

Medical M 1301

Medical Master

Chapter 1301: A Slap in the Face!

“You can rest easy — I am calm enough.”

After her short reply, Fang Qiu ended the call.

Soon...

Fang Qiu arrived at Blackhill Gate Village in Qilu Province.

Here...

It was the place where the incident had taken place.

The fake-drug video was taken in the clinic in Blackhill Gate Village.

Just when Fang Qiu came to Blackhill Gate Village...

“Beep, beep, beep...”

His phone rang again in his trouser pocket.

He took it out and had a look.

It was a call from He Xue!

“Hello?”

Fang Qiu answered the phone.

“The latest news: the doctor who prescribed the shoddy medicine to the patient has gone missing, along with several doctors who were involved in the medical accidents.”

He Xue’s solemn voice came from the other end of the phone. “They must have escaped. The police are checking into this matter and trying to trace them!”

“What?”

This news made Fang Qiu bristle with rage.

He might have forgiven them if they had stayed and explained the matter to him. Against all his expectations, they made their escape. How could they run away at this critical moment?

“Damn it!”

Gritting his teeth, Fang Qiu tried hard to suppress the anger in his heart and said, “I’ll go and see the four patients first!”

Then he hung up.

Fang Qiu lost no time in searching for the four patients’ information.

He found out...

The four patients were not living in Blackhill Gate Village but in villages nearby. On the map, they lived in a few villages among the dozens of villages around the local county.

Because their conditions had deteriorated, all four patients were sent to the county for emergency treatment.

Fang Qiu did not dare to hesitate.

He instantly changed his route and rushed to the county hospital.

Before long...

He came to the county hospital.

From a distance, he saw some people standing at the gate of the county hospital. It seemed as if they were arguing with the hospital's security guards.

Well, they must be some busybodies who wanted to see those seriously ill people and find out what happened.

Fang Qiu ignored these people.

When he approached the hospital's gate, Fang Qiu walked straight in.

Just as he entered the hospital...

"Eh?"

Suddenly, a surprised voice was heard.

In the crowd, a person stared at Fang Qiu's back. Suddenly, he jumped up, reached out to point at Fang Qiu, and cried out his name, "Fang Qiu! He is Fang Qiu!"

After his shout...

The other people, whether at the hospital entrance or in the hall, all turned to stare at Fang Qiu!

“That man is Fang Qiu, isn’t he?”

“Why would he come here?”

“I thought he was a good person with excellent medical skills, but I didn’t expect him to do such a sinister thing. He’s murdering his patients for their money!”

“That’s right!”

“Did he come here to try and buy the people over and calm the situation against him?”

“Oh, if that’s true, I will expose him on the Internet!”

“Go and record it together. Let’s see what tricks he’s playing!”

While they were talking...

Everyone came up behind Fang Qiu, and many had taken out their phones to record the scene.

Meanwhile, inside the emergency department...

Some reporters were allowed to interview the patients and their family members. As soon as they heard that Fang Qiu had appeared, they ran over hurriedly to record Fang Qiu’s every move!

Soon...

Fang Qiu came to the door of an emergency room, which had been prepared for one of the patients.

“It’s you!”

A middle-aged woman outside the emergency room jumped up with rage. She pointed at Fang Qiu and broke out into curses, “It’s you. It’s all your fault. My man is dying because of you. How dare you come here?”

The middle-aged woman cried out bitterly as she rushed toward Fang Qiu.

She grabbed Fang Qiu’s arm and began to push him back and forth.

Fang Qiu didn’t move.

He let her push him around.

However...

Even after she pushed him for some time, she still couldn’t shove him to the ground, and her eyes became bloodshot. Helplessly, the middle-aged woman’s arm shot out and dealt a sharp slap to Fang Qiu’s face.

“Slap!”

There was a sudden crisp sound.

Seeing this, everyone at the scene was startled.

Next to them, all the reporters had recorded this scene.

Even after the hard slap...

The middle-aged woman wouldn't let him off!

"Let me save him first. We'll talk about the rest later."

Fang Qiu said.

"Save him? What can you do to save him?"

The middle-aged woman glared at Fang Qiu and barked questions at him, "Can you save him with your black heart? My man is dying. Do you want him to have a quicker death? How dare you touch him?"

"I can cure him."

Fang Qiu said.

"I don't believe you!"

The middle-aged woman refused vehemently.

"I don't know about the medicinal herbs, but you can trust my medical skills."

Fang Qiu said this sincerely.

At this time...

Doctors in the hospital also arrived.

“If you send him to the city, his condition will worsen, and he might lose his life. Hurry and let Fang Qiu go in. Something is wrong with medicinal herbs, but it’s not Fang Qiu’s problem. Do you know how many people he has saved in the past two years? He has cured all kinds of diseases. Do you want to watch your man die before you?”

These doctors hurriedly tried to persuade her.

None of them knew what was going on with the medicinal herbs. Yet, as doctors, they believed in Fang Qiu’s professional skills.

When the others heard that...

A few family members standing by also stepped forward hurriedly, as they tried to persuade her to take the advice.

They all used their powers of persuasion on her.

Finally, the middle-aged woman agreed to let Fang Qiu in.

“I need some treatment tools.”

Fang Qiu said to these doctors.

“All common medical instruments are available in the emergency room.”

One doctor said.

With this definitive answer...

Fang Qiu walked into the emergency room right away.

He was alone in the room. After he did a thorough examination of the patient, he found a set of silver needles and began to treat him with acupuncture.

After half an hour...

The door to the emergency room was opened.

Fang Qiu walked out of the room.

Before the others could come forward to ask, a middle-aged man followed him out.

Seeing him, the patient's family and reporters were all rooted to the spot!

Just now...

They saw him lying on the bed and he did not even have any strength to straighten his upper body. Fang Qiu had only been inside for half an hour. How could the patient walk out by himself?

"The patient has been cured. To reassure the patient's family, please take him for a thorough check. I'll pay for all the medical and examination expenses."

Fang Qiu said to the doctor who stood guard at the door.

"Okay."

The doctor brought the patient to have a checkup. The patient's family members followed behind hurriedly, with numerous questions on their lips. The reporters also wanted to catch up with them to ask questions, but before that, they were driven back by these relatives.

To reassure the family members and prevent any further accidents, Fang Qiu kept up with them and waited for the results of the check-up with them.

The patient was given priority for all the checkups.

Thus, the results came out very quickly.

It turned out that the patient had fully recovered. Fang Qiu cured not only the illness caused by fake medicine but even his chronic disease that he suffered from for many years.

What an astonishing result...

Everyone was shocked to the core.

"Fang Qiu, what was going on exactly?"

These reporters seized a chance and asked Fang Qiu.

"I'll go and treat the other three patients first. When I'm done, you can ask your questions."

Fang Qiu, led by a doctor, hurried to the special wards where the other three patients were.

At the same time...

The videos recorded by the reporters in the hospital were uploaded to the Internet.

At the beginning of the videos, the patient's family could be seen, making a scene...

After that...

The woman gave Fang Qiu a thunderous slap in the face.

Everyone who saw this video didn't expect that Fang Qiu wouldn't dodge and just let her slap his face.

They continued watching.

After that blow, Fang Qiu even took the initiative to ask to treat the patient.

This scene came as a surprise.

Everyone who saw this felt a little sympathy for him.

In particular, Fang Qiu's fans...

From this video, they saw Fang Qiu's great sense of responsibility!

As the video was spread online...

Those people who slandered and insulted Fang Qiu on the Internet were no longer as fanatical as before.

Especially when they saw the end of the video...

Fang Qiu saved the patient and cured his disease. Eventually, those netizens calmed down.

They remembered how Fang Qiu had saved people.

They found out...

Fang Qiu's medical skills were still as excellent as before. So, they began to wonder: why would Fang Qiu bother to do such a thing when he had such outstanding medical skills?

Would he do it for money?

If a patient wanted Fang Qiu to treat him, he had to pay as much as one hundred million Huaxia coins, which was the highest in the world!

Besides, Fang Qiu had donated more than one billion Huaxia coins.

In addition, he spent money establishing the Three Billion Plan. He was so rich that money was immaterial to him. In this case, did he need to make money by selling shoddy herbs?"

However...

On second thought...

Fang Qiu was innocent, but it didn't mean that there was nothing wrong with the Foundation. As its founder, Fang Qiu should be responsible for all the mistakes the Foundation made!

When they thought of this, many people no longer focused on slandering Fang Qiu. Instead, they began to care about the ins and outs of the whole thing and the truth of this matter!

Meanwhile...

The Three Billion Foundation issued another statement through its official Weibo account.

“Our Foundation has been cooperating fully with the police. But during the investigation, we found all the doctors involved had disappeared. It seems they have escaped. Nevertheless, we won’t stop pursuing the truth. Everyone, please wait patiently for some time. We will definitely get to the bottom of this and find out the truth!”

Over here...

Fang Qiu had already begun to treat the second patient.

Before long...

The second patient was cured too.

On the way to do a check-up for this patient, Fang Qiu saw the company’s real-time news on its official Weibo. Only then did he feel less angry.

At the very least, the company was doing its best.

Soon...

Doctors ran all kinds of tests on the patient. Based on the results, all his diseases had been cured, and he was back to normal!

Fang Qiu then rushed to the third one.

Then, the fourth one.

He cured the four patients, one by one!

At the same time, these reporters also live streamed the whole process when Fang Qiu cured their sicknesses and saved the patients.

Through the live stream...

Everyone once again witnessed Fang Qiu's medical skills.

Yet, the matter was not over yet.

Fang Qiu's performance proved that he was a professional doctor — he saved all the patients who needed emergency treatment and cured all their illnesses. No ordinary doctor could achieve that.

The most important thing was...

Aside from his superb medical skills, Fang Qiu was surprisingly nice when he treated the four patients.

His action appeased their burning anger.

The four patients had all been treated.

As soon as the test results of the fourth patient came out, all the reporters swarmed forward to interview Fang Qiu through live streaming!

Medical Master

Chapter 1302: We'll Pay the Money If You Come!

"Can you tell us the details now? What's going on?"

These reporters pressed on and couldn't wait to ask questions.

“The matter is still under investigation.”

Facing the closely packed reporters and cameras, Fang Qiu announced his decision, “I don’t know the truth either. But, I can assure the public that the Three Billion Foundation will undertake all the responsibility, and I’m also willing to shoulder the responsibility. In addition, each family of the four patients will receive one million Huaxia coins as compensation. Here, I declare that from now on, anyone will be awarded ten thousand Huaxia coins in compensation for one packet of shoddy medicine. Besides, the patient will be reexamined and get new medicine for free!”

As soon as the words left his mouth...

Everyone stared at him, frozen in shock

The reporters were also struck dumb.

Countless netizens watching the livestream online were also shocked!

“Holy shit, what a generous and overwhelming strategy!”

“One million for each family and ten thousand for a packet of inferior medicine?”

“Damn, does it look like he’s short of money?”

“He is super rich. Why does he need to sell fake drugs?”

Just when everyone was stunned...

A reporter suddenly asked, “What if someone pretends that they bought bogus medicine?”

“As long as they come, we’ll pay the money to them!”

Fang Qiu said without hesitation.

The answer left all the people dumbfounded!

“What the fuck. Everyone, it’s time to make some money. What a good opportunity to make a quick buck.”

“He’s just giving money away?”

“Look at Fang Qiu’s intransigent attitude! He must be determined to take a hard line on this issue.”

“Surely he could say that, but he might not practice what he preached.”

“That’s right. Fang Qiu made this statement only to show us his righteous position. How could he compensate for all the low-quality products? There are more than one billion people in Huaxia. If each of us brings a pack of fake medicine, he will have to mortgage his underwear to pay. Am I right?”

The others were not stupid.

They all understood what Fang Qiu meant.

There must be some people who wanted to take the opportunity to make a fortune. These people planned to take some substandard herbs to Fang Qiu and the Foundation in exchange for money. However, most people were basically honest.

These honest people would only feel at ease when they spent the money earned by themselves. Why would anyone sell his conscience for dirty money?

However, even so, they still liked Fang Qiu’s attitude.

He had the courage to act and be responsible for the consequences!

From the livestreaming interview...

Netizens gradually believed that this matter had nothing to do with Fang Qiu. There seemed to be another undiscovered story.

In the capital...

Inside a villa...

“Good!”

Yang Ningyuan was watching the livestream. When he heard Fang Qiu’s promise, he couldn’t help praising his performance. “Being responsible and generous could help you win back everyone’s hearts. You’ve shown the right attitude. Well done!”

At the scene...

After Fang Qiu expressed himself eloquently...

Before the reporters moved on to another question, Fang Qiu took the lead to say, “I’m sorry. I have to go to the clinic the first patient visited and check those drugs in person.”

After that...

Fang Qiu left the hospital directly.

The reporters did not stall Fang Qiu to ask more questions. Instead, the vast crowd gathered around Fang Qiu and walked ahead with him.

“Fang Qiu.”

When they were out of the hospital, a reporter suddenly rushed forward. While he did a video recording of Fang Qiu, he asked, “There’s room in our car for one more passenger. We can take you there.”

“Okay.”

Fang Qiu immediately nodded and said, “Thank you.”

In the current situation...

Fang Qiu had no choice but to leave by car. Since he agreed to get in the reporter’s interview car, the staff of this TV station would help and block him from the people around. Otherwise, Fang Qiu would have to walk there. After all, he couldn’t get a taxi with so many people following him.

“Follow me.”

The reporter took Fang Qiu out of the hospital gate. When they arrived at a nearby parking lot, the interview car stopped before them.

With the reporter’s invitation, Fang Qiu promptly got in the car.

When the other reporters saw this...

They were all beating their chests and stamping their feet with deep regret!

Why didn’t they think of this brilliant idea?

This would have been a golden opportunity to interview Fang Qiu!

Even if Fang Qiu refused to be interviewed, they could have a chat with him for a while. Anything he said might be an exclusive news report!

Some reporters came to their senses and quickly rushed forward and attempted to take Fang Qiu away. They wanted to let him know how good their cars were, what benefits they could offer, and the like.

To their dismay...

Before they could put their plans into action...

“Crack!”

With a crisp sound, the car door was quickly closed, and the interview car drove away speedily.

The other reporters watched it leave.

They had no choice but to get in their cars quickly and follow closely behind.

In the car...

“Fang Qiu, could you tell us when and how you found out about this?”

The reporter casually asked.

Fang Qiu knew he would have to answer some questions in the interview car. By taking this chance, he could also let the public learn about some details and his connection in this matter.

“I heard of it this morning.”

Fang Qiu continued, "The people in the company called and told me about it."

"Then how will you handle it?"

Another question came from the reporter.

"Didn't I make it public just now? Whatever the truth is, our company and I will bear all responsibility. We will take care of it even if it's not our fault!"

Fang Qiu answered.

"Then, what do you think is the cause now? Is it the problem of your company or the pharmaceutical companies?"

The reporter made a detailed inquiry.

"I'm not clear about the pharmaceutical companies."

Fang Qiu allowed himself a wry smile and said, "Right after the incident happened, we contacted all the major pharmaceutical companies and asked them to give us some possible answers. As a result, they all announced that this incident had nothing to do with them. So, what could we do about it?"

At this point...

Fang Qiu shook his head and added, "As for our company, we had our professional Chinese Medicine teams carry out the Four Methods to Diagnose a Disease. Beyond that, there were people who monitored the prescriptions backstage and professional talents that checked the medicinal herbs of various companies. But we haven't yet determined where it went wrong."

The reporter listened to him carefully.

Meanwhile, he quickly recorded all that Fang Qiu had said.

It was an exclusive interview.

Right at this moment...

“Beep, beep, beep...”

All of a sudden, the reporter’s cell phone rang,

Fang Qiu glanced at it and saw “Chief editor.” It seemed to be a WeChat message.

The reporter immediately clicked to have a look.

Fang Qiu saw that...

As soon as the reporter read it, his eyes instantly lit up.

“Look at it.”

Without covering it up, the reporter handed the phone to Fang Qiu, pointed at the message sent by the chief editor on the phone, and said, “Now, almost all the traditional Chinese medicine companies in the country are supporting the previous company, saying that they will not use fake drugs to harm people nor cooperate with any companies with little or no morals!”

“I suppose they were condemning you and your foundation company, right?”

“What do you think of this?”

Opposite the reporter...

Anger for justice filled Fang Qiu's heart.

He didn't expect this. Before the results were even out, those pharmaceutical companies had already jumped out to stir up more trouble. What on earth were they up to?

"No comment."

Fang Qiu shook his head.

However, he began pondering about this in his heart.

"There must be something wrong with this.

"Otherwise, why would they do this? One after another, those pharmaceutical companies, the Foundation's partners, made statements. Even these pharmaceutical companies who haven't cooperated with the Foundation also released statements. But they were not involved in this matter at all."

"Did they simply want to take this opportunity to gain publicity for their companies?

"But I don't see these pharmaceutical companies doing any promotions."

"So, what on earth is going on?"

As Fang Qiu had expected...

These pharmaceutical companies did aggravate the situation.

The firm support of those big fans escalated the whole thing.

The storm of criticism had subsided. However, as another batch of pharmaceutical companies rose, another blast of criticism started.

Countless people on the Internet began to denounce and scold Fang Qiu and the Three Billion Foundation.

It seemed that they were determined to nail them to the historical pillar of shame and make the world despise them!

In this regard...

Fang Qiu could only endure it, for he couldn't do anything.

The distance between the two locations was not far. Before long, the interview car entered the Blackhill Gate Village and stopped before the clinic of the Three Billion Foundation.

Fang Qiu got out of the car.

The reporter also hastened to step out of the car. Then, he took out the camera and continued to do the livestream of Fang Qiu.

Fang Qiu stepped forward to open the door.

At this time...

The other reporters' interview cars had also arrived.

All the reporters got out of the cars and hurried forward to do their livestream.

The door of the clinic opened.

Reporters followed Fang Qiu into the clinic.

They found that all the medicinal herbs in the clinic had been taken away. Nothing was left behind. These people in the clinic seemed to have cleared out this place before they made their escape. In this way, there would be no evidence against them.

Fang Qiu searched around the room.

At last, he spotted a piece of medicinal herb at the corner of the counter.

He immediately squatted down, picked it up, and sniffed it.

He frowned instantly.

The reporters quickly gathered around him.

“Indeed, this Chinese medicinal herb is of low quality.”

Fang Qiu held the herb he had just picked up in his hand and said to all the reporters before their cameras.

As soon as he said that...

Numerous netizens had been waiting to watch the livestream. But just as the livestream began, they saw Fang Qiu admit that the herb was of poor quality.

This time...

It triggered another huge uproar among the netizens.

Among them...

Many fans still held a glimmer of hope for Fang Qiu. The moment they heard his conclusion, they became very disillusioned with him!

They knew that this matter had nothing to do with Fang Qiu. Otherwise, Fang Qiu would not have investigated it personally. However, it was related to his Foundation, so Fang Qiu had to be responsible for it!

Fang Qiu's fans felt helpless.

Now, they could only seek the truth and hope that it would not implicate Fang Qiu!

In the clinic...

Fang Qiu did not turn around and leave. Instead, under all the reporters' scrutiny, he began to walk around the clinic. As he went around, he observed carefully. He even used the scouting skills he learned in the special forces to check traces left in the clinic.

Fortunately, since everyone had been walking after him, the scene was not completely destroyed.

After a rigorous and thorough examination...

Eventually, Fang Qiu found a very inconspicuous imprint on the back window of the clinic. If not for his careful observation, he wouldn't have found this almost invisible clue.

This mark was connected to the corn field that had just been harvested behind the clinic.

"What did you find?"

A reporter stepped forward and asked.

“Everyone, turn off the livestream.”

Fang Qiu turned to all the reporters and added, “The following scenes are not suitable for livestreaming!”

They were all confused.

“Improper for livestreaming? Seriously?”

But seeing how insistent Fang Qiu was, the reporters had no choice but to turn off their livestream equipment.

This sudden change...

It caused a sensation on the Internet.

All the netizens’ screens went dark.

A great many people began to swear.

“Damn! They are going to make some fucking sinister deals on the sly!”

“Are the reporters part of their scheme too?”

Medical Master

Chapter 1303: Waiting for Fang Qiu to Display His Scouting Technique!

On the Internet...

This change brought cries of protest from the netizens.

Everyone stared blankly at the dark screen. A second ago, these netizens were watching the livestream!

“He admitted the medicine was fake and immediately asked the reporters to turn off the livestream. Something sinister must be going on. Are they going to do some behind-the-scene deals?”

“Shit! How dare they turn off the livestream when numerous people were watching? Shameless!”

“There are so many reporters. Does Fang Qiu want to bribe them all?”

“What the hell? Does anyone dare to discipline him?”

“Fuck, why did you turn off the livestream? Don’t you have the guts to go on livestreaming?”

Online...

In the livestream rooms, everyone broke out into curses.

They had been watching the livestream for so long and had witnessed everything, but at this critical moment, all the livestream channels were shut down.

It instantly made these netizens even more curious!

Did Fang Qiu find anything?

Fang Qiu must have found something unfavorable to him, so he asked all the reporters to turn off the livestream.

These reporters were bought over, weren't they? Otherwise, why would they instantly shut down the livestream at Fang Qiu's request?

As the livestream ended, these netizens' screens went black.

Instantly, all kinds of speculations emerged in their hearts. Of course, their guesses were all against Fang Qiu. Fang Qiu asked the reporters to turn off the livestream, but no one would think he did it because he had good intentions.

Sure enough...

Fang Qiu and these reporters had no idea about the various kinds of barbed remarks that sprang up online.

In Blackhill Gate Village's clinic...

"What do you mean?"

After they shut down the livestream, a reporter asked Fang Qiu, as he stared at him.

"What's not suitable for the livestream? What did you find?"

Another reporter asked.

All the reporters turned to look at Fang Qiu.

They were waiting for Fang Qiu's reply and wondered what Fang Qiu had found.

And over at the side...

"I found something."

Fang Qiu told all the reporters, "I've learned some scouting techniques. With the clues I just found, I will go after the person who escaped. You could do your livestream, but the suspect who is on the run might also watch your livestream and find out about our action plans. Therefore, I had to ask you to shut down the livestream."

After he said that...

All the reporters at the scene were shocked!

Scouting technique?

Ordinary people wouldn't know that.

Perhaps, Fang Qiu really knew these legendary skills?

"It's hard to believe he knows the scouting technique."

"I heard it was very difficult to pick up this technique. Only soldiers are qualified to learn it, but veterans will never reveal it to outsiders."

"Of course, the scouting and anti-scouting techniques are the weapons for the police to fight against bad guys. Not everyone could grasp it."

"Haven't you heard that some criminals in recent years have learned anti-scouting skills? They only studied a little scouting technique through books. These people could never pick up the real scouting technique. Thus, no matter how good their anti-scouting skills are, they will eventually be caught in the net of justice!"

“Aren’t you a Chinese medicine doctor? How could you know about this scouting technique?”

“It’ll be awesome if he really knows about this scouting technique!”

“Yeah, if Fang Qiu manages to track down the person who has escaped, it will make front-page news!”

The reporters discussed this among themselves, looking at each other while they thought about it secretly.

“Even if he fails to catch anyone, we can get a stunning piece of news coverage.

“The scouting technique is not something that ordinary people could master. Fang Qiu even asked us to turn off the livestream. It meant that he must be very confident. If he couldn’t find anyone, it would mean he was just bragging.

“Is Fang Qiu bragging about his ability?

“This could also be considered great news!”

Across from them...

Fang Qiu turned his head and continued to look for clues,

“Fang Qiu.”

Suddenly, a reporter came forward and asked, “We have turned off the livestream per your request. But I’m afraid it will give way to a burst of adverse comments against us on the Internet. The netizens who follow our livestream must have already started to make trouble online now.”

“So, how about this: we record what is happening without affecting your pursuit of the suspect.”

The other reporters heard his practical idea.

They came up one after another and nodded in agreement.

Not to mention the netizens, even the news agencies they worked for might suspect them of taking bribes. If they recorded nothing, they could not bring in the news their agencies required.

In that case, they would be in trouble.

As such...

For them, recording the entire process was what they had to do.

After the reporters expressed their difficulties...

Fang Qiu hesitated in giving a reply.

Well, some reporters had begun to record secretly the moment he asked all of them to stop livestreaming. Fang Qiu was well aware of that.

It was just that he never pointed it out.

And now...

Someone had expressed their need, telling him they wanted to record it openly. In this way, it would be more convenient for them, as the pictures would not be blurred as those taken on the sly.

“Okay.”

Fang Qiu thought for a while. Knowing they would record with or without permission, he didn't bother to stop them. Thus, he nodded and said, "Okay, but just don't livestream it."

The reporters heaved a collective sigh of relief instantly.

It didn't really matter whether they could livestream or not as long as they could record the process.

As they talked...

One after another, these reporters started recording.

"Excuse me, there's one more thing."

While recording, a reporter asked, "Can we release a post first? We should tell the netizens that we are going after the suspect. At least, it can appease these irate netizens a little. Or, they would fan the fire. Not to mention you being the center of this news, even we reporters can't stand the heat of being heavily bombarded by countless netizens!

As soon as he said that...

All the other reporters agreed with him.

"Okay!"

Fang Qiu thought for a moment and said, "Send out the press release if you want to."

As a matter of fact...

Fang Qiu was sure that even if they exposed the news, the netizens would not believe it. Even if these people who escaped saw their posts, they would not believe Fang Qiu had scouting skills.

After all, the scouting technique was not something ordinary people could learn. It would be more challenging to utilize it.

However...

These reporters did not care if they believed it or not. Any news about the current situation could calm those frenzied netizens down.

And so...

All the reporters called their newspapers and media agencies. They updated their superiors with the latest information, saying that they would be going after the suspects together with Fang Qiu.

Soon...

The official Weibo accounts of all the media and newspapers released the news one after another.

“Following is an explanation for the interrupted livestream. According to our reporters’ information, Fang Qiu claimed to know scouting skills. After he discovered some clues in the clinic, he was ready to take the reporters to track down the suspects on the run. Thus, they stopped the livestream to avoid alerting the suspects so as to prevent them from escaping again!”

Not just one media outlet and one newspaper...

Within minutes...

Many media and newspapers issued the same statement at the same time.

The moment these netizens saw it...

They were quite taken aback!

“What the hell?”

“Scouting skills? Pursuing suspects on the run?”

“Isn’t that the job of the police?”

“I admit that Fang Qiu is awesome in many aspects, but does he really know any scouting skills? If that’s true, he must be totally amazing.”

“He was just bragging, wasn’t he? How can it be so easy to learn scouting skills?”

“He even mentioned the scouting skills, but it sounds so unreal.”

“A lame excuse. Don’t you think so?”

“Follow the news about them, and we’ll know if it is true. I’m intensely curious to find out if Fang Qiu really knows the legendary scouting technique!”

“The beer and snacks are ready. Let’s wait for the result!”

The netizens’ comments came thick and fast.

There was no doubt.

These netizens were most curious about the final result of this matter.

The reactions on the Internet were just like what the reporters predicted.

As this statement was released, various speculations started to decrease, and many ill feelings abated too. Although some people were still trying to stir up trouble, most netizens' attention was diverted to Fang Qiu's scouting skills. As a result, the situation online didn't slide into deeper chaos!

Back here...

"Crack."

While the reporters were busy contacting their media agencies and newspapers, Fang Qiu was observing the situation outside. Then, he opened the window and carefully jumped out.

The reporters quickly caught up with Fang Qiu. While recording, they followed him closely.

After he jumped out of the window...

Fang Qiu moved forward, searching for more clues cautiously.

He walked all the way.

Soon, he passed through the cornfield outside the window, which had been harvested. When he reached the ridge surrounding the cornfield, Fang Qiu searched along it.

He kept searching along the way.

In silence, these reporters followed at a discreet distance.

After he held back for a long time...

A reporter following Fang Qiu closely couldn't help asking, "What have you seen? How do you do the investigation? How do you know the suspects went this way?"

Fang Qiu heard his question.

He turned around and pointed to a pile of green and yellow weeds before the reporter. Meanwhile, the reporter also turned his camera toward that place.

At first glance, he saw nothing special.

The reporter scrutinized the grass for a long time. Finally, he stretched out his hand and separated the weeds. Only then did he spot a partial footprint. When he took a closer look at the roots, he found some roots had been trampled and broken.

Indeed, someone had stepped on the grass!

When the trace was exposed...

All the reporters at the scene were shocked.

It had never occurred to them that Fang Qiu could find such a small clue. As Fang Qiu had said, he possessed scouting skills. Well, this would be a stunning piece of news!

The reporters felt a thrill of excitement, and none of them asked any more questions. In silence, they walked behind Fang Qiu and continued to record his investigation

Ahead of them...

Fang Qiu searched through traces like footprints, weeds that people had trodden on, and small broken branches on the mountain.

However, he found no more useful clues after searching for a long time. Seeing this, the reporters began to whisper.

“Footprints are normal for the farmland in the countryside, right?”

“I think Fang Qiu will make an awful fool of himself this time.”

“At a glance, there were footprints all over the mountain. How can Fang Qiu know which footprints belong to the suspects? We followed him all the time as he conducted his search around this area. But if it goes on like this, he won’t find anything in the end!”

“Who cares? Let’s record whatever he does. Whatever the outcome of the survey, we can obtain the latest news to release. As for whether he will become a laughingstock, it’s his business. Let’s take it as a mountain-climbing activity!”

The reporters talked in whispers. Gradually, the process wore out their patience.

Medical Master

Chapter 1304: Capturing the Suspect!

The reporters followed behind Fang Qiu and recorded the investigation process, all the while speaking in whispers.

At the very front...

Fang Qiu could hear every word they said, but he ignored them. He continued to search carefully for more clues to track down the suspect who had escaped.

However...

Most of the reporters shook their heads and sneered when they saw Fang Qiu looking carefully for traces on the ground. Suddenly, he turned his head and looked in one direction.

His abrupt movement attracted the attention of all the reporters.

Their hearts skipped in unison...

The reporters immediately looked toward the place where Fang Qiu's eyes were focused on.

However, as everyone looked over...

They were all stunned.

There was nothing but a cluster of flourishing vines that showed no signs of being trampled on.

"Patter, patter, patter..."

Instantly, Fang Qiu got up and walked over.

After a few steps, he stopped.

The reporters followed close at his heels and looked ahead.

"Isn't it obvious? There are no traces here. The weeds here are very luxuriant. Anyone who walks over will step on them. Don't make us rush around blindly, okay?"

One of the reporters pursed his lips and said impatiently. He turned his head away peevishly.

Barely had he finished speaking...

“Hey, hey...”

Another reporter next to him suddenly reached out and patted him on the shoulder.

“Why did you pat me?”

The reporter turned around discontentedly.

“Take a look.”

The man who patted him pointed to the back of the vines.

The reporter looked over.

His face changed in shock.

There...

Behind the luxuriant vines, there was surprisingly a footprint. It was clear that someone had tried to cover it up. Most importantly, there was an abandoned bag of crispy instant noodles near the footprint.

The bag looked very new as it had not even been stained with dew, dust, and mud in the woods. It must have been abandoned not long ago.

When the reporter saw this...

He was immediately dumbfounded.

His face flushed with embarrassment.

Aside...

All the other reporters were also stunned.

“No way! His discerning powers can’t be so accurate, can they?”

“Well, Fang Qiu is indeed very capable.”

Several reporters whispered among themselves and the scornful smiles on their faces disappeared entirely. Instead, their interests were suddenly aroused.

“He must have jumped over here.”

Fang Qiu stepped forward to check the footprint. Then, he walked straight to the bag that contained the crispy instant noodles, picked it up to take a look, and said, “Judging from the footprint and this package, this person should have just passed this place less than an hour ago.

As soon as he said that...

All the reporters were excited.

Everyone was in high spirits. Their fatigue caused by the fruitless tracking completely disappeared.

“Cheer up.”

The reporter at the front turned his head and said to the cameraman behind him, “Next, it will be our main highlight of this trip. You must concentrate on your recording job and not miss any part.”

“Trust me. I’ve walked all the way here. There won’t be any problem!”

The cameraman immediately made a serious promise.

Around them...

The other reporters also reminded their camera operators. If what Fang Qiu said was true, they all knew they would capture precious scenes any time!

No one wanted to miss that kind of action and they were all full of expectations.

In the forefront...

Fang Qiu didn’t have time to talk to these reporters. He carefully observed the footprint and searched around. After he confirmed the escape direction, he immediately strode forward.

With him in the lead, the reporters followed suit.

“Hush...”

The first reporter walking behind Fang Qiu turned around and gestured for everyone to keep quiet. “Keep your voices down. Don’t scare the suspect away.

The crowd immediately lowered their voices.

They moved on.

Under Fang Qiu’s lead, they crossed the deep woods and soon came to a very dense pine forest. The damp pine needles were strewn all over the ground and there were many ants and insects crawling among them.

In this environment, all the reporters and cameramen felt very depressed, as if they were there to shoot a scary ghost movie.

Fang Qiu led the others through the pine forest.

Once again, he came to a halt. He had been under stress, but now, he seemed to have relaxed somewhat.

Everyone took a look.

They also stopped.

Then, the others followed the direction of Fang Qiu's gaze.

Over there...

The ground before them was relatively flat, and there was a woody area that had less dense trees. They were amazed to see a simple thatched cottage among the trees!

Just as all of them looked up at it...

"Crack."

Suddenly, the door of the thatched cottage opened. A person came out, with two packs of instant noodles in one hand and the other carrying a black pot. It seemed that he was going to cook.

"Finally, I got you!"

Fang Qiu stood up and walked up to him.

The reporters kept up with him without hesitation.

Not far away from them...

The man had just stepped out of the thatched cottage. Before he could get his pan, he was petrified — as Fang Qiu, a large group of reporters, and the cameramen who were recording, popped up in front of him.

He had even forgotten what to do with his hands and feet.

The moment the man saw Fang Qiu and the reporters, he froze!

After he came to his senses, the man didn't even dare to think too much. His face turned ghastly pale, then he turned around and ran away!

"Don't move!"

Fang Qiu shouted angrily and quickly ran up to him.

Of course.

He moved at his normal speed.

In contrast, the suspect ran very slowly. It was obvious he was not the athletic type. Up in the mountains, he ran into countless obstacles that slowed him down considerably.

But Fang Qiu was different.

If these reporters hadn't followed him, he would have caught the man in a second. But with so many witnesses, he could only run at the fastest speed he displayed in school. After all, he had to keep his speed within ordinary people's cognitive capacity. He dashed forward and grabbed the man's collar.

This scene...

It gave the reporters a thrill. Even when the cameramen were recording, these reporters took out their phones and started taking videos of Fang Qiu from various angles.

Ahead of them...

As soon as Fang Qiu caught him, the man immediately turned around to fight against Fang Qiu as he tried to break free.

However...

No matter how hard the man struggled, he couldn't free himself from Fang Qiu's firm grip. Fang Qiu's physical strength was much stronger than he had imagined.

After the suspect struggled for a long time...

He finally stopped all resistance and surrendered to Fang Qiu.

Fang Qiu saw this.

He loosened his grip.

At this time, Fang Qiu began to scrutinize the man.

He was in casual clothes, seemingly in his thirties.

“Clatter.”

When Fang Qiu took a look at him, this middle-aged man suddenly turned around and dashed into the distance.

But at this time...

The reporters had already arrived.

When they saw him trying to escape, these reporters fanned out and surrounded him.

With the suspect in their encirclement...

All the reporters glowed with excitement.

To them...

This cat-and-mouse game was rare. After they had been on a chase for so long, they finally caught a big fish!

Over at the side...

Fang Qiu came over, stood beside the man, and said to all the reporters, “Okay, let’s start the livestream!”

The reporters were all startled when they heard that.

“Fang Qiu.”

A reporter asked with a puzzled look, "The livestream might have a bad impact on you. Aren't you afraid of that?"

"I have a clear conscience!"

Fang Qiu answered calmly.

"Incredible!"

The first reporter immediately gave a thumbs-up to Fang Qiu.

"I admire you."

Another reporter also nodded in agreement.

As they talked...

These reporters all nodded, opened their devices, and started livestreaming.

"The Happy Ending: the Suspect Has Been Caught!"

"Fang Qiu's Scouting Skills Are Truly Awesome: He found the Suspect."

They were livestreaming online. When reporters started the livestream, they used various titles to inform all the viewers that they, together with Fang Qiu, had found the doctor who escaped!

These netizens had a free subscription for the livestream and they would receive a reminder before the livestream began.

Therefore...

As soon as the reporters started the livestream, all those who followed and subscribed to their accounts immediately received the livestream notification.

In no time...

The netizens logged into their accounts one after another.

“Fuck, he made it?”

“Does Fang Qiu really know scouting skills?”

“Are they going to livestream when the suspect confesses his guilt and accepts the punishment?”

These livestream rooms released all kinds of titles and introductions. Instantly, these netizens felt a quiver of excitement run through them.

Of course.

While they were watching the livestream, the netizens reposted the news and the link for the livestream, which attracted all the people who followed the news.

In just three minutes...

Countless people flooded into the livestream rooms.

At the scene...

When they saw the gradually increasing number of viewers watching their livestream, these reporters were wild with joy.

Popularity was a testimony to their abilities!

The media outlets and newspapers they worked for would see a sharp rise in their popularity. Then, these reporters believed they would receive a rich reward and even a wage raise!

However...

When they were basking in the joy of the increased number of views, more and more people rushed into their livestream rooms. The number of viewers soared, which terrified these reporters beaming with delight!

It was quite scary.

How could Fang Qiu have such an enormous influence over so many people?

All the reporters were scared out of their wits. They peeped at Fang Qiu and checked the situation in the livestream rooms of the reporters around them.

It turned out that...

There were a total of ten million viewers in all their livestream rooms!

Notably...

The domestic media had set strict requirements and regulations for the livestream data. Therefore, the data would reflect the number of viewers fully and truly without any deviation.

This time, the popularity of their livestream rooms was far greater than during ordinary times.

Ten million viewers! Ten million, for real!

The reporters went mad. In the past, it would be awesome if more than one hundred thousand viewers watched their livestream.

But now, ten million people?

They were shocked and greatly surprised.

All the reporters turned their cameras to Fang Qiu and the doctor who had tried to flee!

As soon as these netizens watching the livestream saw them...

Their remarks flooded the livestream rooms.

“He caught him!”

“How did he do that? How could Fang Qiu be so amazing!”

“The suspect was caught? But it had only been a short time!”

“That’s great. We can find out the truth when the suspect is here!”

“I want the truth!!!”

When one reporter saw these netizens frantically commenting in the livestream room...

He immediately faced the camera and reported.

“After the livestream, there will be an article that will feature the whole matter. It will show you the legendary scouting technique. As for the video we recorded, we will let Fang Qiu decide if we can publicize it.

“Now, let’s uncover the truth!”

Medical Master

Chapter 1305: I Want the Truth!

“The truth! The truth! The truth!”

In the livestream rooms, the netizens commented even more feverishly, with two same words: the truth. The bullet comments flew across, covering the livestream room of each reporter.

These viewers brimmed with enthusiasm.

When they saw that, these reporters were also bursting with impatience to find out the truth.

Indeed.

Like the netizens, they were also eager to get to the bottom of the truth. After all, this matter became a topic of universal concern. If the truth were spread widely by them, it would be a glory for them and their news outlets!

Surrounded by reporters, Fang Qiu grimly eyed the doctor who had tried to escape, his heart full of anger and apathy.

“We’re ready.”

After all the preparations were complete, these reporters nodded to Fang Qiu, indicating they could start at any time.

“Okay.”

Fang Qiu went straight to the point. Looking steadily at the doctor who had run away, he asked a crucial question, “You gave your patients fake and inferior medicinal herbs. Where did you get them?”

As soon as he said that...

The reporters strained their ears to catch the answer from the doctor who had fled. Meanwhile, all the netizens watching the livestream were also very concerned about the answer to this question.

As they all knew, the answer would be closely related to the truth of the entire incident and therefore was most crucial.

Before Fang Qiu...

The doctor who escaped did not reply; he lowered his head like a student who had made a mistake and was scolded by his teacher.

At the same time, all the reporters and livestream cameras were focused on his face.

Countless people were waiting for his answer.

“I know how you feel.”

Fang Qiu’s eyes grew colder as he said, “Whatever you have experienced, I hope you can tell us the truth. Here, you can say everything you want to say. No one will stop you. As you can see, so many reporters are livestreaming. So, no one can do anything to you.”

The doctor heard his words.

He bit his lips but still didn't raise his head.

After he hesitated for a while, he spoke, "I didn't do anything wrong. I did not prescribe the medicines on purpose. It was the Foundation that distributed these inferior herbs to us. I didn't want to sell fake medicines either!"

After that...

All the reporters were bug-eyed in wonderment.

The next second, the livestream cameras turned to Fang Qiu.

With all eyes on the livestream...

All the netizens were slightly taken aback. Then, they collectively held their breath as they waited for Fang Qiu's answer.

"The company gave out the medicine?"

"Oh, he is bold enough to say that."

Fang Qiu didn't seem surprised at all, but his eyes became colder as he asked, "I'll ask you again. Please answer me honestly. Where did you get the fake medicine?"

He asked it the second time.

Again, the reporters turned their eyes and the livestream cameras to the doctor who tried to escape.

"I've already said it."

The doctor nearly lost control of his emotions and repeated heatedly, "It's the fund company. I received these medicinal herbs from my company!"

After he finished speaking...

These reporters frowned.

They had seen Fang Qiu saving patients in the hospital, coming out to investigate and track down the doctor who tried to escape. They observed Fang Qiu closely along the way and witnessed the whole process until he caught this suspect. In their hearts, they became partial to Fang Qiu and felt he had nothing to do with this matter.

But the suspect said otherwise...

According to the doctor's answer, the truth of this matter still lay in the fund company!

Even if Fang Qiu was innocent, his company must have been involved in the case!

In the livestream rooms...

"Of course, it was done by the fund company!"

"Poor Fang Qiu. The whole thing may have nothing to do with him, but he owns and manages the company. So, I guess he will have to take the blame eventually."

"See? It's Fang Qiu's problem. He might not know about it, but the scandal happened because he didn't manage the Foundation well!"

Obviously...

The netizens were filled with righteous rage.

They believed it must be the Foundation's problem, and this was the truth!

After the doctor came up with the same answer...

Again, everyone turned their eyes onto Fang Qiu's face, and so did all the cameras. Everyone waited for Fang Qiu's response with rapt attention.

"I'll ask you one last time."

Fang Qiu then said solemnly, "Please give me the answer in your capacity as a Chinese Medicine practitioner!"

He did not believe the Foundation was connected with any fake traditional Chinese medicine.

Therefore, he had to learn about the truth.

Even if it were real, he still wanted to ascertain the facts. Everyone needed to know what had happened.

The doctor heard every word Fang Qiu said.

All of a sudden, he opened his mouth and was about to repeat the previous answer, but when the words sprang to his lips, he closed his mouth and looked helpless as if he were caught in a dilemma.

"In your capacity as a Chinese Medicine practitioner..."

A trace of bitterness appeared on his face. After a few moments' consideration, he lowered his head and fell silent again.

Everyone saw this.

Although they couldn't see his whole face, they found something unusual, some different emotions that flitted across the side of his face.

Instantly...

The reporters turned to look at each other and noticed the same speculation in other people's eyes.

"There must be something fishy!"

"Did the man say the answer intentionally?"

"If he is willing to speak the truth, he still has a conscience!"

"There seems to be something hidden behind all this."

Netizens flooded the screen.

At this time...

When he saw how the doctor kept quiet, Fang Qiu took a deep breath and said, "As you said, the company delivered the medicine to you. Then, please tell me: who in the company cooperated with you? Who handed over the medicine to you? Which day was it, and which specific batch of herbs did you receive? How much stock did you get?"

The doctor's head was still lowered and he remained silent.

"You are a doctor! A Chinese Medicine doctor!"

Suddenly, Fang Qiu lost his temper and wanted to slap him, but he didn't do that. Instead, he glared at him and said furiously, "It's impossible that you are unaware if the quality of the traditional Chinese medicine is shoddy. I believe in your medical skills because you passed all the tests and became a doctor who worked in the countryside."

"Of course, if you cannot tell whether the medicine is genuine or fake, I will go to your school in person and find your teachers and the president. I'll ask them how they have educated you."

"If you know the difference, why didn't you report the illegal activity when you received the fake medicine? And why would you prescribe those poor-quality medicines to your patients?"

"Tell me, why would you do that? Your patients are villagers who trust you and expect you to save their lives with the medicine. Have you ever thought about them?"

"Did a dog eat up your conscience?"

The more Fang Qiu spoke, the more agitated and furious he became!

He could not understand why the man would do this.

How could a doctor, a Chinese Medicine practitioner, do such a thing?

In this era, Chinese Medicine was on the decline. Only those hot-blooded people would choose to study Chinese Medicine. They were willing to dedicate their lives to relieving people of their diseases.

Then, why?

This man, driven by his original good intention, successfully become a Chinese Medicine doctor. But why would he go against his original aspiration and hurt his patients?

Fang Qiu was so angry that his eyes became bloodshot.

He had to restrain himself from beating the doctor up.

When the reporters saw Fang Qiu reproaching the doctor and in such a towering rage...

All their faces darkened, and the atmosphere suddenly became a little solemn.

Everyone could tell that Fang Qiu was angry.

And so did these netizens.

The fierce look on Fang Qiu's face aroused some complex and subtle feelings in their hearts.

Before the cameras...

Fang Qiu said again.

"Tell me why!"

Fang Qiu didn't calm down at all. Instead, he questioned the doctor more agitatedly, "Four patients were on the verge of death because of the fake traditional Chinese medicine you prescribed! Were you even aware of that?"

"Do you have a grudge against them?"

"Think about it carefully. What was your belief when you studied medicine?"

"Then, think about their family, your parents, and your Alma Mater that has cultivated you into such a talent!"

At this point...

Fang Qiu took a deep blow and continued, "The truth, I need the truth. And everyone who is paying attention to this matter, including your relatives and friends, also needs the truth!"

"It's a crime for you to prescribe fake drugs. You made the four patients dangerously ill. It was an intentional murder. Do you know that?"

"Let me remind you: your answer is going out live."

"If you tell the truth in front of everyone, it will be a confession of your sin. But even if you refuse to do that, the truth will be found soon with the current high-tech investigation methods. Compared to the consequences you have to accept now, the punishment you will face at that time will be completely different!"

After Fang Qiu finished speaking...

He stopped and waited for the man's answer.

Everyone turned to look at the doctor.

At this moment...

Eventually, the doctor looked up. His face was contorted. He appeared very agitated and was trying hard to suppress his intense emotions. He seemed pretty perplexed when faced with the difficult dilemma!

After a while...

The conflicted expression on his face gradually faded away.

"I won't tell you. Don't force me to do that!"

The doctor who had tried to escape shook his head.

As soon as he said that...

Everyone immediately understood what was going on.

There was indeed something going on behind this matter!

Fang Qiu did the right thing by questioning him closely.

But across from him...

His words added fuel to Fang Qiu's flames of anger.

"Listen carefully!"

Fang Qiu fumed and said, "In ancient times, Chinese Medicine doctors would risk their lives to collect herbs and test them in person. This was because they wanted to save the world and the people. You and I are both their juniors. They sacrificed themselves to save people, while you harm your patients when you prescribed fake Chinese Medicine. Are you not ashamed when you think of them?"

"As a Chinese Medicine doctor, you are not focused on saving patients. On the contrary, you use your medical skills to cheat and hurt people. Do you know how many people your illegal actions have affected?"

Fang Qiu growled, "The Foundation may have to stop their work because of what you have done!"

Upon hearing that...

All the people were taken aback.

No one had expected Fang Qiu to get this idea.

Would the Foundation close down?

Well...

It seemed to be a reasonable decision.

But was it genuinely sensible?

After this incident, everyone had their eyes on the Foundation. However, they could only see nothing but its wrongdoings. Who would pay attention to the benefits provided by the Foundation?

The netizens could not enjoy the benefits.

But...

Tens of thousands of people in the countryside badly needed these benefits!

Once the Foundation shut down...

Those who lived in the countryside would lose the best treatment within their reach, and people might die because of it!

Besides these netizens...

The doctor, who had just calmed down, once again looked pained when he thought of this plight. This time, he appeared more confused and uncomfortable!

“If you have any conscience, just tell us the truth!”

Fang Qiu bawled at him.

At the same time, all the reporters turned their cameras to the doctor.

In the livestream rooms...

Netizens were busy flooding the screen.

“Go ahead!”

“Hurry up and say it!”

“Tell us the truth of the matter!”

After a long silence...

The doctor held his head up again. With his eyes closed, he let out a long sigh and finally said, “I’ll tell you.”

Medical Master

Chapter 1306: Unrelated to Fang Qiu!

“I’ll tell you.”

As he said the three words, he instantly attracted everyone’s attention, those online and at the site!

Was this man about to reveal the truth in the end?

The truth!

A moment later...

Everyone's eyes were focused on the doctor who stood before Fang Qiu. At last, Fang Qiu managed to touch his conscience a little.

"I'm sorry."

Fang Qiu's criticisms helped to sober him. The doctor raised his head, gritted his teeth in determination, and apologized to Fang Qiu. But then his face was suddenly distorted with hesitation and pain.

"I can only say... all of this... has nothing to do with the Foundation."

The doctor said.

"Who was involved then?"

Fang Qiu made a detailed inquiry. "Where did you get those fake drugs?"

"Don't... Don't ask me."

The doctor's eyes went glassy. He put his head in his hands and it was obvious he was in a painful dilemma. Gloomily, he whimpered, "I don't deserve to be a Chinese Medicine practitioner. I harmed the Foundation and the patients. I didn't expect this matter to become so severe!"

"Do you want to make more mistakes?"

Fang Qiu said sternly, "If you refuse to answer, you're covering up for those who are selling these fake medicine. Your deeds will make more patients suffer and even kill them!"

"I hope you can tell us where those fake medicines came from."

"Patients in a few neighboring places took the inferior medicine and became seriously ill. In particular, all the doctors who prescribed these shoddy herbs to the patients chose to flee. Even if you may not have any contact with each other, you must have been in touch with your supervisors. Now, if you take the initiative to confess now, you will reduce the possible number of victims in the future and receive a lighter sentence!"

The doctor buried his head in his hands.

The doctor didn't seem to have heard Fang Qiu's words, or he was not paying any attention to him at all. He just shook his head again after Fang Qiu finished speaking.

At the sight of this...

Fang Qiu shook his head with resignation.

If he was alone with this man, Fang Qiu had innumerable ways to make him tell the truth honestly. Unfortunately, they were surrounded by lots of people, and many were livestreaming.

Hence, he could not use any other means.

Desperately...

Fang Qiu could only take out his mobile phone and call the police.

He would leave this matter to the police.

The others heard Fang Qiu call the police.

They all knew they couldn't continue shooting and livestreaming. After the police took him away, they couldn't go and livestream in the police station, could they?

When they thought of this...

All the reporters rushed forward, vying crazily to interview the doctor who had tried to escape.

Once the police arrived, they would have no chance to interview him.

Of course.

Fang Qiu did not stop them.

He knew that he would not be able to stop them. Moreover, due to the nature of their work, these reporters would come up with very tricky questions. Perhaps, when these reporters examined him minutely, the doctor would be stung by his conscience and then tell them everything.

As these reporters briefly expressed their gratitude to Fang Qiu, he walked aside and called He Xue.

"Hello?"

He Xue answered the phone in no time.

"What's the situation on your side?"

Fang Qiu asked.

“The police are dealing with it. No one was there, and the place was emptied. I’m afraid it won’t be so easy to catch them.”

He Xue reported.

She was too occupied to pay attention to the news about Fang Qiu. As a result, she didn’t know Fang Qiu had caught the suspect.

“The suspect here has been arrested.”

Fang Qiu said, “According to the situation on my end, these people should not have gone far. You can ask the police to use police dogs. They could be of great help!”

“Okay.”

He Xue immediately nodded and replied, “I’ll contact the local police station right away.”

After that, she hung up the phone.

After a while...

Two police cars arrived.

All the reporters quickly turned off the livestream in unison.

Several police officers got out of the car. After confirming the suspect’s identity, they took him away.

Right after the police cars left...

The reporters who had lost their interview targets surrounded Fang Qiu.

The livestream was over.

At present, the most important thing would be the interview after the event!

“Fang Qiu.”

A reporter asked, “The police have arrested the suspect. How do you feel about it?”

“Now? It makes my heart ache.”

Fang Qiu shook his head and said gravely, “We are very close to the truth. But whatever the truth is, my heart aches for those patients. It is because I am a doctor whose mission in life is to cure all sicknesses and save the patient. As a Chinese Medicine practitioner, I really feel guilty about this incident.”

“I hope this matter won’t affect other Chinese Medicine practitioners. Also, I sincerely hope there will be lesser patients and no shoddy medicines or fake drugs in the market!”

His short speech ended.

The reporters took notes in unison.

The camera people standing behind them gave Fang Qiu a big round of applause.

Fang Qiu’s words touched them. From his tone, they could sense his sincere attitude.

After the interview...

They went down the mountain together.

The reporters went back to write their articles, while Fang Qiu intended to go to the police station. He wanted to interrogate the doctor again and get to the bottom of this matter!

Before long...

The major media and newspapers published different news reports online.

“The Chinese Medicine Practitioner Selling Fake Herbs: Fang Qiu and His Foundation is not involved in this matter of providing Inferior Traditional Chinese medicine.

“Fang Qiu Hunted Down the Suspect, Magical Scouting Skills.”

“A Hide-and-seek Game with the Doctor on the Run, Fang Qiu’s Self-defense and Wisdom!”

The press releases were quickly published one after another.

The netizens would view almost all the news articles posted on the Internet.

Because...

They were intensely curious about one period during this whole incident.

The livestream had been abruptly cut off. Then, before the livestream reopened, there was a gap that these netizens knew nothing about at all because their screens went dark. In their eyes, this period was as irresistibly enticing as Pandora’s box, and they longed to know what was inside.

Everyone was eager to know if Fang Qiu could skillfully apply his scouting skills. Also, they were intrigued to know how Fang Qiu found the suspect with the reporters!

And among the numerous news reports...

The post “Hiding and Pursing, Fang Qiu’s Determination!” attracted the most attention, and netizens reposted it the most times.

The post fully described all the details that Fang Qiu had shown on the way. Trivial information was included, like every time Fang Qiu paused and every tiny point he noticed!

It was like a novel to everyone.

Notably...

The reporter was good at writing.

He portrayed those scenes so vividly that those curious netizens felt as if they were there too and involved in the action.

After the reporter finished reproducing the entire process...

At the end of the article, the author included his sincere feelings about this matter.

“The above is about the whole process of Fang Qiu taking us to track down the suspect.”

“The entire time, I was right behind Fang Qiu and always the one who followed at his heels. Do you know what surprised me the most during the tracing process? It was not Fang Qiu’s amazing scouting technique, but his dedication.”

“I know well his scouting ability is the main focus of attention. After all, ordinary people rarely have a chance to come into contact with this field.”

“We gasped with admiration at his superb scouting skills. But what was more admirable to me is his sincerity. Fully convinced by his open and honest attitude, I know I can trust him 100%!”

“From the beginning to the end, Fang Qiu has never shirked his responsibilities, and all fellow netizens who have watched the livestream are aware of this. He took the initiative to undertake all the consequences. Even if it was not his problem, he undertook the heavy task upon himself.”

“Perhaps, it is merely because he is a Chinese Medicine doctor!”

“He had said it was his duty to heal the wounded and rescue the dying, and he truly lives up to his words.”

“As an onlooker, I can confidently tell everyone that Fang Qiu almost never thought about himself throughout the process. Fang Qiu became furious in the face of the suspect, only because he was depressed by the fact that the suspect used shoddy traditional Chinese medicine, not because the suspect had nearly ruined his reputation.”

“I don’t know how other people feel.”

“At this moment, I want to thank Fang Qiu: he showed me what a devoted Chinese Medicine practitioner should be like!”

“All of you must have forgotten something.”

“Fang Qiu is only 20 years old this year. After I tagged along with him for less than half a day, I’m looking forward to his performance in the future. How many surprises and shocks can this sincere Chinese Medicine practitioner bring us?”

Once this article was released online...

It struck a responsive chord in the hearts of many netizens.

This article became the most frequently reposted among all the reports of the same kind. It went viral on Weibo.

Netizens were likely to follow the trend and believe the one-sided story. As a result, they would vigorously slander Fang Qiu and his Foundation when the incident happened.

But now...

They learned about the facts through the livestream. With their own eyes, they saw Fang Qiu's angry look when he questioned the suspect. With their ears, they heard the suspect say that the whole thing had nothing to do with Fang Qiu and the Foundation. Finally, these netizens realized that they had misunderstood Fang Qiu!

They had blamed Fang Qiu unjustly. After viewing this report, these netizens were inclined to trust him.

After all this, they felt guilty that they had misunderstood him.

Many people familiar with Fang Qiu felt relieved after they read these reports.

Especially Fang Qiu's parents, relatives, friends, teachers, and the like...

They had not dared to disturb Fang Qiu.

They feared they might distract Fang Qiu and make him even more uncomfortable.

...

In the capital...

"Whew..."

In the villa, Yang Ningyuan and Li Qihua also saw the news. Together, they breathed a sigh of relief.

“At this point, the matter is almost settled.”

Yang Ningyuan said.

“Mmm.”

Li Qihua nodded and said, “The crisis is only half over. After all, the truth has not yet been revealed to the public. I hope there will be no reversal.”

In the cultivation base...

Zhao Shanlin and Zhu Benzhen also showed rare smiles after they read the report. They had been frowning since the incident and had no appetite for food. Eventually, this crisis was about to end.

At the same time...

Fang Qiu’s friends in the entertainment circle, like Director Li Huawen, Director Chen Xiaogang, and other stars, also sent WeChat messages to comfort and congratulate him.

After he received their messages, Fang Qiu replied to each of them and expressed his thanks.

“Beep, beep, beep...”

Fang Qiu replied to everyone’s WeChat messages. When he was about to put his phone away, it suddenly rang.

After a glance at the phone screen, he answered the phone without hesitation!

Medical Master

Chapter 1307: Interrogating the Suspect Face to Face Again!

"Hello?"

Fang Qiu answered the call.

"How are you?"

Jiang Miaoyu's voice came from the phone. "I just saw the news. I didn't expect such a big event to happen to your Foundation."

"I'm fine."

Fang Qiu answered with a smile.

"It's such a sensational event. How could you be okay?"

Jiang Miaoyu said with concern, "I believe in you. You are definitely not that kind of immoral person. I can empathize with your grievances. But no matter what, we are all Chinese Medicine practitioners. We have to bear it when we are misunderstood. The slander against you is just an upgraded version of misunderstanding. Even if the whole world doubts you, I will stand firmly on your side forever."

"Mm."

Fang Qiu nodded and asked with a smile, "Wow, that's quite a long speech from you."

"Sure thing."

Jiang Miaoyu smiled meaningfully and said, "Hold on for a little longer. I'll be back in a month. At that time, I'll work in the Foundation and help solve any problems!"

She seemed to have arranged it all.

Fang Qiu could not help smiling wryly.

One month!

The day of her return was already on the agenda?

After the final of the second season of the Young Chinese Medicine Doctor, he had a midnight snack with Jiang Mengjie and her. In one month's time, the two ladies were going to work together. When Fang Qiu recalled the past and thought about the future, his heart leaped involuntarily.

"Okay."

He felt a bit overwhelmed. But since Jiang Miaoyu had taken the initiative to make this arrangement, Fang Qiu could only go along with the arrangement. Otherwise, he would be in big trouble.

On the Internet...

All kinds of reports appeared, and the news of the suspect being caught was widely spread. Only then did Fang Qiu's fans feel relieved.

It was hard to believe many of them were nearly convinced that Fang Qiu was related to the scandal.

And now...

Although the truth had not been revealed yet, they all knew that this matter had nothing to do with Fang Qiu and the Foundation.

Therefore, Fang Qiu could finally be exonerated of the blame.

“I’ve always believed that legendary Fang Qiu would never let us down.”

“Now, we can be sure that this matter has nothing to do with Fang Qiu and his Foundation. Our legendary Fang Qiu is innocent.”

“Finally, he cleared his name. Those who have been slandering our legendary Fang Qiu, where are you? Let’s see what else you can say now!”

Fang Qiu’s fans had not dared to speak for him since the start of the incident. At this time, they showed up and defended Fang Qiu against the charges of injustice, one after another!

However...

Some conspiracy theorists were still hurling criticisms at Fang Qiu.

“What makes you think he has nothing to do with it?”

“These stupid fans are overly thoughtless. The police haven’t yet announced the investigation result. What makes you think Fang Qiu is innocent? He could have put on an act before the cameras, and you foolishly believed it?”

“That’s right. I think the suspect must have said that under great pressure.”

“Before the truth is revealed, Fang Qiu is still a suspect. We demand the truth!”

“That’s right! We want the truth!”

As soon as these conspiracists appeared, they irritated Fang Qiu’s fans.

They had endured the grievous injustice for so long. The suspect had admitted that the counterfeit traditional Chinese medicine was not from Fang Qiu and the Foundation, but these people were still attacking him.

This unfair accusation provoked Fang Qiu's fans to anger. They felt depressed and furious.

"Then, just wait."

"We are more anxious to see the truth than you are. We're expecting legendary Fang Qiu to give you a slap in the face with the truth like before!"

"We absolutely believe in Fang Qiu. You guys don't understand him at all. Legendary Fang Qiu is a complete doctor of traditional Chinese medicine!"

There were no insults.

However, the two sides were still at loggerheads.

These conspiracy theorists and anti-fans launched an all-out effort to slander Fang Qiu from all aspects as they tried all means to link Fang Qiu with the shoddy traditional Chinese medicine.

Fang Qiu's fans didn't feel like arguing. In unison, they said they were looking forward to the truth.

They firmly believed that as long as the truth was made public, Fang Qiu would be proven to be innocent!

Well...

While everyone was waiting for the truth...

The official Weibo account of the Three Billion Foundation issued a Weibo post.

“As Mr. Fang Qiu said, whether or not this matter is related to the Foundation, we have no excuse to avoid our duties. Four patients became seriously ill after taking the shoddy herbs. We will pay each of them one million Huaxia coins in compensation and cover all their medical expenses. In addition, we will give ten thousand Huaxia coins to the patients who received inferior traditional Chinese medicine. We will pay for their treatment!”

After this post came out...

In just thirty minutes, countless people gave it a thumbs-up.

Not to mention other things...

They should be applauded merely for their courage to bear the consequences!

No ordinary people had such a strong sense of responsibility and courage to do that.

“Well done!”

“Their means of dealing with this public relations crisis is superb!”

“This is the simplest and most direct way of dealing with a public relations crisis that I have ever seen. They did not shirk their duty and are willing to bear all the consequences. We should smash the like button for them!”

What an impressive response to the crisis! When this incident happened, they took all the responsibility first. As for the other matters, they will handle them after finding out the truth. Only Fang Qiu can be courageous enough to lead this, right?”

“See? All the other enterprises should learn from it and admit their mistakes in time. Don’t focus only on shifting the blame with your public relations gimmicks when anything goes wrong. The best way for any public relations is to shoulder the responsibility!”

In the Blackhill Gate Village...

After the call with Jiang Miaoyu, Fang Qiu soon received the news: the other four escaped doctors had been successfully caught.

At this time, Fang Qiu stepped into the police station.

“Hello.”

As soon as Fang Qiu entered the police station, he entered the guard room, found a policeman on duty, and asked, “Excuse me, where is your chief?”

“Fang Qiu?”

The policeman was shocked to see Fang Qiu.

“Yes.”

Fang Qiu nodded.

“Oh...”

The policeman nodded knowingly as if he knew why Fang Qiu came. He pointed to a room on the second floor of the police station and said, “That’s his office. He is inside.”

“Thank you.”

Fang Qiu thanked him and walked toward the office building of the police station.

Soon...

He came to the door of the chief's office on the second floor.

"Knock, knock, knock..."

Fang Qiu gently knocked on the door.

"Come in."

From the office, a voice came.

Fang Qiu pushed the door open and went in.

There...

A middle-aged man of medium size stood up. He carried an enamel jar and was about to pour some water into the kettle in the corner.

"You must be the chief, right?"

Fang Qiu walked inside and asked.

"That's right,"

"I'm the chief, Chief Pan."

Chief Pan took a look at Fang Qiu. His expression changed slightly but immediately returned to normal.

“Nice to meet you, Chief Pan.”

Fang Qiu nodded and asked, “I want to know the result of your interrogation. Have you found the truth of the matter?”

“No.”

Chief Pan shook his head returned to his desk and sat down. Then, he said to Fang Qiu, “I can understand it. As the concerned party, you must be very anxious to learn about the result. But the interrogation is not something that can be completed in a short time. Moreover, this suspect is tight-lipped and this made it more difficult for us to investigate. He was just brought to our station. The results of the interrogation would not be that fast.”

“That is to say, the first round of interrogation is over?”

Fang Qiu asked with a frown.

“Yes.”

Chief Pan nodded and said, “For the time being, we don’t have any results as the suspect is keeping mum.”

“Can I give it a try?”

Fang Qiu asked.

“No.”

Chief Pan immediately shook his head and refused his request. "It's against the rules. I've told you so much because your Foundation has given a lot of benefits to the neighbors. Otherwise, I wouldn't have discussed this case with you at all. After all, no matter how famous and capable you are, you're just an ordinary person, but I'm a law executor."

"I understand."

Fang Qiu nodded.

He knew that he didn't have special privileges. Neither did he want to ask for any special privileges on this matter, so he had gone directly to the chief.

"I know very well how tight-lipped the suspect is. I believe you also want to find out the truth and solve the case as soon as possible."

"From the current situation, trying to get anything out of the suspect seems a little challenging. As the person involved and a Chinese Medicine practitioner, I may learn something from him, so I hope you can give me a chance."

Fang Qiu made a request.

"No way!"

Chief Pan shook his head again with a determined expression.

"You can record the whole process."

Fang Qiu added immediately.

He knew why Chief Pan refused him.

Chief Pan was worried that they might act in collusion and make a false confession. Since this police station was located in the countryside, its facilities were inadequate. There was no surveillance camera in the interrogation room. In this case, they could only do a manual recording.

“You must need to do this?”

Chief Pan hesitated.

“Sure”

Fang Qiu nodded and explained, “It’s about my innocence and the survival of the entire Foundation, so I have to find out the truth as quickly as possible.”

“Well...”

Chief Pan started to waver.

This matter had caused such a stir that almost everyone in the country paid attention to it. Moreover, the higher-ups had also instructed that they must break the case and uncover the truth as early as possible.

Under such circumstances...

The suspect’s silence was the biggest obstacle to the interrogation!

Moreover...

What Chief Pan feared the most was...

The suspect didn’t say anything and remained silent. His face often showed a conflicted and pained look. After being in this state for a long time, prisoners might go crazy or even commit suicide!

Chief Pan thought about it for a long time.

“Then, alright.”

Eventually, Chief Pan nodded and said, “I can only give you one chance to try, and I will send a police officer to record the interrogation.”

“Good!”

Fang Qiu immediately nodded.

Just a while later...

According to Chief Pan’s arrangement, Fang Qiu entered the interrogation room. A policeman carried a digital video camera and followed him. Once they entered the interrogation room, he found the best angle and began to record the interrogation conducted by Fang Qiu.

In addition to the police officer responsible for recording the video...

There was only a single table in the interrogation room.

The doctor sat there in handcuffs. Fang Qiu walked over and sat down opposite him.

A one-to-one and face-to-face interrogation...

Fang Qiu put both hands on the table.

“Do you know about the status quo of basic medical conditions in the countryside?”

Right after he sat down, Fang Qiu asked the suspect.

As soon as he asked this question...

The suspect, who had remained motionless when he was being questioned by the police, suddenly raised his head and glanced at Fang Qiu. Then, he lowered his head deeply.

“The basic medical situation in the countryside is that most people have low incomes and don’t have money to see a doctor. You had run the clinic for a few months, so you should have met some patients who do not have money to see a doctor, right?”

Medical Master

Chapter 1308: Got the Critical Account Number!

The suspect heard what Fang Qiu said.

His countenance changed, and he turned his head. No one knew what he was thinking.

“After working there for a few months, you must have known how many patients came to you every day. Every single day, you could see the pure and honest smiles on their faces and feel their deep gratitude to you. They gave you the most sincere and innocent smiles. In return, you sold them fake drugs. Don’t you feel your conduct is utterly disappointing?”

Fang Qiu asked.

His question filled the suspect with the hot agony of shame.

He had experienced everything that Fang Qi said.

More than that, these unsophisticated villagers often invited him to their houses and asked him to dinner. They generously sent him all kinds of local specialties, organic vegetables planted in their fields, and good-quality meat like chicken, ducks, and fish.

At this moment, those touching scenes flashed before his eyes.

“Do you know why I established the Three Billion Foundation?”

The suspect was touched, and Fang Qiu continued, “It was because I had been to the countryside and witnessed the medical conditions there. Whenever I saw these patients from the countryside suffer, I felt miserable. I started the Three Billion Foundation because I wanted to help them to end their pain and suffering. When they fell ill, they could see a doctor without having to worry about the fees and the medicine. In this way, I hoped they could live a better life.”

“Tell me, did I accomplish my goal?”

The suspect heard the question.

He bit his lip and nodded and did not dare to look at Fang Qiu.

“I did it!”

Fang Qiu said with a wry smile, “I thought I had achieved my goal, but it turns out I didn’t.”

“Because of the fake and inferior drugs.”

“Because of this incident, the Foundation is on the brink of collapse!”

“If it were to shut down, do you have any idea how much harm it would cause to Chinese Medicine and these honest and sincere villagers?”

“They might be overcome by their illnesses and die because they could no longer afford the medical treatment. Can you bear to see these tragic consequences?”

Fang Qiu's eyes hardened as he said in an even sterner tone, "You're holding back the truth, so I guess the people behind you must have asked you to keep their secrets. But if we do not catch them this time, they would commit the same crime many more times. One day, when the Foundation collapses, all the honest folks in the countryside will suffer!"

"And you are just a chess piece in their hands. With your help, they will destroy Chinese Medicine, your favorite field."

"Tell me, is that what you want?"

The more Fang Qiu talked...

The lower the suspect's head sank...

Fang Qiu could even imagine how much he was struggling!

"You are also from the countryside."

Fang Qiu gazed at him and said, "Your parents are from the countryside. You got into the county-level high school with the best grades in the town. How did your parents earn your tuition fees? They endured all the hardships and spent all the money they earned on you. When they were sick, they didn't even dare to see a doctor. It was because you needed the money to attend school and buy all the study materials and learning tools."

"Later, you were admitted to a first-class, prestigious university, but you didn't go there because your parents were sick. In the end, you chose the University of Chinese Medicine to treat your parents and let them live happily and peacefully for the rest of their lives."

"Am I right so far?"

Fang Qiu asked and added, "But what are you doing now? You're hurting people like your parents. If your parents received shoddy traditional Chinese medicine, what would happen to them? Do you dare to think of the unfortunate consequences?"

At this point...

The suspect finally couldn't help but burst into tears.

"Stop it. Please stop."

The suspect buried his head, repeatedly waved his hand, and pleaded.

Near them...

The policeman who stood in the corner doing the recording remained still.

The scene was transmitted to the monitoring room through the digital video camera in his hands. Chief Pan had been sitting before the monitor screen. When he saw the suspect's response, he couldn't help clenching his fists tightly.

He secretly cheered Fang Qiu on in his heart.

As the chief of a police station, he could easily see that the suspect's psychological defense line was on the verge of collapse.

Next, as long as Fang Qiu made an extra effort, the suspect would likely be completely crushed. At that time, he would tell the whole story.

"Hold your head up."

Hearing the man's cries, Fang Qiu suddenly bellowed, "Look into my eyes!"

Somehow...

The suspect, seemingly shocked by Fang Qiu's roar, raised his head.

Fang Qiu saw his face.

His eyes were bloodshot and puffy from crying, and tears streamed uncontrollably down his face.

"I don't know why you chose to keep the secrets, but apart from personal interests, there is justice and fairness in this world!"

Gazing into his eyes, Fang Qiu said, "You were once a student of medicine, so you should know the truth: Doctors with top medical skills could manage state affairs by treating diseases, and those secondary-leveled ones may help the patients to recuperate, yet the elementary doctors might probably be able to treat common diseases. These evil-doers harmed our fellow citizens and wrecked the peaceful atmosphere of our motherland and society. Do you still want to aid these heartless people?"

After that...

The suspect immediately hung his head in shame.

While sobbing, he said, "I'll tell you everything."

In the monitoring room...

"Slap!"

When he heard what the suspect heard, Chief Pan excitedly smacked his hand down onto the table and jumped up despite himself. His spirits soared.

In the interrogation room...

“Say it!”

Fang Qiu said bluntly, “Tell me everything you know!”

“They gave me a lot of money.”

The suspect continued, “They promised I could get a high percentage for each package of medicine I sold. Beyond that, they even offered me a bonus. I was in urgent need of a sum of money. My mother had just been diagnosed with terminal cancer, so... I had to do this.”

As he spoke...

The suspect began to shed tears again.

“Don’t you have any sympathy for other people?”

Fang Qiu was furious.

He sympathized with this suspect in his misfortune, but he was also bursting with indignation!

“Your mother is sick, but other people’s parents got the medicine from you. You had no choice but to protect your mother, but what about other people’s parents?”

Fang Qiu barked the question at him.

He didn’t intend to put pressure on him. By doing this, he wanted the suspect to know he was wrong to do so. Fang Qiu impressed on him what a dreadful mistake he had made!

“I didn’t think too much about it.”

The suspect explained gloomily, "I thought of nothing but the quickest way to make money. With enough money, I could afford the medical treatment for my mother. Then, they came to me; they had masks on and gave me a huge sum of money."

"I wanted the money so much but didn't dare to accept it!"

"But later, they told me that the doctors in clinics in their towns had agreed to make a deal with them. All of them took the money. Doctors like me had different difficulties and were in urgent need of money. When we were in this together, we felt more at ease and got the deal done respectively."

Fang Qiu heard the inside story.

His brows furrowed.

"With masks?"

"Who were they?"

Fang Qiu asked.

"I don't know."

The suspect shook his head and said, "But I had an account from them. They transferred all the money to me through this account. You can check the account number."

"How could it be that simple?"

Fang Qiu's eyebrows rose and he asked in disbelief.

"That's all I know about them. I've told you everything."

The suspect said.

“The matter is not complex at all. Why didn’t you tell us at the beginning?”

Fang Qiu made a detailed inquiry. “Is there any other shadowy plot behind?”

Upon hearing that...

The suspect was silent for a long moment.

After a long time, he said, “They said that if anything went wrong, they would give us a large sum of money as long as we took all the blame. The money was enough to cure my mother’s illness. If we didn’t get the money, we could expose them.”

“Alas.”

Fang Qiu sighed and shook his head.

It was sad and pitiful.

These people had never revealed their faces. How could he trust them so much?

He reached out and took the bank card from the suspect.

Fang Qiu rose to his feet and said, “You still have a conscience.”

After he said that...

He turned around and walked toward the door.

Before he went out, he stopped and said without looking back, "I will treat your mother's illness."

Then, he strode away.

His promise resounded in the room.

The suspect's eyes widened in surprise as he stared blankly at Fang Qiu's back.

"Thank you, thank you, thank you so much!"

The suspect repeatedly expressed his thanks and couldn't refrain from holding his head and crying his heart out.

Outside the interrogation room...

The policeman followed Fang Qiu out, carrying the digital video camera.

"Clap, clap, clap..."

When Fang Qiu walked out of the interrogation room, he heard a burst of clapping.

He looked up.

At this moment, Chief Pan was standing at the door of the monitoring room, clapping for Fang Qiu, his face full of admiration.

"This is the bank card from the suspect."

Fang Qiu handed the bank card to Chief Pan.

“Okay.”

Chief Pan nodded with satisfaction. On the spot, he handed the bank card to the policeman holding the digital video camera and ordered, “Make every possible effort to check out this bank card in the shortest time. If necessary, you can apply for special help from your superiors.”

“Yes.”

The police officer took the bank card and immediately went to check on it.

“It’s done.”

Chief Pan told Fang Qiu, “Now we’ve finally found some useful clues. Don’t worry. We’ll inform you as soon as we get anything.”

“Thank you.”

Fang Qiu expressed his gratitude.

“That’s what we should do.”

Chief Pan laughed and said, “Honestly, I should thank you. You made him speak by enlightening him with affection and motivating him with reason. Without you, we couldn’t have gotten this clue from the suspect so quickly. Thank you for that.”

“This is also what I should do.”

Fang Qiu answered with a smile and strode out of the police station.

After leaving the police station, Fang Qiu immediately called Li Ji and asked him to help with the investigation. He felt that the result would come out faster this way. Even though they got the clue from the suspect, the ensuing investigation would be more challenging. It wouldn't be easy to find out more facts.

After the phone call, Fang Qiu rushed to a small village near the neighboring city.

He saw the suspect's parents.

Their situation...

It was precisely the same as the suspect had said.

"Sir, Madam."

When he met the two elderly people at their home, Fang Qiu greeted them with a smile and said, "Your son entrusted me with your treatment."

"Then, where is Xiao Liang? Why hasn't he come back yet?"

The suspect's father asked.

"He's too tied up with his work outside, so he asked me to check on your health. He'll come back to see you once he finishes his work and has time to rest."

Fang Qiu explained patiently.

Afterward, he began to examine and treat the suspect's mother.

When Fang Qiu completed the treatment...

He was ready to leave.

“Xiao Fang, when you return, please deliver a message to our son. Tell him to take good care of himself. Everything is fine at home, and he doesn’t need to worry about us. Just call us when he is free. We want to hear his voice.”

Medical Master

Chapter 1309: Almost All the Companies Have Been Involved!

He left the suspect’s home.

Fang Qiu’s heart was full of mixed feelings.

He just got a glimpse of another man’s complicated life.

Everyone had their own path to walk in this life. When faced with different scenarios, they had to make choices for themselves. There was always a reason for everything that people did.

If Fang Qiu put himself in the suspect’s place...

Could he make a better choice when he faced the same dilemma?

Fang Qiu didn’t know the answer.

Although this incident had something to do with the Three Billion Foundation, these doctors selling fake medicine couldn’t find Fang Qiu and tell him about it. After all, it was not easy to get close to Fang Qiu.

Sure enough...

If Fang Qiu had been at home all the time, the few suspects might have come to him for help when they were in trouble.

However, Fang Qiu had just come back from Africa.

When he was still in Africa, these doctors had already been forced to sell fake and inferior drugs.

From the perspective of time...

It was impossible to avoid this incident!

“Beep, beep, beep...”

Suddenly, his cell phone rang.

Fang Qiu quickly took it out and saw it was a call from Li Ji.

“Hello?”

Fang Qiu answered it.

“We found something.”

Li Ji’s voice came from the phone. “With the bank account number you provided, we dug out the information of its owner. The owner has booked a plane ticket and is about to fly abroad. He is now at Yang Cheng Airport!”

“Do we need to intercept him?”

Li Ji asked.

“Of course!”

Fang Qiu hurriedly said, “Get him right now. I’ll be right there.”

After that...

Fang Qiu hung up the phone and headed for Yang Cheng!

Meanwhile, Li Ji also sprang into action. He called Yang Cheng Airport and ordered the security team at the airport to stop the man from boarding.

As one of the first-tier cities in Huaxia, Yang Cheng had a considerable reputation at home and abroad.

Thus...

A lot of people from home and abroad would travel through Yang Cheng.

And at this time...

There was a long line of people queuing at the security checkpoint at Yang Cheng Airport.

At the front of the line was a young couple with backpacks. As they chatted and laughed, they handed over their backpacks and coats to the luggage inspector. Then, they walked to the designated place for inspection.

A man stood in the queue after the person behind the young couple.

The man in his thirties wore casual clothes and sunglasses.

The boarding pass was in his hands.

The man with sunglasses frequently tilted his head to check the situation ahead. He kept glancing anxiously at his wristwatch. There were already some tiny drops of sweat on his forehead.

Soon...

The young couple before him passed through the security check. Then a woman went forward.

Just as the woman was going through the safety inspection...

A voice sounded in all the safety inspectors' headsets.

Then, the man with sunglasses at the head of the queue began to look around. He looked a little flustered and frequently checked his watch.

After a long while, it was finally his turn to go through security.

He put his watch, phone, and other items into the examination box along with his coat. Afterward, he moved to the designated checkpoint. When the safety inspector was sure he carried no contraband goods, a voice sounded from the other side.

"Hi."

A security guard came forward calmly and said, "Sir, we found something in your clothes. Please take five minutes to cooperate with our investigation."

After that...

Without a word, he pulled the man, took his coat and other things, and walked into a room aside.

However...

As soon as they entered the room...

The man's expression changed drastically, and he quickly took off the sunglasses. He looked terrified.

Before him...

There appeared two police officers!

"Hello, we've received a message: you might be connected to the recent incident of doctors in the country selling fake drugs. Please cooperate with us in the investigation."

As he spoke, a policeman went straight up and handcuffed the man. He grabbed his coat, covered his hands in handcuffs with it, and pulled him out.

When they came out...

Beads of sweat poured down the man's face.

When Fang Qiu arrived at Yang Cheng Airport...

The man with sunglasses had already been detained at the airport police station for a long time.

Since Li Ji had notified the police at this airport in advance...

As soon as Fang Qiu appeared, the police at the airport led Fang Qiu to the interrogation room.

“The suspect is inside. Our supervisor will allow you to interrogate the suspect alone, but there is a 360-degree surveillance camera that covers the entire interrogation room.”

The police officer said.

“Okay, thank you.”

Fang Qiu said with a nod, “Yes. Thank you for your help. Otherwise, this man would have escaped.”

“This is what we should do.”

The policeman nodded with a smile, opened the door of the interrogation room, and said, “You can go inside!”

Meanwhile...

The moment the door was opened, the man in his thirties, who had been sitting inside, raised his head and looked over.

At the sight of Fang Qiu, the man was so shocked that he became frantic!

He didn’t expect that Fang Qiu would be here.

However...

Before the color completely drained from his face, the man shivered and forced himself to stay calm. He lowered his head and clamped his lips tightly.

“Thank you.”

Fang Qiu said to the police officer who opened the door for him. Then, he stepped into the interrogation room, sat in front of the man, and asked directly, “Why did you sell fake and inferior traditional Chinese medicine to the Foundation doctors?” ”

“What is your purpose? You’d better confess everything to me!”

The man listened intently.

Then, his expression became bitter.

He shook his head vigorously and as he looked up at Fang Qiu he said wryly, “I had never imagined you would be able to find me here. I was about to go abroad, but you still caught me. You’re incredibly powerful, so I concede defeat from the bottom of my heart.”

“You’re not as simple as you look. I can tell it when you defeated the two listed pharmaceutical companies!”

Fang Qiu heard what he heard.

His brows furrowed.

“Pharmaceutical companies?”

Fang Qiu seemed to think of something and immediately said, “Tell me everything you know.”

However...

“Ha-ha!”

The man laughed and asked, "Would you believe me if I told you?"

"If you dare to say it, I will believe your words!"

Fang Qiu said coolly.

"Okay."

The man gazed at Fang Qiu and said, "Almost all the Chinese Medicine companies in the market have participated in this matter!"

After he said that...

Fang Qiu shuddered.

"Nearly all the Chinese Medicine companies in the market?"

"How was it possible?"

Fang Qiu was secretly shocked.

"If that is the case, then why?"

"Why would these pharmaceutical companies do this? Why would they target the Three Billion Foundation?"

Fang Qiu couldn't figure it out.

It would be easier for Fang Qiu to believe that all these pharmaceutical companies fought against the Renyi Group. After all, the Renyi Group had taken away a lot of business from them.

But what did the Three Billion Foundation do that provoked them?

Almost all the Chinese Medicine companies in the market... Thirty Chinese Medicine companies were cooperating with the Foundation. So, did it mean that even these companies had joined them?

As partners of the Foundation, they could make small profits but a quick turnover. In this way, they couldn't earn less than before, no matter what.

Then, why would they do that?

"Ha-ha!"

Seeing Fang Qiu's confused look, the man burst out laughing again and asked, "You can't imagine it, can you? It's so hard to believe it, isn't it?"

Fang Qiu made no response.

For the time being, he didn't know if this man was telling the truth.

If it were true, it would be a big deal. But if not, why would the man mention this?

Fang Qiu stared at him in silence.

Fang Qiu looked straight into his eyes as if he was trying to discern the truth.

However...

The man met Fang Qiu's gaze without flinching. Instead, he adopted an air of indifference and said, "I've come this far. Since I've been put into this room, I'll be imprisoned soon. I know I won't have a good life as long as I can't go abroad. Now, I've gotten myself all psyched up for all the punishment that awaits me. Therefore, I won't lie, and I'm telling you the truth!"

The meaning of his words was clear.

His frown deepened.

"I know you don't believe it, but you should think about it carefully. If there weren't so many pharmaceutical companies involved, how could there be so many fake drugs and so much money for those doctors? How could they have so much power to keep this whole affair under wraps?"

The man added.

"This is the law-governing era."

Fang Qiu, calm and composed, looked at him and asked, "Do you have any evidence?"

Unexpectedly...

His question silenced the man.

After a while...

"I will not give you any evidence."

Looking at Fang Qiu, the man shook his head and said, "This matter involves my friend. He is innocent and doesn't know these things at all. If I tell you about it, it will implicate him. Thus, I don't want to do that. Nevertheless, I can assure you that this is the truth!"

“A friend?”

Fang Qiu shook his head and asked, “If you treat him as a friend, you should reveal the truth of the whole thing as soon as possible. Otherwise, you will only make him suffer!”

“Make him suffer?”

At once, the man shook his head and said, “I will never hurt him. So, I won’t say it in any case, let alone testify for you.”

“Have you made up your mind?”

Fang Qiu stood up and looked down at him, his eyes extremely solemn. His stare exerted a lot of pressure on this man. Only then did he say, “You’ve already harmed your friend when you mentioned him!”

“I intercepted you at the airport and locked you here. After experiencing all of this, you should have guessed that I have the power to find out all your connections.”

When the man heard this...

His face instantly changed.

“Your personal information has been exposed now. With it, I can quickly find out where you are from. Also, I can list all the schools you attended since you were a child and all the people you’ve always hung out with. In particular, I can find out the names of all your girlfriends, from your first love to your current girlfriend!”

Then, Fang Qiu added, “In the end, I will find the friend you’ve just mentioned. At that time, no one will know what will happen to your friend and if he will be involved in this matter. As for you, you will forever lose the chance of exchanging the truth for a lighter sentence!”

When Fang Qiu finished speaking...

The man's face had turned extremely ugly.

He knew he had made a slip of the tongue.

"My friend knows nothing about this. Please let him go."

The man was so anxious that he jumped up and said in a panic, "You won't wrong innocent people, right?"

"Well, it depends."

Fang Qiu cast a glance at him and said, "You still have one last chance. Tell me everything you know!"

Medical Master

Chapter 1310: Sorry

"I'm Li Guangsheng."

Under pressure from Fang Qiu, the man confessed with a bitter expression. "The truth is that I was just an intermediary in this matter."

"In the past, I engaged in all sorts of speculative transactions. It was a quick and easy way to make money. As I accomplished lots of similar tasks and became more experienced, I gradually gained a favorable reputation."

"At the start of this matter, someone came to me and hoped I could help him."

“I’m in this industry, so I know well how to handle this properly. To avoid being associated with this dealing I didn’t transfer the operating expenses to my account or my relatives’ accounts. Instead, I used a friend’s account.”

With this, Li Guangsheng shook his head gravely and said, “His business is also in traditional Chinese medicine. We don’t contact each other frequently, but we’re a tight group. Whenever the money was deposited into his account, he would withdraw the money and give the cash to me. Besides, we don’t use our private phone numbers to stay in touch. In this way, it would be challenging to track us down.”

Li Guangsheng finished speaking.

Fang Qiu frowned.

In this case, the other party must have deliberately planned all of this!

Otherwise, they wouldn’t get mixed up with a professional speculator and transfer the money in such a sophisticated way.

If what Li Guangsheng said was true, the people behind the scenes must have targeted him early. The whole plan, both deliberate and malicious, should have been made long ago.

But...

“Why would the person behind this take the trouble to scheme against me?”

Fang Qiu still couldn’t figure it out.

Three Billion Foundation was purely a charitable foundation.

“What benefits are to be gained from damaging a charity fund?”

The more Fang Qiu thought about it, the more confused he became.

“As you said, you’re an intermediary. You could pay those doctors selling fake drugs the same way, but why didn’t you do that? Isn’t that a better way to ensure your safety?”

Fang Qiu asked.

“I wanted to, but it didn’t work out!”

Li Guangsheng, smiled helplessly and bitterly, continued, “When the idea crossed my mind, I put it into practice. But not everyone has such a trustworthy friend. I once tried this method with a doctor. As a result, his friend refused to give the money to him. What could we do about it? It was ill-gotten money. When the doctor asked for the money, his friend didn’t admit it was his. We went further and threatened him with a lawsuit. However, his friend would rather fight at the risk of mutual destruction than return the money.”

“Thus, this mode of payment would never work.”

At this point...

After a long, weary sigh, Li Guangsheng said helplessly, “If this method had worked, things wouldn’t have turned out like this. At least, with more people involved, there would have been more time for me to escape abroad.”

“In your opinion, if the same method had been applied to those doctors, you wouldn’t have ended up like this.”

Fang Qiu shook his head and said, “Since I got you, I can find all the others too. Do you think you can get away by going abroad?”

“I can assure you, it’s impossible.”

“Now that things have developed to this point, I will go after you even if you flee to the remotest corners of the earth!”

Fang Qiu said with absolute certainty that leaving no room for doubt.

“Perhaps you do have the ability.”

Li Guangsheng shook his head with a smile and said, “I did not quite believe you could nab me after I’ve escaped abroad, but you’ve caught me already. Because of this undeniable truth, I have to admit that you are very capable!”

He was arrested one second before he was about to go abroad. It was enough to show how powerful Fang Qiu was.

From this point...

It was evident that Fang Qiu had managed to work out his whereabouts.

Thus, even if he had gone abroad, Fang Qiu would have continued to track him down. He might have to fly to more places before stealing into another country. Otherwise, he would leave traces no matter how hard he tried.

After all, from ancient times to the present, no one can wrap fire on paper!

“Tell me, who’s the mastermind?”

Fang Qiu asked.

“I told you almost all the Chinese Medicine companies on the market have joined hands, but you just don’t believe me.”

Li Guangsheng shook his head and said, "That's my answer. Whether you believe me or not, it's your business. I'm not here to make you believe me."

"What's their purpose?"

Fang Qiu asked as he raised his eyebrows.

"I have no idea."

Li Guangsheng immediately shook his head and said, "Maybe you have something they want."

Fang Qiu's frown grew deeper at his words.

He had been in shock since Li Guangsheng started talking.

All the Chinese Medicine companies in the market?

Had all of them joined forces to deal with him?

This was not a small matter!

If it was true, many people must have been involved in this. Even worse, it might have surprising consequences.

Of course...

Li Guangsheng never evaded any subject under their discussion and spoke openly about everything. However, Fang Qiu still didn't dare to trust him totally.

He still needed to verify everything that Li Guangsheng had revealed!

Without concrete evidence, Fang Qiu wouldn't take it as the truth of the matter.

At the police station of Blackhill Gate Village...

"Li Guangsheng?"

After a long time, Chief Pan finally found out about Li Guangsheng's personal information, but according to the report, Li Guangsheng had boarded a flight at noon today to a foreign country. But the flight left long ago.

"I'm still a little late!"

With a sigh, Chief Pan quickly called the police station at Yang Cheng Airport.

"Hello, Yang Cheng Airport. What can I do for you?"

On the other end of the line came a professional voice.

"Hello, I am the head of the police station in Blackhill Gate Village, Pan Mingrui."

Chief Pan introduced himself.

"Hello, is there anything I can do for you?"

The other party asked politely.

"Here's the thing."

Pan Mingrui came right to the point. "I'm investigating the case concerning the Three Billion Foundation and the doctors who sold fake drugs. Please check something for me. Is there a passenger named Li Guangsheng who took the morning flight? Did he fly out of the country already?"

"Please wait for a moment. Let me transfer your call to the police station at our airport."

"Toot, toot, toot..."

After a series of beeps, the phone was connected again.

Pan Mingrui repeated what he had just said.

After that...

The person who picked up the call began to question him carefully and even asked for his police number.

Three minutes passed. Eventually, the police confirmed Pan Mingrui's identity.

"Hello, Chief Pan."

The police officer at the airport police station greeted him after he confirmed his identity. Without any hesitation, he answered, "We detained Li Guangsheng before he boarded his plane!"

"Really?"

Pan Mingrui was overjoyed. Right away, he said in great delight, "That's great. You've done a good job. I'll come and get him with the necessary documents."

After that, he hung up the phone.

A few hours later...

As expected, Pan Mingrui appeared with his men.

When Fang Qiu came out of the interrogation room, he happened to hear the news that Pan Mingrui had come to take the suspect away. Instantly, Fang Qiu handed Li Guangsheng over to Pan Mingrui and turned to leave.

Pan Mingrui was considerably shocked when he saw Fang Qiu at the airport police station.

Later, he learned from others that the higher-ups ordered them to intercept Li Guangsheng and let Fang Qiu interrogate him.

Obviously...

Fang Qiu had connections with the leaders!

At the thought of this...

Pan Mingrui couldn't help but be shocked. At the same time, he felt very grateful to Fang Qiu.

When Fang Qiu turned Li Guangsheng over to him, he even gave him all the credit.

After all, Fang Qiu was not a law enforcement officer.

Outside the airport...

Fang Qiu left the police station.

He went straight to the house of Li Guangsheng's friend.

During the interrogation...

Fang Qiu learned that Li Guangsheng's friend, Chen Peilun, owned a Chinese Medicine store. He lived in Yang Cheng.

With the information from Li Guangsheng...

Fang Qiu came to the door of a house in front of the wholesale market that sold Chinese medicinal herbs in Yang Cheng.

"Knock, knock, knock..."

Someone opened the door.

A man in his thirties appeared before Fang Qiu.

He was Chen Peilun.

"Please come in."

When he saw Fang Qiu, Chen Peilun stretched out his hand and spoke.

"You must be Chen Peilun, right?"

Fang Qiu asked as he walked in.

"Yes."

Chen Peilun nodded with a smile and took Fang Qiu to the living room. When Fang Qiu sat down, he took out a bank card from the drawer of the tea table in the living room. He handed it to Fang Qiu and said, "When I saw the news, I knew someone would come sooner or later. That was why I hadn't been to the drugstore recently. I've been waiting at home. When you finally came, I feel that I'd been relieved of a great burden."

"Go and turn yourself in."

Fang Qiu took the bank card from Chen Peilun and said to him.

"Okay."

Chen Peilun nodded and said, "Don't worry. I've settled everything in the past few days while waiting for someone to come. But I didn't expect you to come in person."

"I am going to surrender myself to the police now."

After that...

Chen Peilun rose to his feet and walked out of the room with Fang Qiu.

"There are all kinds of accounts in this bank card. On the overt side, I recorded the payments for medicinal herbs, but no real deal happened. That would make it easier for the investigation."

Chen Peilun said.

"Mm."

Fang Qiu nodded understandingly.

Along the way, they chatted.

They kept on talking until they arrived at the police station's gate.

"Do you think it's worth it?"

Standing before the police station, Fang Qiu asked, "For your friend?"

"Actually, I can be considered his only friend."

Chen Peilun allowed himself a wry smile. "He suffered a great deal in his childhood, so I just wanted to help him, but much to my surprise, this matter became so sensational."

"But..."

"As his friend, I was involved in this matter and was aware of the crime in advance. I am willing to be held responsible for this matter!"

At this point...

Fang Qiu sighed softly and nodded.

Then he repeated the bank card number and kept it firmly in mind. After he handed the card back to Chen Peilun, he said, "Go ahead."

"Um."

Chen Peilun accepted the bank card, turned around, and walked into the police station. Before he entered the door, he paused, turned to Fang Qiu, and spoke.

“I’m sorry, but I have never sold inferior traditional Chinese medicine.”

Afterward, he went in.

As Chen Peilun walked into the police station, Fang Qiu looked at his back. All sorts of feelings welled up in his heart.

He felt like saying something but didn’t know what to say.

He could only helplessly watch as Chen Peilun entered the police station.