

Chapter 126 The Truth Comes Out

"Leo has been in this industry for a few years and there is no bad news about him at all. He is such a famous actor and don't you think it's strange?" Chole asked.

Coco pondered carefully.

Some young actors with similar qualifications as Leo were all riddled with scandals.

Wasn't it a strange thing for him to have no negative news all these years?

"Maybe it's because his PR team is great?" Coco guessed.

"Your answer is so shallow. That is because he has a strong background."

"Are you saying Leo has a backer?" Coco asked.

"I'm not sure. I just heard it from someone who said that the power behind Leo is amazing, and no one in the entire entertainment circle dares to offend him!"

Coco frowned and thought, where is he from?

"No matter what you did before, you should immediately stop it, otherwise, I can't protect you if you are exposed and targeted!" Chole said loudly and hung up the phone.

Coco threw her cell phone away in anger. Finally, she could find a chance to get back at Leo and Caroline, but she was asked to stop now!

How could Coco not be angry?

But there was nothing else she could do. If Leo was indeed from a powerful background, she would take the consequences in the end.

Coco had no choice but to call people to stop commenting bad things about Leo.

... ..

Caroline went back to Leo's apartment quietly. For her, who was now homeless, Leo's apartment was equivalent to her home.

After taking a shower and getting under the covers, her cell phone rang. It was from her mother.

"Hello, Mom."

Maybe it was because of the vacation, but Caroline wasn't affected by those scandals.

"Carol! Did you read the news lately? Why are you fooling around with an actor?" Olivia said.

Caroline didn't know Caroline's situation now. But since she met Caroline last time, Olivia started to care about her daughter online.

"Mom, when do you have an interest in reading entertainment news now?"

"Just tell me what happened to you! Give me an honest account of what's going on!" Olivia had no patience at all.

"Nothing happens, Mom. Those are fake news. Leo and I have been good friends for years. That is all."

"Even though you are good friends, you should pay attention! Going to your room in the middle of the night is totally inappropriate!" Olivia shouted.

"We just played video games together! It is just a misunderstanding. Mom, how have you been?"

Caroline immediately changed the topic.

"I am glad to hear nothing happened. You should behave yourself! I have been very busy lately and I don't have time to care about you. There's a little problem over at the harbor," Olivia said.

Caroline held the quilt and rolled over, "How could there still be problems after you let Richard take over the harbor? Isn't he capable enough?"

"I never let Richard take over the harbor? How did you get this news?" Olivia asked confusedly.

Hearing this, Caroline sat up immediately, "Are you sure Richard didn't get the freight right?"

"No, but he is indeed very capable. Even if he didn't get the freight right, he solved his problem by himself. Although there were constant small troubles, he solved the fundamental problem."

Through this, Olivia's opinion of Richard went to another level.

"Then why did he leave?" Caroline was even more curious.

"I originally wanted to give him the shipping rights but he must divorce you. However, he didn't take my suggestion and then left. Now he proves that he can do whatever he wants," said Olivia.

"Mom... then why didn't you tell me about this in the first place?" Caroline asked.

Caroline really regretted it. She misunderstood Richard.

"What should I tell you? Now, you go have a divorce with Richard Preston as soon as possible. You can't be with him, understand?" Olivia said with determination.

Caroline no longer wanted to talk about this matter with her mother.

"Alright, I have to hang up the phone. Have a good night!" Hanging up the phone, Caroline closed her eyes, and her head was full of things in a mess.

It turned out that Richard didn't use her to get freight rights. He left because he wanted to prove to Olivia that he was capable of solving his problem without giving up Caroline.

Caroline tossed and turned and couldn't fall asleep!

But why did Richard still agree to divorce?

Caroline couldn't figure it out, but she couldn't stop thinking. She stayed up all right.

Caroline got up early, washed her face, and went out the door with big dark circles under her eyes.

Hints Group

At nine-thirty, all the staff arrived at their posts to start the work, and the building was very quiet.

Caroline was worried about being recognized so she wore sunglasses as she made her way to the receptionist.

"Excuse me, I'm looking for Richard Preston," said Caroline.

"Are you looking for Mr. Preston? Do you make an appointment?" the receptionist asked.

Caroline waved her hand, remembering that last time it was also this receptionist who sneered at her the last time she came here.

Caroline thought she'd better call Richard and in front of the receptionist, she dialed his number.

Richard asked her to wait for two minutes.

Two minutes later, his assistant Tom came down to pick Caroline up.

The two receptionists looked at Caroline in disbelief.

Tom took Caroline to the president's special elevator.

"Miss. Fowler, long time no see," Tom greeted.

"Yes, I am busy with a drama lately as a scriptwriter," Caroline smiled.

"Recently, Mr. Preston is also very busy," Tom added.

Caroline couldn't help but feel funny when she heard this. Since Richard is so busy, why did he run to her place in the middle of the night a few days ago?

"Ms. Fowler, there is something I want to say but I don't know whether you want to hear it."

"Tom, go ahead. I want to hear," Caroline said.

"Do you know about the freight right of a harbor in S city? Without getting the harbor freight right, Mr. Preston slept not more than four hours a day. He is busy to an extreme," Tom said.

Caroline's heart 'thumped' and blurted out, "Is this very crucial to him?"

"Yes, Hints Group wants to stretch its business in the overseas market, and expand the influence of the Group, so we must find a way to send the goods to foreign countries. Almost everything is ready but the freight transportation remains a problem," Tom explained in detail.

"Mr. Preston thought of a lot of ways to stabilize the situation now, but these are all temporary. Although he solved the main problem, the small problems are constantly appearing. It requires Mr. Preston as well as the whole team to put in ten times the effort to stabilize the situation," he added.

"Do you mean, if he had the freight right, every problem would be solved, right?" Caroline asked.

"Of course! The harbor is very important for any place in terms of its strategic location. With this harbor, Hints Group's problems will be solved. It's a win-win situation, while we get the right to ship goods, we will also bring rapid development to S city," said Tom.

Caroline nodded.

"Miss Fowler, can you persuade your mother to give the freight right to Mr. Preston?" he asked.

Reward

8

Comments

0

16/27

Marry My Rich Uncle

29 RS

Chapter 122 Did It And Left.

Caroline was almost driven crazy by Richard.

Seeing her face turning red because of anger, Richard touched her cheeks lovingly and said, "If we had great sex, then I will tell you the answer."

"You are a bitch!" Caroline shouted in anger.

Richard automatically ignored what Caroline said because he couldn't control his desire anymore.

Since Caroline left him, it had been almost a week. During that week, he was busy with his work, but he would think of Caroline from time to time.

Soon, Caroline fell into Richard's tight hug.

She was holding him tightly and nerved herself to ask, "Did you do it with her?"

Richard froze for a while and then realized his baby was still thinking about his call just now. Did I say something which made her suspicious of my love for her? Richard thought.

He kissed her hard and made her focus her attention on him, not other things.

The sex made Caroline lose her energy to think.

He did it with her consecutively three times and Caroline was too tired to open her eyes.

Richard looked at the sweat on the tip of Caroline's nose and kissed her lips lovingly again.

"I didn't," Richard said abruptly.

"What?" Caroline was drowsy and didn't know what Richard said because she was too tired.

"I didn't do it with her. I did it with you, only you, Caroline," Richard pinched Caroline's cheeks with love and held her tightly in his arms.

That night, Caroline was too exhausted to have a dream.

The next day, she was woken up by the ringing sound of her phone. She picked it up and checked.

She got sober immediately in fear!

She now was at home! She had to work today!

The call was from Gina. Caroline and Gina were together every day so Gina found it strange when she didn't see Caroline on the set today.

face made Caroline want to punch her fist in his face!

Caroline cleared her throat and said with hesitance, "Well, I am here..."

What should I say now? Caroline was nervous.

How was she going to start the conversation?

Should she ask him why he left her mother's place? Or ask about the freight rights? Or ask if he loves her? Caroline was hesitant.

Richard picked up the cup on the table and took a sip of water, looking at Caroline.

"I'm here to get the divorce paper!" Finally, Caroline had to say this, otherwise, she didn't know what to say.

Richard was disappointed. He had thought that Caroline missed him and quickly came to see him as soon as she had several days off.

He snorted coldly and pressed the phone on the table.

"Mr. Preston, what are your orders?" It was Tom's voice.

"Go to print out a copy of the divorce settlement," said Richard.

"Yes, Mr. Preston."

Five minutes later, Tom came with the divorce paper.

Looking at the divorce paper in her hand, Caroline had mixed feelings about why Richard's men were so efficient at work!

She had thought that she would have a few more words with Richard!

Now that she had gotten the divorce paper, it was time for her to go.

What should I do now?

Richard stood up when he saw Caroline standing there and staring at the divorce agreement in a daze.

When Caroline raised her head, Richard's handsome face was already in front of her, which made her panic.

"Do you still have anything to say?" Richard asked.

"Well..." Caroline was momentarily speechless, not knowing whether she should say it or not.

"I think..." she was still hesitating.

As soon as Caroline raised her head, Richard kissed her lips, put one hand around her waist, and pressed the back of her head with the other. Caroline could not move at all.

Caroline's eyes widened. He actually kissed her just like that.

Richard himself felt strange. Every time he saw her, he couldn't control himself.

The temperature in the room began to slowly rise, and Caroline was blushing, feeling like she was about to be suffocated. Richard would give her a chance to catch her breath, but as she caught her breath, his kisses came again as expected.

Richard's breathing started to become heavy. He wanted something more than kissing, so he held Caroline and picked her up.

With one hand resting on her butt, he put her on his shoulders and walked towards the room.

There was a large bed, which was normally used by Richard to sleep when he was tired.

Richard placed Caroline on the bed and pressed against her.

Caroline instantly wrapped her arms around Richard's neck and said, "Stop! Wait a minute!"

"No, I can't wait anymore!" Richard undid his tie and threw it aside. Then he went to unbutton his shirt and went to take off Caroline's clothes.

"Richard! Please wait a moment!"

"No!"

Caroline was now deeply aware of the fact that a woman should never talk business with a man who was turned on already, because he simply paid no attention to you!

When Richard kissed Caroline's neck and was slowly preparing to take off all her clothes, a sound similar to a bell suddenly came.

Richard's movements came to an abrupt halt.

Caroline didn't even know what had happened.

Damn it!

It was his alarm ringing!

There was originally a very important shareholders' meeting today, but because Caroline appeared, Richard put it off.

He didn't intend to do it with Caroline today, but the moment he saw her, he couldn't control it.

Damn it!

Richard was lying on Caroline's body and panting roughly.

The postponement of today's meeting had already caused dissatisfaction among the shareholders, if he postponed it again or canceled, they would definitely express dissatisfaction!

Richard looked at Caroline in his arms, whose big eyes flickering with confusion.

She didn't know how seductive she was now under him!

He gulped and pinched Caroline's cheeks, "I'm going to have a meeting."

"Yes," Caroline didn't know what she could say.

"Are you disappointed?" he asked.

Who on earth was disappointed now?

Caroline now realized that Richard could be so self-absorbed!

"It's okay. I'll make it up to you tonight and go to your place," he said in a low voice.

"Forget it, I don't need it!"

It was all because he wanted to do it with her!

"You are welcome!" Richard stood up and took a new shirt from the closet. The one he just took off had too many folds on it.

He would never allow folds to appear on his shirt.

Caroline watched him as Richard calmly put on his shirt, tied his tie, and took another suit jacket and put it on.

Richard, no matter whether he wore clothes or not, was so handsome!

Richard looked at Caroline, "Put on your clothes. Tom will send you and I'll leave first."

Caroline looked at Richard as he walked towards the door.

She didn't know where the courage came from and said, "I love you, Richard!"

Richard stopped in his tracks when he heard this, and her voice echoed in his ears.

He hadn't had this feeling for a very long time.

"?"

Reward

8

Comments

0

Chapter 128 I will die here!

"Do you love me?"

This question repeatedly sounded in Richard's mind.

In the summer five years ago, there was a woman, facing the sea, who asked him over and over again, "Do you love me?"

Richard froze and his feet were like fixed on the ground.

Caroline stared at Richard's wide back.

She could hear her own heartbeat, like something beating hard against the wall.

She didn't know what she was waiting for. She wondered if Richard would give an answer to her.

Caroline now was not sure what Richard's feelings were to her and the door opened.

Caroline's tears trickled down her cheeks slowly from the corner of her eyes.

What did he mean? He didn't say anything.

Caroline straightened her clothes and Tom knocked on the door, sending her to the apartment.

That whole day, Caroline had been sitting in front of the computer, writing the novel. She just ate instant noodles for lunch.

Because of the mood, she was not that hungry.

She got a message from the bank, saying that the novel website just sent her one hundred thousand dollars and in addition to that, she got extra pay of fifty thousand dollars.

Looking at the number in her card, Caroline felt for the first time, calm.

At this moment, Editor Shaw sent her a message.

Shaw: My Queen! Did you get your paycheck? Are you excited about this? You owe me a dinner.

Caroline: Well, what do you want to eat?

Shaw: You felt so strange today. You never say yes to me so easily.

Caroline: Then the dinner is canceled.

Shaw: What I mean is that you don't feel okay now.

Caroline sighed and then typed: I have to write my novel now. I can't let my readers down.

Shaw: What? You are so diligent now? You must take the wrong medicine.

Caroline: I don't want to waste my time here.

Shaw: Well, I won't bother you. My Queen. My career is now depending on you!

Caroline ripped the package of the chips and started eating.

After she finished typing with Shaw, her phone rang. It was a call from Leo.

She hung it up directly. She was in a bad mood and no matter who called, she would not answer.

Leo called again and Caroline turned off her phone.

Then Leo started to talk to her on the computer.

"Why don't you answer my phone?!" Leo sent angry emojis to her.

"I don't want to talk to you!" Caroline said.

"Who piss you off?"

Your Uncle! But Caroline would not tell Leo that she went to see Richard so she asked, "What do you want to say?"

"I will come to you later. It is said that my uncle will have a meeting tonight and will come back very late so I am going to leave his place and see you tonight," said Leo.

"Aren't you afraid of being caught by others? The news about us is still spreading," she reminded.

"That's okay. Two days later, Uncle Richard will solve all these problems. I know you are in a bad mood, so I decided to come to accompany you," Leo said.

Caroline rolled her eyes in her mind and said, "Well. How about playing video games together?"

"No problem. I will come soon!" Leo replied.

Anyway, Caroline needed to vent her emotions through games.

Just after twenty minutes, the knocking sound came.

"Did you forget your key again?" Caroline even wanted to pull Leo in by his ear.

She opened the door quickly, afraid of being noticed by others.

"Did you forget your key again? Do you still have a brain?" Caroline blurted out.

But as she opened the door, her chin almost dropped.

Standing at the door was Richard in a straight suit. He seemed to have just finished his meeting.

"Why did you come?" Caroline asked.

Richard raised his leg and took a step in, asking, "Who are you expecting to come?"

Caroline took a glance at him and murmured, "Since you ignore my question during the day, why do you come to me now?"

She closed the door with a heavy force and said, "I expect Leo to come. He said he would come."

"What is he doing here?" Richard's cold eyes stared tightly at Caroline.

"He will..." Caroline drew her words and licked her lips, "Why should I tell you?"

Richard stretched out to hold Caroline in his arms.

Caroline's body stuck to Richard's tightly, feeling her waist was about to break.

"Why would he come so late? What are you going to do with him?" Richard asked.

"Why should I tell you?" Caroline's face was proud. Her waist ached so she tried her best to get rid of Richard.

"I will give you one last time. Will you say it or not?" Richard asked.

"No..."

As Caroline was about to say, Richard started kissing her like a beast.

"En..en.."

Richard was used to taking the dominant position and so did he when he kissed Caroline.

His hand went to take off Caroline's clothes.

As his lips left Caroline's, he moved to other places.

"Wait!" Caroline stopped Richard and asked, "Is there something you want to say to me?"

Richard stopped and looked at Caroline, who was crying silently.

"What am I to you, Richard? I need you to tell me right now," there was desperation in her eyes.

During the day, she plucked up the courage to say she loved him, hoping he would respond.

But Richard is the man who could give people hope as well as desperation.

"I love you but that doesn't mean you can do it with me anytime you want," Caroline turned her head away and her tears started falling again.

Richard slowly raised his head and wiped her tears away slowly.

"Don't cry," he said.

Caroline pushed his hand away and said, "If you come here for sex, you can leave now."

"But you promised me that I could do it anytime I want," he said.

"You!" Caroline was exasperated by his words.

"If you dare touch me, I will die here!" Caroline tried to threaten him.

Caroline burst out laughing and he didn't expect her reaction to be so strong.

"Caroline, did you know one thing?"

Caroline raised her arms and wiped her tears away, asking, "What do you want to say?"

Reward

8

Comments

0

Chapter 129 Have a Guess

"Take a guess," he said.

Richard changed his mind and wanted to tease Caroline.

"Get out of here!" Caroline now was on the verge of breakdown and if she had a gun in her hand, she would have pointed it at him.

"Why not? You might know the answer," Richard smiled.

Caroline sat down on the ground and cried, "Why do you always like teasing me? I don't want to take a guess at all! Why can't you just tell me what you are thinking?"

Before she met Richard, Caroline could get everything she wanted. But ever since she met him, she could get things in her way.

Sometimes, his words would make her burst into a rage.

At the look of her sitting on the ground, Richard was amused.

He squatted down and comforted her, "Don't cry."

As Richard was about to help her wipe her tears, she slapped his hand with great force.

"Don't cry. I will tell you the answer," he said.

Caroline immediately sniffled and said, "Then say it."

Richard was amazed by Caroline's control in her tears. She could stop at any time.

"Then you tell me. Are you lying to me again?" she questioned.

"No, I am not lying. I will never lie to people," he replied.

"What do you mean? I am not a human being?" Caroline asked.

Richard raised Caroline's chin and said, "You are my Siren."

So attractive to him.

"Then tell me your answer," Caroline said.

"Do you really want to know?" he asked.

"Yes, I want to know," Caroline said without hesitation.

"Do it with me and I will tell you," Richard pulled Caroline up and took her to the bedroom.

"Hey, you can't do this to me!" Caroline shouted.

Caroline sat on the bed, wiping her tears while Richard took off his clothes until only pants were left on him. He pressed against Caroline on the bed and said, "I will tell you when we finish."

Richard's breath was rapid and he pressed Caroline under him. He wanted to do this during the day but he had to have a meeting at that time.

Soon, Caroline was overwhelmed by the love wave made by Richard.

Richard looked at Caroline with his heavy breath and she held her arms around his neck shyly.

His body was super hot and so was hers.

"Can you tell me now?" she asked.

"I make love with you because of love," he said.

Caroline heard his words clearly but she still stared at Richard with confusion.

"Do you want to repeat?" he asked.

Caroline blinked her eyes and asked carefully, "Do you mean you love me?"

"Take a guess."

Richard did not say those three words but his meaning was clear.

"I don't want to guess!" Caroline wore a sad face and said, "But you did it with me the first time we met." Could it be possible that he fell in love with her at the beginning?

Richard did not say anything.

"Tell me, you love me at your first sight," Caroline held his neck and stared at his deep eyes.

This time, Richard did not ask her to take a guess and he was quiet.

"Is it so hard for you to say I love you?" Caroline asked.

"I have already said this," he said.

Caroline was not satisfied with his answer and turned her face away, "What is the relationship between you and the woman called Alice from the Wilson family?"

"Business partner," he said in short.

"What kind of business?" she asked.

Richard did not answer but stretched out his hand and touched her face slowly.

"And then, why did you agree to have a divorce with me?" she asked.

If he loved her, why did he sign the divorce paper? This is what Caroline was confused about.

"We haven't met for a week. Are you sure you want to waste time on this boring stuff?"

"Then what should we do?" Caroline asked.

Richard's kiss came again.

Leo drove his car and arrived in front of his apartment. He went upstairs and as he opened the door and walked in, he heard voices from the bedroom.

It was a woman and a man's panting.

As an adult, Leo was clear about what those voices stood for.

He moved to the bedroom door and through the crack between the door and the frame, he saw two people sticking to each other tightly on the bed. They were Caroline and Richard.

It was like a bolt from the blue and Leo couldn't stop shaking. He couldn't believe what he saw was true!

"I love you, Richard. Can you say you love me?"

It was Caroline's voice.

Hearing this, Leo felt even colder. The whole world made a joke with him!

Standing in place for a while, Leo started to move his stiff legs and left the apartment.

When he sat in his car and put his head against the steering wheel, his mind was all blank.

After Caroline begged several times, Richard finally let her go.

He put on his clothes like a prince with a satisfied smile on his face.

Caroline, like a deflated balloon, lay on the bed. She asked, "Are you going to leave?"

When Richard buttoned up his shirt, he turned around and pinched her face, "Will you miss me?"

Caroline pushed Richard a little far because she thought he was seducing her again.

"I will persuade my mom to give you the freight right," she said.

"You didn't believe your husband can handle this by himself?"

Richard asked.

Hearing him mention the word husband, Caroline was a little surprised as well as sweet inside.

"Of course I believe you but I don't want you to be too tired. If you could get the freight right, you can have more time to stay with me," Caroline said.

A bad smile appeared on Richard's face and he asked, "What do you want me to do?"

Caroline immediately understood Richard's meaning and used the quilt to cover her face.

Richard snatched the covers off and saw Caroline's red face.

"I will spend more time accompanying you. I promise," Richard said.

Caroline nodded and said, "I will get back to work a few days later."

"And you should keep your distance from Leo. Is it okay for you, Caroline?" he asked.

Caroline was confused about Richard's reaction. She just said that she would leave a few days later and why did he mention Leo?

"You are being jealous!" After realizing this, Caroline felt rather excited.

Richard did not reply.

"You should be honest if you are jealous of Leo. Anyway, Leo and I are friends and we often play video games together. In my eyes, he had no sex." Caroline explained.

"What?" Richard stared at Caroline.

"Sometimes I treat him as my best girlfriend," said Caroline.

"You should remember that I am your husband and you should keep your distance from men."

Caroline blinked her eyes and said, "But..."

"There is no but!" Richard said it firmly.

Reward

8

Comments

0

16:30

Marry My Rich Uncle

30.5%

Chapter 130 You Are Mine

Richard would not take a step back in terms of this question.

He pinched Caroline's chin and raised her face, saying, "You should remember this, Caroline."

Richard had such a strong aura that Caroline even wanted to kneel.

At this moment, in Caroline's mind, Richard was much taller.

"Do you remember this?" he asked.

Caroline nodded.

"My good girl," Richard kissed her lips and let go of her chin.

"I am leaving."

Actually, in Richard's heart, he didn't want to leave Caroline at all.

Caroline put on her pajamas and said, "Drive safe."

Richard did not say anything more but left in a low mood.

Caroline didn't know why Richard had such a low mood and in fact, it was because he didn't want to leave at all.

As soon as he left, Caroline felt the apartment was so dark and cold.

She sat in front of the computer and saw her conversation with Leo, patting her forehead.

Leo had said that he would come, why hadn't he arrived yet?

Caroline turned on her phone and dialed Leo's number.

Leo, who was sitting in the car and smoking, saw Caroline's name on his screen.

He picked up the phone and said in a hoarse voice, "Yes?"

"Leo, why didn't you come? Where are you now?" Caroline asked.

"I am now at..."

"No matter where you are, come back to your uncle's place immediately," she said anxiously.

"Why?" Leo asked.

"Your uncle is now on his way back. You should come back in case he doesn't see you."

Leo asked, "Caroline, how did you know my uncle is on his way back now?"

Caroline bit her lips and said, "Well... I...I went downstairs to buy something and saw his car. So I guess that he would come back home now."

"Alright," knowing she was lying but Leo had no courage to nail the lie to the counter.

They were always good friends and the closer they were, the more afraid Leo would be to express his feelings to her. He was afraid that he might lose her as a good friend.

"What happened? Are you alright?" Caroline felt there was something wrong with Leo.

"I am alright. Sorry I can't come to you tonight since my uncle will come back," Leo paused for a while and then continued, "Carol, did you sign the divorce paper?"

"Er..." Caroline didn't expect Leo to ask this question and then said, "I didn't sign it."

"Oh? Why did you sign it?" Leo asked.

"Well, your uncle is so smart and I am afraid that he would leave some bugs on the settlement so I didn't hurry to sign it. I will sign it anyway," Caroline said with embarrassment.

Leo also laughed bitterly and said, "Whatever. I have to go. Good night."

"Good night," Caroline hung up the phone and put it aside, taking a long sigh.

The next morning, Caroline thought of one thing, which was that she should persuade her mother to give the freight right to Richard. So she called Olivia.

"My dear mom..."

Once she heard this sweet voice, Olivia knew that her daughter had something to ask for.

"Say it directly," Olivia said.

"My mom is the smartest mom in the world!" Caroline smiled.

"No flattering."

"Mom, can you give the freight right of the port in S city to Richard?" Caroline asked carefully.

"Are you still with Richard?" Olivia said in anger.

"Well...mom..." Caroline drew her words and tried to beg.

"Don't call me Mom if you want to be with Richard! I've told you several times that you can't be with him! Didn't I make myself clear?" Olivia asked and then continued, "I give you a chance. If you have a divorce, I will consider giving the right to him."

A thought struck Caroline like a silver dagger and then she immediately said to her mother, "I had a divorce with him already."

"Then why did you try to help him?" Olivia asked.

"But we are still friends even if we had a divorce. Didn't you say that you would give him the right if he agreed to have a divorce? I have the divorce paper in hand now," said Caroline.

"Then send the divorce paper to me. I want to make sure," Olivia hung up the phone.

Caroline stared at her phone for a long time and thought, "Why doesn't my mother believe me?"

It seemed that it was necessary to S city.

Caroline took the paper from the drawer and signed it. She thought she could tear it apart after she signed it. The purpose was to lie to her mother.

Then with the paper, Caroline went to see her mother.

Olivia had thought that Caroline was lying to her and she didn't expect her to bring it to the paper.

There was a stamp on it and it didn't look fake.

"Mom, you have to believe me! We are divorced and this is real!"

"You two do have a divorce?" Olivia still had doubt in her heart. Last time, Richard said firmly he would not have a divorce, and why did he change his mind so quickly?

"How much time should it take for you to believe me? Did you change your mind? Should I come back to him?" Caroline laughed.

Olivia pointed at Caroline's head and said, "What are you talking about? No contact with him!"

"Then will you give him the freight right?" Caroline asked.

Olivia took a glance at her daughter and said, "I promise you I will give it to her."

"Thank you, the best Mom in the world," said Caroline.

"Don't cause me any trouble in the future. You are now a screenwriter, right? Then focus on your career. You are an adult now," said Olivia.

Caroline couldn't stand her mother's nagging voice and said, "I have callus in my ears."

Caroline had to stay in S city because of her mother.

Though it was just the first night in S city, she missed Richard.

Lying on the bed, she gave Richard a call.

The phone was connected but it was not Richard but Tom who picked up the phone.

"Miss. Caroline. Mr. Preston is still at the meeting. Should I leave a message for you?"

"No need, nothing important," Caroline hung up the phone with disappointment.

Why was he so busy all the time?

In the middle of the night, Caroline was woken up by her phone.

She put her phone closer to her ear and said, "Who is that?"

"I am sorry to bother you, Carol."

Hearing the low and charming voice from the phone, Caroline opened her eyes immediately.

Reward

8

Comments

0