

Chapter 401

The silence fell on the car again.

Allison closed her eyes. She did not know what Ethan's reaction would be.

She wanted to hear him. If he intended to reprimand her, she would be able to pick up on what he was saying. However, his silence was beginning to eat away at her.

She carefully twisted her head to face him after opening her eyes.

He had a shadowy look in his eyes. He was looking at her very intently. The awkward pause between them unnerved her. She felt frightened by his silence.

"Ethan?"

She called out his name to get his reply.

"Why?" He asked.

She responded by averting his sight and saying, "I thought I could feel for you like I did before. But it's been a while, and I think...."

She paused. She could not have the strength to continue telling him what had happened. He was mature enough to understand what she was trying to say.

"Why are you silent?"

"Ethan, I don't think I can feel the same for you."

"So what? It's not like you have someone in your heart. You can be with me. Couples have to work on developing feelings for one another. So with time, you will develop feelings for me."

She shook her head and looked at him. Her eyes were glossy. She got emotional. She was not an expressive person. She needed time to express her feelings to anyone.

"Pease don't make this difficult for me." She spoke in a murmuring voice.

He was stunned by what he heard. He bent down and wiped the tears off her face. When he caressed her cheeks, she closed her eyes.

"Don't cry. Tell me, did I hurt you again? Have I let you down by not keeping my promise to never hurt you again?"

She shook her head in response.

His forehead pressed against hers. He also closed his eyes as he spoke out,

"Are you angry with me because of that night when I tried to kiss you? I told you I wouldn't do that again. So don't be angry with me, okay?"

She slowly opened both of her eyes. She shed a few more tears, and they ran down her cheeks.

She was not a cruel person. Her heart was soft. She could not deny the fact that she used to love this man and still had a soft spot for him in her heart.

But she did not love him anymore. Her heart now beats for someone else. She could not deceive herself.

If she continued the relationship with Ethan, she would only make a fool of Ethan and herself.

She held his hands and removed them from her cheeks.

She moved back and wiped her tears.

"Ethan, I am sorry. I can't be in this relationship with you. I am sorry that I am stepping back. But I can't keep lying to you."

His eyes became gloomy. "Explain to me why you don't want to be together anymore. Do you have someone else except me in your heart?"

She could not lie to him. She nodded confidently and replied,

"Yes."

A loud growl shook the car. Allison immediately pressed her hands against her ears.

Due to the fact that she was an Omega, she was unable to take the growl of an Alpha's rage.

She glanced at him. "E-Ethan"

His red eyes were glaring at her. It showed her how furious he was.

"Who is he? I will kill him."

She gasped. She shook her head in fear.

Ethan was a powerful Alpha. He killed a lot of wolves in the war. So she thought that killing Ryan was not a big deal for his wolf.

She was well aware that he would never intentionally harm his own brother, but what if he could not control his wolf and it attacked Ryan? His wolf would inevitably kill him.

On the other hand, Ryan had no experience in fighting or self-defense. He was a boy with a spoiled attitude. He liked to chill and spend life without taking responsibility for any pack member.

It was clearly a win for Ethan because he had experience.

In just a few seconds, so many things came to her mind.

She was afraid for Ryan's life.

"Tell me. Who is he?" He asked once again.

Allison shook her head. "Please, calm down."

He kept glaring at her. His wolf took over him.

At first, Ethan did not listen to his wolf and rejected Allison, this time, his wolf did not want to let go of his rejected mate.

His possessiveness for his rejected mate glowed in his red eyes.

She leaned against the door in fear. Ethan had never behaved like this with her before. She was shaking inside.

Ethan was none other than the head Alpha of this pack. In a few months, he would take over the whole pack. Any woman in this pack would happily marry him and take over the position of his Luna.

He could not take it that Allison was rejecting him and thinking about someone else. He could not even think of her with another man.

His blood was boiling inside. All the veins popped out of his forehead and neck.

"Ethan, listen to me. You are not in your r-right mind."

He moved closer to her and placed his hand on the window glass that was next to her head.

"I am in the right mind right now. Tell me which bastard dared to grab your heart. I will pull out his heart with my own hand."

Her lips were trembling. She felt anger in her heart. When he rejected her, she had no other option but to accept his rejection. She had to bear the consequences too.

But now that she wanted to break up, where he would not have to feel any consequences but only be heartbroken, why was he behaving like that?

She had never seen Ethan in this outrage. He was a cold but calm person. However, today he showed her another side of him. This was the Ethan that her father always talked about.

But Allison could not let him affect her again. So she gathered her courage and replied,

"I know you are feeling heartbroken, but I don't want to fool you. I fell out of love. I can't feel the same way for you again, even if I will have to be single for my whole life. And don't forget that I am not your mate anymore. You rejected me. After that, my heart changed for you completely."

She felt his eyes pierce her eyes. He grabbed her chin and shook his head in disagreement.

He smirked at her and said,

"So what if I rejected you? You are still mine."
