

Chapter 426

Allison removed Ryan's hands from her arms and stepped backward.

"No one."

"I won't be able to take your excuses. I am not in the mood right now."

Allison shook her head. "I wanted to talk to you about it, but Luna Ella interrupted our conversation because of Georgiana, so I could not tell you about it."

Under the moonlight, Allison could see Ryan's face.

Meanwhile, Ryan was controlling himself. He wanted to hear her first.

"What did you want to talk about?"

"Regarding the announcement that Alpha Neil made."

He frowned at her. "Were you aware of this before tonight?"

Allison was silent for some time, then nodded her head after looking away from him.

He was taken aback by it. "Why on earth didn't you tell me back then?"

She inhaled deeply and then she closed her eyes to settle her nerves. "Ryan, I wanted to tell you at the party that we should break up."

Ryan felt someone was stabbing his heart. He gave her a hostile look. "Break up?"

She opened her eyes and lifted her head to face him.

"Yeah. I thought about it a lot. I made the decision to go through with it last night."

"Last night? You Decided? How did you decide alone?" He gritted his teeth and asked.

His blood was starting to boil. He had the feeling that his veins were about to burst at any moment, and blood would begin to flow through them.

"I can't be with you, Ryan. You can live your life as you want. I won't stop you again."

"What rubbish are you talking about?"

"Ryan, I think Ethan is the best choice for me."

"Best choice?"

"Yeah, he is a good man. My parents also like him. He has the ability to handle the whole pack including me. I will be happy with him."

Ryan felt his legs freeze on the ground. It was the same feeling that he felt many years ago when he had left the pack. He felt deja vu.

He came back to his senses and shook his head.

"You are lying to me, baby. I know you. You are not like that." He stated. It sounded as though he was trying to persuade her not to lie by softening his tone.

Allison turned around from him and replied,

"No. I am not lying. I don't need to lie. You have seen everything in the party. I am okay with being with Ethan. I came to the realization that my feelings for Ethan had never changed. It was always him who was in my heart. After all, no one can forget their first love."

She heard the sound of laughter. She felt him grab her arm and turned to him.

"First love? Did he brainwash you again?" He said and got very near to her face.

She inhaled deeply and quickly diverted her gaze from him. "N-No."

He cupped her face in his hands. "Why are you stuttering? You don't have to be scared of anyone. Tell me why you are saying all of this?"

"Ryan, everyone is happy for me to become Luna. Why can't you just accept it?"

Her repeated words made him enraged. He nodded his head and shouted at her.

"Who is forcing you to behave like this? Who? Ethan? Or that bastard beta Glen?"

"ETHAN"

Allison yelled at him. She could not stop herself and raised her hand.

SLAP!

She slapped him hard on his cheek. His face was turned to the other side by the slap.

"How dare you talk about my father like that? Who gave you the audacity? You know what? My father is right. You don't deserve anything. You can't even talk well to your parents. How can I expect you to talk nicely to my father? And Ethan is much better than you. He always respected my Dad. He did not engage in any conduct that could have incited hostility in my father toward him. He is better in every way than you. He is the future head Alpha of this pack for a reason."

Ryan's eyes were on the ground. Her words struck a chord deep within his soul. He slowly turned his head toward her.

"So Ethan is now better than me?" He asked as his eyes endeavored to decipher the expression on her face. But for the first time, he felt that this girl was unknown to him.

"Yes. He is a strong Alpha. No woman can refuse him. He can give me a perfect life as a Luna, which you can't give me."

"I thought you were not the same as others. I thought you were different."

"You were wrong. I am just like any other normal girl. Thinking about the future is not a bad thing. I have no future with you. But with him, I can have respect and a high position."

Ryan closed his eyes and ran his finger through his hair.

"I can give you one last chance, Allison. Come with me. I will take you somewhere else where only two of us can live together. No one will find us. I will protect you with me."

Allison became quiet for a minute. She spoke out after clearing her throat.

"You are talking about leaving the pack?"

"Yeah. So let's go together."

"Why would I want to go with you?"

"I know you are just pretending. I will take you with me. I know you can't live without me. You love me as much as I do. So let's run away from here. Only you and I will start a new life. Maybe I won't have the power Ethan has, but at least I can give you my love." Ryan said and grabbed her wrist.

He started to walk and came out of the woods. Allison snatched her hand out of his grip.

"I won't go with you."

Ryan's legs stopped. He turned his head toward her. "This is your last chance to be with me. After this, I will never turn to you."

"We are over, Ryan. I won't go anywhere with you. I love Ethan, and I will stay here with him. It will be better for you if you stay here with your family and accept the truth."

Allison made her way toward the direction of the pack house. Ryan stared at her back. She did not turn to him once.

She left him all alone, just like his parents did a few years ago.

Just like them, she abandoned him.

She left him after breaking his heart, which she was the only one who could mend.

A car stopped in front of Ryan. Vernon and Owen came out of the car.

"Bro, are you okay?" Owen rushed to him. When he spotted Ryan taking Allison into the woods, he immediately dialed Vernon's number and asked him to come over.

Vernon cast a peek in the direction of the pack house and questioned aloud,

"Why did she leave?"

"She said she wanted Ethan, not me." Ryan muttered as his gaze was still fixed on the pack house.

"Let's go to her and take her with us forcefully. There is nothing to think about." Vernon said. Owen nodded his head in agreement.

Ryan stopped them by signaling with his hand.

"Let's go back." After saying that, he climbed into the car. He sat in the back seat and leaned his head back against the seat.

His friends were in the front seats. They saw him closing his eyes. Vernon started the car and asked,

"Ryan, please don't get mad. Calm your rage. We are still in this area. If you want, you can bring her wi-

"No." He replied simply.

"Where are we going?" Owen asked him.

"Leaving the pack."

"What about Allison?"

Ryan was silent for some time.

When he opened his eyes, they were orange. Flames were burning inside his eyes.

"I have had enough. It's time to get back to myself."
