

Chapter 141 The Most Happiest Thing

In fact, how could Leo not know the answer?

This was such a high-class apartment and at a glance, he could tell who bought it for Caroline.

Caroline moved her eyes. She didn't know what to say to Leo!

She couldn't tell him that she was with his uncle Richard.

"This apartment is a rental," she said.

"Do you have that much money?" Leo rambled.

"You think I have no money, don't you? I am flying high now. I was paid fifty thousand dollars per episode as a screenwriter! The royalties collected over is about a million dollars. My novel is selling like hotcakes online!" Caroline said.

"Good, I admit that you're rich. You're marvelous."

"Stop!" Caroline laid back again, happily enjoying Leo's 'serving'.

"Caroline, I have a question for you," Leo asked.

"You can ask but I will charge you for this. A question worth ten thousand dollars!" Caroline said.

Leo rolled his eyes and said, "Queen Caroline, you are a rich woman already. You are still asking ten thousand dollars from me?"

Caroline took a sip of juice, "Well, then I'll give you three free questions. You can ask."

"If a man and a woman are very much in love, yet, this man, instead of letting this woman live in his house, bought her another one. What do you think would be the reason?"

Leo didn't mean anything else. There were some words that weren't quite appropriate to say in his position.

Caroline put down her juice and sat up, "What bullshit question? I didn't get it."

"A female friend of mine fell in love with a rich man, who bought her a super luxurious house, but she recently found out that this man has another house, and she got unhappy."

"There's nothing to be unhappy about! The rich man always has a lot of houses, right?"

Leo ignored the fact that Caroline's thought was different from ordinary people!

He continued, "Don't you think it is strange? If this rich man sincerely wants to be with my friend, why doesn't he let her live in his place?"

Caroline struggled to digest what Leo said to her.

"Why did this rich man buy a new house for her to live in?" Leo asked.

"Maybe for investment?" Caroline asked.

Nowadays, many people buy houses for investment.

"He's a rich man and has tens of millions of dollars in his pocket every day. Why bother buying a house to invest and make money?" Leo continued.

"Then I can't figure it out now," Caroline said.

"Come on, you're a writer, alright? How can't you not figure out such a simple question?" Leo didn't want to give up.

Caroline suddenly slapped her thigh and said, "I know! This rich man must have an unspeakable secret that he doesn't want to be known by his woman. Maybe he's got some kind of disease, and he just wants to have a good time with his woman and then quietly leave."

Leo held his forehead. Communicating with a woman like Caroline was a tough thing!

No one was sure what she was thinking about!

Could she think normally sometimes? Leo asked in his mind.

"My friend said that she suspects this rich man has no intention of marrying her at all, that's why, he let her live outside. Do you understand now?" Leo asked.

Caroline blinked her eyes a few times and nodded, "Oh, it's possible. There are so many low men nowadays, especially the rich men!"

Leo breathed a sigh of relief, "She finally understood."

It wasn't in vain that he had said so many things to her.

"Then if you were her, what would you do?" Leo asked.

"If I were her..." Caroline stroked her chin and said, "I will break up with this rich man! I want a serious relationship!"

Leo smiled gratefully and said, "I have another problem. It's another friend of mine."

"Why do you have so many friends? Abnormal friends!" Caroline asked.

"In this industry, I will naturally get to know a lot of people. As for this friend of mine, he's had a crush on a girl for a long time, almost five years, but, he hesitates to confess."

"Why? Is he stupid?" Caroline immediately interrupted Leo.

In Caroline's world, it was always the simple and straightforward way that made things successful. If she liked someone, she would definitely confess her feelings to him.

"Because he didn't know whether he liked her as a friend or as a lover."

Caroline frowned and listened.

"At the same time, he cares too much about this relationship, so he doesn't dare to confess, afraid that if she refuses him, then he will lose a good friend."

Leo's voice gradually lowered.

"He should confess! If he doesn't, he deserves to be alone," Caroline said.

"Why do you say he deserves it? He is trying to keep his friend, isn't he?" Leo looked at Caroline with anticipation.

"Well, I think he deserves to be alone if he doesn't say anything! Why he was so certain that he would lose his friend?" Caroline spread her hands and showed that she couldn't understand Leo's friend's way of dealing with things, "Leo, your friend is too timid. This is not what a man should do!"

"You really think so?" Leo asked.

"If they are truly friends, then even if the man fails, they will still be friends," Caroline said.

A trace of hope lit up in Leo's gaze.

"If you confessed to me and said that you've been secretly in love with me for five years, I would be flying with joy!" Caroline said.

"Really?!" Leo stood up excitedly.

"Why are you so excited?" Caroline asked.

Leo scratched his head and asked, "Are you serious?"

"Yes. If a movie star like you has been secretly in love with me for five years, I would be flying with joy, okay?! Any woman will do!"

Leo pursed her lips and smiled, "Caroline, if I say I had a crush on you for five years, what would you do?"

"I don't think this question is meaningful," Caroline added, "You have a crush on me?"

She narrowed her eyes and pointed at Leo.

"No, I don't love you in that way!" Leo immediately denied it.

"Having a crush on me is a bad thing, right? I'm beautiful. Don't I deserve your crush?" Caroline glanced at Leo.

"You are right, Queen Caroline. You are now the most popular online writer! You are worthy of all men's crushes," Leo joked and complimented.

Caroline smiled with satisfaction.

Caroline jumped and rushed to the door and directly jumped into Richard's arms.

Richard hurriedly hugged her, "Be careful. You don't want to go to the hospital, right?"

"I am fine! I have you by my side!" Caroline said happily.

Richard ticked Caroline's nose affectionately.

"Did you get any information from the investigation?" Caroline asked.

Richard shook his head, "The man who pushed you down the cliff was wearing a cap and even the surveillance cameras couldn't capture his face."

Caroline was a little disappointed.

"However, my people found out something else," Richard said.
