

Medical M 1471

Medical Master

Chapter 1471: Typhoon in Embryo

“Swish! Swish!”

As torpedoes whistled through the water, their sounds slowly spread under the water.

The torpedoes shot out of the sea surface. The initially calm sea began surging. Waves caused by one torpedo rippled to both sides, crashing against waves brought by another torpedo. They started severe turbulence on the sea surface.

In the sea...

Fang Qiu chased after the submarine at an extremely fast speed.

However, after the release of the second torpedo, the submarine’s speed increased significantly in a short period. It could soon travel at speeds of up to 35 knots!

But...

It was much slower than Fang Qiu.

A speed of 35 knots was equivalent to a rate of 1.852 kilometers per hour. That meant the torpedo moved at 65 kilometers per hour. Notably, the Murican submarine was state-of-the-art.

The one before Fang Qiu was the most advanced nuclear-powered attacking submarine in Murica. It could maintain a speed of 35 knots at 600 meters underwater!

It was impressive to advance at this speed under such huge water pressure.

At this time...

Fang Qiu was only about 200 meters under the water. The submarine was very deep under the water. Yet, with his Divine Consciousness, he could capture the movements of this submarine and two torpedoes!

“You’ve run quite deep.”

Staring at the nuclear submarine, Fang Qiu snorted secretly and immediately dived with all his strength.

As he dived deeper, the water pressure around him became increasingly greater.

Under such circumstances...

Fang Qiu gradually slowed down.

But even so, when Fang Qiu was 600 meters deep in the sea, his speed could reach 80 kilometers per hour. It was faster than that of a nuclear submarine!

And behind him...

The torpedoes were designed for underwater combat. Therefore, though their speed was slightly affected, they could still move as fast as Fang Qiu.

On the nuclear submarine...

“How is it?”

General Will rushed into the control room and asked, “Is he dead?”

“No.”

One soldier immediately replied, “He’s very fast, and the torpedoes are still following him. We can decide when to ignite them. But the temperature underwater is very low. After some time, they will cool down and lose their effect.”

“Go on firing all the torpedoes left. Even if they can’t kill him, they can blow him up and cripple him!”

General Will roared.

Then he pulled the soldier away to operate in person.

He didn’t care about the moving direction of the nuclear submarine. Straightforwardly, he placed his hand above the button, intending to launch the torpedoes. As soon as the radar locked Fang Qiu, he pressed the fire button quickly.

“Swish, swish, swish...”

One after another, these torpedoes were shot wildly at Fang Qiu.

In the blink, six torpedoes were fired at Fang Qiu. There were a total of eight torpedoes plus the previous two.

Eight torpedoes...

They bombarded Fang Qiu from all directions.

“What the fuck.”

Fang Qiu was shocked. At once, he turned around to dodge. It took him much effort to get rid of the eight torpedoes. Then, he continued to attack the submarine.

The eight torpedoes obstructed and intercepted him. Though he left them behind, they became much closer to Fang Qiu.

In the control cabin of the submarine...

“The target is 100 meters away from the torpedoes.”

“The explosive power generated by the eight torpedoes is enough to threaten his life!”

“The torpedoes will soon lose their effect. Now is the best time to detonate them!”

Two data workers were reporting the figures.

“Explode!”

General Will howled.

He immediately pressed the firing button.

In Huaxia...

Fang Qiu was approaching the submarine. All of a sudden, the eight torpedoes pursuing him exploded at the same time. Under six hundred meters of water, a huge dazzling light ball burst out, like the scorching sun in the sky.

As the explosion took place, a massive shock wave rose. Six hundred meters under the sea surface formed a terrifying vast wave. It swept wildly in all directions with unstoppable momentum.

More than 100 meters away, Fang Qiu didn't even have time to evade. The vast shock wave harshly lashed against his back, pushing him far away.

“Ha-ha...”

Seeing this, General Will burst into laughter in the submarine control cabin.

But the next moment...

In his sight, Fang Qiu had been knocked away. Quickly, he stabilized himself and persistently chased after the submarine's control cabin.

“Not dead?”

Seeing Fang Qiu alive and kicking, General Will widened his eyes.

With a ferocious face, he locked Fang Qiu with radar again.

Then...

“Clap, Clap, Clap...”

In one go, he shot out all the remaining torpedoes in the submarine – a total of 12 torpedoes!

They all targeted Fang Qiu, approaching Fang Qiu from all sides with astonishing speed.

“Again?”

Fang Qiu's face fell.

He suddenly waved his right hand forward.

The moment the divine sword condensed in his hand, a huge ray of sword light erupted.

He slashed at the 12 torpedoes that had just been launched.

The next moment...

“Bang!”

The sword light chopped down.

It hit all the 12 torpedoes, which exploded at the same time.

This time...

The flames caused by the explosion of 12 torpedoes instantly illuminated the space 600-meter-deep in the sea. The shock wave was twice as strong as before!

But...

The explosion happened at a different place.

The last explosion was near Fang Qiu, while this one was next to the submarine!

“Rumble...”

The explosion sounded. Earth-shattering waves surged out like a tsunami. The submarine had been advancing forward. Instantly, it made a 90-degree turn and turned into a horizontal position. The huge impact rolled and tumbled it around, pushing it far away.

Fortunately, there were no large rocks underwater in this area. Otherwise, the impact would crash the submarine against the coral reefs.

Right now...

Everyone on the submarine panicked.

General Will stared at the radar with an ugly look. Even though the entire submarine was shaking violently, his eyes did not move away from Fang Qiu.

After a long time...

The submarine finally stabilized.

But at this time, it got lost after the shock wave.

On the radar...

They could see Fang Qiu following closely behind the submarine. He had caught up with the submarine and was very close to them.

When General Will saw such a scene...

He was startled.

On the submarine, all the other people looked scared. No one had expected Fang Qiu to appear right behind them after such a big explosion.

Shouldn't the shock wave have pushed him in the opposite direction? How could he have caught up so quickly?

Behind them...

Fang Qiu narrowed his eyes and stared at the submarine with a sneer.

In fact, when the explosion happened just now, he rushed to the side, letting the shock wave generated by the explosion push him in the same direction as the submarine.

Under the protection of internal Qi, Fang Qiu didn't get injured and even advanced a large distance. The blast wave appeared after the explosion. Pushed by it, Fang Qiu also sped up. As such, he produced an electrifying burst of speed after them.

“Space-splitting Sea-cracking Sword!”

Less than 100 meters away from the submarine, Fang Qiu waved the divine sword in his hand. Without any hesitation, he slashed at the submarine with it.

The submarine had no more torpedoes. It could only take the blow defenselessly!

But...

It was a top-notch submarine after all.

The impact of Fang Qiu's sword strike made a deep dent in the submarine but didn't break it.

The tremendous force knocked the submarine back.

Fang Qiu was about to catch up with it. Just then, he saw the typhoon eye before him.

The typhoon was barely in embryo.

However...

The massive force of his slay strike pushed the submarine into the typhoon eye. As quick as a flash, the horrifying and torrential vortex sucked it down.

“NOOOOO!”

Before General Will’s terrified scream spread out...

He was instantly crushed into pieces.

None of these people escaped.

A high-ranking officer died a violent death.

And all his subordinates in the submarine died.

What a bloody mess.

Fang Qiu looked tense. After breathing a sigh of relief, he quickly turned to run away.

The power of nature was not something that humans could resist.

As a result...

The typhoon expanded rapidly and covered Fang Qiu in an instant, trying to drag him into it.

Fang Qiu swiftly activated his internal Qi to resist!

He burst out a mighty force. Frantically, it fought against the water flows stirred up by the typhoon eye. Eventually, he pulled himself out of the immense pulling power, broke out of the water, and flew fast into the distance.

Getting rid of the typhoon eye's influence, Fang Qiu took a few deep breaths.

Then...

He slowed down.

He had a devil of a job escaping from the whirlpool. Half of his internal Qi had been consumed.

Just then...

"Swoosh."

Not far away, a thick water column spurted out. It sounded like the continuous blast of a train whistle.

"Brother Blue Whale?"

Fang Qiu breathed a sigh of relief. Quickly, he flew up with a smile and landed on the blue whale's back. He collapsed powerlessly, looked at the sky, and gasped to rest.

He rested for a long while.

Fang Qiu straightened up and turned to see the typhoon eye in the distance. It was expanding rapidly.

Just then...

“Swoosh!”

The blue whale suddenly made a sound.

Fang Qiu looked around. In the sea, a shoal of big fish was swimming around in a panic like headless flies.

“These animals must have sensed the crisis brought by the typhoon eye.”

He looked back at the typhoon eye.

Looking back at the darkening sky, Fang Qiu couldn't stop worrying – the sky was overcast.

It was such a destructive typhoon.

It could travel very far.

Perhaps it would soon reach the ground. At that time, it would pose a dire threat to humans.

After all...

Typhoon disasters were common all over the world.

Not to mention that...

The typhoon before him appeared huge, affecting a large area around it. Once it blew over, humans could never ward off such a terrifying wind power!

Just then...

The blue whale suddenly began to panic.

“Eh?”

Sensing something wrong with the blue whale, Fang Qiu quickly turned his head. There emerged a dozen shark fins around them.

“A large school of sharks!”

Fang Qiu looked alert. In a hurry, he squatted down to comfort the blue whale!

Medical Master

Chapter 1472: A Enormous Cuttlefish

“Brother Blue Whale, just a few small sharks. Don’t panic.”

Fang Qiu patted the back of the blue whale with a smile.

It heard what Fang Qiu said.

Only then did the flustered blue whale calm down.

“Swoosh!”

It spat out a giant jet of water to scare away the sharks.

Unexpectedly...

These sharks around it had no intention of retreating. Instead, they quickly surrounded it.

“The typhoon is coming. These sharks must have felt the crisis that it might cause. While escaping from the typhoon, they want to take the chance and make a fortune, don’t they?”

There was no doubt.

As the typhoon eye appeared, all kinds of sea life would flee frantically.

Animals had a natural sense of crisis. They could feel which areas were safe and would flee in that direction. Therefore, most sea creatures would run away in the same direction.

For the sharks, these animals were undoubtedly a big meal from heaven.

As predators, how could this herd of sharks let such a good chance slip away easily?

A blue whale, the largest creature in the ocean, was incredibly tempting in their eyes. If they could catch a blue whale, their stomachs could be full for at least a week or even a month!

Therefore...

No matter how intimidating the blue whale was, the sharks with such a habit would never step back.

“No way.”

Fang Qiu stood up and took a closer look. The sharks before them had formed a semicircle, blocking the blue whale's way. Behind the blue whale, there was a complete typhoon. The terrifying gale stirred up the sea water flows, bringing them to the sky. Then, they formed a vast water tornado moving slowly.

He looked up.

Dark clouds kept gathering. The typhoon eye was still growing wildly. No one knew to what extent it could grow.

Countries in Asia and around the Pacific classified revolving tropical storms. One type of them was known as typhoons. According to the International Meteorological Institution's definition, when the tropical revolving storm's sustained wind speeds reach force 12, it can be called a typhoon.

Scientists had estimated the energy released by a medium-sized typhoon. It was equivalent to that of hundreds of hydrogen bombs or more than a thousand million tons of yellow explosives!

Typhoons were divided into six levels according to their strength. With the highest wind speed between level 6 and level 7, the typhoon is called a tropical depression. If the maximum wind speed reaches level 8 or level 9, it is a tropical storm. Severe tropical storms have the highest wind speeds of level 10 and level 11. Once the wind speed reaches level 12 or level 13, it is called a typhoon. The wind speeds of a severe typhoon are at level 14 and level 15. Super typhoons' highest wind speed is above level 16!

According to the wind speed...

The wind speed of this typhoon eye had reached level 13, and it was increasing to level 14. As it accelerated like this, it would soon catch up with them.

But it seemed...

These sharks were not going to give up on the whale.

If they couldn't eat it, they would force it to die!

“Brother Blue Whale, let me treat you to a big meal.”

Fang Qiu burst out laughing, his right hand grabbing the air. Immediately, the divine sword condensed in his hand. He moved and flew out, waving the long sword. Lots of sword strikes were released, bombarding the shark group before them.

Meanwhile...

The blue whale opened its mouth. Its huge abyss-like mouth swallowed a large amount of water around it like a black hole. A small-scale vortex was hence formed.

Meanwhile...

Sword blows fired by Fang Qiu drilled into the water and neatly cut the sharks into two pieces. Before these sharks could react, they fell into the blue whale’s huge mouth.

After swallowing the sharks, the blue whale spat out another thick jet of water.

When the water column fell...

Fang Qiu landed back on its back.

“You’re full. It’s time to go. The typhoon will swallow us up if we don’t leave now.”

Fang Qiu laughed out loud and patted the blue whale on the back, saying, “I’ll take a rest first!”

After that...

He sat cross-legged and began running the guiding technique to absorb the Qi of Heaven and Earth quickly.

He had consumed much internal Qi. He lost more before he found time to replenish it. From the current situation, he didn't know if there would be any accidents. Therefore, Fang Qiu had to recover his internal Qi immediately!

In the sea...

After a full meal, the blue whale could advance faster. As soon as Fang Qiu closed his eyes, it swam out quickly with Fang Qiu, getting out of the route that the typhoon eye might pass.

Half an hour later...

Fang Qiu opened his eyes.

Right after that, he saw a vast tentacle rising high from the sea and slapping toward the blue whale.

To avoid the enormous tentacle, the blue whale continued to speed up.

He looked around.

In his eyes...

The surrounding sea surface was pitch-black.

"A cuttlefish?"

Fang Qiu changed his face and stood up. There, the ink-black area had a radius of almost 100 meters. It looked extensive.

Blinded by the ink, the blue whale had been swimming in this ink-black area, unable to escape.

“Another big one, huh?”

Fang Qiu patted the blue whale to calm it down and said, “Don’t move. Let it hit you!”

The blue whale heard that.

It stopped moving.

The next moment...

A huge tentacle stretched out from under the sea. With a closer look, Fang Qiu saw many suckers on the tentacle. They were unlike those on the tentacles of octopuses. In such suckers were lots of dreadful barbs.

Fang Qiu could imagine the consequence if this tentacle patted on any living creature — even the blue whale would lose a ring of flesh!

“It’s indeed a big cuttlefish.”

Fang Qiu looked at it attentively.

Violently, the cuttlefish slashed at the whale with its tentacle. Right then, Fang Qiu stretched out his right hand. When a layer of Qi of Heaven and Earth surged over, a huge energy palm materialized above his palm.

When the giant tentacle was brought down, the massive energy palm suddenly clenched and firmly grabbed it!

Then...

He tiptoed, rising into the air. Then, he swung his right hand.

Instantly, an incomparably powerful force burst from the energy palm holding the giant tentacle tightly. It pulled the entire huge cuttlefish out of the sea by dragging the tentacle.

Good heavens!

This cuttlefish was almost half the size of the blue whale. No wonder it dared to eat the blue whale.

But...

He carefully sensed it.

No energy aura was found in this huge cuttlefish. So, it was an ordinary cuttlefish. For some unknown reasons, it grew so big.

“Swish.”

Fang Qiu waved his left hand. His glittering sword cut the cuttlefish in half and threw it far away.

He returned to the blue whale’s back.

Fang Qiu cleared the ink in the sea with his internal Qi. After that, the blue whale could find its direction and move on.

With the recovery of the internal Qi, Fang Qiu completely relaxed.

He looked back.

In the distance, the typhoon eye was moving, but it was not fast.

Well...

It should take a long time to reach the land.

Relieved, Fang Qiu sat cross-legged on the back of the blue whale. Facing forward, he looked at the boundless sea and suddenly had a particularly empty feeling.

Freedom...

Yes, that was the feeling of freedom. He didn't have to worry about anything. He could go wherever he wanted and do whatever he liked. It was as if he had no worries.

At this moment, Fang Qiu fell in love with that feeling.

He didn't cultivate.

Yet, the Qi of Heaven and Earth automatically surged over from all directions, pouring into Fang Qiu.

Different from cultivation...

After the Qi of Heaven and Earth flashed into his body, it did not circulate in his meridians. Instead, it rushed into his Dantian, constantly nourishing the lotus shadow!

Fang Qiu didn't even know he was cultivating.

His Dantian was full of the Qi of Heaven and Earth when he came to his senses. The lotus shadow looked much more solidified than before.

"Oh, I almost forget."

When he woke up, Fang Qiu suddenly thought of the mining platform.

He forced the Murican troops to leave. When Li Ji and the others arrived, they would take the chance and occupy the mining platform. Even more, they could arrange for people to start mining. Troops might have been sent there to guard that place!

“Brother Blue Whale, let’s go to the mine.”

Fang Qiu hurriedly patted the blue whale.

The blue whale immediately turned around and swam quickly to the right front.

They were moving in the same direction.

However...

The typhoon eye was very likely to pass through the mine. That was why the blue whale didn’t swim in that direction at the start. Nevertheless, it was not too late to go there now!

After ten more minutes...

Fang Qiu finally saw the mining platform and several Huaxia people standing on it.

Obviously, those people also noticed Fang Qiu.

“The typhoon is coming soon. You should avoid it right now!”

Fang Qiu flew straight up and told the soldier on the mining platform. Then he took out his mobile phone and called Li Ji.

“Hello?”

Li Ji answered the phone.

“It is done.”

Fang Qiu said, “The Murican soldiers have been driven away, and our people took the mining platform they left. The task is complete!”

“Okay.”

Li Ji replied excitedly, “A great achievement. Thank you!”

“Don’t thank me in a hurry.”

Fang Qiu shook his head and continued, “I found a typhoon eye some distance from the mine platform. It will at least grow up to be a severe typhoon. Don’t send more people over because I feel it will become violent!”

“A severe typhoon?”

Hearing this, Li Ji was shocked and immediately said, “Okay, I see. I’ll ask someone to watch this place closely!”

Meanwhile, soldiers who occupied the mining platform received the notice in the first place and evacuated from the sea quickly.

Fang Qiu didn’t leave with the soldiers.

After everyone was gone, he flew back to the back of the blue whale and rushed to the coastline of Huaxia.

Just on the way back home...

In Murica...

A military base had been monitoring the underwater mining area. Suddenly, an emergency alarm sounded.

“What’s going on?”

“Sir.”

“The nuclear submarine, Sea Wave III, was collecting sea-bed mineral resources in the Pacific. Its signal disappeared!”

Medical Master

Chapter 1473: A Huge Disaster

In the Presidential Palace of Murica...

“Huaxia! It must be Huaxia!”

“Sea Wave III, we only have 20 such nuclear submarines. Everyone knows the high cost of building a nuclear submarine like this. It’s impossible for Huaxia people not to know about this. Are they declaring war on us?”

“Tell them to hand over the nuclear submarine, or we’ll start a war!”

Several high-level leaders were sitting in the conference room with extremely gloomy faces.

Murica was one of the top five major powers in the world. Never had they suffered such an expected loss!

In the beginning...

They sent people over and occupied the underwater mineral resources by force. At first, they thought Huaxia would denounce them at most. Then, the United Countries Council would handle this case. When this dispute was solved, they must have almost finished mining.

But against all their expectations...

Contrary to its usual practice, Huaxia took a tough attitude this time and even destroyed the nuclear submarine they were proud of.

People in the Presidential Palace were very angry.

Soon after...

Murica issued an official statement.

This was a notice only circulating among the high-level officials of many countries.

“The Sea Wave III nuclear submarine of our army disappeared an hour ago at longitude XX and latitude XX in the Pacific. At present, we have not received any signal from it. Huaxia has always been interested in the two mines we discovered in the local area. It has been confirmed that Huaxia has sent people to go there. We strongly condemn Huaxia’s actions. They should hand over our military submarine immediately!”

Soon, a notice was sent to the leaders of all countries.

For a moment...

The relationship between Murica and Huaxia became tense.

At the same time...

The other countries were also shocked.

No one had expected such a thing to happen between these two major powers.

Did Huaxia hijack the first-rate Murican nuclear submarine? Or did it destroy it?

In shock...

Many countries also began to take sides.

Rashk stepped forward and announced: no country from Europa or Murica was allowed to enter Aesia. It would fight against any country breaking in!

In addition, a large number of countries stood out to support Huaxia. They said a peace-loving country like Huaxia would never do such a thing. Murica should find their problems for this incident!

In the meantime...

Murica's satellite countries jumped out one after another to flatter Murica. It looked as if they desired to see the two countries plunged into a war.

Just then...

Huaxia made a statement.

“Announcement: According to the contract signed between our country and Murica, two Murican underwater mines have been transferred to Huaxia. But after signing the contract, Murica returned to take them forcibly. We consider their behavior a breach of our agreement!”

“We have sent soldiers and army to protect our property. Our mission to protect our property is lawful and justified!”

“We know nothing about the disappearance of the Murican nuclear submarine. Our representative John Doe went to the mining platform in person. Ashamed by him, these people from Murica gave it up voluntarily. When our people found the typhoon eye, they evacuated. They knew nothing about the Murican nuclear submarine!”

As soon as the statement came out...

In an instant, Murica felt embarrassed.

Countries worldwide knew Murica violated the contract. Beyond that, they forcibly occupied others' property.

How shameless they were!

Based on Huaxia's statement...

All the countries began to investigate this matter.

“Who the hell is John Doe?”

“He took stern actions out of a sense of justice and humiliated the other party. Seriously?”

“We don't know who John Doe is, so do you think you can deceive us by mentioning his name?”

“Are you fucking kidding us?!”

How could the Murican nuclear submarine disappear? Everyone wanted to know the answer. Perhaps, they could benefit from it. After all, the Murican nuclear submarine had disappeared. It was a top-class nuclear submarine. What would happen if any country found it? Such a submarine could be of great help to these countries. With it, they could develop technology and imitate manufacturing methods.

Surprisingly...

Everyone looked into it.

They did find the typhoon eye that Huaxia had mentioned.

At this time, the typhoon eye was still accelerating wildly, and the wind was getting increasingly stronger.

People in Murica...

They soon found the typhoon eye's location.

Then the location of the final signal was discovered. The Sea Wave III vanished in the typhoon eye!

Soon...

The news was released.

This time, those Murica people were speechless!

Even so...

Murica senior officials still thought Huaxia must have played some hideous tricks. The Sea Wave III was their top-notch weapon with cutting-edge technologies. How could it rush into a typhoon eye?

But...

Those miners who were forced back brought some information. Only John Doe went there.

However...

How could John Doe deal with a nuclear submarine alone?

Not to mention him...

Even if ten might people like John Doe went there, they would die.

Notably...

Sea Wave III was equipped with torpedoes that could scan and track. Even 600 meters underwater, their speed could reach 80 to 100 kilometers per hour.

With their high speed, no one could escape.

No matter how strong John Doe was, he couldn't do it!

But...

In that case, how would the submarine end up in the typhoon eye?

These Murican senior leaders were confused. They were not sure if John Doe could deal with the nuclear submarine!

...

Here...

Fang Qiu returned to Qiong Island.

After saying goodbye to the blue whale on the coast, Fang Qiu took out his mobile phone. Then he took a taxi to the airport of Qiong Island.

As soon as he arrived at the airport...

Fang Qiu saw emergency news on the TV hanging in the airport lobby.

“Emergency! A huge typhoon rare to see in a hundred years has swept across the Phlippeanes!”

“According to the latest news, a super typhoon invaded the Phlippeanes half an hour ago. More than 100 people have been killed in just a quarter, and hundreds of others are missing. At present, the super typhoon is still in the Phlippeanes. The experts predicted this sudden strong typhoon would last at least three days!”

Fang Qiu heard this report.

He instantly looked up at the TV.

Right now...

The TV was showing images of the Phlippeanes in this disaster.

The whole sky was covered on the TV screen with thick dark clouds. A huge tornado connecting the sky and the earth was moving slowly in the distance. Some not-very-stable buildings were swept up into the sky wherever the typhoon passed. Then they were blown into the sky and fell to the ground far away.

Such a scene was excessively shocking!

After that...

The scene changed.

As the terrifying wind flows brought by the strong typhoon invaded, many pedestrians walking on the streets were blown into the air.

The situation was so out of control that many people hit hazardous places. Some hid behind the trees. They wanted to protect themselves from the wind by holding the trees tightly. Unfortunately, when the typhoon pulled these big trees up by the roots, these people were knocked into the air.

Everyone looked miserable.

Finally, the camera caught a calmer place. However, there was a dense crowd of wounded people. These people were all injured. The eyes of many people were full of pain and despair. There were elder people and children. All of them looked particularly innocent and miserable.

The wind was howling outside the area. Some people could not even shed tears. They were blown away mercilessly before they could even cry out for help.

For a moment...

The whole Philippine was swarming with moaning disaster victims!

All the people waiting at the airport in Qiong Island to board their planes saw the news. They were all shocked.

When everyone saw those pictures, they couldn't help but gasp. After all, the people in those pictures were in a terrible mess.

Of course...

Everyone knew the truth.

These reports about natural disasters were not complete. Those seen by the public were usually less severe. The disaster situations in the local place must be much more serious than those in the news reports!

Only those who had experienced natural disasters knew how terrible these disasters could be.

Thus, it was easy to imagine...

Even these television reports looked so miserable...

How tragic would the disaster sites be?

"So strong?"

Fang Qiu was startled at the news. It never occurred to him that the typhoon eye would exceed level 16. It had become a super typhoon.

The destructive power of such a typhoon was excessively terrifying.

Beyond that...

The disaster was still going on.

This super typhoon had just landed on Philippineans for more than ten minutes. Partly because the typhoon came suddenly, these people there were taken by surprise and had no time to prepare. Unlucky for them, this super typhoon would stay for three days. What would the Philippineans look like after three days?

Thinking of this, Fang Qiu couldn't help mourning silently with his eyes closed!

The news continued.

"Our national emergency department releases the news in the first place. They will set up a medical team to carry out rescue operations in the disaster area. There will be two days for registration. When the disaster is over, rescue workers will rush to the Philippineans with the supplies!"

When Fang Qiu heard this...

He instantly had an impulse to sign up.

Without a second thought...

Fang Qiu took out his mobile phone to call Li Ji.

"Hello?"

Li Ji answered the phone.

"Can I join the rescue team for the disaster area?"

Fang Qiu asked.

“I just received the news.”

With a wry smile, Li Ji said, “Seven highly-skilled doctors have come to request permission. It is said that three more highly-skilled doctors have rushed to the emergency management department. They all want to send relief to a disaster area!”

“Oh?”

Fang Qiu was a little surprised.

He didn’t expect those highly-skilled doctors to react so quickly.

...

In the emergency management department...

A temporary medical office was set up to deal with the typhoon disaster in the Philippines. Seven highly-skilled doctors were squatting in a row at the door. Their average age was over 60.

They were all here to sign up for emergency aid!

“We old people will also contribute to Chinese Medicine.”

“That’s right. We have devoted our lives to Chinese Medicine. Although we are old, our experience is precious. I can also relieve these people in disaster!”

“We’re not dead yet. Please hurry up and make arrangements for us. We must participate in the rescue!”

"It is a major catastrophe. Doctors with modern medical skills can't save so many injured people. How can there be so many instruments to treat everyone? If we old guys go there, we can help. Even if we can't save them on the spot, we can at least stop them from dying!"

The seven aged highly-skilled doctors stubbornly demanded.

Just then...

A leader hurried over.

"Hey, seniors."

As soon as the leader arrived, he quickly opened the door of the temporary medical office. He invited the seven highly-skilled doctors in, served them good tea, and said, "I've just sent out the notice. Why are you here so quickly? I want you to go there, too. But each of you is our national treasure. If anything happens to you, I can't afford to take the responsibility."

Chapter 1474 Because I Am a Doctor

"Bullshit."

An old man with white hair and a beard suddenly slammed his hand on the tea table. With an angry look on his ruddy face, he stood up suddenly and growled out his disapproval, "National treasures? We are not pandas!"

"This is a natural disaster. When confronting such a disaster, we shouldn't have such considerations. We are in good health. You don't have to worry about us. What's more, we doctors know our physical conditions."

Evidently, the elder with white hair and a white beard was angry.

“Elder Yi, I don’t mean to contradict your words. I’m doing this for your safety. It is a super typhoon, and the wind speed exceeds level 16.”

“Even if the typhoon leaves, I’m afraid there might be other accidents. At that time, we can’t guarantee your safety.”

In the office, the director of the temporary medical emergency organization hurriedly explained with a wry smile.

“Do you think we need your help?”

An amiable elder originally had an amiable expression. He showed a heroic spirit but was not aggressive at all. Displeased, he stood up and glanced sideways at the leader, saying, “Yi Banxian is right.”

“We are doctors knowing our state of health. We are going to save more people!”

“The highly-skilled doctor Yu Qing is right.”

Another highly-skilled doctor stood up and echoed, “Fang Qiu has opened a new realm for Chinese Medicine. Elders like us should also do what we can for Chinese Medicine.”

The other highly-skilled doctors nodded in agreement.

If Fang Qiu was here...

He would recognize them.

Five of the seven highly-skilled doctors who volunteered to help were all his old acquaintances.

The first highly-skilled doctor was named Yi Banxian. He was the first one to grant Fang Qiu the Highly-skilled Doctor Certification.

As for Yu Qing, the second highly-skilled doctor, Fang Qiu had asked him for the treasure book of prescriptions. Fang Qiu had been seeing patients in Yu Qing's clinic for two days to get the treasure.

Fang Qiu was more familiar with the other three.

They were Li Zhengtang, Huang Zhengren, and Yang Juanyong. All of them were judges of the first season of Young Chinese Medicine Doctor.

In addition...

The remaining two were Yang Qingfu and Lu Chengze!

Fang Qiu hadn't yet met the two highly-skilled doctors, who were very familiar with what Fang Qiu had done.

Just as Yu Qing, the highly-skilled doctor, said...

Fang Qiu displayed Chinese Medicine abroad. Because of him, leading powers recognized Chinese Medicine. All that he did woke up their youthful enthusiasm.

Even if they were old, they were still doctors of Chinese Medicine. They were determined to work hard for Chinese Medicine's development!

Thus...

While mourning for the victims of this natural disaster, they rushed over immediately and asked to offer their help abroad.

When they went there, they could save many more patients. They could let the world know the strength of doctors of Huaxia Chinese Medicine. Foreigners would know Huaxia had many talented doctors besides Fang Qiu!

“Don’t waste time talking to us. Make arrangements quickly. By saving people this time, we can demonstrate Chinese Medicine’s power to the world!”

Before the other side could speak, Yi Banxian spoke again.

“If you don’t agree, we won’t leave!”

Yu Qing, the highly-skilled doctor, also hummed in protest.

The three highly-skilled doctors were judges of the Young Chinese Medicine Doctor. They wouldn’t budge an inch. As public figures, they should set an example!

These seven highly-skilled doctors looked so determined.

The director of the emergency medical department suddenly had a headache.

“How about this?”

With a wry smile, the director said, “I can’t make the decision. Elders, I’ll first report your requirements to the higher-ups and ask for their instructions. What do you think?”

“Go, go, go. Go ahead.”

Yi Banxian waved his hand and said, “Tell your superiors we will wait here today for the news. We won’t leave without a satisfactory answer!”

The director heard that.

He could only smile bitterly and strode out of the temporary medical office. In a hurry, he went to ask for instructions from his superiors.

The director walked out of the temporary medical office.

He turned around and went to an office of the emergency management department. Then he quickly called to report to his superiors.

“Hello?”

He got through.

“Sir, I have something to report.”

The director picked up the phone and said, “According to the request of the higher-ups, we have newly established a temporary medical office. Seven highly-skilled doctors came and refused to leave. If we don’t send them to offer help in the Philippeanes, they will stay here!”

“Seven?”

A surprised voice came from the other end of the line.

“Yes.”

The director nodded with a wry smile and said, “I heard three more highly-skilled doctors were on their way here. Then, there will be a total of ten highly-skilled doctors.”

“What’s going on?”

A confused voice came from the phone. “How could these highly-skilled doctors get involved? Only Western Medicine doctors were dispatched to provide medical service, right?”

“I don’t know about that. Anyway, they all came here personally and asked to go abroad and help.”

The director said helplessly, “Look, these highly-skilled doctors are all people of high status. They have come in person. I feel it so hard to refuse them. Moreover, with their excellent medical skills, they won’t make things worse.”

“Nonsense.”

A voice came, “There are only 51 highly-skilled doctors in our country. They are all highly-skilled doctors rarer than national treasures!”

“Sir, what do you think I should do? Should I agree to their demands?”

The director asked.

“Wait a minute.”

A hesitant voice sounded, “We have to study it first. Treat those highly-skilled doctors well, serving them good food and drink. See that none of them are neglected..”

“Yes, yes. I understand.”

The director nodded repeatedly.

After he got the instructions...

The director returned to the temporary medical office.

“Elders, our miracle-working doctors...”

As soon as the director entered the door, he greeted them with a big smile and said, "Well, it's not good for you to wait here all the time. How about having a meal with me in the canteen? It's not good to stay hungry."

...

Opposite him...

"The other three highly-skilled doctors will come soon. The higher-ups are hesitating to let these highly-skilled doctors go abroad."

Li Ji, smiling bitterly, told Fang Qiu on the phone.

"Alright, I see."

Fang Qiu nodded knowingly and hung up the phone.

Ten highly-skilled doctors would go abroad to help and show Chinese Medicine to the world. Learning about the news, Fang Qiu lapsed into silence.

"This is the spirit of Chinese Medicine.

"So what if they are old?

"We will remain Chinese Medicine doctors for our life-long time. Our mission in life is to benefit society and save people by practicing medicine!"

Fang Qiu felt a sense of loss.

He took out his mobile phone and logged into his Weibo account.

He quickly edited a brand new Weibo post.

“@Philippeanes Rescue Team of Emergency Management Department, I volunteer to join this medical rescue operation. Please approve!”

There was no extra word.

Soon, this Weibo was released.

It immediately attracted the attention of countless people.

After all...

Fang Qiu was enormously popular. Not to mention his popularity, he had more than 60 million fans. Not long after he published this Weibo post, it got over one million views.

Under such circumstances...

As soon as Fang Qiu's fans saw this post on Weibo, they showed up and remarked with pride.

“But isn't it too dangerous to go there now?”

“This super typhoon in Philippeanes is excessively terrifying. I don't know how many people would have been hurt in the following three days. I hope they can survive this disaster safely.”

“He lives up to his reputation as a prestigious doctor. The first thing coming to his mind is to rescue.”

“This is why I like Fang Qiu so much. I support him firmly. He is an authentic doctor!”

Soon...

With the heated discussions of his fans...

The popularity of this Weibo post soared. It didn't take long for it to become the focus of the public.

Fang Qiu took the initiative to join the rescue team. A large number of netizens praised Fang Qiu. After all, only authentic doctors would think of the rescue in the first place.

Yet...

As more and more people followed this Weibo post, some trolls as disgusting as fleas jumped out occasionally.

"He came out to gain popularity so quickly. Sure enough, he is an entertainment star!"

"He's just a damned traitor. Many domestic patients are waiting for medical help. Yet, he worships foreign things and toadies to foreign powers. After treating some people in Murica, he now asks to treat patients in Phlippeanes. He dares to do anything for fame and wealth."

"Does he think he is amazingly powerful? He is one of the typical traitors who forget their origins!"

For these online trolls...

No matter what happened, they could always find some excuses to niggle others.

Well...

As usual, those fans defended Fang Qiu. But when it came to this matter, even onlookers began condemning these trolls.

“We should stand side by side to fight against disasters!”

“Diseases have no nationality. Chinese Medicine aims at benefiting the whole world. Chinese Medicine doctors have at least a moral obligation to save foreigners. Can’t you trolls be a little broad-minded?”

“Horrifying brainless trolls!”

“How can they be so shameless?”

For a moment...

Countless people jointly attacked these trolls.

Under the siege of the netizens, the trolls gradually quieted down.

And over here...

The National Medical Emergency Management Department had established a medical aid team. It also received the news that Fang Qiu had volunteered to join the rescue team in the first place.

Hearing the news, the director of the medical rescue office felt even more bitter.

Here...

The three highly-skilled doctors had just arrived. He hadn’t even appeased them. And there are still some who want to join in. Now, Fang Qiu also wanted to join in. This troublesome situation frustrated him!

After Fang Qiu posted the Weibo post...

He did not return to Beijiang.

Instead, he bought a plane ticket to the capital.

Soon, he arrived in the capital.

He was wearing a hat and a mask. But too many reporters were waiting at the airport. Not long after Fang Qiu entered, a reporter recognized him.

“You are Fang Qiu, aren’t you?”

Fang Qiu was walking out of the airport. Abruptly, someone walked up to him. Instead of shouting excitedly, he whispered, “I’ve been waiting for you here for a long time. If you accept my interview, I will keep quiet about your appearance. Otherwise, you should know the result if I call out your name, right?”

“What do you want to ask?”

Fang Qiu asked with a wry smile.

“Why did you apply to join the temporary medical assistance team?”

The reporter asked.

“Because I’m a doctor.”

Fang Qiu responded. Then, he paused and turned his head to look around, saying, “Since you’ve asked about this, I think it necessary to share one thing with the public.”

“What’s that?”

The reporter’s eyes lit up.

“Is your car outside? Let’s talk in your car!”

Chapter 1475 Fearless but Ignorant Youngster

They walked out of the airport.

Fang Qiu came to the reporter’s car.

“Where are you going? I’ll give you a ride. You can talk to me on the way.”

The reporter took out a recording pen and was ready to drive.

“No need.”

Fang Qiu shook his head and said, “Just start recording.”

The reporter was stunned.

Then...

He quickly took out his notebook. After leaving the driver’s seat, he sat in the middle row where Fang Qiu was, locked the door, and began to record.

“Actually, I’m not the only one.”

“When the super typhoon landed on the Philippineans, the ten highly-skilled doctors acted in the first place.”

“Each of them is over 60 years old, and they have spent more than half their lives studying and developing Chinese Medicine. They have been doing so in the past and today.

“The emergency management department has set up a medical assistance team. At this time, the ten highly-skilled doctors are waiting outside the door of the medical rescue office. They are all aged but keep the original good intention of Chinese Medicine doctors.

“They all have lost no time in presenting a petition to the head — they desire to rush to the disaster area to treat the injured as soon as possible.

“But because they’re too old, the emergency management department doesn’t dare to agree to their request easily. Then, they decided to stay in the emergency management department. They wouldn’t leave unless they are allowed to go abroad and help!”

When the report heard this, his face changed slightly.

Unexpectedly...

In addition to Fang Qiu, there were so many virtuous doctors.

“They are elders and authentic Chinese Medicine doctors. To save people and develop Chinese Medicine, they can ignore themselves. There might be hardships, difficulties, and even disasters on the way. But despite all of this, they still volunteer to go to the disaster area.

“They are real heroes of Chinese Medicine.”

Fang Qiu stopped there.

“May I know their names?”

The reporter said, “These elderly doctors of Chinese Medicine have put in a lot of hard work. It is so touching. We shouldn’t keep quiet about their sacrifices. I want the whole world to know what great things they have done.”

“I don’t know all of them.”

Fang Qiu shook his head and said, “Maybe you’ll hear their names in the future, but now they share one common name: Chinese Medicine practitioners!”

“I got it.”

The reporter nodded knowingly. “Could I ask some other questions?”

“What are they?”

Fang Qiu asked.

“About Murica.”

The reporter asked, “Can you tell us about the new virus? Is it infectious? Will the virus be very harmful?”

“Sorry, but these problems involve a lot of confidential things. So, it’s improper for me to answer such questions.”

Fang Qiu responded.

Then he got out of the car.

Behind him...

Since Fang Qiu walked away, the reporter knew he couldn't catch up with him and questioned him closely. He looked at the text information that he had just recorded. Then, he hurried back to write a report, ready to publish it.

Soon after...

His news reporter came out.

"A Report at Fang Qiu's Dictation: Deeply Moved by Chinese Medicine Practitioners!"

The title of the news was straightforward and easy to understand.

As soon as the news was released, it attracted much attention.

Of course...

Undoubtedly, this article attracted the greatest number of Chinese Medicine doctors.

Because the title contained Fang Qiu's name, it was soon forwarded. Numerous people liked and followed it.

Countless Chinese Medicine doctors were concerned about the disaster area. As the news spread widely, they volunteered to save people in the disaster area!

Then...

When receiving so many requests, the higher-ups knew well that they couldn't suppress this matter any longer.

At once, they organized people to look into the matter.

At last...

They made a name list for the medical assistance team.

The ten highly-skilled doctors, including Yi Banxian, were on the list. Of course, Fang Qiu and some doctors of brightness were contained in the list. There were a total of 30 people!

Moreover...

In addition to the 30 Chinese Medicine doctors joining the medical assistance team, there was a squad of 30 Western Medicine doctors. The medical assistance team had a total of 60 people. Half the members of this team were doctors in Chinese Medicine, and the rest were doctors in Western Medicine.

After the list came out...

The higher-ups considered many more things, like the flight. These doctors might have to take a connecting flight. To get there as soon as possible, they studied the case. Finally, they decided to assemble the team and send them abroad overnight.

Well...

Fang Qiu was going to go straight to the emergency management department. Halfway there, he received the notice. Immediately, he returned to the airport and waited in the hall.

Just as he returned to the airport...

“Beep, beep, beep...”

Fang Qiu heard his phone suddenly ring.

He took it out to have a look.

It was a call from Li Ji.

“Hello?”

Fang Qiu immediately answered the phone.

“You should have received the news by now, right?”

Li Ji’s voice was heard.

“Yeah.”

Fang Qiu nodded and said, “I’m waiting at the airport now. Is it because the typhoon has moved away? Why should we leave in such a hurry?”

“The super typhoon has been moving and has left the coastline. The meteorological department reported it, and the message from the local embassy has confirmed the news.

“That is to say, the emergency rescue airport at Philippeanes has been put into use. Medical assistance teams from all countries can go there. It’s just that they have to take higher risks.”

Li Ji said briefly.

“That’s good.”

With a nod, Fang Qiu said, “Yes. The earlier we arrive there, the more people we can save, and more accidents can be avoided.”

“But the ten highly-skilled doctors are highly essential!”

Li Ji smiled helplessly and said, “All the ten doctors are national treasures. One-fifth of our domestic highly-skilled doctors have been dispatched to that area. We must guarantee their safety.”

“Yeah.”

Fang Qiu nodded.

“You must ensure the safety of these ten highly-skilled doctors. It will be a heavy loss for us if anything happens to any of them.

“Of course, you must also take good care of yourself!”

When Fang Qiu heard all of this...

He immediately nodded and said, “Don’t worry. Whether as Fang Qiu or John Doe, I will do that!”

“I’m relieved to hear that. Have a safe trip.”

Li Ji nodded and breathed a sigh of relief. Then he ended the call.

Soon after...

All the people joining the temporary medical team came to the airport.

Fang Qiu had been hiding in the crowd. Right away, he walked over. After revealing his identity, he went to the VIP lounge with others.

When Fang Qiu entered the VIP lounge...

He took off his hat and mask, revealing his face.

When the ten highly-skilled doctors saw Fang Qiu...

They immediately came up to him.

“Good boy, well done.”

Yi Banxian walked up to Fang Qiu. With a bright smile, he patted Fang Qiu on the shoulder and said, “I’ve never misjudged anyone in my life!”

“Thank you so much, Senior.”

Fang Qiu nodded to express his gratitude.

He thanked Yi Banxian for the first Highly-skilled Doctor Certification from him and his appreciation.

“I’m relieved to see you here.”

At this moment, Li Zhengtang and the other two judges of the Young Chinese Medicine Doctor also came over. They looked at Fang Qiu with satisfaction.

“Hello, Uncle Li.”

Fang Qiu hurriedly nodded and greeted the ten highly-skilled doctors respectfully.

After the greeting...

“Brat.”

Yu Qing stared at Fang Qiu and said with a faint smile, “You haven’t returned my book yet, have you?”

“Huh?”

Fang Qiu was stunned and thought about it carefully. Indeed, he had borrowed a book from Yu Qing, the highly-skilled doctor. But after he figured out what was in the book, he forgot to return it.

“When this matter is over, I’ll personally deliver it to you.”

Fang Qiu hurriedly said with a wry smile.

“Forget it.”

Yu Qing, the highly-skilled doctor, waved his hand and said, “It’s just a medical book. It should be passed down to people who help the world. You’ve done a good job in the past two years. It’s only right and proper that I give you the medical book.”

“Thank you so much, Senior.”

Fang Qiu thanked him in time.

“Fang Qiu?”

The previous five highly-skilled doctors had met him before. Besides them, the other five highly-skilled doctors also came over, looking at Fang Qiu with appreciation.

“Hey, let me introduce them to you.”

Li Zhengtang, most familiar with Fang Qiu, walked out of the crowd. Approaching the five highly-skilled doctors, he grabbed a thin elder and said, “This is Yang Qingfu, a highly-skilled doctor.”

“Nice to meet you, Senior.”

Fang Qiu hurriedly greeted.

Li Zhengtang pulled over the second one, a tall and slightly flabby old man. He then introduced, “This is the highly-skilled doctor Lu Chengze.”

The third one was Xu Lai. In linen clothes, this elder looked like a fisherman fishing in the river. He struck Fang Qiu as a competent doctor who knew his extraordinary capabilities.

Bu Chunqiu, the fourth doctor, was holding a canvas. He dressed like a warlock in ancient times. Also, he looked quite like an untrustworthy charlatan. He had a goatee and often coughed with his hands covering his mouth.

The fifth was an old man in an antique hat in the Sixties or Seventies. Though he was bowed with age, his eyes were shining brightly. His name was Zhou Shizhan.

Li Zhengtang introduced all of them.

Fang Qiu greeted each one with great respect.

After they exchanged greetings...

“Cough, cough...”

Bu Chunqiu, the doctor with a canvas, coughed a few more times.

“Senior Bu.”

When Li Zhengtang introduced him, Fang Qiu felt it was improper to ask about his physical condition. Now, after the introduction, he heard Bu Chunqiu’s cough again. Fang Qiu immediately asked with concern, “Your cough sounds unusual. Please do not laugh at me, but I wonder if I can take a look at you?”

All the highly-skilled doctors present heard his modest request.

All of them burst into laughter.

They eyed Fang Qiu with interest — young people were always fearless. As the saying said, newborn calves are not afraid of tigers.

“Well, Old Bu’s cough is not a disease.”

Yu Qing, the highly-skilled doctor, stood up and smiled. “He was injured internally when young, and even his lungs were damaged. Though a long time passed by, he has barely begun to recover. That’s why he can’t stop coughing!”

“Doctors can cure diseases and heal injuries.”

Fang Qiu said with a smile.

As this group of highly-skilled doctors heard that, they immediately became interested. Some of them had never seen Fang Qiu. With this chance, they felt like testing Fang Qiu and seeing how capable he could be.

Of course, they didn’t think Fang Qiu could heal Bu Chunqiu. Nevertheless, it would be impressive if he could see the problem.

Afterward...

Those highly-skilled doctors observed him while dozens of people in the medical assistance team gathered to watch the fun. Under their gazes, Fang Qiu began to perform the Four Methods to Diagnose a Disease to diagnose him.

After he completed this process...

Fang Qiu found Bu Chunqiu indeed had internal injuries. His lungs were hurt.

After Fang Qiu confirmed the source of the injury...

He sought Bu Chunqiu's permission before treating him.

Walking behind this highly-skilled doctor, Fang Qiu gently pressed his hands on his lungs. Slowly, he poured his internal Qi into Bu Chunqiu.

Meanwhile, Fang Qiu's mental power also drilled into his body. It guided his internal Qi to enter Bu Chunqiu's injured lungs quickly. Then, he began to nourish and heal them carefully.

Chapter 1476 Someone Is in the Water!

Soon...

Nourished by internal Qi, the internal injury in Bu Chunqiu's lungs began healing gradually.

At the beginning of the treatment, Bu Chunqiu kept coughing. Then, he coughed less and less. In the end, his coughing miraculously stopped.

“Done.”

Fang Qiu withdrew his palms from the highly-skilled doctor Bu Chunqiu’s back and smiled, saying, “Senior Bu, I think you won’t cough again.”

“Eh?”

Bu Chunqiu was slightly stunned at his words. Then he noticed he seemed to have stopped coughing.

Before the treatment...

He would cough violently after a few words.

But now, a few minutes had passed, but he had no intention of coughing.

Could it be that he was fully recovered?

Bu Chunqiu and other highly-skilled doctors were stunned. Yi Banxian even stepped forward to feel Bu Chunqiu’s pulse.

“What a brilliant guy!”

Right after taking his pulse, Yi Banxian widened his eyes. Surprised, he looked at Fang Qiu and said, “The invisible injury on Old Bu’s lung is gone?”

Hearing this, everyone went forward to measure his pulse.

After their thorough investigations...

They confirmed the highly-skilled doctor Bu Chunqiu’s internal injury had been cured.

“Ahhh, I’ve been recuperating for many years but didn’t get any better. How did you make it?”

Bu Chunqiu asked in surprise.

The others also watched Fang Qiu curiously.

Around them...

Other members of the medical assistance team also came up. All their eyes were focused on Fang Qiu’s face when they waited for his answer.

“Well, I used Qi.”

Fang Qiu hurriedly explained, “Qi was added to the treatment. Others mobilize Qi in humans with medicine, needles, or chiropractic. But because I have practiced Qi, I can directly mobilize it.”

When the ten highly-skilled doctors heard his words...

They suddenly understood it and looked at Fang Qiu with appreciation.

“A young talent indeed .”

Bu Chunqiu exclaimed with joy.

It was his old weakness for many years. But with a few moves, a junior cured it. Bu Chunqiu felt delighted and proud.

It meant the bright future of Huaxia Chinese Medicine.

Meanwhile...

The highly-skilled doctors praised Fang Qiu in their hearts.

Doctors in ancient times might mobilize Qi in Chinese Medicine. However, Chinese Medicine had declined, and various medical skills had been lost. In recent hundreds of years, no one could cure diseases with Qi.

He didn't expect Fang Qiu to be so potent.

Not to mention other things...

He could cure diseases with Qi.

These highly-skilled doctors would admire him for this skill alone.

After all, Qi could not be easily gained at will. It required talent and the great power of determined will!

"Is there such a way to treat patients?"

"I've long heard you let the whole world know the existence of Qi. But we have never felt Qi, not to mention utilizing it."

"Yeah. Enlighten us on the spot. Shall we learn it?"

"I also want to study the method of practicing Qi."

The other 19 members of the medical assistance team came forward, asking for advice.

Thereupon...

Fang Qiu and the highly-skilled doctors began explaining the Qi in Chinese Medicine to these people. It was a medical aid team of thirty people. When team members communicated with each other, the academic atmosphere was electric.

Over there...

Thirty members of the Western Medicine team came over.

They were surprised to see Fang Qiu cure Bu Chunqiu's hidden disease. Such a disease was almost incurable in Western Medicine.

If they had to treat it, an operation was necessary.

Unexpectedly...

Fang Qiu just made a simple move and cured the disease without medicine.

They were amazed at Chinese Medicine's magic power.

Besides...

Out of curiosity, these Western Medicine doctors stood aside, listening to those Chinese Medicine doctors discussing their academic issues. The more they heard, the more astonished they became.

Soon after...

It was time to board the plane.

There came the staff of the airport and the emergency management. With their cooperation, everyone began orderly boarding the plane.

At the airport...

Many reporters had been waiting to take photos when Fang Qiu and the others boarded the plane.

These doctors walked out of the VIP lounge at the airport.

Without a doubt, the whole Chinese Medicine team was exposed to all the reporters' cameras. At once, these reporters waiting for them began taking photos deftly.

Of course...

As reporters, they were focused on photographing the popular Fang Qiu spontaneously.

All photos centered around Fang Qiu.

Fang Qiu was highlighted in their pictures.

In particular, Fang Qiu had been considerate and modest to these elders. These reporters recorded all the touching moves Fang Qiu had made unintentionally.

Soon after...

These photos were all uploaded to the Internet.

In addition to the photos, reporters interpreted Fang Qiu's various small movements. They rained praises on Fang Qiu and especially commended his respectful and modest attitude toward the seniors.

Soon...

Numerous netizens reposted these photos.

Many people commented on these pictures.

“Fang Qiu is nice and very modest. I wish them a safe trip! They can save many more people.”

“All nationalities should confront natural disasters together. I bless them and pray for the people in the stricken area!”

“Huaxia is such a country full of love. That’s why I love my country so much. I wish my compatriots all the best. I hope you can save more people.”

This time, the comments were very positive.

No troll dared to argue against them at this time.

In addition to praising Fang Qiu, everyone prayed for those in the disaster area.

After all...

The disaster brought by the super typhoon was awful.

...

On the plane, they stopped talking and took a rest to adjust their state.

Whether Chinese Medicine or Western Medicine doctors...

Everyone on the plane knew very well: their combat would begin once the plane landed. It would be a battle against death. Therefore, they had to adjust their state and go all out to fight!

A few hours later...

The plane landed safely at an emergency airport set up temporarily.

Since the spacious airport was built in a high place, the super typhoon had not done very much harm to it.

Well...

This group got off the plane and boarded the transport plane sent by the Philippine government. They could clearly see everything on the ground through the plane's windows.

Almost all the coastal areas below were submerged by the water.

Ocean waves smashed cars and houses.

Some buildings had even collapsed into fragments, and everything was scattered about in a mess. They could only see a scene of complete devastation. This place looked less like a city than a ruin.

It looked as if this city had gone through a war without gunpowder.

As Fang Qiu saw these scenes, his heart sank.

A natural calamity...

It was even more terrifying than a war,

Why would a lot of people think wars shouldn't exist? The universe seems to be quite ruthless to living beings. How could humans initiatively start wars?

Not just Fang Qiu...

Others also watched these tragic scenes with sinking hearts.

No one had expected it.

How could a typhoon cause such terrible consequences?

"Hello, dear members of the Huaxia rescue team. I'm a staff member of the emergency department in Phlippeanes. You can call me Jacques. On behalf of all the people in Phlippeanes, I sincerely thank you for your rescue mission.

"Thanks for Huaxia's help.

"But the typhoon has just passed this area. It might move to other places. You might be in danger since we can't predict its direction.

"I hope all of you take extra security precautions. Thank you again."

Someone on the transport plane broadcast in unskilled Huaxia language.

After that...

A middle-aged man with a very high forehead came out. He greeted and thanked everyone.

Just then...

“Someone is down there.”

Fang Qiu had been observing the situation on the ground. Suddenly, he frowned and said, “Someone is in the water below!”

When everyone in the cabin heard his words...

They were stunned.

People sitting by the windows looked down but found no one.

“Believe me. Someone is down there.”

With a deep frown, Fang Qiu said, “I saw it clearly. Lower the plane to save the person.”

Undoubtedly...

Members of the Huaxia emergency management department believed in Fang Qiu. No one saw the person, but since Fang Qiu was so sure, it was improper to deny it. Immediately, a man stood up and approached Jacques to communicate with him.

When Jacques heard the words of this official from Huaxia...

He was also surprised. In a hurry, he walked to the window and checked the situation. However, he couldn't see anything at all.

“There is a person. You must lower the plane without delay.”

Fang Qiu was anxious and said, “A human life depends on us. We could save him!”

Jacques heard this.

He had no choice but to ask the pilot to lower the plane and let it hover over this area.

Unsurprisingly...

As soon as the plane flew lower, everyone saw a person in the water lying on a branch of a big tree. It must be the typhoon that pulled up the large tree by the roots. This person seemed to be holding something in his hand.

“Do you have a parachute?”

Fang Qiu asked when seeing the person.

“No.”

Jacques also said anxiously, “This is an emergency transport plane. It is not equipped with parachutes.”

Everyone heard this desperate answer.

They were instantly dumbfounded.

How could they save the person without a parachute?

However...

Since they had already seen this situation, they couldn't just watch the person die, could they?

For a moment...

Everyone frowned and began to think of a solution.

Just then...

“I’ll go!”

Fang Qiu thought he couldn’t wait any longer. At once, he stood up and said, “Captain, please lower the plane and try to get as close to the ground as possible. This place is covered with seawater. When the plane is close enough to the water surface, I can jump off it.”

“Are you crazy?”

The Huaxia official suddenly panicked.

How dare he let Fang Qiu jump down like this?

“It is okay.”

Fang Qiu shook his head and said, “We have ropes. I can go down by pulling the rope. When the plane descends to a certain height, I can go down a distance with the rope. Then, I believe I can reach the person.”

Afterward...

Fang Qiu rummaged through the supplies brought by the emergency management. He found a strong and long rope from them and fastened it to somewhere.

“After I save this person, please pull me up.”

With this...

The plane descended again.

The typhoon had destroyed almost all the high-rise buildings in this city. Therefore, the pilot in command of this transport plane dared to lower it to about twenty meters above the ground.

Fang Qiu grabbed the rope and jumped down!

Chapter 1477 I'm a Chinese Medicine Doctor from Huaxia, My Name Is Fang Qiu

"Whoosh!"

Fang Qiu jumped out of the plane more than ten meters above the water surface. Grabbing the rope, he dove upside down into the water like a diving athlete.

The people in the cabin shivered at this sight.

Though the plane was high above the water, he jumped down by merely grabbing the rope. How courageous was he to do this?

At this very moment...

All the Chinese Medicine practitioners concerned for Fang Qiu couldn't help clenching their fists tightly.

These Western Medicine doctors couldn't help but feel worried.

Jacques had been standing at the cabin door. With a nervous and concerned look, he stared fixedly at Fang Qiu. Even the rims of his eyes started to burn. He put his palms together devoutly before his chest and constantly prayed for Fang Qiu.

He knew that...

At first glance, this area was full of water. But because a violent typhoon had just hit this area, no one knew what was in the water.

Perhaps, nothing was below.

Perhaps, there was a boulder, a knife, some broken steel bars, and even lots of glass fragments below.

The more Jacques thought about it, the more flustered he became.

He was so agitated that he couldn't help trembling.

As a local, he could hardly imagine Fang Qiu's actions. This trapped person was a complete stranger to this foreign doctor. How could Fang Qiu risk his life to save him?

It was an act of dauntless heroism!

"Thump."

Fang Qiu fell into the water.

As soon as he entered the water, he summoned his internal Qi and formed a shield before him.

Fang Qiu was also afraid there would be something dangerous in the water.

Well...

He was lucky.

There was nothing in the water in this area.

When Fang Qiu was in the water...

He immediately dispersed his internal Qi and poked his head out of the water. First, he waved at the people on the transport plane. Then, he turned his head to search for the trapped person.

Before long...

He saw the person about seven or eight meters away.

Fang Qiu grabbed the rope and swam quickly toward the big tree. The person was clinging to it.

Fortunately, the rope was long enough.

When Fang Qiu swam to the big tree, the person on the branch turned his head. It was a young man in his twenties.

He raised his face stained with mud and looked at Fang Qiu, his eyes alive with hope.

Upon closer inspection, Fang Qiu saw his mouth covered with bloody wounds and his clothes in tatters. His body had several cuts, and he was trembling rapidly.

Fang Qiu couldn't bear to see his miserable look.

Without a second thought...

He carefully made sure the tree would not sink. Then, Fang Qiu quickly climbed up and picked up the trembling young man.

Fang Qiu was about to wave to the people on the transport plane.

“Woo, woo...”

The young man in his arms suddenly cried out.

Fang Qiu paused.

Then...

The young man raised his hand.

A rope was in his hand.

Fang Qiu looked toward the other end of the rope. A puppy was sitting huddled in a branch on the top of the tree. It was wet all over, shivering helplessly.

Without hesitation...

Fang Qiu walked over.

He held the man and the puppy in his right hand and waved to the people on the plane with his left hand. Then he grabbed the rope tightly.

The people on the plane saw this.

At the command of the Huaxia official, dozens of people grabbed the rope together. Everyone exerted all their strength, just as in a game of tug-of-war.

It didn't take much effort for dozens of people to pull up two people and a dog. Thus, they rose fast.

They were more than ten meters down the plane.

In less than three minutes...

The others pulled Fang Qiu and the injured up.

Fang Qiu climbed up after others took the injured and the dog away.

Jacques quickly closed the door.

He informed the pilot to raise the plane and go on advancing. Right after that, he turned around and gripped Fang Qiu's hand excitedly. He said in a trembling voice, "Thank you! Thank you so much!"

"It's my pleasure."

Fang Qiu patted him on the shoulder with a smile and turned to see the injured person.

"Clap, Clap, Clap..."

Everyone in the cabin stood up and applauded.

They all looked at Fang Qiu with respect.

They knew how difficult and risky his rescue was. Nevertheless, Fang Qiu jumped down. Could any of the others have the guts to do the same thing?

Chinese Medicine doctors might do it. However, with their hands on their hearts, these Western Medicine doctors knew they couldn't do it!

There...

The trembling young man in his twenties squatted in the corner of the cabin. Touching the puppy's head, he propped himself up and walked over, trembling. Then he took Fang Qiu's hand.

"Woo..."

He cried before he could say a word.

In an instant...

The rims of her eyes turned red and swollen.

He looked in great misery, making people feel sorry for him.

Fang Qiu saw this.

He reached out and patted him on the shoulder.

But the young man couldn't stop crying. He wailed so bitterly that he squatted down in pain. With his head in his hands, he was choked with tears.

Fang Qiu didn't say anything.

Holding his hands, Fang Qiu squatted beside him and waited quietly.

The others also watched the young man silently.

Natural disasters...

They were all quite scary.

A young man in his twenties had just experienced such a terrible disaster and survived. He had just brushed shoulders with death.

Who could understand his feelings?

It was good to let him vent all the emotions in his heart!

After a long time...

The young man slowly stopped crying.

"It's okay."

Fang Qiu patted him on the shoulder and said, "It's all right now. You're safe. If you have anything to say, tell me."

The young man looked up at Fang Qiu.

Fang Qiu spoke in Anglanish.

The official languages of Phlippeanes were Tagyalog and Anglanish.

It was obvious...

The young man understood his words.

“No. Everything is gone.”

The young man said, his painful tears falling like falling rain, “My home was ruined, and I lost contact with my family. I have nothing left.”

“No.”

Fang Qiu shook his head and comforted him. “But you are still alive. Your family must be alive. Your home is damaged, but you can rebuild it. So you should cherish your life.”

“Have a rest first. We’ll help you deal with your wounds to avoid infection.”

Fang Qiu comforted him.

Only then did the young man sit at the back of the cabin. He wanted to hold the puppy but was stopped by the Western Medicine doctors. A group of Western Medicine doctors quickly took out various medicines for external injuries to disinfect and bandage his wounds.

Over here...

Fang Qiu returned to his seat. One after another, the other Chinese Medicine doctors also sat down.

Disinfecting and dressing his wounds...

It was more convenient and faster for Western Medicine doctors to complete such procedures. After all, disinfectants and gauze were all ready-made products.

The plane continued to fly forward.

Everyone sat with a heavy heart.

Next...

They would encounter injured people like him. Many might be even more miserable than him. Besides this young man, dozens, hundreds, or even thousands of injured people would appear!

Their hearts grew heavier as they pondered this rescue mission.

Half an hour later...

The plane landed on a very spacious site.

When the plane landed steadily, Philippinean local officials immediately ran up to welcome them

The Huaxia rescue team...

Under the Huaxia officials' guidance, they orderly got off the plane and lined up.

"Thanks. Thanks a lot."

The local leader rushed forward. Holding one Huaxia official's hand, he said, "Thank you so much. It's so great that you come here to help. I appreciate so much your willingness to help us."

"It is what we should do."

The Huaxia official nodded and asked, "Are there any rescue teams from other countries?"

“They are still on the way.”

The local leader said, “Huaxia is the first foreign rescue team arriving in our country. Thank you so much.”

All the members of the Huaxia rescue team heard this.

They were exceptionally proud.

The local leader kept shaking his hands to express his gratitude. Then he came forward and shook hands with all members of the medical rescue team. He pleaded with everyone to try their best and save as many people as possible.

Everyone made their promises.

Then...

The local leader quickly arranged for people to transport the first batch of emergency supplies from Huaxia. Most of the rest of the supplies were on the way.

They finished transporting goods and materials.

Another transport plane flew over when the Huaxia medical rescue team was about to set off.

It was a medical aid team from another country.

The crowd got out of its way.

When the plane landed, they saw the medical rescue team getting off the plane.

Immediately, the local leader went up to express their gratitude.

After thanking them, he began introducing them to each other.

“This is the Huaxia medical rescue team with two squads: one Western Medicine squad and one Chinese Medicine squad.”

The local leader introduced.

“Chinese Medicine doctors?”

Right after the introduction...

Some members of the medical rescue team suddenly laughed disdainfully. While sneering, they muttered, “What can Chinese Medicine do here?”

When these Huaxia people heard that...

There...

Their faces changed. They were displeased because the other party was overly disrespectful.

In the crowd...

Hearing the man’s words, Fang Qiu went straight out. Eyes on the man who talked in whispers, he said, “I’m a Huaxia Chinese Medicine doctor. My name is Fang Qiu. May I know who you are?”

As the words went out of his mouth...

Over there...

Everyone was shocked!

“Fang Qiu!”

They were Western Medicine doctors from Western countries. Therefore, they also heard of Fang Qiu’s remarkable achievements in Murica.

To their surprise...

This time, Huaxia sent Fang Qiu here.

For a moment...

All the Western Medicine doctors present were stunned!

In their hearts, they indeed looked down on Chinese Medicine doctors who were incapable in their eyes. But they didn’t dare to look down upon Fang Qiu at all. How could any of them have the guts to criticize Fang Qiu?

They couldn’t do what Fang Qiu was capable of.

They couldn’t cure the diseases Fang Qiu had cured!

Thus...

When Fang Qiu showed his identity...

These Western Medicine doctors immediately shut up, feeling embarrassed to the extreme.

“Humph.”

Fang Qiu snorted and said, “This is a disaster area. Our medical rescue team represents our country to provide medical aid in Philippineans. We are here to provide disaster relief, not to compete with others.

“Doctors know no national boundaries when saving patients. Both Chinese Medicine and Western Medicine can save people’s lives. If you despise our Chinese Medicine doctors, you should save more people than us. If you can’t do it, shut up!”

Afterward...

Fang Qiu returned to his team.

When these Huaxia people saw their embarrassed looks, they breathed a sigh of relief.

Over there...

All the Western Medicine doctors fell silent.

Soon after...

The local leader divided them into different groups.

The disaster area was very vast. The losses in each place caused by the disaster were serious. Therefore, they had to be split into groups and go to different places for emergency medical aid.

Soon...

All of them were divided into groups.

Thirty Chinese Medicine doctors were divided into three groups with three, three, and four highly skilled doctors. Fang Qiu and three highly-skilled doctors were assigned to the first group. Immediately, they all rushed to the predetermined area to relieve the disaster victims.

Chapter 1478 Heavy Rainfall, Trapped Vehicles, Rescue!

They were split up into groups.

“We are now in Burgyos on Philippeanes’s coastline. It is very far away from Manilla, the capital of Philippeanes. The super typhoon had passed the disaster area, but you must be careful when performing the rescue mission.”

“Our first team’s destination is Bintar, a coastal town. As the disaster occurred, it was seriously damaged.”

“Come on, everyone. Let’s save more people.”

Yi Banxian, the first group leader, took the initiative to cheer everyone up.

Soon...

The emergency transport helicopter prepared by the government arrived.

The first group was led by three highly-skilled doctors: Yi Banxian, Bu Chunqiu, and Yu Qing. There was Fang Qiu, the other nine Chinese Medicine doctors, and ten Western Medicine doctors. They hurriedly boarded the plane and rushed to Bintar.

The helicopter could quickly take them from Burgyos to Bintar.

The first team...

They soon arrived in Binter.

High in the sky, Fang Qiu could clearly see a huge coral beach below. By the sea were many excessively luxurious hotels.

This place seemed to have been a thriving tourist resort in Phlippeanes. Most of the people trapped here couldn't be locals. Instead, they should be tourists from other countries.

Right now...

After the super typhoon, almost all the buildings in the not-so-big town collapsed.

Many trees had been uprooted by the roots.

The seawater had already submerged half of the town!

The situation after the disaster was visible to the naked eye.

Some people already walked on the streets, but they were all injured. However, no one had come to help them as they looked around for hope.

When they saw the helicopter, their eyes lit up.

One by one, they rushed to the temporary rescue station set up by the local officials.

Soon, the helicopter landed at the temporary rescue station.

Fang Qiu and the others quickly got off the plane.

The accompanying staff came out with the supplies. Quickly, they moved different items into the rescue station, ready to distribute them to everyone.

Help arrived.

The local officials immediately arranged for Fang Qiu and the others to enter the area for the wounded.

It was a very large emergency warehouse.

It was specially built to deal with natural disasters, just like the grain management offices all over Huaxia. However, seawater brought by the super typhoon washed away the food stored in it.

All the wounded were tired, thirsty, and hungry!

The supplies arrived.

Everyone saw hope.

“There are too many patients. Let’s start working. Cure them if you can. Otherwise, ask us for help.”

Yi Banxian said.

“Okay.”

Everyone nodded in unison.

Then, led by the three highly-skilled doctors, everyone began treating their patients.

During the treatments...

More and more people came to the temporary rescue station.

As Fang Qiu had expected, most patients were foreigners, and the locals were only a small number.

Because of this...

Everyone paid more attention to the treatment.

This time...

To provide medical assistance...

They brought all the medical tools they could, including tools for moxibustion and acupuncture.

They even brought ready-made medicinal potions. Patients could drink their medicinal potions just by heating them up.

There were ten Chinese Medicine doctors.

None of them dared to waste a second.

After seeing one injured person, they accepted the next one without a break.

In addition to treating patients with all kinds of tools, every Chinese Medicine doctor used methods like Four Methods to Diagnose a Disease and acupuncture. They tried their best to cure every patient coming to them.

They worked without resting.

All the patients received the food and began to eat in large mouthfuls. Yet, Fang Qiu and the others still didn't even take a sip of water to moisten their throats.

It was such a touching sight.

The wounded witnessed all of this.

When they received treatments, they would ask which country these doctors came from. After these doctors dressed and treated their wounds, these patients repeatedly thanked them.

Some patients with minor injuries were willing to share their food and water with doctors to express their gratitude.

In a blink of an eye...

A day passed by.

Even when it was getting dark, they had not finished treating all the patients. They continued accepting patients to treat them.

Here...

Fang Qiu looked around. Except for himself, the three highly-skilled doctors saw the most patients at the fastest speed. The other Chinese Medicine doctors accepted patients at a lower pace, but they did their best to diagnose and bandage these patients.

"Seniors, it has been an entire day. You all should rest first."

Fang Qiu hurriedly advised them for fear that the three couldn't stand it. Though over sixty years old, all three highly-skilled doctors had been making all-out efforts to treat the patients.

Unexpectedly...

After Fang Qiu's persuasion...

The three highly-skilled doctors, Yi Banxian, Bu Chunqiu, and Yu Qing, shook their heads one after another. They didn't want to rest and continued bandaging and treating their patients.

Seeing this, Fang Qiu knew he couldn't persuade them. He could only give a wry smile. In his heart, he deeply admired the three highly-skilled doctors. At the same time, he sped up to treat the wounded.

Since the three highly-skilled doctors felt reluctant to rest, he could only try his best to accept as many patients as possible. By doing so, the others would not be exhausted.

Near them...

The Western Medicine doctors who followed them here were also busy disinfecting and dressing the wounds on their injuries. Meanwhile, they monitored their physical indices. These Chinese Medicine doctors never stopped curing diseases and saving lives despite all the hardships.

These Western Medicine doctors were deeply touched by their indomitable spirit.

They all sighed with emotion and looked at these Chinese Medicine doctors, their eyes full of admiration.

Originally...

They wanted to have a rest.

Anyway, they couldn't finish bandaging so many patients in a short time.

But even the three old doctors of Chinese Medicine in their sixties were unwilling to rest. How could they slack off and relax?

Immediately, everyone put all their energies into their work!

Just then...

“Pitter-patter...”

It suddenly rained cats and dogs outside.

On a windy day, the heavy rain always caught people off guard.

However...

No one cared about it. They continued treating their patient with all their might.

The rescue lasted until the middle of the night.

At the request of Fang Qiu and other local officials, they ate some bread and drank water. After that, they went on to provide medical treatment.

Fortunately...

Although lots of injured people came, few suffered terrible injuries.

Most of them just got some bruises or fractures, so these doctors could handle the situation!

At one o'clock in the morning...

They would finally finish treating all the injured. There were only a dozen or so patients with minor injuries.

Right now...

The heavy rain outside did not stop and became heavier and heavier.

“Clatter, clatter, clatter...”

Suddenly, there was a rush of footsteps.

A local rushed in and shouted at everyone, “More than a dozen rescue vehicles are on their way here, but they are all trapped in the mud a few miles away. The rain is so heavy. Hurry up and come to help. It’ll be too late when the sea tides come!”

When everyone in the warehouse heard that...

They were shocked.

The goods and materials in a dozen rescue vehicles?

They might be the only supplies transported here in the near future. If waves washed them away, it would be troublesome.

The local officials started getting worried.

These wounded people were even more anxious.

Without supplies, they would die of thirst and starvation. What was worse, they might even freeze to death in sleep. The temperature on windy days would decline sharply!

But...

Who should go out to rescue these precious materials?

Those injured people or those who had fractures couldn't go there.

Moreover, as the rainstorm came, this area must be full of perils and pitfalls. It would be too dangerous to go out now. Besides, that place was on the shore and far away. On the way there, they might be buried by mud-rock flows!

Thinking of those possibilities, they fell silent.

The local official was anxious.

Most of these people were tourists from other places. If they were locals, he could try to mobilize them. How could he arouse these visitors to help?

In this case, he could only do it himself.

With this in mind...

The local official rolled up his sleeves and was ready to solve the problem in person.

"I'll go."

Fang Qiu said, "I'm not injured; almost all the patients have been treated. I can go to the rescue."

The local official took a look at him.

Though a little excited, he said with a wry smile, “You’re alone. It’s useless for you to go there. There are more than a dozen rescue vehicles. How can you help them?”

When the others heard this...

Some young people were slightly injured. At this time, their wounds had been bandaged. When Fang Qiu volunteered to help, they no longer hesitated and offered to help.

Soon...

More than a dozen young people gathered together.

“Come here and put on the raincoats.”

The local official brought the raincoats and tools. He was also ready to go with them.

“You should stay.”

Fang Qiu took the raincoat and told him, “You need to manage this place and contact the outside world. Leave the rescue to us!”

After that...

Fang Qiu led the team. There were young people and several members of the Huaxia medical team who chose to help. With raincoats, they ran fast outside after the messenger.

The place was a few miles away.

This group ran for a long time and finally arrived.

When they reached the place...

Everyone was dumbfounded.

Right there...

More than a dozen rescue vehicles were trapped in the mud flow caused by landslides. Since the mud flow had covered the road, these cars went to the roadside near the beach.

As a result, they got stuck in the mud flow and the sand on the beach.

All the sand was very damp.

Therefore, just as these vehicles were here, they could move forward. Unfortunately, they were all gradually trapped on their way ahead. As time went by, they sank deeper and deeper.

Almost half of the first three cars were in the mud.

Drivers of more than a dozen rescue vehicles had found a lot of stones. They dug and removed the mud before the first car, trying to put some rocks under it. Unfortunately, it had sunk too deep for them to push it out.

“We should push these vehicles together. Let’s deal with them one by one.”

Fang Qiu called out.

Then the group of people...

There were now more than thirty people, including the drivers. In the heavy rain, they rushed up and grabbed different parts of the first car. Then, they began pushing it desperately.

However...

This vehicle was surrounded by sand. When everyone exerted their strength, their feet sank into the sand. In this way, they could not exert any force to push the car.

However, no one gave up.

They knew this was the only way.

“The driver, get in the car and start the engine.”

Fang Qiu shouted loudly.

It rained harder and harder. Fang Qiu knew they didn’t have much time left. Immediately, he secretly activated his internal Qi and planned to push it out with his internal Qi. Otherwise, even if they worked until dawn, they couldn’t get these cars out of the sand!

Chapter 1479 Drive Past It!

“Boom, boom...”

In the heavy rain, continuous engine roars sounded.

The driver tried to step on the accelerator and drove the vehicle forward. But once the car moved, he feared it might sink deeper. Then, it would be more difficult for them to push it out.

Right now...

Nearly thirty people around the car were trying their best to push it from all directions. They intended to cooperate with the driver and get the car out.

“Pitter-patter ...”

The heavy rain kept falling on the mud.

As the rainwater seeped in, the mud became softer and softer.

Under such circumstances...

In the distance, the waves were approaching the beach little by little. If they didn’t push the cars out as soon as possible, seawater would submerge this area when the waves arrived. At that time, all the vehicles would completely sink into the sand and mud.

Everyone was anxious.

Fang Qiu was standing at the back.

He activated his internal Qi and pushed hard with others.

At once, they pushed the car some distance forward. When the tires pressed on the rocks placed there in advance, everyone put forth their strength together.

The whole car immediately rushed out of the mud area and was pushed onto the road.

Everyone was amazed.

Their eyes lit up. Full of energy, they quickly went back to push the second vehicle.

“Everyone, don’t crowd together.”

Fang Qiu shouted and added, “Some go and find some big stones to pave the way. Only some people will be needed to push the cars.

“The rain is getting heavier. We have to speed up!”

As he spoke...

Seven or eight people took the initiative to look for stones.

Each returned with one rock and filled the sand pit that stuck the first car.

Back here...

Under Fang Qiu’s guidance...

More than twenty people were pushing the car with effort.

The car was pushed out of the mud very smoothly.

Then they turned to the third car.

At this time, the drivers of more than a dozen rescue vehicles were drenched in the heavy rain.

One driver even stumbled with a slightly pale face. Seeing this, Fang Qiu quickly took off his raincoat and put it on him.

“Take a rest in the car. You can’t do it in such a feeble state.”

Fang Qiu touched the driver’s forehead. Surprisingly, he found it to be a little hot.

He glanced around.

There was a Western Medicine doctor coming from Huaxia with him. Right away, Fang Qiu said severely, “Take him to the first car and let him rest for a while. Please keep a close watch on his condition. The rescue resources are important, but human life is of greater value than everything!”

This young Western Medicine doctor knew what Fang Qiu meant.

Since he had to take care of this patient, he didn’t dare to neglect him. He instantly pulled the patient to the first car that parked there safely.

Soon after...

Led by Fang Qiu...

They went on pushing the vehicle.

After a while, the third car was also pushed out, and they moved to the next one.

People coming here with Fang Qiu were all wearing raincoats. They were somewhat protected, but the drivers of the rescue team had no protection against the bad weather.

The rain was getting heavier, and the temperature kept dropping.

Seeing some drivers trembling with cold, Fang Qiu got tensed up.

He didn't dare to delay any longer.

Immediately, he went all out.

When he pushed the vehicle, the muscles all over his body bulged and even burst his T-shirt.

Veins throbbed on Fang Qiu's arms. When the people around saw Fang Qiu strain himself to the limit, they all exerted their full strength.

Eventually...

After nearly an hour...

They pushed all the cars out of the mud. The seawater was already one meter away when they pushed out the last car. A few minutes later, it might be drowned!

"Phew..."

After all the cars were out of the mud, everyone breathed a sigh of relief.

Just then...

"Bad news."

The Western Medicine doctor from Huaxia darted out of the first car and said, "The driver might have been infected. He has a fever and is seriously ill. But we don't take first-aid drugs and tools with us. What should we do?"

"Can he hold on until we get back?"

Fang Qiu asked at once.

"I'm afraid not."

The young doctor of Western Medicine shook his head and said, "Maybe because it's too cold, his body temperature has become dangerously low. I used up everything in the car and wrapped him to warm him up. But it was useless."

"Now, he is about to die!"

Everyone at the scene heard his words.

They were all shocked.

"Don't panic. I'm a Chinese Medicine doctor. I have a way to heal him."

Fang Qiu hurriedly comforted them and said, "Have you heard the sound of the waves? The waves will rush over soon. Get in the car first and go to the temporary rescue station. As long as we cross the bridge 1,500 meters away, we will be safe!"

Then...

Fang Qiu hurriedly ran to the first car.

Sure enough, he saw the driver with a fever in the passenger seat.

The young Western Medicine doctor was right behind him.

"Do you know how to drive?"

Fang Qiu asked.

“Yes.”

The Western Medicine doctor answered.

“Okay. You drive.”

Fang Qiu nodded and said, “Open the trunk. I’ll take him there for treatment. There’s too little space here.”

The young doctor of Western Medicine found the car key from the sick driver. In a hurry, he went to open the trunk.

The trunk was full of supplies.

Without saying a word, Fang Qiu immediately took out a lot of things. He quickly rushed ahead and put them in the passenger seat. With this, he made a space in the trunk.

He took the patient into the trunk and locked the door.

The young doctor of Western Medicine lost no time driving. Following the other vehicles, he also drove to the rescue station.

Within the trunk...

Fang Qiu laid the driver flat on the pile of rescue supplies.

He took off all the driver’s clothes. Carefully, he measured his pulse to feel his patient’s aura.

He found that...

The patient could hardly stand the cold within him, and his aura was exceedingly feeble.

His heart was about to stop beating.

Fang Qiu was clear he could not hesitate at this time.

Right away, he pressed his hands on the patient's heart and quickly transferred a trace of internal Qi into him. By thawing the cold around his heart, Fang Qiu wanted to ensure that his heart would not stop beating.

Even so...

The patient's blood was also cold.

His body temperature would drop continuously when the cold blood circled within the driver's body.

If Fang Qiu wanted to save his life...

He could only expel all the cold in him to raise his body temperature.

A treatment plan popped up into Fang Qiu's mind.

Fang Qiu controlled his internal Qi and injected a flow of internal Qi into each of these acupoints: Dazhui on the neck and shoulder, Danzhong on the chest, Shenque on the navel, Mingmen on the waist, and Yongquan on the sole.

According to Chinese Medicine, cold and dampness usually invade the human body through these critical acupuncture points.

Thus...

Usually...

The experienced elders always instructed their juniors to protect these places from the cold.

Of course...

Since the cold entered the body from these acupoints, Chinese Medicine doctors would eliminate the cold from them. In Chinese Medicine, the best way to expel the cold was to do moxibustion.

Obviously, Fang Qiu couldn't do it now.

Therefore, he could only inject his internal Qi directly into each of the five acupoints. Firstly, he stopped the cold from penetrating the driver. Then, by controlling the flows of internal Qi in the five acupoints, he drove all the cold in the patient together and eliminated it!

He activated his spiritual force.

Under his control, the five flows of internal Qi began circulating in the patient. At a fast pace, they helped the patient remove the cold in the meridians.

Then they turned to his viscera.

After driving all the cold together, Fang Qiu produced another flow of internal Qi to mobilize the Qi within the patient.

All of this was done.

Initially, the patient was nearly frozen with cold. At this time, he finally got warm again.

Soon after...

Fang Qiu examined him thoroughly.

The patient's blood hadn't yet become warm but contained no cold. It nearly froze only because the patient had been surrounded by cold.

As long as the patient's body temperature started rising, his blood would return to normal before long.

Fang Qiu enveloped the cold with his internal Qi, moved it out of his body, and destroyed it.

Only then did Fang Qiu breathe a sigh of relief.

At this point...

The patient's breathing gradually became heavier.

Slowly, he opened his eyes and woke up.

Just then...

"Screech!"

There was a sudden squeal of brakes.

"Anything happened?"

Hearing that, Fang Qiu got nervous and quickly opened the door. When he jumped out of the trunk, he happened to see the young doctor of Western Medicine getting out of the vehicle. Immediately, he ran forward and asked.

“What happened?”

Fang Qiu asked as he looked forward.

“The bridge collapsed!”

The young doctor of Western Medicine said, “The bridge caved in right after the first car crossed it. The person in front said they couldn’t cross it at all. We are blocked here.”

All the others also gathered around with knitted brows.

The patient that Fang Qiu had cured jumped out of the trunk.

The others all breathed a sigh of relief at the sight of him.

It was good that he was not dead.

However, no one had time to celebrate it.

After all, the current situation was very troublesome. They couldn’t cross the bridge, and the heavy rain fell incessantly. The sea waves would rush here in an hour or two at most. Even if the river could divert the water, unexpected accidents might happen.

While everyone was discussing...

Fang Qiu walked to the trunk and locked the door.

Then, he took the chance and transform into a black shadow.

From the forest by the roadside, he darted to the forefront. There, he saw the broken bridge.

However...

The bridge crumbled.

But steel bars were used to build the bridge. At this time, they still connected those broken stones. Therefore, even though the bridge was broken into pieces, its central part didn't utterly fall apart.

Fang Qiu saw that...

He rushed straight up.

"Drive past it!"

He shouted at the top of his voice.

Fang Qiu rushed under the bridge. Raising his hands, he lifted the collapsed bridge high, making it parallel to the road.

Everyone witnessed this.

They had no idea who the black shadow was, but they were all shocked by his matchless physical prowess.

"Hurry up and cross the bridge!"

Fang Qiu shouted in Anglanish.

But...

How could anyone dare to go over it in such a dangerous situation?

The shadow could support the bridge. However, once one of their vehicles was on the bridge, the shadow had to bear several more tons. How could they cross the bridge like that?

“Come on! Hurry up and get past...”

Again, Fang Qiu urged them loudly.

The driver of the second car judged the present situation. Even if he stayed put, he would die anyway.

Immediately, he steeled his heart.

He drove the car and rushed over quickly. Although the bridge was broken, the vehicle crossed it smoothly in a flash.

The people behind him saw this.

One after another, they jumped in the cars and sped up to drive across the bridge.

Under the bridge...

As Fang Qiu supported the bridge with all his might, the blue veins on his arms stood out. Whenever a vehicle crossed the bridge, he felt as if a huge mountain had fallen on him. He found it challenging to raise the bridge even with the support of internal Qi!

Chapter 1480 The Highly-skilled Doctor Fainted From Exhaustion...

Fang Qiu was a guru.

Though he could cleave mountains and split seas, he was fundamentally a human made of flesh and blood.

The internal Qi could enable him to exert mighty strength and launch powerful attacks. Nevertheless, it could not make his human body indestructible. Therefore, though he felt he still had some energy to spare, his body could hardly withstand the tremendous pressure.

Since the bridge had collapsed and burst, many holes appeared in it.

“Crack, crack...”

When each vehicle passed the bridge full of bumps and hollows, it would inevitably shake a few times. Drivers in the cars could hardly feel the slight bumps.

But for Fang Qiu, even a minor bump would cause unbearable pressure on his hands.

Upon a closer look...

The muscles of his arms had all bulged.

The bulging veins on his entire arms had turned inky black.

His blood vessels exploded!

Fang Qiu had filled his arms with internal Qi. However, the blood vessels in his arms still burst little by little under such horrifyingly huge pressure.

Fang Qiu's arms trembled involuntarily when the second-to-last vehicle was on the bridge.

But...

Fang Qiu still hung in there.

Above him...

Fourteen cars had gone through the bridge to the safe zone. One after another, everyone got out of these cars. Lightning flashed, and thunder rumbled. In the endless torrential rain, they shone their flashlights on the unknown black shadow under the bridge from a distance.

Since they could only see Fang Qiu's back, they didn't recognize him.

However, they saw his trembling arms covered with broken veins.

The person's back was bowed under the tremendous weight. When the others out of their vehicle saw such a horrific scene, they were moved to tears.

What a great man of invincible courage with an undaunted spirit!

Some of them...

They even thought of supporting the bridge together with the man. However, they had no guts to do that. The bridge was so heavy that they didn't dare to try.

They were afraid that the bridge would press down and bury them alive under it.

They felt helpless.

They could only stand where they were. Watching the black shadow from a distance, they prayed for that person!

Here...

“RUMBLE...”

In the sky, thunder rumbled, and huge bolts of lightning struck, moving back and forth. They covered the whole sky, forming a vast net of lightning. The scene looked terrifying!

The last rescue vehicle driven by the young Western Medicine doctor appeared on the bridge. He pressed the accelerator hard and rushed fast across the bridge.

Under the bridge...

Fang Qiu held on like before.

He paid no attention to the broken blood vessels in his hands. The moment the last vehicle rushed over the bridge, he withdrew his hands and flashed away. Without his support, the bridge collapsed again. Meanwhile, he turned into a black shadow and disappeared into the river.

On the other side of the bridge...

All the people searched around but couldn't find anyone.

When the young man drove past the bridge, he got off the last vehicle immediately.

In the meantime...

Fang Qiu also jumped out of the vehicle.

He clasped his hands together.

Secretly controlling his internal Qi, he slowly nourished his hands. Then he also walked to the river bank and looked into the river with others for a while.

“Let’s hurry up and return to the temporary rescue station. The rain is too heavy. The person just now can’t be an ordinary person. He saved us because he wanted us to go to a safe place as soon as possible!”

Everyone heard this.

They thought his words made sense.

Then...

They carefully scanned the river but still couldn’t find the black shadow. Then they got in the cars one by one and rushed back to the temporary rescue station.

Fang Qiu was still sitting in the trunk.

On the way, he quickly summoned his internal Qi to heal himself.

It took him a lot of effort to recover all the exploded blood vessels.

However...

Because of the great pressure, many parts of his blood vessels had broken. Hence, Fang Qiu didn't dare to exert much strength in a short time.

They struggled through the heavy downpour.

Fortunately...

They didn't encounter any more accidents along the way.

At dawn, all the cars eventually stopped at the temporary rescue station.

Everyone got out of the cars to move supplies to the temporary rescue station.

Fang Qiu and the other doctors walked into the temporary rescue station.

Upon arrival...

Fang Qiu saw many more people in the temporary rescue station than before. It seemed that all the people in the nearby villages had come.

In this situation...

All the Huaxia doctors were still busy treating the patients in the rescue station.

Fang Qiu knew the situation in his heart.

All of them hadn't slept for a whole day and night.

He thought they only needed to handle more than a dozen patients with minor injuries after he left. Everyone could rest after simply bandaging their wounds. However, he didn't expect so many people to come.

"Seniors, it's been a day and a night. Why don't you all take a rest?"

Fang Qiu walked up to Yi Banxian, Bu Chunqiu, and Yu Qing. With concern, he tried to persuade the three highly-skilled doctors to rest. "You elders can't stay up late like this. To save more people, you must take good care of yourselves first."

But when the three highly-skilled doctors heard that...

They shook their heads in unison.

Several other young doctors of Chinese Medicine and Western Medicine also approached and advised them to rest.

"It is okay."

When Yi Banxian heard their kind suggestions, he immediately shook his head and said, "We can still hold on. The injured are continuously sent over. How can we fall asleep?"

"All right. Don't waste time here. Many patients are waiting for us to treat them."

Yu Qing, the highly-skilled doctor, shouted.

Since they couldn't persuade these elders...

Helplessly, everyone returned to their places and continued to accept patients.

But the three highly-skilled doctors looked tired.

Fang Qiu said, "Let me massage you for a while to refresh you."

With this...

Fang Qiu immediately went up to do it.

While massaging the three highly-skilled doctors, he secretly transferred some of his newly recovered internal Qi into them. This way, he could quickly reduce their tiredness and improve their energy.

With the massage and help of Fang Qiu...

The three highly-skilled doctors' spirits lifted, and they went on treating the patients vigorously!

Fang Qiu no longer hesitated and immediately started accepting patients.

His hands couldn't exert much strength, yet he could treat and cure the wounded.

...

Somewhere in Philippine...

"According to the news from Bintar, these Huaxia doctors there have not slept for more than thirty-six hours. Besides saving people, they helped and rescued the rescue team trapped in the mud."

Many Philippine officials were sitting in an official office with gratitude written all over their faces.

"Thirty-six hours?"

“A friend in need is a friend indeed. We are very appreciative of their support.”

“I don’t think I can do the same thing. These Huaxia doctors are doctors in the real sense of the term.”

“When the disaster is over, I must go there in the first place and thank those doctors from Huaxia in person. They are impressively great!”

...

Here...

In Bintar’s temporary rescue station...

More and more patients and refugees gathered there. These Huaxia doctors, whether majoring in Chinese Medicine or Western Medicine, treated these patients without stopping.

Time passed by fast.

Night fell.

When the sky was completely dark, the heavy rain outside stopped for a while. Then it just continued raining. Lots of injured people and refugees crowded the warehouse. There, Bu Chunqiu was doing his best to treat these patients. But all of a sudden, he blacked out.

“Oh no! Someone fainted!”

“A doctor fainted!”

When the highly-skilled doctor Bu Chunqiu passed out on the floor, the patients around him anxiously called for help.

As their shouts broke out...

All the others were startled.

Hearing this, Yi Banxian and Yu Qing intended to hurry over and feel Bu Chunqiu's pulse.

However...

As soon as they moved, their hands and feet trembled, and they could barely stand upright.

"Let me do it."

Fang Qiu shouted in time and ran up to take Bu Chunqiu's pulse.

The examination was over.

"It is okay."

Fang Qiu told Yi Banxian and Yu Qing, "Senior Bu is fine. He just fainted from exhaustion. His hidden illness has just recovered, and his resistance has not fully built up yet. That's why he fainted."

After he said that...

Around them...

All the injured people and refugees in the warehouse stood up and looked at highly-skilled doctor Bu Chunqiu with great concern.

Bu Chunqiu was so worn out that he fainted. The patients who had just accepted Bu Chunqiu's treatment gathered around him. When they looked at Bu Chunqiu lying unconscious on the ground, these patients felt like crying.

It was an old man in his sixties.

He had flown all the way here from Huaxia. The elder had not rested for more than forty hours to treat them. He paid so much time and effort and crumpled onto the floor when completely exhausted.

What kind of noble spirit was supporting him?

Everyone...

They were all deeply moved at this moment.

Their hearts were full of respect and gratitude for this group of Huaxia doctors.

Here...

"You mustn't go on working. You have to rest."

Fang Qiu no longer tried to persuade them. Instead, he forced Yi Banxian and Yu Qing to rest in a room. Besides, he transferred some internal Qi to those doctors of brightness to relieve their physical fatigue. Then, he asked them to rest.

At last...

Only Fang Qiu, a Chinese Medicine doctor, and four or five Western Medicine doctors were left in the temporary rescue station.

Compared with Chinese Medicine doctors...

Those Western Medicine doctors were much more relaxed.

Since Chinese Medicine doctors had accepted most of the patients, these Western Medicine doctors were not busy. Therefore, they divided into two groups that could take turns to rest and treat patients.

Fang Qiu ordered all the Chinese Medicine doctors to rest. A few minutes later...

Suddenly...

A cry was heard.

A group of people carrying a person ran in.

“Help! Help!”

Cries could be heard.

Several young doctors of Western Medicine immediately rushed over with a stretcher. They deftly picked him up on it and carried him to the designated hospital bed inside.

From a distance...

Others could see the lower half of the person was covered in blood.

One leg was bent at an unnatural angle.

It looked like...

He seemed to have suffered a terrible impact.

Several Western Medicine doctors acted fast. While affording first-aid, they checked up on this injured person.

After a while...

“His situation is bad. His leg bone has a serious comminuted fracture. Some of his blood vessels have been broken and have become blocked. To save his life, we should perform amputation!”

The leader of Western Medicine doctors said after the inspection.