

Chapter 192

ONE YEAR LATER

In the dark forest, where a glimpse of the moonlight barely touched the trees, a lone white wolf was running to save her life.

There were five wolves running after the white wolf, trying to capture it. The wolf's fur was so white that it shone brightly even when it was completely dark. Therefore, it was not difficult for them to track down the wolf that was in front of them.

Behind the white wolf, the five wolves let out their ferocious, beastly growls.

When they ran out of breath, they came to a stop.

"Where is she?"

"I can not believe this! How can a she wolf possess such strength? Even after hours of running, she is still ahead of us!"

"You are right. We thought it would be easy to catch her, but..."

They huffed and could not talk more in their mindlinks.

Their keen eyes were searching for her in the shadows, but they were unsuccessful.

"Let's search for her separately in different locations. Where can she go?"

When the leader said that, the other four wolves growled in agreement and parted their ways.

Little did they know,

They were running for their own demise.

After searching for a while, a gray wolf located the white wolf and howled loudly, trying to convey to his partners about the wolf.

With a single growl, his group started moving in his direction.

In the meantime, the wolf that discovered the white wolf approached her cautiously.

Under the light of the moon, the white wolf was drinking water from a lake.

Her fur shone brighter than the lake water.

The wolf lost his sanity as he stared at the wolf from afar.

She was stunningly beautiful.

He had never seen a wolf who looked so pure like her.

The lust captured his mind as he started to run over her to catch her without his partners.

It appeared as though the white wolf had picked up on the sound of his marching. She raised her head from the lake water and slowly turned her head to look at him.

The gray wolf's eyes widened as it looked at her carefully.

His attention was drawn to the white wolf's eyes, which were a deep ocean blue color.

The white wolf looked away from him and howled under the moon.

Her growl was painful yet powerful.

The gray wolf stopped his feet as he stared at her. All four members of his group reached him and saw the scenery in front of them.

It took them a very long time, but at last, they found the woman they were looking for.

"What are you all doing? Catch her!" the leader yelled at his group in the mindlinks.

The gray wolf reacted immediately and realized that he had almost lost himself in that white wolf, as if she had spellbound him for a moment with her beauty.

All five of the wolves were moving in the direction of the white wolf, along with the gray one.

The white wolf was a female wolf; she looked calm but restless.

When she saw them approaching her, she turned to them and began to walk in their direction.

Her unexpected baldness appeared to astound the five wolves. Why was she moving toward them? Wasn't she scared that they would catch her?

"Why are you all here?" The white wolf spoke up, connecting her mindlink with theirs.

Their legs froze at the thought of how she did that.

They were rogues. It was impossible for just anybody to connect a mindlink with them. After all, they were not bonded with any pack, nor were any pack's members.

"H-How did you?" the leader asked with a shocked face.

The white wolf came to a halt a short distance from them.

"Rogues in the Night Shade Pack?"

Their shocked eyes grew wider. "N-Night Shade Pack?"

Their shocked looks were clearly saying that they were unaware of which border they had crossed.

"We are in Night Shade Pack right now?" the leader asked, glancing at his group members.

The gray wolf responded with a shrug of his shoulders and said,

"Who cares? No one can win a fight against us. It is time to grab this girl. I can't control my lust anymore."

After saying that, he began to walk in her direction.

The white wolf took a step back. "You will regret it later."

The leader burst out laughing at her words. His sharp teeth became visible as his eyes shone with lust and anger.

"You made us run for quite some time. We will now play with every part of your body for a long time. We will show you what power rogues have."

The white wolf took another step backward. Her eyes were capturing all their faces.

"Leave this pack. It would be best for you. Stay away from me. I don't want to hurt you either."

Smirks appeared on their lips as they felt amused by her begging tone.

"Beg. We want to hear you cry, baby. Now shift quickly. We can not wait to see what you are hiding behind this gorgeous fur."

The leader's words made the white wolf stop her steps.

Excitement swept through the rogues as they ran toward her.

Just as they were about to touch her, her eyes glowed, which caused the five wolves to let out piercing growls.

A blaze of igniting fire could be seen inside the glowing ocean blue eyes.

She looked at them intently, as if she were torturing them with her gaze.

All of the five rogues' bodies collapsed to the ground, and they began to struggle with painful groans.

The white wolf stepped closer to them. She lowered her head and sniffed the smells.

"Smell like beggars."

Hearing her remarks, the leader attempted to growl and claw her. But she glared at him with her scornful eyes.

The leader felt like he was losing his breath; his body rolled in pain on the ground, and he felt as though he was about to pass away.

"L-Leave us," the gray wolf said, trying to convince her in the mindlinks.

The woman chuckled as if seeing them in that state gave her maniacal pleasure.

"How can I leave the men who have wanted to play with me for a long time? Let me play with them for a while, at least."

The painful growls echoed throughout the forest.

After some time, when the wolves looked like passed out in pain, she turned around and walked in the opposite direction, leaving them in the dark.

One of the wolves was still conscious when he noticed her leaving. He could not help but ask,

"W-Who are you?"

She turned around to look at him and replied in the mindlink with a very calm tone.

"An omega who doesn't need to hide behind an alpha for protection."