Here you are."

The gaze of Old Man Inuit was bright as he looked at Noah.

"A grand fate awaits you...but only if you seek it and fight for it! Though I'm sure you'll know this soon enough as your comprehension in the Law of Fate increases."

Noah put away the glimmering pendant in his hands as he looked at the old man, many thoughts coursing through his mind as the meeting that unveiled many secrets continued!

Chapter 510 Prevent a Catastrophe!

In the mystical environment of one of the floating continents of the Spiritual World where Noah placed the Fate Law Space, the golden green vegetation waved peacefully around his figure and the figure of Old Man Inuit who was slowly savoring the meat of Supreme Behemoths.

"Now this I haven't had in a while. I'm assuming Aldrich has not made any headway into the Central Realm?"

Old Man Inuit voiced out as he ate, using the words Central Realm to refer to the more commonly known Celestial Realm at this time!

"I'm not too sure on this as I was just named a Commander to be given my own Legion soon. I'm not too knowledgeable, but why do you believe he hasn't made any progress?"

Inuit enjoyed a sumptuous bite before he replied with a profound gaze.

"Because the entity that he hates so much simply won't let him. It's the reason for his obsession, and also why you might have heard him scream about his goal of freedom."

Even more mysteries were being unveiled as Old Man Inuit spoke, Noah listening intently as he wanted to absorb all the information he could before the ensuing conflict.

It seemed that there were more clues that were involved into the reason as to why the Celestials had explored such little regions of the Celestial Realm after such a long period of time, and it was apparently because even their strongest being, the Founder, could actually not make any more headway either!

"If you delve further into the Central Realm, you will actually reach a certain point where you cannot cross, a barrier existing that none of us could break, no matter if we were at the World or the Nebula Realm it seems. It's also because of this that Aldrich's hatred was compounded even more."

Yes! This was the reason for the immense contempt and hate the founder held when he talked about the playground they were all in-it was because he could see the wondrous treasures lying deeper into the Celestial Realm, and yet he was denied them at every turn!

When he also wanted to increase his power in the Law of Fate even faster by propagating a War and increasing his influence, the power of a Terror that he could not deny also came down to stop him.

At every turn he went, he was stopped left and right as he developed the mindset of a caged being that could not do what he wished, and this was why he spoke of breaking free out of this playground!

"He's publicly said that he will set us all free."

Noah voiced out these words as he looked carefully towards Old Man Inuit, a grim look appearing on the aged figure as he shook his head and replied.

"There are many more mysteries that I do not know, but from the last words of the Terror in the War of the Righteous...Aldrich's goals would just invite a disastrous catastrophe!"

RUMBLE!

Waves of essence erupted out just from the mere mention of words, Noah sensing his surroundings as he saw the energies of fate and chaos being particularly vibrant.

Old Man Inuit continued as the golden rays of light released from Noah's [Golden Decree] and the vibrant food he was eating was making his figure more and more livelier.

"It is precisely this Catastrophe that you must prevent, as most likely even the Terrors nor Ancients will be moving in this Last War."

"Why is that?"

Noah probing asked a question that pointed to the mysteries of Ancients and Terrors, his mind keen to know more about the beings he was unlocking the skill pathways of!

"This...even I do not fully know!"

Old Man Inuit replied while shaking his head, his eyes landing on Noah once more as he asked with a smile.

"But that's enough of a boring old man's story. You probably have many things on your plate and I should not keep you from doing them. What were you planning on doing next?"

The aged being with eyes full of wisdom asked Noah, his body becoming livelier as time passed.

Noah thought about the rough schedule he was setting up for himself as he replied.

"One of me will be heading towards the stronghold of the Vampyres in the Dark Expanse soon. There, I will properly be taking up the mantle as the Vampyre Progenitor."

His words caused a strong light to shine in Inuit's eyes, as it was actually the Vampyres and The Grand Mage Edrusim that had made his escape that Noah initiated in the 7th Celestial Star possible, they being the ones who actually had the goal of saving him!

"I'll have to tag along with you and see what has become of Anna's race then. I won't be of much use to you now besides occasionally spout some nonsense as my Origin is nearly completely destroyed, with the only thing left in me being to maybe appear before Aldrich one last time to see if even an ounce of possibility exists for us all to come out of this alive."

Old Man Inuit spoke with a smile as he got up to stretch his body, the injuries this being had faced for hundreds of years healing ever so slowly as Noah looked at this and smiled lightly himself.

He had learned some more information about the Founder, and even glimpsed more of the mysteries of whatever entity was actually in steering the fates of trillions of beings in this Novus Galaxy.

He thought of the Celestial Realm that apparently had a barrier that even beings at the Nebula Realm could not pass after you reached a certain point, and he thought about the mysteries of the Ancients and the Terrors of the Letalis Expanse.

How was everything connected, what existed behind the barrier in the Celestial Realm, and what Catastrophe would come about if the goals of the Founder were achieved?

There were many questions and beings involved, and as always he felt like he had little time!

His main body was in the process of receiving an entire Legion to wage war against the vast regions of the Dark Expanse, his second clone was in the Time Space upgrading skill trees right at this moment, and his first clone was sitting with Old Man Inuit as he prepared to soon move towards the Vampyres of the Dark Expanse.

He could not be more thankful for his three bodies at this moment as he would have had to move at a turtles pace otherwise.

"By the way, now that I'm regaining some of my awareness and I can see more of this place you brought me in, just what exactly is this place that seems much too close in similarity to the Central Realm?"

The voice of Old Man Inuit rang out besides Noah as his awareness spread out across the Spiritual World, noticing the four floating continents that had areas of the Fire, Water, Chaos, and Fate Law Spaces!

He saw the small beasts carrying the essence of these respective elements moving across the wide and colorful lands, their features reminding him of the Celestial Realm as he looked around curiously.

"The grand fate following is something I have never come across before if you are even given things like this..."

Old Man Inuit voiced out mysteriously as Noah looked at his own Spiritual World.

Of course, he had noticed the similarities of the direction and features of the Spiritual World to the Celestial Realm! But he kept this in the back of his mind as he simply waited expectantly for a single future of this treasure.

Would this treasure that he had obtained in the Beast World really be something so wondrous to even come close to matching the Celestial Realm? The place where even the Celestials had explored very little of, and there apparently existed a point where nobody could even pass!

The questions and mysteries were many as thoughts jumped around in Noah's mind, his gaze overlooking the wondrous Spiritual World as he left behind what he could not answer now and got ready to move forward into the future.
