

Chapter 223

Bryan's gaze landed on Sophia. His brow almost furrowed, but he maintained his composure. However, when his gaze shifted to the man beside her, his expression changed.

"Bryan."

Mila let out a soft voice as she grabbed his arm. He saw Sophia look away from him and turn to the man whom he did not like at all.

"Bryan?"

Mila spoke up again when she was unable to get his attention.

Bryan moved his gaze from Sophia and turned his head to look at Mila.

She smiled at him with a bright face. Her face glowed under the lights, and her red dress glittered like diamonds on roses.

"We are still standing near the gate. Don't you want to meet others?" Mila asked him, glancing at others.

Bryan turned away from her and stepped forward. People from the Moon Valley Pack stared at him with careful eyes.

All these years, they had heard about Alpha Bryan. He had a history with their pack that only the former pack officials knew about. They looked at the young man with an unfamiliar fear in their eyes.

When Bryan's gaze fell on them, they immediately lowered their heads slightly, almost bowing to him but they did not forget that another man was present in the party who could rip their heads if they dared to do so.

Bryan walked into the hall with a calm face. No one knew what he was thinking as he approached his parents, who were talking with Mila's parents.

"Bryan, my son!"

Alpha Harry spoke in a proud tone. Mila moved to hug Bryan's mother, Juliana Morrison.

Juliana seemed impressed with Mila. She was thrilled that her son was getting married to Mila, a woman who could rule the pack just like she used to rule as the pack's Luna.

"You look lovely," Juliana said to Mila.

"Aunt, don't say that. Just look at yourself. You are gorgeous. It looks like we are the same age."

When the others heard Mila, they chuckled. Mila cast a glance at Bryan as she flattered his mother in an attempt to impress him. But Bryan did not look interested in it.

"Alpha Bryan."

Alpha Lucas spoke as he extended his hand. Bryan shook his hand with him. But Lucas did not let his hand go. Instead, he spoke in a pleading tone.

"Alpha, it is a pleasure to attend this party. You are treating our pack members really well."

With a cold gaze, Bryan nodded at him. But then his gaze shifted behind Lucas.

He could see his son laughing with Sophia. His cold eyes darkened, and he muttered,

"Your son is quite happy today. Should I give him a reason to cry?"

His deep voice shook Alpha Lucas from the inside out, causing his hand to shake slightly. Mila's mother, on the other hand, rolled her eyes.

"I don't know why he is here at a party related to my daughter. I assumed he would not bother to come."

Bryan did not move his gaze as he responded.

"I also thought so."

Juliana and Harry turned around and looked at Victor. They were surprised a while ago when they saw a familiar woman enter the hall with Victor. The fact that both of their sons would be attending the party tonight left them unsure of how to react to this.

Alpha Lucas withdrew his hand and remarked, "I have no authority over him. He is the head Alpha of the Moon Valley Pack. You are aware of how he is. I believe he is untouchable."

On the other hand, Mila was taken aback. She could not believe Victor had brought Sophia with him to the party. She expected him to spend one night with her before leaving, but the situation evolved into something more.

'Did he come here with her to ruin my wedding plans?' she wondered, clenching her jaw in anger.

Bryan could not keep his gaze on Sophia as his officials came into his sight.

"Excuse me," Bryan said to the elders after breaking Mila's grip on his arm.

Bryan made his way toward his officials. He looked at Gamma Abraham, who looked enraged.

Abraham had just entered the hall, but he became enraged upon seeing that his sister had also come to the party. Not only did she come, but she also came with Alpha Victor.

"Alpha."

He bowed to Bryan as soon as he approached him. The other officials also bowed to him.

Bryan grabbed a glass of wine from a waiter and took a sip.

"I see you couldn't do what I told you," Bryan said to Abraham.

Abraham glanced at Sophia and muttered,

"My apologies, Alpha. Allow me to go and speak to her. I am going to scold her for—"

Bryan looked at him with cold eyes, which stopped him.

"There is no need to scold her. Just leave it. If she really wanted to attend a pack party, she could have come to me directly. There was no need to go and ask for passes from the rival Alpha."

His tone was calm, as if he did not care at all. It was like she was just another guest at the party for him.

Abraham took a deep breath when he realized Bryan was not angry with his sister.

Beta Robert stared at Bryan's indifferent face for a while. When the other officials moved to another side, he stood beside Bryan and murmured,

"Calm down, Alpha."

Bryan scoffed as he chugged down his drink and placed the empty glass on a tray carried by a waiter.

His gaze returned to Sophia, who was holding a glass of wine and talking with Victor.

His men informed him today that she went to Sara's house. But he did not expect her to come from there with Victor.

"What made you think I am not calm, Beta Robert?" he inquired in a low tone.

Robert swallowed, sensing that Bryan's calmness was even more sinister than his fierce expression.

"I know you. Bryan, you need to calm down on the inside. It is a pack party. I think she is just here to see what you will do."

Bryan listened to Robert, but his eyes were fixed on Sophia.

Under the chandelier light, her black gown sparkled with stones. Her bare arms looked appealing, and her flawless body drew every man's attention. She looked like the most attractive woman at the party.

Suddenly, Bryan's eyes flashed red as his face could not remain calm anymore.

He noticed Victor grabbing Sophia's waist. His inner wolf began to growl inside. He clenched his jaw, frowning hard.

He expected Sophia to push away the man's hand. But Sophia gave him a soft smile. Victor told her something, and she nodded her head in response.

Soon after that, they started moving in his direction.

Bryan's eyes burned with rage as he stared at Sophia.

Didn't Abraham say she thought of that man as just her friend? But how could she allow a friend to get this close to her?

As the beta of this pack, Robert had to do his duty. So when Victor approached, Robert could not help but greet him.

"Alpha Victor."
