A Man Like None Other Chapter 2036

A Man Like None Other Novel

"All right, since you think it's unfair, I'll stop using it," Kai said, and the Dragonslayer Sword in his hand disappeared instantly. Toyotomi looked at Kai, feeling somewhat foolish. He had only been testing the waters. After all, who would care about fairness in a life-and-death battle?

However, he hadn't expected that Kai would really put away the Dragonslayer Sword. The only explanation for Kai's actions was that he wasn't taking Toyotomi seriously at all. "Remember, without the sword, you're still trash in my eyes," Kai said.

His right hand shone with a golden light, and he stomped his right foot heavily on the ground. The ground instantly caved in, and Kai's body shot toward Toyotomi like an arrow released from a bowstring.

Kai moved extremely fast, and in the blink of an eye, he was in front of Toyotomi. "Sacred Light Fist!" Kai struck Toyotomi's chest with great force. Toyotomi was caught off guard. He was hit by the powerful punch that caused the black scales on his body to shatter. His massive body was sent flying backward.

Boom! Toyotomi's body crashed heavily into the ground, creating a nearly ten-meter-wide crater, and he was buried within the broken rocks. Everyone stared at the scene in disbelief, and silence ensued. Hiroichi's Adam's apple bobbed. He looked toward the bottom of the mountain, seemingly searching for a way to escape. Soon, the large crater began to stir, and Toyotomi crawled out of it. A huge hole appeared in his chest, but it didn't take his life.

"Young man, you actually know the Sacred Light Fist technique? That was a secret technique of Demon Lord from thousands of years ago," Toyotomi said, looking at Kai with confusion.

The wound on his chest was healing at a visible speed. "It seems you know quite a bit about Chanaea. You even recognize whose secret technique this is," Kai said with a faint smile.

"Young man, no matter whose secret technique you've learned, you can't possibly kill me. I've said it before. I'm the master here, an unkillable existence," Toyotomi said coldly, looking at his already healed wound.

However, Kai didn't show the slightest surprise at the sight of Toyotomi's healed wound. "It's not that you can't die; it's just that I don't want to kill you. I want to devour all your power," Kai declared.

"Hmph, don't even think about it. I- Toyotomi wanted to say something, but before he could finish, he saw a flash of cold light before his eyes. Somehow, Kai had already appeared in front of him.

Seeing this, Toyotomi quickly reached out to grab Kai's shoulder, but Kai also grabbed his shoulder in return. "Let's see whose devouring power is stronger then," Toyotomi said. A vortex formed within his body, producing a tremendous suction force, which began to draw the spiritual energy from Kai's body.

Kai smiled faintly, activated his Focus Technique, and unleashed a massive suction force similar to a flood, instantly drawing a large amount of power from Toyotomi's body into his own.

Toyotomi's expression changed dramatically. He instinctively wanted to let go but found that Kai's body seemed to be full of suction force, making it impossible for him to move his hand.

Kai's Focus Technique was an excellent technique, far superior to Toyotomi's. Toyotomi struggled, but he couldn't break free. Everyone watched in puzzlement.

Soon, Toyotomi's massive body began to wither. The aura within his body grew weaker and weaker until, in the end, there was no life left in him.

Kai loosened his grip, and Toyotomi's desiccated body plopped to the ground with a light thud. "Woah! This feels good!" Excitement flooded Kai at the surge of spiritual energy within him..

Even though he had absorbed Toyotomi's powers, Kai's ability didn't advance to the next level. Kai was satisfied with the outcome regardless since Toyotomi's current powers were a tiny fraction of what it was before.

Moreover, after advancing into the Martial Arts. Saint rank, Kai would need a substantial amount of spiritual energy and resources to boost his cultivation level further. Hiroichi stared at the desiccated corpse of Toyotomi with a gaping mouth.

He's the Deity whom the entire populace of Xendale worship. The Deity with countless worshippers who had been revered for centuries was obliterated just like this? How is this possible?

Despite Hiroichi's disbelief, the truth was right in front of his eyes. He bore witness to Toyotomi's defeat with his own two eyes, so denial was pointless.

Ryosuke abruptly dropped to his knees and yelled, "Almighty Master, you're the true Deity!" Seeing Ryosuke's action, Yuri immediately followed suit and knelt on the ground.

As the head of the Watanabe family, Ryosuke was a well-known figure, and many looked up to him. Yet, the respected Ryosuke was kneeling in front of Kai and even regarded him as a Deity.

Watching the scene unfold, Hiroichi hurriedly crawled over Ryosuke's side and pushed himself to kneel despite shaking like a leaf. "Deity above, please accept our devout prayer!" Hiroichi kowtowed with a pious expression. "Deity..."

At that moment, Thousand Crane Shrine followers, who survived, all dropped to their knees and kowtowed. They figured even Hiroichi had reelected a new Deity. Mere followers like them had no reason to uphold their old faith. Plus, their belief was crushed right in front of their eyes.

The corners of Kai's lips curled into a cold smile as he looked at Hiroichi with an icy gaze. "You've worshipped Hideyoshi for so many years. How can you change your belief so quickly? It looks to me like your faith isn't strong at all," Kai commented indifferently.

"Your Holiness, that Hideyoshi was nothing but a fake! He was just a wisp of soul. You are the real Deity! I'll order a new temple to be erected and place a statue of Your Holiness in it. So that Your Holiness can receive the prayers from tens of thousands of worshippers," Hiroichi flattered.

Needless to say, Hiroichi was doing his best to curry Kai's favor so that he could live. "You cowardly scumbag, what's the point of sparing your life?"

With a gentle wave of Kai's hand, a stream of aura pierced through Hiroichi's chest. Hiroichi looked down in disbelief at the gushing blood flowing from the hole in his chest before slowly tumbling to the ground.

Gazing at the field of kneeling worshippers, Kai said, "Ryosuke, I'll leave things here to you. Make everyone understand I'm their Deity, and their Deity is a Chanaean."

"Yes, Master," Ryosuke complied with a nod. Kai led Flaxseed and the others down the mountain while Yuri stuck closely to Kai. Yuri was acting like a servant with her head slightly bowed. She paid attention to each of Kai's moves and tried to comprehend the meaning behind every gesture.

Within a day, Thousand Crane Shrine was eradicated. News of the Watanabe family reelecting a new Deity had spread throughout the entire Jetroina.

With followers who witnessed the entire scene, they excitedly spread what they'd seen. Before long, Kai was gaining followers left and right. Ryosuke had constructed a new shrine and prepared a statue of Kai.

At the same time, the news of the new Deity being a Chanaean had spread. It courted dissatisfaction from other shrines, for the revered Deities of the other shrines were all well-known Jetroinian figures. It was a big no-no for a nameless Chanaean to suddenly appear and be treated as one of Jetroina's Deities.

The other shrines started to pressure Ryosuke. Even though the Watanabe family was big and had high social standing in Xendale, it was still difficult for Ryosuke to withstand the pressure exerted by a few shrines.

"Master, the construction of our shrine has been obstructed. Also, droves of our followers had been cheated to pray at other shrines." Like a child who did something wrong, Ryosuke reported the latest updates to Kai with a bowed head.

Kai had initially planned to return to Chanaea. After all, Asuka was already dead. No one would cause him trouble in Chanaea anymore. Plus, he had eradicated Thousand Crane Shrine and was being revered as a Deity.

Yet, seeing the current situation, he decided to stay in Jetroina for a while longer. Kai felt it was much faster and easier to improve his ranks by absorbing Toyotomi's powers than through cultivation.

Since the ones he drained were Jetroinians, he didn't feel any guilt about his actions. "Ryosuke, how many shrines are there in Jetroina?" Kai asked impassively.

Stunned by his question, Ryosuke snapped out of it quickly before answering. "There are four shrines in Jetroina, Master. Other than Thousand Crane Shrine that you have destroyed, there are also Zenko Shrine, Zenden. Shrine, and Seida Shrine. The Deities worshiped by the three shrines are all Martial Arts Gods from centuries ago."

Ryosuke looked up at Kai silently as he waited for his order. He knew Kai wouldn't ask for these details without cause. "Kai, are you thinking of eradicating the other shrines too?"

Flaxseed had seen through Kai's intention. Kai nodded. "That's right. I want Jetroina to revere only one Deity, and that's me." Besides having Jetroinians revere him, Kai mainly wanted to devour the other Deities' powers.

If he absorbed all the powers from the other three Deities, his ability would most likely ascent to the next level. "Master, you'll probably attract the higher-ups' attention and cause an uproar if you eradicate the other three shrines." Ryosuke pointed out.

"So what if I gain their attention? If they're not happy about it, I can slaughter them and take their places," he said indifferently with a cold smirk. With his current abilities, he was basically unrivaled in the mundane world..

As long as he didn't step into the secret realm,, the whole mundane world would be under his feet. The highest cultivation rank in the mundane world was Martial Arts Saint. Other Martial Arts Saints' powers couldn't be compared to Kai's despite being in the same rank.

Hearing Kai's comment, Ryosuke merely lowered his head silently. He believed Kai was a man of his word since he had the capability. Arriving at Fujio Mountain, Kai clasped his hands behind his back as he overlooked the entire Jetroina with an icy gaze.

This place marks my beginning in Jetroina. "I'll start the massacre from today." With that declaration, he disappeared from the mountain. Shuumei Mount of Jetroina was famous for its steep racing course. Every year droves of racing enthusiasts would race their cars up and down the winding mountain paths.

A small shrine sat on the top of Shuumei Mount. It was one of the Four Great Shrines of Jetroina, Zenko Shrine. The Deity worshiped at the shrine was Chika Zenko, a Martial Arts God..

However, not one worshipper could be seen on the square of Zenko Shrine, only hundreds of samurais standing in battle array. Within the shrine, Sugimoto Zenko, the president of Zenko Shrine, sat quietly with his eyes shut as though he was waiting for something.

Around him were ten renowned Jetroinian mages. As the seventh-generation descendant of the Martial Arts God, Chika, Sugimoto had always resided in the shrine to safeguard the statue of his ancestor.

The eradication of Thousand Crane Shrine sent alarm bells ringing in Sugimoto's head. Through divination, he felt something big would hit the shrine that day. Thus, he had gathered all the forces the shrine possessed.

Everyone waited in dead silence. No one spoke. At the base of Shuumei Mount, a few modified SUVs let out deafening roars from their engines. With a sharp ring of a whistle, the race cars shot away from the starting line..

All the roads of Shuumei Mount were winding curves. Yet, the race cars didn't slow down as they approached the dangerous turns. Instead, they drifted across one after another corner without fear.

A young man with dyed blond hair was taking the lead. The other cars were a distance away from him. He watched through his rear view mirror with a gleeful smirk as he pulled away from the car trailing after him.

Swoosh! At that time, the young man felt a shadow going passed his car in a flash. Surprised by the sudden appearance of a man, the young man nearly drove his car off the cliff.

He rubbed his eyes to try and get a clearer view. Fear struck him after confirming what he saw was indeed a man. How can a man running on foot be faster than a race car?

Before he could see who it was, the man had run past his car and disappeared around the bend. Meanwhile, within Zenko Shrine, Sugimoto's eyes snapped open.

"He's here." Sugimoto slowly rose to a stand and walked out of the ancient structure. The ten mages followed after him. When Sugimoto stepped through the front door, he noticed a young man in his twenties, dressed in sports attire, leisurely walking up the mountain and halted in front of him. The young man's face was devoid of any expression.

He looked just like any other jogger. However, Sugimoto could sense that the young man was a huge threat. The young man was none other than Kai.

Facing hundreds of samurais gathered at the square, Kai traipsed toward Sugimoto as if he was going on a walk, feeling the rays of the morning sun. Hundreds of gazes from the samurai were all focused on Kai.

When Kai stepped closer, dozens of samurais unsheathed their katanas and immediately surrounded him. The samurais' eyes were ice-cold. Their movements were agile. Murderous intent radiated from the sharp edges of their polished katanas.

The samurais' abilities were on par with Greater Martial Arts Grandmaster. They could easily be an overlord in any part of the mundane world.

Despite the dozens of Greater Martial Arts Grandmaster equivalent samurais surrounding Kai, his face was still a mask of calm. In his eyes, the samurais were nothing more than ants. He might not even regard them as ants.

"Who are you? Why did you come to Zenko Shrine?" Sugimoto questioned Kai with at booming voice. "To kill," Kai stated casually. With a frown, Sugimoto asked, "Were you the one who eradicated Thousand Crane Shrine?"

Kai nodded. "That's right. Destroy your Deity's statue and replace it with mine if you don't want to face the same fate. Worship me as your new Deity, and I'll spare your life. I won't lay a hand on my worshippers."

"Insolent!" Sugimoto roared furiously. The Deity revered at Zenko Shrine was the Zenko family's ancestor. How could he replace it with Kai? "Death is the only way for you since you disagree."

Ignoring the samurais surrounding him, Kai continued approaching Sugimoto. "Kill him!" Sugimoto ordered. Dozens of samurais shouted war cries before wielding their katanas at Kai.

Dozens of katanas turned into flashes and surrounded Kai. Despite that, Kai continued to ignore their attacks and continued inching forward.

Clang! Kai didn't dodge nor did he resist the attacks from the samurais. He knew the samurais couldn't even land a cut on his body, even if he didn't activate Golem Body.

Followed by the clanging sound, the katana of the few samurais at the front snapped. At the same time, a huge countershock force caused them to fly out and exploded into blood mists in the air.

Sugimoto, who had been watching everything from the island, could not help but frown. Although the samurais had exploded into blood mists caused by the countershock force, the other warriors did not retreat. The spirit of the samurais and their beliefs made them unafraid of death.

"Attack!" Dozens of samurais brought their swords down on Kai in unison, and their blades focused on one spot. Seeing that, Kai activated Golem Body, and his body was instantly covered in shiny, golden scales. It was as if he had put on a golden armor.

"Hmph. I'm going to destroy that samurai spirit of yours," Kai scoffed. With a gentle wave of his hand, a terrifying energy shot out and hit dozens of his enemies. All of them were thrown into the air and exploded into blood mists.

Blood began raining down from the sky while disembodied limbs and organs scattered on the ground. A strong scent of blood lingered in the air of the mountain.

That was what Kai wanted. Since the samurais were controlled by the teachings of the samurai, Kai had to use the most vicious and violent method to make them feel fearful.

Nonetheless, as soon as that batch of samurais died, another group charged forward. Each one of them had a murderous aura. They did not look the slightest bit afraid.

At that, Kai stretched out his right hand, and Dragonslayer Sword appeared in it. Kai then waved Dragonslayer Sword, producing a light several feet long that split the samurais charging at him in half.

The warriors' upper bodies collapsed to the ground while their feet continued running because of the inertia before tumbling down. Blood spurted everywhere. With the help of Dragonslayer Sword, Kai slaughtered dozens of samurais with one swing.

When the samurais, who were split in half, collapsed to the ground, a group of fearless warriors charged forward again. Kai narrowed his gaze as powerful sword energy circled Dragonslayer Sword. The sword energy rushed toward the samurais and cut them into pieces.

Kai would not let them die while their body remained intact. Staring at the fallen samurais scattered all over the ground, Samurai turned around and gave the ten mages a look. They immediately nodded and began casting spells.

White, silk-like threads formed in the sky and made a beeline for Kai. The threads then began to entangle around him until he was wrapped firmly like a cocoon. Sugimoto let out a sigh of relief when he saw.

Kai restrained, and a smile crept to his lips. While Sugimoto was still grinning with glee, he saw golden light spilling out of the white threads. In the next second, the white threads snapped, allowing Kai to regain his freedom.

"Are you challenging me to a fight using magecraft?" he sneered. Kai suddenly crossed his hands and raised them to the sky. Dark clouds instantly gathered in the sky, and heavenly thunder roared.

The sudden phenomenon left Sugimoto and the mages dumbfounded. They knew how much mental energy was needed to perform such spectacular magecraft. Before they could react, bolts of heavenly thunders came rolling down the sky.

Rumble! Every strike from the heavenly thunder reduced a mage into dust.
