

Chapter 112

The young woman could not help but laugh at Sophia. She thought Sophia was a random girl who was trying to seduce Bryan as well.

So she looked at her from head to toe and said,

"Listen, little girl, go and find a big boy for you." She pointed her hand at Bryan and muttered,

"He is a man. He doesn't need a teenage girl like you but a woman who can flame his desire."

Sophia was caught off guard. What did she mean by saying he needed a woman? Just because she was young did not mean she did not know anything. It was just that she was not a sultry woman like this woman.

"Just leave," she uttered while glaring at her.

The woman rolled her eyes at her. But she froze when Bryan spoke out with a chilly voice.

"Leave."

The woman lifted a brow and smirked at Sophia. "See? He wants a woman; he wants me."

Sophia looked at Bryan with disbelief. How could he choose this woman over her? Did he want to humiliate her again?

"Fine. I'm leaving," she said, and she was about to turn around to leave.

But a hand wrapped around her wrist. She turned to look and was stunned when Bryan pulled her toward him.

The young woman was shocked when she saw that.

Bryan turned to the woman and said, "Didn't you hear what she said? Leave."

"B-But--"

Bryan shut her mouth by giving her a glare. She felt terrified and left the bar.

Meanwhile, Sophia was staring at Bryan. When he turned his head to look at her, Sophia realized they were very close to each other. Her breasts were almost touching his jaw because he was still sitting on the stool.

She chewed her lips and moved away from him. She tried to divert her mind. However, the woman was glaring at her from a distance, which infuriated her.

She looked at Bryan and asked, "You wanted to go with that woman, didn't you?"

He looked amazed. "When did I say that?"

"If that's not the case, then why were you so silent when she was insulting me? You know what? Go. Go with her."

He was stunned by her statements. "How can I go with her? Didn't you just scare her away from me?"

"Excuse me? Did I scare her away from you?"

She shook her head while grabbing her forehead in disbelief.

"I can't believe this. I think she is right. You need a woman. I am just a teenage girl who needs a big boy but not an old man."

As soon as he heard that, his eyes turned dark. "Did you just dare to call me old?"

She smiled at him sarcastically while looking at his angry face.

"Of course I did. Why are you reacting like this, Alpha? You didn't react the same way when she called me young."

"She was ju--"

"There is no need for any justification. I got it. You should find a perfect woman for you, and I will do whatever I want now."

He frowned at her. "What do you mean you will do whatever you want?"

She patted his shoulder, causing him to turn his head and glance at her hand.

"Enjoy your club time, Alpha Bryan. I am leaving you alone."

After saying so, Sophia headed to the dance floor.

While making her way there, she untied her hair and wore the black hairband on her wrist like a wristband.

Her dress was decent until she pulled her sleeves down, turning the dress off shoulder and revealing a little bit of her cleavage.

She looked around when she reached the dance floor. She ran her fingers through her hair to give it a blow.

She grinned as she spotted a boy her age.

"Got it."

She walked to the boy and smiled at him. The boy was stunned by her sudden appearance, but when he looked at her attractive body, he smirked at her.

"Hey, hottie!"

On the other hand, Bryan was watching her from afar. When she untied her hair, he felt his sleeping beast awakening.

When he first laid eyes on her while they were in the car, he was immediately captivated by the sight of her beauty. He was at a loss to comprehend how someone could appear to be so innocent while wearing a hot dress. He wanted to ruin his innocence.

The sight of her approaching a boy caused Bryan's eyes to turn almost red. He grabbed the glass tightly when he saw her putting her hands on the boy's shoulders. That boy took the chance and wrapped his hands around her waist.

Bryan finally reached the point where he could no longer take it. After loudly placing his glass on the counter, he snarled inside and then pulled himself to his feet.

Without taking his eyes off Sophia, he made his way to the dance floor.

His eyes fell on her bare shoulder, which was hidden under her dress a while ago. He became enraged when he realized that she pulled her sleeves down to show other men.

He reached out his hand and grabbed her wrist tightly, then pulled her closer to him.

Sophia looked at him with shocked eyes. But then she began to push on his chest as her body pressed against his.

"Let me go."

"Bro, she doesn't want to dance with you."

The boy tried to speak to Bryan with anger, but when Bryan turned to him with glowing red eyes, the boy took a few steps back in fear.

Since it was a dance floor and the DJ lights were flickering, others could not see what was happening around them. They were busy with themselves.

Sophia tried to break herself free, but Bryan drew her once again.

"We are leaving right now," Bryan said with a cold tone.

Like a stubborn girl, she shook her head. "No, I won't go with you."

Bryan stared at her, and then his eyes shifted to her chest. She gulped and looked away from him while struggling under his grip.

She was mad at him. The last few days, he had been constantly hurting her.

After taking a few deep breaths, she turned her gaze to him.

"Alpha, I want to stay here for a while. You can leave alon--"

Just as she was about to finish, he suddenly grabbed the back of her neck and pressed his lips against hers.
