Chapter 111: Veronica's offer

Upon speaking up to here, Coril took a meaningful glance at Veronica, then continued speaking to Henry, "Since Veronica doesn't seem to be interested in marrying Sebastian, I'm intending on marrying Liss to Sebastian and get Liss to be the one to oversee the Lisandris Family's girls that have married over to Sebastian and make sure that all of the girls live together in harmony."

"Of course, Julia will still be Sebastian's main wife, and I will make sure that Liss understand to not overstep her boundaries and have certain thoughts that she shouldn't have just because she is the one who will possess the strongest cultivation strength amongst all of the women that Sebastian will marry to in the coming near future."

Upon speaking up to here, Cori took another meaningful glance at Veronica, then let out a sigh before continuing on speaking.

"Sigh... To be honest, I wasn't intending on picking other girls from the Lisandris Family's main branch to marry Sebastian."

"Initially, I was planning on getting just Veronica, Vanessa, and Liss to marry Sebastian."

"After all, in this initial stage, since Sebastian will be marrying as few women as possible so that he doesn't end up attracting too much unnecessary attention to both him and his family while both him and his family are just starting to grow..."

"It means that it would be best for Sebastian to marry the few strongest female cultivators within our family's main branch for now, and only until when Sebastian has reached foundation establishment realm or golden core realm as a cultivator, then should we start helping Sebastian to make full use of his sperm strengthening body by finding as many women as we possibly could to marry over to Sebastian so that he could start reproducing as many children as he possibly could."

"Of course, when that time arrives, and so long as Sebastian himself doesn't mind, I intend to marry all of the available girls that belong to the family's main branch over to Sebastian first, before I set my eyes on looking for women that doesn't possess the Lisandris Family's bloodline to marry over to Sebastian."

"As for my reason for doing so, I'm sure I don't have to go in depth to explain why I'm doing that, right?"

Upon speaking up to here, Coril swept his eyes over Henry and Damien, and upon seeing that Henry and Damien didn't seem to have a confused look on their faces, Coril nodded his head with satisfaction, then continued on speaking.

However, before Coril continued on speaking, Coril purposely let out another sigh, then began speaking with a somewhat disappointed tone in his voice.

"Sigh... Though, I must say, it would have been the best case for us if Veronica was willing to marry Sebastian and also allow her daughter to marry Sebastian."

"After all, with Veronica's cultivation realm as a golden core realm, I would be able to put my mind at more ease by letting Veronica be the one to oversee the Lisandris Family's girls that have married over to Sebastian."

"Furthermore, with Veronica and Vanessa's relationships with Elder Zhi, it would have been easier for me to..."

During the entire time that Coril was speaking, the corner of Veronica's mouth and Veronica's eyelids could be seen twitching constantly as she glared silently at Coril.

Not long after, while Coril was still speaking...

Seemingly to be unable to stand listening to Coril continuing speaking nonsense, especially when she didn't say that she wasn't willing to marry Sebastian after she had found out that Sebastian had actually awakened the sperm strengthening body...

Veronica cut off Coril from continuing speaking as she put on a forced smile on her face, and while with the corner of her mouth still twitching, she said as calmly as she possibly could, "Fine! I'm sorry! I admit I was wrong with the way that I acted just a while ago. You happy now? Now, let's start talking about me and my daughter marrying..."

"Wait a moment, wait a moment. If mere empty apologies are able to work in solving issues and conflicts in this world, there wouldn't be a need for..."

Before Coril was able to finish speaking, this time, it was Veronica who cut off Coril from continuing on speaking.

With her right hand held up by the side of her head, then with her index finger lifted up, gesturing the number "1" to Coril, Veronica said with a resolute tone to her voice.

"A month! For a whole month, I will work for Lisandris Family's weapon enchantment store! And while I'm working at the weapon enchantment store, I will allow the Lisandris Family to pick its own customers, essentially allowing the Lisandris Family to use this chance to gain favors from whatever people they want to gain favor from."

"Of course, for the profits, it will be as the same rate that I normally receive when I'm receiving work offers from Fair Trade. Thus, I will receive 85% profit, while the other 15% profit will go to the Lisandris Family."

"Just to add on, so there's no confusion or whatsoever, I will only work for the Lisandris Family for just a whole month, so, don't even think of using this chance to stuff as many customers as you possibly could over to me."

"Once a whole month is over, and I ended up not being able to complete all of the work orders because there are too many work orders for me to complete in just a month's time, it will be up to the Lisandris Family to find another weapon enchanter to complete the remaining work orders as I won't be bothering with those remaining work orders."

Upon speaking up to here and seeing that Coril was still remaining silent while with an indifferent look on his face, seemingly to not be moved by her offer at all, Veronica couldn't help but curse in her own mind, "This damn sly old fox, I'm already giving in by making such an enticing offer to the Lisandris Family, and yet, this old fox still isn't satisfied?!"

Unbeknownst to Veronica...

Chapter 112: Zhi Family, Ning Zhi

Unbeknownst to Veronica, the reason that Coril was remaining silent while with an indifferent look on his face after he had heard Veronica's offer was because Coril was trying his best to not grin and laugh out heartily.

After all, from the start, so long as Veronica was willing to marry Sebastian, Coril was definitely going to allow Veronica to marry Sebastian, especially since Veronica was a very crucial piece in the next few steps toward joining forces with the strongest family within the Inner District, which was the Zhi Family.

When Coril came to learn about the fact that Sebastian had awakened the special body that was known as the sperm strengthening body... The strongest utility type of special body that specializes in helping the user to create an incredibly formidable cultivation family so long as the user doesn't go around courting death and have enough time to grow...

Coril immediately knew that just his Lisandris Family alone wasn't going to be enough to protect others from kidnapping or killing Sebastian once they found out about Sebastian's sperm strengthening body.

Sure, in the initial stage, Coril would be able to do his best in helping Sebastian to cover up the fact that he possesses the sperm strengthening body...

But as time passes by, when Sebastian's cultivation family grows stronger and come into the eyes of the various cultivation families that were situated within the Bright Moon City...

And people start noticing that all of the children that Sebastian reproduced possess spiritual roots, and all of the women that Sebastian was married to have been constantly getting stronger ever since they have become married to Sebastian...

It would be just a matter of time until people start connecting the dots and come to the conclusion that Sebastian possesses the sperm strengthening body!

Perhaps, when other people first come to that conclusion... They might only be 30% sure that their conclusion may be correct, and they might need more time to confirm their conclusion...

But just 30% alone would already be more than enough for the people that came from the various cultivation families to act drastically.

And when that time comes, just the Lisandris Family alone definitely won't be able to protect Sebastian.

Thus, Coril was planning to join forces with the Zhi Family, and what better way to do that than to entice one of the most influential family members that belonged to Zhi Family into marrying Sebastian!

And evidently, the person that Coril was intending to entice into marrying Sebastian was actually Vanessa's master, a person who was not only just simply Vanessa's master but was also the elder of the talisman crafting department, Elder Zhi!

Elder Zhi, also known as Ning Zhi, was not only a golden core realm cultivator, but was also a tier 3 talisman crafter!

But last but not most importantly was that... Ning Zhi was also the master of Feng Xue, the cultivator who had awakened the special body that was known as the phoenix rebirth body, a high-ranking combat type of special body!

Once Ning Zhi had been successfully enticed into marrying Sebastian, Coril was certain that Ning Zhi would then try her best to convince her disciple, Feng Xue, into marrying Sebastian too.

And when the time comes that Feng Xue becomes married to Sebastian, it would mean that Sebastian's cultivation family, the Force Family, would not only possess a cultivator who possesses the strongest utility type special body, but it would also possess a cultivator who possesses one of the top-ranking combat type special bodies!

A cultivation family who possesses two special bodies, and also have two cultivation families to back it while it was still growing...?

20 years... no... 10 years! In Coril's eyes, just 10 years' time were more than enough for the Force Family to grow into becoming one of the strongest cultivation families within the Bright Moon City!

Thus, to put it simply, so long as Veronica and Vanessa had become married to Sebastian...

With Veronica and Vanessa's relationships to Ning Zhi, Coril was confident in making Ning Zhi be willing to become married to Sebastian and work together with the Lisandris Family to help Sebastian grow his own cultivation family.

Otherwise, without the help of Veronica and Vanessa to convince Ning Zhi into marrying Sebastian, Coril felt that there was a high chance that Ning Zhi would actually try to silence him and his entire Lisandris Family and take Sebastian for herself once she had find out from him that Sebastian had awakened the sperm strengthening body.

This way why Coril saw Veronica as a crucial piece toward the next few steps in his plan.

Initially, Coril was merely just trying to mess around with Veronica for a bit so as to vent his anger for Veronica's disrespectfulness toward him.

However, Coril never expected that Veronica would suddenly make such an enticing offer toward him as an apology for her disrespectfulness toward him.

Thus, right after Veronica was done making her offer, Coril couldn't help but want to grin and laugh out heartily, but for the sake of maintaining his solemnness, he somehow stopped himself from doing so and remained silent while with an expressionless look on his face.

And right when he was about to open his mouth to accept Veronica's offer...

Veronica, who thought that Coril was actually unsatisfied with her offer...

After taking in a deep breath to calm herself down, Veronica held up two fingers on her right hand, then said resolutely, "Two months! This is already my best offer, so don't push it!"

"Also, the Lisandris Family will have to take on the responsibility of reopening its own weapon enchantment shop as I won't be spending my time on doing that, which should seem reasonable, right? After all, at the end of the day, the weapon enchantment shop is a part of the Lisandris Family's property, and not mine."

"Furthermore, so long as my daughter and I are able to marry Sebastian, not only will I properly oversee the girls that are from the Lisandris Family, but I will also take it up on me to enchant weapons for all of the girls' future children!"

As soon as Veronica finished speaking, Coril finally couldn't contain himself as he laughed out heartily, "Hahaha! Deal!"

Chapter 113: Dao comprehension

"Hahaha! Please excuse me for a moment as I head over to my study room to grab a few things."

After speaking up to here, without waiting for anyone to say anything, Coril stood up from his seat and began walking toward his study room, and while walking over to the study room, Coril couldn't help but let out another burst of hearty laugh.

"Hahaha!"

Upon seeing Coril laughing out loud unrestrainedly while with a wide smile on his face, Veronica immediately realized that she must have offered way too much of an offer as an apology to Coril...

And thus, the solemn look that was on Veronica's face immediately disappeared, and what replaced the solemn look was an annoyed look on Veronica as she looked silently at Coril's back while with the corner of her mouth twitching incomparably.

"This damn sly old fox! He actually had me fooled with that indifferent look on his face, making me think that he wasn't satisfied with my first offer when I made my first offer to him!"

"Urgh! Whatever! Calm down, calm down, it's fine, it's fine..."

"In any case, it's just two months of working for the Lisandris Family's weapon enchantment store, and once the two months are over, I won't have anything more to do with the Lisandris Family's weapon enchantment store."

"Furthermore, during these two months' time, if I were to stubbornly choose to take only 1 or 2 weapon enchantment orders per day, it's not like the Lisandris Family can do anything about it but to follow along with my wishes!"

"Thus, in the end, the situation isn't as bad as it seems."

"Right now, the most important thing to discuss about is the matter regarding both me and my daughter marrying over to Sebastian and becoming Sebastian's wives!"

"From the looks of it, it seems that this sly old fox is intending on maintaining that so-called Julia's position as Sebastian's main wife, most likely because he feels that Julia would be the easiest to control and influence, when comparing to the other current available options to choose as becoming Sebastian's main wife, which are, me, my daughter, or Liss."

"And with Julia as Sebastian's main wife, since Julia's only connections are just Sebastian and the Lisandris Family, it is only natural that, in the future, when Sebastian's cultivation family has grown strong enough, the Lisandris Family would definitely become the Force Family's closest subsidiary family..."

"Nonetheless, it honestly doesn't matter to me just who is Sebastian's main wife. So long as I'm the one who is in-charge of overseeing those girls who have become married to Sebastian, I will make sure that not too much of the Force Family's resources will be shared or given over to the Lisandris Family, especially the Lisandris Family's members who have no close relationship with any of the Force Family's family members!"

"Nascent soul realm... Path to immortality..."

"If I want to have any hope of being able to break through to nascent soul realm, and possibly even have hopes to climb toward cultivation realms that are higher than the nascent soul realm... Sebastian is my best hope right now!"

"So long as I'm able to help Sebastian reach golden core realm..."

"If the information within the special bodies book aren't wrong, whereby the wielder of the sperm strengthening body will awaken the ability of bestowing comprehension of heavenly daos when the wielder reaches golden core realm..."

"Albeit the comprehension of heavenly daos that are bestowed are just fundamental understanding of heavenly daos, it is still more than enough to help me in comprehending the heavenly dao that I'm cultivating right now, which is the dao of fire!"

"With my aptitude of top-quality spiritual root, my 6 lines golden core, and the plentiful of cultivation resources that I possess, it is only a matter of time that I will be able to level up my cultivation level all the way to level 10, and when that time arrives, the only thing that I would need in order to be able to attempt at breaking through to becoming a nascent soul realm cultivator would be raising my fundamental understanding of my fire dao to level 2!"

Within the Cultivation World, cultivators who were able to break through to the golden core realm would soon come to find out that cultivation toward the immortal realm wasn't just simply a matter of refining spiritual energy.

In truth, when a cultivator has reached golden core realm, at this point, most of the time, the reason that they weren't able to break through to becoming nascent soul realm wasn't because they do not possess enough cultivation resources to raise their cultivation level.

Instead, it was because they do not possess enough understanding of the dao that they were cultivating in order to break through to becoming nascent soul realm.

There were various stages to the understanding of daos, and those stages were divided into fundamental understanding, advanced understanding, intermediate understanding, and true understanding.

And within those stages, they were divided into smaller stages, which were from level 1 to level 3.

In order for a golden core realm cultivator to have a chance to break through to becoming a nascent soul realm cultivator, the minimum understanding of the dao that they were cultivating had to be at least of level 2 fundamental understanding.

Of course, with just level 2 fundamental understanding of their dao, there was a high chance that the golden core realm cultivator would fail when they attempt to break through to becoming a nascent soul realm cultivator.

Normally, to have a good chance in successfully attempting at breaking through to becoming a nascent soul realm cultivator, a golden core realm cultivator would need to possess at least an advanced understanding of the dao that they were cultivating.

However, judging from how Veronica was thinking of attempting at breaking through to nascent soul realm in the future when she possesses level 2 fundamental understanding of her fire dao...

Chapter 114: Land deed and rights

Family System: Path to Immortality Begins With Marriage: Chapter 114 – Land deed and rights

It was obvious that increasing one's understanding toward even a single dao was something that was extremely difficult to do.

Aside from the fact that Sebastian's sperm strengthening body was indeed able to create an extremely formidable cultivation family so long as there was enough time for both Sebastian and Sebastian's cultivation family to grow...

The fact that Sebastian's sperm strengthening body was able to unlock the ability of bestowing dao comprehensions toward his cultivation partners was another main reason that Veronica was so excited and fervent about marrying Sebastian upon finding out that Sebastian had awakened the sperm strengthening body.

As someone who had been in the golden core realm for over a hundred years, Veronica was all too clear about just how hard it was to actually increase one's understanding toward a dao.

In total, Veronica had already been cultivating for over 200 years, and yet, her current understanding toward the fire dao was merely still level 1 fundamental understanding, and she was completely aware that she was still very far from reaching level 2 fundamental understanding.

Unbeknownst to Veronica, she would soon come to learn that she won't even have to wait for Sebastian to reach golden core realm before she would be able to start increasing her understanding toward her fire dao.

After all, the real reason that Sebastian was able to increase Julia's cultivation strength so early on while he was still in the energy refining realm wasn't because of his sperm strengthening body, but because of his yang core's ability, phoenix's blessings!

If the yang core's ability, phoenix's blessings, was able to not only increase Julia's cultivation, but also bestow luck to Julia, which was one of the hardest thing for a cultivator to cultivate or obtain...

It was only natural that the phoenix's blessing would also be able to bestow dao comprehension to Sebastian's cultivation partners, in either the form of sudden enlightenment due to a "sudden" stroke of luck, or a direct bestowing of dao comprehension if the cultivation partner possesses a dao that was related to the yang energy.

And even more fortunate for Veronica, since the yang core was basically the embodiment of the fire dao, which was precisely the dao that she was focused on cultivating, it meant that she would be able to obtain a direct bestowing of fire dao comprehension whenever she dual cultivated with Sebastian and won't have to keep on waiting for sudden enlightenments in order to start gaining comprehension of the fire dao.

Not long after, Coril could be seen arriving back at the living room, and as he was walking over to his seat, he could be seen to be holding onto a bunch of documents and jades in his hands.

As Coril sat down on his seat, Coril placed the bunch of documents and jades onto the coffee table in front of him, then pushed the documents and jades over in the direction of Veronica.

After doing so, Coril said with a relaxed smile on his face, "Previously when I met Sebastian, I promised Sebastian that I will give him a piece of land to start building his cultivation family on."

"Within these documents and jades are not only the land deed of a rather huge land located within the Outer District, but also the complete rights to set a toll between the Outer District and Endless Forest."

"Of course, with the complete rights to set a toll, it also means that Sebastian will have to be in charge of clearing the beasts that are within the Endless Forest's outer area."

"Perhaps, this task may be a bit too much for Sebastian to handle, but with you by Sebastian's side, I'm sure that this task won't be that difficult anymore, right?"

While Coril was speaking, Veronica could be seen to have picked up the various documents and jades and was currently reading through the documents and jades to make sure that there wasn't anything wrong with the documents and jades.

Upon speaking up to here and seeing that Veronica's attention was fixed toward the documents and jades, Coril continued on speaking.

"These land and rights of setting a toll were given to the Lisandris Family as a sort of consolation reward for being the cultivation family that was the most active in supporting the Bright Moon Sect when Bright Moon Sect was fighting over for the flaming serpent spear 20 years ago..."

"However, what use was there of the land and the rights of setting a toll to our Lisandris Family after our Lisandris Family had just suffered a huge blow? Thus, the land and rights had been sitting idly in my study room and collecting dust for the past 20 years."

"Fortunately, since Sebastian is going to need a land to start building his cultivation family on, this land can finally be put to great use."

"And with the rights to set a toll, I will also help to apply for some kind of position for Sebastian within the Bright Moon Sect, so that he will be able to earn cultivation points while not only collecting tolls from cultivators who want to enter the Endless Forest through the entrance that he will be keeping watch, but also for the beasts that you will help clear for him."

As Coril spoke up to here, Veronica was finally done with looking through the documents and jades.

After keeping away the documents and jades into her spatial ring, Veronica asked with a slight frown on her face, "I have some recollections of this piece of land. If I'm not wrong, isn't this piece of land already occupied, and there's already someone else who is in charge of collecting the tolls?"

Right as Veronica finished speaking, Coril, who could be seen to be currently leisurely brewing a pot of tea, took a meaningful glance at Veronica, then turned his focus back onto brewing his tea as he opened his mouth to speak.

"You are right. However, those people don't possess the official rights to do so. Also, do you know which family those people belong to?"

"Hmm...?"

"The Vye Family."

Chapter 115: Luneth, I have a way

"The Vye Family...?"

Upon hearing Coril mentioned the Vye Family, Veronica couldn't help but mutter to herself in a low voice while with her left brow raised as she seemed to have recalled about a certain matter, then looked downward to the floor and become lost in her own thoughts for a short moment.

After snapping out from her own thoughts, seemingly to have come to a decision during the short moment that she was lost in her own thoughts...

Veronica took out a communication jade from her spatial ring, then dialed onto the communication jade number that she was trying to get into contact with.

After a short while, as the light that was emitting out from the communication jade stopped blinking, and the light remained glowing instead of disappearing, it meant that the communication jade had successfully connected to the opposite communication jade.

"Hmm? What's the matter, Veronica?"

A voice that obviously belonged to a woman rang out from the communication jade.

When the female voice rang out from the communication jade, Coril, who was boiling his tea, evidently realized who the woman that was at the opposite communication jade was, and immediately, he stopped boiling his tea and looked over to the communication jade, then listened in with full attention on the conversation that was going on between Veronica and the woman that was at the opposite communication jade.

And as Coril listened to their conversation, Coril further confirmed his thoughts, that he shouldn't place too much hope onto Veronica ever being able to reconcile with the Lisandris Family's side branches families, and that, from now on, he should do his best to make sure that he and the Lisandris Family's main branch doesn't get on Veronica's bad side.

"Luneth, have you told the main sect about my intentions of joining the main sect along with my daughter?"

"Not yet. Why? Are you in that much of a rush to get your message across to the main sect? Don't worry, there's still plenty of time, I will relay your message across to the main sect once you are done making those enchanted weapons that you promised to make for me."

"Great. I have a change of mind. I no longer intend to join the main sect along with my daughter."

"What...? If that's the case, where are you going to go to after you have taken your revenge on the Vye Family, and also crippled those people from the Lisandris Family that you have an incredibly bad feud with?"

Although I did make a deal with you, in which that I would not only help you relay your message across to the main sect, but also protect you and your daughter until you and your daughter have left the North Continent...

But if you aren't intending on joining the main sect anymore, which means you are most likely intending on staying within the North Continent...

You know that I'm not going to protect you and your daughter forever from both the Vye Family and Lisandris Family, right?

Of course, if you are willing to become an elder and build a weapon enchantment department in Bright Moon Sect, I would be fine with going to great lengths to make both the Vye Family and the Lisandris Family swallow their grievances and make sure that they wouldn't dare to take revenge on you, despite the fact that, morally speaking, you are the one who is in the wrong."

When Veronica addressed the woman as Luneth, everyone within the room immediately understood that the woman who was at the opposite communication jade was Bright Moon Sect's sect master, Luneth Mooncrown.

And while listening to Veronica and Luneth's conversation, when they heard from Luneth that Veronica had actually intended to not only take revenge on the Vye Family, but also cripple people from the Lisandris Family that she had a bad feud with...

A speechless look and a slight frown could be seen appearing on everyone's face as they stared silently at Veronica.

However, when Veronica met with everyone's gaze, Veronica didn't flinch at all or showed any slight guilt on her face as she continued on speaking to Luneth while with a leisured look on her face.

"Regarding the deal that we made with each other, we are going to have to make some adjustments to the deal."

"Hmm...?"

"I no longer intend to go ahead with my plan of taking revenge on the Vye Family, and neither am I going to cripple those people from the Lisandris Family that I have a bad feud with.

Therefore, this also means that, not only would I no longer need you to help me get my message over to the main sect, but I also no longer need you to protect me from those two families."

"Is that so? I must say, I'm rather curious, what's with the sudden change of plans?"

Faced with the question that Luneth asked, Veronica ignored it and instead answer her question with another question.

"How long do you think it will take for you to return back to the sect?"

"Hmm?" Upon hearing Veronica ignored her question, Luneth couldn't help but let out a confused groan, then continued on speaking, "Why are you ignoring my question? Now I'm even more curious as to why you suddenly changed your plans.

As for when I will be returning back to the sect? Probably not until I have successfully obtained the unknown weapon that had landed in the east.

After all, you know just how much of a dire state the Bright Moon Sect is in right now without a high-tier weapon.

Thus, I reckon that I most likely will be staying in the east for quite a number of years."

"Luneth, you said you are curious as to why I suddenly had a change of plans, right?"

"Yeah, are you going to tell me now?"

"I won't divulge too much to you right now, but I will tell you this, I currently have a way to help get Bright Moon Sect out of its dire state."

Chapter 116: Bright Moon Sect, Zhi Family, Lisandris Family

Right as Veronica had finished speaking, Coril's eyes could be seen opening wide and he mouthed the words, "What are you doing?!", to Veronica.

However, faced with Coril's reaction, Veronica merely raised her left hand at Coril and gestured with her left hand for Coril to calm down as she mouthed the words, "Relax, I know what I'm doing.", to Coril.

Meanwhile, upon hearing what Veronica said, Luneth could be seen remaining silent for a short moment, then finally opened her mouth and spoke with a solemn tone to her voice.

"You are not messing around with me, are you, Veronica?"

"Of course not. I'm being completely serious right now. But again, I won't be divulging much to you right now about how I'm able to help get Bright Moon Sect out of its dire state. Regarding this matter, I think it's best we talk about it when we meet each other face to face."

"..." As Veronica finished speaking, Luneth could be seen remaining silent for a short moment once again, evidently to be contemplating about what Veronica had just said to her.

After a short moment of silence, seemingly to have come to a decision, Luneth opened her mouth and spoke with a resolute tone.

"Alright, I will take you for your word. I will return back to the sect after I am done setting up Bright Moon Sect's initial base, which should be done in a month or two months' time. Is that fine with you?"

"Yeah, that's fine, I will see you in a month or two months' time then.

Now, onto another matter.

Regarding the deal that we have made with each other, I will continue on with making the enchanted weapons that you requested me to make, but in exchange, I want you to give me an inner-disciple slot."

"Sure. Is that all?"

"Of course not. A full set of enchanted weapons in exchange for just an inner-disciple slot? You think I'm out here doing a charity or something?"

Upon hearing Luneth actually asked her if an inner-disciple slot was all she wanted, Veronica immediately couldn't help but roll her eyes.

"You remember the plot of land and the authority to take tolls from cultivator who want to enter the Endless Forest that you had given over to the Lisandris Family 20 years ago?"

"Yeah, I do. What about them?"

"That plot of land is currently occupied by another cultivation family, despite the fact that the Lisandris Family possesses that plot of land and didn't rent or sell that plot of land to anyone.

Furthermore, that same cultivation family is also taking tolls from cultivators who want to enter the Endless Forest, despite the fact that they don't possess the authority to do so.

The reason I'm telling you all of these is because the Lisandris Family has handed me over the documents pertaining to the ownership of that plot of land and also the authority to collect tolls.

By right, with the documents, it should be completely fine for me to kick those people out from that plot of land with just straight force.

However, the fact that this cultivation family dares to do such things, it is most likely because they have gotten the go-to from Bright Moon Sect's higher-ups.

Thus, I want your go-to to deal with those people who are currently occupying my land, so that no unexpected problems or troubles will arise once I have dealt with those people."

"And... that's all you want?"

"That's right."

"We have a deal then! If anyone dares to come looking for trouble with you after you have dealt with those people occupying your land, you can tell them to come and look for me!"

Right upon speaking up to here, seemingly to be curious about just which cultivation family was occupying that piece of land, Luneth asked, "By the way, you didn't tell me which cultivation family is currently occupying that piece of land."

"It's the Vye Family."

Upon hearing what Veronica said, Luneth went silent for quite a while, before letting out a sigh, then said powerlessly, "Sigh... I should have known there was an issue when you purposely left out the cultivation family's name... Just... Just don't overdo it, understand?"

"Don't worry, do I seem like the type of person to act recklessly?"

"..."

Seemingly to not want to converse anymore with Veronica, Luneth didn't bother responding to what Veronica had just said, and instead, just straight up cut off the communication jade's connection after remaining silent for a few seconds.

"Tsk!"

Upon seeing that Luneth actually cut her off just like this, Veronica couldn't help but click her tongue, then kept away her communication jade into her spatial ring.

After keeping away her communication jade, Veronica then looked over to Coril, who currently had a deep frown on his face, then said leisurely.

"Relax, what's with the deep frown on your face? Shouldn't you be happy instead? Once Luneth learns of Sebastian's sperm strengthening body, with my understanding toward her, she would definitely be willing to marry Sebastian.

With Luneth marrying Sebastian, it basically means that Sebastian will have the Bright Moon Sect to back him up! And since, judging from what you said just now, which was evident that you intend to convince Ning Zhi to marry Sebastian too...

This means that, once everything goes through successfully, Sebastian will have the Zhi Family, the Lisandris Family, and the Bright Moon Sect to protect him and help him in growing his cultivation family!"

"That may be true, but in this initial stage, I intended to only join forces with the Zhi Family."

"Ancestor Coril, it seems that you don't really understand the type of person Ning Zhi is. I can promise you this, if you were to tell Ning Zhi about Sebastian's situation, and when she were to find out that we are the only ones who know about Sebastian's sperm strengthening body, it will be a matter of time that we end up dying in her hands."

Chapter 117: Mooncrown Family

Upon hearing what Veronica said, the frown that was on Coril's face became even deeper than it already was as he said with a grave tone to his voice, "Are you sure about that? Or is it just an assumption of yours?"

Well... I mean, I am completely aware of the things that Ning Zhi had done in order to secure her positions within both the Zhi Family and the talisman crafting department, and it is undeniable that Ning Zhi is an extremely ruthless person who would go to great lengths in order to protect her own benefits...

But, since your daughter, Vanessa, is one of her few direct disciples, wouldn't she have some misgivings about doing something as extreme as you just said she would do...?

Furthermore, as long as we are on guard against her, how would she even be able to kill all of us off? As a golden core realm cultivator, you of all people should know just how hard it is for a golden core realm cultivator to kill off another golden core realm cultivator.

If it is already rather hard for her to even kill off 1 golden core realm cultivator, do you think she would even be able to kill off all of us 4 golden core realm cultivators?

And so long as she isn't able to kill off all of us 4 golden core realm cultivators in one swipe, I'm sure she wouldn't be so dumb to even attempt at trying to kill us so that she could take Sebastian all for herself.

Unless you want to tell me that she isn't afraid of everyone finding out that Sebastian actually possesses the sperms strengthening body?"

Meanwhile, upon hearing Coril questioning her, Veronica couldn't help but roll her eyes at Coril, and right as Coril finished speaking, Veronica then begin speaking while with a slightly annoyed tone to her voice.

"Of course I am sure. Or else, why do you think I would even bother going to the trouble of slowly enticing the sect master into marrying over to Sebastian and joining Sebastian's family?"

If it was possible, do you think I wouldn't want to have as little competition as possible, instead of having to worry about fighting over for Sebastian's affection against both Luneth and Ning Zhi?

Only when there's another powerful power who is also connected to the Force's family, and that power is as powerful, or even better, is even more powerful than the Zhi Family, then would it be a safe choice for us to join forces with the Zhi Family.

And since I have a pretty decent relationship with Luneth, and the Mooncrown family is one of the strongest families within the main sect, which is evidently stronger than the Zhi Family, Luneth is the best choice for us to join forces with, if we want to join forces with the Zhi Family."

Upon speaking up to here...

When Veronica saw that Coril still had a deep frown on his face, evidently to most likely be thinking that she was being too on guard against Ning Zhi...

Veronica decided to just reveal Ning Zhi's hidden identity to Coril, especially since she was aware that, from now on, she was going to be practically on the same boat with the Lisandris Family, while the two other boats would be the Mooncrown Family, and the Zhi Family.

"I know what you are thinking. You are most probably thinking that I am being too on guard against Ning Zhi and the Zhi Family, right?"

Faced with Veronica's question, Coril didn't say anything and continued on remaining silent while gazing at Veronica.

But sometimes, no answer was basically an answer in its own.

And from the looks of things, Coril had indeed thought that Veronica was being too on guard against Ning Zhi.

"Ancestor Coril, what if I were to tell you that, Ning Zhi's master is from..."

Upon speaking up to here, Veronica paused for a moment as she pointed her index finger toward the ceiling and poked her index finger a few times toward the ceiling, then continued on speaking, "Would you still think that I was being too on guard against Ning Zhi?"

Right as Veronica had finished speaking, everyone within the living room could be seen having a shocked look on their faces, and after a short moment of silence, Coril was the one who broke the silence.

With a serious look on his face, Coril asked, "Are... are you sure about that?"

And upon seeing the extremely annoyed look that appeared on Veronica's face as he asked that question, Coril said hurriedly, "Of course, it's not that I'm doubting what you just said. It's just that, I have been in Bright Moon Sect as long as Ning Zhi has, which is far over 100 years, and yet, I have never heard of any news or rumors about her having a master that is from the Celestial Realm."

After rolling her eyes at Coril, evidently to not have believed in Coril when Coril said he wasn't trying to doubt what she had said, Veronica opened her mouth and said...

"There's plenty of things that you don't know about, Ancestor Coril.

Why do you think that Ning Zhi actually dared to take in Feng Xue as her direct disciple? Just because she possesses the Zhi Family as her backing...? Please, the Zhi

Family is nothing when facing against any of the top sects within the North, South, East and West Continents.

Also, why do you think the Zhi Family chose to tolerate her and swallow their grievances despite what she had done?

And why do you think Bright Moon Sect allowed her to do whatever she wants in the talisman crafting department so long as she doesn't cause too much trouble to Bright Moon Sect?"

After speaking up to here, without waiting for Coril to answer her, she continued on speaking, "I don't know much about Ning Zhi's master, but I do know that her master is a cultivator who is a spatial tempering realm cultivator."

"So..."

Chapter 118: Veronica's plans

"So, do you still think that I am being too on guard against Ning Zhi?"

Right as Veronica finished speaking, she raised her head slightly upward, then let out a groan, "Hmm?"

Meanwhile, Coril could be seen opening his mouth for a few times, but not a single word ended up exiting from his mouth due to how much of a shock he was in right now.

After closing his eyes and taking a short moment to digest what he had just learned from Veronica...

Coril let out a deep breath, then opened his eyes and said solemnly, "No, you were right for being on guard against Ning Zhi.

It is fortunate that you are aware of Ning Zhi's hidden identity, or else... I can't even bring myself to imagine the things that would have come to happen.

But, if Ning Zhi is really the disciple of a spatial tempering realm cultivator... Are you sure that Luneth's presence within this alliance of ours would be enough to prevent Ning Zhi from doing extreme things for the sake of being able to have Sebastian all to herself?"

"Don't worry, even if it is true that Ning Zhi's master is a spatial tempering realm cultivator, but so long as the restriction spell that prevents cultivators of nascent soul realm and above to appear within the North, South, East, and West Continents is still present, we won't have to worry too much about her master.

Sure, her master is able to send a bunch of golden core realm cultivators to the North Continent to back her up, but Luneth's family is able to do the same thing too.

However, unless she wants to risk a huge fight to happen in the North Continent, and the identity of Sebastian's sperm strengthening body from becoming known to everyone, I'm sure she won't be so dumb as to do the extreme things that I know she would do if Luneth isn't present in this alliance of ours."

Upon hearing what Veronica had said, Coril finally let out a sigh of relief, then said to Veronica, "Since that's the case, I will hand over the matters of enticing Luneth and Ning Zhi to marry over to Sebastian to you. After all, from the looks of things, you seem to be the best person to do so. You wouldn't mind it, would you?"

"Sure, I'm completely fine with doing that. However, just so you are aware of my plans, I intend to entice Luneth to marry over to Sebastian first as soon as she has returned back to the sect in a month or two months' time.

As for Ning Zhi...

I will be personally heading over to the talisman crafting department and inform Ning Zhi that I will be bringing Vanessa away from the sect for a period of time, when in truth, I am bringing Vanessa away from her so that I can marry Vanessa over to Sebastian without her knowing of it.

I will only reveal to her Sebastian's sperm strengthening body when she has begun feeling suspicious as to why my daughter has been away from the sect for so long.

And judging from how her attention is currently mostly placed onto Feng Xue, I reckon that it should take a few years for her to start noticing that Vanessa has actually been away from the sect for quite a long time already.

This way, it means that the Lisandris Family will have a month or two months' headstart over the Mooncrown Family, and a few years headstart over the Zhi Family.

So, what do you think of my plans? Anything that you want to add to it?"

While Veronica was speaking, Coril could be seen nodding his head with satisfaction from time to time, and right as Veronica finished speaking, Coril shook his head while with a wide smile on his face.

"No, I'm very satisfied with your plans. With this headstart that we will be having over Mooncrown Family, and especially Zhi Family, I'm certain that it should be more than enough time for us to properly cultivate Sebastian's fondness toward the Lisandris Family."

Upon speaking up to here, Coril handed over a branch of olive to Veronica, for the sake of making up to Veronica for having doubted her previously.

"As an apology for doubting you, let me make it up to you by making some amendments toward the offer you made toward the Lisandris Family.

Instead of working for two months for the Lisandris Family's weapon enchantment store, all you have to do is to take up to 15 work orders for us, which shouldn't be a lot, right?"

Upon hearing what Coril said, a pleasant look of surprise could be seen appearing on Veronica's face as she nodded her head and let out a groan in response, "Hmm."

"Since that's the case, 15 work orders it should be then. Also, rather than spending time reopening Lisandris Family's weapon enchantment store, which will only close down after you have stopped working in it...

How about you open a new weapon enchantment store in that plot of land that you had just obtained from me? If you do, I will cover the cost and all of the paperwork needed in order to open the new weapon enchantment store.

And of course, that weapon enchantment store will be yours and Sebastian's, and our Lisandris Family will have nothing to do with it.

What do you think about this?"

Evidently, Coril wanted to take this chance to convince Veronica to open her own weapon enchantment store, instead of being lazy and only taking work orders from either Fair Trade or Bright Moon Sect.

More importantly, if Veronica were to open her own store, it would be greatly beneficial to not only the Force Family, but also the Lisandris Family.

In truth, Veronica was already planning to open her own store after she had married Sebastian and was done working 2 months in the Lisandris Family's weapon enchantment store, thus, upon hearing Coril's offer, Veronica didn't hesitate in accepting Coril's offer.

"Deal, I will take you up on your offer then!"

Chapter 119: A hundred of you

"By the way, I noticed that you wrote within the information jade that Sebastian possesses quite a decent talent at talisman crafting. So, just how talented is Sebastian at talisman crafting? Do you think that his talent in talisman crafting is near my daughter's level of talent at talisman crafting?"

Upon hearing Veronica's questions, Coril looked over to Dave and turned off the mat's formation, then said with a stern look and tone to his voice, "Alright, Dave, you can stop kneeling already! I will continue on dealing with you after Veronica have left! For now, tell Veronica all you know regarding Sebastian's talisman crafting."

Right after Coril finished speaking, Dave let out a sigh of relief, then stood up from the mat that he was kneeling on. And looking at how his legs were wobbling as he stood up, it was evident that the mat's formation was enough to inflict pain to a foundation establishment realm cultivator.

Right as Dave had stood straight up and was about to open his mouth to speak...

Veronica asked Coril while with a curious look on her face, "Wait. What did Dave do for you to punish him? Isn't he the one who managed to get Sebastian to marry over to the Lisandris Family? So, instead of punishing him, shouldn't he be rewarded for his deed?"

Right as Veronica finished speaking, Coril looked over and began seizing Dave up and down, then with a slight disdain look on his face, said coldly, "Reward this brat? This brat is lucky that I didn't punish him by sending him to work in one of Bright Moon Sect's mines!

Do you all know what this brat did? Once you all learn of what this brat did, you all will know that I'm already being very lenient with him!

Dave, my dear grandson, do you want to be so kind as to explain to everyone why you are being punished right now?"

Right as Coril finished speaking, Dave could be seen having an awkward look on his face, and after hesitating for a short moment, then did Dave finally mustered his courage to tell everyone the reason that he was currently being punished by Coril.

"When... when Julia informed me of the fact that Sebastian had awakened the sperm strengthening body, and she told me that Sebastian's sperm strengthening body possesses the ability to strengthen her cultivation strength...

Because of the information that I had learned from the special bodies book... I ended up thinking that Sebastian was purposely lying about the abilities that his special body possesses, and thus came to the conclusion that he may had have some ulterior motives for marrying over to our Lisandris Family.

Of course, thanks to Ancestor Coril, I am now aware that the information within the special bodies book may not be entirely true, and that I was wrong with the conclusion that I had arrived to..."

While speaking, Dave could see that everyone else's expression was turning into the same expression as Coril was looking at him with, whereby they had a frown on their faces and seemed as if they were looking at something disgusting while they were looking at him.

Thus, as Dave continued speaking, he began looking downward to the floor to avoid everyone's gaze, while at the same time, his voice was becoming lower and lower.

And right as Dave was done speaking, Coril's anger seemed to have been reignited once again after he was done listening to Dave speak.

"Take a look at this son that you have raised, Henry!

And you, Damien! This is the person that you intend to hand over the position of family head to?!

Let me tell you all! It is fortunate that Sebastian joined our Lisandris Family while I am still alive, and Damien still hasn't head over to the main sect!

Or else, if this situation were to happen in a few years' time instead, where I am most likely no longer around, Damien had already head over to the main sect, and Dave is currently the Lisandris Family's family head...

With how wishy washy and slow-witted Dave is, our Lisandris Family would have most likely missed this heaven-sent opportunity of being able to have the chance to return back to its glory days!

After all, you all know what this unfilial brat actually intended to do? He actually intended to look for the reason that Sebastian actually "lied" to the Lisandris Family, instead of quickly seizing this chance to reassure Sebastian that the Lisandris Family will support Sebastian in making full use of his sperm strengthening body!"

Upon speaking up to here, Coril's anger had evidently risen to its peak, and thus, without any hesitation, Coril looked over to Dave once again, then chided at Dave while with a stern look on his face.

"You unfilial brat! How does your brain even work?! Even if Sebastian really had any ulterior motives, just based on the fact that Sebastian actually possesses the sperm strengthening body, the first thing that you should do is to reassure Sebastian and make sure that Sebastian will become tightly connected to the Lisandris Family!

Look at the state that our Lisandris Family is currently in! So what if Sebastian had ulterior motives toward our Lisandris Family?! What is there for our Lisandris Family to lose so long as we are able to make use of Sebastian's sperm strengthening body?!

If our Lisandris Family had lost this heaven-sent opportunity of being able to work closely with Sebastian because you... Let me tell you, a hundred of you would still not be enough to make up for this mistake of yours!"

Right as Coril finished chiding at Dave, Coril held onto his chest with his right hand and began catching his breath.

For a golden core realm cultivator to end up in the state of breathing heavily just from chiding at someone, it was evident just how angry Coril was toward Dave's action...

Chapter 120: A strong identity for Sebastian

In truth, if not for the fact that Dave was indeed the one who was responsible for recruiting Sebastian into the Lisandris Family as a married-in son-in-law...

And also for the fact that Dave was close to breaking through to becoming a golden core realm cultivator, which was something that the Lisandris Family was currently lacking in numbers when compared to the other cultivation families within the Middle District who had at least 10 golden core realm cultivators within their families...

Coril would have definitely gave Dave an extremely harsh punishment, for example, sending him to work in one of the mines that Bright Moon Sect possesses.

"Alright, Ancestor Coril, don't take Dave's action to heart. No matter what, at the end of the day, Dave was just being cautious, and he had the Lisandris Family's interests at heart."

Henry was trying to put in a word for his son, Dave, but little did he expect, right as he had finished speaking, he ended up shifting Coril's attention over to him.

"What gave you the courage to even try and speak up for Dave? You are no better than Dave too! What did I just say a while ago? Only when there's a stranger amongst us, then should you address me as Ancestor Coril! Take a look around you, is there any stranger amongst us right now?!"

"But, you were the one who..."

"What?! Are you going to retort me now?!"

"... Of course not, father..."

After staring silently at Henry for a short moment, then did Coril looked over to Veronica and apologized while with an apologetic smile on his face, "I'm sorry, Veronica, that you had to witness this unsightly scene."

Upon speaking up to here, Coril looked over to Dave, then said with a stern look and stern voice, "Go on. Tell Veronica what you know about Sebastian's talisman crafting skills."

Right as Coril finished speaking, Dave subconsciously took a glance at both Henry and Coril, then looked over to Veronica and said.

"From the information that I have collected on Sebastian, it would seem that Sebastian's talent as a talisman crafter should be on the same level as your daughter, and perhaps, even higher than your daughter.

After all, from what I know, your daughter took 2 years to successfully break through from an apprentice talisman crafter to becoming an official talisman crafter, and this was with the fact that your daughter possessed an unlimited supply of talisman crafting resources, and even a tier 2 talisman crafter that you hired to guide her throughout the entire 2 years.

As for Sebastian, although it has indeed been most likely close to 5 years since he had broken through from a beginner talisman crafter to becoming an apprentice talisman crafter, I reckon that, during these 5 years, he most likely spent less than half a year focusing on improving his talisman crafting skills, since he not only needed to spend most of his time working at stores so that he could afford to buy talisman crafting resources, but also needed to spend time cultivating.

Despite that, Sebastian is currently already pretty close to breaking through to becoming an official talisman crafter.

Personally, I feel that, Sebastian should be able to break through to becoming an official talisman crafter in just a year time if he doesn't waste any time on cultivating, or doing meaningless things, and just focused all of his attention onto improving his talisman crafting skills.

Of course, if he possessed cultivation pills or medicines that were able to help remove his spirit's fatigue, which will allow him to be able to do more talisman crafting sessions in a day, he should be able to break through in 6 to 8 months' time."

While Dave was speaking, Veronica could be seen continuously tapping her right index finger onto the couch's armrest while with her eyes closed, evidently to be contemplating about something in her own mind.

And after Dave had finished speaking, Veronica didn't respond immediately.

Only after a few minutes had passed, then did Veronica stopped tapping her right index finger onto the couch's armrest and finally opened her eyes.

Right upon opening her eyes, Veronica looked over to Coril, then said with a smile on her face, "If Sebastian's talent is really as great as Dave has said to be, this is great news for all of us.

Initially, I was thinking of using the inner-disciple slot that I have obtained from Luneth onto Sebastian, and once Sebastian has become an inner-disciple, I will go to the trouble of creating a weapon enchantment department, so that I could take in Sebastian as my direct disciple and let him become the weapon enchantment department's great senior brother.

After all, sooner or later, we are going to have to make it so that Sebastian possesses a strong enough identity that wouldn't make others become too suspicious as to why we are pouring so many resources onto him and even marrying so many women over to him.

However, I have a change of plans now.

Starting from tomorrow, I will hire a tier 2 talisman crafter to guide Sebastian, and I will provide all of the cultivation pills, medicines, and talisman crafting ingredients that Sebastian will need.

I will try to help Sebastian break through to becoming an official talisman crafter as soon as possible, and hopefully, Sebastian will be able to do so in a few months' time.

Once Sebastian has broken through to becoming an official talisman craftsman, I will introduce him to Ning Zhi and get Ning Zhi to accept him as her direct disciple.

With me introducing Sebastian to Ning Zhi, and Sebastian's talented talisman crafting skills, there shouldn't be any problems with getting Ning Zhi to accept Sebastian as her direct disciple.

This way, not only will Sebastian be able to possess a strong enough identity, but he will also be able to slowly become acquainted with both Ning Zhi and Feng Xue."

Upon speaking up to here...
