Chapter 21: Affection reached 60

"Pa! Pa! Pa!"

"Hmm... hmm..."

"Hah... hah..."

"Pa! Pa! Pa!"

Within Julia and Sebastian's bedroom, with his body positioned above Julia, and his palms pressed down onto the bed in order to support his upper body from being above Julia's body, Sebastian could be seen moving his waist back and forth with all of his strength, not holding back in the slightest bit at all as he thrust his dick in and out of Julia's pussy, constantly hitting his glans onto Julia's cervix and rubbing his dick back and forth on Julia's pussy walls.

The sloppy wet sounds of Sebastian's dick thrusting in and out of Julia's pussy, paired with Sebastian's groaning and Julia's moaning constantly rang throughout the entire bedroom.

Because it was currently in the afternoon, and the curtains that were within the bedroom weren't drawn, the sunlight was able to shine into the bedroom, illuminating the bedroom brightly.

Due to how bright the bedroom was, both Sebastian and Julia were able to clearly see the expressions that were on each other's faces.

When Sebastian looked at Julia's face, what Sebastian saw was Julia's watery eyes, Julia's slightly frowned brows, and Julia biting onto her lower lips, seemingly that she was attempting to suppress the immense pleasure that she was currently feeling coming from her pussy.

However, hearing the loud muffled moans that were coming out from her mouth despite the fact that she was biting hard onto her lower lips, it was evident that her attempt at suppressing the immense pleasure that she was currently feeling coming from her pussy was futile.

As for Julia's watery eyes and slightly frowned brows, both of those didn't appear because Julia was feeling in pain or anything, and instead, it was because of how immense the pleasure that she was feeling coming from her pussy was.

As for Julia's point of view, what Julia saw was Sebastian looking tenderly yet passionately at her.

And it was precisely because of Sebastian's tender yet passionate gaze that she chose to not hide her face with either the pillow or her hands.

Looking at Sebastian's tender yet passionate gaze, Julia felt that there was a strange feeling appearing within her heart, as if there were butterflies flying around in her heart.

Perhaps, this is the feeling of being in love...?

Julia couldn't help but thought to herself as she looked affectionately into Sebastian's eyes.

If Sebastian had the leisure to take a look at his system screen right now, he would be able to see that there was a new text log in his system's text log tab.

As for what the text log was about, the content of the text log was to inform him that Julia's affection toward him had risen all the way to 60.

And it has to be known, within the cultivation world, it was hard for one's affection toward another to reach 60, even if the other person was the person's family or cultivation partner.

After all, within the cultivation world, the most important thing to a cultivator was cultivation resources. For the sake of cultivation resources, things such as people betraying families or their cultivation partners were normal occurrences within this world.

As of right now, within Julia's mind, aside from her big sister, Miuna Lisandris, Sebastian Force was currently most likely the second most important person to her.

And yet, just how many days has Sebastian even known Julia for?

It hasn't even been 2 full days since they have known each other, and yet, Sebastian was currently already more important to her than Dave Lisandris and her parents were to her.

It has to be known that, Dave Lisandris was Julia Lisandris's second uncle, and because Julia's parents died early when she was still a child, Dave Lisandris was basically the father figure of her life.

Thus, from this, it could be seen just how difficult it would have normally been for Sebastian to get Julia's affection to reach 60. And yet, he managed to do so.

Of course, the reason that Julia's affection toward Sebastian would rise so quickly wasn't just because of how well Sebastian had been treating her.

The other factors that contributed to Julia's affection toward Sebastian to rise so quickly was because that Sebastian was willing to reveal to her that he had awakened a special body, and that she was now pregnant with a child, and that child was definitely going to possess a spiritual root.

Firstly, within the cultivation world, most cultivators who possessed cultivation partners don't bother much with nurturing love and affection with their partners.

The main reason as to why most cultivators even bother looking for cultivation partners was all so for the sake of cultivation. After all, with a cultivation partner, some things become much easier to do. Things such as exploring dangerous places for resources, completing missions to earn cultivation resources, and so on.

Thus, when Sebastian treated Julia with so much affection and care, it was only natural that Julia, someone who was both an inexperienced cultivator and virgin, would truly fall in love with Sebastian.

Secondly, when Sebastian chose to reveal a great secret of his to her, which was that he had awakened a special body, when he didn't really had the need to tell her about it, Julia felt that Sebastian really trusted her as a cultivation partner, and thus, she couldn't help but fall even deeper in love with him.

Thirdly, which was that she found out that she was pregnant and that the child she was currently pregnant with definitely possesses a spiritual root, she couldn't help but feel grateful toward Sebastian, and thus, fall even more deeper in love with him.

After all, it has to be known that, for someone like her who possessed a lower-quality spiritual root, and don't really possess much talent in talisman crafting, in her mind, if she wants to raise her status within the Lisandris Family, the only way for her to do so was to give birth to children with spiritual roots for the Lisandris Family.

Chapter 22: Sudden change

Of course, there were two more reasons as to why Julia Lisandris toward Sebastian Force managed to rise so quickly to 60.

As for what the two reasons were?

Well, firstly, it was because Sebastian was the one who had taken Julia's virginity.

And secondly, it was because Sebastian managed to satisfy Julia in bed and brought her to orgasms, making Julia come to realize that there was actually such a pleasurable feeling in life, a feeling that was comparable to breaking through to the next level of her own cultivation realm.

After all, what was it that people say...? Something along the line that a woman's pussy was the best way toward a woman's heart...?

"Pa! Pa! Pa!"

"Hmm... Boohoo... boohoo..."

"Hah... hah... Baby, I'm sorry, bear with it a bit more, I think I'm about to cum soon..."

"Pa! Pa! Pa!"

After what seemed like 10 minutes had passed since Sebastian had begun thrusting non-stop without holding back any of his strength, Julia could currently be seen hugging tightly onto a pillow and moaning while crying.

Tears could be seen constantly flowing out from Julia's eyes as she looked pitifully into Sebastian's eyes, hoping that Sebastian would go easy on her, but at the same time, since she wanted to be able to satisfy Sebastian's dick with her pussy, thus, although she had already come to two more orgasms since Sebastian had begun with his relentless thrusting, and that she was currently going crazy from the pleasure that was coming from her pussy, she didn't open her mouth to tell Sebastian to go easy on her with his thrusting.

Even more, upon hearing Sebastian's apology and upon seeing the apologetic look that Sebastian had on his face as he apologized to her, Julia gently held onto Sebastian's cheeks with her hands, then while rubbing gently onto Sebastian's cheeks with her hands, she said as gently as she possibly could despite her teary eyes and uncontrollable sobbing.

"Sob... It's fine... Sob... I can take it, you don't have to apologize..."

"Although I'm crying... Sob... It's because it feels so good..."

Upon sensing how gently Julia was rubbing her palms onto his cheeks, and upon hearing how Julia tried to console him despite how evident that Julia was trying her best to endure the immense pleasure that she was feeling right now...

Sebastian couldn't help but feel as if his heartstring was pulled onto by Julia.

Immediately, for the sake of ending this sex as soon as possible, Sebastian gritted his teeth and began thrusting back and forth even harder than he already was before, hoping that he could somehow increase the pleasure that he was feeling coming from his dick, and thus cum as quickly as he possibly could.

Fuck! What the hell is going on?! I have been feeling like I have been on the verge of cumming since 5 minutes ago, and yet, somehow, despite feeling so for more than 5 minutes, I still haven't cummed yet!

Furthermore, I haven't been trying to hold myself back from cumming, and even more, I'm even trying to make myself cum, and yet, I'm somehow unable to cum?!

What the hell is actually going on? Is it because of my bloodline of half-draconic? Is there a hidden ability that I do not know of that a half-draconic actually possesses which causes a half-draconic to be unable to cum despite wanting to do so or something?!

Fuck, I swear to god, if I end up not awakening some kind of ability after I managed to cum, I will... I will... Ah!!! Fuck!!! How long is this going to take?!

While thrusting his dick back and forth within Julia's pussy with all of his might, Sebastian couldn't help but curse out loudly in his own mind.

In truth, if it was a normal situation, upon seeing how uncontrollable Julia was sobbing due to his continuous relentless thrusting, Sebastian would have long stopped and waited for Julia's body to recover first before he continued on with his thrusts.

After all, it's not like he would die if he don't cum immediately, so what's wrong with letting Julia rest first before he continued on with having sex with Julia? It's not like he's a beast who only has lust filled within his mind, right...?

However, 5 minutes ago when Sebastian felt that he wasn't able to cum despite feeling like he was about to cum any time soon, Sebastian suddenly sensed that the blood within his entire body was actually beginning to boil, and that something was actually happening to both his blood and body.

The moment Sebastian sensed that his blood and body was undergoing a change, he was able to sense from his instincts that came from his bloodline of a half-draconic that this change that his body and bloody were currently undergoing was an extremely rare occurrence, and in order to prevent the change from coming to a stop, he had to continue on thrusting his dick back and forth without stop.

Thus, despite seeing how uncontrollable Julia was sobbing in response to his continuous relentless thrusting, Sebastian didn't bother stopping his thrusts, and even more, when he heard Julia's gently consoling him, he began to thrust even harder than before, hoping that he would be able to cum as soon as possible.

If Sebastian possessed spiritual sense, which would allow him to see the inside of his body, he would be able to see that the energy within his body was increasing at an astonishing speed, and judging from the speed in which the energy within his body was increasing, if this phenomenon were to continue for 10 more minutes, he will be able to break through to the next level of his current cultivation realm!

Furthermore, if he were able to see the inside of his body right now, he would be able to see a gold color shine appearing within his blood, albeit the gold color shine was barely visible.

Chapter 23: Ancestral blessing

If a high-realm cultivator was present here within the bedroom with Sebastian, when the high-realm cultivator used their spiritual sense and looked into Sebastian's body, the moment they spotted the gold color shine that was appearing within Sebastian's blood, they would immediately be able to tell what was going on with Sebastian right now.

Ancestral blessing!

A phenomenon that beings who were the descendants of higher beings were able to experience by chance!

By undergoing ancestral blessing, not only would one be able to awaken an ability or talent that their ancestors possessed, but they would also be able to experience break through of their current realm, and even have their spiritual root evolved into a higher grade spiritual root!

Also, since higher beings were basically either cultivators who were nascent soul realm above, or mystical creatures such as dragons, phoenixes, and white tigers, it was evident just how formidable it would be for a low-realm cultivator, such as a cultivator who was in the energy refining realm to awaken an ability or talent. It was basically as if a young child was given a machine gun to fight against a bunch of helpless beasts.

Something that was worth noting, within the continent that Sebastian was currently located at, which was the upper north continent, there wasn't a single cultivator who possessed the cultivation of nascent soul realm.

Take the sect that he belonged to currently, which was the Bright Moon Sect, one of the strongest sects within the upper north continent.

The highest realm cultivator within Bright Moon Sect was merely golden core realm.

And as for how the cultivation realms go from energy refining realm to nascent soul realm?

Basically, the first realm was energy refining realm, followed by foundation establishment realm, golden core realm, then finally, nascent soul realm.

Thus, from this, it could be seen just how formidable an energy refining realm cultivator would become after successfully going through an ancestral blessing. After all, by successfully going through the ancestral blessing, it would mean that the energy refining realm cultivator would be able to awaken an ability or talent that was at the least an ability or talent that a nascent soul realm being possesses.

As of how high the chances were for such descendants to be able to experience even a single ancestral blessings in their lives?

To put it in perspective, amongst 100,000 low-quality spiritual root cultivators who possessed the bloodline of half-draconic and half-human, it would be a miracle if a single one of those cultivators was able to even experience a single time of ancestral blessing.

Thus, from this, it could be seen just how lucky Sebastian was to be actually able to experience an ancestral blessing.

Of course, there was a bad side that came with ancestral blessing too, which was that, if one wasn't able to successfully undergo the changes that came from the ancestral blessing, most of the time, death was what that would come by next.

And if the off chance that a cultivator manages to survive the ancestral blessing despite failing to undergo the changes that came from the ancestral blessing, the cultivator was most likely going to live the rest of their life as a normal human being due to both their cultivation and cultivation aptitude having been crippled by the ancestral blessing.

Thus, it was fortunate that Sebastian followed his instincts and didn't choose to stop his thrusting just because he felt pity and heart pained for Julia.

After all, it was evident that Sebastian somehow managed to undergo an ancestral blessing due to having sex with Julia, and thus, if he were to stop his thrusting, which meant stopping having sex with Julia, it was definite that the ancestral blessing would come to a stop, and when the ancestral blessing comes to a stop, what followed by for him was either death or becoming crippled.

Perhaps, if he ends up surviving and becoming crippled, he may still be able to climb up to his feet with the help of his system, but if it was possible, why would Sebastian want to experience such a thing like this?

"Pa! Pa! Pa!"

"Hmm... Hmm..."

"Hah...! Hah...! Hah...!"

It has been close to 20 minutes since Sebastian had been thrusting his dick in and out of Julia's pussy, and if Sebastian was able to look at his stats tab, he would be able to see that not only was he currently extremely close to breaking through the next level of his current realm, but his spiritual root was also extremely close to evolving to the next grade of spiritual root, which was the middle-quality spiritual root!

It has to be known, the difference between a lower-quality spiritual root and middle-quality spiritual root was basically the difference between heaven and earth, despite the two merely being one grade different from each other, and yet, right now, just from the ancestral blessing that was currently undergoing, his spiritual root was going to evolve from a lower-quality spiritual root to a middle-quality spiritual root!

As of now, Julia had already orgasmed a total of 3 times since Sebastian had begun with his thrusting.

It must be said, Julia's body was truly sensitive, to actually come to a total of 3 orgasms within the span of roughly around 17 minutes.

Right now, looking at Julia, she didn't even have the energy to bother crying anymore, and she was currently merely letting out light moans while staringly blankly at the ceiling with her mouth slightly opened.

It would be a lie to say that Sebastian wasn't feeling guilty while he was looking at the look that was currently on Julia's face.

However, upon sensing that he was really close to cumming already, and also that the whatever changes that his body and blood was undergoing was close to coming to an end, Sebastian lowered his head and kissed gently onto Julia's lips, then consoled, "Sorry, my love, just a few more minutes and this will be over!"

Right upon Sebastian finished speaking, Sebastian hurried his thrusts even more, and as expected...!

Chapter 24: Torch dragon

On the bed, Sebastian could be seen thrusting his hips back and forth with all of his might, pushing his dick in and out of Julia's pussy at high speed, trying his best to cum as soon as possible...

And as Sebastian had expected from his senses, whereby he had sensed that he was really close to cumming...

Right after a minute or two of thrusting his dick in and out of Julia's pussy, he suddenly sensed his dick twitching incomparably hard, and in the next moment, he immediately felt that he was about to cum.

Upon sensing that he was about to cum, Sebastian hurriedly pushed his dick all the way into the depth of Julia's pussy, causing his glans to collide into Julia's cervix, followed by his glans pressing hard onto Julia's cervix.

"Ah...!" The moment Julia sensed that her cervix was being pressed onto and being stimulated by Sebastian's glans, Julia immediately bit onto her lower lips with the teeth and let out a deep and loud muffled moan.

From the looks of things, it was evident that she had actually come to another orgasm.

Counting this orgasm of hers, Julia had already come to a total of 4 orgasm in the span of 20 minutes.

And because Julia had come to one orgasm after another orgasm within such a short span of time, in this orgasm of hers, there was hardly any liquid being spurt out from both her vagina and urethra.

Looking at Julia right now, whereby her eyes were rolling backward, and her body was twitching incomparably due to the pleasure that she was currently feeling from the orgasm that she had just come to, one has to wonder if she would still be able to remain conscious once the pleasure from this current orgasm of hers had subsided.

On the other hand, right when Sebastian's glans came into contact with Julia's cervix, Sebastian immediately felt the back of his spine going numb for a moment, and in the next moment, he let out a loud groan, then shouted out, "Ah...! Julia, I'm cumming!"

Right after Sebastian finished shouting out that he was cumming to Julia, to Sebastian's surprise, instead of the feeling of immense pleasure that he thought he was going to feel due to him finally being able to ejaculate semen out from his dick, Sebastian suddenly found himself to be surrounded by darkness, and furthermore, he couldn't sense his own body at all.

"What...? What happened? Did I faint right after I cummed or something...? Where am..."

Right before Sebastian had even finished his own thought within his own mind, Sebastian suddenly found himself to be situated within the sky and overlooking down at a mountain that was filled with mist.

This time, Sebastian was finally able to sense his body, however, because he was able to sense his body, he was also able to sense that his body was currently in an incorporeal form.

"What just happened...? Why am I at this unknown place right now...? Why is my body currently in an incorporeal form...? And, what is that weird looking creature over there...?"

Before Sebastian's eyes was a creature that had a huge and long snake body that was scarlet red in color, and on the top end of the snake body was a beautiful female human head.

The beautiful female human head possessed silky long white hair, exquisite facial features, eyes that were like that of a cat, white pupils, ghastly-like complexion, and the tongue of a serpent.

Not long after Sebastian had looked at the creature that was before him, information regarding the creature began flooding into his mind.

Torch dragon, also known as the Yin Dragon, an extremely formidable unique mystical creature that once dominated the entirety of Mountain of Youth, one of the nine sacred mountains that was located within the Celestial Realm.

The torch dragon possesses the ability to control day and night, and the ability to create various elements.

When the torch dragon's eyes were closed, it meant that the night sky would illuminate upon the ground. And when the torch dragon's eyes were opened, the sunlight would illuminate upon the ground.

There was no place that the torch dragon wasn't able to illuminate, not even the deepest of the underworld was able to prevent the torch dragon from doing so, and there was no place that was torch dragon wasn't able to cast darkness upon, not even the phoenix king's everlasting flames were about to shine over the darkness that the torch dragon has casted.

When the torch dragon blows air out of its mouth, winter would arrive.

When the torch dragon breathes out, summer would arrive.

And when the torch dragon breathes in, a strong gust of wind would immediately be created before it.

Without the need to breathe, eat, drink, or sleep in order to survive, the torch dragon was able to easily spend pretty much all of its lifetime cultivating, which contributed to one of the reasons it was able to rise toward the peak of cultivation and dominated the entire territory of the Mountain of Youth for as long as it did.

If not for the end of the Ancient Era, whereby not only the Celestial Realm, but even all of the other various realms were drained of most of their spiritual energy, causing the era of cultivation to come to an end, and the era of martial arts to arrive, the torch dragon would have most likely be able to continue dominating the entire territory of the Mountain of Youth up till this current day.

The moment the information that was flooding into Sebastian's mind came to a stop, Sebastian couldn't help but hold and massage onto his forehead with his right hand due to the heavy feeling that he was feeling in his head.

And shortly after Sebastian had come back to his senses...

Right as he looked over to the torch dragon once again, he noticed that the torch dragon was actually looking in his direction!

Chapter 25: Phoenix king

Although Sebastian was currently aware that he most likely was in a hallucination of some sort, especially since the information that had flooded into his mind just a while ago had informed him that the torch dragon was no longer alive, and Sebastian himself was aware that the Ancient Era was an era that had ended 15,000 years ago.

But when he saw that the torch dragon looking into his direction, he still couldn't help but feel a chill running down his spine.

"So, this is what a creature that stood in the top of the power chain during the Ancient Era looks like, huh..."

"I wonder just how strong such a mystical creature like this actually is. Though, I reckon that the entirety of the north continent's cultivators wouldn't be able to even hold a candle to this creature."

"Caw!"

"Flap! Flap! Flap!"

Right as Sebastian was thinking to himself in his own mind, Sebastian suddenly heard a loud cry of a bird accompanied with the sounds of wings flapping coming from behind him, and right upon hearing those two sounds, Sebastian subconsciously turned his head around to take a look at the source of the sounds.

Immediately after turning his head around, Sebastian saw that a huge bird-like creature that was covered in flames was currently situated not far away from him.

The huge bird-like creature possessed feathers that were golden in color, and the flames that were covering onto its body were reddish gold in color.

"Ah... So, the torch dragon wasn't looking at me. Instead, it was looking at this bird-like creature..."

Right as Sebastian finished muttering to himself in his own mind, just like before, where information regarding the torch dragon begun flooding into his mind out of nowhere, new information had begun flooding into his mind once again.

However, this time, instead of information regarding the torch dragon, it was the information regarding the bird-like creature that he was currently looking being flooded into his mind.

Phoenix king, the strongest phoenix within the Ancient Era, king of the phoenixes, and also the master of the Tree of Life, one of the nine sacred lands that was located within the Celestial Realm.

Phoenix, the symbol of immortality. Even if a phoenix were to die in battle or various other causes, so long as a single drip of the phoenix's blood exists, the phoenix was able to resurrect and come back to life.

Of course, such ability didn't come without cost. Things such as dropping in cultivation levels, drop in aptitude, and various other side effects come along with the usage of resurrection.

Therefore, phoenixes weren't as unkillable as most would think.

However, whether if phoenixes could be killed easily, that was another question. After all, phoenixes were one of the creatures that possessed the highest cultivation aptitude the moment they were born.

Furthermore, aside from being born with the highest cultivation aptitude, phoenixes were also one of the creatures that possessed the strongest fire abilities.

Take their flames that they were born with for example. Those flames of theirs, not only do they get stronger as their cultivation levels increase, but also, those flames were excellent at burning through armors and defenses, which causes most armors and defensive techniques to be useless in front of phoenixes.

Thus, this meant that, when facing against a phoenix, one would most likely have to be able to take their fire attacks head on with just their body alone, or else, the best course of action would be to flee from a phoenix.

Right as the information was done flooding into his mind, it took a short moment for Sebastian to come back to his mind once again.

And right when Sebastian came back to his mind, both the phoenix and torch dragon began letting out loud cries while gazing at each other with a fierce look on their faces.

"Caw!"

"Roar!"

Right as the phoenix let out a cry, the phoenix could be seen immediately opening its mouth and shooting a large ball of flame out from its mouth.

And since the phoenix was looking in the torch dragon's direction, it was evident as to just where the large ball of flame was being shoot toward to.

On the other hand, the torch dragon could be seen doing the same as the phoenix, whereby it shot out a large ball of flame out from its mouth too.

However, different from the phoenix king's large ball of flame that was reddish gold in color, the torch dragon's large ball of flame was actually white in color.

As the two large balls of flames began flying toward each other, since Sebastian was situated within the middle of both the phoenix king and the torch dragon, he was immediately engulfed by both of the flames right when the two large balls of flame collided into each other and exploded.

With his vision filled entirely with a mix of white, red, and gold, and his ears filled with the deafening sound of explosion, Sebastian felt as if he was about to go blind due to how bright it was and deaf due to how loud the explosion was.

Fortunately, just a few seconds after the explosion happened, Sebastian found himself to have been teleported into a cave, and thus, he no longer have to suffer from the eye-blinding brightness that filled his eyes, and the deafening sound of explosion that filled his ears.

Currently, right before him was an egg that was five times the size of his body.

Right as he landed his eyes on the egg, the egg could be seen shaking slightly, and cracks could be seen appearing on the egg.

And not before long, right as the entire of the egg was filled with cracks, the egg was cracked open from the middle.

As the top half of the eggshell fell to the side, the creature that was within the egg entered into Sebastian's eyes.

Snake-like body that was red in color, gold color wings that were...

Chapter 26: Yin and yang cores

As the creature crawled its way out of the half-broken egg, and onto the cold hard floor that was located right beside the egg, the entirety of the creature's appearance entered into Sebastian's eyes.

Snake-like body that was red in color, gold color wings and toddler-like arms that were attached to the same upper area of the snake-like body, just that the gold color wings were attached to the back of the snake-like body, while the toddler-like arms were attached to the front of the snake-like body, and a human baby head that was located at the top end of the snake-like body.

However, different from a normal human baby head, the current human baby head possesses a beak as its mouth, and also possesses the eyes of a cat, which were slit vertical pupils.

Furthermore, looking at the creature's pupils, its left pupil was completely white in color, while the right pupil was completely black in color.

Right as Sebastian had taken a clear look at the creature before him, information regarding the creature began flooding into his mind.

The offspring of a torch dragon and phoenix, which was later bestowed the name "The Banished" by the higher-beings within the Celestial Realm.

The Banished, a mystical creature that came to become one of the strongest beings within the Celestial Realm, and was also one of the key figures that was responsible for the end of the Ancient Era.

Due to being the offspring of two of the strongest mystical creatures within the Celestial Realm, The Banished possesses aptitude, abilities, and innate talents that far surpassed mystical creatures such as dragons, phoenixes, and so on other mystical creatures.

After the information was done flooding into Sebastian's mind, this time, to Sebastian's surprise, he didn't feel sick or anything. Perhaps, he had most likely gotten use to the flooding of information into his mind after having experienced it twice in such a short span of time.

"First, I was shown the torch dragon, followed by the phoenix king, and now, I'm being shown the torch dragon and phoenix king's offspring, which is called The Banished..."

"I wonder just what is the reason that I'm being shown those creatures for..."

Shortly after The Banished had crawled out of the eggshell by using its toddler-like arms, though, because of The Banished's size, each of the toddler looking-like arms was basically five times the size of a normal human adult's arm, The Banished could be seen turning its body around so that it was faced against the eggshell.

Upon being faced against the eggshell, The Banished opened its beak and lightly pressed its beak onto the eggshell.

Right as The Banished had its beak placed onto the eggshell, The Banished could be seen closing its eyes and remaining still in its position.

If a normal person was currently situated in this situation, they would most likely be confused as to what The Banished was currently doing, however, within Sebastian's eyes, for some reason, he was able to clearly see what was happening before him.

And the reason he was able to do so was because, right when he was teleported into this cave, he somehow gained the ability to see through things, and the ability that allowed him to do so was known as "spiritual sense".

"So, this is what spiritual sense allows one to be able to do..." While looking at the scene before him, Sebastian couldn't help but muttered to himself in a low voice.

Before Sebastian's eyes, Sebastian could see that two different energies, one energy being black in color, while the other energy being white in color, were circulating throughout the eggshell that The Banished had its beak pressed onto, and the two different energies were currently moving toward The Banished's beak, followed by being consumed by The Banished.

As the two different energies were consumed by The Banished, Sebastian could see that the two different energies were moving toward the middle of The Banished's snake-like body, followed by the two energies being absorbed by the two circular balls that were located right in the middle of The Banished's snake-like body.

Looking at the two circular balls, one of the circular balls was white in color, while the other circular ball was black in color.

Thus, naturally, the black color energy was being absorbed by the black color circular ball, while the white color energy was being absorbed by the white color circular ball.

Shortly after Sebastian's eyes came into contact with the two circular balls, information regarding the two circular balls appeared within Sebastian's mind.

The yin and yang cores, a unique innate talent that The Banished was born with.

The yin core was formed due to the epitome of yin energy that the torch dragon possesses, while the yang core was formed due to the epitome of yang energy that the phoenix king possesses.

When the time to break through from foundation establishment realm to the golden core realm arises, the yin and yang cores will melt and give rise to a unique golden core.

Right as the information regarding the yin and yang cores that were flooding into Sebastian's mind came to a stop, Sebastian noticed that he was no longer within the cave, and currently, he was within the body of an eagle that possessed the cultivation realm of nascent soul realm.

This time, although he wasn't in control of the eagle's body, he could feel all of the senses and emotions that the eagle felt.

And as of right now, the eagle was currently fighting with The Banished, and looking at The Banished, The Banished's entire body was covered with wounds and seemed to be on the brink of being defeated by the eagle.

Different from The Banished that Sebastian saw within the cave, the current The Banished possessed a handsome looking teenager face, and the cultivation realm of foundation establishment realm.

"Damned old eagle, are you sure you want to force me to my brim?!" While flying within the air and dodging the eagle's attacks, The Banished opened his mouth and shouted out loudly with anger.

Chapter 27: Foundation establishment vs nascent soul

Upon hearing what The Banished shouted out to him, a sneer appeared on the eagle's face as it looked at The Banished with a look of disdain and said unhurriedly while continuing on with its attacks, "So what if I force you to your brim? What are you going to be able to do about it?"

"Take this as a valuable lesson to learn, and perhaps, in your next life, you may somehow come to remember this valuable lesson of yours that you have just learned, which is to not taunt someone who possesses a much stronger cultivation realm than you."

Right upon speaking up to here, the eagle suddenly flew at high speed and appeared right before The Banished, and the moment the eagle appeared before the Banished, the eagle began flapping its wings at The Banished, unleashing a barrage of wind blades directly toward The Banished.

Because The Banished wasn't able to dodge the barrage of wind blades that the eagle had launched at him, The Banished hurriedly covered his body with his wings and ended up taking all of the wind blades head on with his wings.

"Urgh...!" And right as the barrage of wind blades had come to a stop, The Banished let out a loud painful groan as his body began falling downward to the ground, due to his wings no longer being able to continue on functioning anymore.

"Thud!" Right after The Banished's body landed onto the ground, a loud and heavy sound rang out through the forest.

Looking at The Banished's wings right now, The Banished's wings were currently covered with blood, and the bloody flesh of his wings could be seen through the various huge open wounds that were on his wings.

"Swoosh!"

"Flap, flap, flap..."

Shortly after The Banished had landed onto the ground, the eagle suddenly appeared within the open air that was situated above The Banished.

While flapping its wings, the eagle looked downward at The Banished, then said with a cold tone, "Any last word before I end your life?"

And in truth, while the eagle was speaking, it was actually charging up a final attack to end The Banished's life once and for all.

"Hah... hah... hah..." While with his eyes closed, The Banished began panting heavily for breath.

"Damn it! Originally, with the serene fire flower and frosted phoenix wood that I bought from the auction house, once I absorbed both of those items, I would have most likely been able to bring both of my yin and yang cores to 7 lines cores!"

"And once my yin and yang cores are both at 7 lines, I would have been able to start preparing breaking through to the golden core realm!"

"And yet, because of this petty and narrow minded eagle who is actually upset that I outbid him when bidding over the serene fire flower, I am actually going to have to use up 2 lines of my yin and yang cores to defeat him, or else I am most likely going to be killed by him!"

"Ah!!! Damn it all! Damn it all! Damn it all!"

"This damned lowly creature! I will make sure to wipe off his entire species if I managed to end up surviving!"

While The Banished was shouting out and cursing out at the eagle within his own mind, same as what the eagle was doing, The Banished himself was also charging an attack to fire at the eagle.

And judging from what The Banished had thought to himself, The Banished seemed to be pretty confident that he would be able to defeat the eagle with his attack, just that, by using the attack that he was going to use to defeat the eagle, he was going to have to make some kind of sacrifice.

After a minute or two of silence, upon sensing that his attack had been charged up to the strongest it could be, the eagle finally opened its mouth and broke the silence.

"So, there's nothing that you want to say? If so, die then."

Right as the eagle finished speaking, the eagle shot out a tiny ball of green color looking energy from its mouth.

However, despite the fact that the green color ball of energy was pretty tiny, The Banished could sense the devastating power that was stored within the tiny ball.

Right upon sensing the devastating power that was stored within the tiny ball, The Banished knew that if the tiny ball were to land onto his body, he would definitely end up dying in just seconds.

Thus, without any hesitation, The Banished suddenly lifted up his head, and upon facing his head toward the eagle, The Banished opened his beak and shot out a breath attack that possessed both the elements of ice and fire.

And right as The Banished shot out that breath attack, his yin and yang cores, which could be seen to have 6 lines on each of them...

2 lines could be seen slowly disappearing, and in the end, only 4 lines remained on each of the yin and yang cores.

On the other hand, in Sebastian's point of view, when he saw the ice and fire breath being shot out from The Banished's beak, he could sense the feeling of fear and despair coming from the eagle.

And before even needing to wonder why such emotions were being emitted out from the eagle, in the next moment, Sebastian immediately understood why.

Right as the ice and fire breath was shot out, Sebastian could sense "his' body turning stiff due to the ice elemental aspect of the ice and fire breath, and shortly after, due to not being able to move "his" body, "his" body was engulfed by the ice and fire breath.

Fortunately for Sebastian, despite being able to sense things, the feeling of pain wasn't present.

After all, looking at the eagle's body that was being disintegrated by the ice and fire breath within just a few seconds, the pain that the eagle was currently suffering wasn't something that Sebastian would want to experience if possible.

Chapter 28: Break through to level 3

Right as the eagle's body was disintegrated by The Banished's ice and fire breath, what was left remaining of the eagle was the eagle's nascent soul.

Right as The Banished was done with his attack, The Banished could be seen to have used an ability to heal his injuries as The Banished's heavily injured body could be seen recovering at an extraordinary speed, and before a minute had even passed, The Banished's entire body had already healed completely.

However, it was evident that such an extraordinary ability came with a price. After all, if one was able to look at The Banished's yin and yang cores, they would be able to see that 2 more lines had disappeared from each of the yin and yang cores, and as of right now, only 2 lines remained on each of the yin and yang cores.

"Don't you worry, I will come back for you pretty soon." With the look in his eyes that seemed as if it was able to freeze even the divine flames, and fury anger that seemed like it could melt even the Ice Queen's soul, The Banished said with a deep voice toward the eagle's nascent soul, then fly upward to the sky, followed by flying away into the distant.

Evidently, from the looks of things, although The Banished was confident that he was able to defeat the eagle and destroy the eagle's physical body with his fire and ice breath, he was aware that he wasn't going to be able to destroy the eagle's nascent soul.

"Ah...!"

Meanwhile, right as Sebastian saw The Banished flew away into the distant, in the next moment, he found himself to have returned back to his body, right at the moment where he had come to an orgasm and was ejaculating his semen deep into Julia's pussy.

"Hah... hah... hah..." Right after Sebastian was done ejaculating all of his semen into Julia's pussy, Sebastian could be seen collapsing powerlessly onto Julia's body, then began panting heavily for breath, while Julia, on the other hand, had already fainted and lost her consciousness right when she had sensed Sebastian's hot cum being ejaculated right on her cervix.

However, right as Sebastian was done ejaculating all of his semen into Julia's pussy, Sebastian's energy core had actually finally been filled to the brim with spiritual energy, and in the next moment, Sebastian's cultivation level began breaking through to the next level of cultivation, causing him to go from level 2 of energy refining realm to level 3 of energy refining realm.

"Did I just... break through from level 2 of energy refining realm to level 3 of energy refining realm?!"

Upon sensing that his energy core had successfully undergone a change and became stronger than before, followed by all of his fatigue disappearing in the next moment, and his body feeling like it has just been reborn and was filled with incomparable amount of strength and energy, Sebastian immediately knew that he had managed to break through to the next level of his cultivation realm.

However, due to how easy and quick the process of him breaking through from level 2 of energy refining realm to level 3 of energy refining realm was, which was something he had never expected to happen, as initially, he was hoping that he would be able to break through to level 3 of energy refining realm in two or three years' time, and yet, it hasn't even been 24 hours since he had managed to awaken his system, and he had already broken through to level 3 of energy refining realm.

Thus, right after sensing that he had broken through to the third level of energy refining realm, he couldn't help but mutter to himself in his own mind with disbelief.

[Cultivation: level 3 energy refining realm (Exp 0/400)]

If Sebastian was currently able to see his cultivation stats on his system screen, that was what he would be able to see.

However, right as Sebastian's cultivation level had broken through from level 2 of energy refining realm to level 3 of energy refining realm, the spiritual energy that was accumulating within his body and energy core due to the ancestral blessing didn't come to a stop, and instead, right after breaking through to level 3 of energy refining realm, the spiritual energy that was accumulating within his body and energy core began accumulating at an even much faster speed than before!

After what seemed like only 5 minutes had passed since Sebastian had broken through to the 3rd level of energy refining realm, the amount of spiritual energy that had accumulated within his energy core was already about to be filled up to 80%!

And when the energy core was finally filled to the brim with spiritual energy again, it would mean that Sebastian would be able to break through from level 3 energy refining realm to level 4 energy refining realm!

Breaking through from level 2 to level 4 of energy refining realm within less than a day since he had awakened his system...

This was something that Sebastian had never imagined to be able to happen!

However...

Right when Sebastian's energy core was about to be filled to the brim with spiritual energy once again...

The slight golden shine that had appeared in his blood during the ancestral blessing was beginning to dissipate, and within less than a minute, the slight golden shine that was within the blood disappeared completely, and no more spiritual energy was being reproduced by Sebastian's blood anymore.

It has to be noted, although Sebastian Force managed to trigger an ancestral blessing, at the end of the day, he was still a half-blooded draconic and half-blooded human who possessed the worst aptitude, which was that of a lower-quality spiritual root.

Thus, it was already counted as a miracle that the whatsoever percentage of ancient bloodline that he possessed within his blood, which was probably less than 0.1%, was able to help him break through from level 2 to level 3, and even more, bring him close to breaking through to level 4 of energy refining realm.

However...!

Chapter 29: Air and earth's spiritual energy

However...!

Fortunately for Sebastian Force, the ancestral reward that he had managed to obtain from his ancestral blessing wasn't a mere ability or talent that a nascent soul realm being possessed.

And in truth...

For the ancestral blessing to make Sebastian experienced those flashbacks, introducing the torch dragon, phoenix king, The Banished, and finally, last and for all, The Banished's innate talent, which was the yin and yang cores...

By piecing one and one to each other, it was easy to come to the conclusion that the ancestral reward that Sebastian had obtained from the ancestral blessing was going to be the yin and yang cores!

And just what was the yin and yang cores?

It was an innate talent that was formed due to the epitome of yin energy that the torch dragon possesses, and the epitome of yang energy that the phoenix king possesses!

And what were actually the cultivation realms of the torch dragon and phoenix king when they had mated and gave birth to The Banished?

At that point in time where that happened, both the torch dragon and phoenix king were already in the immortal realms!

To put things in perspective, there were quite a number of realms in between the nascent soul realm and the immortal realm!

And as a cultivator's cultivation realm gets higher and higher, in order for the cultivator to level up their cultivation levels and break through to the next realm, it wasn't just a mere task of accumulating spiritual energy and filling up their energy core or whatsoever to the brim with spiritual energy, there were various other factors that a cultivator had to tick off in order to be able to level up their cultivation levels and break through to the next realm, and those various other factors ranged from things like having their comprehension of the elemental that they cultivated brought to the next level, to things like gaining thorough understanding of how the current realm that they were in truly works.

In addition, another thing worth noting was that, it has already been 5000 years since a cultivator had been able to break through the tribulation realm and succeed in breaking into the immortal realm!

Thus, it could be seen just how extremely difficult and hard it was for one to even reach the immortal realm.

And yet, the yin and yang cores that Sebastian was rewarded with from the ancestral blessing was actually basically created by two higher-beings that were in the immortal realm!

In a normal situation during an ancestral blessing, where the cultivator was rewarded with a talent or ability that a nascent soul being possesses...

Normally, due to the fact that the spiritual energy that would be reproduced by the cultivator's blood would most likely be enough for the cultivator to break through at least 1 level of their cultivation level, upgrade their spiritual root to the next grade if their spiritual root was a lower-quality spiritual root, and awaken the talent or ability that they had been rewarded by the ancestral blessing...

There wouldn't be any need for the ancestral blessing to begin absorbing spiritual energy from the cultivator's surroundings in order to fill the gap of spiritual energy that was needed to awaken the nascent soul realm talent or ability.

And the benefit of the ancestral blessing not having to absorb spiritual energy from the cultivator's surroundings was that a huge scene wouldn't be caused due to the fact that a huge amount of spiritual energy was being pulled from the cultivator's surroundings.

After all, it was a known fact that the spiritual energy that was filled throughout the cultivation world's air and earth was not only much harder to refine compared to the spiritual energy that was within an energy stone, but also that it was extremely hard to either absorb or move it around.

Only when a cultivator had finally broken through and arrived at the realm of deity transformation realm, then would a cultivator be able to either absorb or move the spiritual energy that was filled throughout the cultivation world's air and earth.

However, because there were various downsides to absorbing the spiritual energy that was filled throughout the cultivation world's air and earth, pretty much all of the cultivators who were in the deity transformation realm and above wouldn't be dumb enough to absorb the spiritual energy that was filled throughout the cultivation world's air and earth in order to strengthen their cultivation.

Thus, even within the Middle Continent, that was also known as the Holy Continent, there were rarely occasions where a cultivator that was in the deity transformation realm and above would bother doing anything with the spiritual energy that was filled throughout the cultivation world's air and earth.

So, if that was the case for the Middle Continent, for a place such as the North Continent, where the highest realm cultivators were pretty much the golden core realm cultivators...

What would the cultivators within the North Continent think to themselves if they were to see that the spiritual energy within the air and earth was being dragged toward a certain location, and furthermore, a spiritual energy vortex was formed due to the large amount of spiritual energy that was being dragged toward that certain location?

Naturally, the cultivators would think that either an extremely powerful treasure had appeared, or that a cultivator was currently undergoing an ancestral blessing!

If it was the former, it was without a doubt that a huge fight for the ownership of the powerful treasure was going to happen.

And if it was the latter...

When the cultivators found out that a low realm cultivator was the one who was going through the ancestral blessing, would they be so benevolent as to let the cultivator go on with their ancestral blessing and not kill off the cultivator...?

Most of the time, with the odds being 95% to 5%, the answer was definitely going to be a no, rather than a yes.

Chapter 30: Forming of yin and yang cores

After all, why would the golden core realm cultivators allow someone who was currently only at the energy refining realm to grow freely... and make it so that many years later, there would be another golden core realm cultivator within the North Continent that would be fighting over cultivation resources with them?

Thus, if the cultivator that was currently undergoing an ancestral blessing wasn't someone that a golden core realm cultivator was closely acquainted with, it was very easy for a golden core realm cultivator to decide on what to do with the cultivator.

And even if a golden core realm cultivator was somehow closely acquainted with the cultivator that was currently undergoing an ancestral blessing and wants to protect the cultivator, would the golden core realm cultivator be able to even fight off more than 1 golden core realm cultivator just by themselves alone...?

With all of that said, it could be seen just how much of a tough spot Sebastian was currently in right now.

After all, since the ancestral reward that he had obtained was the yin and yang cores, the amount of spiritual energy that he was going to be needing in order to truly form the yin and yang cores within his stomach was going to be an extraordinary amount of spiritual energy, and who even knows how huge of a scene it was going to be once the ancestral blessing began absorbing spiritual energy from Sebastian's surroundings in order to start forming the yin and yang cores?!

Right as the slight golden shine that was within Sebastian's blood had completely dissipated, the ancestral blessing managed to sense that there wasn't any more spiritual energy being reproduced within Sebastian's body.

Upon being made aware of the fact that a tremendous amount of spiritual energy was going to be required in order to truly form the yin and yang cores within Sebastian's stomach, and that the amount of spiritual energy that was currently within Sebastian's body wasn't even close to 1% of the spiritual energy that was required to form the yin and yang cores...

In the next moment, the ancestral blessing began absorbing spiritual energy from Sebastian's surroundings!

Or to be more specific, the ancestral blessing had began to absorb the spiritual energy that was drifting throughout the air and lying dormant within the earth!

As the spiritual energy was absorbed into Sebastian's body, the spiritual energy that was obtained from the air began forming into the yang core, while the spiritual energy that was obtained from the earth began forming into the yin core.

Within just 10 seconds, all of the spiritual energy that was within the Lisandris Family's manor had been absorbed into Sebastian's body, and even with this tremendous amount of spiritual energy that was more than enough to allow a level 1 energy refining cultivator to go from level 1 energy refining to level 10 energy refining cultivator, and even possess more than enough left over spiritual energy to break through to the foundation establishment realm while forming a heaven grade foundation, this tremendous amount of spiritual energy merely allowed the yin and yang cores to become 1% completed, and there was still 99% of progress to go in order for the yin and yang cores to form completely.

It must be said, it was just as expected of an innate talent that was formed due to the mating of two immortal realm higher-beings!

The amount of spiritual energy that was needed in order to form the yin and yang cores was truly tremendous.

Right as the spiritual energy within the Lisandris Family had been completely absorbed by Sebastian, the radius in which the spiritual energy was being absorbed was quickly expanding outward from the Lisandris Family's manor, and toward the entirety of the upper north continent, followed by the entirety of the North Continent!

Furthermore, because of how quickly the radius was expanding, whereby it only took less than 10 minutes for the radius to expand from the Lisandris Family's manor to the entirety of the North Continent, a great number of spiritual energy vortexes ended up being formed throughout the entirety of the North Continent, causing not only panic, but also uneasiness to most of the cultivators within the North Continent.

After all, most of the cultivators within the North Continent were just merely cultivators that were in the energy refining realm, and they weren't aware what the appearance of the spiritual energy vortexes that appeared throughout the North Continent represent.

On the other hand, cultivators that were within the foundation establishment realm were just going on with their daily lives as usual, after all, they were aware that, due to the golden core cultivators that exist within the North Continent, no matter was it that a formidable treasure had appeared within the North Continent or was it that a cultivator was undergoing an ancestral blessing, neither of those were going to have anything to do with them.

Or else, what were they going to do? Try to fight against the golden core cultivators for the formidable treasure?

If they were to do that, that would basically be the equivalent of suicide.

After all, although there were indeed cultivators who were able to fight against and defeat cultivators who were one or two realms higher than their realms, such cultivators were basically the extreme minority amongst all of the cultivators that were in the cultivation world.

Most of the time, when a foundation establishment cultivator were to try to fight against a golden core cultivator, the end result would be the foundation establishment cultivator being defeated by the golden core cultivator within less than 30 seconds.

Bright Moon Sect, sect's inner area, Bright Moon Sect's throne room.

Right outside of the Bright Moon Sect's throne room, an extremely beautiful yet mature-looking woman who seemed to be in her early thirties could be seen standing right outside of the throne room's entrance and looking at the sky that was currently filled with spiritual energy vortexes while with a slight frown on her face.

"This phenomenon..."
