

Chapter 11 Legally Married

Early morning.

The room was filled with a faint glow because the curtains were too lightproof. So, even if the sun was already shining outside, the inside was still dark.

Caroline slowly opened her eyes, just ready to move her arms and legs, but she found that she couldn't move.

And then, she found herself completely confined by a man!

A strong arm was around her waist, and even her legs were firmly entangled with the man's legs.

The sound of his breathing kept coming into her ears.

Caroline covered her mouth. "When did he come back?" she asked in mind.

She could never imagine that the CEO of the Hints Group, the supreme man, the richest tycoon in the world, would be like a baby when he was asleep.

Perhaps only babies would sleep with their arms and legs entwined like this?

Caroline tried to move her legs. She was always a very heavy sleeper, and even the thunder couldn't wake her up. So last night even if Richard confined her in his iron-like arms, she did not know.

But now she was awake and she had to move.

She tried to lift his arm but instantly she felt the man at her side also moved!

Richard opened his eyes and let out a deep breath.

Caroline felt so bad that she hurriedly got up and said to Richard, "I have to get up!"

Richard stretched out his arms and pulled her back, asking, "Where are you going?"

"No, no..." Caroline's back was against Richard's chest, and her heart began to thump fast. Last night, he wanted to...

How could she not be afraid?

But her slightly trembling body made the early awoken man, who was usually sensitive, got turned on at once!

Richard turned his body around to face Caroline directly, "There seemed to have some things we didn't do last night. "

"Really? I...I don't remember! I'm hungry. I want to breakfast. " Caroline smiled peevishly.

"Yeah? I'm hungry too," Richard raised his eyebrows with a meaningful smile.

"Then let's get up and have breakfast together." So she didn't have to stay in bed with him, a place where something could happen at any moment!

"But I want to eat you now," Richard rolled over and directly pressed Caroline underneath him.

"I... you, don't..." Caroline's hand was just about to reach out when it was grabbed by Richard in his mighty hand that pinned on top of her head.

"Be careful or I'll sue you for raping!" Caroline shouted with nervousness to him.

"Oh? But we're legally married," Richard said calmly.

"You!" Caroline really wanted to cry! God is so unfair. It was bad enough that her sister stole her fiancé, yet she somehow married such an evil man! And he seemed to be insatiable! There was no one Caroline could turn to!

Looking at the girl's rosy lips, Richard couldn't stand the temptation and lowered his head, but Caroline tilted her head to the other side, so he lowered his head again to catch her. Caroline, however, tilted her head again to avoid him.

"Caroline, do you know what the consequence of your resistance is?" Richard was gritting his teeth and speaking.

Caroline's eyes were filled with panic and she said, "You can't hit me. If you hit me, it's domestic violence, and I can sue you!"

"I'm not going to hit you," Richard's dark voice drilled into Caroline's ears; his magnetic voice was irresistible.

"Then what is the consequence?" Caroline asked.

Caroline stared blankly at Richard and thought, "Didn't he have a propensity for violence? What else can it be if he wouldn't hit me when he is angry?"

Reward

1

Comments

0

17:16

Marry My Rich Uncle

8.2%