

Chapter 133

Sophia parted her lips in shock. Almost instantly, she shook her head in decline. She did not intend to seduce him.

It was just that she was an idiot and forgot to lock the door.

Bryan studied her changing expressions. However, he was unable to keep his gaze fixed on her face for any longer.

He lowered his eyes. His attention was drawn to the water droplets falling from her wet hair onto her bare neck.

She clenched her fist on the towel near her chest, preventing him from looking into her cleavage.

The towel hugged her perfectly slender and curvy body.

His gaze shifted slightly and settled on her exposed thighs. Her legs looked stunning without any clothing.

The desire to see her naked arose within him. He tightened his fists as his wolf growled inside him, telling him to claim his mate right now.

He shut his wolf inside so that it could not take over.

"I swear, I did not intend to seduce you."

Her innocent tone made him draw his gaze back to her face.

Her lips were trembling when she spoke with such a soft tone. He only wanted to hear his name moan from that mouth.

He wanted to leave his mark on every part of her body, including her soul.

"C-Can you please go outside? I am going to dress."

Through her tone, he was able to sense her nervousness. A smirk appeared on his face as he came to the realization that the girl was unaware of what was going on in his head.

Little did she know...

Meanwhile, Sophia was taking deep breaths as she noticed his eyes scanning her body.

The sight of him approaching her caused her to take a step back in response to his actions.

"A-Alpha, what are yo-"

He reached out his hand and grabbed her hand. She gasped when he drew her closer to him.

Her body crashed into his. She bit her lower lip when she felt the closeness between them.

He leaned down to meet her level. His nose touched her hair as if he were sniffing the smell of her hair.

Her heart began pounding rapidly. He stroked her bare arms with his hands. His touch throbbed her wolf inside.

"M-Mate," she mumbled as she closed her eyes.

His fingers slowly moved across her skin, igniting her entire body.

Bryan lowered his head, leaned into her ear, and then whispered,

"You know I have an important meeting to attend, right? Why are you testing my patience?"

She shook her head and opened her eyes. She wanted to hug him and told him that she was doing nothing.

But if she tried to hug him, the towel would fall off her body, which she did not want.

"I am not doing anything," she replied with a shaken tone.

She put her other hand on his shoulder and rested it there.

His hands paused when he felt how nervous she was. She was feeling embarrassed by showing up like this in front of him.

His hand moved slowly to her back, resting around her waist.

She thought he would do something to her. But to her surprise, he whispered in her ear again,

"Relax. I was just teasing you. There is no need to be nervous like this."

His deep tone could not relax her. It only increases the pace of her heartbeat.

But after a few seconds, she realized what he had just said.

Bryan moved his head. Her wet hair brushed against her face when he did that.

He looked at her face and said,

"Get ready and come out. I'm waiting for you outside."

After saying that, he stood tall and backed away.

She saw him turn around and exit the room.

She stared at the door for a while.

She flushed red and covered her face in embarrassment.

"Ahh!!! How can I be this stupid? He was only teasing me."

She quickly pulled out a dress from the closet and put it on. Later, she did not take much time to get ready.

When she opened the door, she found Bryan dressed in a new suit.

‘How did he take a shower and change his clothes? Did he lie to me about the suite only having one bedroom?’

Her eyes fell on another door in the living room. She noticed that the living room had an attached bathroom.

"Ready?" she heard Bryan.

She looked at him and gave him a nod. "Yeah."

He took a brief look at her clothes before nodding back.

She lowered her head and looked at her clothes. She was dressed in a coat skirt with a V-cut that clung to her hips and reached all the way down to her knees. On top of that, she wore a blue suit jacket and a white shirt underneath.

"You looked more like a CEO than a secretary," he muttered as he made his way to the door.

His remarks shocked her. Should she change her dress?

She then pushed the thought out of her mind because she did not have enough time to go inside the room and return after changing her clothes.

Both of them left the hotel and got into a new car. Sophia assumed Bryan had rented the car, but she soon realized he had purchased it recently. The driver said he changed the car. He had another car before this one.

Sophia felt that rich men had their own world where they could buy expensive things and change them according to their wishes at any time.

The car came to a stop in front of a company. It was the pack company of the River Moon Pack.

The beta of the pack welcomed them as soon as they entered the company.

He led them into the conference room, where they met the CEO and Alpha of the River Moon Pack.

"Alpha Bryan, it's a pleasure to see you in my pack." Alpha Elias spoke up the moment Bryan entered the room.

He shook his hands with Bryan and then moved his gaze to Sophia.

"Hello, Alpha Elias, this is Sophia Berge," Sophia said, shaking her hand with him.

Alpha Elias was a young man in his early thirties. He smiled as he nodded his head at Sophia.

Sophia looked at the other men who were standing to greet Bryan. Alpha Elias introduced her to his secretary, a young and attractive woman. They greeted each other.

After the greetings, Alpha Elias took his seat in the head chair. Bryan sat in the other head chair.

Sophia stood next to her Alpha, holding a tab in her hand. Just like Elias’s secretary.

"Sit," Bryan said, turning to face Sophia.

Sophia was stunned. It was the first time he had ever permitted her to take a seat in the meeting.

"Where would I sit?" she asked, glancing at the empty seats, which were a little further away from Bryan.

Bryan shifted his attention to the man, who was also an Alpha, and was seated on the right side of his chair. He then pointed the man in the direction of the seats that were empty.

“Go sit there. My secretary will sit close to me.”
