

Chapter 413

Weeks passed in the blink of an eye.

Allison and Ryan were beginning to get closer to one another. Their relationship was flourishing to the point where it was growing stronger by the day.

Allison was so delighted that she had never been happier before.

Ryan was proving his love to her daily.

Every single day, he made her feel special. He demonstrated his affection for her in many different ways.

These days, they spend the majority of their time together; whether they were at school or anywhere else, he was always at her side.

He always told her that he would never feel bored of her. He was addicted to her, and there was no way he would ever want to give her up.

It was a bright and beautiful day.

Outside of the school, everyone was yelling and cheering.

Some of them were enjoying the sunbath while sitting on the terrace, and others were doing the same thing while sitting on the sports ground.

Teresa and Allison were having a conversation. She learned a great deal of fresh information from her.

She went to a variety of locations outside of the pack that Max led her to, and then she shared those with Allison.

"I think he is madly in love with me." While Teresa was speaking to Allison, her eyes were drawn to Max, who was having a conversation with Owen on the opposite side of them.

A chuckle came out of Allison's mouth. "Of course, that is the case. There is no room for question."

"Ask me why I just said that."

"Why did you say that, Tess?"

"Because he told me to be a strong woman. I don't know what is on his mind. He wants to make me a powerful woman. He said I will be his lady boss." Teresa replied and turned her head toward her.

"You are already strong."

"Exactly. Wait a minute, did he mock me by saying that I am not powerful?" Teresa made a face, her brows knitting together in a suspicious manner, and she turned to scowl at Max.

Allison rubbed her shoulder. "Stop overthinking. He marked you as his mate. Now, he wants you to become a strong woman so that you can defend yourself against any threat that may come your way. He has a lot of love for you."

The gloomy expression on Teresa's face lifted, and she broke out in a broad grin.

"Yes, you are right."

Allison shook her head at her best friend's changing moods.

"By the way, where is Ryan?"

"Maybe he is attending any classes."

"When did he become so attentive to his studies?"

"The moment he became my boyfriend."

"Honey, you turned the playboy into a nerd."

Both of them laughed together.

"Did you just say something?"

They heard Ryan's voice from behind. They turned their heads and saw him standing behind them.

"No way. I was just telling her that you are a... jerk." After saying that, Teresa dashed off in the direction of Max while giggling.

"This girl!" Ryan muttered while glaring at Teresa.

Allison laughed hard as she grabbed her stomach.

Recently, Teresa started to tease Ryan. She said Max warned her not to do it, so that was why she was doing it more.

Ryan's eyes shifted to Allison. She was sitting on the bench beside the basketball coach.

He walked around the bench and sat beside Allison.

She bit her lip to stop laughing. "My stomach is hurting. You two are so funny."

Ryan pulled her by the wrist. Her body got closer to his. She felt his hand remove her hand from her stomach. He then rubbed her stomach with his palm.

"Don't laugh then. I don't want my baby to feel hurt."

Her jaw dropped at his actions. He chuckled and rubbed more.

"Hey, stop teasing me." She pushed his hand away.

"See how it feels? You enjoyed her actions, that is why I am letting her go every time."

"Ryan, don't get mad. I know you are not a jerk."

"Really? Then what am I in your eyes?" While he spoke, he got his face quite near to hers.

They were the focus of the gaze of others. She cast a quick glance in their direction before pressing her hand into his chest.

Though everyone now knew that they were in a relationship, she still felt shy.

"You are a good person." She then responded before interlocking her arm with his.

"Okay." He said and nodded his head.

She leaned her head against his shoulder and rested there. Her eyes fell on Wade. He was staring at her.

She immediately avoided his gaze. He was Ethan's best friend.

After what had happened with the Red Moon pack, Ethan did not come to school for days. He was quite active in his training. On the battlefield, he was working diligently to develop pack warriors.

She breathed a sigh of relief when she realized she would not have to confront him. The way he warned her that day when she broke up with him, she was really scared.

"How is everyone in your house?" Allison asked Ryan.

She was curious as to whether or not things were going smoothly between him and his family.

"Everyone is doing fine."

She tilted her head to look at him. "Really?"

"Yeah. What would happen to the powerful family?"

"Ryan"

"What?"

"Why don't you just forget all the arguments and start talking nicely with them?"

"That's not what I want to do. And I don't do anything that I don't want to do."

"Stop being stubborn."

He did not reply to her. He looked away.

She wondered from time to time what could have caused him to be so hostile toward his parents. It was not because he returned from traveling overseas and suddenly began acting in such a manner.

There must be a connection to your younger years.

She had a strong desire to inquire about it, but she never had the courage to do so.

What if he would mind her words?

She did not want to lose him.

She rubbed his hand with her palm and said,

"Tomorrow is Dad's birthday. So Mom and I arranged a party at home tonight. Your family will come, for sure. I want you to come too."

He looked at her. "Will you be able to say that to your father?"

"What?"

"That you invited me to attend his birthday party?"

She was taken aback. Her father strictly warned her to stay away from Ryan. He did not even know she was in a relationship with him. So it would be difficult for her.

But she took a deep breath and smiled at him.

"I will. You are my guest tonight."
