

Chapter 403

The next few days were really destructive for Allison.

Because, first, she was always under Ethan's gaze. Everyone at the school was now aware of the fact that the two of them had ended their relationship. She was having a chat with Teresa one day, and Sophia overheard what they were saying to each other.

She was like BBC News. She spread the word to others about the breakup and made it their school's hot topic.

And second, Ryan was not in the pack. He went somewhere again. Allison wanted to ask him where he always went.

Though she had his contact number, she did not try to call him.

He had not expressed his true feelings for her yet. He only told her that he wanted her, but in what way? She still did not know that.

Therefore, she decided to give it the benefit of the doubt and wait for him to come back.

On the other hand, she was thinking about something else. If he cared about her in the way that he claimed to, he would not have left the pack.

What did he do when he was outside? Is it possible that he went out with other girls since he was unable to freely move around here in order to demonstrate to her how much he had changed?

So many different thoughts kept running through her head.

"Oh, hello? You are lost again."

Teresa waved her hand in front of Allison's face and tried to grab her attention.

Allison looked at her. "No, I am listening to you." She replied.

They were sitting in a cafe shop. They planned to do their shopping so they came to a nearby mall.

"I am asking you again, are you thinking about Ryan Iversen?"

This was the question that Teresa posed to her one hundred times. It seemed that she would not stop until she received a response of 'Yes'.

"Yes."

"I knew it."

"I have no idea where he has disappeared to."

"You never asked me, though."

Hearing Teresa, Allison widened her eyes.

"You know where he is?"

Teresa gave her an amused look while raising her eyebrows. "So desperate you are! Look at your face. You are in love with him, honey."

Allison hit her arm. "Why didn't you tell me before?"

"I wanted you to ask me. But you never asked. So I kept quiet and enjoyed your desperation for that playboy." She replied with a wink.

"Where is he? How do you know?"

"Max went with him. They went somewhere together."

"Where?"

"I don't know. But Max told me that one of their friends is sick. So they need to go to see him."

"Oh, so that's the case." Allison muttered.

"Yes, that's the only case. What did you think?"

"Nothing."

Teresa let out a chuckle as she realized what Allison had been thinking.

"If you truly love him, you should have some faith in what he can do."

Allison felt her pulse pumping whenever Teresa spoke the word "Love" because she was thinking of Ryan at the time.

"Love is a very heavy word, Tess. I am afraid to love again. I am scared."

There was nothing more that Teresa could say. She was aware that it was quite challenging for Allison. She had to bear so much pain at such a young age.

Meanwhile, Ryan was someone no one could control. Even his parents could not control him. So it was not easy for Allison to believe him.

Teresa also doubted him. But Max assured her every day that Ryan had changed after meeting Allison. He said that the past should not matter, which was really true.

"When he returns, don't give in so easily. Let him chase you for a long time. He always found it easy to grab girls. So he should know that a precious girl is not easy to get." Teresa suggested it to her with a devilish grin.

"I don't even know what he wants."

"You."

"What?"

"He wants you."

Allison laughed at her answer. It was she who told her about this conversation. So Teresa repeated Ryan's reply.

They left the cafe and went back to shopping.

Allison blushed when Teresa dragged her into Victoria's secret. Teresa bought a few pieces of lingerie that made Allison's cheeks flush.

Teresa looked at Allison and locked her arm with hers.

"Honey, a girl should take care of her man. She should make him crazy for her so that he can not even think of looking at any other girl."

Allison gulped when she heard her. She cast a cursory glance over the revealing nightgowns and underwear in a variety of hues.

Teresa bought a few of them and paid for them.

Teresa was mated to Max, so having sex was not a big deal for them. Teresa's family knew about Max, she introduced him to them after marking. Who would say no to a fated mate? Max was a beta in rank, and he was a polite boy, his reputation was not bad at all. Though his parents were not alive, Teresa's family told him that he was like their own son.

Teresa and Allison left the showroom and started to walk. Allison bought a few more dresses. Most of them were black. Teresa teased her, saying that she was buying black to impress Ryan because he liked black clothing.

After shopping, Teresa dropped Allison off at her home.

Allison's parents told her that she should go out with Teresa more. Because she looked upset all day. They did not like their daughter's upset face.

At night, after Allison had dinner with her parents, she returned to her room and lay down on the bed.

She turned in the bed left and right a few times but she could not get any sleep.

It had been two hours since she tried to sleep but failed. She was depressed. Even her parents might be in a deep sleep right now, but she was awake.

She sat up and rubbed her forehead.

At that time, her phone rang.

She grabbed her phone and looked at the screen.

Her eyes widened when she saw Ryan's name.

Ryan called her.

Her heart was beating at a rapid rate. She swallowed hard before picking up the phone and answering it.

"Hello?" She said it while she awaited his response.

He was silent for a minute. She was desperate to hear his deep voice.

Then he replied,

"Come down, I am outside."
