

Chapter 430

The next day,

Allison got ready. She would have to go to the pack house, so she skipped a few classes in school today.

She took a few glances in the mirror as she dressed in the gray gown that had been prepared for her.

She wore a few pieces of jewelry. She let her hair down and put on a pair of high heels which helped keep her dress from dragging on the floor.

She left her room and went downstairs. She glanced at her parents and said,

"Let's go."

Her mother halted her as she went to the entrance of their house.

"Allison, you are glowing with beauty."

She turned her head toward her. "Beauty doesn't matter when it has no chance to bloom."

Her mother averted her gaze from her. She could feel her mother feeling guilty every day. However, her father did not feel any regret for his decision.

"A strong man who is able to preserve beauty is also capable of bringing it to full bloom when the time is right." Her father let out and walked to the door.

Allison gave a slight nod because she did not want to continue arguing with any of them at that point.

After leaving their home, the three of them got into the car and drove away.

The ride in the car was silent. Allison's attention was drawn to the beautiful evening sky. She felt her life had become dull. But maybe that was called royal life.

When they arrived at the pack house, they noticed that there were many guards stationed outside of the pack house.

Ethan organized all the security to stay safe and made others feel safe.

Together with her parents, Allison entered the pack house. There is still plenty of time for the visitors to arrive.

In the pack house, everyone was quite busy.

Alpha Neil was having a conversation with one of Ethan's. Wade was talking with Ethan. Ella was directing the work of a few of the maids.

Allison greeted Ethan's parents and began to check if everything was set up correctly or not.

To become this pack's Luna, there was only one month left for her. So she started her duty a few months ago.

She climbed the stairs and examined each of the guest rooms. The locked guest rooms were opened up for guests today and were nicely furnished for their stay.

She looked over the food and made sure it was okay. The chefs were working hard to prepare as many mouthwatering dishes as they could.

She went back to the living room after she was satisfied that everything was in order.

Wade approached her to speak with her.

"Is everything okay?"

"Yeah, I just finished looking over the rooms and the meals. You are free to inform me of anything else that comes to mind."

"No, there is nothing much. We are taking care of securities. We can't just believe in anyone. He is a powerful man who has already taken control of five packs; what would happen if he chose to include our pack in the count and manage to do corruption with us? So we have to be careful with everything."

"You are right."

"Ethan does not intend to wage war against him. His parents' safety is the main thing for him. Going to some other pack and winning it is okay. But if someone came to attack here, their target would be the weakness of the pack's Alpha. We all know his weakness is his parents."

Allison gave him a nod. Indeed, Ethan cared about his parents the most. There was no lie in the statement.

She also sometimes felt scared for her parents' lives. The war was not a walk in the park by any means. There were a great number of people who lost their lives there, particularly those who were close to the head Alpha.

After ending her conversation with Wade, she proceeded to sit down on the couch. Everyone was sitting there.

"At any moment, they will be here." Alpha Neil said.

Allison could clearly make out the gleam of delight in his eyes. She was surprised by how enthusiastic they were, including her father, about an Alpha paying this pack a visit for the first time.

There was no question in anyone's mind that the visit would have an effect in a variety of different ways.

Allison was thinking about the Luna of that pack. She might have possessed a great deal of power given the fact that she had secured such a powerful Alpha as her future husband.

Suddenly, she asked,

"How is their future Luna?"

Her question drew the attention of others around her. In response, one of Ethan's officials replied,

"She is a very strong lady. People in their pack say that she is different from us. But their Alpha forbade others to talk about her. He is very strict about Luna. He has a lot of concern for her. Therefore, you need to concentrate on the Luna. Maintain a proper demeanor towards her and make an effort to get along with her."

"I got it." She replied.

She was well aware of the importance of effective communication. Each pack's royal families need to have strong lines of communication with one another. It might be useful to the pack.

A few minutes later, Allison noticed that she was beginning to feel a strange pain in her chest. She did not know what was happening so suddenly.

In an effort to settle her nerves, she drank some water from a glass. She was not feeling well. However, she needed to relax herself because she would have to attend to the guests.

Ethan came to sit next to her.

"Are you okay?"

"Hmm." She responded.

"I am observing you for a few minutes. You don't look fine to me." He murmured and grabbed her hand.

She glared at him for holding her hand. But he did not leave it. He knew she would not say anything in front of their parents. So he smiled at her and whispered,

"I am with you. Don't feel nervous about anything. You are my Luna. There is no other Alpha who can judge you, nor can his family."

Allison parted her lips to speak, but her eyes fell behind Ethan. She looked at the entrance of the pack house, outside the main door.

Many black cars came to a halt in front of the pack house.

Upon seeing that everyone, including Ethan and her, had gotten to their feet.

"They are here." Wade and other officials announced.

Everyone went to the entrance to greet the guests as they arrived.

The pack fighters of the Black Moon pack got out of their cars and went over to a car to open the door for their Alpha.

A strikingly good-looking man emerged from the car wearing all black, even his dark-shade sunglasses matched his suit perfectly.

Even though Allison could hear gasps coming from the sides of her, her eyes remained unmoved on the man.

Her heart froze just by looking at him.

Ella's loud voice reached her ears when she spoke out,

"RYAN?"
